BROWNFIELD, TEXAS, FRIDAY, MARCH 23, 1951

NUMBER 35

NEW OFFICERS ELECTED BY WEST TEXAS GAS CO.

R. F. Hinchey, West Texas Gas Company president, was named chairman of the board of directors at a meeting in Kansas City Tuesday, Mar. 13. C. I. "Stony" Wall was named to succeed Mr. Hinchey as president.

Simultaneous announcements were also made about four other promotions within the company: T. S. Whittis was named vice president, transmission; H. F. Heath, vice president, distribution; J. J. Wiley, vice president, accounting and budget control; and R. M. Curry, assistant to the president.

These six men have a total of more than 10 years service with West Texas Gas Company.

Mr. Hinchey came to West Texas Gas Company from Okmulgee, Okla., June 1, 1927, as vice president and general manager. His first task was to supervise construction of a gas transmission line from the Panhandle Gas Field down into the South Plains and of distribution plants in the various cities and towns which were to be served.

Stony Wall, new company president, has a background in the industry that almost parallels that of Mr. Hinchey except that practically all his working life has been spent with West Texas Gas Company.

Stony is a member of the Lubbock Rotary Club, Masonic Lodge, and he also is well known for his active participation in civic work and his promotion of West Texas athletics. He is a graduate of the University of Kansas, where he achieved national renown for his participation in collegiate football.

T. S. "Thurman" Whittis, new vice president, transmission, began his career with West Texas Gas Company in 1930 as rod man and instrument man on construction of Littlefield city distribution plant. His other work with the company has included service as a surveyor and draftsman in the engineering department on city plant and main line construction clerk in Lubbock city office, clerk in Plainview city office, superintendent of the gas measurement department in Lubbock, engineer, and general superintendent, transmission.

H. F. "Herman" Heath, new vice president, distribution, started to work for the company in 1928 as clerk in Lubbock city office. In 1930 he was appointed Brownfield district manager and remained in Brownfield until 1945, at which time he transferred to Midland as Midland district manager. He returned to Lubbock as superintendent of city plants in 1948. He was made general superintendent, distribution, in 1950, the job he held at the time of his recent promotion.

Herman is a member of the Masonic Lodge and the Lubbock Lions Club. He was president of the Brownfield Lions Club while stationed there. He attended West Texas State College, Canyon.

J. J. "Bill" Wiley, new vice president, accounting and budget

Pickup, Delivery Service Resumed

Pickup and delivery service has been resumed by the Railway Express office here following a five month suspension, according to information received from R. L. Harris, agent.

Sam Parks has contracted to take over the pickup and delivery service. The service will be extended within a mile radius of the depot, with the exception of west.

The decision was made last week following a meeting of a special chamber of commerce committee and District Superintendent Gray of the Amarillo railway express office. The local chamber of commerce committee was composed of Harmon Howze, chamber president and C. G. Griffith, Paul Campbell, Kenneth Purcell and K. D. Adams.

Annual federal inspection of the Assault Gun Co., 2nd Bn., 112th Armored Cavalry Regt., Texas National Guard was held Wednesday, according to Capt. Sam Privitt, company commander.

Col. John F. Roehm, 4th Army, was inspecting officer. This is the first federal inspection of the company since reorganization of the unit last June, Privitt said.

The inspection included troop inspection in ranks, dismounted drill, training, and administrative and supply functions. The company now has a medium tank, a 2 1/2-ton truck, two 3/4-ton trucks, and a 1/2-ton truck, for use in their training.

The company now has a strength of 50 men, with three officers and one warrant officer.

FIVE GENERATIONS OF THE PRICE FAMILY

Mrs. E. E. Proctor, and daughter, Mrs. Lewis DuBoise, and little son, were in this week to show us a picture taken recently of five generations now living of the late T. J. Price family. Of course, Grandma T. J. Price was the head of the generations, and great, great grandmother. Others were:

Mrs. E. E. Proctor, of Terry county, great grandmother; Mrs. Vernon Welch, London, Texas, grandmother; Mrs. Don Wimberly, mother, of Uvalde, Texas, and her son, Donnie.

We might add that Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Proctor have heeded the Biblical injunction to multiply and replenish the earth. Several pictures of the 1 sons and daughters as well as the in-laws, were shown us, as well as a group of 42 Proctor offspring.

4-H GIRLS WILL HAVE BAKE SALE

Eight and nine year old 4-H club girls of Yoakum county will hold a bake sale Saturday, March 24, at the corner of City Drug here, beginning at 1 p. m.

Easter decorated cakes, which were made by the club girls, will be sold, and they cordially invite everyone to inspect and purchase their wares.

CENSUS NOTICE!

Parents, if you have been missed by the Census Taker and have children who will be six or under 18 years of age by September 1, 1951, please render your child's census with any of the nearby public schools or with the county school superintendent in the court house.

Your immediate attention in this matter will be appreciated.

Red Smith Named Lions President

Wayne (Red) Smith, Brownfield Chamber of Commerce manager, was elected president of the Brownfield Lions Club at a regular meeting held Wednesday at the Esquire Restaurant. He succeeds Dr. T. H. McIlroy.

Other officers named were Crawford Taylor, first vice president; Jake Geron, second vice president; Harry Goble, third vice president; and Bob Tobey, secretary.

New directors named were Vernon Townes, Jr., and James Warren. Outgoing directors are J. E. Gillham and Lynn Nelson.

The new officers will take office in July. Purpose of holding the election now is so they may attend the district convention in Hereford next month and the Lions International convention in Chicago next month.

Too Many Drives For Funds, Worthy Causes

The American public are being called upon for too many financial drives. The public is reacting against the policy of every kind of organization which is seeking to draw money for its particular cause.

All of the causes are good, and deserve much more than the people are putting up. There is no justification in saying that we will not support these worthy causes.

Just consider, if you please, the plight of Mr. Average Citizen. The federal government is taking more of his cash in income taxes and social security; it is likely that the State of Texas will find ways to take more of his money; the local schools, the local city and the local county all need more money to meet the higher cost of operation; his church, lodge and every local institution feels that this is a good time to get more money.

Mr. Average Citizen may be a little better off today than he was a year ago—that is, his income may have increased—but likewise the demands upon his purse have increased and increased and increased. As a result of all these increases chances are that he has less cash at the end of the month or end of the year than he had a few years back when he worked at a lower income.

We have always held to the theory that it made no difference Average Citizen took in—whether it be a dollar per day, or a dollar per hour. The thing is: What does this money buy? If the money of several years ago bought more than his increased pay of today will buy, then we are kidding ourselves about this wonderful prosperity.

The big centers hold Community Chest drives to take care of local needs. There should be a national chest of some kind to take care of these national drives which are demanding so much from the pocketbooks of our citizens.—Canyon News.

LOCAL MAN HEADS MEDICAL SOCIETY

Dr. A. H. Daniell was elected president of the District 2 State Medical Society at a meeting held last week in Midland. He succeeds Dr. Ranier of Odessa.

Dr. Cecil B. Knox, Jr., of Seagraves was elected secretary-treasurer of the society at the meeting.

Among the speakers at the meeting was Dr. William Gamble of Austin, who is president of the state society.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Shirley of Perry, Iowa, visited this week with their son, Jack Shirley, and family.

BANK NAMES COLLIER ASSISTANT CASHIER

W. R. McDuffie, president of the First National Bank, has announced Carroll Collier as an assistant cashier.

Collier, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Collier, has been employed with the bank about two years. He is married and has two children.

He has been employed with the First National since his graduation from Abilene Christian College, following his service during World War II in the armed forces.

Bill Dugger New VFW Commander

Bill Dugger was named commander of Hand Brothers Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, at a meeting held March 16 at Veterans Hall. Dugger succeeds Dr. A. H. Daniell.

Other officers named are: Paul Campbell, senior vice commander; Charles Kersh, junior vice commander; Wayne (Red) Smith, quartermaster; Harmon Howze, post advocate; Vernon Townes, Jr., chaplain; Dr. Daniell, surgeon; and Rogers Curry, trustee for three year term. Curry succeeds Campbell.

Other officers and committee chairmen will be named by the commander at a later date.

Installation of the new officers will be held at the next regular VFW meeting, which will be held April 10, at Veterans Hall.

Hiway Cafe Opening For Business Today

The Hiway Cafe, located at 615 Lubbock Road, is opened for business today according to Mr. and Mrs. Butch Whitaker, owners and operators.

Formerly the Hiway Grocery and Market, the new Hiway Cafe will be open for business from 5 a. m. until midnight daily except Sunday. The cafe will be closed all day on Sundays. The cafe will feature curb service from 11 a. m. until 11 p. m., Whitaker said.

Mr. and Mrs. Whitaker come to Brownfield from Lamesa, but operated a cafe in Brownfield from 1941 until 1945. They have been in the cafe business for 11 years. The couple has five children, two of whom are married.

The public is cordially invited to attend today's opening of the Hiway Cafe. Coffee and doughnuts will be served to all guests today.

LIONS CLUB EASTER EGG HUNT TOMORROW

The annual Lions Club Easter egg hunt for local elementary school age children and under, will begin at 2:30 p. m., Saturday in the southeast corner of Coleman Park, according to Otis Larner, chairman of the project.

