Kenneth (Tasty Cream) Williams has a lot to learn about this business of being a tail-twister for the local Lions Club. Either that, or he's playing dumb in order to outsmart the foxes which seem to abound in the local organization.

The boys gave Kenneth a rough time Thursday evening, and cheated him at every opportunity. They had their dry bean hookshots working to perfection so that Kenneth found it almost impossible to tell where they were coming from.

Also, when he fined them for misconduct, they would feign to drop in a dime, hit the bucket with a resounding clang, and for all he knew, the Lions treasury was ten cents richer—which it wasn't.

Kenneth fined the wrong Lion for button stealing, much to the enjoyment of all watching members, and sat motionless through the biggest night of "buddy" swapping there's ever been.

Once, he even let a deft-fingered member slip a piece of silverware in one of his back pockets, and then had to stand the embarrassment of being accused of carrying off the property.

He did catch one Lion napping, though. Charles Scapes sang out "George Jones" when asked who his buddy was. Kenneth leapt to his feet in righteous wrath and shouted, "Oh no you don't. He's MY buddy!"

Take hope, fainting taxpayer. Lyndon Johnson, in his Washington Newsletter this week, hints that budget cuts are going to be an actuality: "We have continued to make cuts in the president's budget. Most of the important appropriation bills have been passed. Some are in conference between the senate and the house."

"If we split the difference in appropriation bills in conference, total cuts in the budget to date are $4,445,000,000. Even that includes only the reduction made in the foreign aid authorization bill. Further cuts are expected in the actual appropriation bill."

The foolishness and false economy of having part-time state legislators, who are expected to normally meet only every other year, is pointed up again this week by the announcement that the $400 raise given Texas teachers will require the state to dig up another $6,000,000 during the next two years to meet the accelerated needs for the teacher retirement fund.

Politicians (as compared with statesmen) are bad enough, but politicians in a hurry are three times worse. They pushed the patchwork legislation through without so much as a thought about where the money is supposed to come from.

We are ready to jump on the first bandwagon that comes along which offers to rid the state of the outmoded system of making laws it now has.

You've heard it said, "You pretty well get what you pay for." Texans are getting lots of things they DON'T pay for because of their obstinacy concerning hiring competent, full-time legislators.

Special Aid Offered Disabled

Complete and permanent invalids and persons in the community so mentally deranged that they require continuous oversight to keep them from harming themselves or others may soon be able to receive small monthly checks from the State Department of Public Welfare through the new state-federal program of aid.

The state constitutional amendment, which was adopted by the voters in November, 1956, limiting the amount of money that can be appropriated for this program to $1.5 million per year, makes aid possible only to those who are helpless and have no relatives able to support them.

Wade H. Felps, welfare supervisor for this area, pointed out this is the only welfare program which requires consideration of the ability of relatives to support. This law defines "responsible relatives" as children, parents, step-children, step-parents, brothers and sisters.

The "permanency" and "totality" of the disability will be determined by a state reviewing physician after study of a complete physical or mental examination by the person's own private physician. Complete helplessness from a medical standpoint, rather than inability to work, is the criteria. The state will pay the private physician for his examination.

Funds for assistance payments will not be available until September 1, 1957, but applications will be taken after July 15, 1957. While the helpless individual will not be able to leave home, the persons responsible for his care may come to the local welfare office and acquaint the department with his situation. A field worker will then call at the home

Ed Massey Installs Swimming Pool At Edge of Town

A swimming pool intended for public use is being constructed near Friona.

"Completion is expected to be sometime this week," according to the builder, Ed Massey of Friona.

Construction of the pool started last week and excavation of the hole, setting of forms, and concrete pouring followed rapidly. The pool is being built on the east of Highway 60 near the "loop" road intersection.

The pool is to be 30 feet wide and 50 feet long. It is to have water seven feet deep for half the length of the pool, 13 feet of water from two to seven feet deep, and water two feet deep for 12 feet.

"The pool is intended for the public to use," Massey says.

During the first part of the pool's operation, those who want to use it may come to the pool already wearing swimming clothes since dressing rooms will not be available. Massey proposes to charge 30 cents for children and 60 cents for adults admission fee.

Water will be piped to the pool from a well near Massey's home, about 200 yards distant.

Water will be chlorinated and changed at frequent intervals, Massey says.

"I have had a notion to build a swimming pool for some time, and am just now getting around to it," he says. "I sure think it will be a good thing for the area."

Massey figures the cost of building the pool will be approximately $5,000. This includes only the pool itself, without the additional facilities of dressing rooms and filtration plant which may be added later.

Also in the plans for the swimming pool are other recreation and amusement facilities. Among these are a miniature golf course, a driving range for golf, and a drive-in refreshment center.

Compared to the site of Herford's public swimming pool, Massey's pool will be 30 x 50 while the one at Herford is 25 x 60. The pool is to have two diving boards at the deep end, and later, if the present pool proves a financially sound operation, a deeper pool will be built east of the present one, Massey says.

Young Men Tried In County Court

A hunch paid off for Sheriff Chas. Lovelace Saturday morning, which led to the arrest of two young men for theft of a gasoline motor and other items from the H. W. Hardage place in Oklahoma Lane.

Edward Ortiz and Napoleon Lopez of Clovis were tried in Judge A. D. Smith's county court and fined $50 and costs and given a six-day jail sentence. The theft occurred Friday night.

Asked how he happened to get a lead on the men, Lovelace said they had been working in the county and he had a hunch he should check on them.

Miss Vera Ann Jones, who was teacher in Borger Schools last year, reports she has accepted a job as speech teacher in Hobbs, N. M., schools beginning next fall.

She has been living with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Jones, since Borger schools closed, but will begin further work next week at the University of Colorado.

Leaving Saturday, she will be accompanied by Lois Norwood of Friona and Marie Beck of Plainview.

Miss Norwood is going on the trip during her vacation.

QUITS CITY WORK

Wilbert Varner has ended his employ with the city and begun work with Massey Bros. Drilling Co. His leaving reduces the number of city employees to seven.

Pool Meeting Moved

Executive members of the Friona Swimming Pool Association last week decided to postpone the general meeting of the board of directors and committees until August and continue with the present program of fund raising, reports Bill Sheehan, secretary.

The Association finance committee will continue to try for donations in communities in the area, and in Friona. A record of donors and amounts is being kept and donations will be returned if a pool cannot be built by next year, Sheehan says.

"We are doing this in order to keep donors from hesitating because they fear funds may lie idle two or three years," Sheehan says. "Also, we are working on plans to reward donors, but do not as yet have definite plans for the manner of acknowledging gifts."

Excellent cooperation from the residents in Friona and in several communities is reported by members of the finance committee in quest of swimming pool funds.

A play which was being planned by the entertainment committee of the Association may be delayed somewhat due to difficulty in securing a director, reports Vera Ann Jones, who had originally planned to direct the play.

Miss Jones is leaving this weekend for the University of Colorado for work toward a master's degree.

