Wellman Schools Opened Monday

Supt. J. T. Bryant was up last week and gave up a bit about the opening of the Wellman schools, as well as other information. He stated that they expected an enrollment of around 275 Monday, with a maximum of probably 50 more in the next few weeks. Wellman is blessed with a fine school plant and they believe they have selected an excellent corps of instructors.

The following are high school teachers: N. G. Phillips, principal and speech teacher; Ira C. Brackett, social science; W. B. Smith, coach and maths; Chas. H. Jackson, English; Homer E. Jones, vocational agriculture; Willie Mae Hines, home economics, and Mrs. F. A. Wilson, visiting teacher.

The elementary school teachers are: Mrs. Juanita Lanous, first grade; Mrs. Pearl Adams, second grade; Mrs. Mary E. McBeth, third grade; Mrs. Grace Phillips, fourth grade; Mrs. Juanita Lyon, fifth grade; Mrs. Geneva C. Bryant, sixth grade; Mrs. Maud Zorns, seventh grade, and A. L. Kerby, eighth grade and principal of the elementary schools.

In charge of the cafeteria are Mrs. I. C. Brackett, manager and supervisor. Her assistants are Mrs. Nora Kerby, Mrs. J. D. Roberts, Mrs. Garland Parker and Mrs. Mary Walker.

Bus drivers are: Garland Parker, business manager, mechanic and driver of route 3; N. G. Phillips, driver of route 4; Charles H. Jackson, driver of route 1; Ira C. Brackett, driver of route 2; Mrs. Dorothy Christopher, driver of route 5, and W. B. Smith, driver of route 6.

The Wellman school board voted recently to start arrangements for school football. This year only practice games will be played, as it is too late to arrange a quota of games. But in 1950, the school expects to be well lined up for class B games.

Arrangements have been made for a field, on which surplus army lumber will be used to erect bleachers. We are hoping that arrangements can be made whereby Wellman school can report interesting items as they happen.

LOCAL PEOPLE INVOLVED IN OKLAHOMA ACCIDENT

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Bayless and baby of Brownfield, and Mr. Bayless' parents and sister of Borger, were in a head-on collision near Woodward, Okla., at about 6 p.m. Monday.

The senior Mr. Bayless was driving at the time of the collision. Occupants of the Bayless car were taken to a Woodward hospital, where it was found that Mrs. Bayless, mother of the local man, had sustained a broken hip. His father was also injured to some extent. Jim, his wife and sister were not hurt seriously. They were in a 1949 Studebaker, belonging to Jim Bayless, which was completely demolished.

STATE FARM BUREAU TO HOLD MEETINGS

A series of 25 bi-district meetings sponsored by the Texas Farm Bureau federation will be held throughout the state from September 6 to 21, it has been announced by J. Walter Hammond, president of the federation. The two meetings scheduled for this district will be held in the Hotel Lubbock Wednesday, September 14. Director W. R. Tilson of Meadow will preside. Meetings will start at 10 a.m.

In conducting the meetings, President Hammond will be assisted by Austin A. Crowover, state field representative. The United States congressman from the district has been invited to appear on the program and speak to the group on agricultural trends in Washington.

CUB SCOUT NOTICE

The head of the Cub Scouts in Brownfield, Rev. Murphy, has announced that there will be a meeting for all parents interested in cub scouting this Monday. The meeting is called for 7 o'clock at the Presbyterian church.

The new ruling allows boys eight years old to become Cub Scouts. All boys 11 years old may now become Boy Scouts. These changes in the age levels have required the scout dens to be reorganized. New dens for eight-year-old boys will be started. Everyone interested is urged to attend.

ALLEGED RACING NEWS SHACK RAIDED—This tarpaper-covered shack in the Upper Valley, near El Paso, Tex., is shown above under 24-hour guard after it had been raided by Dona Ana county law officers. The shack, standing in the shadow of the Sunland club, was found to contain teletype and telegraphic equipment, a battery of telephones and a mimeograph machine. Gabriel Guzman (above) a Las Cruces officer, was placed on guard until officials ruled on disposition of the equipment. (AP Photo)

Many Veterans Filing For NSLI Dividends

C. L. (Abe) Lincoln, Terry county service officer, reports that Terry county veterans have been very cooperative in filing their forms for their share of the $2,000,000,000 National Service Life Insurance dividend.

Veterans who took out NSLI policies between October 8, 1940, and January 1, 1943, and held them for as long as three months are eligible for the dividend. Any NSLI policy-holder still in the service is also eligible.

There are some 2,000 veterans in Terry county who are eligible to receive dividends from their NSLI policies, and Lincoln reports that a large percentage of these veterans have taken advantage of it.

Some 16,000,000 veterans in the United States are expected to file applications for a part of the dividend. The payments will vary greatly, as amount received by individuals will depend on length of time the policies were held, age of the policy-holders, amount of the policy, and other factors.

Lincoln urges that all veterans who have not received their applications contact him at his office on the first floor of the courthouse at their earliest convenience.

FORMER RESIDENT PASSES

Mrs. W. B. English of Brian, Tex., died Wednesday morning about 3:30.

She moved from here about ten years ago to Brian, and had belonged to the local Baptist church for 15 years. Funeral services will be held Thursday afternoon in Brian.

RAINFALL FOR YEAR JUST UNDER 17 INCHES

The rainfall this year in Terry county has been rather spotted. We believe that if records were available that it would show the fall in the immediate Brownfield area to be the lightest and possibly the Gomez-Johnson section the heaviest.

The immediate Meadow section has had a light fall, as well as the Brownfield area. In fact, some of their early feed burned badly, but the young feed looks good. Cotton in most sections of the county has stopped growing and is maturing what it has on it. This may be for the best.

In some sections, the cotton is shedding leaves to some degree, there being leaves in the middles. Below we give the monthly rainfall in the U.S. weather bureau gauge here in Brownfield, up to and including August:

January	3.45
February	.21
March	.43
April	1.85
May	5.69
June	3.84
July	1.07
August	.71
TOTAL	16.85

Local Group Attends DeMolay Conclave

Several members of the Brownfield chapter, Order of De Molay, attended the De Molay conclave held in Lubbock Tuesday, August 30.

Beginning with a parade in the morning, the conclave featured business meetings, a barbecue held late in the afternoon, and a meeting at night closed the session.

Governor Allen Shivers was guest of honor and delivered the main address at the meeting Tuesday night.

BROWNFIELD HIGH BAND MAKING GOOD START

The Brownfield high school band has started with a bang this school year with 76 members. They are having early morning and night practices this week in preparation for their first performance Friday night at the Pecos and Brownfield football game. Richard Young, band director, has stated that more uniforms are needed, however.

He is also proud of his 60 girl members of the high school pep squad, which will give their first performance Friday night.

Notices will be sent out next week to all band parents in order to organize a band parents' club, and Mr. Young wants and needs the cooperation of all.

Mr. and Mrs. Simon Holgate of San Angelo are visiting in the home of their daughter, Mrs. Jack Hamilton, and family, and other relatives.

Lubbock Boosters Coming September 13

Making the good will trip will be a number of Lubbock's leading business men who will extend a welcome to Brownfield to visit Lubbock during the fair. Special emphasis will be given the invitation extended school children of Brownfield.

Gala Program to be Given

A gala program of music and sports will be offered, plus loads of novelties for all who visit the program. Many of our city can remember last year's program and will want to attend again this year. "Advertising the fair is not the only purpose of this visit to Brownfield," Homer Hensley, general chairman of the good neighbor committee, said. "Enjoying a visit with old friends and meeting new friends is much more important. The good neighbor committee hopes that every one will turn out to visit with us."

Fair Attractions

Plus over $10,000 in premiums and the greatest display of exhibits ever in the 32-year-old history of the Panhandle South Plains fair, there will be star-studded attractions galore awaiting visitors who come to Lubbock to see the fair. For example there will be: "Luckey" Lott and his Hell Drivers, Gertrude and Randolph Avery Musical Revue, the Mar Vels, Larry Griswold show, the Arwood show, and the many thrilling rides, shows, and concessions of Forsythe and Dowis.

Fair officials predict that the largest crowd ever to attend the exposition will be present September 26 through October 1.

Sorry There Won't Be Any Fair This Year

Unless Meadow, Wellman or Tokio decides to pull off a Terry county fair this year, there just won't be one. At least the fair business is out so far as Brownfield is concerned, which is regrettable. But we think the former sponsors have a fine alibi.

Nevertheless, we are just thinking what a great exhibit we could have this year if we had a fair. We have the best crops in years, and the contribution of Terry county orchards is far and away from the usual. A person with half a mind for displays could go to any one of half a hundred farms in Terry county and gather an exhibit that would make your eyes pop out.

But then the Junior Chamber of Commerce, which has been sponsoring the show for several years, says it has been to heavy expenses this year getting the rodeo grounds in tiptop shape, and it has. Then, too, they want to organize and put on its feet a real Terry county fair association, composed of farmers, ranchers, and business and professional men who will carry on the fair from this time on out.

Then, also the Harvest Festival, an annual affair, is coming up in early October, and most of the business and professional men of the town will be as busy as a brace of hunting dogs putting that gala affair over.

So, Terry county fair, bye until 1950.

The New Wage-Hour Law

The new wage-hour act, as passed by the house, establishes a flat 75-cent minimum. It also continues the existing retail establishment exemption with minor modifications.

It is important that the public understand the reason for the last provision, inasmuch as efforts were made to knock it out of the new bill, and that may happen again. Retailing, especially in the smaller communities, has peculiarities which are not shared by most other industries and businesses. For example, it is usually impossible for a retail store to operate on a 40-hour week—many people can shop only on Saturday, or on certain evenings.

Furthermore, retailing has room for beginners, part-time workers, and unskilled labor whose services cannot justify a high wage—and who might not be employed at all in many cases if a high wage and overtime payments were made legally mandatory. These people can earn a modest wage while developing skills and responsibilities which will bring them higher pay as time goes along. The consensus of the experts was that it was necessary to continue the retail exemption in order to assure the perpetuation of this kind of employment. If the exemption had been eliminated, many people, whom the wage-hour law is supposed to help, would have been hurt.

