LUBBOCK CONTRACTOR AWARDED SCHOOL IMPROVEMENT CONTRACT

John T. Glover and Son of Lubbock was awarded the general contract for additions to the old high school building and construction of a new colored school. The contract was let Monday after members of the Brownfield Independent school board met and reviewed six bids for the general contract and three each for the plumbing and electrical work on the project. Bonds in the amount of $300,000 were voted for the improvements in November. Glover's bid on the general contract was $162,508. P & C Mechanical Contractors of Lubbock received the bid for plumbing work for $24,010, and Bud Nairn of Morton was awarded the electrical contract with his bid of $7,779. Total bids amounted to $194,297 for the project. Work on the project, which includes addition of 12 classrooms to the old high school and construction of a four room colored school, is expected to start within the next 60 days, the board announced. The general contract calls for completion within 360 calendar days, but board members hope that the project can be finished before that time. The board said that the project will not include additional classrooms to Jesse G. Randal primary school or construction of a cafeteria at the new high school building.

Regular FFA Meet Set For March 13

A regular meeting of the Brownfield High School chapter of Future Farmers of America will be held Monday, March 13, at 7:30 p. m. in the school VA room, according to information received from Lester Buford, sponsor. To be discussed at the meeting will be plans for the Father-Son banquet, which will be held April 16. Buford said that an invitation had been extended to Weldon Mason of Meadow, state FFA president, to attend and participate on the program. Also to be discussed at the meeting will be the donkey basketball game to be held in the old high school gym April 6 between the FFA members and men of the high school faculty. Committees for tickets, teams, gate, concession stand, and others will also be appointed, Buford said.

March 26 Deadline For Trustee Filing

March 26 is the deadline for filing applications for candidates for two seats on the Brownfield Independent School Board, according to information received from Raymond Simms, county school tax collector. A trustee election has been called for the second Saturday in April, which is April 14, to fill the expired, three year terms of Alto Webb, president of the board, and C. G. Griffith. Names should be filed with Simms in the school tax collector's office upstairs in the Alexander building. The election will be held in the county superintendent's office in the court-house, and the polls will be open from 8 a. m. until 6 p. m. W. T. McKinney, L. G. Smith, Loyd Dawson, and Carroll Collier have been appointed to hold the election.

Welcome To 12 New Arrivals

At least 12 new folks came in last week, evidently some of them with a wife or families as they are listed at residential street numbers. Just how many folks were missed, if any, we don't know. But we do extend the glad hand of friendly welcome to the following: Carl A. McNeece, from New Mexico; John M. Adams, California; R. A. Van Hooser, no former address listed; Glen Mitchell, Dumas; G. D. Roper, Dalhart; John L. Melton, Lamesa; Leland H. Boyant, Wyoming; R. C. Warren, New Mexico. Beerie G. Langford, Arkansas; Joseph M. White, Frank Bartlett and Robert G. Hanagan, all of New Mexico. Six left for other points. In the oil business there is always a lot of changing of personnel. They also had their own com-

MARCH FULL OF "DAYS", "WEEKS"

Listed for the month of March are eleven national weeks and days, a rather crowded affair. Of course some have to occupy the same period. The Red Cross drive occupies the entire month. Others are National 4-H Week, 3-11; Eli Whitney patented the cotton gin in 1794, and as you probably realize, INCOME pay day, March 15; March 17th, the day St. Patrick whipped the reptiles out of Ireland, and the 18th, Palm Sunday. The 18-24, National Wildlife Week; Spring begins the 21; the 23rd, Good Friday, 24th, the end of Lent, whatever that means, and the 25th, Easter Sunday.

A-J Writer Criticised About Gomez

One Sunday recently, Mr. Kenneth May, on the staff of the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal had what we considered quite an interesting writeup of Brownfield vicinity. Of course he took up back about 1904, when the county seat issue between Brownfield and Gomez was at the boiling point, and concluded, "that nothing remains of Gomez," or words to that effect. Mr. May was taken to task by a writer on the other paper here, who pointed out that there still was a thriving store and filling station, a primary school building and a gin. The whole matter to us is clear. Mr. May was talking about the original town of Gomez, which was located some half or three-quarters of a mile southeast of the present village, which did not exist at that time. All that remains on the old Gomez square is the residence of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Winn. Back in the twenties, after the town had either moved to Brownfield, or the residences moved on farms, by an act of the Commissioners Court, the blocks and lots and plots of Gomez were transferred back to acreage, and Mr. Winn and others bought the land.

When the writer came to Brownfield in 1909, Gomez probably had more business houses than Brownfield, the latter's only advantage was having the courthouse. And at that time, the west side of the county, having more farms, nearly always elected the county office holders. Even the Commissioners Precincts stopped about half way between the two towns, instead of coming up to the courthouse as at present. It used to be quite a joke over here, "Well, let them elect the officials, and when they move to Brownfield, we have added a new citizen and his family." It nearly always proved out that way, save in case of a Commissioner or Tax Assessor.

At the time we speak of, Gomez had a hotel and a rooming house; a dry goods and two grocery stores, and a combination hardware and dry goods; a drug store and a livery stable, a wagon yard and a blacksmith shop. It had two doctors and two lawyers, a postoffice and a Chamber of Commerce, then generally called a "Commercial Club." Their Chamber of Commerce had an elected set of officers and directors. They also had a bank (moved to Plains in 1910) and three churches that had their own buildings, Baptist, Methodist and Church of Christ. The Primitive Baptists and we believe the Presbyterians had organizations there. They also had their own com-

COFFEE SHOP CLOSED TODAY

The Brownfield Coffee Shop will open at 6 a. m. tomorrow (Saturday), after being closed yesterday and today for general repairs, according to Tess Fulfer, owner. New business hours for the Coffee Shop will be from 6 a. m. until 6 p. m., daily, except Sunday, when the shop will be open from 6 a. m. until 2 p. m. Formerly the hours were 5 a. m. until 9 p. m., and closed all day Sunday.

