Old Dobbin doesn't die; he just fades away. Anyway, those who love to study figures, tell us that last year, for the first time, that farm automobiles, not including truck, outnumbered the draft animal on the American farm. And this starts one to wondering what influence the modern methods of draft of implements and wagons on the farms tend to revolutionize our working and living. Today's oil powered trucks, tractor and engines in use, on US farms represent a total of 178,000,000 horse power of mechanical energy. These modern farm aids have permitted the farmer to raise much larger crops at lower cost. It has released 15,000,000 acres of food crops that was formerly fed to mules and horses. Not only that, but it has encouraged the spread of stubble-mulching, contouring, strip farming and other soil conservation practices. Oil is also playing a hand in the old battle against weeds, as well as for fuel to run modern farm implements. From it many of the insecticides have their basic material, and it is even used some in fertilizers. Without these implements that save vast man hours the USA could not even dream of feeding more than our own population, much less a large part of the world. Like every other vocation, the farmer is interested in the welfare of the oil industry in the United States.

When all-out controls are clamped down by the government, who do you figure will suffer Big or Little business? Past experience, shows that little business is the one that takes the beating. These facts were recently pointed out by the president of one of the biggest firms on earth, Henry Ford II, head of the Ford Motor Co. Mr. Ford acknowledged that some controls are necessary on account of the re-armament program. But he also states: "During World War II, 16 per cent of the small businesses of the country were forced to shut up shop under the system of all-out controls. I am told that there is some suspicion even now that when the fatality count is known, this time, the small business liquidation rate may be even higher than it was in 1942-43. That is not because there is nothing the small business can do, but because many small businesses are less able to stand the strangling grip of controls." Mr. Ford protested greatly the uncertainty and confusion at Washington. He then concluded: "We can't plan our business on rumors. Big business, of course, can stagger along somehow. But small business can't. It is time the deep thinkers at Washington came down to earth."

We often hear about "mass production in the United States." Much less about mass distribution. But in distribution, the USA leads the world, and our system is being studied by many countries. One of the latest is the big German food operators. Some of them are coming to America, and will observe first hand our methods of distribution from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Let it be said right here that Germans have always been regarded proficient in many lines, but they know they are woefully behind the USA in distribution of food and other merchandise. With all due respect for the independent grocer, it is generally conceded that the chains first learned the lesson of mass distribution. Even so, the independent man has not been idle. He is somewhat a past-master at the business himself at present. The chains have no monopoly on any method. The independents of all kinds have caught on fast and followed suit. A dozen or so years ago many people were fearful for the independent grocer. But they have held their trade, if they followed progressive methods, and have grown. It is said that visitors from abroad are always amazed at the vast variety of goods offered by American retail stores. More amazed that tens of millions of Americans are able to buy the goods offered for sale—not just a favored few.

Gov. Jordan of Idaho is a bit dubious of the idea of his section issuing $165,000,000 in bonds to purchase the holdings of a public utilities company, and rightfully so. He states that after the purchase, there is no reason to suppose the public owned utilities would produce a whit more electricity than at present, or that it would be cheaper. Or that the employees would be paid as much or more. One thing he did point out as a fact, is if the private utilities were taken over, the people had just as well forget the some two million dollars in taxes the company is now paying. He advises the Federal Reserve Board to fight the inflation breeding transaction. Right now many counties in Texas are voting themselves fine hospitals while the voting is good. Some have found that it is almost impossible to get competent trained doctors and nurses to run these hospitals, and some have had to lease them to private doctors, or pay extra money from the county treasury to secure efficient help. We sometimes wonder why people cannot understand that if efcient medical and surgical men thought there was a possibility of such institutions paying a reasonable dividend on the money invested, that they would hesitate to put in a private hospital. But people must have the finest even if it takes the hair off to pay the taxes.

The Southern farm states have not, altogether abandoned hope that the Poage bill may be brought out of House committee to the floor before this session is over, in an endeavor to get Mexican national labor to help harvest the crop this fall. This bill would allow farmers to get into Mexico and recruit needed labor for the fall harvest, replacing a labor agreement between Mexico and the US due to expire June 30th. A somewhat similar bill has been introduced by Senator Ellender of Louisiana, in the Senate. But, a New Deal senator, Douglas, of Illinois, tacked on a crippling amendment to provide a fine of $2,000 and a jail sentence for hiring a Mexican that was in the USA illegally. Of course the border states representatives would like to ask how the heck one was to determine whether a Mexican got to the USA legally or otherwise. The Mexican government maintains that only some 12,000 of the 70,000 Mexicans in the USA have entered legally. There are reasons for this condition. The main one being that economic conditions in Mexico are way behind that of the USA, although making fast improvement below the border in the past few years. Wages are still much better over here, and laborers will risk arrest to get into this country to work.

The May issue of The New Age, monthly put out by Scottish Rite Masons, lists a total of some 87 subversive organizations in the USA, if we made no miscount. The main organizations come under four heads, and listed thus: C—Communist; F—Fascist; S—Subversive, and T—Totalitarians. Some of the many were simply listed as branches of the others. For instance, take the Hellenic American Brotherhood, and a number of others, were listed as Branches of the International Workers Order, IWO. Let us state right here that the writer in the above magazine, as well as this writer believes that a lot of good Americans that are really loyal, have been misled by the half truths put out by the leaders of these traitorous organizations. But once you're in, you are listed as such by not only the organization, but the FBI and US Atty. General, as well. In these troublesome days when you hardly know what your next door neighbor believes or is thinking, it is the smart thing to quit being a professional "jiner." Some of the intellectuals, as they think, out in Hollywood, have found this out to their sorrow. A daily columnist in the Dallas News less than a year ago, exposed one organization that had wormed its way into a prominent Protestant church body, and a lot of the members had taken membership. This exposure could not be ascribed to prejudice, for the columnist was a member of and an official in a Dallas congregation of this particular church.