The house, in framing the new bill, took these facts, which are based on years of operating experience by thousands of retail stores, into consideration. In that regard, it acted wisely.

LEMMONS CLOSES VERY SUCCESSFUL MEETING

Evangelist Reuel Lemmons of Cleburne, Texas, closed a very successful meeting here for the Crescent Hill Church of Christ last Wednesday night. This was his first meeting here. He was generally well liked by the membership as well as the visitors.

There were 19 baptisms during the meeting, nine restorations and one placed membership. Mr. Lemmons is minister of the Central church at Cleburne.

Mrs. Wicker resigned her position after 14 months here to become a housewife.

Busy Week For Law

Local Boy Arrested in Setting West Ward Afire

Friday morning, the officers arrested a local 16-year-old school boy for setting the West Ward school building afire. He has confessed to breaking in the building and taking $9.75 in money and then starting fires in nine different rooms on all floors of the building.

The fire alarm was turned in by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Crudup who were returning home from a show Wednesday night, August 31 about 11 o'clock.

In the boy's confession, he stated that he had decided Wednesday that he wanted the money. This money had been collected by the teachers that day and the day before from contributions for the art class, and amounted to around $15.

He had left his home on North 3rd street about 10:30 Wednesday night and went directly to the school building alone. After walking around the schoolhouse, he found a window pane in the basement broken. Removing the glass, he reached in and unlocked the latch and easily raised the window. Getting inside, he immediately started his search for the money, first going to the desk drawers and then striking matches and throwing them in the drawers. Next he took the waste paper barrel that was in the hall on the second floor and emptied it into a room and setting it afire, burning a hole about two feet in diameter through the floor. The fires started in other rooms resulted in slight damage.

The youth claims he was not mad at any of the school teachers or at the school, but that his only motive was to get the money and then burn the building to cover up the theft. He persisted in his claim that he was alone in doing this.

He is confined to jail since his arrest Friday morning. His trial originally was set for Tuesday, September 6, but was postponed for a week in order that officers may trace other leads.

Sheriff Takes Negro To Huntsville

Last week, Sheriff Ocie Murry took a local negro, Bill Fletcher, to the state penitentiary at Huntsville. Fletcher had pleaded guilty to stealing a watch from a local drug store. His term was for two years.

Man Returned For Desertion

Last Friday as Sheriff Ocie Murry was returning from Huntsville, he stopped in Dallas and picked up a man wanted here on a desertion charge. The man's trial will be at a later date.

DWI Charge Against Man

The sheriff's department arrested a man on DWI charges Saturday night. This being his second offense he was bound over to the grand jury, and released on bond of $750.

Judge Reed Here Saturday

District Judge Louis B. Reed will be here Saturday to call the docket and to set local cases for future hearing.

Is Your Street Number Missing?

Sheriff Ocie Murry has four street markers in his possession. He stated that he would like to find the owners of these markers. Numbers on them are 717, 820, 909, and a marker with two numbers, 808 and 806, probably for an apartment house. The sheriff will be glad to give these markers to their owners.

Deputies To Return Youths On Burglary Charges

Deputies Buel Powell and Elmer McCutcheon left Wednesday for Dallas to return three local youths, two boys and a girl. They are charged with burglarizing a service station at Meadow and a local highway grocery store on the Lubbock road. When caught, officers found in their possession goods identified as having been taken from the service station in Meadow. They were returned here Thursday.

SCHOOL IS OFF TO A GOOD START

Despite the fact that an unsuccessful attempt was made last week to burn down one of the school buildings, school got off to a good start. Of course, repairs of fire damage had to be made on the West Ward, but otherwise the schools went on as usual. There was no school at the West Ward either Thursday or Friday of last week.

The other buildings reported a good enrollment for the first week, and both students and teachers seemed to be getting down to work without any preliminaries. A meeting of the faculty was held Tuesday night of this week. As that feature concerned only the superintendent and members of the faculty, no report was made of it. But such meetings are always important to the school as a whole.

Here is one thing for all car and truck drivers to keep in mind. Remember that children are careless of their safety. The child may buy something that amuses him in a store and deliberately walk across a street without looking either way, or at the light, if there is one. His mind is on the purchase—not traffic.

Would you want to maim, or perhaps kill one of these little fellows? Sure, you wouldn't. Then WATCH YOUR DRIVING while school is in session.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Jones visited Mr. and Mrs. Truman Bishop in Slaton Sunday.

Neill Building Is Being Remodeled

The Neill building, located between The Herald office and the Treadaway-Daniell hospital, is undergoing a complete face-lifting on the interior. Jack Hart has charge of the carpentering job. The building is being refitted for a complete pharmacy, which will be opened at an early date.

Not only is the building being re-arranged into one 25 feet front store, but shelving is being put into both sides of the building. Homer Nelson will be the proprietor and operator of the pharmacy. After the carpenters, painters and decorators are through, the building inside will be so transformed that one will hardly recognize it.

An introduction of Homer Nelson is useless, as he has been well and favorably known here too long to need an introduction. He has been in business here in Brownfield since away back when...

His last business connection here, however, was as a partner with Mayor C. C. Primm in the then Nelson-Primm drug store.

They "Slip" In A Bushel Of Peaches

We have "et" more peaches this year, and they have tasted better, than they have since we were a boy when we slipped into a neighbor's peach orchard after them. We were not able to fathom the psychology of a boy when one, nor since becoming a man. But we still wonder why a half-ripe watermelon tasted so good when we were a boy—if it came from a neighbor's patch, by the light of the silvery moon.

But our subject was peaches, not prowling boys. Not that boys do not have their places. And even though some of them do not hold the private property of others too sacred, they sometimes grow up to make fine citizens, and to hear them tell it, led very exemplary lives in their youth. Never "toched" anything that did not belong to them.

But we're off again and gone again, Flanagan. We went home one night last week and found a bushel of very fine peaches just inside of the front door. We suspected two guys, Ed Thompson and Phillip Rogers, but had no proof. It was the former. Thanks a lot. They were larruping.

As we stated somewhere else when interrupted by a dissertation on the foibles of youth, we have eat, or is it eaten more peaches this year and in more ways than a farmer can whip a mule. And we don't know when we have enjoyed them. Got a lot of these fine eats down at our brother Meek's in Johnson county, before they came in out here. Peaches are still tasting good, especially with cream.

Speaking of peaches, and who isn't, Mrs. Money Price brought us some mighty fine grapes not too long ago. She brought two varieties, purple and white. Both nipping. But the "boss" soon stopped our nibbling as she wanted some grape jam. We'll etum this winter.

LOCAL GUARD UNIT TRANSFERRED TO LAMPASAS

The heavy Mortar company has definitely been transferred to Lampasas. The men will be retained and have been transferred to Headquarter and Headquarter Battery, 132nd Field Artillery Battalion at Lubbock under command of Lt. Col. Ross Ayers.

Personnel of the old unit will continue to drill Monday nights as what is known as a split drill formation. It is very likely that Brownfield will get a new unit which will probably be a field artillery battery.

QUARTER HORSE SHOW AT POST SEPTEMBER 10

We have been requested to announce that there will be a "Quarter Horse Show" over at Post September 10, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce. There will be several age groups in each group of mares, stallions and geldings. The judges will be Roy Parks, Jr., and Buster Cole, both of Midland.

Following the show, there will be a jackpot roping contest, as well as a dance.

MCCOMACK HOME SCENE OF FIRE TUESDAY P.M.

At 2:15 p.m. Tuesday, the fire alarm was sounded when the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. McCormack at 508 E. Hill caught fire. The house was being fogged with DDT and when the closet which the hot water heater was in was sprayed, a vent was open and caused the explosion.

Mr. and Mrs. McCormack were in Artesia, N.M., for the day. He is a driller with Milhoan Drilling company.

The house was owned by Harry Cornelius. Damage from fire, water and smoke was estimated at fully 50 per cent or more. Mrs. Bob Spears turned in the fire alarm.

Mrs. W. I. Fox of Abilene will visit her daughter, Mrs. Richard Young, and family over the week end.

Texas Newspaperman Again Brings 'XIT' Ranch Into Limelight Through History

An authoritative account of the biggest ranch in the history of Texas is told in "Cattle Empire: The Fabulous Story of the 3,000,000 Acre XIT," by Lewis Nurdyke, scheduled for publication September 19 by William Morrow & Co., New York.

The story of the XIT began in 1875 when Texans decided they wanted a new state capitol at Austin—the biggest in the country—and cast about them for a means of paying for it. A resolution was written into the new constitution being drafted that year, providing for the grant of 3,000,000 undeveloped acres of Panhandle land to whoever would build the capitol for them. In 1881, the old capitol having burned meanwhile, they advertised for bids. A group of Chicagoans, figuring they could build the capitol for $1,500,000, made the successful bid and signed the contract. The Farwells — Charles B., the politician who later became United States senator from Illinois, and John V., the merchant prince who gave Marshall Field his start — were the master minds. Abner Taylor, builder, promoter and politician, took charge of building the capitol. Only after the contract was signed did any of the group see the land, and then they sent out their fourth member, Col.

Amos C. Babcock, on an inspection trip.

Babcock inspected the lands thoroughly. They stretched for nearly 200 miles north to south along the New Mexican border and were an average of 27 miles wide. They were in nine separate counties. Many Texans deemed the lands worthless and laughed over how Texas had pulled the wool over the Chicagoans eyes, but Babcock estimated that his group could make $4,500,000 in five years by raising cattle. There was a lot of wishful thinking in this, because Babcock had little money and had invested it all in the hope of making a quick killing. Taylor was on the same spot, but the Farwells could afford to wait, and wanted to, planning to sell the land at a profit when settlement had pushed farther west. However, under the pressure of circumstances, they agreed to start a ranching operation.

They started by hiring a colorful personality named Barbecue Campbell to manage it and began at Buffalo Springs, in the northernmost section of the land, by inclosing a sizeable area with fence and driving in 27,000 cattle from southern Texas. This done, they all caught the fever and decided within a year to extend the cattle operation to the entire area, first building some 500 miles of barbed-wire fence all the way around.