Bargain Center Opens Today In New Store

The Brownfield Bargain Center is having its formal opening today in its new, newly remodeled and redecorated store, across the street south of the old location. This new place was formerly occupied by the Piggly Wiggly grocery. The new place will have many feet of front show windows, and is decorated on the inside with pleasing tones and lighting. This new store is a far cry from the modest opening of 16 years ago, when Mr. and Mrs. Sam Kirschner came to Brownfield to open the store at the old location. On opening day, the ladies will be presented with orchids, and the men with cigarette lighters as souvenirs. A pair of men's boots will be given away, as well as a ladies suit. Special gifts for the children.

Since opening the store here 16 years ago, several other stores under name of Martins Department stores have been opened at Lamesa, Stamford, Munday, Plainview and Littlefield, with general offices in Lubbock. The local manager, Loyd S. (Doc) Burda, and his personnel will be expecting you to call to day and see their fine new department store. Some of the present employees have been with the firm from 12 to 15 years.

LARGE HAUL MADE FROM BOOTLEGGERS

Charges of illegal possession of liquor were filed Thursday by County Attorney Vernon Townes against two local men. Officers confiscated 8 pints, 1 one-half pint and four fifths of whiskey from J. W. Simmons, and 48 one-half pints of gin, 78 full pints, 200 half-pints of whiskey, and 66 cases of beer from A. C. Surratt. Townes said that this was one of the largest "hauls" ever made in this county from one man.

Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Sinclair have returned to their home in Detroit, Mich., following a 10 day visit with Mr. and Mrs. Prentice Walker and family.

mon school district, with a principal and three or four teachers, and between 200 and 300 pupils. They also had a large shingle covered tabernacle in the middle of the square where religious revivals of all faiths were held in summer, and where the fairs and other town meetings were held. Brownfield and Gomez, then being unorganized, there was no separate census in 1910, but 1472 people were counted in the county, and we believe that fully 600 of them lived either at Gomez or Brownfield in what was considered the town sections. Gomez had its share of the picnics and barbecues, but there was little dancing in those days, at least publicly, as many of the old pioneers were intensely religious, and many eyebrows would have been raised. However, Brownfield was a bit more liberal minded, and dances were held periodically in the old district courtroom, and the Gomez court room, and the Gomez young bloods would attend.

The present village is a nice place with its combination grocery and filling station, its ward school, which now is part of the Brownfield school system, as well as its gin. By the way, Gomez had a gin and grist mill. Had about forgotten to mention them. Of course it was no $60,000 outfit, being a one stand affair run by a gasoline engine. But it cared for the cotton raised in the area at that time.

Mr. May was correct about the original Gomez. His critic about the present neighborhood center on the Plains highway.

New Stop Signs Put Up In City

The police department of the City of Brownfield has released several local traffic engineering improvements in the city, including the erection of 13 new stop signs. A four-way traffic stop has been created at the intersection of D and Broadway streets, near the new high school, plus stop signs making D a semi-through street. Stop signs have also been put up at the intersection of D street and Tahoka Road, and North 2nd and Storey streets. One stop sign, at the intersection of N. 7th and Hill streets (by the city power plant), has been moved, permitting the bulk of the traffic to have a right-of-way.

Other improvements to be undertaken in the near future will include the addition of several 30 MPH speed limit signs on the highway routes through the city, plus 30 MPH signs on South 8th street. Addition of extra 15 mph School Zone signs at all local schools, including Phyllis G. Wheatley colored school, will also be made, officials said.

Old Friend And Schoolmate Passes

Mrs. Elliott Harris of this city phoned us of the passing of Thomas Arthur Harris, 72, a citizen of the O'Donnell section of Lynn county, since 1907. He died in a Lamesa Hospital from a heart attack. Arthur was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Sam Harris of Hardeman county, Tennessee, and we grew up and attended school in the same community. It had been many years since we had seen Arthur, during the greatest drought of this area, 1917-18. However, in 1918, Terry county received more rain than Lynn county, and that summer, grass was pretty good around in west Terry and Yoakum county, and Arthur and one of his neighbors leased some grass for their stock and moved them over here.

Funeral services were held at the O'Donnell Church of Christ Sunday afternoon and the body laid to rest in Tahoka cemetery. His wife died in 1934. Other than Elliott of this city, two other brothers and three sisters, a son and daughter, both of O'Donnell, and four grandchildren survive.

For the same period, Yoakum county reported 6 cases of chickentox; 30 of influenza; and 3 of measles.

BUS CLIMBS OVER CAR—Two soldiers from Fort Hood, Texas, were killed when their car and this shuttle bus collided at the intersection of a street and U. S. Highway 81 at Belton, Texas, early March 2. Another person in the car was injured and the bus driver suffered head injuries. The soldiers killed were Harold J. Plaster, 28, Batesville, Ark., and Walter Jennings, 30, Pulaski, Va. (AP)

BRAIN TUMOR SURGERY ON GOLDSTON CHILD

An aunt of little Linda Jean, 2 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John V. (Bud) Goldston, stated this week that the child underwent brain surgery at a San Francisco hospital Dec. 4. The pitiful thing connected with the surgery was that the operation destroyed the left eye which had to be removed. Presently, the little lady is in a hospital at Denver, Colo., where a plastic eye is being fitted. Her condition seems good, the folks report.

Church Of Christ To Have Spring Meeting

The annual spring meeting of the Crescent Hill Church of Christ is just a little over one week off. Members of the church are busily engaged in advertising this special meeting. All the residents of Brownfield, and the surrounding area, are invited to attend the meeting. During the next few days, many will be handed special invitation cards by members of this church. This spring meeting is an annual affair of the Crescent Hill Church of Christ, and is held the last two Sundays of March every year.

Former TCPLA Gives Funds For Hog Pens

The former Terry County Purebred Livestock Association this week donated $138.00 to county club boys to be used to purchase lumber and materials to construct panel pens for hogs to be shown in the Terry County Club Boys Stock Show here April 21, according to Lester Buford, Brownfield High School vocational agriculture instructor. Buford said that the pens will be constructed in the school VA shops, and will be started as soon as materials can be obtained. A. D. Wenzel, local Berkshire breeder, will assist in drawing up specifications for the pens. The pens will be used for the stock show and then will be knocked down and stored for use in next year's show, Buford said.

