There seems to be not a little bit of speculation among the press, especially the weekly paper, as to whether or not Senator Tom Connally would be able next year to make it under the wires ahead of a good strong opponent. In politics, a year is a long time off, and any number of things can come up in the meantime to help elect or defeat a candidate in and out of office. But let us remember that the best of them can be defeated. Coke Stevenson, too, had never been defeated until two years ago. Of course he was not defeated by a straight, honest vote, but by the help of boss ridden Jim Wells and Duval counties, where one of two men tell 'em how to vote, and they vote that way. Thus, these two counties can upset a state lead that is close, as they all vote like the Pharis tell them to vote. Of late, however, we have noted that perhaps a little bird has put something in the ear from the Senator from down on the Brazos. Up to recently, he played the yes man to Mr. Truman to a fare you well. He was noticeably silent on the tidelands issue. Evidently the man with the long hair has been hearing something from the "Peepul" via the grapevine, for all at once, he has been flooding the papers with stalwart speeches on the Senate floor as well as before committees that is for the betterment of Texas people, and against some of the things like oil land steals that his boss has been advocating. Instead of drifting along with the tide, all at once the Sr. Senator seems to have come to the conclusion that his posse live in Texas, and not in the White House. Perhaps the close friends of the Senator has whispered that a lot of people in Texas are sick and tired of the way things have been going on at Washington for the past several years, and that many Texas people are ready to change horses, in mid-stream or on the banks. And that many of them are right now in favor of younger and more supple physiques, as well as minds in the halls of congress; minds that will do the will of the people and not those in power in Washington, who call them into the private sanctuaries or, occasion to tell them just what is expected of them, irregardless of whether or not it is to the best interest of the folks back home. Yeah, even an old steer can come to realize that there is a fearful jerk at the end of a lariat. That the servant of the people must be their servant and not the footman of some Caliph in the White House.

In a speech recently on the floor of the US Senate, the Senior Senator from Texas, the Hon. Tom Connally called the hands of some of those who have been putting it out that the "oil barons" were the ones that did not want the Texas Tidelands to be transferred to the Interior Department. Much has been said of late about the people of Texas wanting their rights. Many of the northern Democrats (?) in particular, have come to the socialists-communists idea that the states, nor the people have any rights. After a masterful plea recently in an address, by our Attorney General, the Hon. Price Daniel, with every show of fight and not cry, old Drew Pierson called him "a cry baby" in his dirty column, so we hear. We long ago quit reading Pierson's tripe, as his only purpose in life seems to be the assassination of character of some of our best men. Pierson is mostly with the socialistic ideas now advocated by the administration in power, although they designated him a SOB. But Senator Tom Connally really gave the Senate the low down on the whole move. That for 100 years when there were no known oil under Texas tidelands, the federal government made no move whatever to claim them. But as soon as oil was discovered, Truman and his crowd spearheaded by the Supreme Court, with a 4 to 3 majority, moved in. The amusing part of it was that one of the land grabbing "Queer-Dealers from either Wyoming or Montana, is the administration's leading exponent of the land grab in Texas, Louisiana and California. This hair brained senator had forgotten, and hoped other had, that the government was trying to grab some mineral lands in his state a few years ago, and the congress had helped them quit claim the land by the state. This old bird was quite embarrassed when reminded of this incident. Then there was the old Senator from Alabama, Lister Hill, who wants the rich oil lands in Texas and other states to educate the children of his and other states, land that has undisputedly belonged to Texas for more than 100 years. But, according to Senator Connally, and he says the testimony is of record in Washington, the so-called oil lobby is NOT working to have the land quit-claimed to Texas and other states. On the other hand, they are trying to get an interim agreement that will put the leasing of these lands in the hands of the Interior Department at Washington. The oil companies will make more money if the lands are in the hands of the federal government. The only hope we see of Texas and the other states recovering their land from a covetous government is to elect a new administration and a congress that believes in a republic form of government, and have the new congress to pass a law returning these lands to the states, and a new president that will not veto the bill.

World Report and United States News came out in an article recently that most of us can take without the proverbial grain of salt. It tells us that "Stalin does not want war—nor does he want peace." Stalin wants to keep Russia strong; let others fight on the fringes; use Communist parties to soften Non-Communist countries. Keep all the so-called democratic countries shaky between war and peace. Try to conquer the world without firing a Russian shot. A person does not have to be very old to understand the fact that some ten years ago, the Soviet Union started out with some 193 million people in their orbit, but at the present time they have some 800 million people looking to Moscow as their Mecca. At the beginning of that ten years, and up to 1945, some 400 million of those folks (Chinese) were our own allies. But through blundering of our State Department, they have changed over to Russia. And, if you ask us, India with her hordes of population is right now on the fence. They fear the Chinese and Russian Reds. While the hand at Moscow has been guiding the Red part in this war, they have not themselves fired a nofficial shot, nor have they been to any expense. Yet the Commies are part of the United Nations. They sit in council, and supposedly have signed the pact against aggression anywhere. For our part, we believe the Reds from all countries should be summarily kicked out of the UN. They not only are not in favor of keeping down commie aggression anywhere in the world, but are secretly fomenting it. After seeing that the Korean aggression was not doing so hot, the Rusko's decided to send out peace feelers, and propagandize themselves as "peace loving people," and at the same time deliver a great tirade against the United States in particular as a war monger. Where will they hit next? is now being asked. And they will hit, most writers think, in Yugoslavia, or perhaps in the middle east or both. In the meantime, what is our counterplan? To be perfectly plain, we have none. It seems that it is hard for this country and its allies to agree on any course of action. True, we are re-arming, but there is no doubt that some of our allies have had a part in keeping the hide-and-go-seek war that has been carried on in Korea for the past 14 months don't seem to want victory. Such countries as England, France and Belgium must forget about empire. That idea is over in this modern world. Most of the present day world wants to be free in its own way, and not a part of some small empire thousands of miles away. And while the other nations haggle, Stalin is developing his master plan for all it is worth in Russia and its satellites.

