Meadow Postoffice Salary Money Cut

We were informed last week that the government started in their economy drive at the post-office at Meadow by cutting the salary money $500. This in face of the fact that we had a big crop; business is good, and people are just using the mails more than in poor times. Perhaps the economy had best started with the elimination of a lot of folks up at Washington who are in each other's way.

Anyway, during week days except Saturdays, the Meadow post-office will be closed from 12 noon to 1 p.m., and all Saturday afternoons, in order to save salaries. We learned that the Ropesville postoffice was cut even more.

This Is Heart Campaign Week In Brownfield

W. T. McKinney and A. M. Muldrow are acting as co-chairmen of the Heart Week drive here in Brownfield. The plans are to put out hear shaped collection boxes for the reception of funds donated in the drive, Feb. 13-19.

Just at this time let us remind the people that heart disease of one nature or another is the biggest killer in America now. With new drugs and treatment for pneumonia, typhoid and other former mass killers, they have been greatly reduced as potential killers.

But heart disease goes on its ravages. Not only are the middle aged and old stricken, but often comparatively young people fall victims of this quick killer.

Be sure to donate something during this drive. The goal of America is 6 million dollars. Fifty-five percent of funds collected will be kept here for use. The other 45 percent will be used in research work in trying to find a remedy to stop or check the disease before it gets such a start on the victim.

No Repairs For the Clock, Says Lynn

Recently we entered an agreement with Lynn Nelson, local jeweler for an electric clock with a face large enough for all us Herald folks to watch. But he did not expect a shipment for some time after the holidays so loaned us a small one until the new shipment arrived.

In the meantime, the one he loaned us went kablooey, and we carried it over to him for repairs. "The motor is burned out," says he. "I bought several of that brand, and every cokeyed one of the motors have burned out," he continued.

"And now to head it all, the concern that made them is broke."

Helen Stark and Robert H. Howell of Brownfield and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lindlay of Hobbs, N. M., visited Carlsbad Cavern last Sunday.

Tech Enrollment Has Reached 5,425

LUBBOCK, Feb. 17.—Enrollment at Texas Technological college for the spring semester has reached 5,425 students, Registrar W. P. Clement reports.

Clement says the figure represents a slight decline from the fall semester when 5,644 students were enrolled at Tech. Miss Evelyn Clewell, assistant registrar, says the graduate division has shown a large increase, however. The division enrollment increased from 337 students during the fall term to 397 for the present semester.

Farm Bureau Asks For Grain Sorghum Support

Some 100 officers and directors of the Farm Bureau from the 16 counties surrounding Lubbock, met in that city last Thursday Bill Tilson of Meadow presided. Among the prominent speakers was J. Walter Hammond of Tye, Texas, who is president of the Texas State Bureau.

The burden of the discussions was present agricultural trends and commodity prices, the cotton allotment program and other things. Judge Homer Winston of this county introduced a resolution to ask Secretary Brannan to support grain sorghum prices at 70 percent of parity.

A Lamesa delegate presented a plan to get the legislature to act upon the new law concerning rural telephones, as passed by last year's congress. It seems each state must take this matter up separately. The Bureau asked that Gov. Shivers submit it to the legislature while that body is in session, as called sessions can only act upon measures that the governor submits to it.

The body went on record that there be a membership campaign put on with a possibility of boosting the membership in the area from the present 4229 to 8225.

A speaker from Waco discussed the several phases of Bureau services, including insurance and hospitalization sponsored by the Farm Bureau.

Judge Winston stated this week that the meeting reported to be held in Brownfield Saturday was a mistake.

Nothing Worth Smelling In Sawyer Well

Latest report from Sawyer No. 1, being drilled by Stanolind six miles south of town was that while they were in a lime formation, a drill stem test didn't show anything except the water and mud used by the drillers. However, some believed that the lime was part of the Permian and not Pennsylvania.

No water at that depth was reported, other than that used in drilling, and the drillers were preparing to go deeper. The Pennsylvania will at least be penetrated.

Mrs. Dennis Lilly Is Contest Winner

Mrs. Dennis Q. Lilly was named the winner of the bean guessing contest held by Charlie Price's Western Auto Store last week.

The number of beans the jar contained were 8,732, and Mrs. Lilly guessed the number to be 8,750, just 18 short of the actual number. For guessing the nearest number of beans in the jar, Mrs. Lilly was presented a Western Flyer bicycle.

Second prize winner of a Tru-tone radio was M. Singleberry, Route 5, who guessed 8,759. Mrs. S. A. Shepherd was awarded an electric clock for guessing 8,760 beans.

The contest was conducted in conjunction with the grand opening of the store, which was held February 4.

Deputy Collector To Be Here Feb. 23

Deputy Collectors Ray W. Allen and Edmond Finck will be at the courthouse on Thursday, Feb. 23. It is a well known fact that making out an income tax report is a headache to a lot of people, and these men will help such to get their returns in order, free of charge.

Let it be here understood that the law does not impose this duty on collectors or deputies, yet they desire to be of assistance to those who have trouble. And this will be their only visit here in Brownfield.

Our idea would be that you have all the usual items of income prepared in advance so as to take as little of their time as possible, as others will likely be waiting.

New Legislation and Increased SS Taxes May Up Phone Rates

The new minimum wage legislation, which was passed by Congress and signed by President Truman during October, 1949, became effective on January 25, 1950. The new law increases minimum wages from forty cents to seventy-five cents.

Mills Roberts, district manager for the telephone company, pointed out that the telephone companies are going to be hit hard by the extra operating costs resulting from the changes in the minimum wage law. Telephone service is a round-the-clock business, with three shifts every 24 hours, seven days a week. This means the new law will hit the telephone companies harder than the average business covered by the act.

In addition, Social Security taxes were advanced on January 1, 1950, from one per cent to 1½ per cent. As in the past, the employer matches the amount deducted from each employee's pay check and deposits these funds with the Social Security Administration. During 1949, the tax paid on an annual income of $2,500 amounted to $25.00. During 1950, the same income will require a social security tax of $37.50.

Telephone companies have only one source of revenue from which to pay their cost of operation—that is from the rates paid by subscribers to the service. Mr. Roberts stated that he could see no way the company could avoid increasing rates in months ahead to offset these and other rising costs of providing telephone service.

Red Cross Brings Tears of Gratitude

Bringing tears to the eyes of its friends is not what the Red Cross seeks in giving service, but last July the organization was responsible for a good cry in the case of Evelyn Lauder, farm wife of Ransom county, North Dakota. A few days after a vicious tornado had wrecked every building on the farm except the house, the Lauders were visited by a Red Cross worker. The latter explained that the Red Cross was prepared to help rebuild, repair, restock with livestock, or replace machinery as an outright gift. If Evelyn and Everett Lauder hadn't enough resources to help themselves out of the ruins.

Mrs. Lauder looked out at the ruined barn, hen and hog houses, at the twisted stumps of once great shade trees while her husband explained that the Lauders, while grateful, really didn't need help and that they had plenty of resources with which to rebuild, repair and replace. Then Evelyn Lauder, her eyes filling with tears said:

"Every year I have volunteered to collect money for the Red Cross in March. I never dreamed they went this far to help folks or that some day they'd knock at our door with an offer of help."

