Small Grain Pasture Dairyman's "Must"

COLLEGE STATION, August—There are certain items that should be on every dairyman's "must" list and one of these, says R. E. Burleson, associate extension dairy husbandman of Texas A&M college, is small grain pastures for fall and winter grazing. Plan at least one acre for each cow in the herd, for it is one way to get more feed for less money and that means lower production costs and more net income.

Silage is another source of cheap feed nutrients so have the silo ready for filling by the time the crop you are growing for silage is ready for harvesting.

In many sections of the state, it will pay you well to supplement the drying pastures with plenty of good quality hay and silage, says Burleson. Give the cows all they will eat. They will pay you well for it. Summer time isn't over in Texas and chances are good that many pastures will be brown from the heat and dry weather before fall grazing crops are available so have the supplements ready.

Herd culling is always in order, says Burleson. Make the herd fit the feed supply. The same amount of feed produces more milk when fed to high producing cows, he adds. There is no profit in feeding cows that only pay their board bill. They should be culled.

Fall Tomatoes Must Have Good Care

College Station, August — Fall tomatoes set out in July must receive special care if they are to produce a satisfactory crop, says J. F. Rosborough, extension horticulturist of Texas A&M college.

Thorough watering or irrigation at regular intervals is a must unless there is sufficient rainfall to keep them well supplied with moisture, adds Rosborough. All weeds should be kept down. A good mulch covering will conserve moisture, help control the weeds and grass and will help cool the ground. If a mulch is used, it isn't necessary to cultivate the soil.

If you have some tomato plants which produced a spring crop, and the plants are still in a healthy, vigorous condition, it may be possible to re-use the plants. Look near the ground line for small sprouts that may be growing there at the present time, says Rosborough. Remove the old top and leave two or three of the young sprouts.

Fertilize these plants at the rate of a half teacup of 5-10-5 per plant and then follow with a thorough irrigation and later cultivate, continues Rosborough. Only healthy plants should be used in this manner and those plants showing any signs of disease or deterioration should be discarded, he concludes.

A&M Prepares Storage Bulletin

College Station, August — The new bulletin, C-266, Grain Storage for Texas, is new and chock full of helpful ideas on grain storage structures for Texas. The publication was prepared by W. S. Allen, extension agricultural engineer-buildings of Texas A&M college.

On-the-farm grain storage is due to be a very important part of every Texas grain producer's farming operations for a long time and Allen says storage structures should be built with this fact in mind. Build them to last. The cheapest structure you can build is the one that will still be usable and safe ten to fifteen years from now, he adds.

Here are a few things you should remember, he says. Low moisture content is necessary for prolonged safe storage of grain. Construct a strong, durable building. Eliminate entrance points for moisture and insects. Provide for fumigation, if necessary. Ratproof your grain structure, locate it for convenience on a firm, dry site and don't forget to plan an easy way to get the grain in and out.

If you need grain storage on your farm, Allen suggests that you visit your local county agricultural agent. Talk over the situation with him and get a copy of the new bulletin. You can find the answers to a lot of the questions that you'd like to know in C-266, Grain Storage in Texas.

RAID ON RECLAMATION FUNDS REVEALED

$993,307,000 FOR 17 STATES

Library of Congress tabulation shows that total government appropriations for building reclamation projects in the 17 western reclamation states amounted to $993,307,000 during the entire 11 year period from 1939 through 1949.

$738,000,000 FOR ONE STATE

Arizona is making Congressional bid for one irrigation project costing a minimum of $738,000,000 for initial development only. Additional tunnels and dams would raise total project cost to an estimated $1,500,000,000.

Backers of western reclamation development have expressed grave concern over possible fate of numerous state programs if Arizona's request for a huge irrigation project should be granted. They point out that this proposal gives Arizona the lion's share of all available funds. To meet such a threat, a fight is being waged behind the scenes in Congress over Senate Bill 75 and House Resolution 934. These are the controversial bills calling for the largest reclamation appropriation ever made to a single state. The reclamation states involved in this vital matter are: Arizona, California, Colorado, Idaho, Kansas, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New Mexico, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Oregon, South Dakota, Texas, Utah, Washington and Wyoming.

THERE'S A BOOM IN BARN PAINTING—Painting the barn is no longer the chore it used to be. A spray-painting service in Lincoln, Ill., has developed this aerial telescopic boom which eliminates ladders and scaffolding. Now it's a one-man job.