Larner said that 25 prizes would be given at the annual egg hunt. A special section of the park will be set aside for the very small children who participate in the hunt, he said.

Members of Larner's committee are Dennis Lilly, Harry Goble, Clyde Bond, Jr., and George Wade.

COLONIAL HEIGHTS ADDITION TO OPEN

The dedication deed plat for a new housing addition in southeast Brownfield was presented to the city council at its regular meeting Thursday night, with a request for bringing the addition into the city limits.

Developers of the plat have named the addition Colonial Heights. The addition is located between Rippetto, Long, and Hester streets, east and west, and Maple and Pine streets, north and south, in the 1200 and 1300 blocks.

Burton Hackney, Virgil Crawford and Glen Akers are developers for the new addition, which will include 64 lots. A spokesman said that, of the 64 lots, there are twelve 100 foot lots and fifty-two 75 foot lots.

Mrs. Clovis Kendrick left today for Ashdown, Ark., accompanied by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Henson, who have been visiting here.

EASTER PROGRAMS AT CHURCHES PLANNED

Special Easter services at local churches have been planned for Sunday, March 25.

Observing Holy Week, members of the First Presbyterian Church have had services at their church each night this week. According to Rev. Tom Keenan, minister of the church.

Rev. Keenan's Easter morning sermon will be "He is Not Here For He is Risen." Special music will be a solo by Jack Shirley, "The Holy City".

Westminster fellowship will be held at 6:15 p. m., Sunday, and the evening sermon will be "Victory." Music for the evening service, which begins at 7:30 p. m., will be by the junior choir.

At 7:30 p. m., tonight (Friday) members of the First Presbyterian and First Methodist Churches will hold a joint communion at the Presbyterian church, in observance of Good Friday. Rev. Keenan and Rev. Dallas D. Denison, minister of the Methodist church, will hold the communion.

Easter message at the 11 a. m. service at the First Methodist church will be "He is Risen." Special music by the choir will be "Bells of Easter, Ring" and "We Have Seen the Lord."

The Sunday evening message at the Methodist Church will be on "The Risen Christ and His Commission to Us."

Rev. Fred Stumpp, minister of the First Baptist Church, will use as his sermon topic Sunday morning "He is Not Here . . . He is Risen." The choir will offer "I Know My Redeemer Liveth" and Mrs. Bill Cope, Mrs. Grady Goodpasture, and Mrs. Gerald Nelson will sing "The Old Rugged Cross".

A high attendance goal has been set for Sunday school. At the close of the morning service plans for the completion of the 3 story educational building will be presented at a congregational meeting.

"Grieving the Holy Spirit" will be Rev. Stumpp's sermon topic for Sunday evening. Mrs. Grady Goodpasture, soloist, will present special music.

The Sunday morning sermon topic at the Crescent Hill Church of Christ will be "How Do You Live?" by Evangelist Preston Cotham of Evansville, who will close a week-long revival at the church Sunday. The Sunday evening sermon topic will be "Where Will You Spend Eternity?"

Jimmie Wood, minister of the church, announces the following sermon topics at the revival for the remainder of this week: Friday (today) evening, "Can a Good Man Be Saved Outside the Church?" Saturday morning,

E. C. Taylor New Jaycee President

E. C. (Crawford) Taylor was elected president of the Brownfield Junior Chamber of Commerce at a regular club meeting held Monday. He succeeds C. W. Denison.

Other officers elected were Curtis Sterling, first vice president; Pat McMillan, second vice president; and L. G. Smith, treasurer. The secretary will be elected at the next meeting as will four new directors.

Directors elected at Monday's meeting, to serve for the next three years, are: Harry Goble, Lewis Simmonds, C. W. Denison, J. T. Hoy, and J. E. Gillham. Holdover directors are Tess Fulfer, John Kendrick, Sid McIntosh, Jack Thomas, Bob Tobey, Dr. W. A. Roberson, and Harold Jones.

Delegates to the state convention, which will be held next month in Houston, will probably be elected at next week's meeting.

Ex-students, as well as boosters, of Texas Technological College, are invited to attend an organizational meeting of the Terry-Yoakum county ex-students association, to be held at the Brownfield Country Club Tuesday, March 27, at 7 p. m.

A barbecue will be served to an expected crowd of 250 ex-students and boosters. Following the barbecue will be business meeting, when officers will be elected.

Exes & Boosters To Meet Tuesday

Main speaker for the meeting will be DeWitt Weaver, new football coach at Texas Tech. Also present will be Weaver's entire coaching staff and Dr. D. M. Wiggins, college president.

Spokesmen said that many invitations have been sent out, but all boosters and ex-students of the college are cordially invited to attend, regardless of whether or not they received an invitation to attend the meeting.

LOCAL FFA TEAM SECOND IN STATE

The Brownfield Chapter, Future Farmers of America, team which competed in state contests at Huntsville last Saturday was awarded second place in Junior FFA Quiz according to information received from Lester Buford, sponsor.

Members of the team were John Burnett, Van Perry, and Lavon Huggins.

Charles Bartley, Gerald Rowden, and Sidney Allen, members of the Senior Farm Demonstration Skill team who competed in the division and went into the finals as alternates, Buford said.

MILTON BELL HURT IN AUTO ACCIDENT

The condition of Milton Bell, who was injured sometime late Monday night when his car jumped a ditch near Abernathy, was described by attendants at a Plainview hospital as "improved although still serious."

Bell had been to Petersburg Monday night to a meeting and was returning to Brownfield when the accident occurred. He was taken to the Plainview hospital for treatment. Late Thursday Bell regained consciousness. He suffered head injuries, chest injuries, and multiple cuts and bruises.

NOT MUCH OIL NEWS TO REPORT

Most of the wells now drilling in Terry county are far above where production should be—if any. The only well down in the neighborhood of the reef that we know of, is the well four miles northwest of Meadow, on section 9, block E. It is around 10,400 feet and no show.

Perhaps there will be something to report next week. As most know, the Ray Brownfield well, 8 miles west of town, as well as the Turner well near the carbon black plant were pronounced failures. Also the second McGowan well in the South Brownfield pool and the Joe Johnson well, seem to be failures.

SALE AT PALACE DRUG CONTINUES

The big store-wide sale which began at the Palace Drug store last Thursday will continue through Saturday, March 24, according to Arthur Nunn, manager.

An advertisement in this issue of the Herald lists many of the famous brand products which are on sale at the Palace.

Perious Mercy

Behind the police escort the huge moving van carrying the Lancaster, Pa. boy rolls into Children's Hospital at Baltimore.

BALTIMORE, MD. — After a perilous 4 1/2-hour trip — during which his life was dependent upon an uncertain trickle of electric current — 17-year-old Thomas Fassnacht of Lancaster, Pa. has started back up the slow polio recovery road at Children's Hospital here.

Tommie's "ambulance" for the 71-mile trip—planned with just as much precision as a difficult military operation—was a standard Fruehauf-built furniture van truck trailer, donated by the Lancaster Storage Co. His traveling companions included a small army of skilled technicians—doctors, nurses, mechanics, electricians plus a horde of police in two states and his parents.

Confined to an iron lung for nearly 30 days, the young high school athlete had to be moved from Lancaster General Hospital to Baltimore for two reasons—more intensive treatment at one of the finest respiratory centers in the east, and the presence of yellow polio patients to provide the competitive spirit so badly needed for a polio patient on the road to recovery from life in an iron lung.

Once doctors had recommended the move take place, all necessary forces in his home community, his home state and in the state of Maryland went to work to insure success of the move.

Lancaster, Pennsylvania and Maryland State police charted the best route for the van to follow Pennsylvania Power and Light Co. Maryland Conowingo Power Co. and Baltimore Consolidated Gas and Electric Power Co. crews charted the route so as to know at all times where emergency power facilities could be obtained in case portable gasoline generators carried in a two-wheel trailer at the rear of the Fruehauf van failed.

And fail they did—seven times in all during the trip—sending linemen in the caravan scurrying up the nearest power poles to cut in on overhead lines, or bringing hasty stops along the roadside while crews dashed into dwellings, service stations, restaurants and other establishments having power supplies. Had the iron lung in which Tommie was encased given out, a second lung was available—and had all power gone out, a hand-operated respirator also was aboard the van to sustain life a maximum of 35 minutes.

At one time during the trip, the caravan had to halt an hour while mechanics rebuilt the two portable generators.

Even an emotional "lift" was in store for Tommie as part of the trip. As his van moved through Lancaster at the start of its trip, it passed a point near the high school where he had been a swimming star. His classmates were out on the corner—in force—and "let go" with a hearty yell of encouragement. They'd promised Tommie they'd be there—and they kept their word.

He promised he'd be back, although it might take time. He'll keep his word, too.

