ROTARY CLUB GIVES FINANCIAL REPORT

Aiming toward a bigger and better harvest festival in '49, the members of the Brownfield Rotary club are going forward with their plans. The festival will take place Wednesday, October 19, this year.

The Rotary club sponsors the festival not as a program to support and finance their club, but to meet the civic needs of Brownfield when the occasions may arise. The money derived from the festival is used in various ways, and each dime that the people of Brownfield spend in supporting the festival is used toward bettering the community.

Therefore, the members of the Rotary club feel that the people should know and realize what their activities have been for the past three years. For that reason, they are publishing a report on the way their money has been spent for the benefit of the people of Brownfield.

Approximately 300 persons attended the program Saturday at which souvenirs and refreshments were offered the guests.

The 140x150 tile and steel structure houses 125 employees at the present time, and it is hoped that that number will be doubled in the future. The men's work clothes, which the company manufactures, are turned out on a production line basis. There are 100 machines.

Terry County Visited By Showers

There had been some light showers over the county last week which were badly scattered, mostly in Johnson and Pleasant Valley sections. Tuesday, this week, the county got a more general rainfall.

Fair showers visited west Terry late in the afternoon, and were extra heavy in the Harmony community. Also east of Brownfield on the Tahoka road, there was an extra heavy rain, running over the highway in places. There was little or no rain in the Union community.

The USWB gauge at The Herald office gauged .85 inch. While the feed that was ready to head needed rain, cotton, generally speaking, needed no extra moisture. Farmers are fearful that drips and fleaphoppers will be bad again if too much rain comes.

OCIE MURRY RETURNS FROM FT. WORTH TRIP

Sheriff Ocie Murry returned Saturday from Fort Worth where he met Mississippi officials and handed over to them Cain L. Wilson, a 17-year-old escapee from a Mississippi reformatory. The youth had been apprehended here after he had entered a store several weeks ago.

Murry also took three young children, ages 11, 13 and 14, to Dallas to their mother. The children had run away from the home of their father in Yoakum county after he had mistreated them. The parents are separated.

Boy Scouts Employ Runkles as Ranger

FRANK A. RUNKLES

The Plains council, Boy Scouts of America, announced today through its president, Dr. F. B. Malone, the employment of Frank A. Runkles to serve as camp ranger at the council's camp post, located two and a half miles southwest of Post.

Runkles, better known as "Chief" to the thousands of Boy Scouts over the South Plains, will assume his new duties on July 16. Mr. and Mrs. Runkles and their children, Don, Wayne, Wanda, and Delores, will live on the campsite in the caretaker's home.

Chief Runkles has had a long scouting experience. He is an Eagle Scout with silver palms, holds the scoutmaster's key and has the silver beaver award. He has been scoutmaster of the American Legion troop 8 of Lubbock for the past 11 years. His troops have gained great acclaim for their interpretations of authentic Indian dances and costumes. His troop 8 has appeared in nearly every community in the South Plains during the past few years with their Indian dances.

Runkles has been employed by the Melhoney dairy in Lubbock as route foreman for the previous 11 years. The Runkles family are members of the College Avenue Baptist church.

The executive board of the council has restricted the use of the camp post for the present time to Boy Scouts and scouting activities only. Registered units of the Boy Scouts of America may use the camp at any time. Each troop planning to use the camp or the swimming pool must make reservations with the council headquarters office several days in advance.

The camp development program of the council is well under way. During the past year a new 30,000 swimming pool has been built, water lines have been laid to wells on top of the Cap and electricity and refrigeration have been added. The Boy Scouts of the South Plains are on their way to having one of the finest camps in the entire area.

Vandalism Reported At Rodeo Grounds

There has been some report of vandalism out at the rodeo stadium, which is believed by officers to be the work of youths here in town that would be classed in that old saying "An idle brain is the devil's workshop." Some of these days, these youths are going to be caught, and their parents will have a hard time keeping them out of that Gatesville institution for uncontrollable boys.

We also have an idea that when these boys are rounded up, that they will be found to be associated with other law violations here of late, and giving officers trouble in more ways than one. But Mayor Primm as well as the officers are becoming fed up, and are now ready to crack down.

Nine chances to one, cowardice and vandalism go hand in hand. Any parents who can't find employment for boys in their teens are doing both themselves and the boys a great injustice.

But right now is the best time for officers to stop the career of these future Al Capones.

HOLDEN IS BOOSTER FOR ARIZONA STATE

Walter Holden of Eloy, Ariz., has been here and at Coahoma the past week visiting his sisters, Mrs. Stricklin and Mrs. J. A. Roberts. He owns a drug store there in partnership with his son-in-law and daughter.

Walter admits that the desert is hot as you find it especially in mid-summer, but like this section, they have discovered a lot of water underground with which to irrigate. And with the long growing season, often make up to three baes per acre.

Walt however, admitted that Brownfield was the place to come to in summer for a real good cool night and fine sleeping conditions.

Jaycees Sponsoring Feature; Series To Start Tuesday, 8 p.m.

At the rodeo arena Tuesday, August 2, at 8 p. m., the bell will ring for the beginning of the TAAF tournament, sponsored by the Brownfield Jaycees. Fights will last two nights, August 2 and 3.

"Sonny" Wall, tournament promoter, said Wednesday that they had received 18 entries for the fights, with more expected this week end. Five entries have been received from Amarillo, two from Tahoka, one from Levelland, and ten from Brownfield. Among the fighters from Brownfield are six novices and four opens.

Deadline for entrants, who must be at least 16 years of age and must have parents consent, will be 2 p. m. Tuesday, August 2. Weighing in will begin at 2 p. m. Tuesday and last until 6 p. m.

Wall urges all boys who are interested in entering the tournament to contact him in Al Muldrow's warehouse between 9 a. m. and 12 noon Monday, August 1, to take their physicals. He further stated that he would advise all boys who have fought more than four fights to enter in the open class.

"We expect the fights this year to be better than ever before," Wall stated. "There will be more novice fighters and more experienced fighters, I believe. We expect some of the top fighters of Lubbock, Plainview and Petersburg to be here."

Cards have been sent to Jaycees all over this section of the country inviting them to enter a team or an individual fighter. The ring is now being set up, and everything is almost ready for the tournament.

Trophies will be awarded winners of each division at the conclusion of the tournament Wednesday night.

Area Butane Dealers In Meeting at Hub City

It will be 'back to school' for a group of local businessmen when they answer roll call at the opening session of a butane dealers' training clinic at Lubbock today and tomorrow for a two-day session. Classes are being held in the Hotel Lubbock under the sponsorship and direction of the Texas Butane Dealers' association.