Americans Can Also Be Thrifty

For generations we Americans have looked up to the Scotch and the French in the matter of thrift and, just because somebody said so at some time or other, we have been inclined to regard ourselves as profligate spenders. This is simply not true, and not better proof of the error exists than the record in the recent Opportunity Drive for the sale of the government's series E savings bonds.

The final report of the drive has been made, showing that between May 16 and June 30 the people of Texas invested $46,835,896.75 in these securities and achieved 126 per cent of the state quota. That is a lot of money any way you look at it, and the figure takes on special significance when it is understood that this is just an addition to the savings of the citizens of Texas who own $1,539,137,000 worth of savings bonds which earn about $42,372,600 in interest each year for their owners.

This represents a tremendous amount of stored-up purchasing power. It is stored-up purchasing power in every hamlet, town and city of the state, and in the rural communities too. It is the nestegg for hundreds of thousands of Texans, mostly of average means, who have had the forethought to take a little of their earnings and set it aside for future use. The reasons for their savings are almost as numerous as the savers—some save against the possibility of a "rainy day," while others hope to buy a home or farm, take a long vacation send their children to college, go into business for themselves, or provide for old age. Whatever the reason, their savings provide just about as practical an approach as there is to personal economic security.

In addition, the total of savings owned by the people of Texas and the nation help preserve a healthy economy.

The leaders of the Opportunity Drive are to be congratulated, for it has been reported that this savings bonds campaign has been the most successful since the war. But despite the unselfish work the savings bonds leaders have contributed to the undertaking, probably those most deserving of congratulations are the men and women, here and throughout the state, who have demonstrated the good sense to save apart of their earnings by investing in these safest of all securities.

Policewoman Gets Black Eye

SINGAPORE—(AP)—A 38-year-old woman vegetable seller earned the questionable distinction of being the first person in Singapore to give a member of this island's new woman police force a black eye. Lan Choon was sent to prison for six weeks for assault and was fined $10 for hawking without a license.

Policewoman Miss Susi Gan was the chief witness against Lan. Wearing a definitely discolored left eye, Miss Gan said she tried to arrest the vegetable seller only to receive a sharp left to the eye. Miss Gan had to call a police constable to bring a semblance of order.

Here's a different kind of dollar . . .

This is a telephone investor's dollar. It comes from countless individuals or business firms who invest money in telephone company stocks and bonds. This is a different kind of dollar because it is the only kind that can be used for telephone expansion. In contrast, the money received for telephone service is used to pay wages, taxes and other operating expenses. It also helps pay for the use of the investor's dollar. By operating on a sound, business-like basis, we are able to attract the investors' dollars which help to give Americans the world's finest telephone service.

Stricklinly Speaking

By Old He

Been looking around for a sweater the last few days of wintry weather. The She must have sent as bundles for Bulgaria. But all the blankets were not sent, and we have been sleeping warm if cold until bedtime.

And there has been intermittent showers and sunshine today (Monday) as we prepare this episode. Lense Price let us down at the Price reunion Friday night. We were very profuse in our compliments of the barbecue, when he 'lows as how another guy manufactured it.

Just the same, it was among the first barbecue we have seen in some time that did not have to go through a meat grinder to be chewable. It was not only tender, but it really had the old-fashioned barbecue flavor.

And for the first time in many years, we ate some of Grandma Price's corn light bread. She will perhaps pardon us for calling her grandma, but fact is, she is not too much older than the writer.

A great time was had by all. The mixing and mingling with hold friends, tales of other days, etc., was worth the get-together, not to mention the good eats.

The amny old friends here will regret the passing of Will P. Edwards of Big Spring last Thursday. His great friendship, as well as the judicious use of his money, has meant much to this area.

He had at one time ranches in Howard, Glasscock, Ector and Crane counties. He once was to stockholder of the Brownfield State Bank & Trust Co., and a member of the board of directors. This old pioneer banker-ranchman will be missed.

School and other public officials often brief their legal notices clean out of all meaning. Such an one appeared in the current issue of the Jayton Chronicle, containing about a dozen lines.

The notice concerned bond assumption, as well as a tax election to comply with the recently enacted school bill. Now much assumption, or amount of taxes was stated nowhere in the legal. We read the notice, also Editor Wade's comment on it, and decided that the reputable Philadelphia lawyer would have been stumped to try to understand it.