HOGS ADDED UP

DES MOINES—(P)—How many hogs does a farmer raise in a lifetime of farming? Carl Anderson, of Wellman, who started farming in 1912, estimated he had marketed during 38 years an average of 610 hogs a year. This would mean a total of 23,180 hogs. Anderson hit his peak in 1942 when 1,186 pigs went to market. They brought a total of $28,725, Anderson's records show. For the 38 years, he figures his hogs have brought an average yearly income of $13,565.

HEADS CAMPAIGN FOR $6,000,000

A. W. Robertson

The 1950 Heart Campaign, sponsored by the American Heart Association and its affiliates, is going forward under the national chairmanship of A. W. Robertson, Chairman of the Board of the Westinghouse Electric Corporation. Scheduled for the entire month of February, the campaign has a goal of $6,000,000 to support the Association's attack on heart disease through research, education and community service.

Introducing the campaign, Mr. Robertson declared that, "the outlook was never more hopeful for control of the heart diseases, our nation's leading cause of death. Recent developments in medical science have already contributed greatly to the alleviation of several types of heart disease. Medical scientists believe we are on the threshold of new and even greater discoveries. Research, to push through to final solutions, is needed more than ever. The public's support of our medical investigators was never more vitally necessary."

"While researchers continue to seek new answers," Mr. Robertson said, "it is no less important that we make the best use of the scientific knowledge we now have. For this reason the American Heart Association has expanded its program of public and professional education and of community service in centers throughout the nation. The need is still pressing for the organization of local heart associations in other areas of the nation so that heart programs will be generally available to all our citizens."

Once Upon a Time . . .

Once upon a time there was a farmer who raised two chickens, took them to the city, sold them to a factory worker, and with the proceeds bought two shirts. So the farmer had two shirts and the city man had two chickens. Observing the transaction, the planner told the farmer he could get more money for his chickens by making them scarcer. If he didn't raise so many he would get more income for those he did raise. The planner also told the working man in the city that he must work fewer hours and get more money for his labor. This would raise the prices on the articles he made so he would have more money with which to buy. So the farmer brought one chicken to the city market. He got as much money for it as he had previously gotten for two chickens. He felt fine. This was the life. But when he went to buy some shirts, he found that the shirts had also doubled in price. So—he got one shirt. Now the farmer had one shirt and the city man has one chicken, whereas if they had not listened to the silvery-tongued pseudo-economist, they could each have had twice as much. And this, children, is called "the more abundant life." —Exchange.

Service Office News

By C. L. Lincoln
Terry County Service Officer

It is the purpose of the Veterans Administration to administer certain laws enacted by Congress granting benefits to the discharged members of the armed forces of the United States and to their dependents. These benefits include compensation and pensions, education, vocational rehabilitation training, guaranty of loans, readjustment allowance insurance, emergency hospitalization and ambulance transportation, etc.

The administration of the above benefits is the legal responsibility of the VA county service officers, without fees to veterans or their dependents, are charged with the duty of advising veterans and their dependents about the rights to which they are entitled under the public laws; also to perfect claims for benefits issuing from these rights, and presenting claims before the rating boards for adjudication before the VA. He concerns himself especially with the problems of the disabled veteran.

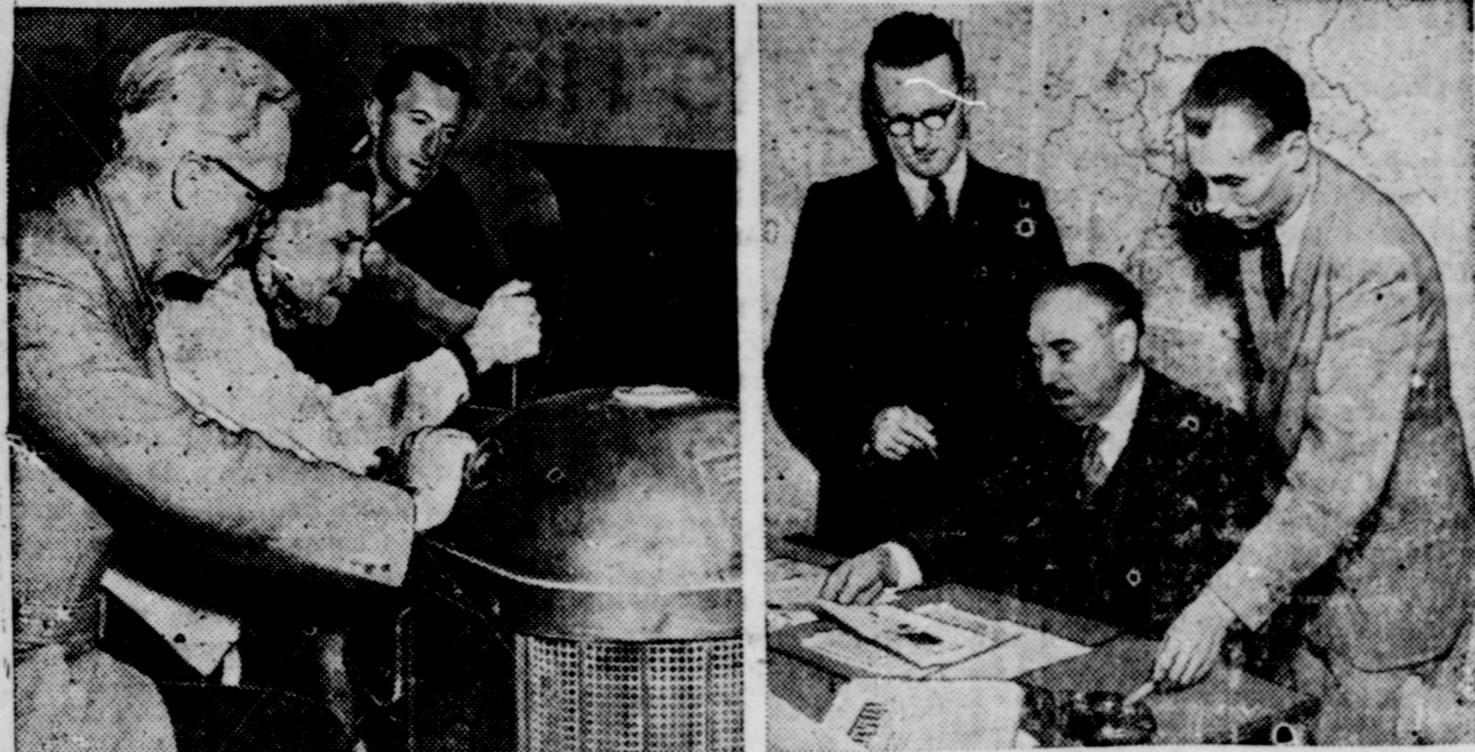

Jurisdiction of the adjudication division embraces a wide and important field of benefits to veterans and their dependents. Under this division is the authorization for hospitalization unit and rating boards. The many duties of this division includes determining the veteran's entitlement to compensation and pensions. Possessing medical records from the branches of service in which he served and contacting his family physician, who knows and has evidence of his present physical condition, will prove helpful to the veteran in the prosecution of his claim.