The local group expected to attend the sessions are R. T. Purcell and Resse Black of Plains Liquefied Gas Co., Inc. Sterling S. Speake, credit training specialist, and Lester W. Grainger, appliance sales training specialist, will each conduct a full day of classes. The courses are especially designed for butane dealers and their credit managers, salesmen, office personnel and truck drivers.

The Texas Butane Dealers association is composed of butane dealers whose business activities cover every section of the state. Training clinics form a definite part of the association's program of education and information for members and their employees. This series of clinics includes 20 separate schools in as many different localities and is one of the most expensive training and instruction efforts ever undertaken by any business organization in the nation.

TEXAS OIL vs. EASTERN COAL

DALLAS, July — The use of federal government regulations to curb the competition that Texas petroleum is giving coal in the east and north was criticized by R. B. Anderson, president of the Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas association, in a speech before the national convention of Theta Sigma Phi, women's journalism fraternity, here Monday. In a luncheon session of the convention devoted to "Oil is News," Anderson outlined the way in which the economic welfare of Texas is dependent on an annual income of more than $2,000,000,000 a year from the sale of petroleum and products. "The prosperity of any region is in direct proportion to the amount of goods and services it can contribute to the national economy," Anderson said in a prepared speech.

Appliance Prices Pace Reduced Living Cost

CHICAGO—Electric appliance prices advanced less than half the amount of the average of all commodities since 1939, and they led all durable consumer products in "rapid and thorough price reduction to pre-war levels," James J. Nance, right above, president of one of the nation's largest appliance manufacturing companies, explains recent message "The Truth About Appliance Prices" to Leslie Hicks, president of Hawaiian Electric company.

Here to study price stabilization moves, Hicks was told of recent activity by which 10,000 Hotpoint dealers received letters explaining prices; meanwhile, local and national advertising is being scheduled to inform the public that some appliance prices have returned to 1939 levels. Nance said that business was in a leveling off period following the recent post war readjustment from economy of scarcity to one of ample supply. This change brought the sharp price reductions which have brought back pre-war appliance prices so that "today dealers can go forward with their sales and advertising programs, and consumers can buy needed appliances with full confidence that they are getting their money's worth," he added.

Irrigated Land Should Be Fertilized to Yield

LUBBOCK, July — (Special)— Many farmers in newly irrigated areas, such as the high plains of Texas, have noticed a quick reduction in yields, and several reasons are ascribed for this in an article by C. A. Rechenthin, zone conservationist with the Ft. Worth regional office of the Soil Conservation service, written especially for the third annual agricultural conservation edition of Southwestern Crop and Stock magazine's August number.

Rechenthin writes on "Maintaining Productivity of Irrigated Lands," and like others who have studied the effects of irrigation on soil, he believes, among other things, that "a very important cause of reduced yields that is generally not recognized by the farmer is over-irrigation of land," which "may result in waterlogging of soils if heavy, or leaching from the soils large amounts of valuable plant nutrients if soils are readily penetrated by water."

This penetration is determined to a great extent by the presence or lack of organic matter in the soil, called all-important by the writer. He says that organic matter makes heavy soils lighter, and light soils heavier; it promotes favorable chemical and biological activity; it is a natural source of nitrogen; it improves the soil-plants-water relationship. In short, "it is an essential constituent of all normally productive soils."

He asserts that a conservation plan that will provide for a permanent agriculture includes the adapted practices applied to each acre according to its needs, and adds that "no single practice will do this."

He lists a five-point method to be considered for developing a conservation plan for irrigated areas, with adaptations to local conditions. These are: 1. Addition of barnyard manure and organic residues; 2. Use of soil-improving crops such as green manures in rotation; 3. Application of commercial fertilizers; 4. Control of salt accumulations; and 5. Application of water according to the needs of the crops and soils.

Answering a call from industry for a heavy duty lift truck large enough to lift and carry a freight car is the Automatic Sky Lift. This truck is the big brother of the many smaller lift trucks that may be seen in any shop where material handling is an item of importance. Note how the wheel assemblies of the freight truck had to be chained to prevent them falling when the car was lifted.

When the truck was designed the manufacturer called engineers of The Timken Roller Bearing Company to blueprint and furnish bearings that would stand the tremendous strain of this amazing load. Today, as on so many other machines in constant use, Timken bearings are standard on the Sky Lift.

FARM QUESTION BOX

- Q. I have a Yellow Spanish sweet cherry tree raised from seed and transplanted. Two years ago it bloomed profusely, but no fruit. Was told it lacked pollination. There are other fruit trees including cherry nearby, but to make sure last year I broke a branch of blossoms from a sour cherry tree and dusted sweet cherry tree with it—still no fruit. What is the reason? What do you advise?
- A. Bring in a branch of bloom from some other variety of sweet cherry, set it in a pail of water suspended in the tree and trust the bees to do the pollinating.
- Q. Due to two large maple trees in front of our house, we can't grow grass. If we used some shady grass seed would it make a lawn or should we get some kind of a vine to cover the ground?
- A. Better get Japanese pachysandra, or periwinkle (Vince minor) and give up trying to grow grass there; or else get a shade-lawn mixture with plenty of "Colonial Bent" in it.
- Q. Can you tell me why a ham that has been home cooked and smoked by ourselves has a dark spot in the center of the ham close to the bone? Can this be rectified?
- A. I would say the ham had not stood in the salt brine long enough to penetrate to the center. A side-lug will overcome this. Probably you have cooked and cut the ham. Next time try leaving ham in the brine longer.
- Q. I have some two year old poultry litter—nice and dry. What can I put on it to hasten decay so I can use it on flower and vegetable gardens?
- A. Just add super phosphate to your litter—100 pounds to a ton of litter; spread on the ground and the bacterial acid in the soil will hasten decay.
- Q. After a cow freshens, when does she hit her peak of production, and how long does she hold it?
- A. A cow hits her peak of production about one month after freshening and holds it for about six months.
- Q. There are spots on my dining room table, caused by hot dishes. How can I restore the table to its original finish?
- A. Rub over these spots very quickly with spirits of camphor—wash off at once and then polish with your regular furniture polish. I think your table will come out all right.
- Q. My five weeks old pullets are about to be put on wire soon. Should they be vaccinated now or later at ten or twelve weeks when they are put on the ground?
- A. You can vaccinate them at any time but it might be better to wait till they are a little older when they are stronger and have more resistance than they do when they are only a few weeks old. I would suggest you get a good supply of chick typhoid vaccine and put it up to pick the disease.