Was it the thought of the 2c per word spent with the local paper that caused the briefing? Some boards think nothing of paying sums that run into four and five figures to hire auditors or tax equalizers. But if more than $1.49 is coming to the local paper, it's just extravagant.

Well, the local paper gives the schools column after column of free publicity year in and year out, and is otherwise a tax-paying citizen. So why worry about the local publisher?

It seems that Texas officials are laying down on the job of salvaging the tidelands that rightfully belong to Texas. They appear to want to follow Speaker Sam Rayburn in some kind of a compromise, which means exactly nothing.

Both Ex-Governor Jester and presently Gov. Shivers are compromisers, apparently, while the attorney general of Texas wants to go to bat with the big boys up at Washington. But the big boys have the United States supreme court stacked against Texas.

So, the Fair Deal is fixing to give the school children of Texas a Dirty Deal.

Two petit juries to try criminal cases, one in Floyd county, the other in Crosby county, agreed that a man that maliciously murdered another Floyd county man should sit on the hot seat at Huntsville for his crime. But now comes a bunch of preachers who want the murderer's sentence commuted to a prison term.

The only reason given is that the man has "got religion." One minister even wanted a full pardon and to make the killer a deacon. Much has been said recently since the controversy between Mrs. Roosevelt and Rev. Spellman about the separation of church and state. Do these preachers really want to und what a sworn jury has done?

Right here in America now, and in Europe for ages, patriotic people have been working to get the church out of civil affairs. Now we find a bunch of protestant ministers practicing the very things they have heretofore fought against.

We have had little of the ridiculous, unless all we have written could be so termed, this week. We have had nothing to say about what all might be found in a lady's purse, or how close is a Scotchman. Not even a funny thing about how the negro manages to express himself. In fact, we have seen nothing very funny to report.

Mostly things are of a serious nature this week. But to tell the whole truth and nothing but the truth, so help us, we have lost our joke book, and our exchanges have been rather low on jokes we might copy.

Maybe some will come in before the next issue, and we can then copy some very funny things and palm them off as our own ideas. So long.

Behind The Scenes In American Business

By Reynolds Knight

NEW YORK, Aug. 11 — Like everything else, business is affected by the heat. And all over the country the heat and the humidity have been keeping people out of some stores, sending them into others.

A big metropolitan department store staged a major promotion that ordinarily would have packed the place. But the heat kept people away. On the other hand, the temperature and the drought have boomed the sale of garden hose. One company which recently introduced a new and colorful type of hose suddenly found itself three weeks behind in deliveries and its dealers' shelves bare. Koroseal wading pools for children also have been a popular item all through the past few weeks. Electric fans have been whirring off the counters in the northeast just as fast as merchants could get them into their stores.