It is said that finally the congress, or some of them as individuals, are developing a thing we call backbone, and are trying to do a bit about a lot of unnecessary spending. We notice that one legislator came square out in the past few days, and stated that there was a lot of things Mr. Truman wanted that he would not get. Of late, too, the congress has made a heavy reduction in the amount asked for public power development. No one is so silly as to ask that any cuts be made in the armament program, if such funds are essential. But in order that the government might build some power plant and transmission lines along side privately owned lines, would be like carrying coal to Newcastle. We are told by those in the know that existing power lines in the United States are today adequately prepared to take care of all the power needs of the country, even in an emergency of war preparation, as at present. As for the taxpayers, they are already top heavy with burdensome taxes, and when there is no earthly need of other power plants. All the administration wants with more and more money is for political propulsion. As we have said many times, and we repeat. Socialism is not needed in the good old USA. Speaking of sending coal to Newcastle, this seems to be literally happening. The USA exported more than 2 million tons to some 26 nations last year. One of our biggest customers is Great Britain, the country that 25 years ago was one of the world's largest coal exporters. It is not because coal is depleted in England and Wales. They have plenty of coal under ground. But is must be remembered that the mines and many other things were taken over by the government of Britain a few years past, and a great Utopia was promised the workers. In the first place, their methods of taking out coal is obsolete. Machinery and the know how of private industry has made the mines of the USA the leaders of the world, while England that used to export coal to many countries is her self, a heavy buyer. In the meantime, the miners have found that they have been whimpwhamed, and therefore discouraged. Many fail to appear for work. In the meantime the US mines have the highest production, the highest wages and more safety devices than any nation. And it is said that our mines can be greatly stepped up in production if need be.

Our leading editorial respecting the illegal liquor traffic this week was written before the terrible tragedy occurred at West Point in this county Monday night, in which the illegal traffic played its part. Slaton Is To Have Frontier Celebration

The Slaton Frontier Day celebration will get under way Saturday morning, June 16th, beginning at 10 a. m., with a giant parade which will be headed by the Reese Air Force Band and followed by several Sheriff's Poses and many floats prepared by civic and service clubs and individual business firms. Among the other attractions of the day will be a band concert by the Reese concert band, the awarding of prizes for the best performing Sheriff's Poses and various other premiums including a shetland pony complete with saddle and all accessories to some child 12 years or younger. Wiley & Gene, the famous radio and television team from Oklahoma City, and the Circle B Bar Ranch boys will entertain during the afternoon. The evening session will be given over to the annual outdoor square dance of the Westerners Square Dance Association. The Cosden Play Boys of Big Spring will furnish the music for the dance and all squares in the South Plains Area are invited to take part in any of all parts of the all day celebration. Canvas such as that used for circus tents weighs three times as much when wet as when dry.

There are a lot of reasons you can expect a new GMC to keep hauling a lot longer than any other truck you can buy. First is the fact of horsepower. Whether it's a gasoline-powered 1/2- to 2-tonner with horsepower unbeaten in its class, or one of the new heavy-duty Diesels—you can't beat a GMC for "go"! But the extra value you find in these great trucks doesn't end at the power plant. There's the smooth GMC Synchro-Mesh Transmission linked to a sharp-shooting drive line, pouring every ounce of power back to the rugged rear axle.

And the solid way horsepower becomes wheel-action—you know there's extra depth of truck performance engineered right down through a GMC's broad-shouldered frame! And standing guard over these long-time trucks are husky brakes with more area than most—the surest, easiest steering ever devised to direct a pay load home—all controlled from a spacious "Six-Footer" Cab that's Weathersealed for a lifetime. GMC's are made in the widest variety of engine-body-chassis combinations to meet any trucking need. And the prices? No better buy anywhere! Come see for yourself.

County HD Council Meets Saturday

Mrs. J. A. Bench, member of the Johnson Home Demonstration Club was elected last Saturday afternoon, at the meeting of the county home demonstration council, to represent Terry county in the Texas Workshop July 9 to 13. This will include the creating of designs for textiles, leather and plastics, as well as completing the work of these designs on the various materials. Three alternates were also elected. They were: Mrs. Thurman Salsbury, Pool; Mrs. A. J. Bell, Harmony; and Mrs. D. C. Flowers, Needmore. Miss Marty Poindexter, head of the Applied Arts Department of Texas Technological College will teach this course.

Since Saturday is a busy time on the farm for the home maker, the members of the county home demonstration council voted to change the meeting day from Saturday afternoon to the second Tuesday afternoon.

The women discussed holding a district camp, similar to that of the 4-H girls. This was at the request of women from another county. They decided to talk it over with their members to see if it might be possible to hold one for another year.

Reports of the district meeting held at Tulla were given by Mrs. Ralph Murry, Harmony, and Mrs. L. V. Alexander, Johnson.

MISS AMERICA, A ROYAL GOWN GAL—Wearing a crown of delicate gold wire and jewels and a dress by designer Pierre Balmain, shown in his Paris salon, 21-year-old Yolande Betbeze, Miss America of 1951, looked every inch a beauty queen as she previewed her official pageant gown. Made of ever-glaze cotton satin flown to Paris from the U. S., the dress will next be worn when Yolande surrenders her title at the September coronation ceremonies in Atlantic City, N. J. Its handstencilled gold design outlined in gold embroidery should draw plenty of "ohs" and "ahs."

Graham-Fox Ceremony Held In Presbyterian Church Thursday

A single ring ceremony uniting in marriage Miss Margie Jeannene Graham and James Elwood Fox was read Thursday evening at 8 o'clock at the First Presbyterian Church with Rev. Tom Keenan officiating. He was assisted by Rev. Lynward Harrison, pastor of the First Methodist Church at Tye, Texas.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Blue Graham of Wellman. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Fox of Wellman.