PRIMM DRUG HEAVILY DAMAGED BY WATER

Between two and three thousand dollars damage was caused by a broken water pipe in Primm Drug Store early Wednesday morning, according to C. C. Primm, owner. Water had completely covered the floor, causing heavy damage to drugs and other merchandise in the stock room.

MONTANAS IN TO RENEW LAST WEEK

Our old friends, Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Montana, were in to see us recently and to renew for the Herald, which they have taken for years. They live just over in Yoakum county, but near the Terry and Gaines county lines, getting their mail off a Seagraves rural route.

They were in fine fettle and a good humor as common. They always appear to be jolly, and invite us to come see them, and we shall surprise them some of these days with a visit to their farm. They formerly lived in the Harmony community in this county.

Like a lot of farmers in this section, the Montanas had the misfortune to have their maize blown down after the bad freeze in early November. Mr. Montana is going over that field and salvaging those heads, as grain is worth money now days. Come again folks.

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Welcher, who are in Dallas with their daughter now, have asked that any person wishing to begin and maintain a Linda Jean Welcher Fund send their contributions to the parents at Baylor Hospital, Room 3012, Dallas, Texas.

"CLOSED-BREEDING" PRODUCES BETTER BEEF

WASHINGTON — (AP) — More economical production from "closed lines" of breeding animals is proving important to the beef industry, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture. More than 150 closed lines of beef cattle are now being developed.

"Closed" breeding involves mating an outstanding bull to about 25 outstanding females. Thereafter, only the best bulls are bred back to females of the line. The result is to concentrate the good qualities in succeeding generations.

Stricklinly Speaking

By Old He

The Old He has been rather shaky on his pins for the past several days. The first real rip roaring cold of the winter landed on him like a ton of brick just before the advent of spring. Hence, this column may appear a bit added this week.

So, you have been wanting to know just how much a billion dollars is, do you? Some one down at old Fort Davis with a penchant for figures, and time hanging heavy on his hands, came up with something like this:

If you save a dollar every second, you have 60 in a minute, 3600 in an hour, 86,400 in a day, and 31,536,000 in a year. So, it would take you 31 years, 259 days, 1 hour and 46 minutes and 40 seconds to save a billion dollars.

It might be fun to try, anyway.

We see by the papers, principally those of Anton and Ropesville, that there is some talk of a Junior College for Hockey county. While not wishing to enter the argument pro or con, there has been some items of late that are rather discouraging to J. C's., that are already established and in operation—drafting of 18 year old youths—and that's coming.

It might be the better part of valor and the saving of taxes too, to let such things roll until we see what Uncle Joe is going to try to do, if we ever find out. Even some of the big 4 year colleges and universities are sorter up in the air about prospects.

Saw the big tank belonging to the local Texas National Guard unit rolling over the ground near the Legion Hall Sunday afternoon. From our point of observation, the guys who were riding it were not an object of our jealousy. It looked like rough riding to us. Somebody has to stand the gaff in wars.

Talking about war, and who ain't, pray tell us? We note that down at Austin both houses have passed the bill making it a law that all communists and fellow travelers must register. It is certain as death and taxes to get the OK of Gov. Shivers. People are fast finding out what those birds teach as well as what they're up to. And no one believes for a split second that a man or woman can be a loyal citizen, and at the same time teach and act communism.

And before we forget there is a heavy penalty for not complying. It carries both a penitentiary sentence and a heavy money fine, and in case of sabotage, it can mean death in the electric chair.

Countdown and Big D are still at it. If those burgs ever quit fighting, look out. The world may be coming to an end. They not only fess over airports, exports and imports, but right now, religion has stepped into the breach. One of those burgs "sont off to Rear Rareback" and imported a "whole-of-a-Billy Sunday evangelist." So, last week, the other village saw fit to import another "sawdust trail" artist. Now it is Good Old Time Religion, is good enough for my dear-old mother and brother, but too good for Dallas, or Fort Worth, depending on the place you attend.

Had a nice letter from one of our Arkansaw readers who gets his mail at Booneville. He says: "You sure have a fine paper, and if I knew a lot more people out there, it would even be better." Then, he offers just a bit of very just criticism. He wants us to give the No. of the section, block, etc., instead of saying it is so many miles this or that direction from somewhere.

We can see his point of view. Most of these people have land in Terry. And they have obtained maps from some of our law or abstract firms. If they have the block and section number they can pinpoint their map, and tell exactly how close the wildcat is to their land. From now on, as much as possible we'll follow his advice in our crude oil news reports:

A letter to hand under date of Feb. 27th from Representative Waggoner Carr, in which he brings to mind the thousands of dollars our laborers and merchants lose annually on hot checks. He states that the present law in regard to hot checks seems to be entirely inadequate, as they don't seem to carry enough sting to discourage their giving. Therefore, in view of this fact, Mr. Carr is introducing an anti hot check bill especially designed to hit hard at those who use the hot check to defraud.

If any of his constituents here have in mind anything they wish to suggest to him about such a bill with teeth in it, he will appreciate a letter or wire right away.

We started out to read a piece in Readers Digest the past week about "worrying." And it appeared that the guy really thought we should worry a bit. In fact, quite a bit. After reading for some time, we couldn't figure out whether or not the author was treating the article as a joke, comedy or tragedy. So, we quit and looked up another story that appealed to us.

Well, we referred to our book from which we usually copy the stuff we palm off as humor. After seeing that most of them were jokes about "women", we took out, as three of our five readers are of the fair sex. Bye-bye for this week.

Room Divider Multiplies Storage Room

BY EDNA MILES

FOR those whose dream houses are still just dreams, American furniture designers offered a number of pieces of interest in recent winter market showings.

Outstanding among these is a room divider created to serve a double purpose as partition and storage space. If your family relies upon one room for all aspects of daily living, you might find this piece useful for screening off a nook for the baby's crib, for separating a dining area from the rest of the room, or for shutting a corner kitchen from general view.

Storage space—which includes drawers, open counters, and shelves enclosed by sliding doors—is accessible from both sides.

The divider (at right) is made up of metal, dimpled and plain plywood, and plastic panels, and stands 59 inches high. It is four feet wide with panels obtainable in seven different colors, which may be combined to suit the purchaser's taste.