PRACTICE SEGREGATION

I guess you will say "He is becoming segregation conscious." Well, you are not far wrong, for we see it everywhere, while we hear and read about how the poor minorities are treated. In every city of any size, segregation is practiced to the extreme among the white race. Standards are set for homes in zones beyond which there is little if any social relations. Our church literature is full of anti-segregation doctrine, and at the same time the writers are living in cities full of zoning, and while they practice the very thing they were denouncing. You see it at every church gathering. The greatest segregation there is anywhere is in American Armed Forces. Commissioned officers do not eat, sleep or associate with the enlisted men. Then there is poor old rundown Mexico, whose people swim the river to come to Texas to earn money to buy food. But now airplanes are used to locate these poor fellows and turn them back into the land of poverty, where the art of segregation is carried on to the meanest degree; where the poor are not allowed to sit in the same section of the church with the rich. But they abuse Texas for practicing smaller social breaches. Well, people are funny.—Yoakum County Review.

AWARDED 19 STUDENTS

LUBBOCK, July — Nineteen high school graduates, one from each high school in Lubbock, Crosby, Floyd, Hale, Lamb, Lynn, Hockley, Terry and Garza counties, have been awarded the Dunlap Stores scholarship at Texas Technological college. These students represent high ranking scholars in each of the schools and are chosen on the basis of psychological English and mathematics examinations.

Founders of the scholarship state that if the student does not receive a failing or unsatisfactory grade at the end of nine weeks, $50 will be awarded him. If he passes all courses at the end of the semester and does not receive a failing or unsatisfactory grade at the end of the first nine weeks of the second semester, the remaining $50 will be given. In each case an alternate is chosen, and if the person awarded the scholarship fails to come to Tech or does not maintain his scholastic average, the alternate automatically receives the benefits.

WASP CURE IS PAINFUL

DES MOINES — (AP) — Elwyn Pearson's plan for getting rid of wasps proved more painful than stings. The wasps had been stinging his stock in the pasture. He discovered the nest in a large gas pipe used as a fence brace. Pearson threw gasoline into the pipe, and lit a match. There was a blast which threw fire over him, resulting in burns that required hospital attention.

Guar May Be Answer To Dry Land Farmer

Guar, a tall-growing summer legume, isn't exactly a new crop in Texas. Records show that it was first planted in the state 35 years ago, but it is only now coming into its own. It is becoming more popular each year and especially in the southern part of the state.

E. B. Reynolds, who has charge of soil and crop management investigations for the Texas agricultural experiment station, says the two strongest points about guar are that it is a good soil builder and that it grows under dry conditions. He says that the station during the past 20 years has tried growing guar in several different sections of the state and it seems to be a valuable soil building crop for certain areas of the state.

Farmers in the Karnes county soil conservation district were the first to plant it on a large scale and they found that it was just what they needed to follow their winter flax crop. It stands up well under drought conditions and will make a good growth on several different types of soil found in that county.

Reynolds reports that guar has been grown as far south and east as Brazoria and Galveston counties and as far north and west as Knox county.

Those familiar with guar say that it is not a miracle plant, but that it is doing a good job of protecting the soil during the summer months and that it is a fine soil building legume. It is not a good forage or grazing crop because livestock do not like it. Recent experimental results show that the seed from guar may prove to be valuable in the manufacture of certain plastics and adhesives, and concludes Reynolds, it will be well to watch this legume crop for it may be just what is needed in the sections of the state where it is adaptable.

FRANK BUCK IN MALAYA

SINGAPORE — (AP) — Frank Buck, the American "Bring 'Em Back Alive" man, flew into Singapore to prepare for a new jungle film and said stoutly: "I'm not afraid of bandits—but I won't be able to start filming until they clear off. I must think of my staff."

Buck plans to visit several parts of Johore, the southernmost province of Malaya, which he may use as locale for his film. Johore Bahru is the capital of the state of Johore. Although there is trouble in the outer part of the state, the capital city is peaceful.

Speaking of government debit spending, we note that the towns of the Panhandle and South Plains have won the first round up at Washington to have the Canadian river dammed and water from the reservoir piped to the dozen or so cities. Was talking with a guy 'tother day that had lived all over that section, and he almost swore that he had never seen the Canadian river when water was running in it. He had seen the "stream" stand in holes, he admitted. Personally, we would not know, as we never saw that river that we know of.

Gov. Allan Shivers has agreed to reactivate the USO, the wartime organization, to plan entertainment for men and women in the armed forces. Not only that, but he has agreed to take the general chairmanship. The aim is to raise $500,000 to be used for the purpose stated above. Few Texans perhaps realize that there are at present some 98,000 Texas men and women in the several armed forces. Evidently, leaders of Texas have reached the conclusion that some form of planned entertainment should be furnished by the organization, and not force these people, who are ready to defend the country, to have to hunt up the "Bloody Spoon" for their entertainment and relaxation.

 According to The Echo, official publication of the Texas prison system, gambling and the sale of dope within the wall has reached such a condition that the board has requested Manager Ellis to issue script instead of money to combat this evil. If these evils demand such drastic measures within the prison walls to control them, what kind of a headache does officers in the cities have with these pre-arrested criminals at large? One of the amusing sidelights to the Huntsville affair was that of a suggestion from the editor of The Echo that the plant be permitted to print the script. Now, several of our merchants are well aware of the fact that the editor in question is very good at forging names. Therefore, it is little wonder here that Mr. Ellis made no commitments to the editor.

While the rest of us business men are worrying about how the railroads are going to finance themselves in the future with the outlook toward a socialistic trend, we had better be thinking of ourselves as well—our own business, asserts the Railway Age. To say the least, even with flush times the past few years, the railroads as well as utilities have had no easy path to finance badly needed equipment. What with high cost of material, labor and the ever-increasing taxes, the financiers with money to loan, can see little chance of re-imburement. Stockholders in such corporations are just John, Paul and Jack, even as you and I. They want some returns on their investments. They like the sight of dividends, or to clip a few coupons, even though the amount is small. As a rule, they do not expect big returns on investments, but they do want some. Otherwise they invest in government or other bonds, as in doing so, they are well aware of the fact that they will get some returns on their money guaranteed through taxes extracted from the people. And you can't blame them. But if money gets hard for the railroads, other carriers and utility companies to obtain, so will it for you to get it for your business, brother.