If a veteran of World War I or II needs emergency hospitalization in a private hospital, it is absolutely necessary that prior authorization be secured in order for the veteran to have his bills paid by the VA.

All veterans of World War II who have made application for special dividends on their National Service Life Insurance. If your application has not been acknowledged from Washington and if you have not received a dividend application number, please report to the county service office. We will be glad to re-apply for the dividends and will mark on the second application. The VA instructions from Washington advise us to do the above and

From Tractors to Printer's Ink in Refugee Camps

GI students rate dependency grants.

Veterans in training under the GI Bill or Public Law 16 who acquire a dependent or dependents through marriage or birth of children should submit necessary evidence of dependency to Veterans Administration as soon as possible, if they desire additional allowances.

The evidence should be sent to the VA regional office having jurisdiction over the area in which the school or training establishment is located.

If a veteran in school full-time acquires one dependent, his subsistence payments might rise from $75 a month to $105. The monthly rate is $120 for veteran-trainees with more than one dependent.

On-the-job training subsistence rates are $65 a month for veterans without dependents and $90 for those with one or more dependents.

The following constitutes "satisfactory" evidence of dependency:

For a wife or husband, a certified copy of the public or church record of the marriage.

For a minor child, a certified record of the birth or the record of the baptism. If evidence of marriage was not previously reported to the VA, a certified copy of the marriage record also should be submitted.

For an adopted child, a certified copy of the court record of adoption.

For dependent parents, (1) a certified copy of the public record of birth of the veteran or the church record of his baptism, and (2) an affidavit of dependency (a VA form) filled out by the parent or parents and sworn to before a notary public.

Treasury officials in Washington have ruled that NSLI dividend payments to War II veterans are not subject to income tax. No formal ruling has been made by the Bureau of Internal Revenue, but the top experts of the Bureau have been quoted as saying that the NSLI dividend is definitely not subject to a tax.

The local county service office is located on the ground floor of the courthouse, Brownfield, Texas, phone 247-M. Office hours are from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. week days. Closed Saturday at noon. There is no charge for the services of your county service officer to veterans and, or, their dependents. All veterans and dependents are cordially invited to drop by the local service office to discuss any benefits that they may be entitled to receive—such as outpatient treatments, ambulance service, living and death benefits.

"Behind the Scenes In American Business"

By Reynolds Knight
NEW YORK, Feb. 17—The current administration cry for more aid for the small business man—tax relief, easier credit, etc.—is being dismissed as merely a political play by many observers, who see little real action likely to result. There'll be lots of talk, say these critics, and that's about all.

Other observers, meanwhile, wonder if the small enterprise is in as bad a plight as some people claim. For example, the day after Chairman O'Mahoney of the Joint Committee on the Economic Report stated that a way must be found to provide investment capital for small business lest it be eliminated by "monopolies," Secretary of Commerce Sawyer was telling the American Bankers Association that "officials, business leaders, and economists have wept together at many a premature funeral for small business. A brief look at the facts indicates we can do more cheering and less weeping. The total number of business concerns in the country is now 3,900,000 compared with 3,300,000 in 1939. . . . In 1929 the total estimated income of non-incorporated enterprises was a little over eight billion dollars. In 1948 the income of this same group was nearly 25 billion dollars, or more than three times as much."

ISRAEL'S POPULATION OVER MILLION

TEL AVIV—(AP)—A total of 239,171 Jewish immigrants from all parts of the world arrived in Israel during 1949. These arrivals boosted the new state's population well over the 1,000,000 mark.

WORKER SHOOTS THE WORKS

SYDNEY—(AP)—A ship's plater from Barrow-on-Furness is in Sydney on the first leg of a "soft" trip around the world. He is Robert Crone, 54, who says he is spending his life's savings on the trip.

He told newsmen: "I want to live soft for a year and go broke in the process." He said he is going to spend about $2,240 seeing Australia, New Zealand, Tahiti, Panama and America. Already he has spent about $1,387 on shipping and airline tickets.

Crone said he had been working as a plater for $21 a week. He added with a smile: "I will be broke but happy when I return to my job."

The American population is growing at the estimated rate of 10,000 a day.

COAL MINER RUNS CROCHET HOOK

BARNESBORO, Pa.—(AP)—Coal miner Joseph Barnosky, 45, of Barnesboro can handle a crocheting needle as easily as a pick and shovel. The Western Pennsylvania miner, a veteran of 30 years in the pits, learned the art of needle work from his wife. The pastime keeps them both busy during the present coal strike.

"We've already completed enough work to fill our daughter's hope chest," commented Barnosky.

TELEPHONE TALK and TAXES

Most people consider talking on the telephone to be very much of a regular part of daily life. In spite of its day-in-day-out usefulness, however, the Federal Government insists on taxing telephone service as much as 25%. This is higher than the 20% tax on luxuries.

All long distance calls costing 25c or over are taxed 25%. The Federal tax increases the cost of your local service by 15%. Other forms of telephone service are taxed from 8 to 25%. This excise tax is imposed directly upon you as a telephone user. Your telephone company, at its own expense, acts as a tax collector.

These excise taxes are in addition to corporation income taxes and other taxes which the company pays to the Federal Government either directly or indirectly.

This excise tax was designed as a wartime emergency measure and as such served its purpose. But the war has been over for some time. We are sure that your Senators and Congressmen would welcome your views as a taxpayer on this continued peacetime tax of a necessity.

Buick Style is Here Again!

NO question now as to who has the ball on automobile styling!

Take a look at almost any blockful of new cars—and you will see once more the sweep and dip of tapering fenders that Buick pioneered—and that the whole country went for with a joyous whoop and holler.

They're a little smoother now, of course, rounded a bit—and are molded right into the body. And they flow sweetly into rear-fender forms that look for all the world like a jet plane's power plant.

Then look how wonderfully they are topped off in the upperstructure—with wide, curving, one-piece windshields, and with smart, Buick-originated wrap-around back windows!

Yes, Buick style is here again. The sleek, swift-lined style that has put Buick right in the fashion forefront of postwar America.

And you can have it in a choice of many sleek and roomy models, ranging in

Gee Gee's Chit Chat

That Dr. Gordon Richardson is a smart one. You've heard of these people who tell big fish stories. Well, it seems that Doc has a big one all his own, but unlike most of the fellows who tell those tales and expect you to take their word for it, Doc has the evidence.

Yep, he caught a whale of a bass—24 inches long and weighing 8 and 3-4 pounds—down at Throckmorton last week end, and just to prove it, he quick-froze it and it's on display over at his office.

Last week when we wrote the story about Mrs. John Luckie appearing with the Lubbock Symphony Orchestra, we failed to give Mrs. Richard Young credit for doing an excellent job of accompanying Mrs. Luckie.

