The latest edition of the Methodist Clip Sheet states that one would be surprised at the number of prominent men of the larger towns and cities that belong to Alcoholic Anonymous. Let us presume that the statement is true, and there is nothing on record to refute it. The idea is that liquor is just as likely to get next to the rich man as it is the poor man, tinkler or peddler, or for that matter the social dutches as Puss Ervin's chamber maid. The taste for liquor varies. Most people can drink it or leave it, while other will take any questionable step to satisfy their thirst for the stuff and one drink to such persons, means a drunken spree. Yet, alcohol is with us, and perhaps always will be, and if the AA is doing a good job or a fair job of helping people who have no control over their appetites, we say, let them alone, yea, encourage the movement. Admittedly though, it is a pitiable sight to see folks who are well educated and refined in their sober moments stagger up the allies about dark or after, with people peeping at them from the back doors and yards, and the dogs barking Major Hoople style, as they reel from one side of the alley to the other. Such people while loaded to the gills still have enough pride or shame left to take to the alleys instead of the streets and sidewalks.

Thank the Lord, there are still a lot of good, honest and prominent men in the United States that will speak out against the socialistic trend that seems to be the order of the day with many of the higher-ups in the nation, mostly in order to control minority votes. One of these is ex-president Herbert Hoover, who most people did not admire as president, but must concede his sincerity. He recently stated to a graduating class that the curse of the Lord on Adam "to eat bread in the sweat of his face," had not been lifted, despite some decisions of the Supreme Court of the USA. The other speaker was none other than Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, before the Columbia U. graduating class, of which he is president. He declared that "the fundamental struggle of our times is between individual freedom and governmental control." While both men were addressing young people who are the citizens and builders of tomorrow, their messages reached countless others by either press reports or the radio. If this nation could get some man to make the race for president in 1952 with the idea that our government, up to now, has been the best on earth, it would be a blessing. Ike is not only popular as a hero, but now in his own rights as a statesman.

state believe that water taken out of the ground on the Plains, effected their supply, we do not have the least idea, unless they believe that irrigation on the South Plains would greatly cut into their being able to hold their population, and keep them from migrating to this area.

Up in New Jersey, an American Legion post did not wait for the legislature to give them a law to force those responsible for leaving abandoned wells and other holes, to permanently close them. This post still remembers little Kathie Fiscus and her tragic death in an old abandoned well. So this post of veterans took it upon themselves to close permanently all the old abandoned mine holes wells and cess pools in that area. A lot of the states, including Texas passed a law with a severe penalty forcing those responsible for abandoned holes that children or livestock might fall into to permanently close such holes.

Right now, our idea is that if we were a dog poisoner, we'd give up the trade and become a normal human being. Of late we have read a number of rather irate commentaries by editors as well as some in "Readers Write" columns in various papers and even in magazines of national circulation. And in no instance have we seen one that sounded the least bit friendly toward the dog poisoners. On the other hand, most of these writers classed the human dog poisoners far below a cur dog or alley cat. We never had very much of that stuff in Brownfield, but in some towns it seems to be a frequent matter. We believe we would think twice before poisoning the pet of some little child whose heart would be almost broken by the loss. And too often, the poisoned pup wears both a vaccination and tax tag. Before closing however, we'll have to admit that the dog that scratches out a cool place to lay in some lady's flower bed, is inviting disaster, and such canines should be kept tied or in his dog house—when not occupied by the man of the house.

With the Glorious Fourth just around the corner, it will not be out of place to put in just a few words of caution, so that you may come back home from your weekend holiday, safe and sound. As the Fourth comes this year on Monday, the holiday will likely start for most working people on Saturday. There will be a lot of drownings, highways deaths and injuries, as well as maiming of some with tricky fireworks, the later of which ought to be pro-

ANSWERS TO TEST YOUR I. Q.

The Low Down From Hickory Grove

This Senator Cain—from out there in the land of skookum salmon, red raspberries, Dungeness crab, and tall firs—is showing signs of having something on the ball. Like young Lochinvar who came out of the west and rode off with the sweet little bride, this Cain person has the know-how. Haul out your Sir Walter Scott if you are rusty on how Lochinvar did the trick.