The writer may be a bit dumb, but we have wondered why Lubbock and Lubbock county were left out of the counties mentioned to take part in the district No. 2 boxing meet to be held here on August 2-3? Counties to the north, east, south and west of Lubbock were mentioned. It was even stated that in event Amarillo, which is in another district, decided not to hold a meet, they might participate in the events held here under auspices of the Junior Chamber of Commerce. Could have been an oversight, but Lubbock county was not included in any of the lists we saw printed in any paper, weekly or daily.

In one way it seems almost a shame that the people of Amarillo are collecting a large purse to be donated to some one or more to help in the capture of the murderer or murderers of Tex Thornton. It is not that all law-abiding people everywhere are not anxious for the capture and trial of the perpetrators of this crime. But that a premium must be put up before some people will talk and tell what they saw or heard that might give a clue to the arrest of the criminals. Of course, the officers are working diligently all over the southwest to apprehend the killers, but right now the trail seems to have become too cold to follow. It is a pity that some folks are so constructed that it takes money to make them open their traps and talk. If you ask us, such freaks like a lot of being good citizens, when their palms have to be crossed with kale to get them to talk. In the meantime, Amarillo seems to be building up a reputation that is not the best. Nearby places have already begun to call it "Little Chicago."

Sixty thousand Future Farmers, 4-H'ers and Future Homemakers are said to have visited the Texas state fair at Dallas last year, and management is expecting at least 75,000 this year. A lunch was furnished each of these visitors by the business men of Dallas, and that alone is not hay. This year, October 15 will be designated as Rural Youth Day, when these clubbers are expected to converge on the fair from all quarters of Texas. Those in the know tell us that strange as it may sound, these young people spend comparatively little time at the midway rides and other attractions, but most of their day or days are spent in the poultry, livestock, agricultural and homemaking sections of the fair, and these youths are taking notes as they go. This speaks volumes for the future welfare of the agricultural advancement of Texas, and despite our industrial growth of the past few years, Texas is still primarily agricultural. This year, 50 of the outstanding members of clubs will receive $100 and all of them banqueted. The prize will depend on the percent of the clubs represented, distance traveled, etc.

It is currently reported that some Texas teachers are objecting to taking the loyalty oath as enacted by the last legislature, before being allowed to teach in Texas public schools. If they are not communists or fellow travelers, such an oath or affirmation should not be so hard to swallow. On the contrary, if they are communists, they will have no compunction of conscience to swear to a lie. And a refusal to do so by those intensely loyal will leave room for someone to form suspicions that might injure their teaching profession. As stated above, to falsify will not in the least faze a Stalinite, but to decent people, an untruth is just about the worst of crimes, and a student is more subject to punishment for prevaricating than most any other rule breaking in our school system. All of our precinct, county, state and federal officials have to take an oath to uphold the law and the constitution. Why should the teachers, also a state and local employee, decide that the law is a lick at them in particular? No such idea as that was in consideration when the law was passed. But perhaps millions of Texas parents have a right to know that those who teach their children are loyal American citizens.

Fallon To Get Fellowship In Colorado University
 B. J. Fallon and his family will move soon to Boulder, Colo., where he has accepted a university fellowship at Colorado university. He will study toward his doctor's degree in the field of education, beginning in September.
 Fallon came to Brownfield in September, 1947, as principal of Brownfield high school, following the completion of his master's degree in August, 1947, at Texas Technological college in Lubbock. Since that time he has also done some work at Tech toward his doctorate.
 In a statement to the press, Fallon said "Serving the students and the community of Brownfield for the past two years has been a pleasure and a privilege. To work with a community's most valuable resources, its boys and girls, is one of the finest fields of endeavor in the world. My best wishes will always follow the many friends we have known in Brownfield, both among the students and the school patrons of this city."

News From The Service Office

On June 6, 1949 the governor of Texas signed senate bill 29 passed by the 51st legislature which created the veterans' land board.

This bill authorized the issuance of $25,000,000 of state bonds to finance the purchase of farms and ranches for Texas veterans of World War II.

All veterans with at least 90 days service and discharged honorably who were taken into the service from Texas and still reside in Texas can borrow up to $7,125.00 from the veterans' land board at the interest rate of three per cent and 40 years is given to retire the loan.

The veteran must pay five per cent on the $7,500.00 loan if approved by the board. In order for him to procure this loan, he must first find some one who agrees to sell the land to him. Next he draws a contract that the seller will sell the described land to the veterans' land board. Then he should write to the veterans' land board general office at Austin for an application for the purchase of a farm.

If a veteran of World War II requires emergency hospitalization in a private hospital it is absolutely necessary that prior authorization be secured in order for the veteran to have his bills paid by the VA.

According to information received by this office, application blanks for securing the NSLI dividend will be mailed out about September 1. The veterans administration informs us that dividend payments will begin soon after January 1, 1950.

Rabies Can Be Wiped Out, Authorities Say

By FRANK CAREY

Associated Press Science Reporter (Advance) — Washington, July 23 — (AP) — Public health service authorities say it's possible to eradicate rabies—the "mad dog" disease—from the nation.

Rabies—pronounced "ray-bees"—occurs chiefly in dogs and such animals as the wolf, fox and coyote. But man may get it if a rabid animal bites him or if virus infected saliva from such an animal gets into his body through a fresh wound of any kind.

The disease kills only 35 to 50 Americans each year, but it is considered a major public health problem for these reasons:

1. It's always fatal in man or beast — and its horrible agony makes it one of the most dreaded of human ailments.

2. Nearly a half million Americans are bitten by dogs each year. Doctors require between 30,000 and 40,000 of them to take anti-rabies vaccine treatment because the dogs were at least suspected of having rabies.

This vaccine treatment—called the "Pasteur" treatment—is highly effective but expensive and time-consuming because daily injections are given for two or three weeks. Also, to one in 3,000 to 5,000 persons the vaccine is dangerous, causing a paralytic condition of the central nervous system. Death takes one in three of the persons so affected.

3. While most prevalent among dogs, rabies also strikes cattle, horses, sheep, swine, goats and cats.

Public health authorities estimate that the annual loss to this country from human vaccine treatments and livestock losses exceeds $5,000,000.

4. There are some indications that the disease has been on the increase in recent years. One fac-

Farm Bureau Institute In Progress In Waco

Waco, Texas — July 28 — A. & M. college of Texas is being host to the first Texas farm bureau institute, July 24-29. Enrollment is expected to exceed 300, according to J. Walter Hammond, federation president. The faculty for the week's training program is composed of persons who have made an outstanding success in particular lines of farm bureau work or persons whose training and experience qualify them to make a definite contribution.