FRIONANS MOVE ON WASHINGTON

It would have been almost impossible to hold a convention of Friona area folks in Washington last week. At least six Frionans were visitors in the office of Congressman Walter Rogers, he has announced.

2nd Lt. and Mrs. Joe Osborn, who are finding their way home after being overseas, visited there, and also on hand was a delegation of local Boy Scouts.

The Boy Scouts included Ted Sanders and Robbie Osborn of the Friona troop, and Johnny Miller and Ira Bruce Parr of Black. The Scouts visited the representative of the 18th District in connection with the activities of the National Boy Scout Jamboree, which they are attending.

City Commission Worries About Water Problems

The fact that Friona is operating on a diminishing supply of water for an ever-growing populace got full attention at the meeting of the Friona city council Monday night. The problem as presented to the council by city clerk Roy Wilson is:

1. The city is using more water.
2. The water table on one well of the three that are operating has dropped below the depth at which the pump is able to produce water.
3. Rate of water usage is creating low pressures at times during the day when use is heaviest.

4. It is going to cost some money to remedy the situation.

5. Drawdown on the wells that are producing water now is such that larger pumps and power units will be needed.

The water table in the last few years has dropped from 154 feet to 179 feet, Wilson reported. The pump on one well is set at 190 feet, and the drawdown on this well is to 194 feet, too low to obtain water.

This leaves only two wells to supply water to the city, since another well has not operated recently due to a clogging of inlets in the casing.

Together the two wells which are still in operating condition will yield only 812 gallons per minute. This is insufficient to keep plenty of water in storage tanks during the periods of the day when there is heavy usage, Wilson reported.

The council proposes to have Wilson look into ways the wells can be arranged to furnish more water, through increased pumping capacity. The well that has been idle will be checked into use again. Cost of increasing capacity of the pumps that are presently operating is to be obtained.

Probable solution to increasing the output of the two wells is to add stages on the column of one and get a larger motor and more pump stages for the other, Wilson said.

Estimated cost will be about $10,000, Wilson said.

Other business conducted at the meeting included passing an ordinance to allow Southwestern Public Service Co. to revamp its rates for industrial and commercial users. The council gave approval to the change at the last meeting but the company reported that an ordinance would be required. The change will affect about 40 businesses. The rates will not increase, but allows the company to place each business on a single meter instead of several.

Also present at the meeting were Charles Bainum and James W. Cunningham, chief and assistant chief of the fire department, to ask for a change in procedure for obtaining gasoline for the fire trucks.

Firemen have been required, like other city departments, to obtain purchase orders before buying gasoline.

"This will not work for the fire department," Bainum and Cunningham said. "No matter what time we come back to the station after a fire, we need to have the fuel tanks full and ready to go again. We can't chase around to find somebody to sign a purchase order."

The council voted to give the chief and assistant chief of both the fire and police departments the authority to sign purchase orders for essential items, gasoline included.

Also requested by the fire department representatives was prevention of "fire chasers" hampering fire department efforts while fighting fires. Considerable unnecessary street blocking and by-stander trouble was reported at the Kendrick Oil Co. last week. Fire Chief Bainum also inquired about a set of tires for the pickup which the department has.

Wilson reported he was taking price quotations for the tires and would probably get the needed tires this week.

The need for 500 feet of 2.5-inch hose and 500 feet of 6.5-inch hose was pointed out by the firemen. The council replied that there was not enough money to get the hose now.

A petition requesting the board of commissioners to take action to correct unsatisfactory telephone service was read. The petition was signed by Joe Ed Vaughn, Larry Martin, R. M. Gore, E. M. Rushing, Roy Clements, Doyle Cummings, Plains Farmers Gin Co. and R. L. Rule. All are on a rural line west of Friona, served by General Telephone Company. A copy of the petition is to be sent to the company.

Dogs, and how to get rid of the problem they create, also got full council treatment.

The council voted to offer a $2.50 bounty for dogs brought to the city pen which are not licensed. The ordinance is to become effective August 1. The dogs are to be impounded, and if an owner wants to reclaim a dog, he must pay the bounty, rabies vaccination fee, licensing fee, and feeding costs, or the dog will be disposed of.

Whether or not Parmer County will have a 30-cent tax rate increase will be determined next Thursday, July 25, in a special election. The election has been called by the commissioners court because of the need for additional revenue in the right-of-way fund for farm-to-market roads.

Polls will be open from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. at the eight county precincts—Bovina, Friona, Farwell, Lazbuddie, Oklahoma Lane, Lakeview, Rhea, and Black. Eligible voters will be those who are otherwise qualified and have property rendered for taxation purposes.

If approved, the tax rate will be raised from 95 cents per $100 valuation to $1.25. Presently, 10 cents of the 95-cent rate goes into the right-of-way fund and the increase would make it 40 cents. This would derive around $36,000 per year for the fund, while in the past it has been $9,000.

The need for the increased funds is due to the number of farm roads Parmer County has been receiving from the state in recent years. Over 30 miles have been paved during the past two years and the fund has been inadequate, causing the county to have to borrow $30,000 during the past year to acquire the property easements.

To continue to accept the roads which are included in the state program each year, and to pay off the past indebtedness, the county has to have more money, say officials. This will be done in one of two ways—the 30-cent tax rate increase, or a raise in property valuations.

By raising the property valuations, it will increase revenue in all other county funds, which are now adequate, say the commissioners. They say that this would be a poor business practice, as it would put money where it isn't needed, and also increase taxes paid to the state. The state rate is 65 cents and it is based on the same valuation.

The commissioners could raise the valuation without an election, but they have proposed the 30-cent increase because it will increase revenue only where it is currently needed—therefore, being the most economical way.

Under the state road program, all farm roads are built and financed by the state, and the county in which the roads are paved has to acquire all easements.

Taken into consideration when paying for these easements is the amount of damage a road will do to a man's property, and the benefit he will receive from the paving. When a road is widened, there is no right-of-way payment, it is pointed out. Only when the road cuts through someone's property and it is damaged, does the county pay for a right-of-way.

When the roads are paved, curves are straightened out whenever possible, that being a considerable cost to the county. There are various ways which a person's property may be damaged, and whenever it is, an agreement is usually reached by the commissioners court and the party involved.

The amount in dollars and cents that the tax increase will cost property owners is shown thusly: Land is now valued at $4 to $7 per acre, according to zone location. A 160-acre piece of land, valued at $8 per acre, now costs a taxpayer $9.12. With the increase, the same land would cost the property owner $12.60.

On each irrigation well, assessed at $500, the present cost is $4.75. With the increase it will be $6.25.

Other property valuations in the county are merchandise, 65 percent of inventory on January 1; cattle, $30 per head; hogs, $15; horses, $20; sheep, $5; pool tables, $100 each; automobiles, trucks, pickups, tractors, and combines, 1956 and 1957 models, $450. For earlier models, the valuations decline proportionately, down to $100 for 1946 vehicles.

The present 95-cent tax rate is divided between the general fund, 55 cents; road and bridge fund, 20; jury fund, 5; permanent improvement fund, 5; and right-of-way fund, 10.