Also helpful to those not yet permanently settled is multi-purpose furniture. There's a trend away from living room or bedroom suites as such, and many new pieces may be swapped from room to room as they're needed.

The two-drawer night-stand that graces your bedroom today might well double as a corner table in your living room next time you shift quarters.

NOT FOR ART'S SAKE—Sgt. Melvin Bowley, of Seattle, Wash., is shown as he "decorated" the turret of his M-4 tank with a string of fragmentation hand grenades in Korea. Tank Commander Bowley wasn't thinking of appearances, but was using the foresight of a battle-wise tank fighter.

AWAITING THE ENEMY—From a hill overlooking the Han River and the wide plains before the South Korean capital, Seoul, these UN troops were able to watch a large area in their search for signs of the enemy. The soldiers silhouetted here have just finished digging their foxholes and appear to be prepared to strike at anything that might approach.

LEGS AND EGGS — With a "who me?" expression on her face, this three-legged chick seems surprised to find that she is considered unusual. But if the extra drumstick isn't enough to make the chick a rarity her dual egg-producing facilities should help. Appropriately enough, this little oddity was named after her home town, Climax, N. Y.

The Terry County Herald

GEE GEE PRIVITT, Society Editor

Gee Gee's Chit Chat

Seems like I have spring on the brain. Well, why not? It happens to be my favorite time of the year. Nothing is finer than to get up early on a Spring morning and smell the lovely clean air and hear the birds singing a symphony in the trees, and just feel GOOD, simply because it's Spring and there's promise in the air.

Of course, some days it's only promise of a sandstorm, but I can even stand those when I know that Spring is just around the corner and I can soon get out and dig in the yard and see things grow. Funny, isn't it? I even surprise myself at times. I get overloaded with mirth or something, though, at this time of the year. And I, too, have my fever, little friends. I still like it.

Ida Mae Shelton, over at Shelton's Ready-to-Wear, is even rushing the season more. She has her jewel-tone bathing suits displayed very attractively in her shop, and they are really slick. Stop me if I'm wrong, Ida Mae, but I believe that fashion this year gives the nod to the, one-piece suit, and although none of the local stores ever carried them, I understand that the Bikini suit is practically obsolete this year. Which suits me, as I never thought a gal with a perfect figure looked particularly good in the Bikini. Anyway, Ida Mae's jantzens are very attractive, and you might start getting ready for the swimming season now. It won't be long anyway.

Not that there's any connection with bathing suits and him, but I'd sure like to congratulate Harmon Howze on being elected president of the Brownfield Chamber of Commerce last week. If you don't know this character, you've really missed something, for my money. Actually, he's not nearly as crazy as he acts, and looks and is a pretty good feller. Seriously Harmon, I know you'll do a terrific job, because you'll have lots of help from yours truly and Red Smith, anyway.

Congratulations also go to Mrs. J. T. (Minnie Hazel) Bowman who was the recipient of a $50.00 savings bond from McKinney's Insurance Agency this week. The award was made as part of the formal open house held at Oak Grove housing addition here last week.

Congratulations also to Mesdames S. T. Miller, A. T. Stafford, B. S. Morris, Bernice Huckabee, and L. M. Pace, and Mr. Les Short, who were given theatre passes to the Jones Theatres last week by the Herald and its advertisers on the theatre page. Advertisers who are in on this project, the Tarpley Insurance Agency, Gore Fashion Shoppe, Harold Crites Texaco Service, Ted Hardy's Grocery and Market, Melody Music Mart, Avinger Lumber Co., Purcell Clothiers, Fox Paint and Paper Supply, Fleming Typewriter and Supply, Warren & Rickerts Cosden Station, and S. B. (Shorty) Collier Gulf Station. Be sure to read your theatre page this week... your name may be listed somewhere in these ads, and that means you can clip that ad and present it at the box office of any of the Jones Theatres next week only, for a free show on all of us.

Since I mentioned Fox Paint and Paper Supply in the above paragraph, I would like to mention that they have a beautiful line of wallpapers at their business at 114 N. 6th street. Their two outstanding lines are Boxer and Cassidy Hicks, and they have some of the most striking designs I have ever seen. If you are in the line for any type of wallpapers, whether conventional patterns or bold or novelty, you should certainly go through their samples.

I told Ruth Huckabee over at the First National Bank that I knew she was a versatile person, but, in all truthfulness, I had to admit that I didn't know she was an interior decorator until I walked into the bank this week and could see all of her little schemes falling into place. She has combined shades of green from pastel to deep, with a soft rose and grays to make it a completely pleasing and comfortable place to do business in.

Let it be said here and now, and understood, that I do not hate children. I will have to confess that some of them I care more for than others, but as a whole, children are certainly okay with me. It is very seldom that you will find anyone who will say flat-out that they hate or dislike children. It just isn't normal. In fact, most of you will say that you love them, and you are probably telling the truth.

So, granted that you like children, why do you put their lives, as well as the lives of other humans, in jeopardy by allowing them to tote around those B-B guns, shooting at random at anything, or maybe nothing, in particular? Damage to property in Brownfield by BB gunshots are becoming increasingly high. "Brother Bill" Spreen, amiable pastor of the First Christian Church, called to my attention this week the fact that some thoughtless person or persons had shot out some of the glass blocks in the cross on top of his church. Perhaps it was or was not intentional, but the fact remains that it is done. It not only will cost considerable dollars to replace the blocks, but it is a terrible thing when even children have no more respect for a house of God than to go around shooting at it.

As far as I know, no person, so far, has been injured by a BB gun, but that must be charged up, to just sheer luck, in my book. It's getting pretty bad when the state legislature has to be asked to ban the guns in Texas. Whether or not it is that bad, I am not equipped to say, but it seems to me that parents who give their children the guns could at least teach them how and when to use the guns and lay down a few laws concerning their use. There's a time and place for everything you know, and BB guns, like drugs, must be used with a great deal of discretion lest they cause irreparable damage. So, parents, please, see if you can't straighten your kids and their guns out before they both come to grief.

Okay, so I sound like Elsie Dinsmore. So I still mean it.