But back to Cain. This nation has had so much fumbling, spending and guzzling of Kickapoo cures when all we needed in the first place was to dust off and oil up the same old machine that brought the U. S. A. so far so well. This boy Cain knows how to get in his leeks. He showed that when he unlimbered his trusty sword and re-moved the scalp of the ex-Governor of his own home State, who was up for a fancy Bureau job—but didn't get it.

This country is so tired of what we have had so much of for so long, that this new economy-minded Lochinvar comes as a refreshing change. The fellow must have a strain of Scotch—and that, above all, is one thing we have had too little of for lo, many years, there on the wide Potomac. And Sir Walter, if you still are not sure—he was a Scotsman his ownself.

Yours with the low down,
JO SERRA

FOUR WHO DROWNED—In Brisbane, Australia, they are telling the story of the capitalist who were in a boat when it suddenly sank.

First to go down was the capitalist who tried to save too many of his belongings and was dragged down. Next was the fascist, who made no progress because he raised one arm in stiff salute. The communist was so busy shouting propaganda that his mouth filled with water and he sank. The unionist was swimming along fine when a whistle blew. Then he sank—Scurry County Times.

hibited all over the United States. They are not only dangerous but unnecessary and a waste of money. The great majority of motorists may start out with the greatest of intentions to play safe, and maybe he will be careful himself, but there will be others that have to be watched, and even then, may prove the death of those in his car as well as yours. Some will consume too much firewater to drive safely, but there are others who may be just another Mr. Milktoast on the streets but a devil-may-care guy when his foot hits the accelerator. Here's hoping that all our loved ones and friends come home safe and sound after the holidays.

TEXANS IN WASHINGTON

BY TEX EASLEY

Washington, June 24 (AP)—School's out and tourists are swarming all over the Capitol.

Busses full of youngsters have been coming here on the weekends from neighboring states since early spring. Now they are rolling in from Texas and other states and other distant points.

The bright orange Elgin High School bus, wandering off its usual run over central Texas rural roads, pulled to a stop in front of the Capitol bearing a banner read "Just Elgin Seniors Looking Around." Driver Bernhart Smith opened the door and 34 nappy teen-age boys and girls leaped out. Congressman Homer Thornberry of Austin greeted them, and they posed on the Capitol steps for a group picture.

Escorting the Elgin graduates were E. C. Brown, school superintendent, and Mrs. Larsberg, a teacher.

Expenses are kept at a minimum. It took them five days to get here. They carried cots along and spent nights at public schools along the way, having made arrangements ahead of time. Here they stayed overnight in the gymnasium of the suburban Bethesda-Chevy-Chase, Md., high school. They headed for Canada after leaving Washington, and will be gone from home 24 days.

A Rio Grande valley bus load of youngsters, 25 to be exact, and hailing from various towns in that part of the state, followed the Elgin group by a few days. Chaperoning them were Al Jordan, McAllen, Y. M. C. A. Director, and Miss Kay Wharton, McAllen Evening Monitor Reporter.

They were luncheon guest of their Congressman, Rep. Lloyd Bentsen, in the Speakers Dining Room, in the House Wing of the Capitol. They rated use of the ornate room with its long red window drapes, mahogany woodwork and beautiful chandelier, because Speaker Sam Rayburn of Bonham has the say about who uses that exclusive dining place.

The official doorkeeper of the house was assigned to serve as their special guide around the historic building.

Scheduled to arrive close behind the Rio Grande Valley contingent was a bus of student from Sundeen High School in Corpus Christi.

Rep. John Lyle of Corpus Christi arranging for their visit, said they were being escorted by Superintendent and Mrs. William K. Fraser and three mothers of youngsters in the crowd.

Speaking of tourist and busses brings to mind the trip here last week of Hugh Henson, a longtime Waco printer. Enjoying a busman's holiday, he went to Senator Tom Connally's office and got a note of introduction for a special sight-seeing tour through the vast Government Printing Office.