Two of the outstanding speakers who addressed the institute are Allan B. Kline, president of the American farm bureau federation, and Roger Fleming, director of American farm bureau's Washington office. A feature of the institute is a banquet on Friday evening, July 29, at which Kline will speak, and certificates will be awarded by President J. W. Hammond.

Furr And Associates Buy Canning Plant

Lubbock's vegetable processing plant, formerly known as Dorman Foods, Inc., will begin operation as the Tex-Plains Canning company next week.

Announcement of the acquisition of the canning plant, operated by W. A. Dorman, who came to Lubbock from Tyler, was made today by Roy Furr and a group of associates. This group of South Plains business men felt the canning plant a definite asset to the community and are in "hope to assist in creating a good cash market for locally-grown produce for canning."

The original operation was shut down this spring after a tenure of production dating back to 1946, under the Dorman label. The formation of Tex-Plains Canning company gives to Lubbock and the South Plains a strengthened unit of industry which adds to this locality's bid for prosperity among the South Plains leading cities.

General manager will be John F. Andrews. Andrews has for many years been associated in the food business as a broker, experienced in production and distribution. Following many years on the Pacific coast in the food distribution field, Andrews came to Lubbock some years ago in charge of the West Texas division of Charles H. Platter & Co., one of the state's long-established food brokerage companies.

Dorman is a veteran in the canning industry in Texas. He concludes a new pack of blackberries and tomatoes in his East Texas plant to return to Lubbock as production superintendent.

First activity in the new Tex-Plains plant will be that of canning whole potatoes, grown locally. The plant itself, modern in every way, is ideally adapted for production of locally-grown products. Following the potato pack, Andrews expects to set up operation for the purpose of canning blackeye peas, lima beans, green beans, spinach and tomatoes.

Local growers are urged to make contact with the plant immediately, if interested in making arrangements for future growing.

The plant, when in full operation, will employ some 75 to 100 persons. Management will be interested in applications for employment in about ten days, Andrews said. The plant is located at 1510 3rd street.

J. J. Whitley and wife have returned from an extended visit with their children, Ruby Doss and family of Fuston, Calif., J. B. Whitley, also of Fuston, B. D. Whitley and Austin Whitley of Santa Ana, Calif., and Eva Burnett of San Bernardino, Calif.

State Cotton Crop Now Appears Tops

Things look good right now for the cotton farmer. Texas has better than a fair-sized cotton crop coming up. Fact is, it may be a record year, since the acreage is up quite a bit over last year.

It'll take top-notch care all the way from planting to harvest to beat the 1937 crop, says C. H. Bates, extension farm management specialist of Texas A&M college. That year, the nation produced 18.9 million bales. Texas' share of that was 5.1 million bales, about 28 per cent of the total.

But a big crop doesn't necessarily mean big profits for cotton growers, he said. How big the profits are will depend on a couple of things. First, how much the cotton grower will get for his crop, and second, what it cost him to produce and harvest it.

The government is working toward a stabilization of price through loans, but it's up to the farmers to look after the cost items. They know it takes big per acre yields to keep the costs down. Tractors, machinery, labor and seed for the necessary replanting are still on the high-priced list, Bates says.

The entomologists say that, on the average, about 15 per cent more cotton can be harvested in fields where a good job of insect control has been practiced. For a farm producing 200 pounds of lint per acre, insect control means an extra 30 pounds. Speaking in dollars and cents, that's $8.50. On more productive land, the increase will be larger still.

Cotton growers need to control the bugs this year as never before for profit's sake, Bates says. If a dollar invested in control measures will protect the crop investment and return $1.50, insect control is a paying-off proposition.

Better yields will keep profits higher, he concludes, but it all goes back to the business of insect control.

Santa Fe Carloadings

Santa Fe system carloadings for the week ending July 16, 1949, were 26,172 compared with 30,731 for the same week in 1948. Cars received from connections totaled 9,160 compared with 10,322 for the same week in 1948. Total cars moved were 35,332 compared with 41,053 for the same week in 1948. Santa Fe handled a total of 32,366 cars in the preceding week of this year.

Snake In The Grass

LEWISTOWN, Montana (P) — Montana rancher Martin Norman said he had the snakes after this experience with a rattlesnake.

Norman and Ted Langford were out trailing cattle in the Missouri brakes near here. They stopped for a rest and stretched out in the grass to cool off. A noise attracted their attention and when they looked up, there was a rattlesnake between them.

Norman rolled out of the range of the snake, but Langford froze and lay still. The rattler slithered up to Langford, looked him over and turned and went away.

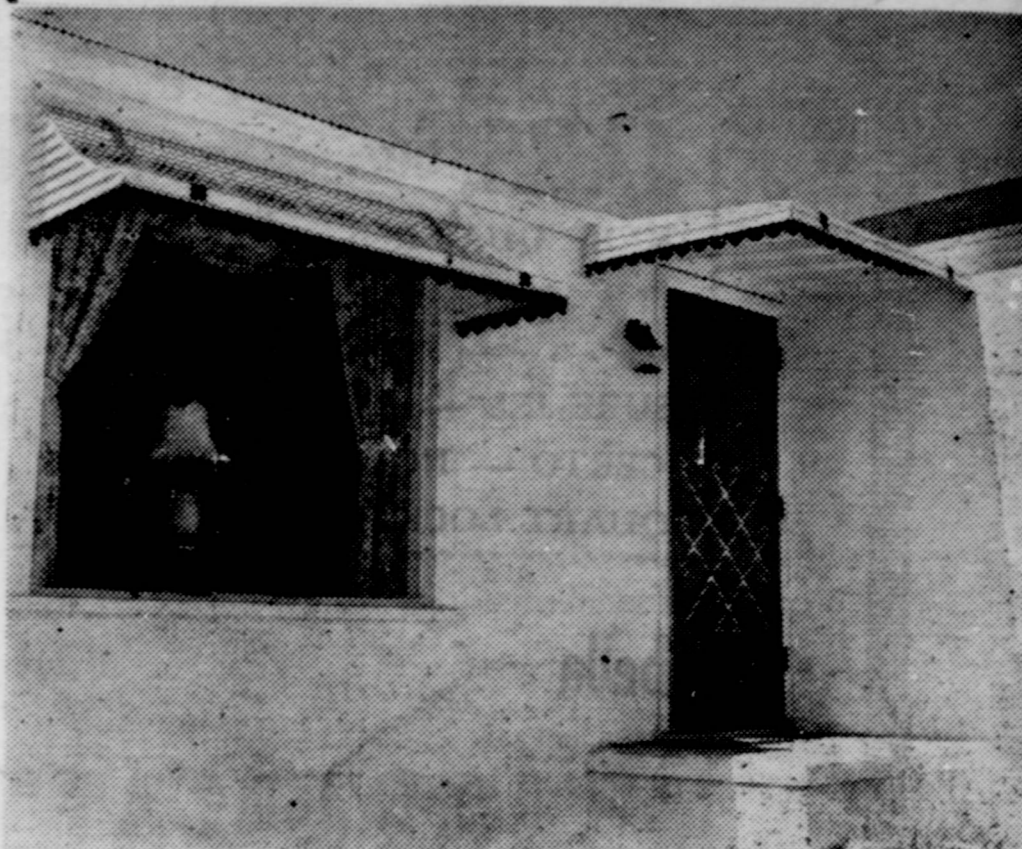

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Nunn and son, Gilbert, returned Thursday from points of interest in California and other states.