Don't forget that today (Friday) is the grand opening of the bigger, and better, Brownfield Bargain Center, right across the street, south of the former location on the southwest side of the square. This establishment has been in Brownfield for the past 16 years, and has grown with the town. This latest move into a modern and well-stocked building is another sign of our times. The entire population of Brownfield and its trade area is cordially invited to attend the formal opening, beginning at 9 a. m., this morning, and look over the store. There will be orchids for the ladies, cigarett lighters for the men, with door prizes for a pair of men's Olsen-Seltzer boots and a ladies suit. There will also be added attractions for the kids. Son don't forget to drop into the all-new Brownfield Bargain Center today. And my congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Sam Kirschner and family and the staff of the Bargain Center for another step forward.

Fancy Dresses for Spring Fancies

BY EDNA MILES

IN spring a young woman's fancy also turns to thoughts of that age-old problem of what to wear.

The cotton at right features enormous panier pockets, frosted with eyellet embroidery. The bodice of the Florida-fashioned dress buttons from waist to demure, round collar.

Tiny puffed sleeves and a full skirt complete the dress which is the sort of gayer than springtime creation for resort wear and other special dress-up occasions.

Dressier still is the glamorous party dress at left, fashioned from speckled, silky taffeta.

A coat-type dress, its flattering wing collar and velvet buttons produce a double-breasted effect. The hipline is full and gathered, broken by a wide self belt.

Either dress should make the junior miss a sure hit with the opposite sex as well as the envy of fellow fashion fans.

Equally as important, the creations embody good taste and so cannot help but to lend an air of discernment to the young lady's spring wardrobe.

WATER BOY MODERNIZED — Coach Sax Elliot of the Los Angeles State College basketball team is proving that even the job of the water boy can be brought up to date. Elliot has the team mascot roll out an oxygen tank to the players during all breaks. He says a whiff of the gas will not only help the men physically, but also give them a psychological boost. Perhaps he would call it a scientific pep talk.

A HEALTH CHECKUP IS A MUST

AUSTIN — "It has been well said that procrastination not only is the thief of time, but frequently the thief of life and health," Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, said today. "Indeed, medical records in physicians' offices prove that many persons die because they do not receive early diagnosis and prompt treatment for their condition. An outstanding example of this fact is the great number of deaths from tuberculosis that could have been prevented.

"Tuberculosis is a powerful enemy, no matter what its stage, but the fact remains that early discovery and adequate treatment offer the best opportunity for cure. If the patient upon being told that he has tuberculosis cooperates fully with the strict regimen and discipline outlined for him, the disease can usually be overcome."

Dr. Cox said that in line with some of the other major killers, tuberculosis is insidious in its approach. Acute pain and discomfort are absent, usually, and the symptoms are so comparatively mild that the patients is thrown off guard and considers them of little importance.

G. I. QUESTIONS and ANSWERS

Q—I saw a house I'd like to buy with a GI loan, but the selling price as a good deal higher than VA's appraisal of reasonable value. Will I be able to get a GI loan anyhow?

A—No. The law prohibits GI loans being made on property where the selling price is higher than the VA appraisal.

Q—While in service during peacetime, I was disabled as a result of an aircraft accident. At the time of the accident, I was on duty as a flight engineer on the plane that crashed. If I am awarded disability compensation by VA, will the pay be at wartime or peacetime rates?

A—The answer to this question depends upon the conditions under which you were serving at the time. Wartime rates apply to all service-connected disabilities resulting from conditions simulating war or hazardous conditions. Peacetime rates if these conditions are not met.

Q—I was awarded disability compensation a year and a half ago, and only recently someone told me he thought I should be getting more. Is it too late to appeal my disability rating?

A—Yes. Ratings must be appealed within one year after they were determined by VA. However, you may file a new application for increased compensation.

U. S. BLAMED FOR INDECENT BOOKS

LONDON—(AP) — Home Secretary Chuter Ede has ordered a country-wide drive against indecent publications. They are to be mostly of American origin.

They are reprinted by small-town printers in this country, and are believed to be circulated through a lending library which spreads indecent literature throughout Britain. Some of the books are typewritten and leave little to the imagination.

Traffic in indecent literature and pictures is said to have had a startling increase in the past two years.

Time Out for Some Questions

This week we go into the Red Cross drive. This year we must realize that we have an emergency on hand. The world is in a turmoil, and this turmoil can brake into anything, even to a world shooting affair. At the least we always have fires, floods, storms and other disasters that wreck communities, destroy property and leave people homeless, sick and despondent. These people must have attention, and generally this first aid to reach such a community is the Red Cross with its tents, provisions, medical supplies and expert service. There is never any charge to the community and individuals. So, let's always consider in giving to the Red Cross "that it could happen here." With all such domestic disaster possibilities, and with the addition of the possibility of a world wide conflagration it behooves each and every community to dig down as never before in raising its quota and more. Let's not stand by and see if the big cities are going to over-subscribe. The world will need all their surplus, as well as a surplus perhaps from every small hamlet, village and community in our nation. Let's forget partisan politics for the time being. When a person is sick, wounded or homeless, it makes little difference whether he is a Democrat, Republican or Socialist. Let's forget what church we affiliate with when it comes to giving to the Red Cross. They recognize all religions or none when their aid is called for. In fact their motto is based rather on the story of the good Samaritan in the New Testament. While the priest and the Levite may have passed by on the other side of the wounded man, the Good Samaritan had compassion. He rendered first aid to the wounded man, loaded him on his own beast and carried him to an inn. The aid did not stop there. He paid in advance for food and medicine for the man that had been robbed, beaten and left for dead, and left the instruction: "What more there may be, I will pay when I return again this way." Selfishness and complacency has no part whatever in the duties of the Red Cross. Their aid is for one and all, Jew and Gentile, bond and free, male or female, white, red, or black. GIVE!

jenny, electric lights and steam engines. Now perhaps the S-T editorialist thinks he is right about the inventor being an Englishman, but in the next few months we shall expect it to be announced officially from Moscow that Comrade Polecat Minksky of Putredovia invented the tank back in 1793—or was it the year before.