Did you ever hear of petrochemistry? Neither did we until a very recent day. In fact, it may not even be in your dictionary. But so many different chemicals are now being produced from petroleum, that the name was devised. In fact, we know that the English speak of gasoline as petrol, and of course most of us know what chemistry means. While little has been said about the matter, more than 500,000 different compounds are made from petroleum oil, among them some of the highly synthesized stuff, like rubber for instance. During the last war, for instance, the oil industry started from scratch, and produced a billion dollar synthetic rubber industry within two years. Since the recent "police action" started in Korea, and our stock pile of tree rubber began to get low, our plants, which thank the Lord, were not one of the things the government junked, as they belonged to private industry, have so increased the output, that the spare tires on new cars have recently been re-stored. and they tell us that the synthetic rubber has been so improved by experiments and know-how that it is equal if not superior to tree rubber. Let's see just how our nation's petrochemistry has progressed in the past two years. It supplied about 40 percent of the chemicals in 1940, 50 percent by 1950, or more than 14 billion pounds. Yet only 0.5 percent of petroleum was used in this huge production. Most of the big companies are now engaged in the precessin of various and sundry chemicals, and to say the least, the results are staggering to the imagination of the average person.

Just as has been expected, the American Communists have trained their guns on the Federal Bureau of Investigation. That organization has been making it real hot for the Commies, and they are aware that the FBI knows too much about them and their organizations, locations, etc., to be healthy for them. They also know that "way back in 1941, when the Germans and Japs declared war, that all subversive elements of these two nations were rounded up and in prison camps within 24 hours. Recent arrests on both coasts have the Commies shaking in their boots, and they know that despite the sneering of His Majesty, HST, about the red herring of a couple of years ago, that the FBI rounded up and convicted many such notorious characters as Hiss, Edith Coplan, etc. Of course the Stalinite plea is that they are "not given their constitutional rights," as if these birds really cared a whoop in hades about the US or any State Constitution. Truth of the matter is, the FBI wouldn't give a thin dime about what a person thinks, so long as such thoughts are not translated to open activities against the USA.

What two modern yet now very common things in our lives have done to advance the farm operations of America have been little short of miraculous. These are gasoline and electricity. Of course the petroleum products part of farm operations are now so well known and essential, that we seldom consider them. But, on the other hand, the second phase of electrification of the American farm is just getting under way. Up until a few years ago, the average farmer carried all his feed to town to have it ground, but in the next few years, feed mills will be very common on the farm, together with milking machines, and other appliances around the barns, as well as in the kitchens of the farm wives. It was rather cold nights back in Tennessee last April when we were there, and we noted that at bedtime, as well as early morning, our nephew's wife would go out to the brooder house, and see if the lights were going so her baby chicks would be comfortable. This idea has also been extended to the baby pigs that come on in cold weather.

With such things as these, the average farm will soon be using far more kilowatts than the average city home. Another step to bring the farm home up to and equal the city home, is the rural telephone. A farm home of the future should not be an isolated affair that does not know what is happening on the farm of neighbor Brown a mile down the road.

A western Senator has made it quite clear that deficit spending cannot be contemplated even for the current defense program, unless we are willing to invite a crack-up in the American system. And a crack-up is just what Stalin wants to happen to the USA. What the Senator meant was that defense spending must also be put on a pay-as-you-go basis. One of the cries we hear almost daily from the administration spokesmen, is to jack up the taxes higher and higher. But this Senator as well as many other real level headed men tell us that it would be one of the surest ways to the world to invite a crack-up. Most of us that belong to the common herd already know that the high point of tax endurance has just about been reached. And any reasonable person must realize that the corporation taxes have been boosted to the point where they will be unable to make replacements of new material and machinery. The only answer is that the sharpest cuts must come from government spending, and that is just what the government does not want. They have been using a lot of unnecessary spending in the past few years to buy votes. This was accomplished by buying up surplus potatoes, butter and eggs to rot and spoil.

OVER-TAXATION MAY LEAD TO COMMUNISM

"Karl Marx, the fellow who wrote the creed of communism, had something to say about taxation. He said that capitalism, which means our system of free initiative, enterprise and progress, will eventually be destroyed by 'taxes, taxes and still more taxes.' He even predicted that democratic, capitalist countries would, if left to their own devices, finally tax their economic system to death and thus bring in communism. Well, taxation can do just that, if carried too far. The people who are continually fighting for more tax money to spend, even though their proposals may be excellent and even though some of the additional tax money might be used to benefit the people generally should take the Marxian precept to heart. Taxes can kill our economy."

"There seems to be some in Washington that are afraid the MacArthur-Truman-Acheson controversy will reveal our plans to the Russians. The thing that we think they are most worried about is that the people are about to find out how near Communistic our government has become."—Exchange.

5 Negroes Admitted To Wayland

By Laura Brooks
Mrs. Ione Walton Greer, resident of Odessa and a public school teacher in Slaton, is the fifth Negro to enroll in Wayland College, Dean H. Prestor James announced here today.

The Dean further stated that since a Negro has yet applied for or received a permit to enter Wayland this fall, there will probably not be any enrolled for the regular academic year.

Four of the five students who have attended Wayland this summer have been enrolled in education courses. Two of them completed their studies here at the end of the first term of summer school. The other two, along with Mrs. Greer, have re-enrolled for the second term.

When asked what they thought of Wayland, the four students stated that the atmosphere at Wayland was friendly and Christian, that they gained much from their courses and that they appreciated Wayland's efforts to serve the neglected educational needs of their people.

The staff and students at Wayland testify that the four have been very courteous, well-behaved, studious and considerate of everybody.

The registrar's office, in giving a summary of the grades made in the eight courses taken by the four students, stated that they earned four grades of C (average), three grades of D (below average but passing), one F (failing).

Dr. James said, "While these grades are not in the top bracket, it is recognized that these students have been away from study for some time, that summer courses are very intensive, and that they are adapting to a new situation."

The Low Down From Hickory Grove

Well folks, friends, and countrymen, here I am crossing the bridge into Hickorytown to spread the bad news into every city, wayside village and farm. Look out, I say. For what, chimes in Henry. For the closing days of Congress, I says. During the last few days of Congress, that is when the dirty work is done—that is when, during the confusion and dust stirred up by getting ready to go home, and quick, a congressman votes "Yes sir" on anything proposed, if it means he can head for home a day sooner.

