The formal opening of the South Plains Health Unit will be Thursday, May 24, 1951, beginning at 1:30 p. m. The public is cordially invited to attend. Assembly will be in the new High School auditorium opposite the Health Center at the east end of Main street. The program will begin at 1:30 with a musical by the Brownfield High School band. The main program will begin at 2:00 with the direction of Local Health Service,

The South Plains Health Unit was established on January 6, 1940 as a District Health Unit composed of Lynn, Gaines, Yoakum, Terry and Dawson counties with headquarters in Brownfield. On June 14, 1941, Lynn withdrew from the unit and Hockley became a permanent member. In May, 1944, Dawson county withdrew to establish an independent unit which left four counties in the main organization until Dawson county rejoined in 1947.

In December of 1945 the present director, Dr. Frank P. Miller, was appointed to office. It has been during his administration that the unit has advanced from third to first class under the merit system of Texas.

Prominent Business Man Wins Trip To Bermuda

Joe Shelton Is New Postmaster

Effective July 1 Joe Shelton, acting postmaster of the Brownfield post office will assume duties as postmaster of the Brownfield post office. He received notification of official appointment by Congress last week.

Postmaster Shelton is well-qualified for the position, having been with the local office for the past eleven years. He has been acting postmaster since last October, when James H. Dallas resigned to enter other work.

The writer has known Joe Shelton since he was a child, and we always found Joe without bad habits of any nature. In fact, he was brought up to attend Sunday School and church services, religiously. That he is well-qualified for this important position cannot be questioned, and we are glad the powers that be up at Washington saw fit to elevate Joe in the post office department.

Joe also had the best of raising, the late Ed Shelton and his wife, who now reside in Cisco, did an excellent job of rearing their two boys and two girls.

Joe also has a splendid wife and they in turn have made fine success in rearing a family. Our good wishes and cooperation goes to Joe in his new position.

The Free State Of Bandera, Texas

BANDERA, Texas, May 18.—(AP)—If you get fed up with the United States in the spring, come to Bandera and secede.

The Free State of Bandera annually secedes (for three days) when spring opens the tourist season in the dude ranch country.

The three action-filled days are called the Bandera Stompede. And how they do stomp.

The 1951 Stompede was held last weekend and brought more than 30,000 people swarming into this little town of 1,019 people.

The Stompede got its start in 1948 when the "Free State of Bandera" wrote two letters to President Truman asking for a National Cowboy Holiday.

President Truman, apparently not in a letter-writing mood, did not answer them. The letters were signed by Zeke, a mythical "high constable" of Bandera.

The President's indifference got tempers riled here, and secession followed. A pair of blue jeans was chosen as the Free State's flag. Cotton Eyed Joe is the national anthem.

In Bandera during the Stompede, you can let your hair down, go western, rip, roar and snort, and generally do anything you're big enough to do. Texas' most beautiful girls enter the Bell Cow Cowbelle beauty contest, won this year by Dianne Muenstink of Hon-do.

Bandera's long line of gaudy, noisy night clubs and cafes are packed to overflowing as western bands grind out the best in western music.

U. S. PARCELS STILL POUR INTO GERMANY

FRANKFURT, Germany.—(AP) Open-hearted Americans are still showering Germany with gift parcels.

In 1946, when post-war Germany was destitute, a gift parcel service was begun in the United States. Day after day the total mounted until at the end of last month, West and East Germans had been sent 44,000,000 gift parcels. Officials estimate their combined value at $375,000,000.

Even today, as the German economy continues its upward trend, Americans still send gift packages.

"A Boystown" To Be Set Up In Mexico

McALLEN, Texas, May 18.—(AP)—The people of the Lower Rio Grande Valley are going to help Mexico establish a Ciudad de Los Ninos—a Boys' Town patterned after the famed boys' home at Omaha, Neb.

Father Carlos Alvarez—"Mexico's Father Flanagan"—launched his campaign for a Mexican Boys' Town after seeing the movie "Boy's Town" starring Spencer Tracy.

The Mexican counterpart will be in Villa Guadalupe, on the outskirts of Monterrey. President Miguel Aleman's wife laid the cornerstone for the first building early in February. So far about six million pesos has been raised. Two million more are needed.

Father Alvarez, a handsome young priest, was in the valley recently setting up plans for paper drives and other plans to help finance the home.

Missing Picture

Edinburg, Tex., held a special celebration to receive an autographed portrait of Princess Elizabeth and Princess Anne. The gift was in appreciation of a bale of cotton sent Princess Anne by the Texas city. A crate arrived just in time to be opened at the party. But it contained only excelsior. The surprised men unpacking the crate are (left to right) Frank Brackney, Dock Boyle and Dale Austin, all of Edinburg. The missing picture turned up later in London and is being sent to the Valley city. (AP Photo).

Petroleum Peggy Says . . .

Many of us may have already started thinking about holiday decorations, and are wondering what to do that will be different from other years. One simple, yet versatile decoration is the candle.

Candles come in so many assorted sizes and colors that there are few places in the home where they do not have decorative value. White and red candles contrast nicely with holiday greens, while green candles are ideally suited for use with red holly berries or poinsettias. We no longer use candles because of the fire hazard, but properly and wisely used, candles are a delight at that time of the year.

The taper candles, which many call "Christmas candles" are made by drawing long strands of twisted cotton yarn through a bath of molten wax. Cut to length, the tapers are dipped in hot water and the ends shaken. This process, called feathering, removes the wax from one end, allowing a new taper to be lit easily.

Modern candles are successors of the early rush-lights, which consisted of rushes soaked in household grease. Later candles were made of tallow, beeswax, or such vegetable waxes as bayberry. These had a much lower melting point than modern paraffin wax candles and dripped easily. They also sputtered, smoked and gave off distinct odors.

WORLD'S FASTEST CAMERA?

LONDON.—(AP)—A camera which can take 24,000,000 pictures per minute has been displayed by the Ministry of Supply at an exhibition here.

The ministry says the photographs could clearly show an ordinary house fly 100 yards away. The camera is described as the fastest high definition camera in the world. It is used for studying the details of explosions, which sometimes last only a fraction of a second.