TEXANS IN WASHINGTON

By TEX EASLEY
AP Special Washington Service
 Washington, July—(P)—Texas congressman W. R. Poage was born in Waco and that's his home now, but he comes by his nickname, "Farmer Bob" honestly.

During the course of his 48 years he has picked up a lot of farming knowledge.

As a youth he tugged a sack down many a row of Throckmorton county cotton... he had to miss school the fall of 1912 to help get the crop picked. He has rounded up cattle, too, for his dad moved out there from Waco to ranch, then later he became one of the first in the county to plant cotton.

After service in the Texas state legislature, Poage came to congress in 1937 and has become recognized as one of its best informed men on the complicated agricultural laws that affect every dirt farmer.

His ability to explain those laws in down-to-earth language that even a city dweller can understand accounts for his prominent role in debate on the new farm bill.

Forthright and sincere, the Texan informed agriculture secretary Brannan that some of the features of his legislative program were pretty good and there were some he didn't like. That was when the cabinet member came before the house agriculture committee on which Poage serves, and hearings were started on the farm bill which came before the house this week.

As finally reported favorably by the committee, the bill reflected some of the opinions of the Waco legislator. For instance, it provided that the secretary of agriculture test out his new price support ideas only on perishable crops.

"I see no point in changing the existing program on storable crops such as cotton, corn and wheat," he says.

"They have worked well and haven't cost the government anything. In fact, we've made about $230,000,000 off the cotton the commodity credit corporation has taken over as security in loans."

With regard to those crops which can't be held by the government over long periods of time, Poage adds: "That's different."

"Take Irish potatoes."

"The CCC has been taking them up from farmers at about $1.62 a bushel. They sold lots and gave some away to charitable institutions, but a lot remained on their hands. They couldn't dump them on the market cheap to get rid of them, because that would drive the prices down even lower."

"The result was that great quantities spoiled, because they couldn't be stored, and the government lost about $220,000,000 or nearly the same amount as it made off of cotton."

"Under the Brannan plan the farmer would sell those potatoes at whatever the market price will bring. The cheaper they get in the stores, the more your wife and mine will buy.

TRIAL BY FIRE—A newly-developed gas tank for aircraft gets a blowtorch test by an aviation mechanic at Floyd Bennett Field in New York. Capable of withstanding direct flame and intense heat up to 2000 degrees Fahrenheit, the specially coated tank failed to burn after being exposed to the blowtorch flame for 28 minutes. A conventional gas tank burst into flames after less than two minutes.

"At the end of the season the secretary would determine what the average market price has been and pay the farmer the difference between that figure and the new parity payment rate provided in the bill, amounting to $1.59 per bushel."

Poage is unhappy about one aspect of the Brannan plan even in regard to potatoes and other perishable crops.

"You're giving the farmer some money without his giving the government something in return," he elaborated.

"This is too much like a dole. And farmers are men with a lot of pride."

"Personally I prefer to see the program arranged on a kind of insurance basis with a processing tax levied against everything he takes to market. Then let the government put up a matching two or three per cent."

"It could be worked just like the unemployment insurance program for industrial workers."

CZECHS LINE UP FOR U. S. FILMS

PRAGUE — (P) — The biggest queues in town these summer days—dwarfing even those before the free market food shops—stand before the few American and French movies the communist government allows shown here. Such Hollywood oldies as "Arabian Nights" and "Robin Hood" are packing them in, along with the French "Silence is Golden."

On the other hand, Russian films, of which the Czechs get plenty, do slim business. Products of the Czech film industry also do poorly at the box office against the western products.

And it is no accident that the few available American films are saved up for the summer months. Both spectators and exhibitors will tell you why. It is because there is no trick to filling the theatres in the winter, when the people often go to keep warm or to avoid boredom.

Wrong Year—Wrong Ticket

Miami, Fla.—(P)—T. E. Rakestraw, Miami policeman, has completed a mission that friends believe is deserving of some sort of medal. Rakestraw was sent to Atlanta, Ga., to pacify the tempers of some 40 Atlantans who had received notices from the Miami police department to "please remit $3" for traffic violations.

The hitch was that none of the Atlanta motorists had been in Miami. Georgia license tags expire in April. Miami police thought the 1948 tags were still in effect. The violators were listed under 1949 numbers.

Tempers of the unjustly accused have been soothed, Rakestraw reports, and now he's after the real violators.

JERSEYS GET HIGH RATING AT TECH COLLEGE

Thirty-three Jersey cows of the Texas Technological college herd were classified recently and the records of these and those previously classified give the herd an average of 81.3, which is good plus.

Those classified were rated as follows: very good, two; good plus, 19; good, 10, and fair, two. There were none rated poor. The two cows rated fair were done so because of broken fore udder attachments rather than on body conformation.

Culling Aids Flock Producers in Market

Heavy culling of poultry flocks during the summer months calls for extra effort in marketing if farmers are to get the best price for their hens, says C. M. Evans, chief, southwest poultry branch, production and marketing administration, USDA.

To keep their flocks on a profitable basis, most farmers are now selling their broody hens, early molters and marginal layers, said Evans. Altogether, these culled birds in any farm flock of average size make up one or more coops to sell.

Here are some hot weather tips that Evans offers to those who may be marketing culled hens soon: Give the hens plenty of clean, fresh water while holding just before marketing. Be sure coops are clean and not overcrowded. Provide plenty of ventilation and shade at all times. Separate hens according to their quality and let each lot sell on its own merits, and never use sacks or bags or tie chickens together for the trip to market.

If these precautions are followed, concludes Evans, the marketing of the culled will be easier and shrinkage and other losses will be less.