While the family food buyer in the smaller cities and rural communities generally go on the even tenor of their way in food buying, the big city housewife who buys the food for the table is something else yet again. In fact, most rural families at this time of year have their own fresh as well as cured meats, and pay small attention to the rise and fall of the markets. Not so with the city sisters. Every bite of meat on their tables must come from the local markets, and when they get too high, the city housewives simply boycott the markets. Supposedly they live on oatmeal and the cheaper meats and vegetables during the time. But we imagine the old man steps out at the noon lunch hour occasionally and pounces on a T-bone. But it can have a whale of an effect on the meat prices. After a big boost recently, followed by a meat strike by housewives, especially on the higher priced cuts, prices had a drastic drop of 30 percent. Another thing that is holding beef and pork in line is the abundance of poultry, there being a reported 50 million pounds of poultry now on cold storage, 22 percent more than at the same time last year. Lots of big city people are enjoying abundance of cold storage chicken, both hens and fryers, that had it rarely in the past.

According to those who are handling the financial end of the deal in the legislature down at Austin, they have a rather dismal outlook about the financial affairs of the state. This is the version of Senator Carney, chairman of the Finance Committee, and in spite of all that can be done, a deficit of $185 million seems to stare them in the face. Of course most of those who make any study about the matter whatever, know that three items take the cream of the crop in state spending, as follows: Education, $362 million; highways, $180 million and public welfare, $121 million. Of course there are many lesser expenses. The senator complains with quite some justice that, "if the people or organized groups with political influence demand more money for public school, state colleges, highways, and old age assistance, they must be prepared to foot the bill. Economy for the other fellow just does not work out." The writer, however, has been wondering what ever became of the idea that was talked during the campaigns last summer about sticking on a good round tax for natural resources such as sulphur, natural gas and oil that was being shipped or piped out of the state by the ton, billions of cubic feet and millions of barrels? At one time it was rumored that some kind of interstate law made it mandatory that any tax put on such resources that left the state had to bear a like tax in Texas. Well, let 'er come. If it means win or lose our natural resources, which most say will last 20 to 25 years, while we are piping it off almost scot free to some regions that have a 2500 year supply of coal. Let's get what we can. Maybe by the time our oil and gas is gone, atomic energy may be a new source of fuel, lights and power. Who knows?

The 22nd amendment to the Federal constitution has now been ratified by 36 of the 48 states, and with a few preliminaries, becomes the law of the land. For 165 years our nation needed no law of this kind. President Washington at the end of two terms of four years each stepped down and out, and his pattern set a precedent that was followed religiously until Franklin D. Roosevelt became President. He not only broke the precedent and ran for the third but also for the fourth term. Back in 1947, a Republican congress submitted the amendment to the several states. Eighteen of the state legislatures ratified the amendment that same year; 3 in 1948; 2 in 1949, one Louisiana, passed it in 1950, and 12 have passed on it so far this year, Texas being the 33rd. The only trouble with the amendment is that it exempts the present incumbent. He can run all the rest of his life, if he wishes. But after hearing so much of the graft and misuse of funds handed out by the RFC of late, and having run fresh out of "herring," Harry took off for his resort down at Key West, probably in quest of larger fish than herring.

We read a rather interesting editorial in the Star-Telegram in the Monday issue. Many of us think of the tanks used in the army as one means of wholesale destruction, with never a thought about who may have originated the idea of the tank. He was general Sir Ernest Swinton, of England, according to the S-T writer. During the first world war, the British Tommies had a hard time getting past machine gun nests erected by the Germans, without a huge toll of life. Of course the tank of that time was a crude affair compared to the present tank, and not very maneuverable. But it got the job done. The editorial went on to say that General Swinton died recently at the age of 83, but not before he saw the possibilities for destruction of his invention. This was not the case of the inventors of some of our other modern conveniences, such as the spinning

SANITARY MEASURES A COMMUNITY NECESSITY

AUSTIN—Millions of flies help to cause illness and death of thousands of children and adults each year in the United States. Hundreds of these casualties maybe in Texas this year if residents fail in their responsibility for developing the best possible sanitation measures in the area where they reside. Typhoid fever, summer complaint and other intestinal diseases can be traced to the common housefly as the carrier of the infection.

Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, speaking in this connection, recently said, "Be sure that windows and doors are tightly screened so that stray flies from a careless neighbor will not endanger your family. Be sure that flies are kept away from food, drink and utensils used in the preparation of food. Make sure, if you live in rural districts, that outside privy vaults are tightly covered so as not to permit the entrance of flies.

"Infections from this source can be picked up and spread to human beings through contact with food, drink and utensils. Keep all garbage covered until collected or buried. Eliminate all breeding places for flies-and you will be helping your community in its work of controlling communicable diseases and preventing unnecessary illness."

Now is the time to do away with the winter's accumulation of trash. Clean up and stay clean is a good slogan for communities and individual citizens.

RABBIT EXTERMINATION CAMPAIGN

SYDNEY — (AP) — "A disease, encouraged by man and spread by mosquitoes is killing off thousands of unwanted rabbits in Australia. The rabbit-killing disease is myxomatosis.

Rabbits infected with the virus become blind and die of starvation. Australians are encouraging the disease because rabbits are a big pest here. They roam in millions over the sheep country; devouring enormous quantities of grass that could be used for sheep grazing.

DON'T WAIT FOR SPARE SECONDS TO DO BEAUTY FIRSTS: UTILIZE WORKING HOURS

BY EDNA MILES
WOMEN who insist they have no spare moments for beauty routines often discover they can find the necessary time by combining activities.

If, at the end of a long working day, you would prefer relaxing with a book to prettifying your hands, you may discover it isn't really necessary to make a choice. Do both.

There's no need to sit idle, pouting with boredom, while you give your cuticles your weekly treatment. Do one hand at a time, soaking your fingertips in a bowl of oil, leaving the other free to turn the pages of your currently favorite novel.

This is a good trick to remember when giving yourself a facial or applying cream treatments. Instead of sitting around and counting minutes until the procedure is finished, you might try taking a nap or even—if you're really intent upon getting full value from your time—washing the supper dishes.