The ceremony was performed before a background of woodwardia and baskets of white gladiolus flanked by white candles in seven branch candelabra.

Traditional wedding music was played by Mrs. Pat Ramseur who also accompanied Miss Kay Szydoski who sang "Always" and "Because." Mrs. Ramseur played "Indian Love Call" during the ceremony.

Miss Graham was given in marriage by her grandfather, A. W. Enderse of Ft. Worth. She wore an off white two piece suit of gaberdine with a cocoa brown blouse of nylon, brown and white linen shoes and her hat was of white trimmed in brown net and small white leaves. Something blue was a garter, something borrowed was a necklace belonging to her mother, something new was her bridal ensemble. For something old and for good luck, she wore a penny in her shoe given to her by her grandfather. She carried a brown orchid atop a white Bible.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was her sister, Miss Barbara Diana Graham of Wellman, who wore a maize colored dress with a lace bodice. Her accessories were of white, and she carried a white lace fan with blue flowers.

Sonny Rogers of Foster served as best man. Ronnie Graham, brother of the bride, and Mumford Austin Graham of Glendale, Arizona, cousin of the bride, were ushers.

Wedding guests were present from Ft. Worth, Hobbs, Wellman, Seagraves and Lubbock.

Mr. and Mrs. Fox are both graduates of Wellman High School, and he is employed by the Gulf Research and Development Company.

After a short wedding trip, the couple will be at home at 806 A Twitchell Avenue, Littlefield.

A reception honoring the couple was held following the ceremony in the Clarence Lewis home on the Seagraves Road. The couple was assisted in receiving by Mrs. Graham, mother of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Fox, parents of the groom, and Mrs. Lewis.

Mrs. Lee Fulton presided at the register. Near the bride's book was a white net fan decorated with blue and white flowers. The bride's table was laid with a white satin cloth with an over cloth of net trimmed with pink rosebuds and blue ribbon, and centered with a white fan shaped wedding cake and a memory candle encircled with blue and white flowers. Mrs. E. A. Graham, grandmother of the bride, was assisted in the serving by Mrs. Mary Quinn of Hobbs, New Mexico.

Others helping in the hospitalities were Misses Robbie Currie, Betty Briscoe, and Diana Graham, all of Wellman.

Miss Billie Lou Burson of Marfa, Texas is visiting in the home of her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Money Price.

Legislature Adjourns After Tough Session

AUSTIN.—(AP)—A work-wearied 52nd legislature today trudged triumphantly to the end of its fighting, taxing, reforming session.

Final adjournment was set for high noon, June 8th.

Some of the state's toughest problems of recent years were apparently solved. Only a few more were left dangling.

Chief among the solutions were a mammoth $151,000,000 appropriation bill to keep state business and services running two more years and a budget-balancing $65,000,000 tax bill to keep the state free of debt.

Cutbacks Are New
Some of the session's earliest and most prolonged fights came over efforts to cutback state expenses, axe some services and hold salary lines. In the end, cutbacks were few, no services were axed, many salaries were increased, and the spending line in general was held to that of the past two years.

Biggest guns blazed in the intertwined rural road and tax battle. Tempers of the governor and county judges, senators and representatives, sometimes showed from opposing fortresses. The state ended up with its first tax in history on natural gas being pipelined out of Texas and a threatened rural road program left undamaged.

Dozens of other issues were faced head-on.

Legislative seats were reapportioned—a bitter task lawmakers had dodged for three decades.

Elections Reform Voted

Reform was voted in the state's criticism-battered election laws. It gave the attorney general sweeping powers to investigate election frauds statewide.

Organized crime was dealt knockout blows. Mere possession of slot machines, punch boards and policy games was outlawed.

A House committee began a continuing inquiry into local crime conditions throughout the state. Laws to punish criminals were tightened.

A registration law was slapped on Communists to bring them under state control. Civil defense

TO A TEA?—While her mother and father went through customs in New York City, Iranian-born Stephanie Djassemof, age 7, stood guard over cherished family possessions that included an ordinary tea kettle. The Djassemofs, who fled Russia in 1931, plan to start their new life on a farm near San Francisco.

Laws were enacted to serve the state should war come or other disaster strike.

Truckers and railroads fought bitterly through legislation that finally resulted in on-the-spot unloading for overloaded trucks but increased load limits from 48,000 to 58,420 pounds.

Double Antidote

Though many automobile drivers probably would consider it a bitter pill to swallow, a double antidote was whipped up to combat traffic's death-and-damage rampage. Annual inspection of automobiles was ordered in an effort to get unsafe cars and trucks off the highways. Drivers were forced to show proof of ability to pay, through insurance or otherwise, for personal and property damage.

Teeth were fitted to an already existing law prohibiting the closed shop in Texas. Antitrust fines ranging from $50 to $1,500 were added to force obedience.

Referred to a statewide election for settlement was the highly controversial proposed constitutional amendment to increase the ceiling on the state's welfare program from $35,000,000 to $42,000,000. Voters will get a crack at it at the polls Nov. 13.

The Low Down From Hickory Grove

The subject in which we will pry in today's conference is WELFARE. An editor there in New Sharon, Iowa, he uses a minimum of words to clear up this purposely confused political subject. He says, "They don't put that cheese in the trap just because somebody loves mice." And you know folks, I guess that just about leaves me out on a limb with nothing more to say. I will therefore pass along to other confused and dubious problems, and finish off this epistle with my ideas on business—Big versus Little and vice versa.