Mrs. Young is an accomplished pianist, but a lot of people may not know it. She's so busy being a mother to two peppy youngsters and teaching private pupils and classes, not to mention keeping the buttons sewed on Richard's shirts, that she has very little time to do anything else.

And speaking of the Young family, congratulations to Richard, who is director of the Brownfield high school band and Chorus and has his fingers in several other pies in town, upon being re-elected secretary of the Texas Bandmasters Association. He's bound to be pretty honest if all the band directors in Texas will want him to keep their books for another year.

We always usually feel pretty lousy after Christmas, what with the excitement of a holiday and income tax, etc., and I know that I get tired of being dunned for that and that sort of drive. Most people do. But most of the drives that we have go for a good cause.

The seals that are sold at Christmas time bring in enough money to further research on tuberculosis. Naturally, everyone knows that the proceeds from the March of Dimes are used for research on infantile paralysis.

But now, most of you have seen the little red plastic hearts which have been set out in local business firms. They are not Valentine displays. They are being used to collect funds for fighting heart disease, the nation's leading killer, not only among adults, but also among children. Rheumatic fever is one of the most dangerous, crippling diseases that hit children. It is no respecter of persons, and it can hit you or your child at any time. The goal this year for the 1950 Heart Campaign is six million dollars. It's a lot of money, but please don't think that just because you only have a dime to give it can't be used. All dimes, nickels, and pennies are greatly appreciated, so drop them in. Open your heart and give to fight heart disease.

Early Settlers Were Salt of the Earth

In our offbrand style of writing functions last week, we "covered" the Sheriff's posse barbecue at the show barns of the county park. It might not have sounded like a portion of the society events taken from the New York Times, but it suited us, and perhaps some of those who had charge of matters under discussion. But in the article, we mentioned the old Spur ranch in Dickens county.

This in turn, reminded us of a book loaned us by Thorne Smith, who until recently was an employee of the Herald. The book was known as The Spur, and was written by Texas Spur, and was printed by Texas Spur, a paper that Smith worked on at that time. It gave the history of this well known ranch from very early times, and long before the Swensons became the owners, or for that matter the Espula Land & Cattle Co., of London, England.

Some one mentioned having been around that section when we had our experience with a blue northern in March 1908. By the way, Mon Price, who has been herding cattle since he was knee high to a duck, and learned ranch cooking from sour dough biscuits to son-of-a-gun, will be the cook for the next affair. But we want to attend one that Ray Christopher sponsors, particularly. But we're off the subject.

Not All Westerners Accommodating
Next morning after the night before, described last week, the four of us in the Sears Roebuck surrey, left the little school house pretty early. It was still very chilly, but the wind had laid some. In the general vicinity of where the city of Spur now stands, we had an accident. The ponies were being trotted at a brisk rate. A nephew was driving, and saw a deep prairie dog hole in the middle of the wagon ruts on his side; jerked up on the lines, and the tongue popped down near the double tree. We came near having a bad runaway, as one of the ponies was loco, but the other was off a delivery wagon in Anson and afraid of nothing. So we got 'em stopped.

There being no Spur town at that time, no tools to fix a tongue, and the next village southeast just outside the ranch, possibly now known as Girard, a council of war had to be held. We had never pulled out of the deep ruts, and soon a wagon with two men in it passed, pulled out and around us, said "howdy," and on they went. It was probably 12 to 15 miles to the village where we had noticed a blacksmith shop as we came through there. But the two wagoners mentioned above treated us like the story of how the Priest and Levite treated the wounded man, and what the Good Samaritan in the New Testament story did.

While it was being decided who'd ride which horse and carry the tongue to the village for repairs, we noted another wagon hove in sight over a rise, then another wagon, and then one or two more. Then there was a buggy, some loose horses and cattle being driven. It was a typical pioneer and his sons, daughters and in-laws, journeying to New Mexico to lay claims to government land, 160 acres to each one 21 years or older. The old patriarch was a rugged old gentleman, with white hair and whiskers all over his face, but with a friendly smile.

After stopping his team, to the lead wagon, he said, "You folks seem to be up against it, and a long way from any blacksmith shop." He jumped out of his wagon and added: "We'll have that fixed in a jiffy." In the rear of one wagon, he pulled out pieces of lumber, nails and smooth wire. And in the matter of half an hour, we were ready to travel. In the meantime, he told us his story and the migration to new land. Needless to tell you he fixed the tongue so well, we drove in home without any further repairs.

We believe the old gentleman, we have long since forgotten his name, was from Haskell, or Knox county area, and as he was headed in toward old Emma, then county seat of Crosby county, and Lubbock, the family evidently passed on through the then unorganized counties of Hockley and Cochran into north Lea or Roosevelt county, N. M., as they are now known.

Wherever they went, we know they made fine neighbors and friends to other early day New Mexico settlers. Eastern New Mexico is made up with some mighty fine old pioneer west Texas stock. He may have passed on years ago, but he did not have charged against him that "he passed by on the other side." He was your neighbor, and such deserve the final reward of "come ye blessed."

Jump-off-Joe creek is the name of a southern Oregon stream into which a pioneer, Joe McLoughlin, is said to have jumped in 1839, apparently for the joy of it.

FORMOSA PREPARES—Wives, mothers, fathers, brothers, and sisters of Formosan recruits, on parade through the city of Taipei, follow their loved ones in trucks to the city hall where they give the soldiers a send-off. Nationalist officials hope to recruit a total of 55,000 men in Formosa during the coming year. The island is being readied to face expected Communist attack from the Chinese mainland.

Pleasant Valley HD Report

Mrs. Mancil Henson entertained the Pleasant Valley HD club in her home Friday, Feb. 3.

A quiz on "A Well Equipped Linen Closet" was given by the hostess, as recreation. Mrs. Hubert Henson made the highest score and received the prize.

Mrs. Ino Riley, president, then conducted a short business meeting.

Two new members, Mrs. Byron Cabbiness and Mrs. Sonny Gandy joined the club.

After adjournment of the club, Miss Helen Dunlap, agent, gave a very interesting demonstration on "Rug Making." She had made four varieties and had them there for the members to see.

Refreshments of sandwiches, potato chips, mints, angel food cake and coffee were served to Mesdames Riley, L. Willis, George, Henson, Gandy, Evans, Cabbiness and the hostess.

A Much Needed Reform Proposed

At last an effective step has been taken to do away with the electoral college and to give each candidate for the presidency and vice-presidency that number of electoral votes from each state which his proportionate share of the popular votes entitles him to.

To illustrate. Suppose a state has twenty electoral votes; and that at the November election three-fifths of the popular votes cast are in favor of the Democratic candidate and two-fifths in favor of the Republican candidate. In that event the Democratic candidate would be given 12 electoral votes and the Republican candidate 8. In effect that would amount to the election of the president and the vice-president by popular vote.

Under the present system if a

Christian Conduct: Ancient Problems Remain Today

SOME acute problems of conduct and relationship soon arose among the early Christians. It is well to study them carefully, and the ways in which Saint Paul and other leaders in the church met them, for the same problems in some form or other have been present among church members in every generation since the church began, and they are still acute among Christians.