From the first, water was and remained a major problem. There were others. Because of political delays and speculation in materials, the capitol was costing more than had been anticipated, and the extended ranching activities absorbed money like a sponge.

However, it persevered until vast herds of cattle were strung the whole length of the huge pasture. They were received at the southern end and were moved northward until after two years they reached Buffalo Springs. Then they were pushed north on the trail to Montana where the XIT had leased more acreage.

Despite prairie fires that would sweep in a few days across hundreds of miles of the XIT, leveling everything in their path, political enemies, and other human and natural problems, the XIT did succeed in working out a profitable technique. But by that time, history had caught up with it. The trail to Montana had been closed by settlement and homesteaders moving westward were claiming for the XIT lands. When all the chips were counted the Farwell heirs still held some 70,000 acres, which they still hold.

Lewis Nurdyke, author of "Cattle Empire," was born on a farm near Cottonwood, Texas. He graduated from the University of Missouri school of journalism in 1933, and has since worked as a

WATERMELONS AND "COWCUMBERS" DONATED

By Ned, we have had so much stuff given us of late that we like to have forgotten some of it. And it was all good stuff and hit the spot, especially with the lady of the house.

First, there was Ches Gore, who has an irrigated farm near Lovington, N.M., who brought us a bushel of as fine cucumbers as ever grew on a vine. A lot of them were put up as pickles, sweet, sour, and indifferent.

Then there was J. H. Plant of the Johnson community who, although he sells some mighty fine watermelons, brought in two very fine ones as samples. They were the large, round, black variety, red to the rind and sweet as sugar pie.

Thanks a lot, fellows.

newspaperman throughout Texas, writing for national magazines on the side. Since 1937 (with one year out for an editorial job in north) he has been associated with the Amarillo Globe-News, where he now does a daily column as well as special assignments that take him around the country.

As a boy, doing occasional ranch work for a neighbor, Nurdyke heard the wonderful stories seasoned cowpokes had to tell about earlier and more adventuresome days in the cow country. That started his interest in western history and, specifically, the fabulous XIT.

MRS. LEMLY GRATEFUL TO LOCAL PEOPLE

Mrs. O. A. Lemley, who lost her husband recently out at Wasco, Calif., was in this week. She was accompanied by her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Noah Lemley, who lives here. Mrs. O. A. Lemley stated that she would make this her home in the future.

As most readers are perhaps aware, Mr. Lemley took his own life recently while in California during a spell of despondency.

Mrs. Lemley stated that her husband had always been a hard-working farmer, but that when ill health struck, it seemed to just sap his soul and spirit. For that reason, the change was made to California after selling the farm east of town.

The Lemley family came to Terry county in 1935 and have made the community fine citizens who regret that circumstances have been such as to cause the misfortune to strike so suddenly in the family.

Mrs. Lemley stated that there were no better people on earth than those right here. They were personally sympathetic but also went on to provide food when the body of her husband was brought back. Also the church ladies and the Masonic lodge did everything in their means to soften the blow. She and her family can never forget the floral offerings and other expressions of sympathy, she said.

A TRIP TO ROGERS, N. M. Section

As some probably knew, our oldest living brother, J. T. Stricklin, and his wife were here from Fort Worth last week visiting in our home. Saturday, the Old He and wife carried the couple out to Rogers, N.M., where they will visit a half-sister of Mrs. J. T. Stricklin a few days before returning to visit with the Jim Parks family over in Yoakum county, and others before returning to their home.

Our only excuse for getting this off our chest and to the readers, if any, that find it suitable, is that we had never before visited that area of New Mexico, right at our backdoor. And we learned something else. There is a road right jamb due west of Sundown to a junction with 214 south Leiman. So, we missed Whiteface entirely. But we got to show the brother and wife from Cowntown part of the huge Slaughter oil fields, as well as the big refinery at a distance.

This brother and family have been away from the plains, except for a visit in 1932, since 1920, and it is hard for them to realize the vast development that has taken place on the South Plains in the past 17 years. It is sometimes hard for even a native that is here all the time to keep up with the rapid development. They once lived at old Meadow and Lubbeck.

Fine Crops Are Seen

Along with the huge oil development and fine herds of cattle to be seen from here through Terry, Hockley and Cochran in Texas, and Roosevelt county, New Mexico, there is some mighty fine crops. Like the farmers of this vast area, we sometimes worry how the heck they are ever going to get it out of the fields, baled and marketed. The cotton and grain is fine all along, but unusually so west of Morton. Cotton is waist high and full of bolls, some spots opening.

The country from the state line is very much like its counterpart in Texas counties, but a few miles west of the state line, the highway turns north, and there will be found more grain and less cotton, with considerable of the grain land in wheat. There is a very fine, dry farming section around Causey, Rogers and Dora. The irrigation starts in around Portales.

The brother-in-law and family of our brother are well situated. They have a nice farm home, large granary, barns, livestock and a three-quarter section of land in a high state of cultivation. He and wife have two sons, about 12 and eight years of age. The name of the husband is Mayo Parnell, and he is one of the teachers in the Rogers school. They have been in that area a number of years. He also informed us that he had an irrigation farm near Portales.

Back Home via Tatum

After a fine noon (New Mexico time) repast at the Parnell home, the wife and Old He decided to drop in by Crossroads and visit the Uyless Sawyer family a short time on their fine ranch, just east of Crossroads. But at the store at Crossroads we were informed that Uyless and Dessie were believed to be in Tatum. Although Tatum has grown rapidly in the past two years, and the town was rather crowded, the Sawyers were not too hard to find.

One of the reasons for the rapid growth of Tatum is the new oil field out in the Crossroads section, as well as some west of town. Uyless informed us that the fourth well had been completed on his ranch. You know that boy don't seem to be too happy about this oil business. He had a dandy ranch with a lot of blooded cattle, owed nothing, and was happy. Now the doodlebuggers (seismograph crews to you, perhaps) and the big bulldozers that destroy a lot of his grass at one fell swoop, not to mention torn down fences, give Uyless a deep-seated headache.

But, the couple we have known for some 40 years when they were mere kids, took great pleasure in showing us around. "We must show you the new American Legion hall." After finding someone who had a key, they did. Now we'll admit there are towns that have a larger hall, but we seriously doubt if there is one in Texas or New Mexico that will add up to the beauty, arrangement and convenience of the Tatum hall. In fact, it is a beauty inside and out, and the town as well as the ex-service men are proud of this last word in Legion hall buildings.

Tried to get us spend the night with them at the ranch, but we had to return home, but promised a visit later. It has been some ten or 15 years since we visited their ranch home. Their new home was not complete at that time, but it was far enough along that we could tell that it was going to be a beautiful, well-arranged ranch home.

SANTA FE CARLOADINGS

Santa Fe system carloadings for the week ending August 27, 1949, were 23,138 compared with 26,252 for the same week in 1948. Cars received from connections totaled 11,195 compared with 12,328 for the same week in 1948. Total cars moved were 34,333 compared with 38,580 for the same week in 1948. Santa Fe handled a total of 33,176 cars in the preceding week of this year.

So, on home. Found a gin in a manner complete on the Texas side at Bronco. They are irrigating quite a large acreage in that area now. The little city of Plains seemed to be quite alive and growing.

Anti-Commies' Trial Proves To Be Farce

The trial of 11 members of the national board of the Communist party in this country has lasted for 29 weeks and is not yet concluded. It is difficult to imagine any case that requires that much time.

The tactics of the defendants and their attorneys have been almost without precedent in American courts. The judge has been practically ignored by attorneys, there have been loud comments before the jury by the defendants and their counsel and frequent protests and denunciations of the jurist.

Judge Harold R. Medina has exhibited rare patience under great provocation. The same can be said, we presume, for the jurors. All of which lends support to the belief that the defendants have been given more than an opportunity to present their defense.

It is about time to end such a farce. We note that Judge Medina is becoming tired of the obstructionist tactics of attorneys defending the accused. We suspect that when the trial is over he will send some of them to jail for contempt of court. Nevertheless, it is absurd to permit the trial to run for more than seven months and to clutter up the record with all the argumentative junk that has been presented as evidence by the accused and their attorneys. — Canyon News.

Behind The Scenes In American Business

By Reynolds Knight

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—You still hear a politician occasionally lambasting "Wall Street" and blaming the country's ailments on the evil workings of the "big interests," but by and large the American people nowadays accept—and even defend—big businesses as being good citizens. Most know big businesses work hard at earning and keeping that kind of reputation. They know it's good business to be good citizens, not only in their individual enterprises but in associations. An example of the latter just comes to light in the annual report of the Advertising Council, Inc. This is "a private, non-profit, non-partisan organization" supported and operated by advertisers, ad agencies and media groups for the purpose of "utilizing advertising in the solution of national problems."

That's certainly a noble-enough purpose, and the council's report on its work the last year indicates it has pursued that goal diligently. Top brains, skill, time and a great deal of money have been poured by it into: promoting better understanding of the American economic system at home; fighting anti-American lies overseas; promoting CARE packages; pushing the recruitment efforts of the armed services; campaigning for natural resource conservation; combatting racial and religious bigotry, and many other activities, all contributing to the strength and well-being of the nation.

A GREAT STATESMAN ON DRINK

On March 5, 1880, Mr. Gladstone, the "Grand Old Man" of England, said in the House of Commons:

"It has been said that greater calamities are inflicted on mankind by intemperance than by the three great historic scourges of war, pestilence, and famine; that is true for us, and it is the measure of our discredit and disgrace."

The source of Mr. Gladstone's quotation is probably Dr. Stephen Hales, F.R.S., who, in his "Friendly Admonition to Drinkers of Brandy, etc." (published in 1734) says:

"Of all the miseries and plagues that unhappy man has been incident to none was ever so effectively destructive as this, not even those three sore judgments of war, pestilence, or famine, all of which after raging some time, cease."