The camera throws images on to a stainless steel mirror which revolves 150,000 times a minute. The image is reflected through small lenses on to film.

The camera contains some of the fastest moving apparatus in existence, the ministry says.

VIENNA EDITORS QUICK CHANGE ARTISTS

VIENNA.—(AP)—If you are a non-Communist publisher in the Russian occupied zone of Austria, you have to be fast in thinking up new names for your newspaper.

When the Socialist weekly newspaper "Welt der Arbeit" (World of Work) was banned by the Russians, it reappeared under the name "Freies Wort" (Free Word). Recently it was banned again. The next week, it appeared under the name "Unser Recht" (Our Right).

The editors fear they may have to change the name again soon.

THIS WAY OUT

DAYTON, O.—(AP)—So, the police said to the truck driver: "Get out of here, mister." Then, they escorted him to the city limits to make sure he did. The truck was parked on a downtown street and it contained 31,000 pounds of six-inch Navy shells loaded for shooting.

The present-day candle has none of these drawbacks. It is odorless, smokeless and dripless. The paraffin in today's candles is a petroleum-derived material, a product of oil research and refinery engineering. Candles are made more economically because of the abundant supplies of raw materials available in crude oil.

Sparks From Capitol

By Jim Sparks, P. O. Box 2312, Capitol Station, Austin, Texas

Wednesday, May 9.—The 52nd Legislature is drawing to a close.

With Senate passage of the $151,000,000 spending bill and a $60,000,000 additional tax bill, legislators began to talk of a definite day for final adjournment. Most agreed it will be within the next week.

There was considerable sentiment among House members to stage a fight for Senate agreement to the allocation of natural gas tax revenue to cities for street purposes. However, many hoped this fight would be avoided by the Senate's action in rejecting a one-cent gasoline increase in favor of a natural gas tax increase included in the omnibus tax bill.

House forces are prepared to fight any attempt to substitute the gasoline tax for a natural gas tax increase.

The $151,000,000 represents the money appropriated from the general revenue fund for courts, higher education, special schools and hospitals, and state departments. Funds for public schools, highways and roads, and other services are allocated by other means. Actually, the total state expenditure is approximately $500,000,000 per year.

The election law redefinition bill was passed by the House. It is doubtful whether the Senate will find time to consider this bill during the crowded closing days. Also, the House passed and sent to the Senate the controversial congressional re-districting bill. This is the last major bill on the House agenda.

A bill requiring the annual inspection of automobiles for defective brakes, lights, steering, etc., was finally passed and signed by the governor. Automobiles which do not pass inspection will not be licensed. Sponsor of the safety measure is Rep. Jerry Steward, Fairfield.

Wednesday, May 9, pay all members dropped to $5 per day for the remainder of the Session. After the Session ends, no member receives any pay unless called back into Special Session.

Taping Dollars

The four men (above) had a major role in the "Mile of Dollars" campaign to rebuild the burned Methodist church in Bells, Tex. The string of bills stretched a little more than seven-tenths of a mile along Highway 69, a little short of the goal. Taping some of the 7,000 bills are (left to right): Wade Neves, chairman of the Methodist Church's board of stewards; John Cliff, Denison newspaperman; Building Chairman Vol Dawson, and the Rev. S. Baxton Bryant, pastor of the church. When the money was rolled up, the church still needed about $4,000. (AP Photo).

Behind The Scenes

By Reynolds Knight
NEW YORK, May 18.—Our nation's top economists violently disagree as to what's going to happen to the U. S. economy during the next six months. One group predicts that, short of an all-out war, our industrial plans will be able to meet normal civilian requirements, along with defense needs. The opposing and not-so-optimistic faction prophesies that as our defense program really gets rolling, industrial capacity will be channeled away from civilian production, creating many shortages of consumer goods. Leading businessmen are just as divided in their opinion. Some are anticipating a continuing high level in the production of civilian goods. In line with this belief, they are keeping only normal inventories on hand and maintaining their selling organizations in tip-top shape for expected competition. In short contrast, many other civilian businesses are worried about a possible shutdown in their flow of supplies. They point to the recurring government warnings of pending scarcities. More steel, more labor, more power, more of everything, they say, will be used as the defense program hits its stride. Many are duplicating orders of goods likely to be in tight supply so they will have a hedge in case of a sudden cutoff or an all-out war.

Civilians are just as confused. Millions of them are still stocked up from two buying sprees earlier this year. However, they continue buying, reasoning that prices may be yanked upwards again when the long-pending order is released allowing distributors, wholesalers and jobbers to pass on their increased costs. Additional millions of citizens, reassured by the full shelves and high inventories of stores, discount the possibility of shortages and are buying only what they need today.

Add some pickling spices to the water in which you cook shrimp for good flavor.

Petroleum Peggy Says . . .

Here's something interesting for you women who enjoy smoking. Did you know that tobacco once was believed to have medicinal properties—that's how smoking really got started in this country? And did you know that oil products now help the tobacco farmer do a better job of curing his crop?

Columbus and other early explorers found American Indians using tobacco. Tobacco generally was believed by the Indians to have curative powers. The first settlers picked up the belief.

However tobacco which we find in our cigarettes these days differ considerably from the crude types used by Indians and early settlers. In the colonial days, tobacco was cured by heat from wood fires.

Today's curing method is one of the primary factors in determining high-quality. There are four common methods of curing: sun-curing, air-curing, fire-curing and flue-curing. Today, over half of America's high tobacco crop is flue-cured.

The most modern flue-curing is done with oil-fired heaters. The use of these automatic heaters gives the farmer more accurate control over his curing temperatures—which reach 175 to 185 degrees. It also frees him from the need of tending fires round the clock for the four to five days required for curing. As with thousands of other farmers and with millions of oil consumers throughout the country, the industry never lets down.

It's handy to remember that there are three teaspoons in a tablespoon and sixteen tablespoons in a cup, when you are halving a recipe that's too large for your family.

