Best Advertising Medium

The Herald subscription list is a splendid blend of town and rural readers, folks who can and do pay for their papers—they do not ask or want it donated to them. Many 30 and 40 year continuous subscriptions.

The Herald has grown with this section from strictly a ranch country. This area now consists of thriving towns and cities, supported by scientific farming and stock farming, augmented by huge oil fields, with the nation's largest known oil reserves.

VOLUME 46

BROWNFIELD, TEXAS, FRIDAY, JUNE 8, 1951

NUMBER 46

County Valuations Increase By Over Two Million Dollars

The Terry County Commissioners sat as a Board of Equalization all day Monday, beginning at ten o'clock a. m. They came up with the announcement that tax valuations for this year over 1950 stand at $2,340,000. This will bring the total valuations of the county to more than $14,000,000 Herbert Chesshir stated.

Of this amount, oil properties and pipeline companies account for $5,692,000, which is a great help in the upbuilding of Brownfield and Terry county. We feel sure that one and all appreciate the help of the oil people in boosting our assessed valuations, not to mention a raft of business firms that have moved to our city as a result of oil fields in our county.

While very few private individuals took the trouble to appear before the board unless notified to do so, most of the oil companies were represented by their tax personnel. Those represented at the meeting were the Amerada, Gulf, Phillips, Sinclair, Stanolind and Honolulu.

After the meeting, Herbert Chesshir, Assessor-Collector stated that 22 new oil wells brought in during 1950 accounted for big increases in valuations in Terry county. The Equalization Board consists of County Judge Homer R. Winston and County Commissioners W. B. White, Sam Gossett, Lee Bartlett and Horace Fox. Chesshir was consultant about the rolls. Also, the firm of King, Lathan & Stultz, of Dallas, petroleum valuations and accounting engineers, assisted in helping to set the valuations.

If you ask us, that was a very big job wound up in record time.

SHERIFF'S POSSE HOLDS BARBECUE

The Terry County Sheriff's Posse held their regular monthly meeting and supper Monday night at 7:30 at the new Posse Clubhouse west of town near the rodeo grounds.

Ray Christopher and Clarence Lackey were hosts for the barbecue supper. Barbecue, red beans, salad, onions and coffee were served to sixty-four members and guests.

A directors' meeting was held with Money Price, captain of the Posse, presiding. J. V. Boen, Gene Gunn and Bill Williams are new members of the organization.

The Posse took part in the parade and rodeo in Crosbyton Thursday.

Eleven Stores Begin New Closing Hours

Bob Tobey, manager of the Retail Merchants Association, has announced that eleven Brownfield stores started closing at 5 o'clock on June 5. He further stated that this new closing hour will enable the clerks in the stores to have a little more time to spend with their families. The 5 o'clock closing time will extend through August.

The eleven stores participating are Griffith's Variety, Wacker's 5 and 10, Collins, Purtell's, Cobbs, Latham's, Franklin's, Shelton's, Gore, Bayliss Jewelry and Nelson Jewelry.

These stores will still observe the same closing hours on Saturday, and will continue staying open until 6 o'clock on Dollar Day.

Mrs. Neilson, the former Ada Sue Dean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sewell Dean of Wellman, graduated from ACC in 1949 and has been teaching Home Economics at Loop. Neilson is a 1951 graduate and has held services at the Wellman Church of Christ. He is a native of Utah.

One Daily Shoots Its Wad On Oil Reports

Up to about a year ago, Amos Carter's Star-Telegram was just about the best of the lot when it came to oil reports in this area. But such reports in this paper are now almost non-existent. It has not even mentioned several of the latest wells that have come in in this area. This paper particularly avoids any mention of Brownfield.

It seems the S-T has one reporter at Abilene that covers central west Texas oil development, and another at Midland. Apparently the latter sits around one of the big hotels down there, and reports what the Midland Chamber of Commerce gives him. Rarely is any county north of Andrews and Gaines mentioned, and they not too often. But the immediate Midland area is played up to a fare-you-well. Scarcely anything north of the Tee & Tee is verboten.

The best reports we get now by far is the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal. Jack Benefield (Little Bene) seems to be right on the job. Of course we have to get on his hunkers now and then about giving some of our oil fields to Seagraves. Guess Little Bene gets sorry for them, as all nearby holes in Terry county close to Carbon Black plant were dry.

He is trying to transfer the Adair-Reef pool now to Seagraves 20 miles away, while it is only 12 miles south of Brownfield, on a good F-M paved road. We hope to get him straight on this ere long.

Korean Veteran Returns Home

Pfc. Charles Brumley of the 17th Infantry, U. S. Army, has returned home from 31 months duty in Japan and Korea. Pfc. Brumley, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Brumley, was wounded in action in Korea last October and was in the Army hospital in Japan for three months. He will report back to duty June 19th at Ft. Bliss, El Paso, Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. Brumley were notified August 12, 1950, that their son, James, was missing in action and have received no further word.

Another son, Pfc. Odell Brumley, of the 31st Field Artillery is expected home this week from Korea and Japan where he has been since June 1948.

The sympathy of the entire community goes out to Mr. and Mrs. Brumley in the apparent loss of their son, James, in Korea. There is just a shadow of a possibility that he is being held prisoner somewhere by the Red. But his parents are not too optimistic about that.

On the other hand we are glad that the other two boys, Charles who was wounded in action, and Odell, are being permitted to visit dad and mother after a long seige at the battlefront.

AMERICAN LEGION TO PLAINVIEW, SAT.-SUN.

Over 600 delegates of the 195 American Legion Posts in the 5th Division will gather in Plainview Saturday and Sunday, June 9 and 10, for their annual convention. 5th Division Commander Charles C. Gibson of Amarillo has announced. The Legion's 5th Division is composed of posts in the 16th, 17th, 18th, 19th and 21st Congressional Districts.

Election of a new Division Commander will top the business activity, Gibson said. Candidates for other State Legion offices may also be nominated or endorsed. Gibson, Amarillo newspaperman, is among the candidates for State Commander and has been endorsed by the 17th, 18th and 21st Districts.

Old Red Smith Pulls Fast One He Thought

One of the hateful tricks that old Redrick the Great Smith of the Brownfield Chamber of Commerce has pulled on us, was when we went back to Tennessee in April. He was aided and abetted by our hired hands, old Gee Gee and Mary Dee, and they are on the list to take a walk after Gee gets back from Kaintuck with our lump of gold, from Fort Knox.

We let it be known that we would like to carry a small bottle of our crude oil from a nearby well back with us. All the folks were interested. But knowing old Red as we do, we pulled off all the fancy scotch tape he had around the cork. The first relative that took a whiff remarked that it smelled like linseed oil, to him. So it was, mixed with a mixture of fish oil and something else to turn it a bit dark.

So, the "Terry county crude" was kept from the public back there. Now, old Red, Gee and Mary Dee claim they were aiming to send us the real article by mail in a few days after we left. But Postmaster Shelton said nay, nay, as crude oil is an explosive.

Next time, we'll ask someone we can trust to get us a sample of crude to carry back there. We did hand out the C. of C. folders, however.

Direct Loans To GI's Will End June 30th

World War II veterans planning to apply for direct home and farm loans from the Veterans Administration are reminded by the VA that the Direct Loan Program ends by law on June 30, 1951.

VA states it would scarcely be possible in most instances to process applications before the June 30 deadline that are received by VA Regional Offices after June 15.

The Housing Act of 1950 authorized VA to make direct loans up to $10,000 at four per cent interest to World War II veterans with which to buy or build a home or to build or improve a farmhouse. The Act stipulated that VA was to make these direct loans in those areas of the country where the regular GI loans were not available from private lenders. The law further required VA to designate the areas as eligible for direct loans.

Since the program got under way last summer, more than 2,600 counties or parts of counties in the United States have been designated as eligible for direct loans. An estimated 5,000,000 World War II veterans live in these designated areas.

As of May 10, about $90,000,000 of the $150,000,000 authorized for the program had been disbursed or reserved under pending applications for direct loans to veterans.

While the Direct Government Loan Program ends June 30, 1951, the regular GI Loan Program does not expire until July 25, 1957. Both programs are subject to the same minimum down payments imposed by the credit controls announced October 12, 1950.

Oil News Is Both 'Dis' And Encouraging

Nothing definite has come of the T. L. Lowe well, being drilled by Gulf Co., out four miles northeast of town, now down below 12,000 feet. But it is not because no one is trying. They are. Street rumors have about ceased however, and the verdict of the drillers awaited. Derrick said to be under repairs at present.

The Charley Cowan well north of Meadow, being drilled by the Texas Co., was around 8,400 feet this week in lime. This is a 10,600 feet contract. But two wells in different pools are assumed this week. One of them is in the Adair-Reef pool, the Carl Golden 1-A, Amerada Co. This well is in section 7, block C-37. It is rated as 662 barrels per day 42.4 gravity oil.

Another well has also been practically finished in the Corrigan-Fusselman field in southeast Terry, being perhaps the lightest producer in that small field of four or five wells. The Tidewater Co. seems to have all that area leased, or at least have drilled all the wells. This one is the Nystel No. 2, in section 9, block C-38, rated a 243 barrel well.

The Union Co., seem to have a proposition on their Schreengest No. 2 in the south Brownfield pool. The drillers are below 10,000 feet where the reef should have been encountered around 10,000. So, the reef is low, and it is a matter of guess whether this will make a producer. We hope so.

The Stanolind O. & G. No. 1, C. L. Anderson, 16 miles northeast of town, a projected 11,000 footer is now down around 7,600 feet. This well is in block T.

Over in west Yoakum, the west stepout of the Cobb-Glorieta pool Honolulu No. 1 Bearden, is reported a failure. Orders to plug and abandon.

Towry Takes Post At Brownfield As Pro

Gene Towry, golf pro at the Lamesa Country Club for the past year and formerly assistant pro at the Lubbock Country Club has resigned his position in Lamesa effective July 1 to take a job as a golf pro in Brownfield.