Visitors in the Capitol have only a few days more to see the Senate and House in their regular chambers which have remained unchanged except for a few minor alterations for almost a century.

On July 1 the Senate will move into the old Supreme Court Chamber nearer the center of the Capitol, almost under the dome. The House will meet in the large Ways and Means Committee room in the new House Office Buildings.

Then workmen will tear the top off the two wings of the Capitol and rebuild the entire roof and ceiling. The job is supposed to be finished by the beginning of the next regular session, in January. Preparatory to starting rebuilding, the contractor has erected several "construction shacks" adjacent to the Senate and House wings. They are to be there only temporarily, but in fact are large two story buildings and metal warehouses that must cost $100,000 or more and would endure a lifetime.

Incidentally, the present ceiling of the House Chamber is a sort of skylight, made of large glass seals of the various states and territories. It has not been determined whether these will be refitted into the modernized House Chamber. If not, they probably will be offered to the various states for any use they might have for them.

Grain storage structures with double-boarded outside walls and building paper between are recommended. Walls boarded inside and outside of the studs offer a place for rodents, and cut down the amount of storage space available.

BEAR HUG—Pat Malone, Miami wrestler and promoter, squirms out of a hold in his match with "Ginger," a 300-pound Canadian black bear. His freedom was only temporary, however. The bruin pinned him in 15 minutes.

HOW BEST TO POACH AN EGG

COLLEGE STATION June 22 It's the grade that makes the difference. And with eggs that mean Grade AA or A. A perfect poached egg is tender, has a smooth, round shape and stands up.

Here's a tip from Louise Mason, extension foods and nutrition specialist of Texas A. & M. College, about poaching eggs. To make sure it's tender cook it at a low heat because boiling toughens the white, and the bubbling may break the yolk.

To keep a compact shape to poached eggs, shell them just before poaching. Even the best eggs will flatten out after standing a while, Miss Mason says. Have enough boiling water ready to cover the egg in a shallow pan. Break the egg into a saucer, swirl the hot water rapidly in the pan with a spoon, and slip the egg from the saucer into the hot, swirling water. It is the movement of the water that sets the edges of the egg into a round, even shape.

Take the pan off the stove, cover it and let stand for about five minutes. Then it's ready for the table.

There are several different ways to serve poached eggs besides the old standbys of toast or corned beef hash, Miss Mason says. A poached egg on a bed of hot, cooked greens makes a tasty dish, she says, or you can serve it on a split toasted bun with cheese sauce.

It isn't how you fix them. It's the grade that counts, the foods specialist says.

BUFFALOES ON MARCH IN SIAM

BANKGKOK-(AP)- The great water buffalo trek is underway again in Siam. Tens of thousands of buffalo are being driven from breeding farms in the Northeast provinces across more than 300 miles of jungles and plains to the central provinces. There the buffalo are sold for plowing and other ground preparations for planting of the rice crop.

It takes about two months for the buffaloes to make the annual push. When they reach the central plains they are shovled about from one spot to another until most are sold.

If any are left they are sold by lots at auction. Most of the leftovers are too small and thus have been rejected up north. The purchasers usually keep them until they are full grown animals and ready for resale. A buffalo usually sells for $50 to $200.

Gee Gee's Chit Chat

We are appalled this week to discover, during an interview with Mayor Primm, the existence of more than 400 outhouses within the city limits of Brownfield. Perhaps you, too, will be shocked to learn this. Every day that those buildings stand there, Brownfield's chances of having an epidemic of polio, diarrhea, or any other types of diseases increase by leaps and bounds. We decided to do a little nosing around and see what can be done to remedy the situation.

In another part of this paper you will find an article explaining how people can get rid of these outhouses by financing bathrooms for their homes. It is quite true that many people are not able to lay out several hundred dollars at one whack to acquire "modern plumbing", but there are several lumber yards and a bank in Brownfield that can offer an improvement plan for a few dollars a month.