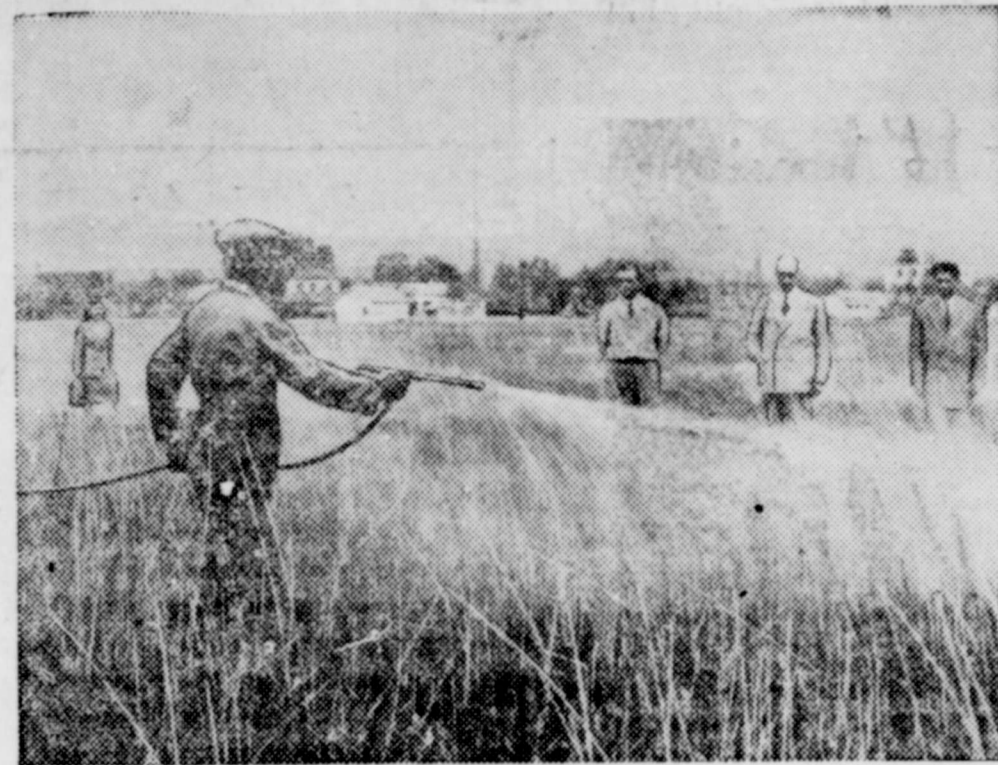

It is pleasant and cooling too, to note the continued sales rise in deepfreeze units. Last year, about 800,000 units were sold, this year the industry expects to top the million mark. One enterprising publishing house has recently issued a cook book devoted exclusively to frozen food recipes. It's an ill, hot trade wind that blows nobody good.

CHEER PAYS OFF—Providing the right words for people who want to be friendly and say so has spawned an industry that produces some three billion greeting cards annually. Behind the amazing success of the industry lies a simple philosophy which, says the current issue of Coronet magazine, is probably best reflected in the policies of its pacesetter, the Hallmark greeting card firm of Kansas City, Mo. By infusing greeting cards with "spontaneous friendliness" and adorning them with pleasant illustrations ranging from comic animals to priceless Old Masters, Hallmark has turned the cards into a major means of social communication.

The handful of card publishers who blanket the country with good cheer and friendship have to know their market. Each year they must unerringly anticipate what millions of people want to say to friends on any sort of occasion. Long words, involved sentences are taboo. They must watch group prejudices, keep abreast of changing public tastes. Despite such difficulties, the greeting card industry has passed through its adolescent stage and today is "big business."

THINGS TO COME—Somebody is doing something about the weather. A manufacturer has announced a new plastic-covered outdoor chair which, because of the low heat-conductivity of the plastic, will not absorb the heat of the sun, but will remain cool to the touch. . . . While you cool off in new aluminum shower stalls you can also take comfort in the thought that they're corrosion-proof. . . . For those who like to

Malaria Control in Turkey

Stressing a "new outlook" in international health, the U.N. World Health Organization (WHO) is now attacking international health problems with tactics based on preventive rather than curative techniques. Here, under the guidance of a WHO Malaria Engineer assisting the Turkish Malaria Services, workmen spray insecticide for mosquito control in a swamp near a town in the province of Aukara.

Santa Fe Report On Texas Crops

After much loss by wind and hail, too much rain and resultant plant diseases, Texas produced in the neighborhood of 90,000,000 bushels of wheat, considerably less than the last official forecast, but much more than the 1938-47 average of 53,944,000 bushels.

An indicated cotton acreage of 10,150,000 acres for harvest, following planting of 10,400,000 acres is 18 per cent above the 8,600,000 acres harvested last year, and the largest since 1937.

Cotton stands generally are good, plants are well loaded with bolls, squares and blooms, insects have been kept well under control and prospects are for a bumper crop. Harvest will start in the coastal area during the next two weeks and move rapidly northward. Much of the cotton in the western part of the state had to be planted at least once, some lie coolly in bathtubs during heat spells, a gadget can be attached to the back of a bathtub where it serves as a comfortable headrest. . . . A new cocktail glass has a tinkling bell in its base. The manufacturer's announcement doesn't say whether this added feature is a warning bell or just for fun. . . . The British have come up with a good idea to promote additional use of natural rubber, namely the addition of rubber latex to cement to produce a stronger material for flooring and mortar-making purposes. . . . Gadget of the week: a tool that looks like a hoe but can be adjusted to serve as a hedger, a trencher, a sickle and an axe.

Houston district is almost matured and some fields have already been gathered. Elsewhere, the crop should reach maturity within about three weeks.

Digging and marketing of 4,000 acres of irrigated potatoes in the Hereford, Plainview and Lubbock triangle is most nearing the end. Yields have been only fair.

Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Lewis and daughter, Patsy, of Celeste visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. N. (Doc) Lewis over the week end.

Mrs. Guy Walker and Onagene and Bill, and Mrs. George Hudspeth, Sr., visited last week in Altus, Okla., with friends and relatives. Mrs. Walker and Mrs. Hudspeth taught for 14 years in the Altus schools before moving to Brownfield.