Towry is being sponsored by a group of golf enthusiasts in Brownfield which will be known as the "Progressive Forty." In addition to giving this group golf lessons, he will also be available at the Brownfield Country Club to give additional lessons.

Towry announced also that he will join the PGA tournament trail in the near future. Because of the five-year rule, Towry, with just over a year's professional experience, is not eligible for PGA membership, but will be eligible to compete for the cash prizes in the various tournaments.

The former North Texas State College ace is one of the most promising young golfers in the nation, having won the national intercollegiate crown in 1949 and winning several tournaments since turning pro.

Mr. and Mrs. Towry plan to move to Brownfield about the 15th of July.

New Poison Effective But Also Dangerous

Recently a new insecticide highly poisonous not only for insects but also for man and animals has become available commercially said Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer. It is known under the trade name of "Parathion" and has proven quite effective for certain agricultural uses.

Because of its extremely high toxicity it would be desirable if its use could be restricted to a few individuals who could make a business of applying it and educate and equip themselves so as to insure the maximum of safety. In Texas and a number of other states, however, there are no laws making such restricted use possible. Therefore, a brief statement of warning is being offered.

"Parathion in the pure state is a brownish liquid with a high boiling point and peculiar odor. It mixes but slightly with water, but is completely soluble in alcohol, acetone and certain other similar solvents. Under factory conditions it is usually mixed with a powder such as talc or bentonite as a carrier and appears on the market as a powder which has absorbed the parathion.

"Its toxic effect may result from breathing the dust, as a result of swallowing contaminated substances, or by absorption through the skin. The latter may be indirect absorption such as from contaminated clothing.

"Safe use is dependent on the use of precautionary measures so as to prevent contact. The user should seriously study and observe these precautions. The user should also be alert for symptoms of poisoning so that a physician may be in attendance without delay should he be needed. Atropine, a potent medicine, has been mentioned as antidote. It should be borne in mind that this is another poison about as dangerous, if improperly used, as parathion. It should only be used under competent medical direction."

PFC. OWEN PARRISH HOME ON LEAVE

RODEO'S TOP COWBOYS, BBONCS, AND BULLS TO BE FEATURED HERE

Like the gangster by the same name, in a bygone era, "scarface," that ugly, marked-up black saddle bronc in the famous "Wild Bill" Elliott-Tommy Steiner rodeo string, has murder on the brain! A bad actor in the chutes, "Scarface" has added plenty of battle scars to his coarse head in his perpetual fight against man in the rough, tough rodeo game!

A natural-born outlaw, "Scarface" hates the sight of man, and the feel of a cowboy on his back makes him a bawling, twisting cyclone of hard bone and muscle, almost impossible to ride. Many a top rodeo contestant has humbly bit the dust a few short feet from the chute gate when he was turned out on this horse. He'll be doing his demonic worst at every performance of the Jaycee Rodeo, June 28-29-30 to be held here.

FFA Spend Four Days In Encampment

Thirty-one boys and their sponsors returned Thursday, May 31 from a four-day encampment on the Concho River. The FFA boys purchased their food individually and pooled it for the four-day stay. They also took all necessary fishing equipment which proved to be rather useless because of the fishing conditions. Although one big mess of fish was caught the second day in camp. It took about ten members fishing continuously for a day and night to catch about 20 pounds of fish.

The most important and enjoyable part of the trip was a two-day stay in the swimming holes both up and down the river, and the most undesirable part of the trip was the K. B. (Kitchen Police) duties each had to serve including the two sponsors. The camp was set up under large pecan trees which are found all along the river banks. This site was 10 miles from Paint Rock.

The entire group of FFA boys wish to express their appreciation to Mr. Earl Brown for furnishing a truck for the encampment. It was unloaded one time or the last night on the banks of the Colorado River, which proved to be a less desirable place of stay because the river was very muddy and at a small rise because of the rains up the river.

One case chickenpox; 4 measles; 4 pneumonia. In Yoakum county they had one chickenpox; 4 influenza; 2 measles and one pneumonia case.

Stricklin Speaking

By Old He

Those of us who live near a school building can tell by just listening and looking and seeing that the kiddoes are out for the summer. Less yelling, less junk on your front yard, and of course you don't see much of the youngsters. But the older members of the tribe are now arriving from college for a summer of more or less leisure.

Of course it's going to be a lot better for both the parents and the idle students if there are some tasks for them. They say an idle brain is the devil's workshop. Children in their teens need at least a minimum of work about the place or in some shop, as well as some recreation.

We're glad the several civic organizations of the town have taken the time, trouble and some outlay of cash to provide some means of recreation. We understand a real Recreation Center is in the minds of the leaders here. Of course conditions are adverse to its fruition just now. But we hope such steps can definitely be taken as soon as the world is on a more even keel—if ever.

We note that not too many are wearing beard for over a day or two. So, our suggestion to the Jaycees is that perhaps, the $1 is a bit low. You know a dollar now has a 52c value, while a shave costs 65c. Perhaps if they would hike that penny standing between no-beard and a ducking to, say, five bucks; more of the lads would wear beards.

Speaking of organizations, about the most busy Goodwill Ambassadors we have right now is the Sheriff's posse. At this time of year many communities are having their annual rodeos, and rodeos and parades are just as natural an adjunct as ham and eggs go together. And no doubt the SP is doing all they can in the communities they visit to advertise our Rodeo June 28-29-30.

One of the most out-of-line things we have seen of late was that of the matron lecturing the beggar who hit her up for a dime. Says she: "I hope you don't use this dime to go and get roaring drunk." Evidently the good lady has little conception of the price of rye or bourbon these days, or she'd know a dime's worth of booze wouldn't stagger a flea.

Out in California, it is related that one street is spelled four different ways in the distance of just four blocks. We have two streets here that are spelled more than one way. For instance there is Storie or Story in the Santa Fe addition, named for a Santa Fe official of the 1917-18 era. Few could or would swear which spelling is right.

Then we have a prominent east-west street that is spelled two or three ways. As we remember the old pioneer for whom the street was named; and still living when the Old He appeared on the scene in 1909, was named Rippertoe. But on the street signs the "r" and the last "e" are eliminated. Well, at least it makes for simplified spelling, and the last part of it don't sound like an old toejam toe with perhaps a corn on it.

We can't help right here from enlarging on vacation time for the school children. The pupils are supposed to relax somewhat, and not keep reading, riting and rith-metic so much on the mind. There is an old saying that idleness is the devil's workshop. This would apply more to the town boys, whose parents have nothing for them to do. Farm boys will find a very good muscle building job down on the farm.

We wish it were possible to find a part or all time jobs for the larger boys of the town. But that remains for the city officials and civic leaders to work out. Would it be possible to use them on certain jobs like paving soon to be under way. Or would this violate the benevolent Uncle Sam's order for the boy or girl under 16 to do no work?

It appears to us sometimes that Uncle Santa Claus has taken a long step right there in bossing the family from the cradle to the grave. Most of us older people began work at an early age without any dictation from Washington, and really we don't think we are a bit worse off for it.

There is a lot of pent-up energy in the growing boy, and if this steam is not let off in some useful occupation, or directed recreation and games, the boys in pairs or gangs are liable to stray out of range and get into something that will get both themselves and their parents into trouble.

For this reason, let us thank our stars and the Lions and other civic organizations that they are making some effort to provide means of recreation for our boys and girls.

In a nearby town they have a club named Tsa Mo Ga—whatever that means. Now it is none of our business, as we don't even have a faint idea what Tsa Mo Ga stands for. But it sounds so much like the name of the Red Chinese Dictator that we believe we would cut the Mo part at least.

Now a lot of the good ladies that belong to that Club are readers of the Herald, and we hope they don't see this column this week. But if they do, we hope all of them don't jump on us at one time.

Boo-hoo! We won't get to hear Herman's gin whistle this fall. Maybe never again. For the past 32 years that old steam whistle has been a welcome signal for us. Along about six A. M., it would call another crew, waking us. And that was a signal for us to turn over and take another nap.

The new gin is to be all electric, and nothing on hand to whistle the whistler. We've been thinking maybe we could get some of the service station men interested in attaching it to their air compressors, and let out the old familiar wail. Or maybe Supt. Eunice Jones of the city utilities might be persuaded to rig it up with the fire siren to toot on special occasions.

The Collins dry goods folks sent out a little piece of direct mail matter to their customers recently that was interesting, and we hope most all took time out to read it. The little folder was advertising their Levi's. But there were several stories illustrated about famous old mines in the west, and their owners.

Of course some of the prospectors made good—others lost their shirts by either bad management

Mesquite Removal

Pilot Paul Gardner accidentally demonstrated a new method of eradicating mesquite when his plane crashed into one of the trees. Gardner was spraying on the D. I. W. Birnie Ranch in the rugged Cap Rock foothill country 16 miles northwest of Matador when his plane was caught in thermal activity and crashed. Gardner was not hurt. The next day he continued spraying of the mesquite-infested ranchland in Motley county with another airplane. (AP Photo).

or by crooks. Many of these old miners, however, were as tough as the old badman himself. They were supposedly true stories.

The Herald takes this opportunity to state that the town in general and not just the Methodists are glad the Rev. D. D. Denison was sent back to Brownfield for another year's go at the devil in our midst. Rev. Denison is universally liked; always seems to be in a good humor. His friendship for people does not stop at any one age group. He works well with the youth as well as the adult.

So, welcome back to Brownfield, and if we can co-operate in any announcements, etc., please advise us.

For about a week, the hottest weather ever experienced in May bedeviled us. For the last three days it has been so cool that we have to have a bit of fire at night to be comfortable. Wish the Weatherman would make up his mind.

TEN CARS REGISTERED HERE LAST WEEK

Herbert Chesshir, tax assessor-collector reported a total of ten new cars were registered at his office the past week up to and including Saturday, as follows: William Conlee, Studebaker; Miss Gladys Scales, Buick; C. L. Wilson, Jr., Ford; Hugh Holmes, Pontiac; W. C. Gruen, Ford. Joe W. Johnson, Chrysler; N. B. Hancock, Dodge; H. B. Virgil Crawford, Pontiac; Lawrence Renfro, Pontiac and C. C. McNeil, Buick.