Postman Finds Dogs Friendly
DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., (AP)—Postman Johnny Jones, who has been carrying the mail 14 years, has a few observations on dogs:

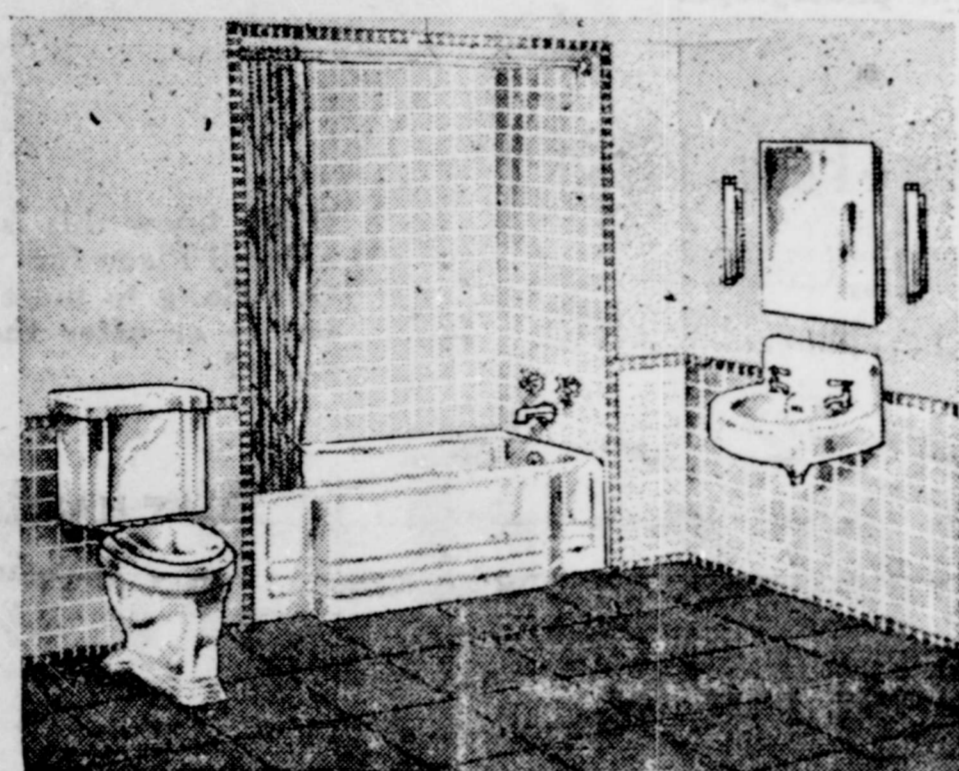

"I have no trouble with big ones. People are just scared of their size. It's the little ones that are yappiest and which will chase you."

"Ninety per cent of the dogs I have met are friendly; the others are the reserved type, not necessarily mean but stand-offish. First thing I do when I meet a new dog is whistle and talk to him in a friendly voice. The thing to do is be friendly, but don't push it."

"If you're riding a bicycle, remember it's the bike the dog is barking at. Get off and walk until the animal gets to know you. Do not act scared at any time; don't threaten a dog. Don't pick up a stick because you may startle him into attacking you. Troubles with dogs are mostly caused by humans anyway. Handle a dog right and he'll respond in a friendly way."

Lindsey-Davis Vows Read September 1

The First Baptist church of Brownfield was the scene of the marriage of Miss Jerry Lindsey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Lindsey of 305 South A, and Walter A. Davis, Jr., of Dallas, which was solemnized Thursday, September 1, at 7 o'clock in the evening. The Rev. Curtis Jackson read the double ring ceremony. The service was performed before an archway covered with huckleberry, fern and red roses, flanked by baskets of gladioli and palms. The church was lighted with candleabra.

Miss Bobby Helen Brian, organist, played traditional wedding music during the ceremony and Miss Ann Sneedecker, soloist, sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white velvet, fashioned with an illusion yoke outlined in a leaf motif of seed pearls, with a drop-shoulder neckline having a velvet bertha with covered buttons down the front of the bodice, and with long fitted sleeves ending in points on the hands and a full length ballerina skirt. Her fingertip veil was edged with imported net and attached to a seed pearl tiara. She carried a bridal bouquet of white roses, cascade effect, centered with an orchid.

Candle-lighters were LaMoine Lindsey, sister of the bride, and Durwood Jones of Post, cousin of the bride. Dale George served as best man.

Mrs. Dale George, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore an aqua satin gown with lace mitts and a halo with pink rosebuds. She carried an arm bouquet of sweetheart roses. The Misses Bennie Wartes and Mary Jo Jones, bridesmaids, were attired in taffeta dresses made of fuchsia and orchid colors with matching halo and mitts. Their bouquets were of pink carnations on fuchsia and fuchsia carnations on orchid.

Ushers were Mundelle Shipp of Lubbock, cousin of the bride, and Clyde W. Green.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Esquire

Ralph Butcher, owner of one of the best vegetable farms in this area, brought us some real field ripe tomatoes this week, the kind you like to get a little salt on and eat most any old time, as well as with meals. They were swellगत.

Mr. Butcher has vegetables late and early. He usually starts in the spring with peas and beans, later adding okra, squash, corn and other vegetables, but it is usually late summer when the tomatoes do their stuff.

He has a good irrigation well. Only trouble is, says Ralph, there is a whole of a lot of work on an irrigated farm. You'll find his farm four miles south of town between the Lamesa highway and the Forrester farm-market road.

TENNESSEE PAPER HAS REAL RURAL WRITER

Most all weekly newspapers of Texas as well as elsewhere have some pretty good neighborhood news gatherers. But most of them confine their news about persons and things to from two to six lines. The Bolivar (Tennessee) Bulletin which we take has one at Middleton, Tenn., a smaller town of the county, that really elaborates.

In fact, this lady gets down to brass tacks and door knobs. You can almost see the person or object doing their stuff in her weekly items. She tells about the new babies, who the pas, grandpas, etc., are, and their idea of the new comer. She tells how the ladies prevailed upon the manhood of the town to put some new concrete steps to the Methodist church. Who's the best scripture quoter or the best song leader. What folks had seen or heard on a trip or vacation.

That lady sure earns her salt. But speaking of that section of Tennessee at least, they have some peculiarities unknown in this part of Texas. Once in a while some item will appear under the head, "In Memoriam." You read it, and it is some wife, mother or children who are telling how much they miss a loved one who departed this life anywhere from one to several years ago.

These "memoriams" usually appear on the anniversary of the time the loved one departed this life. We don't know whether Editor Allan Sexton charges for them or not. Evidently he does, or the paper would be full of them each week.

The new program will continue with both day and night sessions throughout the entire registration period.

First classes for the fall semester will meet at 8 a.m. Saturday, September 17, and Monday, September 19, is the last day of registration without paying late fee. September 22 is the last day of registration and also the last day to add courses.

DID YOU VISIT THE WHITTLING EXHIBIT?

We have heard many complaints from the older towns further east in Texas and other states this year about their seats and whittling and spitting clubs being disrupted. But these are just semi-pro political clubs of our "elderly statesmen," who congregate, usually in the shade of a building or trees, to whittle, chew 'bacca, spit and tell each other how the gov'ment should be run.

But we have a whittle exhibit of another sort over on the west side of the courthouse square that many have visited, and many others should visit before the display is moved. We don't have the least idea who the exhibit belongs to. But the cows, calves, sheep, deer, buffalo and men were said to have been leisurely whittled out by a cowpoke during leisure moments with his pocket knife and a supply of white pine.

Now if you have ever lived in a cow country and among cow-boys, or have read western yarns and saw the movies of them, you will appreciate this ingenious exhibit of the patient whittler. We believe that even though reared in a city, and couldn't tell a cow from a bull, you'll still be interested.

There is still another angle. Every dime you drop into the box over there goes into the funds of the several Boy Scout and Cub Packs of the town for their buildings and furnishings. They don't ask for your dollars, not even the halves or the quarters—just dimes or two nickels, if you please.

But there are no obligations to even do this if you do not care to do so. But we believe that most anyone will say that the exhibit is at least worth a dime, after seeing it—maybe more—no limit.

CRIPPLED CHILDREN CLINIC WELL ATTENDED

The South Plains health unit and the state department of health of Austin sponsored a crippled childrens clinic in Brownfield in the county courthouse September 1. The health unit offices, County Judge Homer Winston's office and County Superintendent Lee Fulton's office were used as reception rooms. Chairs were loaned by the American Legion. X-rays were paid for by the Brownfield Lions and Rotary clubs, for children as recommended by examining physicians.

Seventy-three children from the five-county health unit and bordering counties were registered. Terry county had 15; Cochran 2; Ganes 6; Yoakum 2; Lynn 4; Lamb 1; Dawson 3; Hockley 17; Martin 1; Andrews 2, and Lubbock 15.

There were a variety of crippling ailments.

Miss Imogene Smith, orthopedic nurse of Austin, was in charge. Examiners were Mrs. Frances Frazier, superintendent of physical restoration with rehabilitation of Austin; Estus Day, Lubbock counselor for vocational rehabilitation of this area with offices in Lubbock; Dr. Charles B. Sadler, orthopedist of Amarillo, and Dr. W. Comper Basom, orthopedist of El Paso, both specialists. Nurses and clerks of the five-county health unit helped with the clinic.

Registrars were Mes. Ernest Latham and Jack Hamilton, both representatives of the West Ward PTA, and Mrs. Kathryn Chapman, representative of Jessie G. Randal PTA, and Mrs. Britton.

Mrs. Les Cartwright and daughter, DeLes, of Lubbock visited Mrs. Walter Hord Thursday.

Cut Own Throats To Help Britain

HOUSTON, Tex., — Sept. — The American oil industry, the people of Texas and public education in the state will "take a severe beating" at the forthcoming conference on the British dollar crisis in Washington unless American officials block reported British plans for reorganization of world oil distribution, it was charged today.

D. W. Hovey, president of the Gulf Coast Refiners' association, said a British proposal to increase her refining capacity in order to limit her imports to oil, as reported in news dispatches from London, is a "back door effort . . . to push American oil out of its markets and thus further reduce American production and employment and Texas revenue for education."

His statement, sent to Sen. Tom Conally, chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, and other members of the Texas congressional delegation, said the dollar crisis sessions should be open and that oil men, oil state officials and representatives of the general public should be allowed to sit in as observers and be given a hearing.