The problems were many and varied, as they related to different persons and situations, as a careful reading of Paul's Epistles, as also of John's and Peter's, will show. But three main problems were emphasized, two of which are still very evident in our own time.

The first arose from Jewish converts, who continued to observe certain rites and obligations of Judaism, and who thought that Gentile converts ought to come under the same rule.

The second arose from the contacts of the church in the pagan cities in which the Christians lived. The chief issue regarding Christian freedom arose about the meat offered to idols.

The third outstanding problem centered around social and economic status, just as such problems center today. Among these early Christians were some who were very poor, and some who apparently were quite rich. There were masters and there were slaves, and the New Testament book of Philemon discusses the problem about them.

How did the church leaders meet these problems? First of all, by an insistence upon Christian love as the Christian's supreme obligation. John rebuked the disciples for their lack of brotherly love. Then, by an insistence that the Christians must observe Christ's command, "Judge not." And third, by an assertion of the rights of Christian conscience and freedom. It is a large subject, but what Paul has to say about it in his Epistles is still good doctrine, and good practical counsel for today.

candidate carries a state by even one vote in the November election, he gets all of the electoral votes of that state. Take New York, for instance. If a candidate carries that state by say 1,000 votes out of several million votes cast, he gets all of its 45 electoral votes. That is a mighty big plum in the electoral college and a candidate will cater to this or that minor bloc enormous power, out of all proportion to their numbers, in the election of a president.

Under the proposed change, where the Democratic and the Republican candidates run nip and tuck, one of them would get pos-

Received our copy of Capitol Comment this week. This is the official publication of the Democratic National Committee. Over the masthead was this quote from President Truman: "Our goal must be not peace in our time—but peace for all time." Very good, but one doesn't find much peace mentioned anywhere in the text of the four page mimeograph. From the opening guns of the Raleigh News (N.C.) editor, Josephus Daniels and in turn V-P Barkley, as well as the CIO and AFL speakers on down through the minor exponents of "Jeffersonian Democracy," there is no peace for those who do not agree in full with the Fair or Queer Deal. There was much and loud talk about the "tricks of the politicians," as if there were none in the Truman-Barkley ranks. The speakers seemed to be very mad at someone, evidently at the hosts of Democratic Senators and Congressmen, as well as State Governors from the South, from Virginia to Texas, who elected to stay away for some reason best known to themselves. So much for Chairman William M. Boyle, Jr.'s "Capitol Comment."

It has lately been discovered that there is a chance for the "small business" as well as the "large business" to make a loan with the RFC. What is generally termed a small loan is from say two hundred bucks up to 100 grand. But there is a bit of a catch, if you happen to be interested. You, as a small business must have exhausted all other sources where you might obtain the amount of cash needed. But after local banks and money lenders have pinned a "too risky" tag to such a loan, it must be very "disencouraging" to the applicant to approach the red tape window of the RFC for a handout. There, as well as at banks and other private sources, the RFC must take into consideration that it is another guy's money they are lending, and the chances of getting it back should not be too risky.

This week we, or at least the banks, observe the birthday anniversary of Abraham Lincoln, February 12, and next week, the anniversary of the birth of George Washington, the "father of his country." Lincoln was said to have been the savior of his country. But to many of this day and time, we regard it as a fact well established, that both Washington and Lincoln had smooth sailing all during their administrations. Everything else but that, in the first place, let us remember there were lots of Tories and royalty sympathizers in the day of Washington, and when the new Republic was fighting for its very existence, these homespun aids to the English army and navy were a supreme headache. Then too, Washington was considered to be a rich planter in his own right, as well as the Curtis family from which his wife came. That fact did not set too well with some of the poorer people of that day and time. Then there was Lincoln, whose days and nights were full of trouble. His haters were not confined to the south, and all northern people did not call him "Honest Abe." In fact a lot of them called him names we could not print herewith, but among them was "fool" and "radical." While we of this time are prone to regard the story of the cherry tree in connection with Washington, and the "I cannot tell a lie" story, or that Lincoln was in youth just a rail splitter, without an enemy, we are far from the truth. Maybe if this republic continues to exist another hundred years or so, we shall come to regard a lot of our present generation of presidents something other than cheap chislers and grafters. We may even forget that a bad depression happened during Hoover's administration, just as one did during Cleveland's last administration. That Cal Coolidge was something other than a stingy Yankee; that FDR was something more than a boastful optimist who trusted too much in his friends and hated his enemies, or that HST is too little for his britches. A lot of us will not perhaps live to see that day. Some now living may see the change come on.

The writer happens to be in a position to see a lot of people make application to the Red Cross for aid. Many people perhaps think that little of this is practiced, and until recently we thought the same thing. And among those making application we find that many are really deserving and should be aided. Perhaps a woman with several children, whose husband is dead or who has deserted the family. Or two aged people, or perhaps not very old but appear to be ravaged by disease or undernourished. By every conceivable measurement, such should be helped. Then there is another bunch, some apparently in fine fettle of health, but just too doggone lazy to work, and think the government or society or both is due them a living, and should feed, clothe and educate their offsprings. And this class is not confined to white people; some are negroes, but so far we have not seen a Mexican make application. Generally speaking, negroes are very good about helping one another. This is especially true as regards small children left by negro parents. There is always, seemingly, an old negro mother or father, perhaps with several of their own brood to raise, but will take on an orphan negro child and bring them up to the very best of their ability. Whether or not the singsong that goes on at Washington about the "welfare state" is in any measure responsible, we would not know. But the continued harping about the government taking care of people from the cradle to the grave, could be bearing fruit. Especially is this idea true, when we remember that the whole country is prosperous, and this particular section has just finished gathering a bumper crop, and farmers and others were howling for help to gather it. But some that seem to be physically able to work, don't seem to be the least bit embarrassed to ask for Red Cross aid.

Many denials have been made by the administration forces that aid to public school education would mean that the federal government would dictate how they are to run or what they may teach. This also goes for aid to parochial or other denominational schools. But the facts refute this denial. In a ruling by the Supreme Court that body held: "the Federal Government has the right to regulate that which it subsidizes." Any farmer can tell you that without looking further. When they turn their crops over to be subsidized, they agree to let the government regulate not only the price, but also the acreage. This business falls right in line with the ideas of the new and fair deal, but a lot of their cohorts will strenuously deny it. When the government puts up money on individual, municipal or state undertakings it goes under federal control. As a close to home example, take our medical center here in Brownfield. The county and city have agreed on the plan, but some time in the indefinite future the federal government will tell us whether or not the plan suits them. If not, other plans will have to be made and the whole project resubmitted.

Let's see now? Does President Harry S. Truman practice hiring and firing without regard to race, creed, color or political affiliation? Does he trouble himself to hire a Republican when a Fair Dealer is available? No, sir, even if the fair dealer is less qualified for the particular job, he only has to tell Uncle Harry that he needs shoes for the baby, and he gets the job. Consistency, thou art a jewel. But a lot of good people are so sure that everything is on the square, that they'd believe the moon was cheese if Washington told them that it was.