All the unneeded things, which Mr. Congressman aided in staving off earlier in the session are dusted off by the Big Govt. boys and tacked on—in fine print—to the motion to adjourn. And out the window goes any aid to the heavy laden taxpayer. I am talking turkey to you folks who figure you have a pretty fair congressman down there on the riley

GMC To Mass Produce Trucks For Army

The GMC Truck and Coach Division will produce an entirely new military 6 x 6 truck equipped with the famed Hydra-Matic drive, it was announced today by Roger M. Kyes, vice-president of General Motors and general manager of the division.

Largest manufacturer of military trucks for the armed services during World War II, GMC Truck now is tooling up to mass-produce the new M-135 tactical vehicle.

The new model, is bigger, faster, lower, easier to drive, easier to maintain and able to carry heavier loads than its historic predecessor of the last war, popularly known as the "Army Work-horse," of which more than one-half million rolled from the GMC Truck factory.

Powered by a new GMC 6-cylinder (302 cu. in.) engine, developing 145 horsepower, the 6 x 6 (meaning six wheels, all six power-driven) hits a maximum speed of 88 miles per hour carrying a 10,000-pound load. It also is equipped with "snorkel" devices for traveling submerged in water on deep-fording operations. While GMC's World War II 6 x 6's could be adapted to operate submerged, the new model has such sealing features built in.

Most radical development that GMC engineers have built into the new super-truck, however, is the Hydra-Matic transmission with eight speeds forward and two in reverse.

The Hydra-Matic operates thru two gear ranges—a high and low—providing a combination that relieves the driver of all disconnection in connection with gear selection except for shifting between the high and low ranges. The entire transmission control and the selection for automatic front-wheel drive engagement is accomplished by one lever on a knee high tower in the driver's compartment.

What Truman Is Asking For

(From Truman's Speech)
The President asks for authority: (1) To condemn and take property by condemnation, without notice to the owner. (2) He asks for power to purchase and import foreign agricultural products, and sell them at a loss. (3) He wants authority to pay subsidies on domestically-produced materials and agricultural products. (4) He asks power to create new government corporations, without sanction of Congress. (5) He asks authority to acquire privately-owned plants "by condemnation, where deemed necessary to national defense." And these are only samples of the arbitrary and wholly unwarranted demands made—and he wants this authority for two years.

To grant these powers would end our free-enterprise system; for, once having obtained them, the President in two years could become the absolute master of the nation. It would then be too late.

The Defense Production Act should be allowed to die when it expires at the end of June.

If, for political reasons, this is not feasible, the present law should be severely pruned. No additional powers or controls should be added.

If you agree, write your members of Congress. The situation is extremely dangerous!—Pentengill.

OLD COUNTRY WAS BETTER

DARWIN. — (AP) — Australian aborigines declare emphatically they don't want the country back in its present state.

They were commenting on a statement by Melbourne's Lord Mayor, Sir James Disney, that Australia be given back to the aborigines if the city were not selected as a site for the 1956 Olympic games. Tribesman of the Northern Territory said "No good! Might be if that boss make Australia like she was first time before, might be then we take him back."

We, the undersigned, believe in the efficacy of advertising. Therefore, being greatly in need of a rain, we are running this space in the Terry County Herald, directed to the Weatherman of this section, to send us a real old fashioned soil soaking rain. We want at least a two inch rain to fall over a period of several hours.

The publishers of this paper also believe in the pulling power of ads inserted in the Herald. And being a bit of Sports themselves, they make the following proposition:

AGREEMENT

IF THERE IS AS MUCH AS AN INCH OF RAIN IN THE CITY OF BROWNFIELD AND VICINITY BY SUNDAY, 9 P. M., ACCORDING TO THE OFFICIAL U. S. W. B. GAUGE, THESE SIGNATURES ARE TO COST THE SIGNEES THE FULL PRICE AGREED. IF ON THE OTHER HAND, THERE IS NOT THAT MUCH RAIN, THE HERALD HEREBY AGREES TO ACCEPT HALF THE AGREED PRICE FOR THE AD SIGNATURES.

Stricklinly Speaking

By Old He
As we understand it, up at Denver, Colorado, they hit upon the idea of using a new fangled vacuum cleaner to keep the swimming pools clean. Only hitch was the cost—1000 bucks. All of which sorter reminds us of an incident in our young (70 year) life, that came up recently. In conversation with a gas man, and we don't mean it like you think. He sells natural gas. Any-way the G man and the Old He got to talking about these new dodads that heat your house in winter and cool it in summer, Our fever had reached 106 and was still climbing when we asked the price. "Oh, I think they range from $1000 to $5000," he stated. We changed the subject to the hot, dry weather. Then there was the story of the Arkansas centenarian. A reporter had asked the aged one what condition, he thought, contributed to his longevity. The oldest took a few more leisurely puffs from his aromatic pipe, and stated, "Ain't decided yet. But am dickering with several breakfast food companies." And that reminds us of the celebrity who offered to endorse a certain brand of cigarettes for 50 grand. The advertising agent came back with: "I'll see you in-hale first." A "behind the curtain paper" over in Hungary, came out strong in an editorial against some workers "for lack of discipline." Yep, it stated that some workers just put in about 30 hours a week instead of 48, if they really were patriotic. Then the paper added: "Toleration of want of discipline, is the sole interest of the enemy," whoever the enemy is. Pity we can't send a long list of our own pinks and reds over there to learn discipline the hard way. But "good old Joe," and his stooges don't want 'em. They prefer our reddish pinks stay over here and bother real free people.

Therefore less drinking, was found to be the results of checking. Also, much less dope was being smuggled in and used than formerly. Had a communication from Rev. Emmett L. Whitaker 'tother day. Emmett, a former employee of the Herald, 'way back before World War II, is now floor foreman of the Missouri Baptist Press at Jefferson City. He also enclosed a page from a Jefferson City daily with a large 3-column picture of Emmett, and a short biography thereunder. As a boy he learned the printer's trade on the Roscoe Times. Later the family moved out to Seminole, and perhaps still live there, or some of them. Another of the Whitaker boys, Lewis, worked for the Herald a year or two. While in this section, and located at Lamesa, Emmett served a term as a member of the Texas Legislature. But before that time, he became a minister of the Baptist church. He was a graduate of Hardin-Simmons U. at Abilene, and held degrees from other universities. So, you see, Emmett has several irons in the fire; a minister, a printer-publisher and an ex-politician.