On Monday of this week, no absentee ballots had been cast, according to Hugh Mosley, county clerk. Deadline for absentee voting is 5 o'clock Friday afternoon.

Methodists Begin Use of New Wing

Friona Methodists turned out in near record numbers for Sunday school last Sunday, reports Rev. Hugh Blaylock. Rev. Blaylock does not specify the exact reason for the exceptional attendance, but hints it may have been because the church started use of the newly completed additions.

Attendance was reported as 319, well above normal, but not a record when considering attendance for past special events.

The exodus to the new additions ended a period of wandering to classrooms in homes around town. Also ended was the $76,000 building program, except for finishing touches to lay tile floors, and the follow-ship kitchen.

Charles Mercer, chairman of the building committee, reports the donations up to this week nearly amounted to the immediate financial obligations for building the church.

In building the additions, the church contracted a $40,000 loan from the Methodist Conference and raised the rest by donations and offerings.

Included in the new wing of the building are 3,750 square feet of classrooms, offices and storage rooms. About 2,800 square feet of the old basement was reconditioned, and the same amount of space was added over the basement for a second story.

Occupying the space are 11 classrooms, a kitchen, an assembly room for Sunday school, two nursery rooms, restrooms, a pastor's study, a pantry and storage for the kitchen, and a hall for easy access to different rooms.

The construction started January 20.

A date for special dedication of the new space has not yet been designated, but Rev. Blaylock says it will probably be sometime this fall.

He reports the different classes are finding ample space for meetings, and the church is well pleased with their success in getting the additional space. There is also room for expansion, he says.

THE STAR'S EDITORIAL COMMENT

The Cheapest Way

Next Thursday Farmer County property owners will vote on a 30-cent tax rate increase. If approved, the almost 30 percent hike will go toward paying off past indebtedness on farm-to-market rights-of-way and for obtaining property easements for future roads built in the county.

As high as taxes for almost all tax-supported bodies are, no one likes to see another raise, but in this instance it will be the most economical way if the taxpayers approve the hike.

The increased tax rate is one of two ways the commissioners court can obtain the necessary funds for acquiring easements for farm roads, and it is by far the cheapest. The other way would be the raising of property valuations.

The valuations have been the same in the county for many years, but they can and will be raised by the commissioners if there is no other alternative. This can be done without the vote of the people.

The tax rate is presently 95 cents per $100 valuation and the revenue goes into five different funds. Ten cents of the figure goes into the right-of-way fund. To raise the valuation where the right-of-way fund would be adequate to meet present needs, it would overflow money in all the other funds, as well as to increase the state revenue, which is based on the same valuation.

The state rate is 65 cents, so every time the county receives 95 cents, 65 goes to the state. It is easy to see what the increase in valuations would do. With the increased tax rate, though, all the additional revenue will be designated to the purpose for which it is needed.

Whether or not a person believes that farm-to-market roads are worth the money it costs the state and county (and few if any would say that they are not), approving the rate increase is the only logical way.

The state builds the roads all over Texas. The county has no say so in where the roads will be built, other than requesting ones which they think are needed. When one is approved for Farmer County, it would be foolish to not accept it.

To accept a road, the county has only to pay for damage it might do to a person's property. For what the roads are worth to the county, this is a small cost.

When the commissioners first discussed the tax rate hike, they also had in mind the possibility of acquiring four-lane highways in future years, although this was secondary to farm roads. However, since the election was called, the county judge pointed out that the legal petitions used and the official election order called specifically for farm-to-market roads.

Four-lane highways are something the county is going to have to face sometime in the future. How this will be done, we don't know, but it would have been a nice set-up if it could all come under this one raise. Since it doesn't, though, it will just have to be another bridge to cross later.

For the present time, farm roads are the only concern, and approving the tax rate increase is the most economical way.

The BIBLE Says STUDY THE BIBLE

It is the purpose of these articles to bring to the reader a fuller knowledge of God's divine word. We trust you will continue to be one of our readers and that you will also examine the lessons presented and measure them by the teaching of the Bible.

GOD'S WORD IS LIGHT

"Thy word is a lamp unto my feet, and a light unto my path" (Ps. 119:105). Verse 105 says, "The entrance of thy word giveth light; it giveth understanding unto the simple." "Then said Jesus unto those Jews which believed on him, if ye continue in my word then are ye my disciples indeed; and ye shall know the truth and the truth shall make you free" (John 8:31-32).

To be ignorant of God's word is to be living in spiritual darkness. To know and follow God's word is to walk in the light of divine truth.

First Lap Harvest Finished by Area Onion Growers

The first lap of the 1957 harvest on about 85 acres of onions has been completed by several farmers between Bovina and Farwell. Evon Ford and J. T. Ford and sons are the growers. Digging was finished last Saturday on the acreage farmed by Burl Ford, and there will be no more harvesting for another week or so, while an additional 20 acres of white and yellow late-maturing Spanish onions ripen.

The Fords are still hoping that these late onions will be the best prospects for making money on this year's crop, primarily because of their tremendous tonnage. From 1,000 to 1,100 sacks per acre are anticipated. (Compare this with around 300 which is what the earlier onions were yielding.)

This week, the onion market opened at $1.40 a sack, which is "about as low as you can go," according to Burl. Only a week before, white jumbos had been commanding a premium price, but favorable conditions for even top notch onions has disappeared. "They all bring the same price now—regardless," he says.

Early-season prospects for the 1957 crop—especially the market—were much better than things actually turned out. But in spite of the bloom being gone from the rose, so to speak, the Fords aren't in the dumps about their fling into the vegetable producing business this year.

"We've made a little money," says Burl, "and at least it sure beats cotton or maize." Also, he points out that the local farmers faced virtually every hazard imaginable this year—and survived.

They had never raised onions here before. There are no local marketing facilities. Last year was a top-notch one for onions, and this year, the market was glutted by the tremendous increase in acreage. In spite of these factors, they came out in reasonably good shape, considering the risks involved.

"I'm sure going to stay with it," says Burl. "I plan to increase my own acreage to 100 next year. We have decided to stick with the business for five years regardless of what happens."

The best price the Fords got for any onions this year was $2.75 per 50-pound sack. The lowest price they received was on the tail-end of their harvest, when the market sagged to $1.40.

Burl says he believes his father, J. T., would have made more money if he had accepted an early-season offer of $750 per acre for the onions in the field. At that time, prospects for good onion prices looked favorable, however.

One big fly in the onion ointment this year for the local growers has been the terrific price they have had to pay to get their crop harvested. Harvesting costs, from the time the crews were turned into the fields, until the onions were sacked and loaded on freight cars at Hereford, ran 85 cents per bag.

The most they expected to pay for these services, and their estimates had been based on past experiences of local growers, was 45 cents.

Burl says labor is one problem the Fords are determined to lick next year, and they are making plans to erect their own housing and bring in their own help. In fact, they hope to be able to lower their harvesting costs for the clean-up of the late onions this month or early in August, because the supply of seasonal workers will be more plentiful then.

Production costs have averaged about $125 per acre—approximately what the Fords expected. Harvesting costs, however, have hit from $400 to $500 per acre.