I am for Big Business—I delight in seeing some little guy grow big via effort. A gent out on the west coast with just an idea—no big dinero—deducted he might make a go of it if he would get busy and maybe make the country's best boysenberry pie. This gent—fearless of perspiration—now uses at his Berry Farm restaurant all the boysenberries and all the fryer chickens that can be raised for miles and miles around in every direction. He is now Big Business.

Big business has been buffeted around, lately like, and something bad. It is time to calm down—unless you don't like fried chicken and boysenberry pie.

Yours with the low down,
JOE SERRA.

WANT-AD BUILDER—Gordon K. Bush (above), publisher of the Athens (Ohio) Messenger, realized the power of the little want-ad when he built a plant for his newspaper exclusively from want-ad revenue. Bush will tell Texas newspaper publishers how he did it, when he addresses the 72nd Annual Convention of the Texas Press Association in Dallas, June 15-16. His father was publisher of the Athens Messenger, and Bush grew up in the business. Realizing that his newspaper would one day outgrow its housing, revenue from the classified ads was set aside to provide for a new building. In 1925 the new plant was constructed, with that money alone, and is the only newspaper plant in the country so financed.

In the 18th Century the Japanese made kites big enough to carry a man.

TO TOP THE TALLEST—The Empire State Building will finally meet its match when construction bans are lifted. Plans for a building to replace New York City's Hotel Marguery call for the 1580-foot skyscraper sketched above. The 44-story office building's 1000-foot glass enclosed steel tower, topped by a 200-foot television tower, will give it a 100-foot edge over the famed 34th Street silhouette.

Maxey Alleged Carrying Liquor

Charges of transporting whiskey and beer in a dry area were filed in county court here last Friday against Roy Monroe Maxey, 37, of Ropesville.

Maxey is the alleged driver of the Lincoln car, loaded with liquor, which figured in the wreck Monday night of last week at West Point resulting in the death of five people.

Investigation of the case is being continued by local officers.

Maxey is still in a Lubbock hospital, but will recover from injuries sustained in the wreck.

The wreck occurred when the Lincoln car drove onto the highway from a side road in front of the Calvin Edwards car.

Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Edwards and Mrs. Edwards' mother, Mrs. D. T. Rogers, all of Tahoka, and Mr. and Mrs. Samuel E. Riley of Sand, near Lamesa, were killed in the wreck. The two Edwards children, Calva Ann, nearly four and Elva Jo, nearly two, were released from the hospital last week end, and will make their home here with Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Edwards, parents of Calvin.

Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Edwards and Robert Edwards, Calvin's brother, are moving here from Brownfield and Denver City, respectively, to operate the Edwards and Rogers farms. All formerly lived at Three Lakes.

Monday of this week, friends of the families sent eight or nine tractors to the Rogers farm southeast of town to plant crops. About 350 acres of cotton were planted by tractors furnished by Sam Price, W. T. Kidwell, Buel Draper (two), D. R. Adamson, Tommy Lishman, and two or three more, are names of whom The News did not secure.—Lynn County News.

Texas Cracks Down On Gambling

The past week witnessed Texas' biggest crackdown on gambling and organized crime.

The House Crime Investigating Committee held closed hearings which blew the lid off secrets of the Maceo gambling syndicate in Galveston and revealed an annual gross income in excess of $3,000,000 from slot machines, tip books, dice tables, roulette, horse race betting, and related business. A public hearing is tentatively scheduled for June 25.

Attorney General Price Daniel, who helped the committee in its investigation, followed through with a law suit against the 16 Maceo partners, Southwestern Bell Telephone Company and Southwestern Associated Telephone Company, to stop horse race gambling information from being brought into Texas over telephone wires.

District Judge Jack Roberts of Austin granted Daniel's request for a temporary restraining order and set the hearing for a temporary injunction for June 18. By 3 o'clock on the afternoon of filing suit the five elaborate Maceo gambling parlors had closed down because their wire service had been stopped by the court's order.

Daniel's suit was similar to the one he brought in 1946 against Western Union Telegraph Company and the Texas "front" for Continental Press which resulted in the first state-wide injunction in the country against using telegraph wires for transmission of gambling information.

Daniel alleged that the gambling information was being assembled from race tracks throughout the nation by "a so-called news service known as the Continental Press." He said "this organization is substantially influenced and in some places controlled by the Capone Crime Syndicate, which steals or otherwise obtains racing information from most tracks in violation of state laws."

Daniel said his assistants and investigators had been working on the case for months, but that they had withheld action until the House Crime Investigating Committee could complete their preliminary hearings on the Maceo operation. He said the committee hearings had been very helpful in completing certain phases of the case.

The Eakin Home From Mineral Wells

J. E. Eakin dropped in this week to get his paper up to date after spending several weeks in Mineral Wells for treatment of high blood pressure. Mr. Eakin seemed to be greatly improved in health, and his blood pressure was down to normal. But he is directed to rest as much as possible.

Mr. Eakin has been a resident of Terry for the past 27 years, and he has two mighty fine farms. One of them was the Carruth place west of the new cemetery, and cultivated by the late Cam Sears for a number of years. The other place is out in east Terry a few miles north of the Salt Factory.

Before the newspaper press started up to cut our conversation, we got to talking about the nature of the land out in east Terry, which is just as different from the rest of the county as the mountains and foothills of northwest Arkansas is from the delta lands in eastern Arkansas.

We stated that we noted one fellow out in that area had some mighty nice alfalfa on which his dairy cattle and hogs were grazing.