Despite the fact that we have little encouragement from most of our congressional delegation, the fight goes on to win back the oil rich tidelands that the federal government under orders from Harry Truman grabbed. About the most interesting articles that have appeared in the press of late were published serially in the Dallas Morning News, recently. They were written by one of that paper's best posted staff writers. These articles were made available to other dailies, and were published by the Lubbock Morning Avalanche, in this area, and by at least one California daily. It will be remembered that three of the seven Supreme Court Justices at the time of the Tidelands decision, considered it a grab of lands that did not belong to the federal government, but to the states. But four went along with the Truman idea to get it while the gettings are good. So, the only thing that can be done now, is to get enough real men in congress to pass a law restoring this land to the states to which they belong, then have enough such men to pass it over Truman's veto. He has already vetoed such a measure once, but an insufficient number was found to pass it over his veto. There are entirely too many like one St. Louis paper, that thinks Harry was in the bounds of reason. The Fort Worth Star-Telegram reminded the Missouri daily, that if things go on as now, the administration could with just as good grace, take over the lead and iron, mines of Missouri, or the big shoe plants in St. Louis. All of which reminds us of the old saying, "Owing to whose ox is gored." But we imagine some of the inland states would raise old billy if their stuff were taken over by Uncle Sam without so much as a "thank you, with your permission."

The Kemp, Texas, News, reminds all and sundry of a speech that old Sam Rayburn made at Kaufman, Texas, during War II, in which Sam said that all bureaus would be stopped six months after the war-closed. But the bureaus continue to grow; the temporary ones become permanent and constantly enlarge. In the meantime, Sam becomes more and more a New Dealer, losing contact with the people he serves. Were it not for such men as Representative Ed Gossett of Texas, and Senator Harry Byrd of Virginia, as leaders, no telling just where the bureaus would stop in Washington. Quoting a bit from Sen. Byrd, he says that we now have 2,245,000 civilians on the federal payrolls, and that, if you ask us, is getting right around the number we now have in the armed forces. And new ones are being put on the payrolls at the rate of some 2,000 per day. As anyone will tell you, who has ever worked in Washington, many of them, yea, thousands are just mere parasites, and in the way of those who are really working. After moving to Washington, they are not supposed to vote, but that fact is easy to get around. Just claim the old home town as home, and vote absentee. It all works out to the good of the cause of socialism.

Representative Waggoner Carr of this district has submitted another idea of the new congressional district to his constituency. Personally, we like the new district much better although, as Rep. Carr stated, it will contain some 30,000 more people than the average Texas district. Our district would remain as is, except that we would lose Haskell, King, and Stonewall counties on the east. This would make our district, with a population of 349,748, as compared to the Panhandle district of 288,133, and the El Paso district, 314,871. But in doing this, we would have a more compact district, with no bulging down and then up in the southern portion, as we stated last week. And too, the nature of basic industry, is more the same in the new proposed district. The Herald, for one, approves the new layout of our congressional district. Also, we might add that we are very well pleased with our new Senatorial and representative districts. They are reasonably compact, with agricultural and industrial conditions about the same all over them.

In order to lend its aid to high school seniors, the West Texas Chamber of Commerce is making preparations to hold some clinics next month at centrally located points. This information comes from B. P. Bludworth, the president of the organization. These talks will be made by experienced business men as well as educators and will consist of vocational guidance and citizenship guidance. In the afternoons, the seniors will be divided into vocational study groups, according to preference. Each group will be provided with a qualified speaker, who will discuss his special business. The first of these meetings will be with the Amarillo Junior College, April 13th. On the 20th, one will be held at Abilene with the Abilene Christian College, with both McMurry College and Hardin-Simmons University taking part. The last so far designated will be held at San Angelo Junior College April 28th.

Had a letter last week from a gentleman who lives in St. Louis. Had never heard of him before, but he had seen one of our editorials copied in the Southern Weekly, a magazine of national circulation, printed in Dallas, and edited and published by Peter Molyneux. Might mention the fact that the writer was born and reared in the Cleburne, Texas, area, and that his father was like too many people of the South. His father used to say, related the writer, "that he would vote for a yellow dog Democrat before he would a Republican. I'm not like that. I'm glad to say that I have been a Republican for the past 20 years." In a recent election in his district of St. Louis, normally strong Democratic, they elected a Republican congressman. The many emergency measures put forth by the FDR New Dealers in the 30's, put this man out of business, so he states he is not rolling in dough, but writes for trade journals and business magazines. He still admires such Democratic stalwarts as Jimmie Byrnes, Senator Byrd of Virginia and Senator George of Ga., not to mention such retired men as Martin Dies of Texas. He also thinks Senator Fullbright of Arkansas is doing a fine job. The writer believes that American citizens should vote for such men regardless of party.

Col. E. O. Thompson of the Texas Railroad Commission is in Washington fighting the battles of the oil interests in Texas, which is one of our major industries, and any crippling of the oil business in Texas hurts every man, woman and child in the State. The federal government, through its income tax department, backed by President Truman, says that the depletion allowance on oil is a tax loophole. Generally speaking, all of us are always ready to soak the other fellow in order to save our dimes and dollars. The writer is not in the oil business in any manner, shape or form. But anyone in this area cannot help see that a depletion allowance should be made, while men put out their dollars to find more oil and gas. Just think of the dry holes that have been drilled in Terry county the past year and the vast amount of money they cost. There perhaps have been more dry holes than producers. But the birds who direct the affairs up on the Potomac cannot see the likelihood that we are to lose the vast oil fields and reserves in Iran to Russia. With the crisis coming on, this country must have all the oil possible. And it takes men with the knowhow and money to find oil. Our vast oil reserves are no accident. And if the boys up at Washington that know about as much about oil as a hog knows about a sidesaddle stop the present prospecting for new fields,

State Senator Kilmer Corbin reminds one and all that there is a bill pending in the Texas legislature to prohibit chiropractors in Texas from advertising. In a statement to the press, the Senator says he can see no good reason for the bill, and many objections that might be raised. In the main, he states, it interferes with free enterprise. Further, it is calculated to try to control what a newspaper might publish, and tends to restrict a free press. Corbin says that he will work and vote to block this bill. We do not know who might be the instigators of this bill, but it appears that we are having too much legislation that tends to control and restrict. It appears that there would be little occasion to introduce more. While the chiropractors in the Brownfield area advertise very little, one carrying a small professional card, we feel that any restrictive legislation leans too much toward the process of the national administration of controlling and regimenting everything.

We note that one prominent national poll taking concern printed a statement this week that the majority of the people in the USA think we have done wrong in entering Korea. Further, the majorities believe we should get out as soon as possible and say out. On the other hand, a majority seem to favor keeping a sizeable army in Europe, for eventualities. There are some that go so far as to say that President Truman should be impeached, and our army, which is also in reality, aggressors, should be pulled out and brought home. Therefore the wise thing to do, according to a statement printed in the Cleveland (Ohio) Press of a writer's opinion, that we should acknowledge that we are aggressors, draw out, and pay for the damage we have done. This letter was written by the president of a large electric company, and 500 people had either written in or called by phone to endorse the letter, and only one against. On the other hand, if we are forced out, we not only lose face, but stand to see thousands more of our sons killed. What if they do kill 50 Chinamen to each one of our boys killed. China has the men to spare—we don't.

The House Agricultural committee has unanimously approved a constitutional amendment that would lift the $35,000,000 ceiling on Public Welfare, or what is usually termed old age pensions. Few if any people that we know of believe that those old people who are really in need are getting enough from the state and federal government to make a decent living. It is not enough to provide sufficient nutritious food, much less clothing, fuel and rent. The only question about the matter with most people is that there are some people who get assistance who really do not need it. One such talked the matter over with us one day last week. In his younger days, he stated, "I accumulated enough to see me through, if the unforeseen does not happen. I shall leave my part or share to those who are in real needy circumstances. But here is the rub with the amendment. It seems that the committee on amendments have offered an amendment to the amendment so that the state may take a lien on any property belonging to the pensioner. At the death of the recipient, the state could step in and execute the lien against the estate and recover the amount advanced to the pensioner. Of course the amendment will require a two-thirds vote of both houses before submission. We have an idea that the lien amendment will be eliminated. Looks too much like the legislature is saying to the needy old folks with a bit of property, "put up or shut up."

Conservation Consolidation In Dept. Of Agriculture

County offices of the U. S. Department of Agriculture dealing with conservation and county PMA committees and local technicians of the Soil Conservation Service will work together in determining county policies and programs having to do with soil and water conservation, says Mr. Hugh H. Harred, chairman of the Terry county PMA Committee.

Explaining the effect of the reorganization recently announced by Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan, Mr. Harred says that, according to the information he has received, the PMA committee will continue to administer the Agricultural Conservation Program but will cooperate with the governing body of the soil conservation district in carrying on conservation work. The county agent and the county supervisor of the Farmers Home Administration will be invited to take part in determining on county policies and programs.

The Soil Conservation technicians will direct the technical phases of the permanent-type soil conservation work and will make recommendations to the PMA committee as to the proper way to carry out permanent-type technical soil conservation practices under ACP.

In effect, the reorganization formalizes the close working relationship that has already been developed in many counties.

The reorganization also is a step toward bringing together in one office or building the administration personnel for both PMA and SCS.

Mr. Harred says that arrangements will be made to maintain these offices open to the public on Saturday.