LOOKOUT TOWER IS DELIVERED BY AIR

MISSOULA, Mont.—(AP)—The U. S. Forest Service has successfully delivered a lookout tower by parachute. More than 130 timbers, to be used in construction of the tower, were dropped on Bear Mountain 54 air miles southwest of here in the Selway Wilderness area.

Forest Service officials said it was the first time timbers as long as 20 feet had been dropped by air in the service's growing aerial program. A twin-engine Douglas DC-3 made three trips over the mountain to drop the lumber. The total weight was 9,200 pounds.

UNIMPORTANT PERSONS FORM CLUB

SAN ANTONIO.—(AP)—It pays to be a person of no importance at Brooks Air Force Base here. You can get into the NIP Club.

The club was set up by a group of company-grade officers who say they got tired of the attention paid VIPs — very important persons.

NIPs are "Not Important Persons." Club rules are that a member promoted to a rank as high as major must "refuse the advancement or resign his membership."

Nails Put Finger on Good Grooming

BY EDNA MILES

IT'S surprising how many otherwise well-groomed women attempt to get by with nails that are under par, hoping others won't notice their cracked polish, split ends or ragged cuticles.

This is, as a rule, a futile hope. Because a woman's hands are one of the most mobile parts of her body, an observer's eye is automatically drawn to them.

If your fingernails are to pass inspection at all times, avoid going out with such mental reservations as "my nails look a fright, but I'll keep them out of sight," or, "I'm ashamed of my cuticles, but I'll cover them with my gloves."

Such resolutions have a way of breaking down midway through a social situation. You find yourself enthusiastically waving your hands as you stress a point, or you discover you can't manage refreshments with your gloves on.

It's much better policy to avoid these makeshift measures and assure yourself of pride-worthy nails before leaving your home. Set aside a definite time in your weekly routine to devote to a careful nail grooming, and make a practice of allotting a few minutes between manicures to touch-up repairs.

And, most important, cultivate a consciousness of your nails. Check them before leaving your home as automatically as you do your lipstick. Never go out in public with nails showing imbedded grime; it takes only a few seconds to clean them.

Ranking second on your taboo list should be cracked polish. As a general rule, it's better to lose a few minutes removing broken polish than it is to arrive promptly for an appointment with polish half on and half off.

Actress Dorothy Hart, featured in Warner Brothers' "I Was a Communist for the FBI," believes in regular fingernail grooming to keep her hands looking lovely.

MINIATURE WRITING OPENS DOOR TO AUCTIONEERING

CENTRALIA, Ill.—(AP)—Geo. Borum's son, Georgie is the youngest graduate auctioneer in the country. At 14, he can duplicate almost all of his father's talents. In his impressive string of hobbies, the elder Borum has developed the ability of miniature writing, fancy penmanship, card carving, "flourish" drawing, chalk talk, sketching with both hands simultaneously, copying signatures, wood carving and painting. He learned auctioneering thru rice writing. The head of an auctioneering school sent for an inscribed grain of rice. Borum sent it with a letter expressing interest in the auctioneering trade. The auctioneer responded with: "Teach me to write on a grain of rice, and I'll teach you auctioneering."

One Delegate To Attend Work Shop

The County Home Demonstration Council, at the regular meeting held in the county home demonstration office last Saturday, voted to send one delegate to a Craft Design Work Shop to be held at Texas Technological College July 9 to 13. The course will be taught by Miss Marty Poindexter, head of the Applied Arts Department. Home Demonstration Club women from the South Plains and the Panhandle Extension Districts are eligible to enroll in the course, which is limited to forty women. In addition to learning various crafts, the women will be taught how to create designs appropriate for use on different materials such as leather and fabrics.

At the meeting Saturday, each club was requested to nominate one person to take this work shop. From those nominated, one will be selected at the June Council to represent the county.

Since Saturday is a difficult time for the homemakers to attend meetings, the members were asked to discuss with their clubs another day for the council to meet. It will be voted upon in the June Council.

Half Inch Rain Here Friday and Sunday

For the fifth day (Tuesday) a high wind, rolling dirt and sand ahead, has been blasting the elements from the south, southeast. In the past long ago, that was an almost unerring sign of rain. While clouds have been passing over to the north, northwest all that time, they may have been pushed over the Rockies into the Pacific.

Anyway, we had a token shower here Friday night of 42/100 inch, and another early Sunday afternoon of 8/100, making a half inch. But one can hardly tell it now with all the high winds and dust, except the leaves and grass seem a bit greener.

We hope it will haul off one of these days and knock the bottom out of a good cloud, and give us a trash mover. No twisters asked for or desired, please.

Tomorrow Is Armed Forces Day

AUSTIN, Texas, May 18—Governor Allan Shivers, Wednesday issued a proclamation designating Saturday, May 19, "Armed Forces Day."

The proclamation, signed in the presence of high ranking Army officers and civilians cited the fact that the President had proclaimed that date and directed that it be observed with appropriate ceremonies.

Following is the text of the Governor's proclamation: "The President of the United States has proclaimed May 19, 1951, as Armed Forces Day and has directed that it be observed with appropriate ceremonies.

Official slogan for Armed Forces Day this year is "Defenders of Freedom," in proper tribute to those who are now fighting on foreign soil in defense of those principles which this nation has cherished since its birth.

This tribute is in further recognition of the Armed Forces' part in the material and spiritual mobilization that is now taking place in this country. Its theme is a renewal of faith in our country's sacred heritage and in the ideals of peace and freedom, to the preservation of which we are dedicated.

Therefore, I, as Governor of Texas, hereby designate May 9, 1951, as Armed Forces Day in this State, and urge Texas citizens to display the flag of the United States on this day and otherwise to demonstrate their recognition and appreciation for the services of the men and women in our Armed Forces. Allan Shivers.

Well, we like to have broke even last week on the comers and goers, but seven were the number looking for greener pastures, while four thought they would give this old burg a trial. We hope they like, and here's our glad hand.

The four that came in were: Arnold Hayden, former address unknown; O. T. Newman, Seagraves; W. D. Britton, Lubbock, while Alton Landroy hails from old New Orleans.