A nationally known educator, Dr. Harmon, of Austin, recently addressed a gathering of educators out a Palo Alto, California. His address was one of the most logical we have read lately, or at least that portion submitted to the press. He warned that all frills and fancies should be cut from school buildings, and only the comfort and convenience of the student be considered. Improved architecture, he stated, was OK, but all the non-essentials should be eliminated, as they cost money that could be used for more room for pupils. He stated: "We are not engaged in building monuments, but class rooms. Money put into artificial chimneys, balconies and towers could be better spent in model class rooms with efficient heating and lighting for the comfort of the student." Our own trustees and planners seem to have avoided some of the non-essentials mentioned by Dr. Harmon. While our school buildings are pretty and imposing, they got to no extremes in Greek, Roman or any other brand of architecture. Thus, they avoid the waste on things not needed, and at the same time made the taxpayers' money go as far as possible.

more than $500 worth of whiskey and beer, consigned to a country club at Lubbock by an Amarillo dealer, was stopped short just north of Plainview. As we understand it, the refreshments were intended for an "invitation golf tournament," and was held up by Hale county Sheriff's department, highway patrolmen and a Liquor Control Board member. "How dry I yam."
We had thought that the idea of clubs, either sport of patriotic, serving in dry territory, was out from a test some two years ago at Abilene. Personally, we believe if we were a member of a club in dry territory, we would vote wet, and if defeated, obey the law or move to a wet county.
We have a very recent example in Galveston, city and county, overruling the laws of the State of Texas. The powers that be down there, headed by the Mayor, want to sell liquor over bars by the drink, have open gambling, and "legalized" prostitution.
In fact, Galveston is always waiting for the sucker to come along and leave his wad. We don't believe a county, city or club has any more right to disregard the law than any private individual. There is always the old saying, "there ought to be a law." We don't often say this, but we believe the next legislature should empower the governor and attorney general to move in with rangers, if necessary, oust the local officials, and even declare martial law, when local officials refuse to enforce a state law.

HOUSE OF THE WEEK

In this space, you'll find "The House of the Week" with full descriptions. This series is made possible by area firms listed here... See them to help you with your Home Furnishing Problems.

EVERY ROOM IS A CORNER ROOM

Here is a low-cost house of simple construction designed for comfortable living. It is an attractive house, compactly arranged, with pleasing horizontal lines. A large amount of usable wall space in the bedrooms permit desirable furniture arrangement. The two large closets in each bedroom provide storage for clothes, blankets, etc. A linen closet is in the hall, the lower section of which can be used as a dirty clothes hamper.