The conservation programs of the Forest Service, Soil Conservation Service and PMA at the national level will be supervised by an Assistant Secretary of Agriculture. Under his supervision, these agencies will jointly determine the soil conservation practices and rates of payment for the Agricultural Conservation Program. These are decisions for which PMA has had sole responsibility, although in practice PMA has consulted the other agencies.

In each state, policies and programs of the Department having to do with soil and water conservation will be decided jointly by PMA, SCS, and Forest Service, with assistance from cooperating State Colleges and other designated State Agencies. The state PMA chairman is charged with the responsibility of taking the initiative in this program planning.

Farm Prices Under Price Control Explained

Straight answers to oft-heard questions about farm prices under price control were given by Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan recently. His statement, the Secretary said, was "not to deny that prices of foods and farm commodities have substantially increased, but rather to show where they really stand in our economy of general prosperity and full employment."

Highlights of the statement were: "Most prices of farm commodities to the producer are below parity — the statutory measure of relationship between prices received and prices paid by farmers. But if all farm commodities now below parity should reach the parity level, consumer food costs would rise less than 5 per cent, which would mean less than a 2 per cent rise in the overall cost of living."

"Food prices have risen less than prices of some other commodity groups in the consumer price index. From June to December, food went up 5.3 per cent, clothing rose 6.2 per cent, and house furnishings rose 10.6 per cent.

"The average of all farm commodity prices is just no overcom- ing the drop it took in 1948 and 1949. The drop averaged 24 per cent; nonfarm prices and wages dropped very little or continued upward. As of January 15, prices received by farmers were still 2 per cent below the January, 1948 peak; net realized farm income went down 3 years in a row.

"No other major segment of our economy went through such a severe economic setback. Corporate profits after taxes were about 32 percent above the 1947 rate; wages have risen and hourly earnings of factory workers in 1950 were 13 per cent above the 1947 level.

"Food is a better bargain today for the average person than in the prewar period. People whose incomes have kept up with the average can buy with 19 per cent of their disposable income the same diet that required 23 per cent in 1935-39.

"Prices of many farm commodities have little relationship to consumer prices. Cotton in a $3.50-$4.00 shirt brought the farmer about 30 cent; a 16 cent can of tomatoes represents about 3 cents of gross income to farmers; wheat in a 16 cent loaf of bread brings the farmer about 2 2/3 cents."

Mr. Harred explained that if 90 per cent of parity on August 1, 1951 is higher than the announced level, the loan rate for the 1951 crop will be increased accordingly.

A production guide of 200,000 acres of cotton has been recommended to Terry county farmers as their contribution toward obtaining the 16 million bale or larger cotton crop needed this year under the national defense program. Mr. Harred said that cotton is second only to steel among the products most vital to the defense effort.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Bennett, who returned to their home here recently after undergoing treatment at Mineral Wells, left Sunday for another stay in Mineral Wells.

Plant Corn Hybrids For Higher Yields

COLLEGE STATION — Expanded acreage of hybrid corn in Texas is justified by the convincingly proved ability of adapted Texas corn hybrids to out yield the best varieties of open pollinated corn.

Corn yield can be increased from 20 to 50 per cent, and in some cases as much as 50 per cent, by planting adapted corn hybrids. This has been shown by tests conducted on Texas Agricultural Experiment Stations and by many farm demonstrations.

On 3,847 demonstrations conducted by 4-H club boys and adults in 1950, average corn yields were increased by nearly 11 bushels per acre, says E. A. Miller, agronomist for the Texas A. & M. Extension Service. He says that most of this increase was due to the use of corn hybrids.

Miller says the acreage planted to corn hybrids in Texas is too small, being only 57 percent of the total corn acreage.

The newer hybrids, including Texas Yellow Hybrids No. 20, 24, 26, and 28, have demonstrated their ability to outyield the older hybrids, and tests show that they are widely adapted.

In the Gulf Coast Prairie, except in the river bottoms, Texas White Hybrids No. 9W and 11W have outyielded yellow hybrids.

Miller recommends that farmers plant hybrid corn this year and suggests that they consult their local county agent for the best hybrids to plant in their areas.

Mrs. Fred Bucy, president, presided for a short business meeting.

The following program was presented: "Music in International Tongues", Mrs. J. M. Teague; and a piano medley of National Songs by Mrs. Grace Woods. The theme of Mrs. Teague's talk was "Music is the one language to bring good will" she said. "This year, Scottish troops were the first United Nations ground forces other than American, to land in Korea. Fifteen hundred Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders came from Hong Kong, sent by the British government, and as they landed, their pipers played 'The Campbells Are Coming'. U. S. bands returned the salute with 'St. Louis Blues'."

METHODISTS HAVE A SUCCESSFUL REVIVAL

Rev. D. D. Dennison, pastor of the First Methodist church here, stated last week that they were having a very fine revival at his church, and that good crowds were attending. Even the day time audienct's exceeded expectations.

Those who have heard Bishop W. C. Martin in this series of sermons, state that he is a past master of pulpit oratory and Bible knowledge, and they were getting a lot of good from his discourses.

BETROTHAL OF MISS MILLER ANNOUNCED

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Miller of 321 W. Hill street announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Nelda, to Donald Price, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gay Price of 301 E. Felt street.

The wedding vows will be exchanged April 12.

The bride elect is a student at Brownfield High School. Price is a graduate of Brownfield High School and attended Cisco Junior College. He is employed with Terry County Lumber Company.

CLUB EASTER EGG HUNT SET SUNDAY

The annual Easter egg hunt for children of Brownfield Country Club members will be held Sunday, March 25, at 3:30 p. m., at the club.

Following the hunt, refreshments will be served.

Mrs. J. M. Teague is chairman of the hunt, and committee members are Mesdames Jack Shirley, Lal Copeland, Milton Bell, Grady Goodpasture, and Burton Hackney.

All members are urged to take their children to the annual hunt Sunday.

DR. THOMPSON TO SPEAK HERE SUNDAY

ABILENE — Dr. S. B. Thompson, McMurry College history professor, will address the Men's Downtown Bible Class of Brownfield Sunday morning.

"Democracy and the Christian Faith" will be the topic at the inter-denominational meeting at 9:45 a. m., in the Esquire Cafe. Dr. Thompson is a former Brownfield resident, having been reared there. His mother and other relatives still reside there.

C. E. (Bill) Williams and Roy Wicker are in Dalhart, dusting the wheat crops for cut forms.

Mahon Offers Plan On Migratory Labor

Congressman George Mahon reports from Washington that on Monday of this week, he introduced a bill which would permit Mexican families and their children to assist in the cotton harvest this fall. The 81st Congress, through an amendment to a labor bill, added in the Senate, has approved legislation prohibiting labor by children under 16 years of age in agriculture during school hours.

According to Mahon, the provision on child labor has proved unworkable; it has disrupted the work of many schools, slowed down the cotton harvest and diminished the chance of the children of Mexican families to go to school by denying them the income they normally secure from the cotton harvest. Moreover, it is argued that the matter of child labor in agriculture and the question of school attendance are problems that can be best controlled by the states and not the federal government.

Mahon's bill provides that restrictions as to child labor shall not apply to the harvesting of basic crops. The bill has been referred by the Speaker to the House Committee on Labor for consideration. In introducing the bill, Mahon said, "We are being called upon by the government to produce 16 million bales of cotton this year in the interest of national defense. There is so use to try to produce a big crop unless we can harvest it."

In a further effort to improve the chances for securing labor for the cotton harvest, Mahon has appeared before the House Committee on Agriculture and urged passage of the Poage Bill, which is designed to greatly increase the availability of labor from the Republic of Mexico.

Farmers are deeply concerned over the threat of a labor shortage for the harvesting of the cotton crop. Members of Congress who are aware of the situation are seeking to be of all possible assistance. In addition to the bill by

ENROLLMENT LISTED

LUBBOCK — Final enrollment figures show that a total of 4,660 students registered for the Spring Semester at Texas Technological College. There are 1,270 seniors, 1,146 freshmen, 884 juniors, 822 sophomores and 538 graduates.

The Herald is sorry to report the death of another one of its oldest readers. Mrs. Lee Roy McCravy of Plains. The late Mr. McCravy began taking the Herald before the writer came here 42 years ago, as they were on the list when we took charge. Mr. Mack passed on several years ago, but Mrs. M. religiously renewed for the Herald each year after her husband's death. One by one, the oldsters are being gathered to their fathers over yonder.

Mahon, bills of somewhat similar nature have been introduced by Congressmen Fisher and Rogers of Texas. The problem is to devise a measure that can win the support of a majority of the members of the House and Senate.

TWO NEW NOTARIES APPOINTED IN TERRY

AUSTIN — The office of Secretary of State John Ben Shepperd announces the approval of the appointment of two notaries in Terry county.

Those names appear on the approved list sent from Shepperd's office have been qualified by County Clerk H. M. Pyeatt.

The office of Secretary of State is required by statute to approve both the appointing and the qualifying of all notaries in the state of Texas. At present, there are approximately 87,000 qualified notaries in the state.