No divorces or marriages. June is coming up, though, for marriages. Some still giving bad checks.

LAZINESS KEEPS BUSINESS GOING

CHICAGO—(AP)—J. O. Reinecke, an industrial designer, says happy people are lazy.

"If they weren't, we'd starve," he said.

He's designed such things as a foot pedal drinking fountain, atomic cigarette lighter and powdered orange squeezer.

"When enough people buy these new gadgets we create to make life easier, we just can't help being happy," Reinecke said.

Stricklinly Speaking

By Old He
About the latest silly thing to come out of the multimess we have now, is that a military hospital has refused to treat a wounded Yank. Reason (?) That is not a war over in Korea — it is a "Police Action."

Anyway, we imagine the more than 60,000 killed and wounded GI's bled just as much; their wounds and frost bites hurt just as much as if they were in an "Official War." Ho! hum!

For some 20 years, Rudolph Moorhead lived near the banks of what most of us term Rich Lake, just off the highway to the east, between Brownfield and Meadow. For many years we have heard that old timers that had lived near the lake could predict the weather by it, and some would almost bet on it.

This week, Rudolph informed a Herald man that the crust on the lake was turning dark, which is a good sign of rain after a long dry period. We hope Rich Lake does not fall us this time.

By the way, back in the early 40ties, General Marshall "wrote off Nationalist China," and tried to make them make peace with the Reds, then confined to extreme North China. As General Chung could not get munitions and supplies from USA, he had to perform one retreat after the other, and finally to Formosa. The Reds were supplied with arms from Russia, and perhaps secretly from the US State Department.

Nationalist China then as now, were the only friends the USA has in that God-forsaken country, but we helped to turn the country over to the Reds, and now we are paying, paying and paying for the folly of our leaders.

Yet that old duck now has the guts to try to scare the American people and try to keep them silent on his blunders of the past, by telling us that we are just about to be attacked by Russia as well as Red China. What was that someone said a few years ago about, the thing to be most feared is fear?

Along with the other crap that is before the American people constantly, we note that Rita Hayworth has established legal (?) residence in Nevada, better known as the "Quickie Divorce" state, and is now aiming to get a legal goodbye from one Allyn Tinkan.

Perhaps the deah gu'l has already spied another Sheik that looks more presentable than the baggy britchesed Arab, and hastens to make ready to receive him with open arms. Disgusting. But the great trouble is that too many Americans are trying to mimic the movie moguls on marriages and divorces.

In the meantime taxes and more taxes are coming. Someone got to figuring lately on what might be termed a low income individual. It was found that one-seventh of their salary is now taken by the government, and the trouble is, the end is not near in sight.

That great army of unnecessary employees that are really in each other's way up at Washington, must have a nice salary whether they earn it or not. They must live in the style of a government employee. Little or nothing—but talk—has been done at Washington to eliminate this raft of graft.

But we have been keeping an eye on the print as well as an ear on what we hear, and we shall not be surprised that if the candidates for re-election next year are not going to be asked some very embarrassing questions when they take the stump for another term at the national feed trough. There used to be an old saying that went something like this: "Save something, and have it when it is most needed." That is all out now. An obliging government attends to all your surplus spending aside from a bare living. Don't they have to keep this army of prospective voters in a good humor?

A lady with a smiling voice, called up from the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal office two weeks ago to ask about the wrecked Clay Company warehouse hit by a windstorm; thought to be a small twister. The Herald gals got out and got some notes on the damage with a fair picture.

These were sent to the A-J publications, and we were promised a mat or cut of the storm damage. And we got it, after we'd gone to press, and after the cut had traveled to the County-Wide News at Littlefield, and back to The Herald. But we all make mailing messes. Anyway, thanks for the effort.

Read something the past week that so enthused us that we got up without our fast Tennessee walking stick, and strutted around the office, like a spring of the year turkey gobler. Maude Green (she puts it maud green) in her column in West Texas Publisher, "This and That from Here and There," paid the Old He quite a compliment, we thought.

She stated in this column that she liked Eddie Warren's column in his Post Dispatch, and A. M.

Cruising Down the River

LIVING UP TO THEIR NAME—G.I.'s of the First Cavalry Division hopped aboard a pair of oxen in Central Korea in what might have been an attempt to prove that the word "cavalry" still has some meaning. Rough and muddy terrain may have also entered into their decision to ride.

Jackson's column in the Slatonite, and the Old He's Stricklinly Speaking, all being her favorites.

Stricklinly Speaking, we wish to convey to our trio of readers that one of the first things we read on receipt of the West Texas Publisher is the two Linotype pi lines, etain shrdlu, by maud green. Sometimes she kinder takes some of us Smart Alex writers apart, and shows us how silly we look, but in most cases she just kids us along.

Speaking of newspapers, we are sorry that Editor Joiner lost his Ralls Banner. There is always many unreplaceable things in a newspaper fire. For instance the old files of the paper. For that reason, the Herald built a fire-proof vault many years ago, in which to keep our files.

But we don't get the Banner. Mr. Joiner cut us off right behind the forehead some months ago.

May have been accidental, but we had an idea at the time that The Herald was too far to the right to suit Mr. Joiner, who always seemed a bit left of center.

Then too, we remember that one time we called his paper the Ralls "Banana." Very undignified, of course, but lots of our regular readers don't call this rag anything except "The Headache." We remember one time that we called Bob Haynes' paper The Tyhooker Snews.

Instead of challenging us to meet him at the county line and step off ten paces, he merely referred to our sheet at the Terror County Hee-rald. That was before Col. Eee Eye Hill, a more dignified gentleman bought the Lynn County News.

Then we used to call the Lubbock dailies the "Hubbock Ambulance-Shurnal." This might have made them sore, but at least they kept sending us a paper.

No fool, no fun.

We regret to see Charlie Didway and his excellent family leave our city. We'll miss his "Off the Keyboard." But we congratulate him on his promotion as editor of the Herald and Sun-News of Levelland, and with perhaps a greatly increased salary in proportion to his increased duties and responsibilities.

Best of luck, Charlie.