These days, American people are slaves to luxuries. Well, friends, "modern plumbing" in Brownfield is evidently pretty much of a luxury, with the health of the community at stake it seems a wise thing to do to spend a few dollars a month on this particular luxury, and hold off payments on washing machines, cars, toasters, vacuum cleaners, etc., for a while.

What has happened to San Angelo and other towns who have experienced polio epidemic can happen to Brownfield, too. And polio is no respecter of persons, rich or poor, black or white. The fly mosquito situation is growing more every day right here in Brownfield, and now is the time to stop them in their tracks. A stitch in time, you know.

We certainly enjoyed the concerts on the courthouse square every week. Richard Young is one of the hardest working men in Brownfield, and has contributed a great deal to the youth in the community. His band members who made the booster trips this week really sounded good.

Incidentally, everyone who made the trips seemed to have a good time. With their good spirits, they were great advertisers for our rodeo.

Which reminds us: WELCOME, EVERYONE, TO THE JAYCEES SECOND ANNUAL RODEO.

TERRY COUNTY LIBRARY ADDS NEW BOOKS TO SHELVES

Miss Olga Fitzgerald, county librarian, and Mrs. E. C. Davis went to Lubbock last Thursday and purchased some new books to add to the local library.

Among some of the new books will be found "Cheaper by the Dozen" by Frank B. Gilbreth Jr. and Ernestine Gilbreth Carey; "Kinfolk" by Pearl S. Buck; "Point of No Return" by John P. Marquand; "Roots out of Dry Ground" by Argye M. Briggs; "Pride's Castle" by Frank Yerby; "The Chain" by Paul I. Wellman; "Pilgrim's Inn" by Elizabeth Goudge; and "High Towers" by Thomas B. Costain.

All of these books are on the best-seller list, and are in great demand. One book, which Miss Fitzgerald has had in the library for some time, is "Bride of Fortune" by Harnett T. Kane. A story of the life of Mrs. Jeff Davis, this book is very popular and is an excellent story of the old South. It was recently reviewed at the DAR tea in Lubbock.

The children's reference shelf is always half-full, since so many children take advantage of the library. The shelves contain the Nancy Drew series, the Hardy Boys series, and most of the popular books for children.

Another shelf of interest is the Texas shelf, containing some of the best of Texas histories and novels.

Mealtime Marvels

QUICK COFFEE CAKE
A bright, cheery breakfast is just the thing to chase early morning blues. Breakfast should not be a "skimped on" meal because it must provide a generous supply of food energy for the morning's activities. Appetites will perk up at the sight of this tasty cake that adds interest to a routine breakfast. Try

Quick Coffee Cake
2 cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
¼ cup sugar
1 egg
¾ cup milk
1/3 cup pecans or other nut meats
1/3 cup melted fortified margarine
1 tablespoon grated orange rind
Sift the flour; measure. Sift the flour with baking powder, salt, cinnamon, and sugar. Beat the egg, milk, melted margarine, and orange rind. Mix the dry ingredients and the other ingredients. Place in a margarine baking pan. Sprinkle with desired nut topping. Bake in a hot oven (400° to 450° F.) for 20 to 30 minutes.

You can vary toppings in many different tempting ways. Here are two that are especially good:

Apricot Topping
Mix 1 tablespoon melted margarine, 1 tablespoon flour, and 4 tablespoons sugar. Spread on top of coffee cake. Place apricot halves on top.

Streusel Topping
Cream 4 tablespoons margarine and 4 tablespoons sugar together until light and fluffy; add 1 cup dry bread or cake crumbs and 1 teaspoon cinnamon. Mix to texture of coarse crumbs and sprinkle over batter before baking.

If you could "x-ray" your telephone, you'd find a surprisingly complicated instrument. Yet, making a telephone call is just about the easiest thing in the world to do. Proof of the simple convenience of telephone service is the fact that both local and long distance telephone traffic are at an all time high. This naturally means that the complicated mechanical and human operations necessary to provide telephone service are under their heaviest pressure. Your cooperation and friendliness are helping us greatly in our efforts to serve this traffic as efficiently as possible.