Notary public appointments approved by Secretary of State Shepperd are: Vera H. Chapman and Genell Dean.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Campbell had as their guests earlier this week, Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Marks and daughter. Campbell and Marks served together in the Navy in the last war. Marks is a chief electronics engineer, stationed at Moffitt Field, Calif.

EASTER SEAL SALES IN COUNTY LAGGING

Roy Fleming, chairman, and Herbert Chesshir, executive secretary, report that the Terry county Easter seal sales for crippled children is "lagging".

Only $406.50 has been received by the fund committee thus far, and every citizen is urged to mail his contribution for the seals in immediately.

NATIONAL DAV OFFICIAL TO BE HERE MARCH 29

William O. Bishop, National Service Officer of the Disabled American Veterans organization will be guest speaker at the next meeting of the Brownfield DAV Chapter No. 131, which will be held Thursday night, March 29 at 7:30 P. M., in Veterans Hall.

The claims expert will explain in detail the proper procedure in VA claim development and will answer questions on individual problems after the meeting. All veterans and their dependents are urged to attend.

NEW TECHNICIAN FOR ASSN. NAMED

Bill Cope has been appointed official technician for the Terry County Artificial Breeders Association. He succeeds Dr. Royal Klofanda, who enters the Army next week.

Cope has assumed his duties, and may be contacted at the South Plains Health Unit at 101 South D Street, phone 409.

Mrs. Jack Stricklin, Jr., and little son and daughter, Robert and Mary Ann, who have been visiting their parents and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Taylor, of Denison, returned home last week. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Taylor, who will visit here and relatives in Lubbock.

Mrs. J. C. Hart was in last week to subscribe for the Herald to go to the family at Medford, Oregon, where they are moving. Thought a year would be enough, as they might be back here by that time.

TIME OUT!

An attractive housewife takes time out to relax and enjoy the fruits of her labor after a session of spring cleaning. In giving her home a spring tonic treatment she recovered this big easy chair, using red and white striped material she had saved from cotton feed-bags. To make slipcovers for the chair and ottoman, she used nine 100-pound cotton feed bags.

Stricklinly Speaking

By Old He

Sometimes Senator Connally of Texas gets on the peck and makes a mess of things. Like the Old He, Tom is getting up in years, and maybe a bit easier to irritate. But Senator Tom made no bones of late about where he stood on the ceiling that is proposed to be put on cotton.

The occasion was his appearance before the Defense Production Com. It is headed by DiSalle, former mayor of Cleveland, Ohio, who knows about as much about growing cotton as an Eskimo knows about palm trees. Senator Connally asked DiSalle if he thought a customer in quest of cotton goods went in and asked for so many pounds of cotton, instead of so many yards?

In other words, the chief cost of cotton is not the raw product. Not on your tintype. The cost comes in transportation, in making the cloth, and the finished shirt or longhandles in the factories.

At the same time, the administration forces are urging farmers to raise every bale of cotton possible. By slapping on a ceiling, they are liable to kill the goose that laid the golden egg. In fact, Senator Connally told DiSalle that he let the cat out of the bag when he admitted that he did not raise any cotton in Ohio, but consumed a lot of it.

As for restrictions on exports, cotton farmers sell on the domestic market. To requote Connally, "The farmer does not take the cotton on his back and carry it to Europe; he sells it here at home." The price of raw cotton, whether 10 or 50 cents per pound, cuts little ice with the price of the finished product.

Although he has been away some 20 years, Ben Hurst still wants the Herald to come to him at Wellington. If he still owns real estate here, we are not aware of it. But his connection is simply old time friendships to many here. Sent in his 3 bucks this week, and bowed as how he would be down to see the Old He and the Mrs. some of these days.

We note that Drew Pearson has been writing from some European address of late, and his articles have been quite a bit more bitter and sarcastic. Well, he's out of reach of McCarty's fist and Truman's tongue over there.

Baylor University came forward with something a bit sensational—a two-headed snake. Since this information came via a professor, none will accuse him of lingering over the cup that cheers too long. Besides Baylor is a Baptist university, and we guess that wine while it is red is verboten.

Anyway, the two-headed reptile was found near the waterfront down at Port Arthur, and sent to Baylor. The heads are said to be about an inch long and near each other. Also it is a non-poisonous snake, but no nightmare. And talking about snakes, that reminds us of spring, and spring reminds us of birds, and robins in particular. The first robin in the spring is said to be the harbinger of spring. The old gentleman or lady, that has made our backyard for the past several years, has returned.

But he does not always show up in spring; sometimes it is early autumn. So, we presume that our backyard is a good stopping place on his journey south in the fall and back where he or she raises a brood through the summer. That also reminds us that we read an article not too long ago that stated that the male bird went ahead some weeks before the female, and selected the site for the nesting place, and awaited the return of his mate. In the meantime, there might be a few battles fought over the area selected. The writer did not, however, make it plain whether, say, a red-bird had it out with a robin for the site, of that battlers consisted of the same specie of birds.

We have been hearing talk of late that appears to be coming from some of the college officials and faculties, that an effort is to be made to defer the "smart" boys so they can continue their studies in college. That the average youth and below normal in IQ will have to go on and slog it out in the training fields, and later perhaps the trenches.

If the selective service or universal military training is tied up with such an idea, it is doomed to failure and should fail. No youth should be shown any favors over another. In the first place, we don't believe congress would be interested in such a law, as it would be the hot end of the poker politically. Secondly, we don't believe the high IQ boys would be interested. They would not like to lay themselves liable in the future to be termed "draft evaders" by the boys they grew up with. It would not be good business, as the guys who had to take it on the chin would certainly forget that the smart boy was in business in the community, and trade with his own like.

We have often wondered if the principal purpose of a banquet was not the eats. We have noted that mostly the banqueters seemed bored with the rest of the program.

Some how or other, we have never been afraid to ride in a new car if the owner happened to be the driver. He just does not relish the idea of a crack-up that would make the shiny new thing look like something the cats dug up.

If a task appears pleasant to us average folks intellectually, we have no trouble in doing the job, or at least making a stab at it. Even a child can comprehend the whole matter when you hand him the money and tell him to go get himself a hamburger. It is the insignificant or the revolting that gets our goat.

We read recently that two men went into a partnership business. But there were two things that they agreed upon. One was, never to discuss between them an investment outside the firm.

The other was that the social life of the families should be strictly separate. This often keeps down friction when one family seems to dress or eat better than the other.

This firm has prospered enormously, the report states.

DOESN'T EXACTLY LIKE THE HERALD—BUT
 J. C. Finley of Meadow was in town recently to renew for his Herald, and just to embarrass us before Sam Kirschner and Editor Hale of the Yoakum County Review. He stated that he did not like the Herald, but took it anyway.

Notes Of Interest Here And There

They tell us that despite the supposed emergency, there will be a radical change in 1952 automobile models. It is supposed that the tools and dies were made before the emergency.

Much is being made of the post-office deficit by President Truman and Postmaster General Donaldson, most of which is blamed on second class, which includes newspapers. But let us compare the postoffice deficit estimate for 1952 of $361 million with some other department deficiencies: Interior Department, $460 million; Commerce Dept., $668 million; Agriculture Dept., $475 million. Didn't know other departments had a deficiency, did you?

Another suggestion from a new organization, to us, Common Council for American Unity. Their suggestion: Send a huge shower of Easter cards and letters to friends in Europe, especially behind the iron curtain. We have a freak idea that there are not five people in Terry county who know anyone behind the iron curtain.

You have to be mighty well known, and bear a pass to get in to the huge 4-story airplane plant at Fort Worth, covering eight blocks. This plant makes the giant B-36, world's biggest bomber. But this much was recently revealed to an AP man. There are about 28,000 people working at the plant, a sizeable city within itself. They have made right at 170 of these bombers since the war started in Korea.

While Texas made a great gain in population in the past 30 or 40 years, it has less postoffices. And this is a national trend. Perhaps rural mail delivery has killed more small postoffices than any other one thing.

G. I. QUESTIONS and ANSWERS

Q—Could I take two correspondence courses under the GI Bill at the same time, each in a different field?

A—No. You may pursue only one correspondence course at a time. Under certain conditions, however, the "course" may consist of more than one subject prescribed or recommended by the correspondence school.

Q—I intend to go to a VA hospital for a medical examination, which I need as evidence of good health for National Service Life Insurance purposes. I understand the examination will be given free, but will VA pay my way to and from the hospital?

A—No. Generally, you must pay travel expenses made in connection with a medical examination for insurance purposes. The only condition under which VA would pay the bill would be if VA specifically ordered you to report to the hospital for such an

Heart Disease Not Necessarily A Doom

AUSTIN — Too prevalent today is the belief that heart disease is the spell of doom and that one must cease all work and activity. Modern medical knowledge easily disproves this notion, and thousands of case histories bear witness to its falsity.

Heart disease, medical science now knows, is not a single ailment. Many troubles can afflict the heart — some less seriously than others. While some restrictions are necessary, it is now generally true that patients with any form of heart trouble should be active within the limits of their capacity.