Mr. and Mrs. Vance Glover and daughter of Roswell, N.M., were visitors here during the Labor Day week end in the home of his sister, Mrs. Dee Hunter, and family.

The Herald had as "til bedtime" visitors Tuesday night, Dr. and Mrs. J. R. Turner of Oak Hill farm in the Pleasant Valley community. Hope they enjoyed the visit as well as we.

The Terry County Herald received a card Wednesday from Mrs. J. L. Randal and her party, Mrs. Charles Randal of Seymour, Mrs. A. B. Hovey and Ben Hovey of Waco from the Palo Duro Canyon state park. The party is going on to Denver, Colo.

Seen on the streets of Brownfield Wednesday were two former residents, Clyde McLaughlin of Lubbock and Dan Davis of Amarillo.

WELLMAN HD CLUB MET FRIDAY, SEPT 2

RAIDING THE FARMERS' FIELDS A HABIT

When a young guy, we used to hear the old soldiers talk of raids they made in quest of food for the company, regiment, etc. At that time, the word "raid" was not quite clear. However, we surmised that food and not the opposition soldiers were what they were after, although coincidentally, it would happen that the two raiding parties would run into one another.

But the Old He and wife are becoming quite proficient in raiding, and should a war turn up, we might be drafted to command raiding squadrons. We frequently mave a raid on the Oliver-Rogers or Thompson farms, where we find plenty of roasting ears, peas and beans, melons, etc.

We have been wondering all year where Jess McWhirter hid his pea patch. The other day he voluntarily told us. He had moved to what we call the Frank Proctor place, also known as the John Burnett place. He had also moved his pea patch. It was near the house, he said, and added that we might find a melon out there. Thanks for the tip, Jess.

Anyway, we sometimes wonder if neighboring farmers passing in their cars do not get a bit suspicious of us and take the license number of our old Chivvy. Usually, however, they hardly slow down and pay us little mind.

Now if corn, peas, beans and roasting ears were scarce, there would be another story, perhaps.

The Church of Christ invites you to attend its services at 219 North Second street each Lord's Day at 10:30 a.m. and 8 p.m., and Wednesdays at 8 p.m. Preaching at each service except Wednesday. Another swell home that is being built belongs to Mr. and Mrs. John L. Cruce out on the Taboka road. It is odd shaped, curving sorter like a rainbow, and is said to be the very latest in home building architecture. We want to see this home when completed.

TRUCKS PAY LARGE TAX IN TERRY COUNTY

AUSTIN — (Special) — The motor transportation industry was responsible for the expenditure of $90,588 in Terry county in 1948 for highways, schools and other governmental functions.

"This was made possible by payment of license fees, motor fuel taxes and intangible tax," said Roy Sanderford, president of Texas Motor Transportation association, in releasing a statistical study of the motor transportation industry's share of the cost of state and local government.

Sanderford stated that the figures do not include city district ad valorem taxes, franchise taxes or unemployment insurance taxes.

Total taxes and license fees paid by motor carriers for the entire state amounted to more than $50,000,000.

Melba Starnes Recent Bride in Church Rite

Miss Melba Starnes and Johnny Fitzgerald were married at 2 p.m. Sunday, August 28, in the First Baptist church, with the Rev. Howard Smith officiating at the double-ring ceremony. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Starnes of Brownfield, and he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Fitzgerald of Plains.

The vows were exchanged under an arch of huckleberry and red roses, topped with two white wedding bells. Flanking the arch were baskets of gladioli, palms, and candelabra holding white tapers.

The candlelighters were Misses Linda Fitzgerald, sister of the groom, and "Honey" Montgomery, niece of the bride. Both girls wore white satin dresses, fashioned after the bride's gown, and pink carnation halos.

Mrs. Ruth Huckabee accompanied Pat Ramsey as he sang "Because." Mrs. Huckabee played the traditional wedding marches.

Maid of honor was Miss Marlene Starnes, sister of the bride, who wore a blue satin frock, fashioned after the bride's gown. She wore a halo of crushed blue tulle net and blue satin ribbons caught with pearls, and carried an arm bouquet of pink carnations.

The bridesmaid was Miss Wynelle Fitzgerald of Plains. She wore a pink satin gown fashioned after Miss Starnes' gown, and a halo of crushed pink tulle net and pink satin ribbons caught with pearls. She carried an arm bouquet of blue carnations.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white slipper satin dress, made with a tight basque, coming to points low in the front and back on the full skirt. It featured a wide draped off-shoulder neckline. The long sleeves terminated in points over the hands. The fingertip length veil was caught to a halo of crushed tulle net satin ribbon and seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations centered with an orchid and tied with white satin streamers.

For something old and borrowed, the bride wore a gold wedding band belonging to her mother. She wore blue garters and her wedding dress was something new. She wore a penny in her right shoe.

Melvin Fitzgerald of Portales, N.M., was his brother's best man. Ushers were H. L. Wilson of Big Spring, Harley Starnes, Bob Lowe, Truman Skains and Carl Hogue.

Mrs. Starnes, mother of the bride, wore a navy blue crepe dress with white accessories and a pink carnation corsage. The mother of the groom wore a royal blue dress with black accessories and a pink carnation corsage.

A reception in the home of the bride's parents followed the ceremony. The bride's table was laid with a lace cloth and was centered (Turn to Page 8, Please)

State Fair To Show Living Exhibits

The dirt farmer of Texas will achieve a large measure of glamour in the fresh, living agriculture show now being readied for the 1949 state fair of Texas October 8-23.

Gone will be the old-fashioned museum-like jars of seeds and prize ears of corn so long a fixture of state fairs. Instead, at the 1949 state fair of Texas, majestic stalks of corn and billowing sheaves of wheat will be shown growing with their roots in actual soil, under typical farm conditions brought indoors.

"There will be more actual growing plants exhibited at the fair this year than at any fair anywhere before," declared E. C. English, chairman of the fair's agriculture committee. "Visitors who have never seen rice or peanuts for example, except in a bowl of cereal or a candy bar, will get a chance to see them as they grow in the field."

"There will be living exhibits of flax, grain sorghum, grass, cotton, corn, wheat, roses, legumes, oats, barley and vegetables."

A fabulous exhibit of more than 40 varieties of Texas grass alone is worth a trip to the fair, Mr. English said. The Texas forest service will set up a tall living pine tree; and a dazzling exhibit of roses by Tyler growers will probably be the fair's most colorful single display.

Be Wise When Buying, Says Mart Specialist

COLLEGE STATION, Aug. — Homemakers are interested in getting what they pay for, whether they're buying clothing, household equipment or food, says Miss Myrtle Murray, extension home marketing specialist of Texas A & M college. It isn't always easy to judge quality, especially of canned foods. This is true even when the product is canned in glass but when the product is in a tin container, there is nothing to go by except the information on the label.

According to Miss Murray, to buy wisely, the consumer must know four things: her own needs, how much money she has to spend, the price of the article and its quality. The answers to the first three are easy to find, but the fourth may not be so easy. Miss Murray says, one of the simplest, surest and quickest ways it can be given to the consumer is by means of an informative label attached to the product.

Miss Murray has prepared a bulletin, C-263, Be Wise—When You Buy, that has just been released by the extension service of Texas A&M college. In it, she discusses the different types of labels and what they mean to the consumer. Your local county home demonstration agent will be glad to supply you with a copy.

Texas Today

By DAVE CHEAVENS
Associated Press Staff

AUSTIN, Tex., Aug. — (AP) — Those glassy-eyed people staggering out of the capitol elevators these days haven't been on a binge—they've climbed to the top of the dome.

About a third of the record-breaking 1,000 visitors a day want to make the steep, winding 407-step climb to the dome. After they've gone up and crept down, many of them wish they hadn't, because on summer days the big metal ball is furiously hot.

Chief advisor to the dome visitors and other tourists at the capitol is Mrs. J. W. E. H. Beck, state receptionist, who was to know all the answers about Texas, including, "Where is the ice water?"

Tourist traffic through the capitol has been on a steady rise since the end of the war, and it hit its peak in mid-August, averaging around a thousand a day and more on Sunday. It's an easy record.

Mrs. Beck, former senate employee and widow of the late Dr. Beck who was senator from Bowie county for four sessions, is the pretty and affable hostess who presides over the information desk in the rotunda.

After the first of September, she will have a uniformed guide as well as an assistant, to show the folks around the building. The services of the guide are provided for in the general appropriation bill adopted by the last session of the legislature.

Addition of an official receptionist to the staff of capitol attendants was pushed by the late Gov. Beauford H. Jester. He felt that visitors shouldn't have to wander aimlessly around the big building guessing at the answers to their questions about Texas. Jester was also behind the idea of augmenting the reception and guide staff.

Mrs. Beck not only tells the tourists they can ride four floors up and then climb if they want to visit the dome, but she is a walking almanac of information on the capitol and on Texas.

"Had to be," she said. "People ask so many questions I've been forced to learn what I didn't already know."

In her spare time when tourist travel slacks off she collects information on points most often asked about, cuts the stencils and runs off mimeographed sheets.

Hardening of Arteries, Pains in Left Arm and Side—Elmer G. Johnson, President of Harlingen State Bank, Harlingen, Texas, writes, on Feb. 20, 1948:

"Please send another bottle of Liquid Garlic, also send a bottle to my sister-in-law, Mrs. Hulda C. Dutton, 45 Atwater Terrace, Springfield, Mass.

"I have some good reports to make on the effectiveness of garlic used. Mr. Turner, Texaco dealer here, has taken two bottles and is much better, his blood pressure down about 60 points. Mrs. W. F. Nelson, San Benito, who was in bad shape, is also very much better and her blood pressure down considerable. This garlic works, and you are doing a fine job of producing it for the benefit of those suffering from high blood pressure or heart trouble."

Fluorescent Lights Very Dangerous

The following article taken from Readers Digest concerns something of interest to everyone and should serve as a warning to those who use fluorescent lighting.

