Had a nice letter recently from Congressman George Mahon concerning the Italian work of the local Church of Christ and others. He expressed himself as being pleased that he was able to render aid in helping to get the visas renewed. That is our George Mahon out and out. While he is a member of some other church, he is just the kind of sport that believes that all should be treated alike, and can't see that one certain church should try to hog the field. That is Americanism. According to the last issue of the Frascati Orphans' Home paper, both US Senators, Tom Connally and Lyndon Johnson, along with two other west Texas congressmen other than Mr. Mahon, Omar Burleson of Anson and Ed Gossett of Wichita Falls, all seem to be pleased as the churches concerned, that the visas have been renewed until December 31, at least. In the meantime, work should be started looking toward permanent visas for the workers, so that this kind of a headache will not have to be gone over periodically. And this goes for all other church workers in Italy. It appears that it is much easier to get permanent visas before going over than later. But some persuaded the workers from the local church and others, that it would be no trouble to get permanent visas after reaching Italy. Evidently the advisers did not know that country.

Gibb Gilchrist, who heads the American Cancer Society drive in Texas, says that the funds of the society are being greatly augmented by individuals and clubs in the state who have lost members of the family or a club by cancer. When these crusades are on, many folks send in sizable funds in memory of a loved one who was carried away by this with the Iron Curtain countries, and perhaps Satan would fire off their lying and yelling blasts at other nations and members. People who will attack an unarmed plane of a supposed friendly nation, kill all the occupants and then lie about the matter, are not the people we feel any civilized country can deal with.

A president of a national retailers association recently spoke on "Retailing Today and Tomorrow." Like many other good Americans whose business might be termed a "one horse affair," the speaker was getting a bit chilled by the constant butinsky of the government in his private affairs, with more and more regulations, taxes and controls. He, as well as perhaps most of his hearers want this nation to remain as always, going on the principle of producing more and selling for less. We have, he said, the production, if the government will let it alone. Constant meddling by the government not only discourage manufacturing and distribution, but also those with some money to invest. The speaker related that the merchants' business was not complete when he got his store stocked with goods the people want, then make his sales. A large part of the job is to defend the principles, the modern merchant, those before him, as well as those of the future, have operated under since colonial times. It is going to be a constant fight to keep those who do not have an iota of knowledge of your business from trying to tell you how to run it.

Chemists have recently come up with a vaccine for rabies that is not only considered far more effective than the old vaccine, but will immunize much longer than the old remedy, which was itself quite potent. The new vaccine has been developed in the Lederle laboratories from the embryo portion of the egg. Rabies has of course been known for ages, but seemed to effect dogs more than other animals or humans. But of recent years one hears of rabies among foxes and wolf packs. The disease used to be commonly referred to as hydrophobia. The reason being that dogs seemed to develop fits more when they saw or started to drink water. Then that old one about dogs having rabies more in hot weather than cold, has been exploded. There is no rabies season, according to the best medical authority. Then, in our childhood, there was a "madstone" in our community. You know that rabies dogs used to be "mad-dogs," and thus the madstone. There were people even then who questioned the virtue of the madstone, but we have heard such people say they'd get to that madstone as soon as possible if bitten by a mad-dog. Now this madstone was supposed to stick on the bitten place for several hours from a mad-dog bite,

Another Shoulder to the Wheel

and for 30 minutes for a bee sting, and much longer on spider bites. But times have changed the thinking back there. The folks informed us a few years ago that some one was bitten by a black widow spider and depended on the madstone instead of modern penicillin or other modern methods. He lived, but the place rotted out. And, giving the local veterinarian a little spot, we would advise the reader who has a valuable dog, or one he thinks a lot of, to see Dr. Klofanda and have the pup vaccinated.

Great minds run in the same channel, or words to that effect. When we wrote our editorial last week, we had little idea that at about the same time the West Texas County Judges Association in convention assembled at El Paso, were hewing along the same log. They submitted to this and other papers a set of resolutions in which they seriously condemn these huge, overloaded trucks that are mauling our highways to pieces faster than we can build them. In their resolution, they refer to these trucks as "speeding monsters" and state that they are causing a lot of needless wrecks. In the meantime, according to the CJ association, the people are in need of more highway building, but it takes all the funds they can get to keep in repair damaged highways. In this connection, the CJA asserts that there are only 32 Weight Inspectors, who go in pairs for the 33,645 miles of highways. They collected in fines last year the huge sum of $339,383.03, which more than takes care of their expenses. The association is calling for more inspectors. In the meantime, they state that our secondary roads, F-M, etc., are taking bad poundings from overweight trucks. They also ask that the highway department go slow on issuing permits for oversize and overheavy trucking. In conclusion they say that the motoring public should bear in mind at all times that the "for hire" for use of our highways is a privilege and not a right. The above information came to us from the president of West Texas County Judges and Commissioners Association, Judge Otha F. Dent, of Littlefield, who is the county judge of Lamb county.