Not all persons with heart ailments can continue working at their same pace. Obviously there are those who require bed rest and often a very strict limitation of physical and mental activity. But there are many who can continue working, performing some useful or productive activity, without fear that their hearts will suddenly give out.

A person with a mild heart disorder can in most instances perform any kind of job for which his skills can qualify him.

No individual with a heart condition, it should be cautioned, should determine for himself whether he is able to work or not and how much work he can do. Just as there are many who become cardiac invalids because of fear, there are those at the opposite extreme who ignore proper medical advice and subject their hearts to unnecessary strain and abuse by overactivity. Only a competent physician is qualified to say what are the limits of an impaired heart.

Had a letter from Mrs. Anne Kochensperger of Columbus, Ohio, last week renewing for her paper she has been taking for years. She says they are having nice weather. We hope that last blizzard that hit the middle west after her letter was written, missed them.

J. M. Young of Tokio and W. M. Wooley of route two, have our thanks for renewals, as well as Harve Harris of Tatum, N. M.

Q—I am totally and permanently disabled for reasons not traceable to my World War II military service. Am I eligible for training under Public Law 16?

A—No. However, if you meet eligibility requirements for GI Bill training, you may take your training under that law.

Q—I am a World War II veteran, and after the war I moved to England to accept a job. Could I get a GI loan to buy a home in England?

A—No. GI loan benefits are not available for properties or businesses situated in foreign countries.

MISCELLANEOUS BRIDAL SHOWER HONORED MRS. JIM COUSINEAU

Honoring Mrs. Jim Cousineau, the former Miss Forrest Steen, a miscellaneous bridal shower, was given in the home of Mrs. E. D. Jones March 16 from 5 p. m., until 7 p. m.

Hostesses were Mesdames Jones, Walter Gracey, Horace Rambo, Frank Ballard, J. H. Aschenbeck, Helen Norris, Virgil Bynum, Lloyd Moore, T. L. Treadaway, Jack Holt, Warren Scadday, John Hill, Sawyer Graham, and Miss Gay Gipson.

A pastel pink and green color theme was carried out throughout the house. An arrangement of pale pink gladioli, in a deeper pink container, centered the mantle and was flanked by green tapers in double crystal holders.

Mrs. Holt greeted the guests and presented them to Mrs. Jones; the honoree and her mother, Mrs. Johnny Steen; Mrs. John Markham of Lubbock, sister of the groom; and Miss Pat Steen, sister of the honoree. Miss Aldama Steen, another sister of the honoree, presided at the bride's book, which was made by Mrs. Rambo.

The refreshment table was laid with a Normandy cloth, made by Mrs. Gracey, over pink satin. A centerpiece of pink snapdragons,

Schmidt-Perry Vows Read Here March 9

In a double ring ceremony performed at 6 p. m., March 9 in the First Presbyterian Church, Miss Chloe Marion Schmidt became the bride of Gerald Perry. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Schmidt, and he is the son of R. B. Perry, all of Brownfield.

Rev. Tom Keenan, minister of the church, officiated at the ceremony, which was performed before a background of fern, palms, and candleabra. Aisle markers were tapers, tied with chartreuse bows.

Mrs. Jack Shirley, organist, played pre-nuptial music and the traditional wedding marches, and accompanied Miss Kay Szydlowski, soloist.

Miss Betty Ferguson was maid of honor. She wore a rust satin dress, fashioned with a full rust net overskirt, and a chartreuse stole with cuffs of rust net. She carried a bouquet of yellow jonquils surrounded by croton and ivy leaves.

Bridesmaids were Mesdames Harley Starnes and Audra Cary, and Misses Jean Craig and Eleanor Miller. Their gowns were made similar to Miss Ferguson's, in a lighter shade of rust, and their bouquets were smaller replicas of the one carried by the intermingled with green tapers, decorated the table. Mrs. Gracey and Mrs. Rambo alternated at the crystal punch service and in serving the decorated cake squares and nuts.

Mrs. Billy Moore furnished piano music, and the hostesses displayed gifts. Many guests called during the afternoon.

Mrs. Virgil Short and Mrs. George Chisholm were candlelighters. They wore gowns of deep ivory satin, made similar to that of the maid of honor.

Harley Starnes was best man. Ushers were W. H. Holleman and Deryl Walker, both of Brownfield, and Bobby Lee Benton and Norris Kempson, both students at Eastern New Mexico University in Portales, N. M.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a pastel chartreuse satin gown, fashioned with a fitted bodice fastened down the front with tiny self-covered buttons, a Queen Anne collar, and long fitted sleeves which ended in points over her hands. Her full skirt extended into a short train, and her finger-tip length veil of pastel chartreuse brillid illusion was caught to a Juliet cap of pastel chartreuse satin. She carried a bouquet of white caladium and croton leaves, showered with stephanotic and centered by three green orchids.

For something old, the bride carried a handkerchief which belonged to her grandmother, the late Mrs. H. W. McSpadden. She wore a strand of pearls, borrowed from her aunt, Miss Gladys McSpadden of Freeport. Something new was her wedding dress; and she wore blue garters and a penny in her shoe for luck.

A reception was held in the Seta Jane Brownfield Club House immediately following the ceremony. The bride's table was covered with a lace cloth over chartreuse and was decorated with a chartreuse memory candle and chartreuse jonquils.

Out of town guests were present from Seagraves, Lubbock, Bovina, Spangenberg, Freeport, Oregon and Texico, N. M.

For a wedding trip to Ruidoso, N. M., the bride chose a navy blue knit suit with navy blue and white accessories. The couple is at home at 605 S. 9th street.

Mrs. Perry is a graduate of Brownfield High School and attended Texas Technological College. She is employed at the First National Bank. The bridegroom graduated from Brownfield High School and served several years in the U. S. Navy. He is employed at Matt's Barber Shop.

Gee Gee's Chit Chat

Do you have your Easter bonnet, with all the frills upon it? If not, best you leap into the saddle and do something about it 'cause you have only two more days.

Well, we shan't dwell too long on the subject, but I would remind you that, if you are a card sender, you should get your Easter cards off to friends, relatives, shut-ins, etc., today. And don't forget to buy and use your Easter Seals, so that some crippled child may look forward to Easter.

I guess you read last week that the Green Hut Grill was planning to have a coffee day last Saturday and donate the money to the 1951 Terry County March of Dimes. Well, several people must have read it because they collected $69.98, which was turned over to Milton Bell, county chairman.

J. B. Knight Furniture Company will sponsor a cooking school at Veterans Hall next week, March 28-29, from 2 p. m., until 4 p. m., daily. Ruth Dobbs Knight (no relation to J. B., incidentally) will conduct the school, and comes so highly recommended as to be most impressive. However, I understand that Mrs. Dobbs presents her subject so clearly and understandably that a child could grasp it, and I am sure that you will never be sorry that you attended these classes. So begin to plan now to attend this free cooking school, which is a courtesy of the Knight Furniture Company.

As any fool can tell by looking at yours truly, food is one of my pet subjects. There is hardly any aspect of food which doesn't interest old Gee Gee. Therefore, I was very pleased when Mr. and Mrs. Bob Brown, owners and operators of La Mecca Cafe, told me this week that they plan to begin serving Chinese food at their restaurant. When properly prepared and served, there is nothing more palatable. Of course, there are points where even I draw the line, and bird's nest soup and roasted locusts happen to be two of the points. However, if you've never flopped a lip over chow mein or chop suey, then you'd better go down to La Mecca and start flopping. You won't be sorry that you took a chance.

Speaking of taking chances, I always do when it comes to finding things that will slow up my work at home (or any other work I might do). Strictly an opinion of my own, but I think women who don't look for labor and time saving devices should have their heads examined. Life's too short and all that, you know. Anyway, every one knows that silver polishing is a chore that is not only boring and time consuming, but pretty hard on the lily whites, also. Therefore, you will no doubt be glad you stayed with me this long if you try the truly "magic" liquid silver polish that Bess Watkins will be happy to show you at City Drug. I've tried it, and I can honestly say that this little number is wonderful. The brand name of this polish is Dip N Rinse, and it's true to its word because that's all you do.

Whether you believe it or not, there are a few people outside my immediate family who read my drivel, commonly known as Gee Gee's Chit Chat. I would like to pass on to you part of a letter which I received and was requested to print. For reasons of his own, this person would prefer that his name is not mentioned. (Probably doesn't want people to know that he is guilty of being one of my readers.) Nevertheless:

"The neat young man cruising the streets these days in the black car with the gold star on the side as causing more controversy than anything since the last liquor election. Everywhere you go, somebody has a new story about his or a friend's adventures with Morgan. Indeed if the stories continue to accumulate, a book entitled 'Mad Morgan' or 'Morgan and the Morons' is not unlikely. That all the fuss and furor has been caused by a 21 year old youth is little short of revolutionary.

"The precociousness of the gentleman under discussion is not so surprising as his assuming the authority of his position with such mature acceptance of responsibility. His power of authoring it is no more nor no less than has always been held by local politicians, the difference being that, with the help of the Mayor and the city council, Morgan has accepted the responsibility of his job and conscientiously, without fear or favoritism, reminded, corrected, warned, and fined, if necessary, us into safer and better driving.