JAYCEE RODEO FEATURES "WILD BILL" ELLIOTT AND TOMMY STEINER STOCK

When "Wild Bill" Elliott and Tommy Steiner open the first performance of the Jaycee Rodeo on June 28, there'll be cowboys flying in every direction from broncs and bulls in the roughest, toughest strings of rodeo stock in the Southwest! The horse shown here is a snaky bareback bronc named "Flat Top," and as usual, he's about to get rid of his rider. "Flat Top" is one of the many top bucking horses in the Elliott-Steiner rough strings, which are already considered the best in the entire Southwest. "Wild Bill" and Tommy spared no expense or time in gathering outlaw horses and bulls for this show; more than $30,000 was spent on Brahma bulls alone. "Flat Top" is a Northern horse that passed through quite a few hands before he was given up as incorrigible and sold to Tommy Steiner as a bucking horse. There are rumors, Tommy tells us, which have no tangible basis of truth, that "Flat Top" killed a rider in Idaho before he was shipped out of that country. At any rate, the big brown horse is a bad actor in the chutes as well as on the way out, and the riders who draw him have to keep their eyes on him every second to avoid being hurt before they're turned out. Be sure to keep your ears open for "Flat Top!" to peal forth from the announcer's stand, and then watch for the thousand and one things that might happen!

SUPER CHICKENS DO DOUBLE TAKE FOR TABLE

Chickens now are eating less—so most Americans can eat more. While the foregoing might seem paradoxical, full proof was offered last week at the University of Arkansas, Fayetteville, Arkansas, where the world series of the poultry industry neared a climax. The goal, according to poultry leaders, is to find still more means of keeping poultry prices low in comparison to rising costs of other food.

Pens of almost 400 meat-type chickens from each of the nation's 40 top breeders, 15,404 chickens in all, at 10 weeks of age produced an average of three pounds of chicken on a little more than half the feed required by poultry flocks as little as three years ago. Competing are breeders from 22 states.

This so-called "World Series" as the National Chicken-of-Tomorrow Finals sponsored by A & P Food Stores and supervised by a committee of poultry leaders from the U. S. Department of Agriculture and all national poultry organizations. The food chain will award $7,000 in cash to the highest-scoring breeders June 15, when the full 12-week growing test is completed.

Actual records at the end of 10 weeks in the national contest revealed that the 15,404 chickens in the contest pens had consumed 123,520 pounds of feed for a feed conversion rate of 2.62 pounds of feed for each pound of chicken. Three years ago the nationally accepted feed ratio was four pounds of feed for each pound of meat.

In 1950 Texas farmers and ranchmen purchased 228,286 tons of superphosphate. It was used primarily under legumes and on pastures.

June Is Dairy Month in Texas

June is "Dairy Month." The observation is nationwide and is sponsored by every segment of the dairy industry.

The idea is to promote the consumption of dairy foods through a broad educational program. The sponsors point out that ice cream, milk, butter and cheese are health musts.

Health authorities recommend a quart of milk every day for a child. And nearly as much is needed by grownups.

Texas dairy producers are taking an active part in the program. Approximately four billion pounds of milk, valued at $200,000,000, was produced in Texas during 1950, according to R. E. Burleson, dairy specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Although Texas ranks low among the states in production per cow, Burleson points out that programs aimed at increasing production are being promoted by county agents, dairy associations, Texas A. & M. College and the farm youth organizations. In 1950 Texas moved from 46th to 45th in pounds of milk produced per cow.

The American Dairy Association is one of the producers' organizations which are participating actively in the Dairy Month program. The ADA, made up of dairy farmers in 40 states representing 90 per cent of the nation's milk supply, was organized to promote consumption of dairy products and good dairy public relations in general.

HOUSE OF THE WEEK

In this space, you'll find "The House of the Week" with full descriptions. This series is made possible by area firms listed here... See them to help you with your Home Furnishing Problems.

LARGER THAN IT LOOKS

Here is a house with good looks and space for a lot of living at the very lowest cost. The rooms are not large, yet they have plenty of usable wall space.

The kitchen is arranged for an abundance of cross ventilation and light. It has a large amount of wall and base cabinets which are within easy reach.

On the screened porch is additional storage space for supplies and clothing. The porch also provides space for any future development of a workroom if it is needed.

The hall eliminates unnecessary travel through other parts of the house. The ideal location of the bathroom makes it needless for anyone coming in from the field to clutter up any rooms in the house before going to the bathroom to clean up.

The plan allows you to have either a separate dining room, or a dining-living room combination—whichever you prefer.

In case three bedrooms are needed, it would be very easy to provide doors between the living and dining rooms and let the dining room serve as a third bed room temporarily.

The fireplace, a Southern tradition, has not been overlooked in this house. It is shown in the plan, however it may be left out without materially affecting the construction or appearance of the house.

The living room, although not large, provides ample living space for the average family, and yet keeps the cost low.

This house is designed for ordinary light frame construction and is so arranged that it will not require any unusual mill work or framing.

The front porch is sufficiently large to provide plenty of space for comfortable summer living.

You can obtain blueprints for this Terry County Herald Farm and Ranch House Plan No. 4805 and a handy list of materials by which you can figure your construction cost accurately. Send $1 to Building Editor, FARM & RANCH, Dept. L-193, Nashville 10, Tenn. Order by number—plan No. 4805. Blueprints are adequate for any farm carpenter or for any farmer handy with tools.

LIVESTOCK SHIPMENTS HIGHER IN APRIL

Shipments of Texas livestock rose 87 per cent from March to April, reaching a level 6 per cent above April, 1950, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research reports.

Cattle shipments increased from 3,669 carloads in March to 7,721 in April. Sheep shipments were up 198 per cent over the same period.

Hog shipments dropped 5 per cent from March to April, but maintained a 15-per-cent margin over April, 1950. Cattle and calf shipments in April were 6 and 17 per cent more, respectively, than in the same period last year, while sheep shipments decreased 6 per cent.

Livestock Fly Control Prevents Big Losses

Flies affecting livestock cause tremendous loss to the farmer each year. Therefore, it is to the livestock man's advantage to provide the best possible control of these pests.