Doggone Our Unlucky Hide Anyhow

The only thing we ever drew at a giveaway affair was down in Johnson county. It was a baby rocking chair, and we were just a young and single guy. This all happened at a medicine show one night in the opera house. We got no end of laughs from the assemblage. The Jr. Editor of this sheet got the fat steer at the Jaycee giveaway April 22. The steer weighed in at 830 pounds. The Seesightea editor furnished us the tickets. The Old He had Nos. 912 and 914. The Young He held 913, and it got the calf. But Gee Gee denies that she was partial. If she'd aknowed, she stated, she'd have issued 913 to one Gee Gee Privitt. As somebody said one time, it is better to be born lucky than rich.

Warning: Dynamite! More News On New Cotton Legislation

The persistent campaign that is being made for federal aid to the public schools is being promoted by two apparently conflicting organizations, the Roman Catholic church and the Communistic element of our population. The Catholic leaders maintain that in fact the education of the child is not a proper function of the Government, but is the function of the Church, by which they mean the Roman Catholic church only. They are openly seeking Government funds for the transportation of children to the Catholic parochial schools, for the purchase of text books and for the payment of teachers. In many sections of our country where they dominate, they are teaching the doctrines of their church to the children in the public schools. It is their purpose with the aid of federal funds, to make it legal to teach Catholicism in the public schools to the end that eventually they may make America a Catholic country. They would destroy the good old American doctrine of the Separation of Church and State. They want a union of Church and State with the Church dominating the state.

On the other hand, the Communists are using the labor unions, Negro organizations, and even some of the great church organizations to induce the Federal Government to grant aid to the public schools to the end that in the course of time the said Government shall control the public schools and abolish segregation of the races in the public schools and everywhere else. The abolishment of all segregation laws and all race discrimination laws is one of the chief aims of Communism. They want to compel the white children to sit with colored children in the schools and they hope that eventually they may thereby be able to bring about social equality and Every Texas cotton grower is entitled to request a review of his 1950 farm cotton acreage allotment under terms of new legislation recently passed by the Congress. Under the new procedure, applications for the review supported by factual evidence in writing, are filed with the PMA county committee. The review will be conducted by special review committees of farmers who are not members of the county PMA committee which set the original allotment.

Here's what you do if you think your allotment has not been properly determined. Apply for an adjustment of your allotment to the minimum provided by the new law. This minimum is 65 percent of the average acreage considered as planted to cotton on the farm in 1946, 1947 and 1948 or 45 percent of the highest acreage considered as planted to cotton on the farm during these three years. Now, after you receive your revised notice for the county PMA committee you will have 15 days to file for a review. Your PMA office has forms to be used to request the minimum allotment and to file for a review. B. F. Vance, state PMA committee chairman explains that the minimum allotments provided by the new legislation, are based largely on planting history on the farm.

Chamber Commerce Making Local Brief

A sixteen page brief on Brownfield and Terry county is being prepared in three colors for distribution by the Brownfield Chamber of Commerce, according to Wayne (Red) Smith, manager of the chamber of commerce. Smith says that some ten to fifteen requests for data on Brownfield and Terry county are received in his office each week. Requests come from all over the country, he said.

The new brief will be ready for distribution in the near future, according to Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Thompson of Route 1 attended a piano recital given by their daughter in O'Donnell Tuesday.

ROTAN MAN DIDN'T TAKE OVER CLAIMMONT

Mrs. Beulah Page of Jayton, former nurse at the local hospital, was a visitor here last week. She stated that her mother was very poorly. She is 80 and her dad is 83 years of age. Her dad is still very active.

She stated that oil was the talk in day time, and the dream at night of the people at Jayton and Clairmont. She gave us a bit more information about the guy from Rotan that stepped in to claim the Clairmont townsite. But he seemingly backed down, stating he had the wrong abstract.