When fluorescent light tubes are out of their sockets, and especially when they are broken, treat them like poison—because they are poison, warns Laird S. Goldsborough in Readers Digest for September. Fluorescent tubes contain a highly poisonous substance, and serious injury may strike anyone who carelessly handles a broken tube.

Although no warning is printed on the carton containing the tube, the danger is so real that International Association of Fire Chiefs recently issued a safety bulletin headed: "Fluorescent Lamp Tubes Carry an Extreme Poison Hazard." Insurance companies throughout the United States and Canada are asking their agents to warn householders. The New York City Sanitation department has ordered its refuse collectors to single out discarded fluorescent tubes for "kid-glove treatment." Seamen of the United States navy are required to wear gloves and goggles when replacing worn-out tubes.

Industrial users of the tubes have been "tipped off" as to the proper precautions, Goldsborough says, but the housewife has not been told. Since 20 per cent of all American homes wired for electricity have one or more fluorescent lamps, the hazard to householders is serious. The article cites instances of severe fluorescent-tube poisoning suffered by children, who, playing with discarded tubes, have been cut by the glass. In some cases the resulting deep-seated infections slow to heal, have required surgical removal of infected tissue.

Economic Highlights

States, cities, and other local governments have been searching frantically for new sources of revenue. The cost of road building, fire protection, police service, and all other functions has skyrocketed. Local officials say, with considerable justice, that the taxpayers demand good and expanding services, but that they kick hard when taxes are increased. It is something like the case of the irresistible force meeting the immovable object. And one of the major reasons for the difficulty is the extent to which the federal government has increased its share of total national tax revenues.

U.S. News & World Report recently published a revealing graph to illustrate the trend. In 1940, the federal government took $5,600,000,000 in taxes, and state and local bodies took $8,700,000,000. In other words, of every tax dollar the taxpayer shelled out, the federal government received 39c and the other governments got 61c.

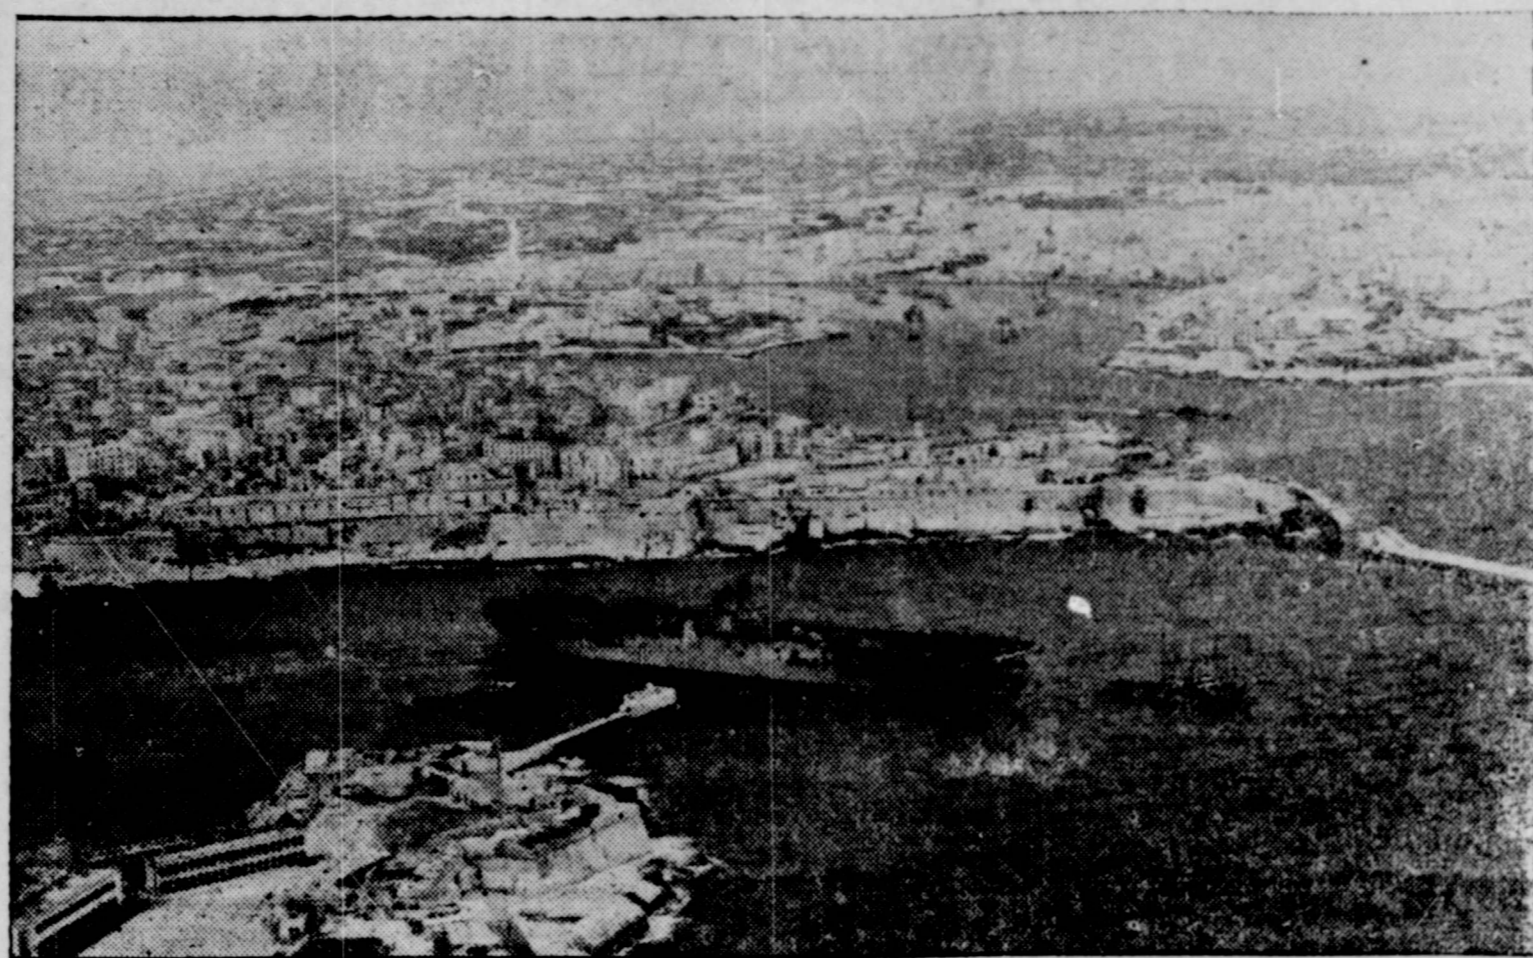

Now, the federal government is taxing us to the tune of $39,100,000,000 a year, while local government swallows 73c out of each tax dollar while the rest of the governments get but 27c.

The result, as U.S. News points out, is that local governments are moving into the fields now occupied by the federal government. Favorite old tax sources—incomes, sales, admissions, gross receipts, liquor, tobacco, gasoline, others—are being hit hard. Triple taxation is no longer any novelty. In a few places, residents actually pay three separate income taxes—on to the federal government, one to the state, and a third to the city.

This illustrates one very practical reason why Mr. Truman's program has met such hard going in congress. In the senate, particularly, Democrats as well as the Republican opposition show a growing concern over the tax burden. It is estimated that Mr. Truman's social security program alone would add at least $12,000,000,000 a year, and possibly a good deal more, to the cost of the federal government. Secretary Brannan's farm price support plan—which, incidentally, is viewed with deep suspicion even by the farm organizations—would cost another huge sum. And so, of course, would the president's federal power program.

Congress is committed to enormous military budgets, and to continued heavy spending for European aid. It must also provide for the normal functions of the government. That is why more and more of its members are

Colonel Frets Over Film Up

LONDON — (AP) — The man slouched on the bench at London's Waterloo station was just what a military policeman should not be: Cap over eyes, buttons undone, cigarette dangling from lips. The obvious colonel in civilian clothes bristled with indignation.

"Stand up, man," he said. "What do you mean by setting such a slovenly example?"

"Eh, chum?" murmured the reclining figure.

"Dammit, sir, what's your number? Who's your c.o.?" bellowed the colonel.

"Now, look here, mate . . . At that moment, he was called to take his place with other extras on the station platform for filming another scene in "Seven Days to Noon." The colonel, speechless and scarlet, retreated.

TEXAS RANKS SEVENTH IN PAYMENT OF TAXES

DALLAS, Aug. 25 (AP) — Big Texas pays a big tax bill—more than Louisiana, Mississippi, New Mexico, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Colorado and Wyoming combined, with Alaska tossed in for good measure.

Internal revenue officials said Texans paid $1,381,165,365.49 in federal taxes during the year ended June 30. That's 3.41 per cent of the national total of all federal tax collections.

Is that the mostest of any state? Nope, just seventh.

viewing avoidable spending with a cold eye. It is also the reason why sentiment for putting into effect the Hoover commission recommendations is increasing.

Soil Temperature Important Item

COLLEGE STATION, Aug. — Can you remember how hot bare ground felt when you used to go barefooted? How you hunted the grassy spots to walk on? That was just probably what you called a natural reaction, but the matter of soil temperature is a very important item in a soil building program, says Roy L. Donahue, extension agronomist of Texas A&M college.

A summer cover crop keeps the soil cooler in hot weather and a winter cover crop helps to hold the temperature up in the winter time. This cover is important for Donahue says that for every ten degrees rise in temperature most chemical reactions are doubled, and there are plenty of chemical reactions taking place in the soil. The rotting of organic matter is a chemical reaction.

So when the soil is allowed to go without summer cover, it gets very hot and this causes the organic matter to burn up faster. Soil low in organic matter does not take up moisture when it rains and is drier when the rains don't come often. In areas where wind erosion is a problem, it blows away easily, and in areas of heavy rainfall, it washes badly, says Donahue.

It may be too late to plant a summer legume or grass crop this year, but it is not too late to plan your cover crop for this winter, next summer or for that matter, for each season over a five-year period.

Lowest official temperature ever recorded in the United States was 66 degrees below zero, recorded at Yellowstone national park on the Wyoming side February, 1933.