Mrs. Nell Chesshir returned Saturday from Nashville, Ark., where she was called to the bedside of her mother, Mrs. Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Jones visited in Seminole Sunday.

Economic Highlights

When, in his inaugural address, President Truman called for a "bold new program" which would eventually banish "hunger, misery and despair" from the free nations of the world, the repercussions were heard around the globe. The president spoke in highly generalized terms and gave no details. But it was clear to all that this was a tremendous concept which would require a great many years to accomplish even in small part, and that the problems and the costs would be incredibly vast and complex.

Since then, the program has been endlessly discussed, and from all sides. Some experts, who are sympathetic with the president's humanitarian purpose, have come to the view that the problems may be insoluble—and that even the desirability of the program is subject to grave doubt. One of these is William Vogt, the scientist whose challenging and controversial book, "Road To Survival," in which he dealt with the exhaustion of natural resources, caused something of a bombshell a year ago. Mr. Vogt considers the Truman program in an important article in the Saturday Evening Post of July 23, called "Let's Examine Our Santa Claus Complex."

Mr. Vogt points out that 1,500,000,000 people "with living standards far below ours are concentrated in the so-called undeveloped areas." A high percentage of them are illiterate. They know next to nothing of modern science. If we gave them tools and seed and other assistance there is no guarantee that the gifts would be properly used.

But even if this were to be overcome, there is far more to the problem than money and tools. Mr. Vogt believes that the undeveloped lands are "intrinsically poor and require far greater investment of capital, labor and management to produce a much smaller return than could be had in the United States." They lack good soils, usable timber—the most basic essentials of what we consider proper living standards. Finally, if we should set out to remake much of the world in our own image, we will run into a problem that might prove the most difficult of all—the faiths and traditions of proud peoples with cultures older than ours, who seem primitive in our eyes but not in their own. Mr. Vogt says, "We bring down prices by standardizing. A potter in Mexico's Talquepaque, on the other hand, with a distaste for monotony, charges far more for standardized work. If we mechanize and standardize his work, change him from a creative artist to a machine tender, shall be raising his standard of living, and will he like it?" Our idea of what civilization is, in other words, is not shared by everyone else.

Gas Company Installs Short-Wave Stations

West Texas Gas company has announced that it recently completed the installation of nine fixed short-wave radio stations along its more than 800 miles of transmission lines.

The company has also equipped 30 trucks and automobiles with two-way radios.

This radio network, the first in this area to use frequency modulation equipment, together with more than 300 miles of company-owned telephone lines and long distance commercial lines, provides as good a communication system as is available.

R. F. Hinchey, president of West Texas Gas company, explained, "Communication between all points of West Texas Gas company's transmission lines is very essential and must be maintained at all times in order that it may render good natural gas service to the thousands of homes and businesses in the 23 counties the company serves. As additional insurance for proper communication, West Texas Gas company has installed its own short-wave radio network."

The installation of the short-wave system enables the company to call together emergency crews at a few moments' notice. Licensed radio operators are on duty at all nine radio stations 24 hours a day, every day of the year. They will keep in contact with maintenance men making repairs along the transmission lines, and also dispatch pressure readings via radio when other communication systems are busy or out of order.

The nine fixed stations are located at Lubbock, Plainview and Midland, which are division nerve centers; at Odessa, which is near two sources of natural gas supply; at Turkey Creek compressor station in the Panhandle gas field, and at compressor stations near Canyon, Hereford, Littlefield and Tahoka.

Invasion Has Lasting Effects

KEYSER, W. Va.—(AP)—This little city would like to know just what it has that attracts skunks—and then get rid of it.

Coming on the heels of a similar invasion, a squadron of five sightseeing skunks pushed into the downtown area the other evening. There was consternation, and a call went out to Police Chief Claude Martin.

Armed with a .22 caliber rifle and a flashlight, the chief nimbly bagged three of the critters, and routed the others. Unfortunately, long after the smoke of the battle cleared, the odor lingered.

Neglected pastures and abandoned crop land overgrown with yankeeweed may need to be put back into cultivated crops for a time to control the weeds and re-establish the pasture.