At Tokio, They Let the Women Do the Work

While out week before last showing our nephew the oil fields in this area, along with cousin Phillip Rogers of the Valley community, we stopped in the little village of Tokio to coke up. It was Saturday, and the neighbors were in to trade. Mrs. D. E. Green said her husband was away on some business, and the whole sebang was left up to her.

That meant waiting on customers wanting drinks, cigars, etc., as well as groceries. Or maybe another wanted to see if he had any mail. In our time we have seen a few busy people, but don't think we ever saw one so on the jump-go, as was Mrs. Green. We helped ourselves to the coke in the cooler, but had to wait till she had time to take our money for the coke and cigars. We suggested she hobble D. E. at home, Saturdays. Anyway, the Greens are not doing bad with their business, and while they have to hit the ball, and hard at times, their customers are many and love to trade with them.

Citizen To Be 90 Years Old Sunday

Last week, we told you about Uncle Jimmy O'Connor celebrating his 94th birthday. He was born in or near Sparta, Tennessee in 1956. He loves people and likes to talk to them. He still sees the funny side of life as well as the serious and can enjoy a good chuckle. But this one we are talking about this week is made out of the same material that goes with a hearty pioneer. He is J. M. Noble at whose ranch and farm home the early settlers used to stop on stormy nights. They were always welcomed, fed and bedded down for the night.

The Noble family settled near the Lynn-Terry line way back before Terry was organized. His home was in Lynn, but part of the land extended over in Terry county. A few years ago after all the children had married and moved away, Mr. and Mrs. Noble purchased a home here on Tahoka road, near that of their son, Robert. Mr. Noble has been in poor health the past few years, but seems to be improving some now. Anyway, all the old timers are invited to call on Mr. Noble next Sunday. This will include people from Lynn, Terry, Yoakum, Lubbock, Dawson and perhaps other adjoining counties that knew him back when this was "home on the range."

He doesn't want his friends to bring presents. Just come, talk with him some, eat some cake and drink some coffee. And perhaps the afternoon would be better for himself as well as his callers. The Herald for best results!

Box Believes In Deep Breaking of Land

A. J. Box who now owns the old Leslie Green place on the old Lamesa road, was in last week to renew for another year, and stayed for a chat. The subject of deep breaking of our sandier soils was brought up and we found that Mr. Box not only is a convert, but that he practices what he preaches.

We had never been over the tract; just saw it from the road, and we was not aware that the south and west part was pretty sandy. That next the old Lamesa road, north and east of the tract, is fairly tight land for that section of the county. Box says the south part is pretty sandy. And he added, it had blown so badly that some in that area said it was worn out—no good any longer. That year, 1947, the land was deep broke and it made around 3-4 bale of cotton to the acre. Some made about a bale to the acre.

He is again breaking the land 10 or 12 inches deep, and says he is throwing up plenty clay that is still moist from the abundant October rains we had here. The place made a good crop last year, and if he gets a break with the Weatherman this year, Mr. Box hopes to repeat.

Pioneer Editor Passes

F. L. Wade, 74, pioneer west Texas editor, died at his home at Jayton, last week. He has been in poor health for some time. He was probably the oldest editor in point of age and service in west Texas. He began his newspaper career at Heber Springs, Ark., about 1900.

He once edited a paper at Coleman, Texas, and finally consolidated the two papers into the Democrat-Voice. He came to Jayton in the early twenties to form a partnership with his brother, and in a few years bought his brother's interest.

Two of the Wade boys, Farley and Robert were the first publishers of the Brownfield News. Both were brought up in print shops and we always found them very congenial competitors.

Quick Thinker

A farmer who lives in this general vicinity proved himself a quick thinker when a state gasoline tax rebate inspector surprised him while he was filling his automobile from a barrel of gasoline at his farm. When the inspector drove up and introduced himself, the farmer said to his son, who was assisting with the gasoline transfer, "Hurry, son, and get back to the field." The son, a pretty fast thinker, too, latched a section harrow onto the automobile trailer hitch and harrowed a piece of ground until the inspector left.—Abernathy Review.

Head hunting is said to have continued in the Balkan peninsula up to 1912.

For 1950, there's a new "228" with 95 horsepower, a new "248" with 110 and a new "270" with 120—new power for all light-medium models, 1/2 to 2 1/2 tons.

NEW COMFORT
For 1950, GMC light-medium cabs have wider seats, increased headroom, better insulation against dust and drafts, heat and cold.

NEW FEATURES
For 1950, light models have airplane telescoping type shock absorbers... all bodies have one-piece dust-proof floors... 2 1/2-ton models have optional air brakes.

NEW MODELS
For 1950, there's a new 1 1/2-ton 280 series, two new light weight six-wheelers and two new Diesel tractors of 45,000 and 55,000 lbs. gross combination weight.

The word is spreading—and fast—that light-medium GMCs for 1950 are the best buys in the whole light-medium field! There are plenty of reasons why. These new GMCs offer even better performance and greater economy than the quick-stepping, money-saving GMCs of the past. They're easier riding, easier driving... improved to provide more comfort for the driver, more profit for the owner on every score. Last, but far from least, they are products of the General Motors division that's the world's largest exclusive producer of commercial vehicles... that has, in addition to its own ultra-modern facilities, full access to the unparalleled GM research and proving operations that continually work to make "more and better things for more people."

Pan-Tech Officials Discuss Experiments

LUBBOCK, Feb. 17.—J. P. Smith, manager of Texas Technological college's Pan-Tech farm near Amarillo, has returned from a planning conference at Texas A & M college where experiments for the Panhandle agricultural plant were discussed.

Smith was accompanied by L. A. Maddox, animal husbandry man at Pan-Tech. Dean of Agriculture W. L. Stangel said the discussion included a possible research project on cross-breeding heifers, and another on breeding beef heifers.

Stangel also said Pan-Tech officials are planning on a service program for west Texas cattlemen which will find the type and gaining capability of calves. The test would involve calves sired by various bulls.

The Pan-Tech farm is located on the former site of the Pan-Tech Ordnance plant. The farm, valued at $17,000,000 was recently turned over to Texas Tech officials by the General Services Administration.

PHILADELPHIA IS FIFTH IN PHONES

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Quaker City, third largest in the nation as far as the census is concerned, ranks fifth in the list of towns with the most telephones.

Philadelphia has 696,027 telephones. New York is first with 2,768,567 followed by Chicago, Los Angeles and Detroit.

FOR NICE TRAFFIC OFFICERS—In Rome, the corner traffic policeman receives gifts even when the motorists haven't violated traffic rules. During Italy's traditional Epiphany celebration, thousands of bottles of wine and liqueurs, baskets of cakes and fruits are given to the traffic police by automobile drivers.

G. I. QUESTIONS and ANSWERS

Q—My husband, a World War I veteran, gets a pension and does not give me enough money to pay doctor bills. Could I get a part of his pension?