Support Prices For Cottonseed

The United States department of agriculture has announced that the Commodity Credit Corporation will initiate a program to support the price of 1949 crop cottonseed at levels to reflect 90 per cent of the August 1 parity price, according to Clarence Church, chairman of the Lynn county agricultural conservation committee.

The program will be designed, says Mr. Church, to give producers of cottonseed a minimum price protection similar to that already available to producers of other major oil seeds.

Farm income from cottonseed for the 1947 and 1948 crops added up to approximately $350,000,000 for each season. Prices received by

"Labor Day" Just Day Of Labor

In a place like Brownfield where union labor is not very numerous, Labor Day, the first Monday in September, is just another day. Many people have reached the conclusion that it ought to be termed "Union Labor Day." As more and more people become affiliated with union labor movement, of course the day will gather added significance.

Labor Day as a holiday, as well as union labor movement, was started back in the 1880's as the Knights of Labor, that finally developed into the American Federation of Labor, and the movement has grown rapidly, especially in the last 20 years.

At the present time, only banks and the postoffice observe the day here, along with perhaps the carpenters and other building trades unions. There are no parades, no picnics, etc., and doubtless those affiliated here go to the larger towns like Lubbock, Big Spring and others to observe the day.

The reason we state that it should be called "Union Labor Day" is that the overwhelming element of labor in the smaller towns and cities, like the white collar class, mechanics and the 30-odd million farmers, have no idea hardly when the day arrives, unless they go to the bank or postoffice and find them closed.

But the day, along with others, should be so designated and advertised that he that runs might read. And we mean that advocates of the day, whether union or unorganized, should preach a "Safe and Saner Labor Day," just as we now agitate a "Safe and Saner Fourth of July."

Labor Day is a big holiday when you take the nation over, especially in the more industrialized sections, and the roads are usually crowded with cars, and like all crowded roads, there will be some drivers who have imbibed too

The Biggest Walnut Moved To Gomez

A few weeks ago, we had an article about the huge old black walnut over at the Shamburger lumber yard. In fact, we made quite a boast of the fact. But no matter how big we make things here in Old Terry, someone is sure to call our hands and tell us of a bigger something or other.

The latest backup we have had to make was on a black walnut belonging to Willie Winn over at Gomez. However, the Winn walnut was put out in 1912 or thereabouts, says Willie, and of course had some ten or 12 years' advantage of growth on the Shamburger walnut tree. And maybe the Gomez land is richer?

Anyway, Willie says his tree measures 67 inches in circumference a foot above ground and 60 inches three feet above ground. According to our way of figuring, it's some 20 inches in diameter—nearly two feet thick.

It has some active walnuts this year. One of the trees has had English walnuts budded on, and has several this year. A neighbor had a budded tree, Mr. Winn said, that was full, but a high wind broke the tree off where it was budded on the black walnut.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Newman and daughter of Oklahoma City, Okla., are here visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Burnett, and other relatives.

much for their own and other people's good.

Despite all the measures taken by safety departments in each state, as well as the highway patrol and other officials, sudden death was out in full measure over the long Labor Day week end. Many were killed needlessly while many deaths were purely accidental.

Don't Fail To Have The Dog Vaccinated

AUSTIN — The Texas state department of health during the first seven months of this year has a record of the examination of 2,709 animal heads for rabies, and of this number almost one-fourth were found positive, according to a statement made by Dr. George W. Cox, state health officer.

Rabies is transmitted to man through a bite or having a cut exposed to the saliva of a rabid animal. If a person is bitten, the offending animal should be placed in a pen if possible, for a period of at least ten days. If the animal is in the infective stage, he will die within this time. This does not mean that he may not be in the noninfectious or incubative stage and develop rabies later. All animals bitten by a rabid animal should be confined six months. If it is necessary to kill the animal, this should be done in such a manner that the brain is not destroyed.

When sending a head to the state laboratory, it should be put in a container, sealed and packed in ice to prevent decomposition. Dr. Cox said that rabies is a hard disease to eradicate, but that it could be done if all dog owners would have their dogs vaccinated each year and eliminate all stray dogs. If you have a dog, get him vaccinated the same as you have your children immunized against diphtheria and smallpox.

Rabies is commonly supposed to be a disease of warm weather, but it is more prevalent during the spring and fall because the dogs congregate and move about more, therefore the chance of exposure is greater during this time. It is true that more dogs are killed during the summer months, but the percentage of rabies is low.

JACKIE LITTLE, BRIDE-ELECT, HONORED AT SHOWER

Mrs. Euel Bryant and Miss Marlyne Green were hostesses at a miscellaneous shower at 714 North 3rd Thursday afternoon, September 1, from 4 until 6, honoring Miss Jackie Little, bride-elect of Kenneth Jackson.

Mrs. Fern Smith, aunt of the bride-elect, registered the guests. Garden flowers were displayed through the house. A salad plate lined with fern and centered with an old shoe filled with rice was the table centerpiece. Tiny bags of rice tied with inscriptions, "Jackie and Kenneth, Sept. 10," were used as plate favors.

Misses Marlyne Green and Laura Little served refreshments.

The Low Down From Hickory Grove

Day by day somebody in Govt. comes up with what this country needs. It has been thus for 10 these many moons—but after saying okay and then sampling the new elixir that is to get us back on our feet, what happens? What, says Henry. We get out the worn check book and another dead horse is paid for. But we still have the same old void in our midriff or wherever it is you feel worse, as you see Sambo dishing out our dinero in 1000 ways on things that the citizens did for themselves when this country was younger and full of vim and vigor.

Now, if the Govt. lads can tell everybody what is good for us—and then it turns out sour—I can do no worse.

Above everything else that every citizen needs, is to dust off his Aesop. We no longer can tell a fox from a goat. If a glib gent says to us, "nice people, give me your vote—I will get you a nice airport or swimming pool or brighter lights or a better dentist or doctor, and free—or almost"—we elect the guy, pronto. But the catch — "FREE" — we wake up later.

Grown-up suckers are a problem and maybe almost hopeless, but in the school houses Aesop should be included in all curriculums—kindergarten to Ph.D.

Yours with the low down,

JO SERRA

Red Onion Farmer Has Fine Crop

J. H. Mackey, of the Red Onion community, was in last week showing pictures of his 320 acre field of cotton in that community, as well as giving us a description of the farm. Now the newcomers will hardly understand where Red Onion is, but the old comers will. There used to be two or three wells there in the late M. V. Brownfield's east pasture, called the "Red Onion Wells." So that's that, water wells, that is.

At the time we had in mind using the picture to make a cut to run in the paper, but further investigation proved the picture so small that we had fears that our engraver at Lubbock could make a good cut from the picture. But the picture does show well enough to let you know that Mr. Mackey has a fine cotton crop.

The cut shows the plants well up under Mr. Mackey's armpits, and he is no dwarf, and he says the plant is well fruited, and a lot of folks think he will make a bale to the acre. The land belongs to J. E. Eakin, Sr. The elder Mackey has a fine farm in the Needmore community.

While the field of 320 acres has had rain almost every time it was needed this year, he has not had to dust the plants. This field will be watched for maximum production. It was planted May 10.

J. B. Kirby was over from Plains last week. He has been getting his Herald more or less regularly as "J. H. Kinby," and we hope with the correction he will get it regularly.

NEXT time you go marketing, have an eye out for those convenient prepackaged items wrapped in cellophane. Take spinach, for instance, it is a great time saver for it is already cut and washed; and there is no waste when you get it home. Vitamins, so easily lost when vegetables are exposed to the air, are protected by the sparkling moistureproof Sylvania cellophane. Another advantage is that prepackaged spinach, celery and other vegetables and fruit can be popped into the refrigerator, safe in their own cellophane bags. Yes, wise marketing is an art. Here is a recipe for Savory Spinach Ring which you might like to try.

Savory Spinach Ring

Place spinach in heavy pan with only the water that clings to the leaves. Add salt, cover and cook 5 to 10 minutes. Drain and chop fine. Add melted butter and season to taste. Pack into a greased ring mold. Keep in a pan of hot water until ready to serve. Fill center with a mixture of 1/2 cup thick sour cream, 2 teaspoons grated onion, 1/4 cup horse-radish and 1/4 teaspoon salt. One pound of spinach makes about 3 servings.

Remember the good old days when you bought beef for 15c per pound, and your car cut was two bits and the shave 15c? Yes, sir, your dollar was then worth 100 cents to the dollar — now about 50c. But here is another question: Did you get the quality of beef in the "good old days" that you now get? Was it processed and handled as carefully and as safe to eat as today? Was it then rigidly inspected by both federal and state inspectors, as well as the place where it was processed? Was the handling as sanitary as today? And do you remember that when the milk wagon came along, you did not get your bottle of milk fresh and sealed? No, sir, the milk dealer ladeled his milk out of a ten-gallon container into your bucket, with flies swarming around first over the horse or horses and then the milk vessels. The meat and milk processors and dealers cleaned up at all times, as if they were expecting a sanitary inspector the next minute. We consider that these safeguards are really worth something to people who buy food, and all home makers do.

There is a stock answer of all left-wingers, who delight in scoring free enterprise economy, to say that a bunch of millionaires get all the gravy from the profits of large corporation. Just how much does this meet actual facts? But the "bunch of millionaires" are not the only ones that are looking for a profit, not by a jug full. In a recent survey of 428 large industries of the United States, it was found that they had a combination of stockholders to the amount of 1 3/4 million dollars. Now let's see what becomes of the large profits. The man with something like $100 a week gets better than two out of every three dollars. Of course, the "rich" are supposed to get the same rate out of their investment, but do they? No, they are taxed up to 80 per cent of their incomes. Many of them find they have to live on four per cent cut of their incomes. Yep, we'd all like to be rich, and tell how much we made—but not after Uncle Samuel gets his cut.

In its early days, and up to comparatively recent, a prominent service club had for its motto: "He profits most who serves best." It is our understanding that this motto has been dropped for the simple reason that at this time of left-wingers, socialists, etc., the very mention of the word "profit" is either misunderstood purposely or accidentally. It is our understanding that the club never intended the word to embrace the idea of making money, but a profit made from the punctual performance of duty to your fellowmen. And in addition, honesty with yourself and your fellowman. But the mention of the word "profit" these days is verboten to many people. We have often wondered how such people expect the world and commerce to move on without some one making a profit.