Discolored elbows, too, can be whitened while you knit or read. Slice a lemon in two and place each half in a bowl small enough to hold it in firm position. A custard dish is excellent for this. Place your elbows upon the lemons and let them bleach while you finish your argyle or an exciting chapter.

"The Oil People! Sich Funny Folks!"

Recently we heard a lady say "I get tired of people asking me: 'Are you one of them oil people?'"

This lady said one after being asked that question she told a lady: "I lived in Hobbs, an oil town, for several years, and when the farm people came to town, we never did ask them: 'Are you one of them farm people?'"

It seems there are a few people who have the idea that anyone connected with the oil development is a cheat and a crook. Nothing could be more false.

The lady mentioned above said that the oil workers are people who at one time or another were farm workers trying unsuccessfully to make a living and saw the advantages of working in the oil development and that they are no different from the family of the service station attendant, the truck driver or the grocer clerk.

One thing oil does for any town is to put money in it. At one time it might have been a sleepy little village—but let 30 or 40 families of oil people move into a place and over night it becomes a beehive of activity. Instead of the oil people doing violence to the locals it is usually the other way around. Rent is usually given a stiff hike—and the local people practically fight each other to see who can relieve the oil worker of his pay check first.

The people who work in the oil business are just common plain every day people; the most of them good; a few bad—about the same percentage as any other class.

Sure you always see and hear of a few thugs that follow up these type of people, because they make good money, but anywhere you see people working hard and making good money, you will see a few leaches who will try by some means to get part of that money without working for it.

Don't look down on the oil people—just feel sorry for them for the way the local people take advantage of them.

It is said that these people are lawless and care nothing for law and order—but that is not the case. In the year 1950 this writer, while presiding over the only justice court in this county, pass-

OVERRULES HANDICAP — Twenty-seven-year-old Edith Fisch, who has been unable to walk since she was 12, has earned three law degrees at Columbia University. This is an accomplishment never matched by man or woman in the university's history. Edith, a polio victim, hopes to teach at Columbia soon.

ed upon more than 300 complaints filed by members of the Sheriff's department, Texas Highway patrol, Texas Rangers and other enforcement officials and only a very small percent of these violations were committed by people known as "Oil people."

Our only complaint is that our town does not have more and better facilities to care for all who would like to live here and help develop and promote the vast mineral resources of this county.—Aspermont Star.

Aspermont is somewhat in the same position Brownfield was a year or more ago. A lot of people had an idea that oil field people were at least a third cousin of an outlaw. This idea was of course confined to people who had never been in an oil field town.

They read about such booms as Ranger and Snyder, where the riffraff came in with the law abiding oil field worker, who generally speaking, is about the same kind of human as the farm hand or store clerk. It will all wear off with Aspermont people, soon, Bro. Richards.

Treatment Makes Cotton Stronger

AUSTIN — Cotton fibers are strengthened by ten per cent or more by a new hydrocyanic acid treatment discovered by a University of Texas scientist.

"The discovery is expected to strengthen all types of cotton products," Dr. Vernon L. Frampton, University research scientist who developed the new fiber treatment, said.

The discovery also lengthens greatly the life of cotton garments laundered in soap.

Dr. Frampton and his associates found the new process while conducting experiments to find a way to stop the degrading effects of fungi, bacteria, and the sun's ultra-violet rays on cotton fibers.

The discovery is just one advance in the University scientist's long range program started in 1947 to develop resistance in cotton fibers to all deterioration.

Their work is part of the extensive program of the Texas Cotton Research Committee, made up of the presidents of the University, Texas A&M College, and Texas Technological College. The

How Loud Does a Guy Have to Yell?

"IT'S ALMOST PUSH BUTTON TIME, KIDDIES!"—Want to shave, watch television and receive a gentle massage without getting out of bed? Then the Acousticool, exhibited in Indianapolis, is for you. As fabulous as the Arabian nights, the super slumber couch features: a button-controlled, sound-proofed "bundling board" that turns the double bed into twins; thermostats; pulsating mattresses; two telephones; TV set; fire extinguisher; electric razor; electric tooth brush; thermometer; altimeter; turn and bark indicator; electric vibrator; radio; reading lamps; a device for projecting reading material on the ceiling, and, of course, the inevitable pesky alarm clock. Model Marguerite Guarnay does not come with the bed.

RIVER UNDER A RIVER—This was a welcome sight for farmers of California's southern San Joaquin Valley. Thirsty crops in the valley will soon be receiving a plentiful supply of water from the 153-mile-long siphon which is shown here as workmen neared its completion recently. The man-made river will carry waters of the Friant-Kern canal under the stream bed on its way south from Friant Dam, near Fresno, to the San Joaquin farmlands.

Recent photograph of a Texas primary highway

Damaged highways, such as the Texas highway shown in this picture, are a hazard to the safe operation of automobiles, farm trucks and other motor vehicles.

It costs three times as much to build roads that will withstand the loads of big trucks now being operated over them than it does for the smaller trucks and automobiles.

Latest records show $115,282,344 was spent on Texas highways for the year ending August 31, 1950.

A bill sponsored by the big truck operators is before the Texas Legislature. This bill proposes . . .

- (1) to increase the load limit from the present 48,000 pounds to 72,000 pounds, and
- (2) to increase the maximum truck length from 45 feet to 50 feet.

Recent official highway tests at La Plata, Md., sponsored by the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads, the highway departments of eleven states and the District of Columbia, effectively demonstrated that as trucks increased in size and loads, roads cracked up and "died" more quickly.

We need to safeguard our highways for Civilian and Military use. "Increased heavy loading might seriously disrupt the effectiveness of essential routes in the event of an all-out war," according to T. J. Kauer, director of the Ohio Highway Department and Chairman of the La Plata road test committee.

The big truckers want the taxpayers to continue providing expensive highways for them to use as "rights-of-way" for their own, selfish, personal gain.

THIS IS A TUG-OF-WAR BETWEEN THE BIG TRUCKERS AND THE TAXPAYERS OF TEXAS!

Automobiles and small trucks do not require extra strong, extra costly highways. The truth is, that the big truckers are putting the "pinch" on the pocketbooks of the Texas taxpayers.