SOIL STEWARDSHIP SUNDAY WILL BE OBSERVED IN AREA MAY 20th

Ministers of all denominations throughout Texas and more especially here in the South Plains area have been invited to take part in the observance of "Soil Stewardship Sunday." All pastors residing within Cochran-Yoakum-Terry Soil Conservation District (Terry and Yoakum counties) have been extended a cordial invitation to deliver one sermon on Sunday, May 20, on the value of conserving our soil and water resources.

On April 24, all pastors in Brownfield, Meadow, Wellman, Gomez, Tokio, Poole, Johnson, Challis, Pleasant Valley, Plains, and Sligo communities were invited to observe "Soil Stewardship Sunday" and to point out that soils low in fertility and improperly managed make poor people. Poor people are usually low in spirituality and in their standards of living.

The setting aside of one Sunday each year as a special day for remembering our God-given responsibility as stewards of the soil was first observed in many sections of the southwest and the nation as a whole and was started several years ago. Now, May 20, is a State and National Day. Leading farm magazines, farmers, ministers and businessmen cooperating with Soil Conservation Supervisors have been instrumental in establishing a wide scale observance of this special day.

Again this year, even a more widespread observance of Soil Stewardship Sunday has been planned, and Sunday, May 20, has been set aside when pastors of all churches throughout the area will devote at least one sermon to the relation of our soil to the people and the Church. This past week in a number of places field days, demonstrations and banquets have been held in observance of the better conservation of our soil resources.

Through work of the Soil Conservation Districts, much worn-out land has been reclaimed and made to produce abundantly again. Good soil produces good crops, and good food means a healthy, prosperous people. Food crops produced on rich soil have more nutritive value in minerals and vitamins than do crops produced on worn-out land. It is the duty of every person to encourage soil conservation. The very future of our country depends on how the soil is managed each crop year.

NEW RUST THREATENS WHEAT

COLUMBUS, O.—(AP)—A new and virulent brand of rust threatens the 1951 wheat crop. U. S. Department of Agriculture scientists have identified the new rust as "15B" which showed up in some sections and caused serious trouble last year.

The scientists now believe "15B" is the most virulent cause of rust ever found in this country. The new type seems to be the progeny of two older races.

Wheat breeders of the department are cooperating with states to turn out a resistant wheat as a defense against "15B."

HEALTH TALKS

(Prepared by the State Medical Association of Texas)

"I guess I've got virus" seems to be the by-word these days for any degree of ailment from an intestinal upset to complete prostration. Your guess on viruses isn't as good as your doctor's; where viruses are concerned, he does sometimes have to guess but he knows more about what he's guessing at, even as elusive as viruses are.

Those viruses that can be pinned down aren't a guessing matter, however. The virus that causes dengue fever is carried by mosquitoes in warm climates and can be traced in its spread. The mosquito picks it up by biting someone who is going through the first three days of the fever; eight days later the mosquito is capable of injecting the dengue fever virus into whomever he bites.

Dengue fever is also known as breakbone fever, which term aptly describes the aching muscles and feeling of breaking bones when you have it. The germ incubates after the mosquito bite for three to 15 days before those bad aches start up along with headaches and eye pains. You do feel very sick and you usually need no encouragement to go to bed, particularly since the fever may shoot up as high as 106 degrees and you break out with a rash over the neck, shoulders, face and body.

If you don't go to bed at that point, one of the peculiarities of the disease is the stiff, rigid walk you affect like putting on airs; in fact, that has led to one of the popular names of the disease, dandy fever, walking like a dandy.

After that first bout of fever suddenly drops, you may feel somewhat better until five or six days later when the fever shoots up again and the rash breaks out this time on the hands, arms, and legs.

About the only good thing that can be said for dengue fever is that even as bad as the disease makes you feel and as long as it takes to get to feeling good again after the disease is over, dengue fever seldom ever leads to the development of some other disease, some complication.

Now the flu is entirely different. It can get awfully complicated. Everything about the flu is complicated, in fact. If all the viruses got together and conducted a poll on which one of their numbers is the one most likely to succeed in creating disturbances in human beings, there's no doubt that the flu would win by many noses.

The flu isn't just one brand of disease but many different kinds, some of which are known and some of which aren't. It can change itself into all kinds of different manifestations; all of which are guaranteed to make you sick.

Bedrest and liquids to drink should be the first actions when you think you've got the flu. For the headache that may accompany flu, the cough that's frequently a part of the picture, and the general feeling of meanness that's nearly always present, your doctor can prescribe medications that will make you more comfortable and easier to get along with until the virus runs its course.

Without rest in bed you are running a risk of complications with flu, not to mention the fact that you are spreading it to others.

The measles is also one of the "to bed, to bed" virus diseases because of the danger of complications. The real measles, known as the 14-day variety, opens the way to other infections because it lowers the resistance of the body.

Measles spreads fast. The virus is coughed around and about 10 days later the symptoms of a cold start up, followed in a day or two by white spots surrounded by red rings along the inside of the cheeks next to the jaw teeth.

There's usually fever and hurting eyes about that time, both of which get worse until in three or four more days the eruption breaks out. The eruption starts around the head, there at the hairline and behind the ears, and then moves down the body. That's the sickest period of the measles. After the whole body is broken out, the fever and the sickness let up until they both fade out.

In all, measles runs about a 14-day course and one case is supposed to make you immune to it evidently doesn't always do so.

The German measles is the 3-day variety and is much less serious than the 14-day brand as far as possible complications are concerned. It would seem that the three-day measles is just a minor disease were it not for the evidence that it can harm an expected baby when the mother catches the disease during the first three months of pregnancy.

Because of that one possibility of disaster with German measles, doctors firmly state that all girls should have the German measles before they reach the age of child bearing. One case of German measles nearly always keeps you from getting it again; so that is one disease from which it is best not to shield a healthy little girl.

Texas Baptists Leave For Europe

These Baptist preachers and religious workers from Texas are on an eight-week educational and pleasure tour of ten countries in Europe and Asia. They posed before boarding a plane for Paris at New York's International airport. (May 8). At extreme left is Dr. John M. Price, director of the School of Religious Education at Southwestern Seminary, Fort Worth. (AP Photo).