Some of the Fords' neighbors were genuinely concerned about the "bite" they took with such a big acreage this year. However, Burl declares that in reality, the volume produced by the local men was the only thing that saved them in this high-ton year.

"If we hadn't had but 15 or 20 acres of onions—like so many farmers east of us in the Plainview-Lockney area had—we wouldn't have been able to find anyone who would handle them for us," says Ford.

Rye Support Price Is $1.12 Bushel

Announcement of the 1957 support price for rye in Parmer County was made by the ASC office this week. The figure this year is $1.12 per bushel.

Prentice Mills, office manager, says this will mean a net price of 98 cents to the producer (computed Monday).

No figures are available on the acreage of rye in the county, but it is believed to be higher this year than last year. The price support will likely exceed current market quotations.

Generals Lee and Grant fought on the same side in the Mexican war.

People get the most kick out of life who do the least kicking.

This line-up of lovely ladies will be seeking the title "Parmer County Farm Bureau Queen for 1957" when they appear on stage at Bovina Saturday evening. From left to right, the contestants and their sponsors are Jonnie Hand, Friona, Galloway Implement Company; Wilma Norton, Farwell, Farwell Hardware and Worley Grain Company; Toni Bruns, Lazbuddie, Fleming and Son Gin; Janice Miller, Friona, Ware's Department Store; Nita Beth Estes, Bovina, Gaines Hardware; Arlene Clayton, Bovina, Charles Oil Company; Naomi Hubbell, Oklahoma Lane, Schafer Gin; Faye Routon, Farwell, Lariat Elevator; Kay Hartzog, Farwell, Lawlis & Ely Gin; and Marie Houston, Lazbuddie, Clay's Corner Grocery. Not present for the picture were Avis Williams, Bovina, Joe M. Brown Gin; and Carolyn Hinkson, Lazbuddie, Lazbuddie Butane Company.

FB County Queen To Be Named Saturday Night

The 1957 Parmer County Farm Bureau Queen will be named at a contest Saturday night in the Bovina school auditorium. This is an annual county-wide occasion for the farm organization.

Twelve young ladies from over the county are vying for the title, and the winner will receive $100 from the county FB and be eligible for the district contest at Lubbock. Stakes there are $500.

The public is invited to the contest, emphasizes Mrs. J. T. Jones of Bovina, who is in charge. Odie "Pop" Echols of KCLV in Clovis will be master of ceremonies, and the contest gets underway at 8.

Cotton will be accentuated in the costumes of the contestants, and they will be judged on personality, speech, and posture. Three out-of-town judges will be used.

Mrs. Jones urges the girls to be on hand at 7 o'clock for last minute instructions.

Students of Doris Wilson will present entertainment for the program. They include Wayne Davies, who will sing, "I Can Learn My ABC's," and who will hop and sing to Presley's "Teddy Bear" and "All Shook Up."

Nicki Woelfel will sing, "You've Gotta See Your Mama Every Night," and "I'm Sitting on Top of the World." Elizabeth Edwards' numbers will include, "I'm the Cat's Whiskers," and "Is It True What They Say About Dixie?"

"The Birth of the Blues" will be sung by Kay Hartzog, and she also will sing, "Can't Help Lovin' Dat Man of Mine." "It's Been a Long, Long Time," and "Ninety-Nine Ways" are songs Jackie Davies has chosen. Celia Berry will sing "Mr. Sandman," and "Nevertheless."

The Stars and Stripes has flown over West Point continuously since the academy was built.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

Irrigation of grain sorghum has been getting underway in Parmer County these past two hot weeks. Several of the farmers have been watering down the feed row itself rather than plowing water furrows and cutting the plant roots. This type of watering is fine on land up to one percent slope, but don't wash feed, land and all down the hill on the steeper land.

Tail water is starting to flow down the bar ditches with the watering getting underway again. However, many have started sowing the ends of the fields (about 40-50 ft.) with grain sorghum, or small grains to slow down and utilize some of this water. This is certainly a recommended conservation practice, and we would like to see more of it done.

We want to make use of all that water we can. For instance, did you know that a return of 200 pounds or more of grain per acre per inch of water may be expected in most years (when the crop isn't damaged by hail, etc.)? For grain sorghum, usually the application of 3.5-4.0 inches of water per watering is adequate on the clay type soils, while the sandy soils will require about 2.0-2.5 in. per application. Of course, more frequent irrigation is required on the sandy soils.

New cooperators with the Parmer County SCD are W. H. Filippin Jr., W. F. Buske, Walter Schueler, Alvin Gaines, C. H. Horner, Juel Treider, and Joe Magness.

Foliar Feeding Studied

Anyone who has ever been in a hospital has seen patients receiving their nutrition through their veins instead of by mouth. There's more than one way to feed a plant, too, and some interest has been shown in trying to put food through the leaves instead of through the roots.

County Agent Joe Jones this week says that "foliar fertilization," as it's called, can have certain advantages under certain conditions, but that such a practice can not be regarded as always beneficial.

For instance, applying phosphorus to the leaves for absorption into the plant's system seems to improve quality of cotton in cases where the crop is late, because phosphorus hastens the maturity processes.

(However, if the cotton is early, or if the growing season should be longer than normal, this might conceivably be harmful.)

In any case, it's difficult to expect an increase in yields, which is one of the basic ideas in using any kind of fertilizer. Foliar feeding is tickling the curiosity of many area farmers, and Jones reports a number of inquiries on the subject. Some farmers have tried it.

He says it's important to remember that this method is intended only to supplement already standard fertilizer practices.

The most significant result of foliar feeding brought out in tests is that it insures a stronger fiber under adverse growing conditions. In the fall of 1955, when the late season was wet and cool, most cotton made micronaire readings of about 3 units. Foliar fed cotton micronaired out about 3.5.

Onion Processing Set Up in Friona

Onion processing operations were set up in Friona this week by the Friona Vegetable Company. "Frio" in this case refers to Friona County in the Winter Garden area of Texas, and no local or area men are known to be connected with the enterprise.

Site of the processing operations is the steel building in the southeastern part of the city formerly used by Bert Chitwood for storage purposes. The business is not a buying-selling operation, but processing only, and is reported to be handling produce from the Hereford area.

Tomorrow is the greatest labor-saving device of today.

Having received a marriage proposal from a handsome Texan, a New York fashion model wanted to find out how wealthy he was.

"I suppose you own a lot of oil wells," she said.

"Nope," said the Texan. "Not a one."

"You go in for cattle?"

The Texan shook his head.

"How much land do you have, then?" she persisted.

"About thirty-five acres, I reckon."

The model was plainly dis-

"Well, ma'am, the Texan replied, "last time I saw it, they called it downtown Dallas."

Area Spud Harvest Gathers Speed

Draggy Market Slows Friona

A slow market at the first of potato digging season is acting as a mild brake on the 1957 crop, says John O'Haugherty, sales manager for Friona Growers and Shippers.

Potato digging and packing started last week at the Friona shed with the price beginning at $2.60 for No. 1 potatoes. The price dipped slightly to $2.50 by the middle of this week, O'Haugherty reports.