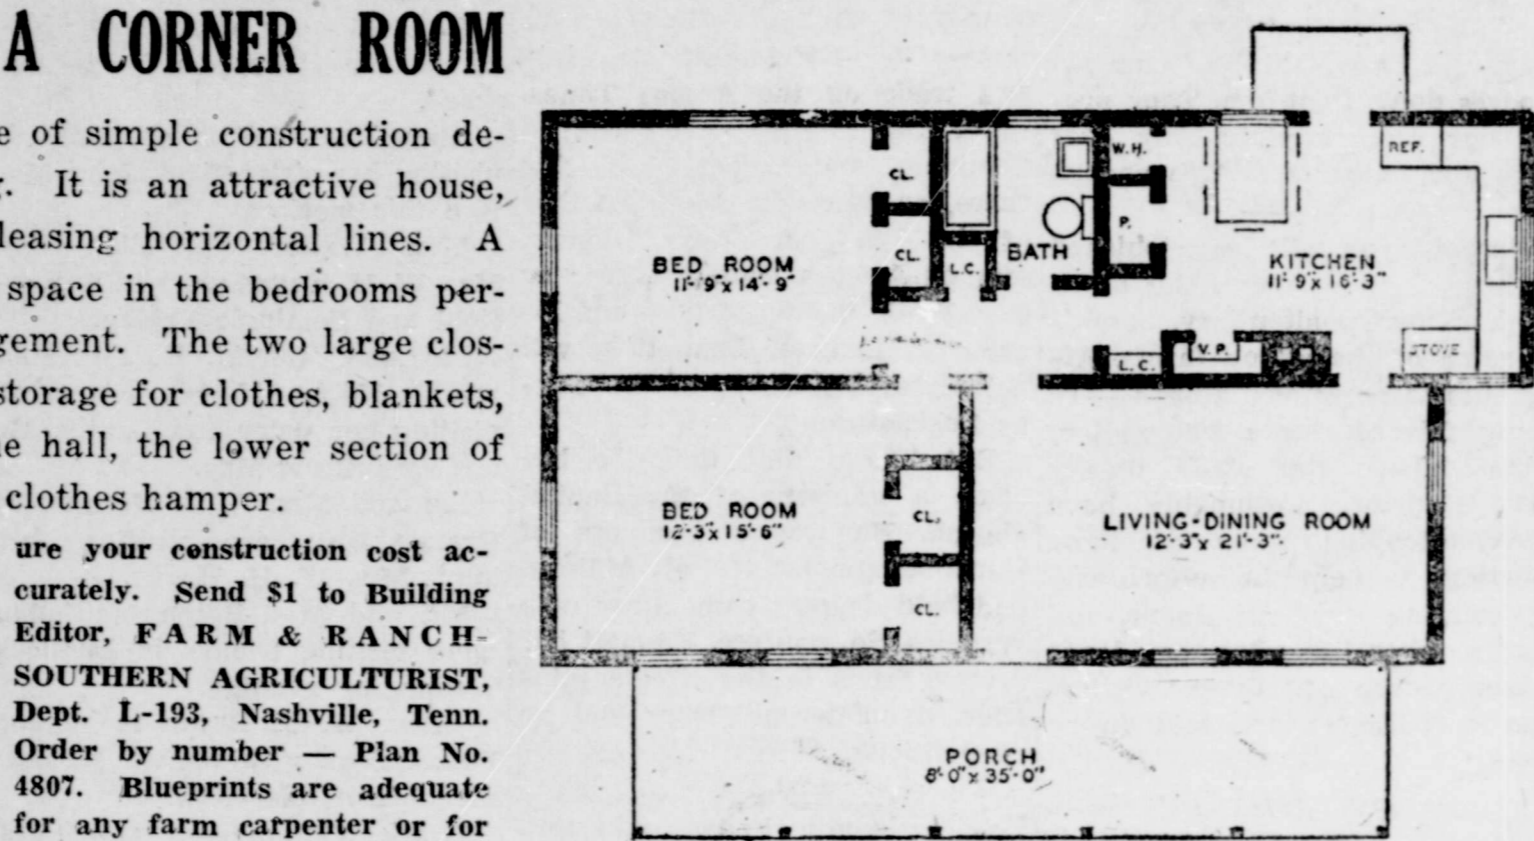

The kitchen is arranged so that it will be unusually cool. The window by the table makes a cheerful spot for eating, and the windows by the sink and stove provide an abundance of light where it is always needed. The large pantry, a small ventilated pantry, a linen closet and a water heater closet provide an abundance of storage space.

If more work space is needed or a screened porch wanted at some later date, the back door is placed so that this can be easily arranged by using shed roof construction. This will provide a large amount of space very economically and in no way detract from the appearance of the house or necessitate any alteration in the kitchen.

A centrally located chimney will serve a living room heater and also the stove in the kitchen if a wood or coal kitchen range is used. If you want a fireplace for living room heat, it would be convenient to use the space now shown as a ventilated pantry and that shown as a chimney for storage.

The long front porch is a pleasant place to spend summer afternoons and evenings.

You can obtain blueprints for this TERRY COUNTY HERALD FARM & RANCH-SOUTHERN AGRICULTURIST Plan No. 4807 and a handy list of materials by which you can figure your construction cost accurately. Send $1 to Building Editor, FARM & RANCH-SOUTHERN AGRICULTURIST, Dept. L-193, Nashville, Tenn. Order by number — Plan No. 4807. Blueprints are adequate for any farm carpenter or for any farmer handy with tools.

Profitable To Feed Cake On Dry Grass

By D. A. Savage, Supt. U. S. Southern Great Plains Field Station, Woodward, Oklahoma.

Native grasses on the Southern Plains Experimental Range near Woodward, Okla., usually contain ample protein and other foods for rapid growth and fattening of yearling steers during spring and early summer. The April-June daily rate of gain on grass alone has been slightly in excess of 2 pounds per head. However, food values and gains decrease as the grass dries up in late summer, indicating the need for protein supplements at that time.

Feeding a daily ration of 1 pound of 41 percent protein cottonseed cake to yearling steers on grass after July 1 resulted in a six-year average gain advantage of 22 pounds per head. This included two years when the grasses were green all summer. Caking on the green grass gave a gain advantage of only 6 pounds per head which was not profitable. However the 1-pound caking rate on dry grass during the other four years gave an average summer gain advantage of 33 pounds per head. This justifies the conclusion that feeding a daily ration of 1 pound of 41 percent protein cottonseed cake per yearling steer after the grass dries up in late summer is a clearly profitable practice.

A 2-pound rate of late summer caking was compared with the 1-pound rate and with no cake during two of the six years. The heavier rate of feeding exceeded the 1-pound rate by a gain advantage of 23 pounds per head one year and 11 pounds the next. The heavier rate of caking was profitable the first year but not the second, although it maintained average daily gains at the 2-pound rate throughout the summer six months.

These and many other results on the grazing and feeding of range cattle and the production of grasses will be presented to the general public at the station's Fourteenth Annual Range Improvement Field Day on Saturday, October 13.

Soil Tests Show What Is Lacking

Farmers in Cooke county are using larger amounts of commercial fertilizer this year as a result of having their soils tested at A. & M. College, says County Agent B. T. Haws.

Haws reports that some farmers who had been using 100 pounds are now using 400 pounds of commercial fertilizer per acre under corn and peanuts.

For good production of corn, grain sorghum or sudan grass under normal rainfall conditions, approximately 150 pounds of nitrogen, 60 pounds of phosphoric acid, 150 pounds of potash and 800 pounds of calcium oxide are needed per acre, according to M. K. Thornton, Extension agricultural chemist of A. & M. College. "After we test a sample of soil, we can predict with a reasonable degree of certainty what the limiting nutrient will be in crop production under normal rainfall," says Thornton.

The agricultural chemist points out that fertilizer recommendations are affected by other conditions in addition to the amount of plant nutrients present. Some of these conditions are soil type and soil characteristics, amount of leaching, soil structure, the preceding crop on the crop on the land, the crop to be grown, previous soil treatment and seed-beding preparation.

Thornton suggests that farmers contact their county agents for instructions for having their soils tested.

STUDY PLANTS POISON TO FARM ANIMALS

The University of Texas Pharmaceutical Foundation will expand investigations of poisonous plants, particularly those on Texas ranges, with a new $10,000 grant.

The University Development Board, official fund-raising agency, announced the grant by the Clayton Foundation, established by Benjamin Clayton of Pasadena, Calif., formerly of Houston. The new grant supplements a previous Clayton Foundation grant for the plant studies. So far, University researchers have compiled a partial list of U. S. plants poisonous to livestock and have investigated such plants as the buffalo burr, poison ivy, rye grass, snakeroot, male fern, yucca, castor bean, milkweed and ain lily.

have arrived in Australia to learn various aspects of running a democratic country. They want to learn ways of handling traffic, how to prevent erosion, how to curb the black market and how to bring culture to backward areas. "We're building a brand new nation, a friendly nation, and we are in a hurry," said Shafiq Azam, spokesman of the party.

How Safe Is Your Farm Home?

The farm home is not the safest place on the farm. More farm accidents occur in the home than in any other single place on the farm and the kitchen ranks as about the most dangerous room in the house. According to Mrs. Bernice Clayton, extension home management specialist of Texas A. & M. College, there are several reasons for the high accident rate in kitchens, but few outrank carelessness and household disorder.

She points out that a well kept kitchen, one that is provided with plenty of convenient cabinet and storage space, is mostly likely to be a safe room. However, a poor job of housekeeping can nullify the safety features of even the best planned and constructed kitchens. A fire caused by an explosion, spilled hot grease or from the use of worn-out electrical equipment or wiring will not only ruin the kitchen and probably the entire home but may even result in death or serious injury to the housewife and other members of the family.