"William Morgan was born in 1929, an inauspicious year for new lives or old. He claims Plainview, the ancient metropolis to the north, as his home, although he left there at a young age to seek his education in the north. He graduated from the University of Chicago in 2 years, studying the Hundred Great Books, learning the radio business and taking time out in the summers for traffic control work at Northwestern. He has volunteered to discuss Plato and Aristotle, but we haven't pressed the issue.

"We have often wondered how the liberally educated, those who have not studied engineering, law, or the sciences, or any of the minor trade school occupations, after graduation into a world where knowledge of Shakespeare and Milton does not have a cash value, can pay the rent. We believe we are learning. Traffic control interested Morgan from the minute he learned he could meet a great many interesting people and avoid the usual hours of 9 to 5.

"Being young, Morgan's first interest and primary concern as a traffic officer is in the establishment of some sense of responsibility in our teen age drivers. This might seem strange to all those whose sleep has never been disturbed by the smaller hours by the racing motors and screaming tires of automobiles apparently out of control in the quieter residential sections of the city. For those who have lost sleep, both from noise and fear, there is no doubt of the need for Morgan and his high school dubbed 'reign of terror'. Teen agers tend to exaggerate their misfortunes and injustices with such incredible speed that oftentimes the stories that come out of the schools are hysterical in imagination and effectiveness. Closer investigation, however, usually leads to a far less romantic truth of the current outrage against the rights of man.

"Unfortunately, some adults object to obeying the law, not because they object to all restrictions, as the teen agers do, but they believe in restriction . . . for the other fellow. Some of them fail to realize that equal justice under law cannot only be a platitude, but a living reality. Being accustomed to the formulation of their own codes of behavior, including traffic behavior, some people find it impossible to avoid resentment when someone is there constantly watching them, to make sure they drive safely. The extent of our sins can be measured only by the intensity of the resentment of what is obviously correct driving procedure.

"A fellow sentry in the army once kept a cursing major general out of our bivouac area because he could not give the correct password, only to be personally commended later by the same humble general for his devotion to duty and adherence to orders. Some of our local intelligentsia and shopkeepers could use a little of the General's common sense and integrity. One cannot expect laws to be obeyed and the present traffic death rate to go down if we as citizens, continually break the very laws which cause accidents, no matter how safe it may seem at the time to do so.

"Mistakes have been and will be made of course. No one of us is so perfect as to take any public responsibility, without mistakes. But one merely has to listen to stories and watch the drivers to know that a new era has been introduced and that we are, all of us, driving better and more carefully than ever before."

The author feels that "Mayor Primm, the city council, and anyone else who had anything to do with the present safety program are to be commended and respected. With more people killed in traffic accidents last year than were killed than in all of the wars of the United States, we cannot afford to do less, both for ourselves and our children."

Now that I have published the letter, I am inviting any and all of you to grab pen and paper and start the pro and con discussion, and I'll do my best to referee. Happy Easter egg and all that.

COUNTRY CLUB GOLFERS MEET

A special meeting of the women golfers of Brownfield country club met Tuesday at the club for a business meeting and luncheon, followed by an afternoon of golf.

Mrs. Jack Bailey, chairman, presided. During the business meeting, Mrs. J. T. Bowman was elected secretary of the group. Members present were Mesdames Hiram Parks and Jerry Kirschner, both of Lubbock; and Mesdames Harold Crites, R. N. McClain, Prentice Walker, Fred Baldwin, Ted Hardy, E. C. Davis, Joe McGowan, L. H. Dean, Bill Williams, John L. Cruce, Jr., Glen Akers, Bailey and Bowman, all of Brownfield.

Mrs. Parks was low scorer, and Mrs. McClain had low puts.

Built-Ins Can Solve Your Storage Space Problems

If home space were sold by the bag, most of us would rush right down and purchase a couple of dollars' worth every payday.

Unfortunately, extra floor area is not come by so easily. If high rentals or building costs are preventing your acquiring it in the usual fashion—by moving to a larger apartment or adding a spare room onto your home—then you must resort to planning to attain those precious inches.

One solution, if your husband is a handyman or your carpenter reasonable in his prices, is built-in furniture. You can utilize one wall for all the shelf and bureau space you need, leaving the rest of the room uncluttered. An additional advantage is planned storage. You can make every inch count by planning beforehand just what you wish to store in each spot.

For each room, it's usually a good idea to include drawer space, open shelves and enclosed shelves. The framework of this built-in furniture should be constructed of sturdy wood. For cabinet doors and drawer fronts, plywood is a good choice.

If you are not yet permanently settled, you may prefer having these wall pieces made up into separate, easy-to-move units. Make certain, however, that they match in height and width in order to give a feeling of unity when they're lined up together.

Built-in rows of drawers, cabinets and bookcases give this master-bedroom plenty of extra storage space and a handy counter along the windows. The same type of built-in is ideal for youngsters, too. The built-in and valance above it are made of birch plywood.

G. I. QUESTIONS and ANSWERS

Q—Will VA increase my disability compensation if I go to a VA hospital for treatment of a service-connected disability.

A—After you have been in the hospital for 21 days or more for treatment of your service-connected disability, VA under certain conditions may pay you a 100 per cent disability rating, which you continue to receive as long as you remain hospitalized for such treatment.

Q—May I use a GI business loan to buy a car, and thus be exempt from credit restrictions that apply to such purchases?

A—The only condition under which you can get a GI business loan to purchase a car would be if the car were essential to your business. You could not get a loan for a car used for pleasure or to travel to and from work.

Q—The beneficiary of my National Service Life Insurance policy formerly was my father. Recently I got married and want to name my wife as beneficiary instead. Do I have to get my father's consent to change my beneficiaries?

A—No. You have the right to change beneficiaries at any time. There is no need to obtain your father's consent.

Q—Can you tell me how to apply for the special National Service Life Insurance dividend I understand VA is going to pay in 1951.

A—No application is necessary for the second special dividend. Instead, payments will be made automatically. If VA has any question as to your address or record, it will mail you a two-part return card for verification of your proper address.

Legal Notice

NOTICE TO BIDDERS:

Sealed proposals addressed to the Honorable Commissioners' court of Terry County, Texas, OWNER, will be received at the office of the County Judge, Court House, Brownfield, Texas, until 10:00 A. M., April 9, 1951 for the placing of asphalt seal coat on approximately 27.2 miles of Terry County Roads. Two proposals shall be submitted by each bidder. Proposal "A" shall be submitted for the furnishing of all materials, machinery, tools, equipment, superintendence and labor necessary to complete the proposed work in its entirety. Proposal "B" shall be submitted wherein the OWNER will furnish certain materials and/or perform certain items of work and the CONTRACTOR shall furnish the remainder of the materials, equipment and personnel to complete the work. After a careful study of the bids received, the OWNER will determine which proposal will be accepted.

A certified or cashier's check issued by a bank satisfactory to the OWNER, or a Bid Bond from a reliable Surety Company, made payable without recourse to the order of Terry County, Texas, in an amount of not less than five per cent (5%) of the highest possible total amount bid, shall accompany each bid as a guaranty that, if awarded the contract, the Bidder will promptly enter into contract and execute a performance bond of one hundred per cent (100%) of the total contract price.

Plans, Specifications, Proposal Forms, and Bond Forms may be seen and examined at the office of the County Judge, Court House, Brownfield, Texas, or a copy of such plans and specifications may be secured from the office of C. A. Tubbs, Engineer, 808 Texas Avenue, Lubbock, Texas, upon a deposit of five dollars ($5.00) which deposit will be returned to the depositor upon the submission of a bona fide bid on the work, with such plans and specifications; or upon the return of the plans and specifications, in good condition, within ten days after the date of the receipt of bids; otherwise the deposit shall be forfeited.

The OWNER reserves the right to reject any and all bids and to waive any and all formalities.

Attention is called to the fact that not less than the minimum wages prevailing in the locality in which the work is to be performed for work of a similar character, and not less than the general prevailing rate for legal holiday and overtime work, shall be paid to all laborers, workmen and mechanics employed in the construction of public works. The general prevailing wage rates may be obtained from the County Judge or from the office of C. A. Tubbs, Engineer, 808 Texas Avenue, Lubbock, Texas.

ROMAN-STRIPED

This Roman-striped cotton knit blouse is ample support for the old theory, "Do as the Romans do." Colorful Roman-striped cotton combines vibrant pastel shades with black, while the ribbed waistband and cuffs echo the background shade. The gay knit blouse was created by Cober in Barbet cotton fabric.

IT'S A PUT-UP JOB!

This pretty homemaker was snapped by a passing cameraman as the first breath of spring inspired her to get busy at the annual job of putting up canvas awnings on her windows. She absorbs her quota of sunbams in a brief shorts outfit made of cotton canvas, while she puts up the awnings to protect her home from the sun. She may be a put-up girl here—but she also qualifies as a pin-up!

WASHDAY!

Washday for the Army means a big job for the men who operate a field laundry for U. S. troops. The cotton uniforms pile into a small mountain waiting their turn in the mobile washing machine. Portable washers like these make it possible to supply clean, fresh cotton clothing to U. S. fighting men.