Good wells are now spouting the black gold in a mile of the townsite, so all questionables are headed for Clairmont. We have heard that this was not the first time the fellow tried such a deal.

National Health Week Observed In School

was observed April 2-9 at Phyllis Wheatley school, according to C. R. Tucker, principal.

The students went all out with a clean-up campaign. They were divided into teams, and worked together towards improved sanitation in the homes in that section of town.

This was another step in the health program that has gone on in the school throughout the year. Mrs. Irene Griffith, Terry county health nurse, gave vaccinations and inoculations against communicable diseases. She also distributed literature on health education.

National Negro Health week has been observed for 36 years over the country, Mr. Tucker said. "Only two percent of the students were absent because of illness last year," Mr. Tucker commented, "and we feel that this is partly a result both of our observance of health week, and of Mrs. Griffith's visits to our school."

Guy Kirkland Home Scene of Dinner

Mrs. Josie Crossland of Gould Busk, Texas, was honored with a dinner Tuesday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Kirkland.

Fried chicken dinner was served.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Guy Kirkland, Vivien, Ben, and Charlotte Don, Miss Laura Little, E. H. Crossland, Mrs. Scott Dalton, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Landess, Mrs. Georgia Kirkland of Lamesa, Mrs. Mary Carriger of Meadow, Billy Jack Crossland of Gould Busk, and the honored guest.

CHARLOTTE KIRKLAND WAS PARTY HONOREE

Miss Charlotte Don Kirkland was honored last Friday afternoon with a party from 4 until 5:30 p.m.

Outdoor games were played and each guest was given a balloon.

Hostesses were Miss Laura Little, Miss Lavelle Rinn, Mrs. Allen Tucker, Mrs. Guy Kirkland, Mrs. Tom Kiser, Mrs. Sallie Landess and Mrs. Louise Smith.

Home made candy, cookies and cold drinks were served to 50 guests who registered.

Mrs. Sam Kirschner is attending market in New York City for the Brownfield Bargain Center.

Fascinating Fashions By Judy Seaton

Almost every mother will agree little girl clothes are such fun to plan and shop for. And now with summer in the offing young mothers can choose from an even wider variety of attractive clothes for youngsters. These days, play togs for children are as functional as they are good looking; fashioned of sturdy, long-wearing fabrics, they will stand up to many mud-pie sessions. A modern mother can assemble daughter's complete summertime wardrobe from pretty, practical cottons that take to laundering like a duck to water.

Blonde little Robin Morgan is a good choice to model children's fashions, for her poise and vivacity are outstanding. Eight-year-old Robin plays the part of Dagmar, the youngest Hansen daughter, in the popular CBS television drama, "Mama." Like any other well-established actress, Robin has very definite ideas about her clothes. She's an intensely feminine little girl, yet her busy life requires a wardrobe that is flexible and practical.

Robin recently made a trip to her birthplace, Lake Worth, Florida, where she was guest of honor at the dedication of a lavish new playground. One of the biggest thrills of the jaunt was the chance to relax on the sunny sands of Florida. "I love my new bathing suit," beams Robin, "it's so stylish—just like Mummy's — and the elastic around my middle makes it fit perfectly all the time!"

Robin's mother, too, has definite ideas about the upbringing of her talented child, and has resolved not to spoil Robin or to give her false ideas about herself. "Robin's clothes are just what any active youngster her age wears," she says. "Robin always loves to put on the early 1900 costumes she wears in 'Mama,' but she is even more interested in her own personal wardrobe.

Robin's well-rounded summer wardrobe will include several pairs of dungarees for playing, two bathing suits, a beach coat, and three or four simple sun dresses. Sturdy play shoes or sandals underfoot complete the summer clothes plans. "And don't forget my hair ribbons," warns Robin, "Each summer I have a whole new collection!"

HARDWOOD HIGHWAY—Workmen are "hard-surfacing" a mile-long road from US Highway 90 to a new oilfield in the marsh- es near Orange, Tex. Thick oak boards laid on top of a roadbed dredged out of the marsh will bear the weight of big trucks and machines to be moved in to develop the oil field. The hardwood highway is being constructed by Ohio Oil Co., which discovered the new field. (AP Wirephoto)

Experience May Not Mean Safety

It may surprise you to learn that experience can be dangerous and even deadly.