In the well-managed home, all gas connections are checked regularly. Kerosene is not used to start fires in wood and coal burning stoves and all electrical equipment and wiring is kept in good condition. Children are not permitted to play with matches and care is exercised at all times by the homemaker when she is cooking.

Many accidents also occur on stairways and steps. The National Safety Council reports that most home accidents, 24 percent, result from falls. Faulty steps should be repaired and all steps and stairways should be well lighted. Scatter rugs should never be placed at the bottom nor the top landings of the stairway and loose or frayed runners on the stair steps are always dangerous.

The stairway treads should all be of the same width and risers the same height, says Mrs. Clayton, and the treads should not be polished. It's always dangerous to climb or descend stairs or steps when both arms are loaded and it's doubly so when the stairs and steps are cluttered.

Mrs. Clayton believes that a great number of home accidents can be prevented and at the same time fire hazards can be removed from the home if homemakers will dispose of worn out appliances, make repairs to equipment when needed and follow an orderly program of practicing safety every day in the year.

COTTON GOOD IN YOAKUM COUNTY

At the field insect meeting held by Henry Harvey, Extension Service Entomologist, and H. G. Sprawls 72 Yoakum county farmers learned what to expect from damaging insects and how to control them. "The insect population is relatively light this year as compared to last year," said H. G. Sprawls, county agent, "at no field examined was there enough insects to justify poisoning."

Mr. Harvey stated that the prospects for a cotton crop in Yoakum county was better than in any of the 19 counties in which he works. —Yoakum County Review.

Suggests Summer Care Of Shrubs

Take care of your shrubs during the dry summer months. Water, fertilizer and pruning are important to the life of your plants, Sadie Hatfield, Homestead Improvement Specialist for the Extension Service of Texas A. & M. College, says.

Shrubs probably suffer more from mismanagement of moisture than anything else, the specialist comments. There are two ways of keeping the moisture in the soil around the shrub: first, make a depression around the plant to catch and hold as much rain water as possible. Then, once you have moisture in the soil—either from rainfall or irrigation—use some kind of mulch to keep it there.

Use layers 2 or 3 inches thick of well-rotted leaves and grass clippings or straw; rotted hay from hay stacks, or straw from wheat and oat stacks. If the soil is tight, use some sand for the leaves to work into, or use a layer of loose top soil to hold water on. Miss Hatfield suggests using the hoe instead of the hose for the thin layer of top soil; you are likely to kill feeder roots near the surface if you dig more than 2 or 3 inches deep.

Shallow soils do not hold moisture through the summer, so it may be necessary to irrigate occasionally. The specialist says let the water run slowly until the soil is wet to a depth of 10 to 18 inches.

Check with your county home demonstration agent for specific instructions for taking care of shrubs in the area where you live.

LIMATE BELIES NAME

UTOPIA, Alta.—(AP)—This town wasn't as perfect a community as its name suggests during the wet snowstorms that recently hit southern Alberta. The fall in Utopia was measured at three feet.

Peaches Keep Well In The Freezer

Use your home freezer to save some of the luscious red-ripe peaches that are plentiful this season. It's a wise thing to do, advises Louise Mason, Foods and Nutrition Specialist for the Extension Service of Texas A. & M. College.

You can use either the dry sugar method of packing the halved or sliced peaches, or freeze them with a sugar syrup. If you need to preserve them for the diet of a diabetic, you may just use water without sugar.

But first, select firm ripe peaches which are at the stage for good eating. Any green color on the peaches will indicate they are not ripe enough for freezing. Then, peel the peaches. The specialist recommends this rather than dipping in boiling water as this tends to soften the outer layer of the peaches.

For a dry sugar pack, add two-thirds cup of sugar to each quart of prepared fruit and mix well. Keep the fruit from turning dark.

Use your home freezer to save solved in water over them before you add sugar. One-fourth teaspoon of ascorbic acid in one-fourth cup of cold water will be sufficient for each quart of fruit. Pack into containers, leave three-fourths inch head space, seal and sharp freeze immediately.

For the syrup pack, make a syrup of three cups sugar and four cups water. Add one-half teaspoon powdered ascorbic acid to each quart of syrup. Place peach halves or slices in container, add syrup to cover. Use a piece of wadded wax paper to keep the fruit under the syrup, leave three-fourths inch of head space, seal and sharp freeze immediately.

Baldwin-Sanders Vows Are Read

Mrs. Wayland Sanders

Miss Wanda Lou Baldwin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Baldwin of Brownfield, and Sgt. Wayland Sanders, were married Sunday afternoon, July 22, at 2 o'clock in the Calvary Baptist Church of Brownfield, with Rev. Jack Pearce officiating for the ceremony.

Mrs. Jack Proctor, cousin of the bride, served as matron of honor, and Lee Crabtree, an uncle of the bridegroom, acted as best man.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of blue lace over blue satin with rhinestone buttons down the front of the dress, and an elbow-length veil. Her white lace hat had a halo of rhinestones, and she carried an orchid on a white Bible. The matron of honor wore a pink taffeta dress with a pink hat, and carried a bouquet of white carnations.

The church was decorated with white gladioli and greenery. Wedding music was played by Mrs. H. B. Boyd, and she accompanied T. D. Baldwin of El Paso, uncle of the bride, as he sang "Because," and "The Lord's Prayer," as vows were exchanged. Mrs. T. D. Baldwin, the bride's aunt, offered a vocal selection of "I Love You Truly," also accompanied by Mrs. Boyd.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Smith. The house was decorated with roses and carnations, and the wedding cake was decorated with blue and silver.

Thirty-five guests attended the reception, following which the couple left for a wedding trip to Ruidoso, N. M. For traveling, Mrs. Sanders chose an off-white suit with orchid accessories, and an orchid corsage.

The couple will live in Las Vegas, Nev., where Sergeant Sanders is stationed at Nettles Air Base. He has just returned from service in Anchorage, Alaska.

Out-of-town guests for the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Baldwin of El Paso, Mr. and Mrs. George McDonald of Carlsbad, N. M., and Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Baldwin of Lamesa.