SANTA FE CARLOADINGS

Santa Fe System carloadings for week ending June 2, 1951, were 21,781 compared with 22,190 for same week in 1950. Cars received from connections totaled 11,918 compared with 10,608 for same week in 1950. Total cars moved were 33,699 compared with 32,798 for same week in 1950.

Santa Fe handled a total of 34,702 cars in preceding week of this year.

A Little Round With The Readers

O. A. (Arnold) Pippin took us up on our offer of another dollar, making five bucks to get three years instead of $4 for two years. The extra check was handed in this week. Be seeing you around 1954, Arnold.

Among the other renewals for the past week were H. L. Gage, Sherman Mitchell, R. L. (Bob) Harris who has been handling the affairs of Uncle John Santa Fe for lo! these many moons; R. Zant who tinkers with guns and other machinery, and the Meadow Co-Op gin, which of course wants to gin your cotton. There was also Mrs. Ethel Brumley, whose soldier boys are mentioned in another story. Then there was another ginner, Mayor Lee O. Allen, of Tokio, and another Tokioite, A. Y. Edwards, who raises cotton to be ginned. Did we mention Mrs. Myrtle Thomas, out on the Lubbock road; a faithful reader from away back when—?

The Herald is really proud of its readers. Many of them own their own homes and farms, but some are among the best renters in the world, and are making good, and no doubt will some day own their own homes or farms.

They are faithful in renewing, too, many never having to be reminded that their time is up, as they watch the date on the paper following their names, and are in on or before expiration date to renew.

Oh, of course some of the guys

THE GLAD HAND OUT TO FIVE NEWCOMERS

The Herald takes this opportunity to welcome five newcomers, some possibly with a wife or wife and children, that we heard of. There may have been others not reported:

Thomas H. Hurd, of Wichita Falls; Jesse Taylor, Austin; Mrs. Laura Given, Tahoka; J. C. Todd, O'Donnell; B. P. Green, Bay City.

Four persons left for other places.

KITCHEN MEMO BY JEAN CLARKE

UNFLAVORED gelatine is a protein food, a body builder. Simple to use, one envelope is all that's needed to jell two cups or one pint of liquid. With canned mixed vegetable juices, a basic salad can be made with just two ingredients. Or this recipe can be doubled, poured into 1 qt. ring mold, center filled with seafood or chicken. For Molded Vegetable Juice Salad soften 1 env. unflavored gelatine in 1/2 cup cold canned mixed vegetable juices. Add 1 1/2 cups hot canned mixed vegetable juices. Stir until gelatine dissolves. Pour into individual molds. Chill in gas refrigerator until firm. Unmold on salad greens, serve with dressing. Yields 4 servings.

Diapers now come in colors, of all things. The pastel shades will not fade out when dried in your gas dryer. But if you're not the lucky owner of this wonderful automatic servant, don't dry colored diapers in direct sunlight.

Whipped cream holds up longer if confectioner's sugar is used for sweetening instead of granulated sugar.

Up to 20 gals. of hot water in 40 minutes are needed to wash and rinse one load in an automatic washer. A whole week's average family wash—three loads, uses up 60 gals. of hot, hot water in two hours. An automatic gas water heater refills as fast as it flows out of the tap—especially important on washdays.

For a quick peel: Hold peaches or tomatoes over the gas flame of your range a moment or two. The heat loosens the skin.

Bread will stay fresh longer if you store it in your gas refrigerator—covered in self-wrappers or wax paper.

Chrysler's new FirePower engine has rocked the automobile business right down to its roots.

Quietly, behind all the laboratory talk of "engines of tomorrow" . . . Chrysler has built a revolutionary engine for you to drive today!

It can give you 180 horsepower, to surpass any other engine in any other car. It develops its power in its own new kind of way!

But you don't have to "baby" it . . . or give it fancy quality gasoline to get that 180 horsepower performance!

FirePower takes any regular grade gasoline you care to buy . . . and adds its own new "mechanical octanes" to the power-giving octanes of the gasoline itself.

The result is something new and startling in responsiveness . . . and in safety, too. You get quicker and smoother control of when and how you move than you have ever felt before.

It's the engine of tomorrow . . . on the road for you today . . . and your Chrysler dealer invites you now to try it, in the all-around most astonishing new car you ever drove!

180 HORSEPOWER

Here's the new Hemispherical Combustion Chamber that's the heart of Chrysler FirePower. Its new, designed-in "mechanical octanes" make regular grade gas do what best premium grades can't do in any other engine you can drive today!

HEALTH TALKS

(Prepared by the State Medical Association of Texas)

If disease followed the definite pattern that has been classed as symptoms of each specific illness, diagnosis of various ailments would be a much less complicated matter. But any list of symptoms is meant to describe the usual course of a disease and everyone seems to have a different capacity for reacting to the germs that cause infectious diseases, some people straying so far from the normal that only the most detailed laboratory methods can determine for sure what the sickness is in order to treat it.

Meningitis is usually considered a paralyzing sort of sickness that leads to unconsciousness, a coma that may last a long time. There are many different types of meningitis, based upon the particular brands of germs which might invade that film that covers the brain and spinal cord. But one thing they all have in common is the capacity to change the appearance and content of the fluid that is in the spine. So when meningitis is suspected, the diagnosis must be made by examining that spinal fluid and the fluid is obtained by a puncture of the spine.

From this examination, your doctor can also tell whether meningitis is the one brand that is contagious or one of the many brands that are not. If it is contagious, the patient must be isolated at once to keep others from getting the disease. In any case, treatment for the disease must begin rapidly after meningitis is diagnosed. With proper treatment with the new drugs available today, meningitis is seldom the deadly attack it used to be.

The usual early signs of meningitis vary with the age of the person who is stricken. Infants usually get a vacant, staring look on their face and complain loudly on being handled; they want to be left alone. Children may be suspected of having meningitis when they show a sudden high fever with delirium and convulsion and a definite pulling backwards of the head and neck. In adults the first sign is frequently a very severe and constant headache.

It is with such signs as these that the spinal puncture may become necessary. There are other diseases which may create the same signs, of course, but with meningitis ruled out, other diseases may then be considered, diseases which would not require such prompt treatment as meningitis does. Even with the modern methods of treatment, the coma, the period of unconsciousness is still a part of the meningitis picture, but the danger of the complications that marked the disease a few years has been lessened.

Scarlet fever is another of the diseases that evidently often fails to follow the set pattern. In recent years doctors have discovered that members of the same family may have the exactly same type of streptococci germs in their throats while some members break out in the rash that marks scarlet fever and others exhibit all the other symptoms but not the rash.

From that has come the theory that this particular variety of streptococci germs is responsible for strep tonsillitis, septic sore throat and scarlet fever, all of which are different manifestations of the same disease.

Most adults are immune to scarlet fever according to scratch tests known as Dick tests which were devised especially to test immunity for that one disease. Even though you have never had scarlet fever, you may have developed an immunity through attacks of sore throat and tonsil inflammation caused by the same germs as the scarlet fever germ.

A very sore throat and inflamed tonsils, together with fever, vomiting and headache, make up the first signs of this strep-caused disease. If nothing else happens in the next few days while you're being treated with the new drugs, then you probably had a septic sore throat. If a rash breaks out by the fifth day, however, that particular rash of tiny red dots so close together that they look like a solid blanket of red, then you have scarlet fever.

And the definite diagnosis in even there may be some doubt because the rash is neither solid enough nor red enough, is a couple weeks or so later when the skin starts peeling off in flakes or layers, especially on the soles of the feet.

MAN-KILLING BRAHMA BULLS TO TEST CHAMPION COWBOY NERVE IN BROWNFIELD RODEO

"Lookout Below" is one of the top bulls in the Elliott-Steiner string of rough, tough bucking stock. This grey bull was calved deep in the brush country of South Texas, and like the old-time longhorns, is a bundle of high-tension muscle and fight! The cowboy who knows this snaky bull finds shivers running up his spines when they pull his number out of the hat. "Lookout Below" has a reputation that's had enough to make the bravest of the bull riders just a little nervous when the time comes to ease down on his back in the chutes. "Lookout Below" is just one of the more than sixty top rodeo bulls in "Wild Bill" Elliott's and Tommy Steiner's hand-picked string. Bill and Tommy travelled thousands of miles to buy the bulls and brones that will thrill you at the rodeo, culling every animal that didn't prove to be the very best and roughest obtainable anywhere. Your Jaycee Rodeo, being held June 28-29-30, promises to be the roughest and wildest in the history of this community.

It's Hard On Hopalong

If cowboys are your young son's heroes today, he might grow up to be, not a cowboy, but a reactionary industrialist. The influence of Hopalong Cassidy and other ubiquitous Western heroes may lead him to believe in "the American Way," may cause him to anti-Semitic, anti-Negro, etc., and to resist social and economic control. Also, the straightforward, uncomplicated code of ethics practiced by the Lone Ranger and others will not fit the youngster of today to live in the complicated civilization he will encounter later.

Moody Boatright, Texas University professor and authority on Texas folklore, discusses the current popularity of the Western hero in "The American Myth Rides the Range" in the Summer issue of Southwest Review. His conclusion is that it is far from reassuring to find as our leading folk hero "the cowboy with his six-shooter, his simple ethics, and his facility for direct action."

The qualities demanded in any folk hero, writes Boatright, are prowess and cleverness, both outstanding characteristics of the cowboy. Essential also to the popularity of a folk hero are troubadours to publicize his deeds of daring. Today's troubadours are the writers for radio, television, the movies, and comic books, and authors of pulp magazine stories, shoot-'em-up Westerns, and serials in leading national weeklies.

The first troubadour to be listened to by educated, "genteel" people was Owen Wister, whose Virginia typified the American myth of the faithful servant "never complaining about injustices done him, but determined to make his master see his worth."