FARM QUESTION BOX

by ED W. MITCHELL
Farm Advisor
General Electric Station WGY

- Q. Is there any way to make a wood fire behave? Being a novice, I usually have to open the windows, or open all draughts—rarely do I hit a happy medium.
- A. First, clean and check the flues for sooty soot and to make sure there is adequate draft. Then lay a small fire; warm the flues by burning a couple of sheets of newspapers; light the fire and let ashes accumulate so wood is lying against the hot ashes, with only a few little holes exposed under it to provide draft. Study and practice will soon win.
- Q. I would like some advice on waterproofing a cellar. In dry weather I have a dry cellar and in wet weather a half a foot of water. I have gutters on the house and it is well graded. It seems to come in from the bottom. The soil is clay and hard pan.
- A. You will have to lay the drains around the outside of the cellar walls and under the floor, and then probably waterproof the outside of the walls and put in a floor of waterproof concrete. All that is hard enough if done before the house is built, but reproducible after it is built. I would slope the floor to a drain pit in one corner and put in an automatic electric sump pump.
- Q. I expect to build a hen house in the spring for about 500 hens. Can you give me the best width to build?
- A. You should have about four square feet per hen, say 200 square feet—a building 400 feet by 20 feet deep. However, a lot depends on land, location, and what you want because ideas differ.
- Q. I have twenty-five pullets. They are crossbreeds and look very nice. Can you please tell me why they keep dropping down on their eggs? They now have dropped down as low as twelve eggs a day. They have ovary shells and scratch feed and mash, and straw to scratch in.
- A. Egg production depends on a great many things. In addition to good breeding and rearing, try and keep conditions uniform as well as good. Never let the water pan or mash hopper get empty; avoid scolding the birds or getting them chilled; use lights all night or to lengthen the day to fourteen hours of light. Watch the weight and keep them fat but not too fat, and keep culling out the poor ones.

Cattle Raisers Re-Elect Officers...

PERHAPS SOME WILL SAY MEADOW WASN'T MOVED

Speaking of the removal of the original town of Gomez recently, there are perhaps some of the comparatively new folks that maybe think that Meadow has always been right where it is now. But back to Gomez: in a conversation with Willie Winn last week, he stated, "You forgot to mention the lumber yard, and a bunch of real estate offices." Sure did, Willie. And how in the world would the "prospector" ever have found the land he wanted, and the mines and bounds thereof, had there been no real estate men? Those birds were a bit jealous of each other, and there might have been a sizeable rumpus if another real estate butted into a prospector that the other guy had in tow. Of course if No. 1 had nothing that the would-be buyer wanted, he became common property, and the first to him, got him.

And too, we cannot overlook those old well drillers, and there were a lot of them here in those days. People were coming in to settle, and there were no springs, branches or creeks to get water. Water was some 100 feet down, and the well driller was the man you were looking for, as in the course of a few days after he got his rig up, your well was ready for the windmill.

Old Meadow Three Miles East
 When Terry county first began to be settled, most of the settlements were in the north and east part of the county, especially around old Meadow and along the "strip" between Hockley and Terry. The late Judge W. N. Copeland and his large family of boys and one girl had prairie schooled in from Coke county, and settled near the Terry-Lynn line. Enough people finally settled that a postoffice was in demand, and the Judge decided to make application for one, and at the same time put in a stock of groceries. The nice meadow grass thereabout made the selection of a name easy, so "Meadow" was born, some 3 1/2 miles east of the present town. At one time it had two stores and a small cotton gin. We believe the latter burned. Also the school building burned, and there was some talk of arson, and while a grand jury investigated, nothing ever came of it.

At the time the school burned, the late late J. W. Peeler had charge of the store, postoffice.

Explorers To Rendezvous At RAFB

The South Plains Council, Boy Scouts of America announced to day that an Explorer Rendezvous will be held at Reese Air Force Base, 12 miles West of Lubbock on Friday and Saturday, March 29 and 31. Explorers with their tents and bedrolls will arrive at the Air Base between 4:30 and 6:00 P. M. on Friday the 30th. The program will include survival training, fire fighting, link trainer instruction, instruction on the Rifle Range, and the highlight will be an actual flying experience in a multi-motored plane. All Explorers in the South Plains Council are eligible to attend. Meals will be served in a consolidated mess hall. Explorers should make their reservations directly to the Council Office, 2109 Avenue X, in Lubbock, and send with it the $2.00 reservation fee which covers all of the expenses. The Rendezvous will break up following the noon meal on Saturday, March 31st. The deadline for reservations is Saturday noon, March 24.

Walter F. Paden Rites Set Today

Funeral services for Walter F. Paden, 67, will be held at the Crescent Hill Church of Christ today (Friday) at 2:30 p. m., with elder Joe Chisholm officiating. Paden died suddenly Wednesday afternoon at his home, following a brief illness. He formerly lived in New Deal, and came to Brownfield about 8 years ago. He was a member of the Church of Christ.

Survivors include his wife; 8 sons, Glenn, Dennis, Edsel, Jamie, all of Brownfield, Cleo of Denver, Colo., Lowell of Sudan, Walter, Jr., of Abilene, and Haskell of Ft. Riley, Kan.; one brother, Oscar Paden of Lubbock; and two sisters, Mrs. Dusha King of Angleton and Mrs. Russell Jones of Greenville.

Burial will be in Brownfield cemetery, under the direction of Brownfield Funeral Home.

Uncle Harve Harris In To See Us

We are always glad to see that big old bulk of uncle Harve Harris enter our portals. He always has a good word. If he is ever pessimistic, he never lets on. We might mention right here that Uncle Harve and the Old He sorter see eye to eye politically. He related that he carried one of our articles recently until he wore it out, showing it to friends.

And he stated, most of them agreed that we were fast drifting into socialism. By the way, Mr. and Mrs. Harris are buying a home in Tatum, and will soon move into it, leaving the ranch south of Bronco in charge of one of the sons. We are glad to see them get a home in town. On a ranch there is just too much work, and they need to take it pretty easy from now on. Not that they are not in good health, but let younger folks take the ranch responsibilities for awhile.

Another of their sons, Charles D., has opened a law office at Lovington, and is associated with the Foreman Insurance agency in Tatum. As to the reunion again next summer, Harve stated that was a bit doubtful. "If I could arrange it so that I could hire other men and women to do most of the serving and entertaining, and get the Mrs. to sit back, I wouldn't mind it. But she is always worn out when the day is over."

CONGRATULATIONS TO LOCAL CAR DEALERS

The Herald offers congratulations to Shorty Forbus on the record his cars, the Studebakers, made at the fuel trials over an 840 mile grilling run in California recently. The Champion got 28.3 miles per gallon; the Commander V-8, 28 miles, and the Land Cruiser V-8, 27.6 miles per gallon.

Also, to the local Plymouth dealers in the huge sales of that car last year, many more than ever before, amounting to 547,367 cars.

To Open Fight On Gamblers, Racketeers

Attorney General Price Daniel has called a meeting of the state's 315 prosecuting attorneys to consider means of waging a more vigorous fight against organized crime in Texas.

"In addition to stamping out the organized gambling which now exists, Texas should let the world know that it will not tolerate entry into this state of the gamblers and racketeers who are now being run out of other states by exposures of the Kefauver crime investigating committee," Daniel said.

"I know of no group which can sound the warning and back it up better than the county and district attorneys acting in cooperation with their local law enforcement officers," he continued.

Last Rites Today For Mrs. R. Ray

Last rites will be held this afternoon at the Crescent Hill Church of Christ for Mrs. Ralph Ray, 24, who died in a Plainview hospital at 11:05 p. m., Wednesday. She had been ill for a short time.

A native of Lubbock, Mrs. Ray moved to Brownfield in 1944.

Survivors include her husband and one daughter, Jetta, 2; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. McCaughan of Route 1, Brownfield; three sisters, Mrs. Dee Yale of Tokio and Mrs. J. W. Lasiter and Mrs. Kenneth Groves, both of Johnson; paternal grandfather, C. M. McCaughan of Route 1, Brownfield; and maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Sanning of Levelland.

POSTAL RECEIPTS SHOW INCREASE OVER 1950
 AUSTIN — January postal receipts in Texas declined 26 per cent from December, but remained 14 per cent above January, 1950, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research reported.

January receipts from 41 smaller Texas cities totaled $4,331,319. Drops from the December level ranged from 5 to 48 per cent, but no city reported a decrease greater than 19 per cent from January, 1950, receipts.

THE BUREAUCRATS ORDERED AN ACREAGE CUT
 AUSTIN — Prospects of another short cotton crop this year are causing a widespread fear of a damaging cotton shortage, Dr. A. B. Cox, University of Texas cotton marketing professor, declared.

U. S. cotton production for the 1950-51 season was estimated by the federal government at 9,884,000 bales — only 62 per cent of a comparable period in 1949-50. Yet consumption registered an impressive gain this season and exports were stable, Dr. Cox reports.

Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Card and his father, Henry Card, all of Freedonia, N. Y., visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Tarpley and other relatives and friends here last week.