Mr. and Mrs. Grady Dickson went to Clauene, Texas, Sunday for a visit with her brother, Rev. R. C. Guest. Their daughter, Miss Jane Elizabeth Dickson, who had been visiting in the Guest home last week, accompanied them back to Brownfield.

Thanks To Gee Gee

By Margaret Bandy Coward

My thanks to Gee Gee for taking me 'round town this week and introducing me to so many nice people. As most of you know, Gee Gee quit work as society editor and reporter for the Terry County Herald, and it will be impossible for me to try to take her place.

I hope to make my own place in the entire community as your reporter and society editor. I am new in Brownfield, and will probably ask the same person his or her name several times... I will no doubt have the wrong initials or the names misspelled, until I can get familiar with names and faces.

I am not new in the newspaper business... having worked for the Gaines County News in Seagraves (where I started) at various intervals the past 19 years. I was employed at the Lamb County Leader in Littlefield six years... also worked for the Borger Daily Herald.

Yes—the late W. L. Bandy was my cousin, so I have relatives here. We—the husband and children, two boys and a girl, plan to move to Brownfield. Does anyone know about a house for rent?

I have known of the Stricklins through the years in newspaper work. Incidentally, Edith (Mrs. Jack Jr.) and I finished high school together in Seagraves—soon be 20 years ago... our class prophecies didn't mean a thing... we didn't know we would be working on the same paper.

My parents still live in Seagraves. Since I've been Mrs. Eugene Coward I have lived in Crosbyton. We still hope to move to Brownfield.

Thanks again to Gee Gee—in addition to all others, she introduced me to the mayor, sheriff, county judge and county attorney—all good people to know!

Have patience with me, if I ask too many questions until I know all of you better. Be sure to call when you have news, and—Thanks a Million!

MURPHA DEENE BALLARD, THURMAN SKAINS MARRIED

MRS. THURMAN Q. SKAINS

In a double ring ceremony read in the First Presbyterian Church at 6:30 p. m., July 28, Miss Murpha Deene Ballard, daughter of Mrs. Rebecca M. Ballard, 513 E. Cardwell, became the bride of Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Skains of Roswell, N. M.

Rev. Tom Keenan, minister of the church, officiated at the formal ceremony. Back of the altar, the walls were covered solid with greenery and palms centered with a huge basket of white gladioli. Baskets of white gladioli lined each side of the altar, and tall palms, reaching the ceiling, lined the sides of the church.

Mrs. Roy Herod, organist, offered the traditional wedding music and accompanied Crawford Taylor when he sang "Let the Rest of the World Go By" and "The Lord's Prayer," which was the benediction. Mrs. Herod also accompanied Miss Ann Snedeker, who sang "If."

Matron of honor was the bride's mother. Bridesmaids were Misses Susie Hamilton of La Jolla, Calif., Jane Lukens of Shawnee, Okla., Marilyn Holt of Fort Smith, Ark., Polly Lawhon of Marfa, and Nadine Henquet of Houston, all class mates of the bride. The attendants were identically gowned in colors of mauve, palest green, and yellow nylon tulle. These gowns were fashioned with a softly shirred bodice and complimented by a decollete neckline which extended to form tiny sleeves. The extremely full-gathered skirts extended from a double V effect corded waistline to demitasse length. They wore matching linen shoes and silk horsehair picture hats, and carried crescent-shaped bouquets of matching pastel colored flowers mixed with tube roses.

Murphy May, uncle of the bride, gave her away. The bride chose a gown of candlelight ivory nylon tulle, with a softly draped berthia, caught with pearlized lily-of-the-valley. The tightly fitted bodice was accented by the many-layered tulle skirt that formed a wide, sweeping train. Her veil of ivory French silk illusion extended to her fingertips from a halo effect of illusion. She carried a white Bible, topped with a white orchid surrounded with tube roses and tied with satin streamers. Her uncle pinned an engraved gold four leaf clover to her shoe, and she wore blue garters given to her by an aunt, Mrs. Bruce Zorn. For something old, she carried in her Bible a handkerchief belonging to another aunt, Mrs. Dyar Oakley.

Douglas Skains of Rowell, N. M., was his brother's best man. Ushers were Cliff Bloodworth of Lubbock, Johnny Fitzgerald of Plains, Bill Linder of Andrews, and Carl Hogue and John J. Kendrick, both of Brownfield.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Seleta Brownfield club house. Mrs. Walter Ford greeted guests and presented them to the wedding party, which also included Mrs. Tom May, grandmother of the bride.

The club house was decorated with daisies and pastel astors, with a white trellis across the back of the room, flanked with palms. The bride's table was laid with a shirred white organdy cloth and was centered with a cake with three separate tiers, with the bridesmaids' bouquets edging the table. They were assisted with hospitality by Mesdames I. M. Bailey, W. F. Heflin, Ray Brownfield, and Lee O. Allen. Mrs. W. A. Bell presided at the guest register.

For a wedding trip to Colorado Springs, Yellowstone Park, and Salt Lake City, the bride wore a suit of imported gray linen with navy trim, navy accessories, and an orchid corsage. The couple will be at home at 1014 E. Republic after August 11.

Mrs. Skains attended schools in Brownfield and is a May graduate of the Hoekaday School in Dallas. Mr. Skains is assistant cashier at the First National Bank here.

Wedding guests were present from Plains, Lubbock, Seagraves, and Brownfield.

Refreshments were served to approximately 30 members by Mrs. Geo. Steele, Mrs. L. D. Spradling, Mrs. Looe Miller and Mrs. W. Graham Smith.