Miller Drops In To Raise Some Sand

As if we hadn't already received our share of sand and dust of late, T. O. Miller, erstwhile Brownfieldite, now of Happy, Texas, dropped in to kick up a little more, Monday. He hadn't been getting his Herald regularly since he moved. But that gal that tries to keep our subscribers happy, checked, and there it was, Happy, Texas, and the correct box number.

Perhaps Happy is such a large place and so many T. O. Millers live up there, that it is hard for the P. M. to find the one to hand the Herald to. Anyway, T. O. has bought a place, but he says it has been so dry this winter that he has some doubts of a wheat crop, although they had a very good rain last week. Just so dry that no small amount of rain is going to help much, especially with so much dry wind of late.

Then right on top of that we had another from Mrs. Kermit R. Howard, who recently moved from Arkansas to Lemay, Mo., which seems to be a part of the city of St. Louis. But our mail gal failed to change the Ark. part of the address. The Old He gets the blame for everything.

Mrs. H. wants the address corrected at once as they wish very much to get their Herald, she says, which often contains items about people who are near and dear to them. We hope the Howards get every copy of the Herald promptly from this on.

BIG HIKE IN AMOUNT OF MAIL HANDLED

While the January - February postal receipts showed only a 6.2 percent gain over that of 1950 at the local postoffice, the number of pieces of mail handled in the same months this year over last year showed a jump of 27 percent.

Postal receipts Jan., Feb., this year, $9,804.99; Jan., Feb., 1950, $9,226.84.

Letters and advertising pieces mailed this year were 6,502 per day. Handled for the same period in 1950, 4,753.

Dan Davis Came In To Argue Some

Our good friend, Dan Davis, of the Dan Davis Trucking Co., of Amarillo, dropped in on us this week. Most of those here a few years ago remember that first, he made Tahoka a good citizen, then Brownfield for the few years. Dan has just been down to Austin on the firing line. From what we can gather the idea was to get as good a deal for the trucking companies as possible—a boost in the load limit, perhaps.

Evidently, from what we have read of late, the fight is not confined between the railroads and trucking concerns, but the highway department seems to be taking a hand. And as we are not qualified to sit on the jury in this case, the boys will just have to fight it out among themselves. However, we hope that old John Q., the taxpayer, will be given due consideration.

Dan says most of his trucking is oil and oil field supplies. And, he states that he tries to track the law on loads.

BIG SPRING MEN BUY UNION GIN

If we had known it before, we had forgotten, that the Union Gin had sold in December. Noting that Mr. and Mrs. Jack Ragan were moving to Seminole this week, we made inquiries. Mr. Ragan will build a new gin in Seminole.

The gin firm of Keyton & Acuff, of Big Spring, are now the owner of the Union Gin. Herman Chesshir informed us this week.

ATTENDS BOARD MEETING

Three Pool Extensions In Oil Situation

At least two, and a strong possibility of a third well in three of the pools in Terry county, made considerably better reading this week. This after several wildcat failures for the past few weeks that put cold shivers in the spins of we gentry with a very limited knowledge of the oil game. But we have to keep in mind that the oil business is a game—a game of chance. Nobody knows this better than the real oil people who search for the black gold.

This reminds us that Oil Editor Jack Benefield, of the Avallanche-Journal had a map and a rather interesting story about possible oil reserves "in the Lubbock area", as the article termed it. But the area stopped short with the south line of Crosby, Lubbock, Hockley and Cochran counties in Texas, and Roosevelt and Curry counties in New Mexico. The northern border in Texas was Farmer, Castro, Swisher and Briscoe counties.

This reminded us of the recent big edition of the Midland Reporter that stopped off with Andrews county, a part of Lawson, and southern Lea county in New Mexico. Some of these days we're going to haul off and get out a special oil edition to suit us including Terry, Yoakum, Gaines and Dawson. But don't hold your breath too long.

Anyway, the sixth well in the South Brownfield pool is in process of finishing, the No. 3 Stitt, by Union Oil Co., which is a quarter mile south extension of this pool, section 91, blk T. After a two months struggle, in which part of the time it looked like a failure to the uninitiated, this hole came through with a 928 barrel per day producer, of 44 gravity oil.

Also, down in the Adair Wolfcamp in south Terry, the No. 3

Cope shall bring the special music. The sermon topic for Sunday evening is "Redeemed by the Blood," and the choir shall sing "Nailed to the Cross."

Carl Golden, a Sinclair Oil Co. well, they hit the jackpot for one of the strongest in that pool so far, it being a north offset. This is section 7, section C-37. Total depth 8,559 feet. Test was 1388 barrels of 44 gravity oil. Sinclair has also made location for the No. 4 Golden.

At this time it looks like the No. 1 A. M. Brownfield. Anderson-Pritchard Oil Corp., is to be a good well. Preparations are being made to perforate and test, but oil was said to be standing within 1500 feet of the top on a total depth of 9,850. Also, in the same Wellman pool the A-P No. 3 Seales was also looking good.

Another good prospect in the South Brownfield pool is a north-east offset, No. 1, Schpeengost, Union Oil Co. They should be within 200 feet of pay now.

Rev. and Mrs. E. L. Naugle of Plains, were visitors in the home of Mrs. J. L. Randal recently. He is the pastor of the Methodist church at Plains. It so happens that Mrs. Naugle attended high school in Seymour, and stayed in the home of Mrs. Randal's sister, Mrs. Charley Randal, of that city.

Jessie Garrison of Carleton, N. M., and Scott Garrison of Monahans, have returned home after visiting their father, J. R. Garrison in the local hospital. The elder Garrison suffered a broken leg several weeks ago. His sister, Mrs. Roy Roberson of Sherman, is expected to visit him.

Mrs. A. J. Stricklin Sr., visited her sister, Mrs. J. A. Roberts and daughter, Miss Letha Nell in Coahoma, last week. She was accompanied as far as Ackerly by Mrs. Jack Price, who visited with her daughter, Mrs. Doyle Kelsey and Mr. Kelsey. The latter is minister of the church of Christ in Ackerly.

The ancient Indians in the southwestern part of what is now the United States built the first American apartments houses, some of them containing 1,200 rooms.