The slight dip in price and amount of demand kept momentum of the digging from increasing. This may help more than it hurts, O'Haugherty says.

"Size of the potatoes and the skin will improve when the potatoes are left in the ground to allow an advance in maturity. This will likely improve the quality and shipping," the sales manager says.

Only three growers had done any digging until the middle of this week. These included Earl Lance, Kenneth Neill, and John Henderson. Grade and percent of first class potatoes are good, reports USDA inspector Lee Morris of Edinburg.

First trucks of potatoes averaged about 70 percent No. 1's, with a load from Neill's turning USDA inspector Lee Morris of Edinburg checks quality of a run of potatoes at Friona Growers and Shippers' shed. "Good," is his comment about this year's crop.

These plump red potatoes will soon be on somebody's dinner table. They are being inspected by Richard Potter, Hot Springs, N. M., potato buyer. He was in the Lariat area this week.

These chains whip vine branches out of the furrows, and the "sheepsfoot" hammers take care of the top of the row on this potato vine beater of Buck Gregory's. Checking the machine over is James Robertson, a neighbor who is helping with harvest.

out about 85 percent No. 1's. O'Haugherty expects momentum of the digging to increase about the middle of next week.

Many people could retire comfortably on what their experience has cost them.

Lariat Area Yield Expected Lower

Parmer County area potato growers—small in number but large in faith—pushed into the 1957 summer harvest season this week with their fingers crossed about the precarious position of prices.

The first of this week the market was gyrating gently between $2.50 and $2.75 (regarded as fair to average), but known factors on the horizon were giving growers sleepless nights.

Later than usual this year, the Plains harvest appears headed for a collision with other big producing parts of the country, namely the early valley harvests of the Idaho area.

"Last Friday, a 'hot' Idaho valley shipped 20 cars of potatoes," says Buck Gregory, Lariat potato shed operator. He sees this as a bad omen of future prices. "We won't know where we stand until we see what Idaho's going to do," he says.

Quality of the Parmer County area potatoes this year is excellent—perhaps the best ever. However, the yield is considerably below standard, and the drop in tonnage will make any reduction in price received doubly painful.

Gregory expects his own potatoes to yield from 150 to 175 sacks per acre. Last year he averaged more than 200 sacks. He says that the drop in yield will be spread all over the Plains.

Asked to what may be attributed this decrease in production, he says the unusual spring weather that was good for the Plains wheat crop was not so good for the potato growers.

The weather was unusually cool and damp, retarding potato growth. Then, suddenly, the showers and low temperatures left and the weather became very hot and dry. Those conditions are not ideal for potato growing, he says.

One thing that Gregory does have well in hand this year, though, is an adequate labor supply. Near his farm home south of Lariat he has just completed facilities for 50 laborers, and this week, moved in 48 braceros.

Corn Ear Worm Hard to Control

Anytime you buy a bunch of roasting ears and shuck them yourself, the chances are good that you'll uncover two or three corn ear worms, pesky little critters that burrow their way into the succulent ear.

If, as a consumer of corn, you're irritated by their presence, you can understand the reaction they cause among the producers of corn themselves, who would like nothing better than to get rid of all the worms.

But, controlling this particular insect is anything but easy, points out County Agent Joe Jones this week, and he has had some words of advice for corn growers of the area who are considering control measures against the worms.

"I made counts in several fields following poison applications last year, and didn't find an instance where the practice could be considered successful at all," warns the agent.

The problem is that the worm gets down into the rolled-up leaves of the shuck, where he is safe from externally applied poisons most of the time.

"When corn begins to silk and tassel, corn ear worm eggs will be deposited on the fresh silks and in five or six days small worms will hatch out and begin feeding. Several poisonings will be required to give protection. Research shows it is not practical to try to control the worms on field corn. Varieties with a tight shuck will help lessen the damage, though," he says.

From research, plus recent experiences in the Parmer County area, Jones concludes that it appears to be a waste of money to poison for the corn ear worm on commercial fields.

"Once the worm is down into the ear, the poison won't reach him and the number of times poison applications are required to have poison on a very large percent of the silks when the worms are hatching make the cost prohibitive," the agent has pointed out.

Some readers may be wondering about their garden stands of sweet corn, though, and here are some tips from the county agent on what to do in these small plantings:

For control, use DDT and white mineral oil with a say-bolt viscosity of 65 to 90 seconds. Ears may be treated individually, using a sponge or squirt can, or a high clearance sprayer. Timing of this application is very important.

Treatment should begin two days after the first silk shows up, and be repeated every two days for three applications.

A guide, available at Jones' office, gives further particulars.

THE PARMER FARMER

By LELAND BOYD

Heard interesting comments from a couple of anhydrous ammonia fertilizer dealers recently.

"We are having difficulty in getting enough anhydrous ammonia to go around... had to turn down a farmer who wanted a side dressing job done... ran out of fertilizer."

Another said, "We had to shut down one afternoon waiting for more anhydrous ammonia."

From the tone of these remarks, fertilizing with anhydrous ammonia has gained in volume this year with more acres being fertilized and more pounds per acre being applied.

This makes fertilizer dealers happy, of course, but if farmers who are using anhydrous ammonia are not happy with results, the dealers could not stay happy long.

There was considerable talk earlier in the season that a price war among anhydrous ammonia dealers was in the making. As close as it got though, from what is reported, was hereford. Anhydrous ammonia at bargain prices was distributed for a short period, but a truce was called when the rush came for the side dressing business.

Now, manufacturers of the fertilizer can not produce enough to supply the demand, one dealer said.

Overheard several farmers in the Rhea community giving testimony of the anhydrous ammonia benefits for wheat.

"I left a few acres to see what happens. Sure can tell the difference. The way it looked to me, the unfertilized strip made only one half as much as where fertilized," one farmer reported.

"I didn't fertilize my wheat," another said. "And my wheat yield wasn't too bad. But from seeing how much more my neighbors made than I did, I won't fail to use it next year." During the same time that the price war scare was evident, some people were talking about there being too many anhydrous ammonia dealers in the area. "Some of them are surely going to be forced out," was the general opinion.

For the farmer, having plenty of dealers around definitely is an advantage. He stands a better chance of getting service when he wants it, and prices will likely be more reasonable when the field is competitive.

Farming being of the nature it is, the pattern of anhydrous ammonia application will follow this seasonal nature of farming, just as do cotton gins, elevators, potato sheds and other services to farmers. There aren't many businesses that do not have slack seasons, but the recent rush for side dressing sure took the slack out of the fertilizing business.

I was curious about why anhydrous ammonia was not applied in the water during irrigation soon after coming to the Plains. I got several answers and reasons, but I still wonder why it isn't done more often.

The answers:
1. Poor distribution of fertilizer on long rows, because the deep water penetration at the upper end and shallow penetration at the lower end.
2. Losses of fertilizer through ditch seepage.