This ideal, according to the Southwest Review article, was welcomed by American businessmen as a weapon against the restrictions of social legislation, and the Saturday Evening Post, voice of American business, began assembling a stable of western writers as early as 1900. Through them it has kept before the American public the symbol of the cowboy as the rugged individual who had made America great.

The exploits of the cowboy, therefore, not only furnish entertainment and relaxation to the tired businessman, but at the same time strengthen him in his steadfastness.

The Southwest Review is published by the Southern Methodist University Press, Dallas.

Public Safety Ass'n Finally Recognized

Last Tuesday night glory and praise was showered on a group of public servants who, heretofore, have been generally unsung and unheralded for their deeds.

Several hundred prominent Texas citizens gathered at the Driskill Hotel in Austin to attend and witness the Texas Department of Public Safety Awards and Appreciation Banquet sponsored by the Texas Safety Association.

Musical background for the dinner was furnished by Patrolman Harold Klierim. Following dinner, various members of the Department of Public Safety entertained with their renditions of popular and western music.

Governor Allan Shivers paid special tribute to the Department and its members for their outstanding service. Col. Garrison, Director of the Department, gave the response for his men.

Larry Cain, vice-president for traffic of the Texas Safety Association, and master of ceremonies, said that the task of the selection committee was a most difficult one. He also stated that although the awards will be presented to just a few men, he wanted to make it clear that the winners are, in a sense, receiving the watches and cash awards on behalf of every other police officer in the field. The people behind the scenes, who do so much to make the Department as efficient as it is, were also complimented. To recognize these people all members of the Department present were asked to rise.

Cain then presented the award winners, citing individually their accomplishments and overall service records which caused them to be selected over the others in the Department. Those selected in the highway patrol were: First place, Joe C. Cantrell, Amarillo; second place, E. F. Vantress, San Antonio; third place, W. L. (Pat) Speir, Tyler; fourth place, C. C. Beard, Orange; fifth place, W. W. Edleman, Fort Worth; and sixth place, W. C. Spiller, Wichita Falls. In the drivers license division those selected were: First place, O'Brien Ross, Center; second place, Harold N. Lanham, Corpus Christi; and third place, Ralph J. Maddoux, Jasper. In the Texas Ranger Division, Doyle Carington of Austin, won first prize, with second prize honors going to E. J. Banks of Dallas.

The most dramatic moment of the evening followed the award presentations. The lights in the banquet room were dimmed, and a panel unveiled revealing the portraits of the twelve men of the Texas Highway Patrol who gave their lives in the line of duty since the formation of the patrol in 1930. As Cain called off their names a spotlight was turned on each portrait, centering for a moment, the attention of everyone in the ballroom on those who made the supreme sacrifice to protect Texas lives and property. Taps for these men was blown as the curtain was slowly re-drawn. Following that hallowed moment, the Lord's Prayer was sung by the Reverend James Berry, minister of music, First Baptist Church, Austin.

"Some day I'm going to own a Roadmaster"

ONE thing that interests us mightily is the fact that so many people are stepping up, when they buy automobiles.

We've been looking at surveys, and it seems that just about everyone wants a better car than the one he's now driving.

So we know how you feel, and we'd like to help you make your dreams come true.

We'd like you to discover how fine a fine car can be.

We'd like you to stretch out in the room of a ROADMASTER—feel the luxury of its double-depth cushions—stroke the fine texture of its fabrics.

We'd like you to know the proud levelness of its coil-spring cushioned ride—as well as its gentle obedience to your hand on the wheel.

We'd like to show you the many extras this custom-built Buick provides—at no extra charge when we come to make out a bill of sale.

But above all, we'd like you to experience two thrills found exclusively in ROADMASTERS.

One is the smooth might of its Fireball Engine. The other is the supreme simplicity of Dynaflo Drive, which is, incidentally, one of the many features included in the price.

We try to hold down our enthusiasm in talking about this masterful beauty.

We might claim—you'll find more room—more comfort—more luxury—a smoother ride—more conveniences—more thrill in a ROADMASTER than in any other car in the fine-car field.

But why spoil the thrill of discovery? Come find out for yourself how completely a 1951 ROADMASTER fulfills the dreams of the car you hope sometime to own.

And let us whisper something to you: The cost of making this step to ROADMASTER ownership is less than most people believe.

EDITOR WADE OF JAYTON DONT LIKE RODEOS, OR DOES HE?

The following was taken from current issue of the Jayton Chronicle. It was found in the column, "Wade-ing Around the News," with the Old Man. Inasmuch as Brownfield has a rodeo coming up, we thought the column would be appropriate and maybe interesting.

We have seen folks sorter like Mr. Wade describes, who when a meal was announced, would say, "I'm not a bit hungry," then go to the table and clean every dish and bowl. But let Wade tell it:

"The annual rodeo epidemic is getting underway in the Great Southwest. Just in case you have not heard, a rodeo is a disease that violently affects literally hundreds of thousands of residents throughout this part of the world just as soon as the weather gets hot. Once the virus gets in a person's system it causes him to travel with total disregard for distance, to various places called arenas where the victim forks over big money for the privilege of sitting on a hard plank, either in the broiling sun or under blinding lights in a bug-and-mosquito infested night, to watch men on horses chase little scared calves and throw ropes at them, or sit and shudder at a form of legalized mayhem and suicide called steer riding. (why they call it steer riding we don't know, for we've yet to see one of those brähmas ridden), and other variation of the theme of men-and-horses-and-calves-and-steers. Most rodeos have now added a feminine touch—pretty girls on pretty horses ride around the arena dodging barrels or carrying little flags which they stick in tin cans nailed on posts.

"Sometimes the rodeos include what is called a barbecue. That is where you fork over some more good folding money for a paper plate on which is dumped a hunk of tough meat that is usually burnt to a cinder on the outside, is bloody raw on the inside and is smeared with a red goo that is called barbecue sauce. You also get a cupful of red beans dumped in your plate, a gritty piece of sour pickle, a slice of onion and a piece of bread. To wash this down they dip up a cup of black liquid out of a wash pot which is given the alias of coffee but which tastes usually like a combination of roofing tar juice and bitterweed. All of which is consumed by the victim of the rodeo virus with great gusto, whereas the same victim of this peculiar disease would raise old billy-heck if his wife ever set a mess like that out on the table at home.

"The spread of this deadly virus is really alarming. It's got to the point where any community that can muster as many as three men—one calf and a couple of horses at any one time after the temperature gets above the 100-mark—immediately breaks out in a rodeo.

"This fearsome malady, like polio, is no respecter of persons. The high and the low, the young and the old fall easy prey to its ravages. In fact the small fry are usually less severely infected than some of their usually staid elders, who outdo the kiddoes in donning loud shirts, big hats, and cowboy boots which are symptoms of the disease found in all rodeo virus victims.

"What, you say there's a rodeo on this week. Waitaminit, let me git mah-hat an' boots, podnuh an' Ah'll be right with yuh! Yeahah! Let's go!"

The Low Down From Hickory Grove

For a fine type of citizen who gets the least pats on the back, I doff my kisser to the Highway Patrol. But if you are a heavy footed sort who figures you should allow nobody, black, white, or bronze, to be ahead of you at any time, you will say, oh! yeh! But without the threat of being flagged down to decent speed by the highway officer, the killing would zoom even further.

For alertness these officers have no superior. They would not survive long if they were not top-notch—they handle some pretty tough and nasty specimens. All day long or night long their job is to see to it that the citizens of your community can venture out upon the highway with reasonable chance of returning home alive. If you have not thought of it before, give a minute to pondering what it would be like without them.

What we need more of is more of these alert and fearless fellows—they are not out to make trouble, they are out to prevent same, nip it in the bud. Again, I doff my chapeau to all of them. And right here in Hickory, there is Cap Rutherford and in the next county, Cap Ellis—I am proud to

Advanced Copies Of Winston Novel Here

Juanita M. Whisenant, in private life Mrs. Homer Winston of Brownfield, Texas, wife of the county judge of Terry county, has drawn upon the memories of her girlhood on a Texas cotton farm to write a novel called "Time Flew By," just published by the Exposition Press of New York ($3.00).

"Time Flew By" is a vivid portrait of life in the years before the First World War, as seen through the eyes of the youngest of three sisters. Writing with warmth and simplicity, the author revives the colorful details of a way of life that has disappeared, but is still fresh in the memory of those who were reared on farms in "the good old days."

Recapturing the fresh sensations of girlhood, Miss Whisenant records the excitement around the rare visit of the itinerant peddler, with her fascinating stock of piece goods, perfumers soaps, and other marvelous things. She recalls the corn shuck mattress and the nightly battle for a fair share of it; big sister's first date; and love, marriage, birth and death as time flew by.

The whole adds up to a new and thoroughly entertaining addition to Texas literature.