A—Pension will be apportioned only where the veteran and his wife are not living together. If you are living together, you may not be granted a part of his pension.

Q—Is it important for me to show that I have had experience in the line of business in which I am an applicant for a GI business loan?

A—It is important to show such experience because the law explicitly provides: "that ability and experience of the veteran, and the conditions under which he proposes to pursue such business or occupation are such, that there is reasonable likelihood he will be successful . . ."

Q—Will I have to go to VA for advisement and guidance in event I wish to change my educational course under the GI Bill?

A—To avoid possible delays, a veteran seeking to make his first change of course may go to his school for counseling service. If the school has no organized counseling service or if the student seeks to make further changes in his course after the initial change, he must go to VA for advisement and guidance.

Q—I was discharged from the Army four years ago and now wish to enter a course of embalming. What school may I attend and get the benefits provided by the GI Bill?

A—You may enroll in any school of embalming approved by the State in which the school is located, provided it is willing to accept you.

ONE-ARMED BANDITS GET SLUGS

GREAT FALLS, Mont.—(AP)—County Attorney R. J. Nelson recently ordered the release of two men held for using slugs in slot machines at a nearby town. He ruled no law covered their case.

Nelson said the statute against obtaining money by trickery came closest, but he decided it was intended to prevent obtaining money by trickery from another person. He said: "I don't believe it would cover a case in which a person obtained money from a machine by trickery."

Tee & Pee Freight Trains Made 10 mph

By Bob Burns

MARSHALL, Tex., Feb. 17.—(AP)—John Harter of Marshall celebrated his 99th birthday last month and is looking forward to the next one.

"I've had better health the last four or five years than I've had before, and I'm liable to be here next year," he said. "There's no telling."

Mr. Harter likes to listen to radio news programs, but he will have none of the soap operas.

He doesn't remember why he came to Texas, but he rode into Dallas in 1874 on the Texas and Pacific railroad and came to Marshall to work as a switchman and later as a baggage man for that railroad. Earlier he had driven an ox team for a Dallas brick yard.

Born in Steinfurt, Luxembourg, Harter came to the United States as a child. The voyage from Paris to New York took 60 days in a wooden sailing vessel. His family moved to Mineral Point, Wis., where Harter remembers being called "Jefferson Davis" because of his Southern sympathy. He led the "Rebels" against the "Yankees" in the town's snow fights.

When Harter first came to Marshall, it took 14 hours for a freight train to go from Marshall to Dallas.

"We never ran on schedule," he said. "When you got there, you were there, and that's all there was to it. We never ran much over 10 miles an hour."

He discontinued his railroad career to become a truck farmer and florist. He still gardens and will soon start getting his seed beds ready for tomatoes, turnips and carrots. He also raises chickens.

PHONY PAINTINGS TO BE SHOWN

ROME (AP)—Italy will treat art lover to a real exhibit of phony paintings. It's being organized by the Fine Arts division of the Education Ministry and will be held later this year.

A nation-wide appeal has been sent to all museum superintendents asking them to submit outstanding examples of falsification of the great masterpieces.

Of the total farms in the United States, about 70 per cent have electricity.

The Low Down From Hickory Grove

By Bob Burns

You know, in these days when so many windy gents are telling us of their devious but urgent ways of making our simple democracy complicated, I see an omen in the offing—a good omen. A good eyesight you have, says Henry. Don't slow me down, I says. I see writers—one who have been in the Fair or New Deal corner for years—beginning to show doubt. Some are wondering if we really can, after all, make everybody, bronze, black, or white, prosperous and happy via a motherly, coddling Govt. versus making prosperity and long time happiness depend upon a person's degree of desire to persevere.

This means to me, Henry, old boy, I says, that our present over-size Ship-of-State may be weakening at some of the seams—as some of the regular passengers are deserting and going ashore. And in quite hefty political circles, things are happening, too. Uncle Jimmy Byrnes is already on dry land—writers are putting 2 and 2 together. Jimmy, of all people, should know if the old boat is seaworthy or has become barnacle coated. That old Carolinian is no green pea.

And now Congress, sucking its thumb, and making half-hearted motions at getting Sambo weaned from his prodigal living, may be on the verge of getting hep. Looks half-way promising anyway—almost.

Yours with the low down,
JO SERRA

VACATION SNIPPED AND WHIFFED

LONG BEACH, Calif.—(AP)—There was talk of dismissing classes early at McKinley Elementary school. A motorist ran over a skunk.

Teachers slammed down windows and placed a rush call to the City Animal Shelter. The kids' vacation hopes died, however, when the valiant shelter custodian, Ralph Stone, one hand to his nose, shoveled the odoriferous remains into rear of his truck and sped off.

DOUBLE TROUBLE

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y.—(AP)—James Doyle was going to fly to New York City to see "South Pacific." But his two tickets to the musical show were stolen one night, and three nights later his two airplane tickets disappeared.

Stricklin Speaking

By Old He
Sunday's daily papers with a Memphis, Tenn., dateline, gave a story of a Church of Christ evangelist, who with a companion, had stopped at an eating place over at Arlington, Ky. They called for sausage and eggs. Well, the eggs were brought on their plates, but an additional platter had an abundance of sausage, another hot biscuits and a pound of country butter.

More hot biscuits were brought when needed. The cost? Fifty cents each. We have jotted down the name of that town. May be passing through there some of these days, when we get rich and retire.

It is foolish to explain, but may be wise to apologize sometimes.

We note that some paragraphs are weary of the word, "very," as it is used so much as a descriptive word. It is used, they say, is overworked in "very pretty," "very interesting," and many others. All we can say is all that stuff is "very" strange to us. And speaking of "very," we noted something very new to us this week. Here in Texas, we often note in cards of thanks, the undersigned will thank their friends for sympathy, food, flowers, and occasionally, the nurses and doctors who had the case.

Our old home town paper back there in Tennessee broke in with something of late, that goes even deeper than that. They thanked the undertaker, or as they now wish to be known, morticians. Of course some funny guy will try to see the ridiculous side and not the serious one of that new way.

And here's a new lamentation for the householders and consumers. While the paternalistic government has 100 million dollars worth of eggs stored in various places over the land, the bureaucrats now wall that the "fool hens are trying to lay their heads off." We might suggest that maybe it isn't the hens that are so foolish. In the meantime through the winter eggs have cost consumers in cities from 70c to 80c per dozen. Some able to buy didn't, as the eggs were considered to cost more than they were worth. Others were not financially able to buy them. Just another case of the Maine potato deal.

And now comes the Brannan plan. If the farmer fails to keep a record of his transactions, such as yields, storage and marketing, he can be fined $500. Our advice to the farmer is to hire a bookkeeper. It would be cheaper. But that's not half of it. If the farmer is found to have made a false record or report, he can be fined $1,000 and not more than one year in jail. All farmer organizations save one have come out against the Brannan plan. Of course the CIO and AFL are for it.

Now for a bit on the less serious side. A Spanish toast: "May you enjoy good health, have plenty of money, and have time to spend it."