The Low Down From Hickory Grove

Today I sound off and take the side of the "selfish interests" that Uncle Harry is finding fault with, the ones urging that the Govt. cut spending down to horse-sense dimensions. I figure I am one of the guys he is aiming at—I am for less squandering—so I reckon I am guilty. I would not mind so much but he also said that many of these people would like to have a depression. I resent that part. He is talking through his chapeau.

Well, sisters and brothers, the free and fancy spending as it has been practiced by the Govt. — year in and year out—has either to be squelched or we will be the next to send out an SOS. And who is there with coin-of-the-realm to hear us, unless maybe Mars or Venus, and that is as close as we would come to getting help.

Yours with the low-down,

Living Standards Fret German State

KIEL, Germany—(AP)—The citizens of the west German state of Schleswig-Holstein complained that their cabinet ministers were living too well.

When the state parliament discussed the matter, minister president (governor) Hermann Luedemann rose and put two bottles of wine on the table. "I herewith invite all deputies who live more modestly than I for a bottle of wine in my one-and-a-half-room apartment," he said. "I think two bottles are enough."

Magazine To Report Jump In Newspaper Advertising

NEW YORK—August 4—(AP)—Newspapers led all other media in June in the increase in national advertising, the August 5 edition of Printer's Ink will say.

The publication's national advertising index will show that newspapers increased their national advertising in June by nine per cent over June, 1948.

National advertising in magazines was down ten per cent, in radio up two per cent, in outdoor advertising up six per cent, and in business papers up two per cent, Printer's Ink will say.

Planning Kitchen Is Essential

College Station, August — The kitchen is the main work center of the house. The efficiency of the entire household depends to a large extent upon how well the kitchen is planned and arranged, says Mrs. Bernice Claytor, extension specialist in home management at Texas A&M college.

There is no one model or ideal kitchen plan, she finds. Any kitchen, to be convenient, should be planned according to the needs of the family who will use it. Those needs vary with the size and ages of the members of the family, the principle industry of the farm or ranch and the kinds and amount of work done in the kitchen. Consideration must also be given to the amount of entertaining that is done, the standards for preparing and serving meals, the amount of food purchased ready-prepared, the amount of outside help used and the utilities available.

The essential equipment for a kitchen, says Mrs. Claytor, includes a range, water supply—and this is usually combined with a sink and drainage facilities—work tables or work surfaces at comfortable heights for the worker, provision for refrigeration and adequate storage space for everything used in the kitchen. The storage space, says Mrs. Claytor, should be located as near as possible to the place where these articles will be used.

FRENCH DESERT WARRIORS PARADE—Standing in their saddles astride Arabian mounts, fierce Spahi warriors salute the French colors as they parade in Paris. Occasion for the demonstration was the 105th anniversary of their incorporation into the French army. Among the most colorful of all colonial troops, the Spahis are virtually unexcelled in horsemanship. They now constitute an important part of French military defenses in Africa.

Kitchen equipment is available in various prices, variety of size, qualities and finishes. Wise and careful selection of equipment is always an important factor in kitchen efficiency, concludes Mrs. Claytor.

NEW BRITISH COINS DROP INDIA TITLE

LONDON — (AP) — New coins being issued by the British mint, for the first time since 1895, are appearing without the abbreviations Ind. Imp. (Emperor of India) in the king's title.

India achieved her independence in August, 1947, but still remains within the British commonwealth.

DOES EVERYTHING BUT COOK—Most versatile plane in Uncle Sam's air arsenal is this all-metal Convair L-13, skimming over San Diego Bay in its first water test. The all-purpose craft is slated for use for observation, communication, artillery spotting, supply-dropping, cargo transport, photographic and rescue missions. In addition to standard landing gear and floats, it can be equipped with ski-wheels for snow operations and double wheels for desert missions. Wings and tail fold for ease in towing or storage.

Texans in Washington

By TEX EASLEY

AP Special Washington Service
WASHINGTON, August, (AP)—President Truman's selection of Tom Clark for a place on the supreme court should be doubly satisfying to the tall and genial Texan.

A seat on the high court is considered the highest honor that can come to a lawyer. Aside from the satisfaction that alone would bring, Clark could take personal pride in being the first man from the Lone Star State to be chosen for the nation's supreme tribunal. Since coming to Washington in 1937 to take an obscure $5,000-a-year job in the justice department the 49-year-old Dallas lawyer has climbed steadily.

He began as a special attorney in the bureau of war risk litigation. Later he handled anti-trust cases and during the war was in charge of the legal work of moving Japanese aliens out of California. Then he was named assistant attorney general and finally he joined the president's cabinet as head of the justice department.