The reason I still wonder why lies in the first reason, concerning poor distribution because of long rows. Of more importance than water application of fertilizer is the practice of having rows too long to control penetration of water. The end result of rows too long is tail water that finds its way into road ditches and lakes to be wasted from the standpoint of getting on crops.

The difference in having rows too long and having rows the correct length is the difference in irrigating and just watering. There is a difference.

But there is the cost element to be considered in converting to real irrigation. And the cost is what probably prevents every farmer from having a lot of things he wants.

Then, there may be a great deal of truth in the oft-repeated story about the farmer "not farming half as good as I know how, now."

The heavy-set gent whose picture appears in connection with our potato story this week, and who comes from Hot Springs, is an interesting person to talk to. He is an independent buyer, and deals exclusively in spuds and onions, supplying most of the stores in his home city in South Central New Mexico.

Among other things, the genial Richard Potter won a Polaroid Camera on Ralph Edward's show at the big celebration there last year. (Remember? Hot Springs changed its name to Truth or Consequences in exchange for the publicity the show gave the town.) He won the camera by having the best—or worst, depending on your viewpoint—heard during the celebration.

Official announcement has not been made, but it's likely that the Texas Sesame Seed Association boys will have a plant in Muleshoe next year. This won't be a mill for squeezing the seed, but will be more on the order of a warehouse operation, we understand.

This part of the Plains leads the nation in sesame production, and in fact, Parmer County grows more than any other county. The plant at Muleshoe means the sesame boosters are figuring on sesame being in the future of the farming hereabouts.

We are often asked about certain statistics relating to Parmer County agriculture. Here are a few more from the county ASC office: There are 1251 farms, 528,432 acres of farmland, 429,839 acres of cropland, and 98,593 acres of non-crop or pastureland in Parmer County. That's a whopping big agricultural plant. The figures were compiled last year.

THE HAPPY HOMEMAKER

It is generally agreed that letter writing is an art. It is one of the arts that any homemaker can cultivate and by so doing add a great deal of enjoyment to her life as well as to the lives of others.

One homemaker who makes a special effort to do a good job writing letters is Mrs. Boots Deatherage of Happy. Mrs. Deatherage was Glenda Carter before her marriage and is a former Frionan.

Mrs. Otis Huggins of Farwell, who is one of Glenda's sisters, has been kind enough to share with us a poem and several recipes which she received recently along with a cheerful, chatty letter. The poem is entitled "Now Is The Time" and leaves readers with a very timely thought.

"NOW IS THE TIME"
When I have time, so many things I'll do
To make life happier and more fair

For those whose lives are crowded now with care,
WHEN I HAVE TIME
When I have time, the friend I love so well
Shall know no more these weary toiling days;
I'll lead his feet in pleasant paths always,
WHEN I HAVE TIME
When you have time, the friend you hold so dear,
May be beyond the reach of all your sweet intent;
May never know that you kindly meant
To fill his life with sweet content,
NOW YOU HAD TIME!
Now is the time! Ah, friend, no longer wait.
To scatter loving deeds and words of cheer
To those around whose lives are now so dear.
They may not meet you in the coming year.
NOW IS THE TIME!

The first recipe is for George Washington Pudding and is very simple to prepare. Mix 1 No. 2 can of cherries and 1 cup of sugar. Let set while mixing dry ingredients. Use 1 cup flour, 1 cup sugar, 1 teaspoon baking powder, ½ cup milk, and 3 tablespoons melted butter.

Mix the dry ingredients thoroughly and pour into a baking dish. Pour the fruit and sugar mixture over the top and bake.

If we have ever heard of using milk in a lemon pie before, the recipe can't be recalled, but in this Lemon Cake Pie you do just that. Mrs. Huggins vouches for its goodness, so let's just try it.

LEMON CAKE PIE

Beat slightly:
2 egg yolks
1 cup milk
1 cup sugar
¼ cup sifted flour
Blend in:
½ cup lemon juice
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
Fold in:
2 egg whites beaten stiff but not dry
Pour mixture into pastry-lined pie tin and bake.

The last one is for Brownie Pudding. If Brownie Pudding goes over as big as Brownies do, everyone with children will want to clip and keep this recipe.

BROWNIE PUDDING
1 cup flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
2/3 cups sugar
2 tablespoons cocoa
½ cup milk
2 tablespoons melted butter
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ cup nuts
Mix dry ingredients, add others and mix well. Turn into baking dish. Mix 1 cup brown sugar, 4 tablespoons cocoa, and 1½ cups boiling water and sprinkle over the cake mixture. Pour the boiling water over the entire mixture and bake. When the pudding is cooked the cake will be on the top and the sauce on the bottom.

Our sincere thanks to Mrs. Huggins for sharing the recipes with us and to Mrs. Deatherage for letting us use her example as a suggestion to other homemakers.

If you find life is empty, try putting something into it.

Water, Fertilizer Help Boost Yield

The best large-acreage wheat yield reported in the Parmer County area so far this year was printed in High Plains Farm and Home last week. Since that time, several inquiries have been made regarding the farming practices that brought it about.

Averaging 73 bushels over a 55-acre field were Don Williams and Elmer Hargrove of Farwell, who farm land near Pleasant Hill west of Bovina. All told, they harvested 530 acres of wheat, some of which exceeded 80 bushels in yield, but the 55 acres turned out the best average for a cutting of any size.

Williams says the Tenmarq wheat was planted on old wheat land, and was "dusted in" and watered up about the 10th of October. He says he prefers watering wheat up to pre-planting irrigations.

The partners sowed 60 pounds of seed per acre through a drill with eight-inch spacings.

Previous to planting, an 80-pound application of anhydrous ammonia was made to the land, and Williams says the wheat got off to an excellent start. The second watering was made December 15.

A third irrigation was made in February, and into the water was fed 100 pounds of anhydrous ammonia per acre. Of this type fertilization, Williams says he is sold on the results obtained, and plans to make it a standard practice.

The final watering was made April 10. The wheat was sprayed once for insects with methoparathion. Greenbug infestation was "pretty bad." No stock was permitted to graze the wheat during the winter.

A hard spring freeze didn't appear to damage the wheat, but some dead heads were noted around irrigation ditches and turn rows, and the growers believe that static electricity may have been responsible for this damage. There wasn't any hail on the wheat, however.

The wheat benefitted from an estimated eight inches of natural rainfall through the growing season, most of it coming late as the crop approached maturity. The grain was harvested July 1, and moisture content was no problem. It tested 62 pounds per bushel.

Tourists returning to the U. S. from foreign countries are urged to resist the urge to bring back with them unprocessed foods, plants and seeds. Such materials can harbor insect pests harmful to agriculture, says C. F. Garner, extension entomologist.

NEWS FROM THE FARM BUREAU

By RAYMOND EULER

To date, the weed committee has received real cooperation from individuals, county and federal agencies, including the highway department, and others in the fight against bindweed. Railroad officials have indicated they may take part, and if they do, it will be the best year since the inception of the Parmer County Farm Bureau Weed Committee three years ago, in its efforts to eradicate these threats to farmers.