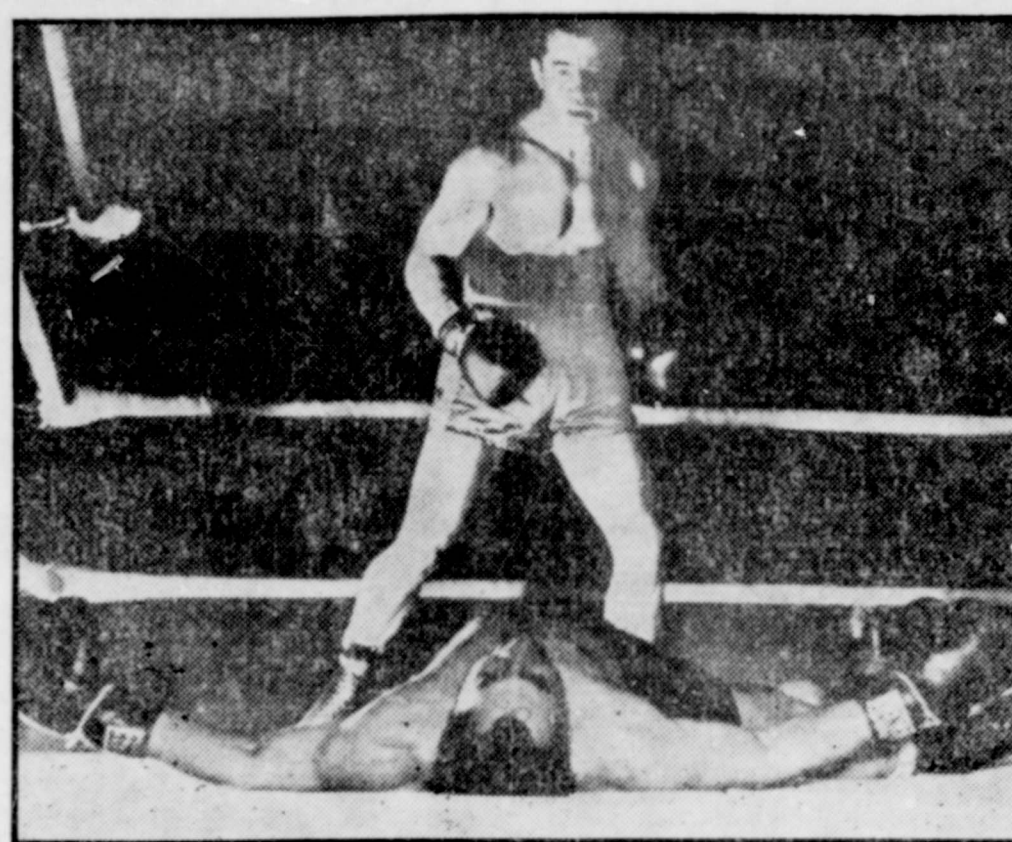

The author, a native of Comanche, Texas, went to school in Ft. Worth, and has lived in Brownfield for the past 35 years. She is a past president of the American Legion Auxiliary and the P. T. A., and is active in many civic organizations.

She is the mother of three children. Her two daughters, Mary Winston, a graduate of Texas State Teachers College at Denton, and Glenna Winston, a graduate of Texas Technological College at Lubbock, both now teach at the Meadow, Texas, Independent School. Mrs. Winston's son, John, attended Abilene Christian College and is now at Texas Technological College.

Her husband, Judge Winston, has been county superintendent, county clerk, as well as county judge, and is a member of the county Farm Bureau.

One of the last great aggregations of people to wake up to the fact that socialization of industries is not only bad for them, but the nation as well is labor unions. The latest to come out against this drift to socialism was Daniel W. Tracey, President of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers. He had this to say in a recent address: "The experience of the IBEW of the destructive effect of the public power program on its interests has convinced us that we must extend every effort to retard and ultimately stop the present expansion of the public power program." He added that anywhere that had public power programs, had lower wages for the workers. He cited as an example in Virginia that the private utilities were paying $1.90 per hour to certain classifications of workers, whereas the socialized utilities wage ranged as low as $1.37 per hour. This comes somewhat as a surprise in view of the fact that until just a few years ago, labor, and particularly union labor, seemed to be solidly behind public ownership of utilities. But like a lot of other groups they are fast getting their eyes open to the pit into which they are headed. In public utilities, the government sets all the policies, makes all the decisions and is the judge and jury, and the worker can take it or leave it. And we might add that this goes for the consumer as well as the worker.

We, the people sometimes meet in the large cities, far removed from the grain and meat producing belts, and try to figure out ways and means of "more meat and how to get it with a common sense program." Of course all interested parties are supposed to be on hand. The grain grower, the cattleman, the housewife and the consumers in general, along with the meat packers, wholesalers and retailers. One thing about such gatherings is the fact that when one arbitrary bureau sets the price on one of the things, meat in this instance, that a great number have a hand in producing. For instance, a lot of the northern feeders up in Iowa and Nebraska, to mention two states, do not raise cattle, but do raise corn. They come to Texas and other cattle producing states to buy steers to feed out with their own corn, silage and hay, with the importation of some cottonseed meal and hulls, or soybean meal to make a balanced ration. But when a certain price is set on meat, that fact hits the raiser and feeder right between the eyes. If cattle and feed are too high to

You have often heard that one about getting all the coons up one tree was rather difficult. And this old saying goes for farming all over the country. What messes farmers up is that one extreme usually follows another. That fact happened last fall. After getting the unusual amount of rain in September and the first few days of October, some six inches, it quit and stayed that way with some over half inch in February, and about three quarters in March, and just a token shower in April. May was much better with more than four inches. While back in Tennessee in April, it was too wet most of the time to get into the fields, much less plow them. It had been that way all winter and spring. While here we were almost desperate for lack of moisture. Now, the folks back in Tennessee report it is so dry they can't get their crops up. Down in our lower Rio Grande Valley, where it is never supposed to get to the freezing point, once in awhile a blizzard will slip in, and fair you well to vegetable crops, as well as citrus fruit, even killing citrus trees last winter. Then there is the chance taking with insects which can do more damage in a few days than a drought of several weeks. Then there is also the headache of farm labor just when it is needed. That fact is now worrying a lot of farmers in this section, while a bunch of lawmakers up at Washington that know no more about farming than a sow does a saddle, kill off the possibility of getting transient labor from another country, whose crop has already been harvested, and their people need the money they can make in Texas and other states, helping to harvest the cotton crop. There is another old saying that goes, "the way of the transgressor is hard." Likewise, we might add that the row the farmer has to hoe is sometimes a hard one. So, don't get it into your little head that the farmer has a "flowery bed of ease."

Over in that earthly paradise on the Volga, the proletariat are forbidden under penalty to criticize the rulers of the roost, or the government in any way. However, they are allowed to give a good or bad opinion of any factory or stores and their way of doing business. This allows the good Bolsheviks to blow off a lot of pentup steam, that they would perhaps like to say about Stalin and his co-horts, but they are not ready to go to the mines in Siberia just yet. These complaints are often published in the controlled papers, and some of them go about like this: Comrade A bought a sewing machine, but it would not run, as a part was missing and he could not procure it. Comrade B went into a store to buy an overcoat, but the clerk would not sell it to him unless he bought a pair of pants he did not want. And old Comrade C's latest ration of cigarets had next make a profit on a certain price for the finished product, both the cattle raiser and the feeder lose interest. So, a lot of the cattle are run into the black market, and everyone, except the black marketeer loses. Every cow or hog that fails to go through the regular channel of processing and curing, is a big loss in another way. The black market man saves none of that vital medical products we know as insulin and cortisone. Well, you remember only too well what happened in the OPA days back during the war. The legitimate dealer had no meat in his store; there was plenty in some shady, and perhaps unsanitary place, if you knew where it was or cared to patronize such places. There will be plenty meat for all, if each and all are allowed a margin of profit. There is a right and a wrong approach to this matter, and we hope nothing like the World War II mess ever happens again.

We hope our government does not go along with the British idea of forcing matters by use of firearms over in the near east over the oil business. When the British as well as some of our own oil companies went into Iran and Arabia to develop their oil reserves, they did so with their eyes open. They knew full well that the people of that section are rather suspicious of Americans and Europeans, and that most any time there may be a counter revolution or a new government to deal with. That thing happened long ago in Egypt, when the Hebrew race was doing fine, and their leader, Joseph, was standing high in authority. But the king died, and another was proclaimed, "that knew not Joseph." Result: Slavery for the Jews. Absolutely, we believe that most Americans are unalterably opposed to supporting any show of military power in trying to hold the oil fields in that section. That is their country. The Arabians and their near kin have held that country contemporary with the days of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob. Feature if you can what the United States and Texas would think if any foreign country should step in and take over our oil fields with a display of military force? Further, both the USA and England are supposed to stand for the political and economic freedom of all liberty loving countries. It is a great risk to go into another country with the idea of developing their natural resources. Remember what happened in Mexico less than ten years ago to American developed oil fields? Expropriation. We had hardly heard of the word up to that time, but Mexico made it stick. In other words, the Near East oil concessions may just be another scrap of paper.

Brother, they have it all figured out at Washington to get your last dime, so here is the latest pitch to clean you. Are you and family an average American family? If so, have you $1,589 to spare? That figures out the share of the average American family, says the "big spenders" without any ifs, ands, and butts. It all amounts to a yearly tax of 71 billion dollars. Now before you feel too good about the matter, remember this does not include your state, county, school and all and sundry hidden taxes you pay almost every day on merchandise, appliances, telephone and telegraph bills. No, according to the planners, no tax can be made anywhere without causing great damage. But the Hoover Commission says the item can be trimmed by $7 billion, and Senator Harry Byrd of Virginia says it can be safely lowered by $9 billion. No wonder it takes all the people can rake and scrape to pay taxes. According to the Census Bureau of last October, 6,402,000 people, one out of every 24 in the nation, work for some branch of government. And those in the know say there has been a substantial increase since those figures were made. There seems to be no limit or any feeling in the government for the heavily taxed people. Tax and spend; spend and elect. The money they take is yours; your future and your freedom. All are at stake as long as the present spendthrifts have charge of matters up at Washington.

June Is Dairy Month In Texas

June is dairy month in Texas and the multi-million dollar industry is seeking to focus the eyes of some seven million Texas consumers on the greater use of dairy foods as the road to better health.

In cities large and small, in homes and on farms, consumers are being told through a 30-day industry-wide observance that butter, cheese, ice cream and milk are "roads-to-good-health musts" on the family table 365 days of the year.

Governor Allan Shivers in proclaiming June as dairy month in Texas emphasized importance of milk and dairy foods as essential to the diet of defense workers.

"WHEREAS the preservation and improvement of the vital Texas dairy industry, with some 500,000 Texans dependent upon it and its allied industries for livelihood, are of interest to all Texans as a matter of practical living and as a matter of economics and health to the success of our defense efforts;"

The Dairy Products Institute of Texas, coordinating the June program, released figures citing the contributions of the industry to Texas.

Last year dairying produced more than $200 millions in farm income for three out of four Texas farms with some 12,000 commercial Grade-A dairies dependent upon milk as their chief income. Some 60,000 farm units, the Institute said, depended upon milk and milk products for their income.