BLUE HAIR IS BERLIN STYLE

BERLIN — (P) — "Cornflower blue" is a popular German expression to describe intoxication. But now there is cornflower blue hair, too. The fad was started by a young girl in Kiel, the Baltic seaport.

A newspaper described the new color as "by no means a blue such as sometimes appears in natural blue-black hair, but a bright blue so far reserved to the sea and the cornflower."

Gee Gee's Chit Chat

A letter from W. R. Postma of Lubbock, who is Scout executive for the South Plains council of the Boy Scouts of America, was most warmly received, despite its mild reprimand for not including the scouting program in Brownfield in our comments on youth organizations last week. This was an oversight on our part as we feel that the Boy Scout and Girl Scout programs in our city are excellent. According to Mr. Postma, more than 1,500 boys have benefited from their scouting in Brownfield during the past ten years, and not one of those 1,500 boys has been in trouble since taking up scouting. It would be difficult to begin naming the people here who have been so active in scout work and who have devoted so much time to that end but we feel as Mr. Postma does, that we should acknowledge our sincere appreciation to these men and women who have done so much for the youth of Brownfield. And, since we are tossing bouquets, Mr. Postma should have a large one himself, for his years of untiring and unselfish work with scouting. Breakfast food manufacturers must be sadists of the first order. Although a joyful experience for the kids, no doubt, it's a rather nerve-wracking one for use when, at 7 a.m. we dip up a spoonful of crispy, crunchy corn flakes, deposit them in our 'tater trap, and bite down on a metal (fits any finger) comic ring bearing the likeness of Snuffy Smif on its repulsive little top. If a person has any pack-rat blood in him at all, there's no end of things one can acquire if one will only save a few cereal box tops and send them along to the company with any old odd change one might happen to have floating around in ones pocket. We note with regret the resignation of Berlie Fallon, personable principal of Brownfield high school for the past two years. One of the best liked, as well as one of the most talented fellows we have ever met, our loss is truly someone else's gain. Good luck, Berlie.

Stricklinly Speaking

By Old He

Talking about unusual names, we saw one recently that was a stunner. It makes us wonder sometimes how come they have such a name. But after you are used to it, one never thinks of the oddity of it. This name was Snipes. Now a snipe was an edible bird back in the old states, of the plover family.

Perhaps most of our readers, if any, who were reared back east are familiar with the old joke of "hunting snipe." The greenhorn was taken to the back field, placed along a ditch or fence row, with an open gunny sack. He was told to keep the sack open while the others drove the snipe in.

Those in the know pretended to get out and thrash the bushes and weeds, but in reality went back to the farm house and was soon asleep. Sometime in the wee sma' hours of the morning, the sack man also came in and saw the joke. Some got sore, some just laughed. It was almost as fascinating as the famous "badger fights" here in the early days.

Here's one for Homer Nelson, who, although a native, relishes a good joke about Arkansas. A traveler through the Ozark section stopped at a small town cafe and was served a good, well-cooked meal. He was profuse in his compliments. While talking, the tourist absent-mindedly reached in the bowl for a toothpick.

"None there, stranger," says the Arkansawyer. "We used to try to keep one in there, but some folks would never think to put them back." The Clarendon Leader says this could have happened in Jack county, Texas.

BARGAIN DAY—That sign on the car in the center doesn't mean what you might think; it's not really selling for 75 cents—just 75 cents a pound. The novel idea of cars-by-the-pound was originated in Decatur, Ill. It works out about the same as the ordinary retail price in the end, but the novelty of the idea has increased business by 50 per cent, according to the dealer.

Yep, it is true that families are smaller than they used to be. But nowadays the women have less children but more husbands.

One other reason we do not seriously object to large corporations is that it is just as cheap to phone to Middleton, Tenn., as to Brownwood, Tex. The first is 950 miles away, the other 260. One starts out here with a hookup with a big company at Lubbock, which also operates in Tennessee. The other way around, the third company or second independent bunch takes over before your message reaches Brownwood.

We neglected to mention last week that our little girl friend, Jonelda Oakley, of Colorado City called while we were off on a jaunt. Sorry we weren't in to greet the little miss who calls us "Daddy Jack."

It could have been a mortician instead of a clothing dealer that originated the "lay-away plan."

Of course, your argument is always logical, plausible and convincing. What the other guy has to say in reply is mere drivel of the most contemptible type.

Scientists now maintain that men are taller at evening. Most of us will allow that we are much shorter on pay day, both evening and morning.

Here it is with July almost gone, and a lot of water under the bridge that did no one any good.

Some Americans have about decided that Europe is a jigsaw puzzle with a "peace" missing.

Sudden signal: During hot weather, what is the use of doing today what can be put off until tomorrow?

Patient: "Doctor, if I do not drink, smoke or chase women, is it possible to live to be 100?" Doctor: "No, but it will seem that long."

Secretly we have often wondered if people were any more comfortable in hot weather after exclaiming about the heat. Or if they figured rain might happen if they gandered the sky.

TURNIP AND MUSTARD GREENS BECOME AN IMPORTANT CASH CROP

NEW YORK, July—Two old-time Southern menu favorites—turnip and mustard greens—are winning popularity as a year-round table delicacy and are becoming an increasingly important crop for growers and packers of greens.

Tender young leaves of the mustard and turnip plants, cooked in water with salt pork and pepper pods, have long been traditional Southern favorites but have not been widely known in other sections of the country.

However, crop and canning figures now show that these greens are becoming increasingly available in all seasons, and nutrition experts point out that the products offer an interesting taste variant and afford much the same healthful benefits as other leafy vegetables.

Can industry figures show that more than 1,500,000 cases of mustard, turnip and other greens were put up in 1948.

Summer Fun

Katherine Bassett, Dallas, plays at White Rock Lake, one of her city's summertime diversions, as she urges her neighbors of the Southwest to come to Dallas for a week-end holiday or vacation. "Dallas Invites You" is the name of a civic hospitality program to help visitors to Dallas obtain hotel rooms, go sight-seeing and have fun. The committee, headed by Mayor Wallace Savage, has its headquarters in the Chamber of Commerce building.

POLES TO GET DECORATIONS, BUSINESS FAILURES IN UPWARD TREND

WARSAW, Poland—(AP)—The communist-led Warsaw government, constantly urging more and more work, is adding two new decorations to the long list of those already awarded to Poles who work the hardest. The new orders are called "Banner of Work" and "Builders of People's Poland."

Much along the lines of the so-called Stakhanovite system in Soviet Russia, directors in all branches of industry are encouraging workers to exceed their production targets.