Chairman Raymond Schueler, County Agent Joe Jones and ASC Office Manager Prentice Mills are all grateful for such cooperation. Lloyd Killough, head of Texas Highway maintenance in Parmer County, and his crews have contributed to the success of the program from the beginning. County Commissioners have made financial aid available for control on county road rights of way, too.

This Saturday night, in the Bovina School Auditorium, 12 of Parmer County's comeliest young ladies will compete for title as PCEB Queen of 1957. Odis Echols of KCLV, Clovis, will be master of ceremonies. The public is invited.

Although consumers spent 25 percent of their income for food in 1956, compared to 23 percent before the war (1935-1939), they would have spent only 16 percent on the same foods they bought in the pre-war period. Consumers are more selective in grocery purchasing now, just as they are in the purchase of cars and clothes. But the point is, food prices are not up percentage-wise; it's the additional services demanded that make the increase.

Though it's not the nicest way to receive a compliment, we think it is one when a state representative, who has obviously allied himself with private power interests against the rights of the farmer's REA, stands up in the legislative halls and begins attacking Farm Bureau representatives for planting themselves in Austin and telling legislators what their members said to tell them. Parmer County, and we believe every other Texas Farm Bureau County, had resolutions to remove the fetters of a state "supreme" court ruling, and we believe it is the duty of legislators to do just that. We are thankful that our representative, Jesse Osborn, steadfastly supported REA's stand.

CONSIDER THIS: He that being often reproved hardeneth his neck, shall suddenly be destroyed, and that without remedy. Proverbs 29:1.

Adams Leases

Adams Drilling Company has been leased to D. H. Sneed, Muleshoe, Raymond Adams, the former owner-manager of the well drilling—irrigation supply business, announced this week.

Sneed took over operation on Monday. It will continue to be the same type of business, J. J. Bandy, who will manage it, says. The name will, however, be changed to Sneed Supply Co.

Adams, who has been in the well drilling business in the Parmer County area for some 32 years, says his plans for the future aren't complete. "And they won't be completed," he says, "until I get some fishing done."

With his former partner, Floyd Brookfield, Adams has operated the business from its present location since 1953. The business was known as Adams-Brookfield Drilling Company until late last year when the men divided partnership.

Sneed is owner of D. H. Sneed Supply in Muleshoe.

Bandy, who has a wife and three children, plans to move from Muleshoe to Friona.

An advertisement in this issue of High Plains Farm and Home makes announcement of the transaction.

Crops Need Water

Nearly every growing crop in the Parmer County area this week is needing water. That, in a nutshell, is the weekly crop progress report.

Farmers are doing the best they can to take care of the demand for water, running their irrigation wells around the clock. Especially thirsty is the estimated 25,000 acres of corn, which, because of its broad leaves and tall plant, really saps up the moisture.

Considerable twisting of leaves is evident in the fields of young grain sorghum plants, particularly those that are above knee-high, and water is needed badly there, too.

The earlier, "staggered planting" grain sorghum crop seems to be doing well.

Cotton, which usually gets the water first when it needs it, is reported coming along nicely. Minor crops, such as sesame and sudan, are making satisfactory headway.

Largest reptile in the U. S. is the alligator.

WITH JUNE

The mosquitoes have been noticeable recently by their absence. When this condition was first noted in Friona, we felt sure it was caused by the spraying which has been done, but pretty soon the same condition began to be noticeable in the country. Maybe the spray that is being used for insects in the cotton fields is deadly to the mosquitoes, too.

Whatever is the cause of there being almost no mosquitoes out at night, we feel deeply grateful that they are not so numerous. Several different methods of mosquito control are being used and it is encouraging to note that some success is being achieved.

There has been so much said and written recently about a swimming pool in Friona that some readers may be getting tired of reading about it. However, there is some news on a swimming pool. It really isn't in Friona, but Ed Massey is constructing a pool just outside the city limits.

The Floyds had their first taste of 1957 Parmer County garden produce Sunday. The Albert Rolens, who are our nearest neighbors, always have a wonderful garden and are generous with what it produces. This year is no exception, so we had fresh squash for supper Sunday evening.

Much favorable comment has been made over coffee cups this past week regarding the youth revival at the First Baptist Church. From all reports the meetings were well attended and the effort was worthwhile.

Winifred Hurst came dashing into the office Monday afternoon in search of Bible school material. Seems that some of the supplies which had been ordered for the Methodist vacation Bible school failed to come in. She's always a busy gal, but Monday was an unusual day for her. She had just returned from a vacation, and was helping with the Bible school, and expecting out-of-town company on Monday evening.

The company was a couple who are very special friends of Winifred and Andy. The men each served as best man at the other's wedding. Mr. and Mrs. Burch currently live in Ohio where he is stationed with the service. The Hursts look forward to a visit from them each summer when they take their vacation.

Read in the Amarillo paper that one Boy Scout from Dalhart took cockle burrs to sell for porcupine eggs at the National Scout Jamboree. Read the entire article looking for some mention of Friona Scouts, who took a collection of horned toads. Maybe that is just a rumor, but we heard that they were well supplied with horned toads to sell to the Easterners. Don't know what they planned to sell them for—maybe just plain Texas horned toads.

Think Geneva Williams and Tommie Mercer are anxiously waiting for the time when they can move into their new homes. Both homes look very attractive from the outside. Of course, we feel sure that Sam and Billy Joe are just as anxious as are their wives.

Two more new houses which are nearing completion are those belonging to Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Cogdill and Mr. and Mrs. Danny Mack Balmum. The Cogdill's is located on West Loop and the Balmum's is located in the Lakeside Addition.

How many of you remember Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Smith? They were teachers in the Friona schools during the 1949-50 term and had three children—Howard, Robbie, and Patricia. They went from Friona to Hobbs and we just recently have learned that they still are at Hobbs. He is connected with the school there.

Local Couple Exchange Vows

Miss Geraldine Phipps became the bride of Kenneth Ferguson in an impressive candlelight ceremony, Sunday, July 14. Vows were exchanged at 5 p. m. in the Friona Methodist Church. Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Phipps. Mr. and Mrs. V. M. Ferguson are parents of the bridegroom.

The double ring ceremony was read by Elder Glen Williams of Muleshoe, before an archway of white and yellow daisies flanked by yellow candelabra.

Attending her sister as bridesmaid, Miss Jane Phipps wore a ballerina length dress of white embroidered organza over yellow taffeta. It featured a yellow taffeta cummerbund and butterfly back. She carried a bouquet of yellow daisies with white and yellow streamers.

Leon Massey, cousin of the bridegroom, served as best man.

Candlelighters were Miss Gwen Williams of Muleshoe, and Miss Patsy Anthony of Friona. They were attired in yellow Pima cotton with yellow taffeta cummerbunds and butterfly backs. Flower girls were Doris Ferguson, sister of the bridegroom, and Kathy Bandy, niece of the bride.