Most people are very complacent and unimpressed, if they are not directly involved. Outside of Texas, California and Louisiana, the people are not in the least concerned about the "Big Grab" that the federal government pulled off on the tidelands of the three states mentioned above. In fact we have mentioned the matter to several people of other states of late, and most of them were not aware of what was taking place. But the series of nine articles written by Allen Duckworth for the Dallas Morning News, a few weeks ago, are now in folder form for general circulation in other states to try to wake people up to the fact that they may have something of value that President Truman and his mink coat gang may want some of these days. Unless all the states wake up, anything that suits the eye of the administration and the packed supreme court, they'll take it. Perhaps they have something that western Europeans want, so they can reshine it to "good old Joe" or some of his satellites. The folder that we received had a front page cartoon by Knott that hit the spot. Perhaps most people of other states have at least heard of Paul Revere, the guy that back in Revolutionary times made that famous "mid-night ride" to warn the people that the British were marching toward Concord. In this case however the rider is Tex Revere, and he has a sign he displays as he rides among the other states, "Federal Grab Coming."

Most of the states in the view showed the men of the house coming out with muskets. But Oklahoma seemed to doubt what he heard. He rested his elbows on the window sills and looked disturbed because he had been awakened from his sleep. Perhaps he reasoned that the whole darn state once belonged to the government—so why worry? While presently the underdog in the scrap, Texans are not discouraged, in the least, and as usual, Uncle Sam will know he has been to a fight before this thing is over. Even Texans lose faith in a "Democratic" administration, when they figure to rob a state or states of property that has been in their hands more than 100 years.

America had its birth in sweat, blood and tears. It was pitted against a powerful nation at that time, well armed and equipped, and able to hire a mercenary army of trained soldiers from Europe to help them. The concept of the Americans were based on Christianity and freedom from slavery. For hundreds of years after the USA finally beat the opposition, we had leaders that were for America, first, last and all the time. What a difference now. Our so-called Asiatic policy of indecision and confusion has been paid for in blood of more than 60,000 of our own splendid young manhood. Not only that, we are told that some 1,200,000 South Koreans, civil and military have been killed or wounded, as well as several thousand from the token armies of our so-called allies. Many of the "free" people of Europe now think that the way to keep friends from siding with Russia is to pay them. This causes hate from those we do not help, and denunciation from all when the help stops. In the meantime, it has become the fashion at Washington to carry the white-wash brush in one hand to make the traitors look presentable. These include, crooks, gamblers and political fixers. Lord, we do need some men at Washington—worthy the offices they fill—the country they serve—the boys who fight and die on the bloody fields of "police action"—the principles to which we now pay lip service—our forefathers—those unknown men who became great by their dreams and hopes for a great people, a great country, a great world. The American people must learn to vote as they think.

We saw an article in a recent issue of the Southern Weekly that was aimed as a jab at that fine American journal and its editor, Peter Molyneux. The article was written by an editor up in the Panhandle of Texas, whom we had always considered a square shooter and a good reasoner. But he admitted that he did not mind being called a "yaller dog Democrat" or that he wore the "brass collar." In other words, the editor had as soon be a slave as a free moral agent. Really, we felt ashamed for the man presumably ment what he said. He went on to say he had enough to vote straight without being told to vote for the nominees of the party. He perhaps meant the nominees of that particular primary, and not the nominees that a bunch of radicals nominate in some northern city months later or sooner. That's all that any person versed on the election laws of our state can see in them. You pledge yourself to vote for the nominees of that primary in which you are then voting—nothing more or nothing less. Editor Molyneux printed this little tirade, then proceeded to show him how darn little he really was. The writer has always voted for the nominees of the primary. But we do not stretch our imagination as to include any and all conventions that might be held in the far distant future. We'd feel silly to do so.

When Southern Democrats really dropped their wad and became nonentities happened way back in 1936, when the persuasive FDR asked that the two-thirds rule in national conventions be dropped, and a simple majority substituted. Up to that time, the power of the South in national conventions was a thing to be considered. But enough of the southern states voted like Roosevelt wished to adopt the measure. They were, Arkansas, Florida, Louisiana, North Carolina, Kentucky, and Oklahoma. Not all the northern states voted for it, for opposing was New York, Indiana, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, New Mexico and Colorado. Seven of the Southern states opposed, being Texas, Tennessee, Alabama, Mississippi, Georgia, South Carolina and Virginia. The adoption of the resolution had the effect that was expected of it, that the South could no longer hold the balance of power. This rule had been in existence since way back in 1832, more than 100 years, and no great amount of pressure had existed up to 1936 to have it repealed. In fact, one of the old line Democrats had the resolution adopted, Gen. Andrew Jackson. However, Jackson probably had the two-thirds rule adopted for the same reason FDR had it repealed. Jackson did not want John C. Calhoun of South Carolina, for Vice-President, but the flying Dutchman, Martin Van Buren of New York instead. Thus we see that the rule was not adopted to favor the South. Roosevelt didn't like his first Vice-President, and changed from John N. Garner to Wallace, and lastly to Truman. What a thought.

Considerable has been written and said lately about the State Senate and its inclination to put more taxes on the ordinary man and less on the big corporations. This was brought out when the Senators, or some of them wanted to put an extra cent tax on gasoline, and not put a gathering tax on the millions of cubic feet of natural gas, 95 per cent of which is being piped out of the state for users without one cent of tax to Texas. Many writers are saying that as there are so many House members, that lobbyists of the gas boys do not fool with them, but put all their aim on the 31 Senators, where such legislation may be blocked. Evidently some of the Senators have been hearing from the folks back home, as a majority of them finally passed the natural gas gathering tax of 1c on the 1,000 cubic feet.