R. O. Dunkle, Young county agricultural agent, reports that many ranchmen in Young county are spraying their herds for hornfly control. Dunkle estimates that if one-half of the cattle in the county were sprayed regularly through the fly season, beef production would be increased over half a million pounds.

Charlie Cave, Kaufman county cattle breeder, said recently that the cattle in his herd, which were sprayed last year, were at least 10 per cent better than unsprayed animals.

Texas Farm Income Higher Than 1950

Texas farm income in the first third of 1951 was 53 per cent higher than the same period last year, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research reports.

Only cotton, cottonseed, wheat, fruit and vegetables showed a downward trend in income.

Total farm cash income, January through April, was estimated at $378,316,000. More than a third of the total came from cattle sales, 63 per cent higher than during the like period in 1950.

Other impressive gains were made by milk and milk products, up 80 per cent, and hogs, up 60 per cent.

Wool and mohair prices have more than doubled since April, 1950. Consequently, in spite of nearly equal marketings, income from those items has risen 71 per cent for mohair and much more than for wool. The 95 per cent decline in income from wheat is reportedly a result of a poor crop and correspondingly-reduced marketings.

Texas farm products prices continued their slow but steady climb in April. The Department of Agriculture mid-April index was up three points, nearly one per cent higher than in March.

U. S. Dept. Agri. Urges Big Sorghum Acreage

Secretary of Agriculture Brannan emphasizes to farmers of the Great Plains the dual opportunity they have of aiding the defense effort by planting grain sorghum, to prevent soil erosion and at the same time aid to the nation's feed grains.

"Every effort should be made to get some kind of protective cover on the abandoned wheat land, which for the second consecutive year affords opportunity of a large sorghum acreage," he said.

"Last year Oklahoma and Texas farmers planted 7 1/2 million acres of sorghum and Sudan and reports show that stubble left at harvest of these crops has proved effective in protecting the land against later season blowing. In some instances sorghums planted as late as July made a feed crop with protective stubble remaining against wind erosion damage."

This year CCC has increased the price support level from 60 to 75 per cent of parity to encourage sorghum production. The secretary said, "It's not a question of what we have to do in regard to planting grain, cotton or other crops, it is also a question of what we have to do in regard to planting grain, cotton or other crops, it is also a question of what we have to do in order to insure production next year and the next of as large amount of these crops as we need and manpower will permit."

FARMERS TAKE TO DIAL PHONES

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—Farmers whose hand-crank telephones have been replaced with modern dial equipment use the new models five times as much as they used the old system, according to reports to the Rural Electrification Administration here.

The first REA-financed telephone system to be put into operation was in Virginia, where some 200 farmers now have new dial phones. Each old phone averaged less than two calls a day; the same people now use the new phones for an average of 10 calls a day, the administration states.

Cashmere scarfs were introduced to Europe at the start of the 16th century.

The sturgeon has become so rare today that it is a novelty in a large part of the world.

THE COW AND COTTON WORK WELL TOGETHER

FEEDS FROM COTTONSEED ARE MAJOR ASSETS FOR DAIRY PRODUCERS

National Dairy Month, celebrated during June, follows soon after National Cotton Week, during May, and the two events suggest the close relationship between cotton and cows in building the agriculture of the Cotton Belt, says A. L. Ward, Dallas, educational director of the National Cottonseed Products Association.

"Dairying and cotton not only go hand-in-hand in a balanced farming program for the South and Southwest," Ward pointed out, "they also are dependent upon each other, as cottonseed meal and hulls are a major source of feed for dairy cattle, which provide a leading market for these products from cotton farms."

proved an economical, efficient roughage to supplement grazing and hays.

"Simple mixtures of cottonseed meal, roughage and supplemental minerals give good results and often are more economical than complex mixtures," he said.

"As the nation pays tribute to its dairy industry during June, dairymen have a direct interest in the efforts that cotton farmers are making to increase production of cotton this year to meet the need for large supplies of feeds, fiber and foods. Increased cotton production will mean much to livestock producers in making available more protein meal and roughage for livestock."

Ward said that for 25 years the cottonseed crushing industry has been working closely with dairy, livestock and educational organizations to encourage a balanced farming and livestock program, built around cotton, other crops and pastures and dairy cattle and other livestock.

The industry, today, is cooperating with federal and state research institutions on processing and feeding research to widen the usefulness of cottonseed meal in livestock and poultry rations, especially in feeding hogs and chickens.

COURTESY FOR OLD-TIMERS

INGLEWOOD, Calif.—(AP)—The social security offices in this city are on the second floor of a downtown building. On the ground floor is a sign that reads: "Are the stairs too hard to climb? Go into the furniture store and call Orchard 1-766." We will come down to see you, Social Security Administration.

George Kretz, manager of the office, says the sign was put up because many of the people of cottonseed meal as a protein concentrate in dairy rations. Cottonseed hulls likewise have been

Vegetable Growers Aid Defense Effort

Texas farm youths were told today they can make a direct contribution to the nation's defense program by taking part in this year's production-marketing contest of the National Vegetable Growers Association.

"Secretary of Agriculture Brannan has called for greatly increased vegetable gardening," said John E. Hutchison, extension horticulturist at Texas A. & M. College, "and I feel this contest, teaching more efficient methods of growing and selling vegetables, will be very helpful in building up adequate reserves of food supplies for emergencies."

In announcing opening of the NJVGA's eleventh annual competition, Hutchison pointed out that it ties in directly with the Department of Agriculture's belief that an expansion of vegetable gardening in all states will contribute material strength to national defense efforts.

"With per capita vegetable consumption now more than 10 per cent above prewar levels, and our population steadily increasing, it is easy to see the value of such a program," he said.