The Institute estimated that the dairy industry contributed $400 millions annually to the commerce of the state, with some 500,000 persons earning a livelihood from production, processing, distribution and sale of dairy products.

"Housewives spend more than 15 per cent of their food budgets for dairy products," said W. E. Thompson, state chairman for the June dairy month program. "For this they get 30 per cent of the food consumed in this state. And in this one-third of the family food, the housewife provides her family with three-fourths of its calcium, one-half of its riboflavin, and substantial quantities of every other nutrient vital to human development."

Service clubs, like Rotary, Kiwanis and Lions, are sponsoring programs in June to assist their members in a better appreciation of the services of the dairy industry. Many conventions and special meetings over the state will discuss the industry and the part it plays in the Texas economy.

High Winds Rip Howell Crops

In conversation with a reporter, K. W. Howell stated late last week that the high winds just before and during the rain last Thursday night, damaged his crop of cotton 60 per cent at least, and did 50 per cent damage to some wheat that Virgil Burnett had on the place. The Howell farms start in about a mile east of the business part of town, on the south side of Tahoka highway.

Burnett was aiming to start in harvesting his wheat Friday, and it was believed that he would have gotten 15 bushels per acre before the wind. Mr. Howell described the wind as a twister variety, and reported several telephone poles were knocked down as well as the severe damage to the crops.

Down in the Wellman section the barn on the L. D. Hamm farm was considerably damaged. The wind blew so hard at the A. A. Oliver farm out in the Pleasant Valley community, that the lock catch on the door was busted off, and he had to hold the door, while he got nails and hammer to replace it. He stated that 10 minutes more of that wind would have gotten his crop.

We heard that one farmer southwest of town lost a 1,000-acre crop by high wind and heavy rains together. Other crop damages have drifted in. Some however stated that they were not hurt, or not badly. But all figure that their crops could not have stood that wind too long.

Silage Is Cheap Feed Source

When their customers received their monthly statements this week from the Brownfield State Bank and Trust Co., the following article by R. N. McClain was enclosed. He is assistant vice-president of the bank, and former Terry county agent. We believe the article worthy of reproduction in the Herald:

"Next to pasture, silage is the cheapest source of feed. A full silo is good feed insurance when pastures have all died out or have been used up. Silage has many advantages over other forms of feeds in that it may be preserved for an indefinite period of time without losing any of its nutritive values. Feeds that are chopped and blown in a silo will retain 20 per cent to 25 per cent more feed nutrients than will feeds that are dried and cured. Little of the original feed crop is wasted when it is preserved and fed in the form of silage. The hazard of fire and rodent damage is also eliminated. In planning your crop program this year we think it wise to ensile from two to three tons of red top cane or grain sorghum per cow.

"When digging a silo, pick a well drained site and slope the walls in about one foot for every four feet in depth. Do not dig the sides perpendicular. In using an average size silo, one can figure about 1 1/2 tons of silage per foot of length, not figuring the runways.

New Screw Worm Remedy

"Many of you have a tough time with screw worms, so I think it wise to mention a new screw worm remedy recently developed by the United States Department of Agriculture Entomologists. This remedy is known as EQ-335, containing lindane and pineoil. The main advantage of this new remedy is its ability to kill not only newly hatched maggots in deep infested tissues. In applying, use a small paint brush. Paint the wound thoroughly. One application will give protection for about seven days, although in severe cases treatment should be repeated in three or four days and thereafter at seven day intervals.

"As most of you know, bloat is a common occurrence this time of year when grasses are succulent and green. The best method to keep down bloat is to feed a good feeding of hay or bundles before cattle are turned on green succulent feeds. When cattle are first turned on for grazing they should be watched very closely and only left a few hours a day until their systems become adjusted to the green feed. Although many of us use the above precautions, we still have cases of bloat. According to the U.S.D.A. the best treatment for bloat is a thorough drenching with mineral oil. In severe cases it may be necessary to puncture a hole in the animals stomach to release the accumulated gas. If this is necessary, a trocar or a sharp jack knife should be used. This should be the last resort."

Taxes on Texas farm and ranch real estate in 1950 varied from an average of five cents per acre for the Trans-Pecos area to $3.41 per acre in the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

OUR APOLOGY

We should have received our picture of farm home as well as floor plans for this week's issue in plenty time for press, but failed to do so. They were to have been shipped from Nashville, Tenn., last Friday, but had not come in at noon Thursday.

We are supposed to get a month's supply at a time. So when they do arrive we can keep this Model Farm Home page going—we hope.

TERRY COUNTY FARMERS WILL TOP 1951 GOALS

Uncle Sam is going to be mighty proud of the West Texas farmers during the 1951 harvest if all counties plant cotton in proportion to the Terry county farmers. Early in the year he asked Southern farmers to plant at least enough acreage to harvest 16,000,000 bales of cotton and raised the price to parity of June 1 to back up his plea. This seemed very encouraging to growers of cotton, since this 30 cent a pound base on 16-16th staple in 1950 and $100 a ton cottonseed brought them one of their most profitable years.

According to Looe Miller, PMA administrative officer for Terry county, Terry county has a crop-land acreage of 432,000. The cotton goal set for the county was 200,000 and indications are that 250,000 acres will be planted.

The wheat goal was set at 24,900 and more than 30,000 acres were seeded. However, Mr. Miller reported that half of the wheat has been blown out or dried out. Therefore this will leave approximately 162,000 to be planted in grain sorghums, sudan and other forage crops, while the goal set for these crops was only 157,000.

"With moisture conditions as they are at the present," Mr. Miller pointed out, "it is anticipated that Terry county will exceed the goal set by the government for the 1951 crop."

CANADIAN BREAD RUMOR SQUASHED

OTTAWA.—(P)—Unusual letters are commonplace at the Canadian Government Travel Bureau here, but one from a feminine writer in Hollywood, Calif., gets the nod as the most remarkable.

She wrote to ask if it were true that the sale of white bread brings the death penalty in Canada. She said in her letter that she had heard the practice was illegal and the penalty was death.

Travel bureau officials pondered the wisdom of mailing her a loaf of Canadian white bread, finally compromised by advising her there was no such offense and certainly no such penalty.

Mrs. Rosetta Roberts and daughter, Letha Nell of Coahoma, and another daughter, Mrs. Bob McKinley of San Angelo, are here visiting their daughters and sisters, Mesdames Fred Smith, city, and Mrs. Bernard Lay, at Johnson. They report recent rains in their areas.

Mrs. R. L. Lewis and son, Randy are visiting Mrs. Lewis' parents in Plainview this week.

FFA Chapter Takes Part In Project

Mr. R. D. Evans and Mr. E. D. Seay, managers of the fertilizer sales division of Houston, visited Charles Bartley's Phillips "66" cotton project this past week. The two men looked over the projects in this part of the area last week. They checked the acreage, improvements being made, the type fertilizer, and the boys plans that were presented on their arrival at the project.

Charles has 40 acres of deep broke soil for his cotton project this year in the FFA. He is applying 100 pounds of ammonium nitrate which is 33.5 per cent nitrogen per acre. This fertilizer is top dressed on the soil just before planting the cotton. The cause of using only 100 pounds of the ammonium nitrate is because the entire acreage is dry land.

Charles will have 10 acres of fertilized land in the program and 10 acres of unfertilized for a check plot so that he may see and determine the difference in yield. He is to keep a complete set of records on production and income along with comments on the difference of plant growth during cotton season.

This plot of cotton is located four miles north and one-half mile west on the Levelland highway.

SICH COW CALLING, YUOUTOBEASHAMED

Editor Bob Haynes of the Miami Chief sent us a folder about their yearly contest and celebration, which is designated the "Cow Calling Contest." Now if we can get off up to that burg, we'll show those Panhandle guys and gals how to make "the cows come home."

In this folder, there stands a yap with his mouth open as wide as mammoth cave, and the words being emitted are, "here Elsie. Shades of Gail Borden's cow. What the monkey should have been saying was, S-o-o-k Bossie, S-o-o-k Pide, S-o-o-k Muley, etc. You never say "here" to a bovine. That is not their language.

We hunted all over that daddum folder for the date of the affair, but there was none. All we could find was a few Indian gals named Miami, said to be the sweetheart of the Plains, and a sister of Minnie-ha-ha. He! he! Also that Roberts county was the home of the biggest bulls. Bull!

STATION WAGON IS EVERYMAN'S CAR

By FRANK M. WRIGHT
Editor, Automobile Features

NEW YORK (Special)—The station wagon is spreading out from its native habitat—the suburbs—into the thousands of towns and villages that form the backbone of America.

What before the war was a class-conscious vehicle of the millionaire set is fast becoming a useful multi-purpose car for the average family.

Automotive experts call this increasing popularity of the station wagon the most significant post-war trend in the industry and attribute it to the economical all-steel body.

The bulk of last year's record production of 153,000 station wagons was the all-steel body, they point out, and although 14 manufacturers build station wagons, a few of the lower-price manufacturers accounted for 60 per cent of the sales.

The largest single producer of station wagons is Willys-Overland Motors of Toledo, Ohio, which introduced the all-steel body in 1946. So successful was the innovation that during the last four years, while the industry's station wagon production was tripling, Willys has dominated the field.

In an interview here today Ward M. Canaday, president of the company, said that the popularity of the all-steel body is easy to account for. It drastically cuts the construction cost of the station wagon and brings it within the buying power of every automobile owner's pocketbook.

"In addition," Mr. Canaday said "all-steel vehicles are much more economical to maintain. They are safer, because of the all-steel body vision is better, and they tend not to go out of fashion as quickly as other model cars."

He declared that women are especially enthusiastic about station wagons because they are easy to drive and simple to park. With a seating capacity of six people they are also ideal for taking children to school and on picnics or trips to the beach.

"Men like them because they are handy. Rear seats are easily removable and it is the matter of a moment to convert from a personal car to a light delivery truck made to order for dozens of family needs such as transporting hunting, fishing or boating equipment, Christmas trees, firewood and all manner of baggage, including the baby's play pen.