"Lone Wolf" Gonzauilas Speaks

Capt. Manuel T. (Lone Wolf) Gonzauilas, famous Texas Ranger who is retiring on July 31 after 30 years as a Ranger, speaks at a party given him at the Koon Kreek Klub, near Athens, by Henderson County Sheriff Jess Sweeten. On the table before him are going away gifts he received from friends and fellow officers. He plans to go to Hollywood as technical consultant on the radio program, "Tales of the Texas Rangers." Regarding the "Lone Wolf" title he has, Gonzauilas said, "I guess I got that nickname because I went into a lot of fights by myself—and I came out by myself, too." He joined the Rangers in 1920. Texas' Lonest Ranger, "Lone Wolf" Gonzauilas, Hangs Up Shootin' Irons

By Martha Cole

DALLAS, Tex., Aug. 3.—(AP)—There's a Texas tale that's supposed to be true about a Texas sheriff who was afraid he had a race riot brewing. So he called for the Texas Rangers. The next day the train came and off jumped one lone ranger, two guns slapping his khaki-clad hips. "Where's the rest of them?" the worried sheriff asked. "Heck, you just got one riot, 'at you?" the ranger drawled. "The Texas Rangers still send only one man on a case, except in unusual circumstances—and the lonest ranger of them all is Capt. Manuel T. (Lone Wolf) Gonzauilas. "I guess I got that nickname because I went into a lot of fights by myself—and I came out by myself, too," Gonzauilas said. "All are the tales they tell in Texas about Lone Wolf Gonzauilas. He grew up in El Paso on the Mexican border with a boy's ambition to become a Texas Ranger. And he did. When Gonzauilas joined the Rangers in 1920, Mexican bandits still made lightning raids across the Texas border. Gonzauilas stalked the thick brush and canyons of South Texas hunting them down. Soon oil was discovered in East Texas. Wild boom towns sprang up—minus jails. In Gonzauilas' office today is a long chain. Back in those hectic days the bad men who were caught were handcuffed to the chain anchored to a tree or building. When the chain was filled up, the offenders were herded to jail in the county seat. "Even the toughest of them were glad to leave town to get off that chain," Gonzauilas said. "It took the ego out of the hardest men." "You can't prove any of the tales they tell about this lean, lithe man with the gray at his temples and the wrinkles around his blue-green eyes that Texans get from staring across wide open spaces. He just doesn't talk about cases. "I've been in many a fight," he said. "Knives, guns and fists." "I won all my fights. The Good Lord must have been standing there with his hand on my shoulder a lot of times." They say that on Capt. Gonzauilas' guns the notches have notches. "But I don't notch my guns," Gonzauilas said. Why? "Well, I just don't." In 30 years as a ranger, Gonzauilas collected 580 guns of all types. He's been getting rid of them this month, for on July 31 he retires to go west to Hollywood as technical consultant on

TWENTY YEARS OF CONSERVATION ENABLE TEXAS TO SUPPLY OIL

By Mac Roy Razor Associated Press Staff

AUSTIN, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Texas' ability to meet current demands for crude oil is the direct result of a battle twenty years old next month. That battle has been the efforts of forward-thinking leaders to conserve the State's natural resource — now supplying one-fourth the world's production. Directing and fighting the conservationists' battle 19 years and four months of the way has been Ernest O. Thompson, a name known internationally as a petroleum authority, senior member of the Texas Railroad Commission. Illness cut short his trip to Europe as official representative of the United States government at the World Petroleum Congress at The Hague . . . He was rushed to a Houston hospital after landing in New York, recently returned to his home in Austin and last week was at his office.

The Texas war for conservation broke violently in August, 1931. It took martial law and a special session of the Texas Legislature to cope with operators engaged in a cut-throat battle of frenzied production.

Oil flowed like water from a cloudburst with discovery of the big East Texas pool. The $1.10 per barrel price prevailing at the outset plummeted to an unbelievable low—10 cents per barrel. Into that furore, in June, 1932, came then—Amarillo-Mayor Ernest Thompson to fill a vacancy on the Railroad Commission by appointment of Governor Ross Sterling.

New and far-reaching oil-regulatory weapons were granted the commission by the Legislature. With Thompson's backing, one of the powers became effective five months after he came to the commission. It authorized the commission to decide how much Texas oil would flow daily on the basis of a market demand formula.

That law is still the basis of determining Texas' production. It requires oil operators to "nominate" their probable market outlet in advance of the commission order fixing production. Customarily, that's once a month.

Railroad Commission orders began to stand up in court tests. Order soon came out of chaos. The life of the East Texas pool and other Texas reservoirs was prolonged. Prices rose back to economic stability. Into the state treasury rolled tax dollars that would otherwise have been lost. Important oil was saved for the then — unexpected international crises ahead.

In succeeding years, Thompson continued to fight for stronger conservation, fought against federal control efforts, was a guiding organizer and many times chairman of the Interstate Oil Compact Commission, worked at finding and attracting new markets for Texas oil and gas, and fought wasteful flaring of gas produced incident to oil.

Thompson's interest in petroleum is tied personally to military as well as civilian needs. As a Lieutenant General, he is commander of the Texas National Guard. He trained two regiments in World War II and was often consulted on war oil problems. He was a machine gun battalion commander in the Argonne in World War I.

"Petroleum is our most vital defense material. We want to have an ample reserve ability for defense should war be forced upon us," Thompson said recently. It is also Thompson's conviction that the "wheels of progress turn on oil and its products."

It is not difficult, therefore, to understand one of his greatest desires—"more oil for a free world."

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Browder, Sr., returned last week end after a two weeks vacation. The first week they spent in Colorado Springs, Colo., and the second week Mrs. Browder visited their son, Norwood, and family, at Midland.

REPORT ON DEFENSE BILL AND THE WAR SITUATION

By George Mahon

For the past 11 weeks I have been conducting committee hearings in Washington on the appropriation bill for the Army, Navy and Air Force for the current fiscal year. I expect to present the bill to the House of Representatives for passage during the second week in August. I think some facts about the bill may be of interest. Because of the confidential nature of much of the testimony, the hearings were not open to the press. However, about two-thirds of the testimony has been printed and is available to members of Congress, the press and public. Four volumes, containing 3,500 pages, totaling nearly three million words, were required to print the testimony of the 500 witnesses who testified.

A lot of words and witnesses were involved in the hearings. The issue before us, however, was the 56 billion dollar appropriation bill for the Army, Navy and Air Force, one of the largest appropriation bills to be submitted to Congress in the history of the nation. Generally speaking, one-fifth of the money would be required to pay; feed and clothe the men in service. An additional one-fifth would be required to maintain the installations, aircraft, ships, etc. One-half of the sum would be used to pay for tanks, airplanes, shops and weapons of war. Remaining funds would be used for research and development and many other purposes. We will make savings and reductions wherever reasonably possible. It appears that a minimum reduction of at least one billion dollars can be made safely.

We do not know the Russian timetable, but we do know they seem to understand the language of strength.