Hutchison, who serves as the association's state adult advisor, said all Texas farm youths from 12 through 21 are eligible to compete in this contest, for which A. & P. Food Stores annually provides $6,000 in cash agricultural scholarships. "Actually," he explained, "besides getting fine training in vegetable growing and selling and an opportunity to win one of more than 200 awards this contest offers, contestants will aid defense efforts in two ways.

"First of all, the crops from the plot each contestant must plant, cultivate, harvest and market in order to compete in this event will add to our supply of healthy, nutritious foods. In addition, adults who learn of the fine results these boys and girls achieve through the use of modern, scientific methods, will be encouraged to adopt similar practices. The result can only be a bigger and better vegetable crops throughout the nation."

Any young gardener may enroll in the NJVGA's production-marketing contest by contacting 4-H Club leaders, county agents, instructors in vocational agriculture or numerous other farm youth leaders who are cooperating with the association in enrolling members. Youths may join also by writing directly to Hutchison at Texas A. & M. College, College Station.

In addition to the production-marketing contest, the 1951 program will include the annual demonstration contest, in which individuals or teams compete in demonstrating new methods of planting, cultivating, marketing or preparing vegetables. Journeys to the annual NJVGA convention for winners of state contests, and cash awards to top performers in the national finals, are offered by the W. Allee Burpee Company for this event.

Texas farm youths won four awards in the 1950 production-marketing contest. They were Max A. Thomason of Jacksonville, and Lawanda Vinson of Tuscola, who captured $100 sectional championships, and Syble J. Wall, Chireno, and Mildred Gregson, Amherst, who won state awards.

HONG KONG.—(AP)—Chinese Communists are making it easier for people to denounce their enemies as "counter-revolutionaries."

Authorities of Chungshan Province, just north of Macao, have ordered all villages to construct "accusation platforms," an independent newspaper reported here.

Each platform is to be constantly attended by one Communist soldier and one junior Red official who acts as a judge.

People can drag "counter-revolutionaries" to the platform at any time and hurl charges against them. Then it's up to the accused to prove his innocence.

WASHINGTON, June 15.—(AP)—Schemes to tax only the rich and reduce prices may sound wonderful, says Rep. W. R. (Bob) Poage of Waco, but they just don't hold water.

The congressman gave his views in answering some 50 constituents who sent him a petition protesting soaring living costs and asking "that prices be rolled back to pre-Korea levels."

The petition, one of many said to be in circulation throughout Texas for submission to congressmen, says:

"We also urge that new taxes not be placed on low income families, and suggest that needed revenue be secured from corporations with their record profits and from high income families who are not carrying their share."

Poage replied that "the tendency of the hour is to feel that we can cure any problem by passing a law." In his opinion, he added, the time has come to get at the fundamental cause of inflation—lots of money in circulation and not enough things to

They Paid The New Price, But No Tips

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex., June 15.—(AP)—Frank Tibert, shoe shine concessionaire in the court house here, boosted prices to meet the cost of living and fight away the change started costing him money.

Here's how it happened. Tibert, whose long fingers and rhythmic motions "brown" and black a lot of shoes every day, jumped prices from 15 to 20 cents. A customer normally tipping 10 cents on every 15-cent shoe shine, took his five cents change and left the shine-boy just that much short.

Cost of living, or no cost of living, this was an economic awakening to Tibert.

Shoe-shiners today in the Nueces county court house are back to normal—15-cents.

United States Has No Behind The Scenes Medical Emergency

Dr. John W. Cline, President American Medical Association

Declaring that "no health crisis or medical emergency exists in this country," Dr. John W. Cline of San Francisco, past president of the American Medical Association, warned here tonight that the real danger lies in the double threat of war abroad and loss of freedom at home.

In his inaugural address, broadcast nationwide during ceremonies at the 100th annual session of the AMA, Dr. Cline expressed "deep and abiding faith in the intelligence and integrity of the American people," adding that "they will respond as they did when their medical welfare and their medical freedom were threatened."

Along the same line, Dave Beck of Seattle, executive vice-president of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters (AFL), and one of the outstanding leaders of organized labor, came out flatly against "socialized medicine here tonight and said that the answer to the nation's medical care problems lies in the continued expansion and improvement of voluntary health insurance plans.

AMERICAN FACTORY TO BE BUILT IN SCOTLAND
 GLASGOW. — (AP) — A new American factory employing over 1,400 persons is to be built at Glasgow's new "overflow" town of East Kilbride, Lord Bilsland, a director of the Dollar Export Board, said here.
 The factory will be used by the John Deere Co., of Illinois, to make agricultural machinery.
 Have news? Call the Herald!

Stricklin Speaking
 By Old He
 To our way of thinking, there is already two strikes and four balls against any so-called American who refuses to take the oath of allegiance, when drawing his pay from the national, state, county or municipal government. We believe that anyone not a Red or Parlor Pink, would have no hesitancy in signing any document so declaring.
 In fact the most people that we hear about, and this includes many school teachers, and they especially the professors and movie folks, are the ones that usually raised the biggest howl about signing a profession of loyalty. They are all great believers in "academic freedom" to hear them tell it. That means freedom to turn up their noses at our way of life, and koto to Red Russian doctrine.
 Heavenly Houston seems to want to hog matters. They already have one congressman and want that extra one that Texas is entitled to, making two. Houston is a large and growing place, but other sections of the state are entitled to a share in the new congressman, particularly, the Corpus Christi, Valley area and this section of west Texas. May have to cut Houston down to size. This has happened more than once.
 But the legislature played politics with this matter, and so there will have to be a Congressman-at-Large from Texas. However there is a bill pending in congress that would eliminate all congressmen-at-large, and states that refused to redistrict, will just have to do without the extra representation, if the bill passes.
 We like to read the "Readers Department," particularly in the Dallas News. While some are extreme radical, another perhaps will be just about that much too far on the conservative side. Occasionally though, one will get a refreshing thought from some of these just plain folks writers. One such stood out last week.
 The writer suggested that one way to make the too little too late pension funds for oldsters go as far as possible, was to put some of the pensioners, who are ca-able, in charge of affairs, instead of youngsters, who perhaps could get a job somewhere else.