Strawberries Are Good With Sugar

Freeze some of those luscious red strawberries. You can freeze some of them whole, others sliced, some crushed, pureed, or made into sparkling juice.

Maona Cox, foods and nutrition specialist for the Texas Extension Service recommends packing them in sugar for best results.

Start with the firm, red-ripe strawberries, sort and wash a few at a time, so you can work with them gently. Drain in a colander and then hull for this saves the juice.

Then, Miss Cox says slice the berries, sprinkle with sugar, using 3/4-cup to 4 cups of sliced berries. To draw the juice, turn the fruit over and over using a big spoon. Pack the berries in moisture-vapor-proof containers, allowing room to expand in freezing a half inch headspace between the food and lid in pint containers, and 1 inch in quart containers. Cover with juice.

Label to show the date and that the berries are sugared, then freeze at zero degrees Fahrenheit or lower.

The bulletin, "Frozen Foods," is available in county Extension agents' offices.

Creep Feeding Beef Calves

By creep feeding their beef calves, livestock men can add as much as 100 pounds of weight per head by weaning time, according to U. D. Thompson, assistant extension animal husbandman of Texas A. & M. College.

A "creep"—an enclosure with openings large enough for calves to enter but too small for older cattle—is inexpensive and easy to build. This arrangement gives calves access to additional feed. Specifications for building a practical creep feeder and suggestions for locating it are given in a new Extension Service circular. Circular 289 also gives suggested rations for feeding suckling calves and directions for starting the calves on feed.

Thompson points out that an important advantage of creep feeding is the better condition of the cows at weaning time. They are not suckled down so much when the calves receive additional feed.

In addition to being heavier and having more finish, creep-fed calves grow out more uniformly in size and condition. There is little shrinkage at weaning time.

Creep-fed calves usually sell for a higher price per pound than calves that are not creep-fed.

Thompson recommends that livestock men consult their county agent about creep feeding calves this spring and to also pick up a copy of Extension Circular 289, "Creep Feeding Beef Calves."

Taxes on Texas farm and ranch real estate increased in 1950 for the fourth straight year. The average increase for the state was four per cent.

Two Injured In Wreck Wednesday

Two Seminole men were injured in a wreck at 8:45 Wednesday morning five miles north of Brownfield on the Lubbock highway.

Clifford Dawson, 24, was treated for minor injuries and James O. Piercefield, 39, is a patient at the Treadaway-Daniell hospital where his condition is reported as "good."

The men were enroute to Seminole when the left front tire blew out causing the 1950 Ford to turn over several times.

Brownfield Funeral Home sent an ambulance to the scene of the accident.

Labor Situation Discussed Saturday

The Terry County Farm Bureau Federation met Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock in the court house.

Judge Homer Winston, president of the Federation, presided at the meeting which was held to discuss further the situation concerning farm labor and to explain fully to interested farmers the procedure necessary to obtain Mexican labor. Other business will be discussed at a meeting in the near future.

A large number of farmers signed up for farm labor Saturday in the Chamber of Commerce office.

"EVERYBODY IS IMPORTANT," says J. Oliver Emmerich (above), publisher of the McComb (Miss.) Enterprise Journal, who will address the 72nd Annual Convention of the Texas Press Association in Dallas, June 15-16. Every month since January of 1950, some periodical has carried a story on the "16-Point Farm and Home Program" sponsored by his newspaper. The Reader's Digest, in its January issue, featured a story about the southern publisher, titled "The Crusading Editor." He was named "Mississippi's Man of the Year in Agriculture" in 1949 by the magazine, Progressive Farmer. In 1951, he was named by the magazine "Dixie Business," as one of the fifty leading businessmen of the South.

AMBASSADOR FOR LADIES—Jean Mooney (above) is a traveling ambassador for the women's department of Newspaper Enterprise Association in Cleveland, Ohio. She makes regular trips over the country, calling on editors to help them design newspapers that will appeal to the ladies. "Women today are alert," says Miss Mooney. "They want to read about home, families, careers, home towns, and to be informed in an entertaining way." Miss Mooney is a recognized authority on what women like to read and want to read in newspapers. Texas publishers will get some pointers from her about women readers, when they hear her talk before the 72nd Annual Convention of the Texas Press Association in Dallas, June 15-16.

To Get 20 Bushels Of Wheat Per Acre

Malcolm Timmons sent the Herald a sample of his grain from his wheat on the farm just north of Meadow. Malcolm grew up on this farm or one near it as his dad and mother were early settlers in Terry. Like dad, like son, Malcolm is a good farmer, and if the sample he sent us is like the rest of the 70 acre field, he has some good wheat.

Practically all his wheat, we know that he does not exaggerate, isn't like him to do so. So, when he sent us word that he would get around 20 bushels per acre off his 70 acres, we know it's there—providing a hailstorm does not strike. That is a lot of biscuits in any language.

And the Weatherman has done all in his power to obliterate all the Timmons' as well as other wheat since the early days of last October; when we got our fare-well showers up to recently. This wheat was planted the 10th of September, last year. The stubble will be turned under and planted to maize after the wheat is harvested. The rest of his land will go in cotton.

Speaking of wheat, Terry Noble has a pretty good field of wheat just this side of West Point over in Lynn county. Got old Terry cornered in the barber shop last Saturday. He admitted he had some good wheat, but he refused to guess at the probable yield. He must have 250 or 300 acres, maybe more.

EDITOR RICHARDS HAS A SERIOUS OPERATION

We note in both the Asperment Star as well as the Anton News that Editor H. G. Richards, who has been in poor health for some time, underwent an operation at a Littlefield hospital last week.

The operation itself, was not too serious, being for appendicitis, but the several complications after the incision was made is what makes the case serious, but not necessarily fatal.

Editor Richards' son, Afton of the Star, and a friend from Muleshoe got out the Anton News after Afton got out a small edition of his own paper. We are hoping to hear soon that our old friend is improving, and will soon be back on the job.

Service Office News

C. L. LINCOLN Terry County Service Officer Bronze Grave Marker We have received the following announcement from the Quartermaster General, Department of the Army, Washington, D. C.— "By an order of the national production authority, dated 19 February 1951, the use of bronze in the manufacture of grave markers is prohibited. Accordingly, the army is no longer able to produce bronze markers under the authority of Public Law 871, 80th Congress. "It is requested that you disseminate this information to those who may be called upon to assist veterans and their families in their problems." Typical Problems—NSLI Dividends The extent to which NSLI policies may be eligible—if at all for the second special dividend is in the way explained below: 1. Term insurance effective November 1, 1944, converted effectively February 1, 1949. The term account is eligible for three months (November, 1948, through January 1949) and the permanent plan for 24 months (February, 1949, through January, 1951). 2. Term insurance effective February 1, 1944, converted effective November 1, 1949. The term insurance is eligible for 21 months (February, 1948 through October, 1949) and the permanent plan for 24 months (November, 1949 through October, 1951). 3. $10,000 term insurance effective June 1, 1943, converted to $5,000 permanent plan effective August 1, 1948, remaining $5,000 lapsed same date. The $5,000 permanent plan policy is eligible 33 months (August, 1948 through July, 1951), but the $5,000 term which lapsed August 1, 1948, is ineligible since only two months' premiums were paid since the 1948 anniversary date. 4. Term insurance effective September 1, 1949, converted effective November 1, 1949, lapsed January 1, 1950. Dividend will be based on two months' premium payments on the term plan and two months on the permanent plan. 5. Term insurance effective June 1, 1943, lapsed August 1, 1948. New policy issued August 1, 1949, lapsed November 1, 1949. Both policies are ineligible. Disability Rider on NSLI Policies For the purpose of clarifying the more pertinent features of the so-called "disability income benefit rider" provisions of NSLI policies, the following pertinent information is submitted: (1) A veteran who has the disability rider in effect with his NSLI policy will—if he should become totally disabled—receive $5 a month on each $1,000 of NSLI he has in force, beginning with the first day of the seventh month he is totally disabled. This is in addition to the ordinary waiver of premium to which he is entitled from the beginning date of total disability. (2) The "total disability" in this case means total disability for insurance purposes—not—compensation. (3) Veterans may apply for the rider for a very small sum, actually only a few cents per month per thousand dollars of insurance. (for example, a 25 year old policyholder, insured under a 5-year level Premium Term Plan, would have to pay only 21c a month per thousand dollars of NSLI, or $2.10 a month for full $10,000 policy in addition to his regular monthly premium. (4) The total disability must "prevent the veteran from following continuous and substantial gainful em-

Sparks From Capitol

By Jim Sparks F. O. Box 2312, Capitol Station, Austin, Texas The issue now in Austin is whether the House rural roads majority can stand up against the Senate on the question of taxing natural gas. The debate is prolonging the session. The Senate has refused to take action on the House-approved Sewell bill. One objection to the Sewell bill is its proposed allocation of funds to cities for street purposes. Opponents say it is bad business for one level of government to levy taxes for allocation to other levels, a practice for which the federal government is being continuously criticized by the states. The Senate offers a plan to tax natural gas as it is contracted or "dedicated." They say this is a severance tax, not a property tax. Texas companies would be entitled to certain exemptions under the plan, which its supporters say will cause 90 per cent of the taxes to be paid by out-of-state users. Home rural roads leaders say the Senate plan will not bring in sufficient revenue; nor will it give the cities any street money. Also, there are some questions as to the constitutionality of such a plan, although a similar act by Oklahoma has been upheld by the courts. The matter is now in a conference committee of the two houses in an effort to reach agreement. Usually, the Senate has the upper hand in such matters. Being fewer in number, they can more readily organize. And only half the Senate ordinarily is facing re-election. However, this time legislative re-districting has all Senators facing re-election as are House members, and the House finds itself in a more advantageous position. Final adjournment depends on effecting a compromise plan acceptable to both houses. Politician once thought it would take 2,000 years to settle the United States, but the feat was achieved in a century.