Statistics compiled by the Travelers Insurance companies show that 97 per cent of last year's traffic accidents were caused by drivers with at least one year's experience.

Learning how to drive is relatively easy. The mechanics of driving become second nature soon after a student "slogs." At this critical point, attitudes begin to take over. The super caution of the beginner is diluted by an ever-increasing confidence based on experience. And, with too many drivers, caution is ultimately replaced by indifference and carelessness.

The skill of experience can sometimes get you out of trouble on the highway. But the chances are your over-confidence, your indifference got you into the trouble in the first place. The moral is clear and urgent. Those of us who are experienced drivers must also be humble drivers.

Brother of Local Man Is Claimed

Funeral services were conducted April 20 in Muskogee, Okla., for Harry Kirschner, 75. He was the brother of Sam Kirschner of Brownfield.

Active in religious circles, Kirschner was a well known Oklahoma business man. He had been in ill health for several years.

Survivors other than his brother include two sons and two granddaughters.

Sam Kirschner was unable to attend his brother's funeral, but Mrs. Kirschner and Mr. and Mrs. Martin Kirschner of Lubbock attended.

JAMES JONES GETS PROMOTION IN NAVY

James N. Jones, USN, of Route 2, Brownfield, has been advanced to electrician's mate, third class, while serving with the Industrial Department at the Naval Operating Base, Guam, M. I.

Before entering the Navy, Jones attended Brownfield high school.

Chamber of Commerce News

Local C of C Urges Armed Forces Aid

The Brownfield Chamber of Commerce is cooperating with other chambers, trade associations and the Chamber of Commerce of the United States in urging full support by employers of the current civilian reserve recruiting program for the U.S. Armed forces.

The importance of these civilian reserves is pointed up in a letter received today by president A. M. Muldrow of the Brownfield chamber from National Chamber President Herman W. Steinkraus.

Praising past efforts of employers throughout the nation in support of these reserves, Mr. Steinkraus observed that in many cases the civilian components of the Army, Navy, Air Forces and Marine Corps have not been entirely successful in obtaining the needed recruits.

"They need your help, and I urge your cooperation with the local commands to aid them in building their required strength," he stated, emphasizing the following salient facts:

1. The men in these reserves are to be highly trained, serving on a voluntary basis. Together with the professional establishment, the reserves will become the nucleus of our fighting strength in a national emergency.
2. These civilian reserves need to be strengthened, particularly by enlisted men who should be urged to join.
3. Our traditional national security policy relies on strong organized citizen forces which make possible armed forces of a minimum size consistent with national defense.
4. The only other alternative would be the maintenance of a professional peacetime armed force of far greater size than our nation has known heretofore.

Gomez HD Club Met With Mrs. Harkins

The Gomez Home Demonstration club met Thursday, April 27, at the home of Mrs. Allan Harkins.

During a business meeting plans were made for a pie supper and candidate speaking to be held at the Gomez school auditorium Friday, May 5, at 8 o'clock. It was decided that the club would serve coffee and punch free of charge at the pie supper.

Refreshments were served to Mrs. Jack Mason, Alton Webb, J. C. Wooley, W. M. Wooley, Lowell Stephens, W. R. Schofield and Mrs. Charles Barrett, a new member, and the following visitors: Mrs. Lee Farmer, Mrs. M. O. Simpson, Mrs. H. O. Singletary and Mrs. Lula Singletary.

Sensational Singer To Appear in Texas

Ljuba Welitch, reigning soprano of New York's Metropolitan Opera Company, will make her first American operatic tour this spring. Her only appearance in the Southwest will be in Dallas Saturday night, April 29, singing "Tosca" at State Fair Auditorium. Mme. Welitch, who came to this country a year ago, has been hailed as the most sensational new musical discovery of this generation. Other operas in the Dallas Metropolitan season will be "The Elixir of Love," Friday night, April 28; "Faust," Saturday matinee, April 29; and "Samson and Delilah," Sunday matinee, April 30.

NEW WEEKLY IS STARTED IN LAMESA

A new weekly newspaper, the Free Press, began publication in Lamesa May 4, owner and publisher George O. Smith announced recently. The weekly is published each Thursday and distributed on Friday mornings, Smith said. Smith, a World War II veteran, was formerly shop foreman of the Lamesa Daily Reporter, a morning publication. Smith's father, the late J. W. Smith, was owner and publisher of the weekly Lamesa Reporter here for 20 years.