 If the pensioner can fill the bill, he is automatically taken off pension rolls, and his portion goes to others, as he or she will draw a salary. Of course this step will not suit those dispensing pensions, as they are very proud of their jobs, but it would suit the pensioners and the taxpayers, perhaps.
 The Herald received a very complimentary letter last week from President R. B. Anderson of the Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association, of Dallas. It concerned an editorial written by the editor recently in which we gave some praise to the oil and gas people in their endeavor to meet their responsibilities in this national crisis.
 Mr. Anderson paid us a compliment for our part in trying to educate the public with information about the oil and gas industry. We wondered where this company had seen such an article, but remembered that such an editorial was copied in Southern Weekly a few weeks ago.
 Old Gee Gee sends this one in from a Louisville paper perhaps on what it takes to constitute an optimist: "A man 70 who gets married to a woman of 20, and starts looking for a house near a school."
 And up at Perryton, the local editor gives this one on the definition of a taxpayer: "He is a government worker with no sick leave, no holidays and no vacations."
 Out at Los Alamos, N. M., the place where one of the big government atomic experimental grounds is located, the Atomic Energy Commission hit upon an idea to get rid of some of the billions allotted to them.
 So they used part of the funds to build an $85,000 cat and dog hospital on the grounds. As chastisement, Congress cut the appropriation to the AEC just that much this coming year.
 Following close on the heels of this, came the information that a bunch of high powered government scientists had spent a whole lot of time and lots of dollars to study the effects of red bug or chigger bite on the human.

 They finally came up with an extensive pamphlet, announcing that the chigger bite would itch like heck, and the more you scratched it the worse it itched. Any farmer in central or east Texas could have told the public that much free of charge.
 Yep, Mom had a letter from Jr. over in Korea, stating that "he had been wounded but was able to get about some with a Jeep, whatever that is," she confided to a neighbor woman.
 "Why that's just a small car," the neighbor informed her. "Oh, thought it was one of those female Japs," Mom replied.
 Only two more weeks and the big day of days with a big majority of our folks will put on all the western airs possible, and what with a lot of surplus whiskeys, you'll think there is not a barber in 500 miles.
 Then too, we'll drag all the loud looking clothes out of mothballs, don our boots and ten gallon hats and learn all over how to yell like a cowboy and sing bedtime, sleep hastening songs to the little doggies. But sometimes we moderns far fetch what actually took place in the life of the average cowboy.
 We can remember back 40 years ago, when most of this country was in ranches that the old cowpokes would sometimes get a rather rank growth of beard on his face, but that was usually at roundup and branding time, or when he had been on the trail. At that time most cattle were trail driven to Bovina or Friona to load on the Santa Fe for shipment to Kansas City.
 It was closer to Plainview, southern terminal of the Santa Fe, but land around that town had been settled by farmers. No place to hold the herd at night. On the other hand, at that time, Hockley, Cochran, Bailey and Lamb were unorganized, and most of the trail route was ranches. So, all the cattle from Terry, Gaines and Yoakum were driven to the little Deaf Smith county towns. Dawson county drove to Big Spring or Stanton, on the Tee & Pee.
 So, when branding was over, or the pokes were back from Bovina, they would hit the little old burg, hitch at racks on the west side of the square and lie out for a barber shop. Barber shops served baths as well as shaves and hair cuts in those good old days.

 After cleaning up, they wanted a good family meal at the Hill Hotel (no cafes here in those days). They were thoroughly fed up on chuck wagon fare.
 Anyway, our old red shirt and bandana is still hanging in the closet, and we aim to show 'em how to shine, come the 28-29-30. Whoopee!
 P. S. Don't any of you monkeys come down here thinking you're going to dunk us in a water tank. We have an official permit to shave, thank you.

YANKS GO UNDER ON THEIR WAY OVER—Almost every major New York review passes under the famous Washington Arch, and the parade of these Yanks on their way to Europe was no exception. The 5000 members of the 4th Division's 8th Infantry Regimental Combat team are a part of the United States' contribution to the Atlantic Pact Army commanded by Gen. Ike Eisenhower.

THESE folks are enjoying something that's being pioneered by Buick. It's freedom from the blinding glare of bright summer sunlight. It's freedom from hot laps—caused by the sun's rays beating down through the broad expanse of windshield. These freedoms trace to a new feature you may have noticed in '51 Buicks—a new kind of glass† with a cool, soft, blue-green tint, in every glass area of the car, front, side and back. Buick engineers tell us that this "Buick first" reduces glare 18% over conventional glass—cuts sun heat as much as 45%—and Buick engineers are very conservative fellows.

This glare-and-heat-reducing Easy-eye glass is factory-installed at moderate extra charge. It gives you a built-in transparent "sun visor" right in the windshield—and it also dulls the dazzle of oncoming headlights at night. As we've said, this is something Buick owners were the first to enjoy. It takes its place with such exclusives as the valve-in-head Fireball Engine—coil springs on all four wheels—the firm power linkage of torque-tube drive—and the magic of Dynaflo.* As we've also said—rather modestly—"Smart buy's Buick."

Come in soon and find out what an understatement that really is.

Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice. *Standard on ROADMASTER, optional at extra cost on other Series.

NO OTHER CAR PROVIDES ALL THIS:

- DYNAFLOW DRIVE* • FIREBALL ENGINE
- PUSH-BAR FOREFRONT • WHITE-GLOW INSTRUMENTS • 4-WHEEL COIL SPRINGING
- TORQUE-TUBE DRIVE • DUAL VENTILATION