One of the reasons behind his success undoubtedly is his ability. Two of these friends are House Speaker Sam Rayburn of Bonham and Former Representative Hatton W. Summers of Dallas.

They were moving forces behind the scenes in the early days when Clark was moving out of obscurity and toward his place in the cabinet. As Texans, they had known Clark on a close personal basis for years.

Rayburn's word of recommendation for a man is potent. Summers was far from being a staunch administration man, but his position for years as chairman of the house judiciary committee meant he was in a strategic spot to help advance a man in the legal field.

Clark's own decisions as to the course to follow may have kept him in the cabinet. He stayed on while others didn't.

The real test, and the one that probably paid off in the end was his loyalty to President Truman during the 1948 campaign. Clark was one of the few cabinet members, and the only one of those who had been in the cabinet for very long, to campaign actively for Truman in the face of forecasts of a Republican landslide.

Has 15,000 Buttons

MOUNT DORA, Fla. — (AP)—Mrs. A. J. Waltz has 15,000 buttons. Six years ago, Mrs. Waltz received several button boxes belonging to her mother and grandmother and she began a collection.

She has them from all over the world. They're made of almost every type of material and are mounted on cards showing their classification. One is a perfume button, worn during the nineties. It held milady's favorite perfume. She has another, a porcelain miniature of Mozart.

Don't Look For Disease Bugs Too Much

AUSTIN, Tex.—Among a certain and rather extensive group of self-centered persons symptom hunting unfortunately is rather popular. Because of a too detailed study of so-called health literature of the alarmist type or on account of a recent death in the family, introspection develops to a morbid degree. The result is an entirely unfounded fear for all sorts of disease possibilities. Many becoming victims of this warped psychology, develop brain and nerve exhaustion and in extreme cases even become affected mentally, stated Dr. George W. Cox, state health officer.

Of course, it is entirely proper to have a normal regard for personal well-being. To maintain vitality and to prevent disease is a logical pursuit for everyone. But it most decidedly must be kept within bounds. When one becomes obsessed with the subject, concern for health has overstepped the limits.

For all practical purposes, after giving reasonable attention to diet, personal sanitation, sleep and exercise, and assuming that one's bodily limitations as defined by SINGAPORE—(AP)—A big car drew alongside two young men walking to work at the navy headquarters at 9:30 a. m. the other morning. The driver turned around and started driving them back to their homes. They protested they had to go to work at the navy offices.

"I know," replied the driver, "but you had better have the rest of the morning off, since you have had half of it already." The driver was a high ranking naval officer in charge of their depart-the family physician are appreciated, the average person can dismiss the subject of health. This, plus the annual physical examination, should adequately cover the situation.

On the other hand, conditions are bound to arise when actual disease symptoms manifest themselves. It will then be up to the doctor to decide what the trouble, if any, is and for the patient to abide by his judgment.

In short, symptom hunting as a hobby is a dangerous matter. One should stay away from it. It is neither safe nor healthy to do otherwise.

ATTEND THE FRANKLIN FAMILY REUNION

Uncle Jack and Mrs. Blankenship have returned from the annual Franklin family reunion, held on the ranch of a relative within about three miles of Knox City. Mrs. Blankenship was a Franklin, and is the oldest living member of the family. She and Uncle Jack have been married 56 years.

Uncle Jack stated that one member of the Franklin family always had charge of the reunion, and when the affair is over, all chink in and pay expenses, which are very low as meats and stuff like that are grown on the ranch and charged out wholesale prices. The affairs lasts for about three days and all have a great time together, eating, sleeping and talking.

By the way, Uncle Jack thought he was pulling a fast one on Mrs. Blankenship recently. He solemnly stated to her "that they had lived in dugouts, were hungry on occasion, but had reared a family." And, as an afterthought, he added: "Come to think of it, if it was all to do over, I'd marry you again."

Whereupon the good lady said, "You just think you would. I know you too well now."

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Phaff of Dallas spent last week end with Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Nunn.

Gilbert Nunn returned home Friday after spending several days in Dallas with his sister, Mrs. M. F. Shapperd, and Mr. Shapperd. The three of them also visited in Galveston.