Lou Buckley of Big Spring were married there last Friday night. They will be at home on a farm south of Tokio.

Pyeatt a Constant Reader for 30 Years

Was over at the County Clerk's office one day last week on some other business, and casually whispered to the clerk, H. M. "Dube" Pyeatt that his dearly beloved wife, Virgie, was threatening a separation suit if he did not drop two bucks in the hopper for another year of the Herald. Dube paid off and got reminiscent.

He stated that he began taking the Herald as a single young man soon after returning from business in Europe with the old 36th Division. He was given a job with the old First State Bank at Plains, as cashier. R. M. Kendrick had moved to Brownfield and established the First National here. But what we started out to do was tell how Dube came by that name.

Along back about 1909-10, when Hugh was in high school, in order to keep a bit of spending money, he slung hash at the old Hill Hotel. These days an officer of the Social Security would have stepped in. "Noworkada keeds." At that time there was a very cranky old ranchman who would come in from his ranch in northwest Terry. The name is another matter.

Anyway, Hugh M. was generally known as "Dude" not "Dube" then. And as we remember, he was a fair looking young squirt. But the old ranchman sat around in the lobby, and frequently had to answer the phone, most of the calls in those good old days being one of Dude's sweeties. (Hope Virgie don't read this.) Like the writer, the old gentleman was a bit hard of hearing, and misunderstood the name.

He would yell loud enough to be heard over at Gomez, "Dube that confounded little old gal wants you on the phone again." Thus Dude was changed to Dube.

COTTON PLANTING IS SPEEDY WITH MACHINES

A cotton farmer, with a tractor and two-row planter like the one shown here, can plant five times as many acres in a day as he formerly could with mule-drawn equipment. The mechanical planter opens the furrow, drops seed at regular intervals, and covers the seed with dirt. The majority of the 23,000,000 acres of cotton in cultivation last year was planted with tractor-powered equipment.

Rev. Brian Off for Baptist Convention

Rev. Alfred A. Brian, until recently pastor of the First Baptist church here, but presently vice-president of Howard-Payne college, Brownwood, dropped in briefly Tuesday. He handed us a bit of literature about the fine college he is working for, and invited us to call on him when in Brownwood. In fact, he said he'd like to escort us on a tour of the college and campus.

Rev. Brian is on his way to the Southern Baptist convention at all places—Chicago. Yes, sir brother, you're reading the correct dope. This is the first convention of the Southern Baptists to be held in the Windy City, or anywhere that far north in a blue moon. But here's the pitch. Rev. Alfred stated that Southern Baptist convention now has more than 600 churches north of the Mason-Dixon line, and this convention is to encourage their brethren in the north.

The sound effects engineer on "Father Knows Best," the lively NBC domestic comedy, in which Robert Young stars, almost lost the cast the other night. The script called for the sound of an exploding cigar, the foible of a practical joker. But the soundman got too enthusiastic and his explosion turned out to be a blast that sounded more like a bomb than a bursting stogie—Cast and orchestra managed to reassemble some minutes later, shaken but game!

The dramatic NBC serial, "Portia Face Life," has just celebrated its twelfth anniversary — and the show's star, lovely Lucille Wall, and its producers, have learned that an unusually large percentage of their listening audience have been celebrating each anniversary from its inception.

The show, which deals with the triumphs and tribulations of a typical American woman in a modern world, has introduced into the script so many realistic problems—and their solutions, that listeners have often been helped in solving their own problems.

On MBS's pint-size quiz show, "Juvenile Jury" the other Sunday afternoon, large-size (six foot) Jack Barry, the m.c., was invited by a small, four-year-old guest to visit at her home. Said the little girl succinctly, "My balloon got stuck in the light on the ceiling and my Daddy isn't home to take it down."

Fran Lafferty, pretty brunette actress who plays the siren, Blanche Weatherby, on CBS's "Rosemary," was hurrying away from the studio the other noon hour after a broadcast, when a cast member stopped her in the lobby for a word. Autograph hunters stood around watching each person who came out, and Fran could hear them speculating about her. Fran, a tiny person, looked like a little girl, her black hair in two tight pigtales. "That girl's voice sounds like Blanche Weatherby," one of the autographers said hopefully. "Oh, no," exclaimed the other, "Why Blanche is a siren!"