Much talk and some editorial hints have been going the rounds of late that local law enforcement officers are blind or near-sighted. Editor E. I. Hill had quite a lengthy editorial along that line last week. Mr. Hill stated that in many dry counties, when the people get fed up on too much bootlegging, almost openly, that there was no use appealing to local law enforcement officers, but the community had to get state police to do the raiding. We have heard it even broadly hinted that in some places the "law" was paid off, and the "leggers" go merrily along with their trade. Editor Hill believes that the so-called "upper crust" are somewhat to blame for conditions. They have the influence in the community, and perhaps bring pressure to bear on the local officers to go easy with the bootleggers. To say the least, this is a bad condition, and counties that find themselves under such a handicap should at the first opportunity change officials by ballot. The local leaders seem to think that it is OK for them to buy illegal liquor, but decidedly wrong for the poor working man or the farmer to buy it.

CZECH-STYLE JUSTICE
VIENNA.—(AP)—The Austrian Socialist Party recently published a document it claimed proved how East Europe's Communist governments send anti-Communists to labor camps without trial. The document, which the socialists said had fallen into their hands, was alleged to be a letter delivered to a certain Rudolf Vik, living on Stalin street, in Brno, Czechoslovakia. The quoted letter said in part:

"District Commission Number 13 in Brno for the Transfer of Persons into Corrective Labor Camps, which was established in compliance with paragraph three of Law 247 of October, 1948, informs you of your enrollment into a corrective labor camp, after investigation and on the basis of the above law, for two years because you are politically untrustworthy person and constitute a threat to the security of the Peoples Democratic regime. "You may appeal against this decision to the Ministry of the Interior within 15 days. According to paragraph 5 of the above law, such an appeal does not postpone the term of enrollment. Signed: Josef Horak, Chairman."

G. I. QUESTIONS and ANSWERS

Q—I am a disabled veteran training under Public Law 16, and I received an additional disability while I was in training. Would I be eligible for further Public Law 16 training on the basis of this second disability?

A—No. You may, however, be entitled to compensation and medical treatment for the injury received in training, provided it resulted in an additional disability and was not the result of your own wilful misconduct.

Q—I was a British subject serving with the British army during the war, and I recently moved to the United States, and have applied for citizenship papers. Would I be eligible for GI Bill benefits once I receive my citizenship?

A—No. Under the provisions of the GI Bill, a veteran whose claim is based on service with an ally must have been a United States citizen at the time he entered service with the allied forces, in order to be eligible for benefits.

Q—Could I get a GI home loan to buy an apartment building which I would completely rent out?

A—No. The GI Bill specifies that you may not get a GI home loan unless you intend to live in the property yourself.

Q—I have just finished college under the GI Bill, and I have four months of entitlement remaining. May I use those four months to take a short course in a different field of study? I have never changed fields before.

A—Yes, provided you begin your short course before the July 25 cut-off date or four years from your date of discharge, whichever is later.

SMOKING LAMP LIT FOR MARINE PILOTS

With The First Marine Aircraft Wing in Korea.—(AP)—To smoke or not to smoke has long been a question bothering Marine aviators, since their single-seat fighter-bombers had no facility for disposing of ashes.

But now makers of the Cosair (Chance Vought) has solved the problem by installing not only an ash tray, but a cigarette lighter to help pilots soothe jaded nerves on the way home from a combat strike.

The new cockpit fixture replaces the time-tested method of opening the canopy and allowing the slipstream to carry away ashes. The freezing Korean weather made this and other stop-gap measures highly impractical.

Train Derailed

One crewman was killed and five other crewmen were injured when the T. & N. O. passenger train was derailed on famed "horseshoe curve" near Finley, Tex. One of the passengers, including three carloads of airmen from Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, were hurt. Airmen and porters look over the battered wreckage of the locomotive. (AP Photo).

It's a Fireball Engine! ALWAYS BE CAREFUL DRIVING

Here's Where the Pounds Pay Off

FIRST thing that people notice when they take over a Buick is the sure-footed stance this fine automobile has on the road.

You head into a curve and hold firm and true. You travel a turnpike without sway or wander.

While your wheels may dance when you hit a stretch of washboard gravel—your car holds its level course.

A lot of things account for this beautifully poised performance, but it starts with stalwart structure and ample weight—plenty of pounds where pounds are needed.

Please don't get us wrong. This isn't "deadweight." Though a Buick like the one pictured here tips the scales at more than two tons, it's as nimble as an antelope at play.

It has a generous hoodful of valve-in-head Fireball power—packing a powerful punch of velvet velocity.

It comes with the smooth magic of Dynaflo Drive*—a lightness of steering that's gently responsive to a lady's hand—a front-end geometry that's pure genius—the finest brakes ever put on a Buick.

And every wheel rides on shock-eating coil springs that are carefree and trouble-free for the life of your car.

You'll also find—by a few moments of simple arithmetic—that the pounds in this bounteous beauty pay off in another way. On a cents-per-pound basis, it will cost less to buy than anything else near its weight and power and size.

Why not visit us real soon—like the first thing tomorrow—and let us show you why you and your budget will both be happy with this Buick?

Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice.

"INSTRUCTIVE" FILM
 CAUSES FUROR

FRANKFURT, Germany.—(AP) A new German sex film is drawing capacity crowds and worrying police. "Eva and the Gynaecologist", billed as an "instructive" picture includes several reels on venereal diseases, physiology and birth, framed within a simple plot. Frankfurt police decreed that only members of the same sex could be admitted at a performance. Theater owners talked them into this compromise: Women were seated on the right, men on the left. The center seats were left vacant.

In Munich, police permitted normal seating.

Some More About The Show Barn 'Squabble'

Had a letter this week, unsigned, however, from the Junior Chamber of Commerce, presumably, as it was on official letterhead. In view of the fact that it was rather sarcastic and belittling to The Herald and writer in particular, we decided it was perhaps not authorized by that body.

Wednesday, we met one of the members of the Sheriff's posse, and perhaps also a member of the Jaycees, as many belong to both. He is an old friend of many years standing, and he, like some of the others, thought we were trying to "jump somebody out." But we had a nice talk, and we really got the other side of the question.