In his address last week, the president expressed himself as very happy that the "democratic" party could and did win an election without the industrial east or the solid south. He seemed to float over the southern part of the idea at least. If he insists on his so-called civil rights bills in the next 16 months as he has the past eight, perhaps a few more southern states may defect from the "Trumaner" wing of the party. And that might not sound so good from the Esquire of KC.

A rousing banquet of 1,400 greeted Col. E. O. Thompson, chairman of Texas railroad commission, at his home town, Amarillo, one night last week. As the above commission also regulates the oil business as well as interstate railroads in Texas, most of the guests were oil men. Some of those present and doing honors to the colonel as speakers, intimated that "sometimes they were inclined to go beyond reason in draining oil from under Texas soil, but were restrained by Col Thompson." By the way, the colonel part was not added by some Kentucky overlord. He was a colonel at the close of World War I, and a general at the close of World War II. It is a pity that Ernest O. Thompson was not in on his duties before 1932. At that time the big oil fields of east Texas blew in and a derrick was put on ever town lot and the wells were allowed to gush and bluish as they came in. Today some of that very productive field is almost drained, before the spacing law was instituted. This also happened to the Ranger, Burk Burnett and other oil fields of the 20's and early 30's. The newer fields of this area are all properly spaced as well as prorated, and we'll have good oil fields for years out in this section. But some wells in the older fields that were once roaring gushers are now weak pumps. Some have even been abandoned.

Winston Churchill, elder statesman of England, of the conservative type, says that the present Labor (socialist) government of England has not only squandered England's reserves and assets, which were mostly investments in Canada and the United States, but that they now have the people confused, and have darkened and narrowed the views of the people of England. Added to that is seven billions of dollars borrowed from the United States and Canada. All this at a time when goods were in demand, with mostly a sellers market. The working people of England were encouraged to work when they liked and "rat" on the job when they did work. He calls the present government socialist spendthrifts, muddlers and squanderers of their assets. From this distance it appears that the good old USA is fast drifting into the same channel. Only an aroused, fighting people can stop the drift into a possible government by state, which is simply a dictatorship.

Much has been said as well as written about the heavy damage that heavy trucks inflict on our highways, which adds greatly to the cost of maintenance. There are many who say that trucks do not pay their proportionate share of the cost of highway upkeep. Trucking companies come back with the assertion that they are heavy taxpayers for the privilege of using the highways, and they are, admittedly. But let's hear from disinterested parties who either have made a comparison themselves or have men in their administration who do. Let's first take Gov. Earl Warren of California: "It costs 22 per cent more to maintain highways that have to stand heavy truck pounding than for private vehicles." And Gov. Duff of Pennsylvania states: "It costs $4,900 a year per mile to keep up highways over which trucks travel, against $350 per mile over roads that trucks do not use." Overloading is one of the main faults, it has been found, and some of the states, notably Oklahoma, is going after these violators with hooks and tongs, exacting fines up to $7,000 for this offense. This matter is a headache in all states, but no one would be willing to outlaw trucks.

Who can read or hear of the five percenters and their thievery without suffering a feeling of nausea down deep in his stomach? Such big shots as Gen. ## Air Force Will Start School At Houston

The air force will enlarge its aviation cadet program this fall by opening an aviation cadet navigator school at Ellington air force base, Houston, Tex., Master Sergeant Avery W. Carnes, U.S. recruiting sergeant, announced this week.

The new school, designed to train navigators needed for aircrews of the latest types of transports and bombers, will be patterned after the aviation cadet program in eligibility requirements and training.

The first class will begin November 1, and a new class will follow each month thereafter. Approximately 100 students will be enrolled in each class.

During their year of instruction in the latest methods of radar navigation, the aviation cadet navigators will receive 184 hours of navigational instruction in "flying classrooms." For this purpose, the air force will use a new type of trainer, the T-29, a version of the twin-engine Convair airliner, adapted for navigation training.

To be eligible for aviation cadet training, men must be between the ages of 20 and 26½, must be

U.S. citizens, and may be either married or single. They must have at least two years of college or the ability to pass an equivalent examination. The qualifications for navigator training are the same as for pilot training except for vision and hearing requirements, which are more stringent in the pilot training physical examination than in the physical exam for navigators.

Cadet navigator graduates will receive commissions as second lieutenants in the air force reserve and aeronautical ratings as navigators. Outstanding graduates will receive regular commissions and others will have opportunity to compete for regular commissions during the three-year tour of active duty required of all graduates of the course. Active duty assignments will include navigating the long-range bombers of the Strategic Air Command or the transports of the Military Air Transport Command.

Applications for aviation cadet navigator training may be made at air force bases or at the U.S. Army and U.S. Air force recruiting station at the courthouse in Brownfield.

'Here Are They, and Here Are We...'

The still dangerous Kashmir issue—arising from the question of whether the state of Kashmir should join India or Pakistan—seems to be nearing a peaceful solution through the efforts of the United Nations. Invitations to implement recent truce agreements have been accepted by both countries involved. Meanwhile, however, U. N. military observers stay on the job, to check on possible unauthorized advances beyond accepted "cease fire" lines. Here a U. S. lieutenant and a Canadian colonel, under orders of a U.N. Commission, check positions of opposing troops.

Stricklinly Speaking

By Old He

It appeared to us last week that the solicitors for the premium bale were just a bit averse to taking a subscription to The Herald in lieu of cash, which is their business. It did not make us sore. But that has been a fixed habit with us for the past 20 years. That also goes for the first bloom.

However, we don't think the custom bad. We have always felt that the recipient remembers who is supplying him with his reading matter long after many of the cash donations are forgotten.

However, at any time the subscription is unsatisfactory, we are perfectly willing to stop the paper and substitute cash. That should be satisfactory all around.

We had occasion this week to look over the Meadow school year book, covering the 1948-49 session. One item was a bit misleading, but unintentionally, of course. The item stated that after the school house was burned twice, following an effort to consolidate it was not rebuilt.

However, the house was rebuilt after Meadow was moved to its present site, but it was never again called Meadow, but Prairieview. Among the early teachers was Miss Kathryn Powell, youngest daughter of the late Pappy John Powell, who later married Capt. Anderson of Fort Worth. The writer's brother, J. T. Stricklin, now of Fort Worth, also taught the school the session of 1918-19.

Others also taught the school until it was consolidated with the Meadow school. But the annual is right so far as it being called Meadow is concerned.

Editor Homer Steen of the Hesperian, over at Floydada, can rightfully be termed the weatherman among the South Plains newspaper fraternity. But he don't use a thermometer, rain gauge, barometer, charts or even the much advertised Weather House. No, sir. Homer is a moon man.

Recently he has been advising farmers that it was time, according to moonology, to get rid of Johnson grass, but if they waited until the moon face or phase changed, they were out of luck so far as killing that pest goes.

But, continues Homer, "is Johnson grass a pest?" It appears that Homer has just about decided that J-grass is no pest, but a soil builder, in spite of all the prejudices against the plant.

However, we have heard a lot of folks say that it always grows in a lazy man's field. We have noted, however, after some experience with J-grass, that it grows just any daggummed place it likes, even in the state and federally controlled highways—moon or no moon.

But we like to read Homer's weather articles. He gets tripped sometimes and has to do a bit of 'splaining later, but he fixes it up fine before he quits.

As we had a lot of this trip carried over from last week, we will cut 'er short. Yeah, we heard you say, thanks! You're welcome.

Wayne Rogers, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Rogers, returned home Sunday from Austin where he received his BA from the university of Texas. He plans to return to the university this fall to work on his masters degree.

SUIT PRICES GO DOWN
FRANKFURT, (P) — Complete men's suits are being offered in Frankfurt for $6 and even less these days. Street peddlers are buying them and have a roaring trade selling them in the outskirts of the city.

Two months ago the same suits were priced at $33 to $36. Prices fell when stores accumulated surplus quantities of summer-weight suits. The peddlers bought them up almost for nothing.

Wonderful!

YOU know how it usually is—slow and steady is the rule in automotive progress.

But every now and then it happens. Along comes a car that's new all over—like this one—and headlines sing the news.

Take the styling of it—fresh and smart and really exciting from its non-locking bumper-guard grilles to the jet-plane look of its fenders.

Take the outward size of it—handy in traffic, easy to garage, actually more room and a sweeter ride in fewer over-all inches.

Step inside—and stretch yourself in the biggest interiors ever found in a Buick Special, with a full twelve inches added to rear-seat hiproom.

Try the power of big 110 or 120 hp high-compression Fireball engines—sample the restful levelness of a ride that sets the standard for the industry.

Check controls—and note really big news: The luxury of Dynaflo Drive*—newest, simplest and smoothest of all modern transmissions — is optional equipment, available now at the lowest price level yet!

Finally, look at the price tag. Measure its figures against others—and see if any car, even in the lowest-price field, gives you so much of what you want for each dollar you invest.

Tops in style, tops in room, tops in life and life and traveling ease, a trip to your Buick dealer will show you this is wonderful in value too!

Attention Farmers
We have a large cotton crop to handle this year and it is going to take the cooperation of the farmer, the ginner and the banker working together to handle this crop so we want to make the following suggestions which we believe will expedite the prompt and orderly marketing of this crop:

1. Due to an unusual situation existing this year, ginners will be unable to furnish cotton pulling funds to the farmer. The banks will be glad to furnish funds for this purpose to their customers.
2. Please do your banking early in the week to avoid congestion and delay in our banks on weekends.
3. Pick up warehouse receipts from the gins as fast as they come in and deliver to the banks, or better still, instruct your ginner to deliver your warehouse receipts to your bank as fast as they come to him. This will enable the bank to give you better service on your cotton loans and make your money available to you much earlier than we have been able to do so in the past.
4. Our desire is to help the farmer in every way possible to enable him to get the money from his crop as soon as possible and with a minimum of expense and trouble to him.
5. Discuss these suggestions with your banker and ginner.