WHAT? OLD HARRISON HAS NO STILL?

The Texas liquor control board inspectors in June reported the seizure of four illicit stills.

With the stills, which had a cubic capacity of 190 gallons, inspectors captured 355 gallons of mash and made five arrests. Twenty-four gallons of moonshine were destroyed.

One still was taken in each of the following counties: Grayson, Wood, Madison and Cherokee.

BUSINESS FAILURES IN UPWARD TREND

AUSTIN—July—A total of 29 Texas businesses failed during June, 14 in May, and 12 in June, 1948, Dun and Bradstreet reports to the University of Texas bureau of business research showed.

In contrast to the increased number of business fatalities, the average liabilities per failure decreased to $19,000 in June from $20,000 in May, and $36,000 in June of last year.

From January through June, 1949, Texas business failures amounted to 90 in comparison to 39 for the comparable period in 1948.

David Nicholson, James Harley Dallas and several other local men, including representatives of Stanolind and Magnolia companies, attended a meeting Thursday and participated in discussions concerning Santa Fe railroad's plans to discontinue train No. 94 between Clovis and Sweetwater. Number 94 is the train that carries mail between Clovis and Sweetwater, making a connection at Sweetwater with T&P No. 7.

Patsy Jean Johnson Honored Thursday

A bridal shower honoring Miss Patsy Jean Johnson, bride-elect of Wendell Whisenant, was given in the home of Mrs. Anna Bell Barrow, 405 N. Fifth, Thursday, July 21.

The table was laid with a cream lace cloth and the bride's colors of white and green were carried out in the decorations. Wide green satin streamers ran across each end of the table, tapering down into a point at the edge of the cloth, and were tied with a brial bouquet. White tapers in crystal holders were set in the center of each streamer.

The Misses Frances Price and Glyndola Stockton served the lime sherbet punch and individual cakes.

Mrs. Houston Hamilton and Miss Wanda Collier displayed the gifts.

Approximately 70 guests were registered in the white satin bride's book by Miss Judy Barrow.

Hostesses were Mesdames V. L. Patterson, Gay Price, Shorty Forbus, M. L. McNutt, Hamilton and Barrow. Sub-hostesses were the Misses Frances Price, Judy Barrow, Wanda Collier, Dixie Brown, Yvonne Forbus, and Glyndola Stockton.

Fascinatin'

By Judy Seaton

"A rose is a rose is a Rosenfeld!" Actress Joan Alexander read the flowery inscription, then exclaimed: "And it's so true! I've never found dresses so 'ready-to-wear' before!" Joan marveled at the latest designs, and finally chose this striped Coanna Jersey for the picture.

Besides her role as Della Street over CBS on "Perry Mason," Joan also plays Audrey Roberts on "Rosemary." "With those two and frequent calls for nighttime half-hour shows," she says, "I have to have a wardrobe that's ready for anything!"

The simple lines and beautiful cut of this dress illustrate today's trend in fashion toward easily adaptable clothes.

Most important, this nylon jersey heralds a revolution in warm weather convenience. No longer does summer mean hours of ironing, tedious time spent over a heavy wash. For now, with the brand-new nylon weaves, in exactly one hour after tubbing, the dress is ready to wear, without even ironing!

"It's just what I need with my schedule," said Joan. "But does it really dry that fast?" An on-the-spot test convinced her—a swatch of material was washed, and when Joan left a half hour later, it was bone dry!

Meadow News

The Terry County Methodist Men's organization met in Meadow last week for their monthly fellowship dinner. A delicious meal, consisting of fried chicken as the main course, was served to approximately 40 people. Since no guest speaker was available, several of the members made brief talks which were appreciated by all present. Those attending included men from Brownfield, Pool, Lakeview and Meadow.

The Meadow Boy Scout troop No. 107 had an overnight outing Thursday night, July 21. Scouts attending included Scoutmaster Leon Bell, Ronnie McCarty, Joe Longley, Ben Ed McCarty, Duwain Galloway, Ray and Roy Gober, Bob Warren, Olan Finley, Donald Wayne Whisanhunt, Bob Wilson, Ronny Johnson and Sonny Curtis. An unexpected treat was furnished the boys in the form of a watermelon feast. Melons were furnished by Mr. and Mrs. Herman Horschler of Meadow. The greatest enjoyment for the boys, aside from interesting games, was the thrill of sleeping with the stars for a canopy.

Recent visitors from out of town were the Clyde Burnetts of Carlsbad, N.M., who visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Langley, and Don Cook, of Melbourne, Ark., who was here visiting his relatives, Mr. and Mrs. V. E. Cook.

Mrs. Cecil Tune is away this week for a much-needed rest. She is in the home of her sister, Fern, of Borger. Mrs. Tune is still recuperating from a serious illness last winter.

A. L. Curtis is in Hot Springs, Ark., where he is undergoing medical treatment.

Last Sunday, Mrs. Preston Hester was called to the bedside of her mother in Leonard, Texas. Mrs. Bradley, the mother, suffered an attack of paralysis early last Sunday. At the time of this writing, relatives here have no recent report.

Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Jones of Meadow, Mr. and Mrs. Nathan

Jones and family and Juanez Jones of Lubbock attended the Thorpe Springs encampment last week end. This is an annual camp meeting held by the Churches of Christ. The Joneses also planned to attend a homecoming of old schoolmates while there, but for some reason this gathering was not held.

V. E. Cook visited last Sunday in O'Donnell with his mother.

Little Ronnie Finley, who has been with Mr. and Mrs. Homer Causseaux since his parents and family were stricken with illness several months ago, was returned last week to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Finley, of Dallas. Accompanying the Causseauxs to Dallas was Fred Finley of this city. For the benefit of the many friends of the Elmer Finleys in this section, it might be added that they are almost completely recovered from their illness and are back at their regular occupations.

HUCK FINN—A pair of ragged overalls, frayed straw hat, corn-cob pipe, fishing pole and a can of worms were all 8-year-old Lee Van Hook needed to win first prize in the Huckleberry Finn contest at Annual Kids Day in Rogers, Ark. A bountiful crop of freckles gave him an edge over his nearest rival.

Tommy Harris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Harris, left Sunday with his aunt, Jessie Harris, and Iris Mobley for Altus, Okla., where he will visit this week with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Harris, and Mr. and Mrs. Ross McDonald. Miss Harris and Miss Mobley spent the week end with the Harris.

Mr. and Mrs. Jess Adkins and J. D. Williams, all of Marlowe, Okla., visited Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Jones over the weekend.