Of course we quizzed our original informant little, and we can see no point in his trying to mislead us. If we had asked questions, perhaps it would not have sounded so bad. Indeed we doubt if he was seeking publicity. But adding two and two together, it led us to believe the exhibitors and Jaycee show officials were on one side of the "squabble" and the riding club, or posse on the other.

But giving our friend's version, such was absolutely not the case. His statement was to the effect "that one man tried to take over matters, and was not allowed to do so." That every horse was removed from the barn, and the show went right on. There was no fuss between Jaycees and Posse, as an agreement had been reached between them.

After the show barns were built, there was not any caretaker, and the windows were shot out by vandals, as well as other property damage, and even one attempt at arson. Repairs cost around $2,000 one year. So by letting the Sheriff's posse use the barn, a caretaker could be hired and keep the vandals shooed away. That was our friend's version.

As we stated before, we believe that "the show will go on." And we are glad to find that the misunderstanding was not as general as we suspected. Despite the intimation in the letter that The Herald is a knocker against the show, our files will show that we have been a booster for the calf show many years longer than a barn has existed. When they were showing their calves just west of where Knight's Implement is now located.

So far as The Herald is concerned, this closes the whole matter.

Let's Grow Beards! Let's Go Western!

According to Clyde Truly, rodeo committee chairman, no more shaving for the men of Terry county, as the annual Jaycee beard contest officially started Monday, May 14. Prizes of $15.00, $10.00 and $5.00 will be awarded in each class of beards. There will be three classes of beards: the fullest, the best trimmed and the most unusual beard.

Shaving permits will cost $1.00 and of course, those not complying are subject to the tank treatment.

Truly also announced that the week of June 25-30, has been designated as Western Week. Anyone in town caught not wearing some item of western regalia will be fined or escorted to the tank for a ducking. One fine or ducking will not excuse anyone from wearing western clothes during the week.

HOWARD COUNTY TO BUILD "CHEAP" COURTHOUSE

Some of the fast news boys that get in a hurry to get to their clubs or a little poker game or home, can sure pull some real boners. Last week, Big Spring and Howard county voted to build a fine new four story courthouse, the issue carrying nearly three to one.

But one of the (UP) boys got it $100,000. The Linotype operator left it the same, and the proof reader was too dumb on building costs to catch the error.

This addition we are building here in Terry, one-third the size of the part built about 1924, alone is costing $250,000.

Anyway, the new courthouse at Big Spring is to cost one million dollars, not one hundred thousand. And if a county with the wealth and population of Howard, ever really needed a new courthouse, it is they.

Birth rates of more than 40 per thousand people a year are rare.

Hi-Ho Silver, Away Below The Cap

The Old He and wife kinder got ringy to see Herman, Sallie and little Sara Beth last weekend, and took off down to Snyder. The little lady had not seen us in a couple or three weeks, and although having her dinner—bring on the pabum—she followed us with her eyes. Finally decided to accept us as a part of the family, and we had a great time.

The kids are fixing to vacate their residence for the summer, and take up their abode in the lake home of Herman's mother, on Lake Brownwood. This residence will be maintained from closing of this term of Snyder schools until fall. Don't know as we blame them, for the city is busy paying in front of their residence, and is it dusty?

We Visit Lake Colorado City

As the wives' nephew, Pat Roberts, of Coahoma, has a fishing village just south of the bridge on highway 80, we first stopped there. Found Pat shaving but he finally got 'em off and came out. The lake is going to be a good place to fish and recreate some day. But a lot more heavy rains will have to fall on the upper reaches of the creek that was dammed. Some places the lake is fairly wide, but in others there is little water.

Then we heard complaints that some of the concessioners at least, were out for every dollar while the getting is good. We were told that they will nab a fellow that happens to get over on their property to fish, and extract some dough. It was also reported that some negroes who walked across a corner of one guy's property were made to pay for trespassing. But if you think this is carrying matters a bit too far, and that it might kill the goose that laid the golden egg, here's something to put in your pipe and smoke.

City Council Passes Blue Laws
 Friday's Snyder Daily News gave a substance of the ordinances passed by the City Council of Colorado City, about the conduct of people who visit the lake site.

After reading these series of Blue Laws, the equal of any witch chasing laws that ever came out of New England in Colonial Days, we wondered if any of the councilmen had ever traveled beyond their own bailiwick.

One of the laws had to do with noise; no loud talk or screams (even if drowning, we presume). You must not get in so many feet of the bank with a boat or approach another boat by 100 or so feet. In many places, the lake isn't as wide as the law says for you to be from the shore or another boat.

Another thing. If you imbibe, better keep your breath clear, and all cans and bottles out of sight or you'll land in the hoosegow at CC until you rot, rot, rot. There were many other ifs, ands and buts, that are useless to repeat here.

After reading the ordinances governing the lake area, one would naturally gather that public worship was going on somewhere in the neighborhood of the lake all hours of the day and night. We were surprised that there was a club house on the lake that advertised dancing. But clubs are usually exempted from things that might jail an ordinary wayfarer.

We are hoping the lake will be a popular place for the fisherman or for public outings, but we fear the Blue Laws will scare the recreator off to Lake Abilene, Lake Brownwood, Possum Kingdom or even Texhoma.

Anyway, we had a great big glorious time. Carried along last

PERSONAL ITEMS

Mrs. Oliver Wheat, of 607 East Hill, left recently to join her husband at Bogota, Columbia, South America, who has been there for the past two years working for an oil company. Mrs. Wheat was noble grand of the Brownfield, Rebecca lodge at the time she left.

Ed Thompson was in this week from the farm, and reported that they had several showers of late, in the Harmony community. But so far as he could see they just melted the clods, allowing the land to blow worse. What we need is a real jumb up good rain.

Creamed scallops are delicious, and easy to prepare. Simmer the scallops in a little water until done; use the liquid in which the scallops were cooked along with milk in a cream sauce. Heat the scallops and sauce together, season well, and serve on toast with a sprinkling of paprika and finely minced parsley.

week's paper so we could make up our statements to date. Got a lot of rest, sleep and eats, outside of the hurricane winds that met us going down, and whipped around us coming back, we had a fine visit. Not a drop of rain there.