G. I. QUESTIONS and ANSWERS

Q—I am a teacher, and I took a graduate course last summer under the GI Bill. This summer I want to take another, but it won't start until after the July 25 cut-off date. Will I be permitted to do so? A—Yes. Since you were in training in the Summer of 1950, you may start your second course at any time during the Summer of 1951—either before or after the cut-off date. However, teachers beginning GI Bill summer schooling for the first time in 1951 must be in training by the cut-off date, if they want to continue during succeeding summers. Q—I went to a private hospital to get treated for a service-connected ailment, and I paid the bill myself. I did not have instructions from VA to report to the private hospital. Is it possible for VA to reimburse me for my hospitalization expenses? A—The only way in which you could be reimbursed would be if all three of the following conditions had been met: treatment for the service-connected condition must have been rendered in a medical emergency; government facilities must not have been feasibly available, and delay in providing treatment would have been hazardous. Q—I want to get a GI loan to buy a four-unit house, and live in one of the units. May I do so under the GI Bill? A—Yes, you may purchase up to a four-family house, provided you live in one of the units. Q—I am studying in France under the GI Bill, and I want to change fields of study. I already have made one change. Will I be required to take advisement?

AUTO GOES TO MARKET

ARCADIA, Calif. — (AP) — Mrs. Lillian May Evans' got a surprise when she looked up and saw her car following her into the market. She had parked the auto on an incline. Apparently the brakes slipped. As Mrs. Evans walked through the door, the car rolled through the market's big plate-glass window. and guidance? A—No. However, a veteran training in a foreign country and desiring to make a second change of course will be required to submit complete justification to VA that (1) he needs the new course to complete his educational objective, and (2) he has sufficient educational qualifications to give reasonable assurance that he can complete the new course satisfactorily. Q—I am a disabled veteran receiving disability compensation from VA. Soon I expect to go on extended active duty in the Navy. May I continue to receive my compensation plus my Navy pay, at the same time? A—No. VA compensation may not be paid concurrently with receipt of active service pay. Your compensation would be suspended while you are in the Navy. Q—I am taking a GI Bill correspondence course. Will I be permitted to switch to a classroom course in the same field after the July 25 cut-off date? A—No. A correspondence course is considered a course within itself, and VA regulations state that once a veteran completes such a course after the cut-off date, he may not start another. You could, however, take more advanced work by correspondence; if the advanced training would be a normal progression toward your educational goal.

NSLI "Second" Dividend Checks Now Being Mailed

First dividend checks for the second special NSLI dividend are finally being mailed. The first checks having started on April 23 and further, the VA advises that veterans should not expect to receive a dividend until several months after the policy anniversary date.

This second dividend is being paid on policies in force three months or longer between the 1948 and 1951 policy dates and apply to both term and permanent plan policies, including those which have lapsed or were terminated by the death of the insured.

We are advised by the VA that checks in payment of this dividend will be issued on an individual policy basis and separate checks will be issued for each policy when the anniversary months are different. No information regarding the method of computing the amount of the dividend has been received by us as of this date.

New Policy For Surviving Sons

The new policy of assigning sole surviving sons to duty not involving combat has been recently announced by the Army and Air Force.

In general, a sole surviving son will not be assigned duties normally involving actual combat with the enemy, Army SR 600-143-30 state, however, the individual concerned may waive this right if he so desires. The Navy also has a similar policy in effect. The regulations do not apply to Regular Army and Regular Air Force officers.

Identification Cards For Spanish-American War Vets

The Veterans Administration is now issuing identification cards which are about 2 1/2 inches wide and 3 1/4 inches long, and encased in a plastic or celluloid cover, to Spanish-American War veterans who desire to establish their legal right to out-patient treatment. The card carries the name, address, "C" Number, date of birth, height, weight, color of appearance, eyes and the VA Regional Office where the evidence of the eligibility was filed, and are issued by the VA Regional Office where they have established their eligibility.

The veterans will be given needed out-patient treatment at any VA field station having medical facilities to which he applies and presents this card to identify himself as having established his basic eligibility.

WHEN ISSUED: The identification card will be issued when an applicant files VA Form 10-2827, "Application for Out-Patient Treatment," and establishes his eligibility for out-patient treatment under Public Law 791, 81st Congress. Eligibility of an applicant may be established on one of the following ways:

(a) Presentation of VA FL 10-252 which was sent to all Spanish-American War veterans receiving benefits from the VA, notifying them of their right to out-patient treatment; or presentation of a letter from the VA notifying the veteran of a VA award, or both.

(b) Presentation of an honorable discharge certificate showing the applicant's service to have been within the provisions, and dates set up in Public Law 791.

(c) Verification of the applicant's service and C-number assignment through the normal procedure of filing VA Form 10-2231, in connection with out-patient treatment.

LOST CARD:

The veteran is instructed to report loss of his card by furnishing a statement explaining the circumstances surrounding the loss.

Behind The Scenes

By Reynolds Knight

NEW YORK, June 8.—Scattered indications that raw materials shortages are beginning to be reflected in civilian production are appearing on the business horizon.

Another cut in steel for civilian goods was announced last week by mobilization director Charles E. Wilson, who added, however, that a one-year squeeze on civilians—from the coming July to the middle of next year—will get the country "over the hump" in its defense program.

The latest steel cuts amounted to five per cent to 10 per cent for automobiles, and were roughly equivalent for other consumers durable goods such as refrigerators and washing machines. And, in another direction, quick action by the National Production Authority was necessary to assure sufficient steel for farm equipment manufacturers and avert a possible shortage of these critical machines.

Some makers of consumer goods have already cut back production, and others indicated plans for sharp reductions in output in the near future.

From widely dispersed sectors of business come indications that further supply tightness is in view. Rug and carpet makers are worried about supplies of staple fibers; indications of declining supplies of Manila hemp are causing concern among cordage producers; supplies of packaging materials present a serious problem to all kinds of consumer goods plants; shoe manufacturers fear a shortage of hides and skins—and at least one producer of tannic acid (essential to process hides into leather) is seriously worried about the supply of quebracho extract, from which the acid is made.

The barn or screech owl catches and eats many mice.

Another card will be issued by the Regional Office and the word "DUPLICATE" will be typed on the card.

COLD SHOULDER FOR RED ACADEMICS

BERLIN. (AP)—Recruiting of workers and peasants for special pre-university courses is lagging in the Soviet Zone, so its rulers are importing young Communist students from West Germany.

East Germans have shown a marked reluctance to enroll at the "workers and farmers faculties" despite official cajoling, well-informed Soviet Zone sources said. They explained that the top-heavy diet of Stalinism and "voluntary" political schooling even in the students' spare time apparently have much to do with the lack of enthusiasm.

The schools are designed for young men and women between 21 and 35, fresh off the farms and factories. Job of the faculties, which are attached to all larger East German universities, is to help train a Communist "elite" to replace the "old reactionary" professional and administrative groups.

Church of Christ Opens Bible School

The Vacation Bible School of the Crescent Hill Church of Christ opened last Monday with a record enrollment of 195 students. This is the largest number ever to enroll in the school on the first day. This number has increased gradually each day of the school. Tuesday, 198 came for the school, and on Wednesday 205 were present. There are 13 classes with 23 teachers for these classes. In addition to this a singing class is being held for every student coming to the school each morning.

Dr. T. Roy Finley is the song instructor in the Crescent Hill Church of Christ's Vacation Bible School. Bro. Finley is assistant minister and song director of the Harris and Irvin Streets Church of Christ in San Angelo. This school consists of classes in the morning for all Vacation Bible School students, classes in the afternoon at 3:00 for song leaders, chorus singing at 7:00 each evening, and a Church Music class for all at 8:00. These classes are being well attended and interest is high in the school.

HOOVER HONORS TOP WHEAT FARMER

The threat of a farm-food crisis and a predicted short 1951 wheat crop drew former president Herbert Hoover (right) to help Senator E. J. Thye of Minnesota (left) and P. S. Pillsbury crown Oscar Barnes this year's Wheat King in an effort to emphasize the importance of good farming. Barnes is tenth winner of the annual Philip W. Pillsbury award for the best wheat grown in the United States. He received his award at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York as the climax to an expense-paid trip for himself and his wife from Nunn, Colorado, and back. The award, sponsored by Pillsbury, goes to the grower of the best wheat of the year judged by a panel of four university agronomists. He won in a field of 48 top samples from 31 states. Thye, a long-time farmer in his own right and member of the Senate Agricultural Committee, Pillsbury, Barnes and Hoover are pictured with a sample of the prize-winning wheat—a Commanche hard red winter variety—produced on Barnes' Nunn, Colorado, farm.

Wicker Basket Makes Gay Beach Bag

BY EDNA MILES
If an invitation to a picnic or a beach party means a mad scramble at your house for such emergency carry-alls as cardboard boxes or old laundry bags, now's the time to think about acquiring fun-in-the-open gear of which you can be proud.

If there's an old wicker basket in your attic or basement, your problem's half solved already. It doesn't matter if its handles are gone or its top broken, provided there's enough basket left to provide a base for your make-over project.

A commodious top can be made of fabric, preferably one of the new woven-plastic ones in a bright, gay pattern. These fabrics, which are said to be stainproof and abuseproof are an excellent choice for resisting weathering and rough treatment at beach or picnic grounds. Although tough, they're flexible enough for cutting and easy handling.

To make a pouch top for your wicker base, first measure the top of the basket to determine its size. Cut the material to fit. You'll need two hems in the fabric. The lower one serves as a strong edge for sewing fabric to basket. For this use a sturdy thread or cord.

The upper hem provides a tunnel for the drawstring to go through. For comfort in carrying the basket, try a drawstring braided of several strands of soft wool.

The size of your fabric top should depend upon the nature of your outings. If you usually carry a bathing suit, towels, and other swimming accessories in addition to a thermos and sandwich bags, then a large, roomy basket will best serve your needs.

A pouch top of gay, plaid woven-plastic material converts an old wicker basket into a serviceable picnic hamper.