Hail! Hail! To the Loop, Texas Girls

Courtesy of Miss Veta Day of the Loop, Texas, school, the Herald has a report of how the Loop girls wiped up on a large number of other schools at the Bluebonnet Belle Relays at San Angelo, Saturday. The clipping along with the pictures of three of these very pretty high school girls, was taken from the Standard-Times in its Sunday morning April 30, edition.

It is no wonder these girls did so well, as Loop is just over the Terry line in old Gaines, and we'll bet all these girls come to Brownfield a lot to buy stuff. Of course a San Angelo gal was elected and crowned the Queen, being that was the location of the contest.

But according to the Standard Times "the Loop girls laced up on relays, and carried away the bulk of the trophies." From left to right in the picture was the Queen, Miss Joyce Matthews of San Angelo; next Barbara Connell, Loop, with trophy for high point girl; third, Merriethel Hunt, captain of the Loop squad, holding championship trophy, and fourth is Annie Tate, holding the sportsmanship award.

To W. H. Carder, coach of the Loop girls, will of course go much of their creditable showing, but the makings of champions are not in all persons despite their coach. It will be remembered however, that Carder coached the Union girls to a championship at the Bluebonnet Relays a few years ago.

NEW WRECKING YARD OUT ON PLAINS ROAD

Been seeing a new building under way out on the Plains highway, and have wondered what it was for. It is quite a large sheet-iron building and is about a block off the highway on the cemetery road. The floor is concrete, and there is worlds of shelving for parts.

The owner, Mr. Neal, informed us that he had a wrecking yard elsewhere in the city, but the surroundings became quite crowded, and he decided to build on two acres he purchased where he'd have plenty room. He is removing the rocks and making the premises attractive.

By the way, when the cutoff is built through there from the Levelland road to connect with the Seagraves road this year, this paved road will pass by his place, and we understand that quite a few new businesses will go in, especially near the juncture with 380.

ALL WORKERS GET VISAS EXTENDED

News reached here last week that all the Church of Christ workers and missionaries in Italy had their visas extended until December 31. In the meantime, we understand work will go on as usual, and concerted effort will be made to get permanent visas.

Some time ago Harold Paden was invited by the people around Milan, in north Italy, to come up there and teach them the Bible. He readily got his visa extended up there, as northern Italy is not so dominated by the church-state.

Luncheon Scoops

by Wendy Warren

"Discipline is the most important working habit a writer can cultivate," remarked George Keane and I could see I'd found a kindred soul in the lean, handsome actor who plays Bill Roberts on the CBS daytime drama, "Rosemary."

We were having lunch at a little French restaurant, Le Moal, over on Third Avenue, and I had been asking George about his hobbies — of which he has a whole slew. But when he told me that he writes, we settled right down for a comfortable chat about the joys and hazards of the literary life.

An alert, highly receptive personality, George seems always on the verge of gaiety, even when he's most serious — but under the surface, he is a level-headed, down-to-earth young man, who takes a realistic attitude towards the acting profession — and feels definitely that his creative joys more than make up for its many problems. "I've played Bill Roberts for five years now," George told me, "and during that time I've been in television, on Broadway and have done a great many other acting chores, but I think I've gotten rather fond of Bill."

"Well," I suggested, "You do have something in common. Your wife!"

George Keane and Betty Winkler, who is "Rosemary," have been married for over two years now, and are currently absorbed in fixing up a new apartment. Betty has a smooth know-how with interior decorating details — and George is a skillful amateur carpenter, so that this is no chore to either of them.

As George and I came along Third Avenue to the restaurant, we had passed a colorfully garbed, very elderly woman, who seemed to embody all the legend of that legendary part of Manhattan, and George had been so clearly entranced with her, that I asked him if his stories were usually concerned with character, rather than plot.

"Yes," he said, with a twinkle, "definitely! In fact, that was my main trouble at the start. I always had plenty of interesting people in my stories—but they never seemed to be organized for teamwork."

Now, though, he is learning to master the plot which stems from character—and thus utilize one of his best writing assets—his deep interest in people. He and Betty love company and like to have their apartment filled with good conversation and congenial friends as often as their busy schedules allow.

George Keane

Rev. A. A. Brian of Brownwood, former minister of the First Baptist church here, visited here for a few days this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Hemby of Texas City visited her mother, Mrs. M. T. Lindlye, and sons for a few days this week. They were enroute home from a vacation in Wisconsin.