Gee Gee's Chit Chat

To begin with, we frankly admit we are slightly prejudiced. And so, to the business at hand. We have been informed that, unless something happens quickly, the local National Guard unit is to be taken out of Brownfield. Okay, you say, take away. And we are sure that some of you are saying just that. But do you realize that, if the unit leaves Brownfield, so does some $33,000 to $35,000, not including maintenance on the equipment, leaves too? It is quite true that, in the event of a war, the guardsmen will be the first to go, but brother, you'll sure know what you're doing when you get there. Personally, if war hit and we were inducted, we would be interested in knowing which end of the gun to shoot with if we were shipped over. This is a golden opportunity for young men to earn while they learn, and we hope that a few more boys will latch on to it.

We hope that someone will please buy Fletcher Hester's car. This young Dr. Kildare plans to leave the latter part of this month to enter medical school and has no use for a car, but plenty of use for the moola.

If you happen to be going by Copeland Hardware, pop in and look at the wooden salad bowls, salt and peppers, chopping boards, and ice buckets by Woodcroftery that they have in stock. Very useful gifts they would like. Upon hearing reports that Mr. and Mrs. Redford Smith had toured over to Yoakum county to inspect an old cottonwood tree reported to be 31 feet in diameter, we went by to see the Smitts. As it turned out, the tree was only about 17 feet in diameter, but we did see something very interesting. The Smitts have in their possession a suit of clothing worn by Mr. Smith's great-grandfather in 1780. The cotton was hand-picked from the seeds, carded, spun and woven by hand, and also made by hand. Buttons on the suit are made of gourd and covered with material, and the dyes used in the material are, of course, home-made.

LACKEY FAMILY REUNION

Pete Lackey and family were visitors at Muleshoe and Morton over the week end, where they had a family reunion of the clan Sunday, with most of the 11 boys and other relatives present.

Mrs. Lackey did not state whether there were any daughters or not, but 11 sons is some sons. Pete is improving from his recent illness.

Bed Improvement Easy, Reports Club Member

Mrs. O.D. Kennedy of the Willa Wells Home Demonstration club enjoys her bed more since she has carried out the plans studied this year in bedroom improvement. For years she kept a quilt over her mattress to protect it. But now she has a mattress cover and a fiber pad on her bed. She says there are zipper pillow covers on all of the pillows in her house. To make the bed even better she added a couple of slats which makes a slat under each row of coils in the springs. The cost of improving Mrs. Kennedy's beds was very little but the beds are much nicer. Mrs. Kennedy says her husband teases her now for liking her bed so much.

Mrs. Maudie Romans, who has been visiting her daughter in Chicago for the past month, returned this week. She was accompanied home by her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Snitker, who are attending the Moody Bible institute there.

Walter Tomlinson, Jr., of Hobbs, N.M., spent the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Tomlinson.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Sawyer are vacationing in the northwest. Their next destination, says a post card, is Vancouver, B.C.

AUBURG ATTENDS REUNION AT JACKSBORO

J. T. Auburg informed us that he attended the annual reunion at Jacksboro, where he was raised, the past week end. He said that there were thousands of people on hand, and he met many old time friends.

Many of the pioneers and descendants dressed up as Indians to carry out the frontier day idea. We believe it was at Jacksboro that the last Indian was tried for raids on white settlements and for scalping the settlers. He was given a death sentence, we have been informed.

Raids on white settlements were made by Oklahoma Indians just across the Red river.

HOLT FAMILY HOLD REUNION AUGUST 7

Bell of Meadow, Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Hulse and Laverelle, Brownfield, Mrs. Afton Verner, Vaughn and Glendall of Carlsbad, N.M., Mrs. Marvin Wilson, Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. David Perry of Kerrville.

RETURN FROM VACATION

Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Noble and their three sons, Bob, Billie and Don, have returned from a three-weeks' vacation in the northwest, including Yellowstone national park. All report a huge time, and many interesting sights.

Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Head and son of Crosbyton and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Ledbetter of Kermit visited Mrs. Joe Shelton and family and Mrs. John L. Cruce and family Sunday.

Jim Ragan of Kingsville is visiting his father, Dick Ragan, this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Gunn and family and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Cobb and family left Wednesday for a two-weeks' vacation in Nashville and other points in Tennessee.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Jenkins visited relatives in Friona Sunday. Bill Collins and family of Lubbock visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Collins, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Craig, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Smith spent the week end in Ruidoso, N.M.

Mrs. Henry Chisholm and her daughters, Ruth and Martha, and Mr. and Mrs. George Chisholm returned Monday after visiting Mrs. Chisholm's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Purcell.