They tell us that a lot of girls named Olive have changed it to Oliva, as they do not want to be taken for Popeye's girl friend.

Sometimes a book is slyly advertised as "naughty" to help sales that happen to be lagging.

And the right to work does not just imply freedom to do some labor that needs to be done, but might also carry the idea of ability to do the work well.

Sometimes even the family pup can give us a lesson. He gets affection because he puts some out.

You know that while having just 28 days except on leap years, little old February packs a wallop as a holiday month. Lincoln, Valentine and Washington. Our little girl friends, Jonelda and Becky down at Colorado Springs never forget Daddy Jack on many of the holidays. This time one came in for Valentine, with kind of a newspaper leaning, "My Valentine!" "I Love You," and "It pays to advertise."

Speaking of Valentine day reminds us that it is the birthday also of the Mrs. as well as the grandson, Jack T. Two others of the family have birthdays in Feb., the son-in-law and daughter-in-law. Four remembrances in the short 28 days.

Back to the more serious, the powers that be have authorized the production of the H-Bomb. With the possibility that a cold war may lead to a hot one, the same powers allow John L. Lewis, the dictator, to cause the nation's coal stock pile to dwindle to a pile of dust. It takes coal to make steel and steel enters the manufacture of many, many things we use in war or peace.

Columnar Lynn Landrum in the Dallas News rightfully suggests that JLL is not a labor leader, but an idleness leader—a foe of production.

The census bosses seem to have made a silly ruling this year. All students attending colleges are to be enumerated in the college towns, and not their home towns. The college towns wins, the home town loses.

Amarillo Got Tired of Nasty Headlines

For a long time Amarillo and the Panhandle section have grined and endured a series of slanders coming from north and central Texas in particular. Every time there was a cold spell on or in prospect, the downstate dailies would announce it with "Cold Blast Plagues the Panhandle," or "Amarillo Gripped by Raging Blizzard." So the Amarillo Globe-News just decided to do something about the matter.

After January was over, Amarillo just went to weather statistics for that city, and chose Dallas for the other end of the comparison. First, the G-N went back some three years and found that while Amarillo had one ice storm in that time, Dallas had five.

Then, it was found that Amarillo had 15 sky blue clear days in January, several partly cloudy, and one or two mornings a few drops of rain. The average temperature was a bracing 39 for the month.

On the other hand, Dallas was plagued by ice storms several days in January, that proved very destructive to property and costly in money.

We usually listen to WOAI at San Antonio at night for the newscast, and that station is just about as bad as north Texas in handing a lemon to the Panhandle-South Plains section. We remember last January that they'd tell about the frigid weather up here.

Fact of the matter is that the lowest thermometer went in Brownfield last winter was 12 above. One blizzard in January 1949 that missed us entirely, sent the mercury to one below at SA, and 5 below at Dallas.

It is time somebody took those forecasters to task. They just guess along with the weatherman what it is going to do out here, and let it go at that. In the meantime the nesters down there are listless and shiver, and say, "I'm not up there."

Specialist Addressed TC Council Members

Fifteen members were present for the Terry County Home Demonstration club council meeting held Saturday, Feb. 11.

Committee plans for the year were submitted and adopted by the council.

In a report given by the THDA chairman, it was stated that this district voted to aid the Wichita Falls Institute by sending materials for people there to work with, such as hand work and needs for every day living.

A suggestion was made that the group write to Congress, asking that parity prices on eggs and poultry products be raised from 50 per cent to 90 per cent of parity to parallel feed prices, which are now supported at 90 per cent.

As gardening is one of the projects this year, the group was interested to have Edward Bush, irrigation specialist with the Extension Service, speak to them.

Bush discussed irrigation on the farm and how women can irrigate effectively in their gardens. He suggested that gardens be listed in the fall of the year and wet down in February to a depth of three to four feet. Instruments made on the farm were shown by which the depth of moisture can be determined, he said.

Bush also explained the provisions made by the Underground Water Conservation Law. He stated that this law established the fact that the water under your land is yours and can be controlled only by you, and that through organization of irrigation districts, water can be conserved.

In discussing fertilizers and their value, Bush said that a small amount of nitrogen could be used very effectively if used properly. However, for the farm garden, he encouraged the use of barnyard manure. In concluding, Bush added that this material has a very high nitrogen content and is still the best fertilizer known.

After the talk by Bush, the members enjoyed a number of colored slides showing irrigation systems on the farm.

Texas Laws Made To Protect Criminals, Not Taxpayers

We are told by those who attended the criminal case last week that the hands of the jurors were tied in handing out justice to the three men who stole a car at gun point. It is pointed out that the law was on the side of the criminals.

That is just what we have been pointing out time and time again throughout the years: The criminal laws of Texas are written for the protection of the criminals and not for the protection of the people.

The level headed lawyers, who see the trend toward mauling the criminals, are awake to the necessity of tightening the criminal laws and putting back the teeth which have been skillfully extracted from the laws by the experienced criminal defendant lawyers of the state.

The News recently published a series of illustrations from a district attorney, who pointed out the absurd position of the law in criminal cases. Perhaps the legislature, in passing the laws, did not mean to go so far as virtually turning the criminals loose, but the sympathetic interpretation of the laws by the courts are writing the criminal which predominate the intent of the legislature.

It's a mess; a terrible mess, and will continue to grow worse unless the people speak and take things in hand.—Canyon News.

All Up In the Air About Stromboli

From what we can gather from the papers, dailies we mean, the folks all over Texas and perhaps all over America for all we know are up in the air about an Italian movie that is to be released soon. The name of the picture is Stromboli, whatever that means. It's both Greek and Latin to us, the meaning, that is.

Down at Abilene several thousand church people, especially of the Protestant denominations, signed a petition last Sunday, asking that the one theatre there that was scheduled to show the picture in question, not do so. The manager of the theatre had agreed to postpone the venture.

It all came about of course from the much publicity of a former Swedish-American actress that had been delivered of a son without the formality of wedlock. The question raised, it seems to us, is not the merit or demerit of the picture in question, but the morals of the leading actress and the owner and director of the picture.

The Herald is no critic of pictures. We quit them when they were introduced. They all talked in a brogue that to us, was hard for an old Texan to understand, so we quit. The last picture we saw, was a complimentary preview of the Woodrow Wilson picture. So you may guess how often we attend the movies.

But it seems to us that if the picture itself is meritorious, we should at least allow other folks to see it who think they will not be contaminated by seeing it. Sometimes books are banned because the publishers purposely advertise they are very risqué.

Even if Stromboli is shown here, we have no idea we'll see it, or even ask if they married and lived happily ever after.

Our reason for the above is freedom of action. We believe that a bunch of Protestant Texans should be allowed to preach in Catholic Italy. At the same time we believe Catholics should be allowed religious liberty in Protestant West Texas.

A. C. Finley of Rt. 1, Meadow, dropped in Saturday to get his paper straightened out for 1950. Also another good Meadow reader, Mrs. I. A. Longley handed in her two bucks to keep the Herald headed her way.