Misses Shirley Phipps and Wenonah Williams, nieces of the bride, secured names for the guest register. Musical selections including "The Bride's Chorus," and "You'll Never Walk Alone" were played by Mrs. Virgil Phipps.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a wedding gown of white imported lace over taffeta, featuring a fitted bodice with a scoop neckline. Her shoulder length veil of illusion was joined to a cap of lace detailed with pearls and sequins. She carried a white Bible topped with yellow roses.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Phipps chose a dress of powder blue linen with beige accessories and a corsage of white daisies. Mother of the bridegroom was attired in baby blue with black accessories and a corsage of white daisies.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents. From a table of white lace over yellow, the wedding cake was served by Mrs. Conrad Williams, sister of the bride. Mrs. Sam Williams, aunt of the bridegroom presided at the punch bowl. Pictures of the bridal party were made by C. L. Vestal, Jr.

Out-of-town guests included Lester Ferguson, Carol, Melba, and Buster of Hale Center; Mrs. Conrad Williams and children of Goodland, Elder and Mrs. Glen Williams and Gwen of Muleshoe, and Phil, Lynn, and Tex Phipps of Denver, Colo.

After a wedding trip to New Mexico and Oklahoma, the couple will be at home in Friona. Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson are both graduates of Friona High School.

Mrs. Edward Lonvick and daughter Mai Lynn of Dallas, were guests in the home of Mrs. Lonvick's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Foster.

Martha Hayslip Becomes Bride Of Calvin R. Ivie

In a candlelight service in the Broadway Church of Christ Chapel at Lubbock recently, Martha Ann Hayslip of that city became the bride of Calvin Rosco Ivie. The double ring ceremony was read by Dr. F. W. Mattox, president of Lubbock Christian College.

The couple exchanged vows before basket arrangements of deep pink carnations and greenery. The candelabra, which held white candles, were decorated with deep pink satin ribbon streamers.

Mother of the bride is Mrs. G. A. Hayslip of 305 Temple Avenue, Lubbock. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Rosco Ivie of Friona.

Horace Coffman and Sandra Boyd, soloists, were accompanied by the church wedding chorus. Coffman sang "Because" and "One Alone." Miss Boyd sang, "If I Could Tell You."

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Billy Hayslip, wore a designer gown of white French lace over net and taffeta. It was styled with a portrait neckline edged with lace appliques. Tiny sleeves were completed by lace gauntlets and the waltz length skirt was fashioned of lace and shirred net.

She wore a short circular veil of silk illusion attached to a bandeau type cap of tulle, bordered with tiny ruffles and embroidered with iridescent sequins. Her corsage was fashioned with a white orchid and stephanotis with satin streamers. She carried it atop a white Bible.

Miss Echo McGuire attended the bride as maid of honor. She wore a street length frock of mauve silk organza over net and taffeta with a pleated skirt. The bodice featured a portrait neckline and pleated waistline accented by a flat bow. Her matching headpiece held a short veil and she carried a corsage of deep pink carnations.

Charles Miller of Canyon served as best man. Wayland Hinds and Clyde L. Hays, both of Friona, and Richard Dale James and A. P. Penton, both of Fort Worth, were ushers.

A reception was held in Fellowship Hall immediately following the ceremony. Guests were registered by Miss Arlynn Benton. The serving table was covered with a white lace cloth and centered with a two tiered cake topped by wedding bells.

Other members of the house party were Mrs. Toice Rackler and Mrs. Wesley Stanley, sisters of the bride; Miss Phyllis Hinds of Friona; Mrs. Carrol Dyer and Mrs. Billy Hayslip.

After a wedding trip to New Mexico and Colorado, the couple will be at home temporarily at Friona, where the bridegroom is engaged in farming.

Ivie is a graduate of Friona High School and has attended Texas Tech for the past four years. Mrs. Ivie, who is a graduate of Tom S. Lubbock High School, attended Texas Tech two years and has recently been employed by Lubbock Christian College.

Frionians who attended the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Rosco Ivie; Mr. and Mrs. Otey Hinds, Wayland and Phyllis; Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Hays and Clyde Jr.; Mr. and Mrs. Glenn

Moved

Most of the moving done in our town this week was local residents moving around. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Redfearn moved into the Truitt house at 218 West 7th, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Reed moved into their house on West Sixth, which the Redfearns moved out of. Mr. and Mrs. Mike Pavatus moved from Mrs. Kinsley's house to their new home in the Lakeside Addition.

Three newly married couples are taking up residence in Friona this week. Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Ivie have moved into Mrs. Kinsley's apartment; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dickey are moving into the J. H. Wise house on Eighth Street; and the Kenneth Fergusons are moving into the Truitt house, which was recently vacated by the Carl Fairchild family.

Mr. and Mrs. Billy Pittman have moved into the Dan Luttrell house from Hereford and Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Rogers have moved from Dimmitt into one of Roscoe Parr's houses in the west part of town. Mr. and Mrs. Tom Dement have moved from the York house to Auburn, Wash.

ALL PROPERTY INSURANCE IS THE SAME....

...until you have to use it!

One property insurance policy is pretty much like another — at the time you buy it.

When you have to use it, however, the differences become apparent. That's when you find out how comforting it is to have the counsel and services of an independent local agent and the peace-of-mind protection of reputable Capital Stock insurance companies.

So be sure when you insure. Select an established, independent local agent to whom you're a neighbor, not a number. And make sure that he represents only Capital Stock "Standard Protection" companies. There's a big difference!

★ GRANDDAD DID GO FISHING

J. B. "Granddad" McFarland, who has been confined to his home most of the past year due to ill health, had been anxiously awaiting the time when his son, Lonnie, came from Pierre, S. D.

It seems that when Lonnie was last here he promised Granddad that if he would take care of himself and get in condition for a fishing trip, he would take him on one. Lonnie came in one day last week, so Granddad hunted up his fishing gear.

Friday afternoon the two, accompanied by Claude Osborn, left for Conchas Lake. On the way they stopped at Tucumcari and were joined by another son, "Shine." The four fished Friday and Saturday then returned home late Saturday afternoon.

Fire Extinguisher Does Its Job Well

Mrs. Melba Miller, who spends much of her time in Lubbock with her son-in-law, daughter, and granddaughter, is well pleased with the service rendered her by a fire extinguisher one day last week. She really isn't sure how or when the fire started.

This one thing she does know: When she, Joyce, and Leslie returned from Lubbock last weekend, she found a clothes closet filled with burned clothes. The fire had started inside the closet, burned the clothes, and smoked the closet ceiling and walls before the extinguisher was successful in putting it out.

The extinguisher is of the type which explodes when the temperature increases sufficiently, throwing its fire inhibiting contents over the surrounding area.

There was no damage—not even smoke damage—to other parts of the house. Melba feels that she was very fortunate.

HELP NATURE DISPOSE OF WHEAT STUBBLE

Nature's way of handling wheat stubble is a gradual decomposition process whereby the organic and inorganic components of the straw are returned to the soil. This improves tilth, water absorbing ability and moisture holding capacity.

To accomplish this, nature uses soil bacteria. You can plan your operation to aid nature by supplying nitrogen to bacteria through anhydrous ammonia which speeds the process.

And the friendly service we offer will fill your anhydrous ammonia needs satisfactorily.
