Powell to Lead Cancer Crusade

An appeal for support of the Texas Cancer Crusade by farm organizations in this area was issued today by Mr. J. C. Powell Jr., Crusade Chairman of Terry County.

Mr. Powell emphasized that such support is vital to the success of the American Cancer Society's educational and fund-raising activities.

He quoted statements issued by the Hon. Charles F. Brannan, secretary of agriculture, and M. L. Wilson, director of extension work of the agricultural department.

Secretary Brannan's statement said, "The people who live in the rural areas of America, as well as those who live in the cities, know only too well what cancer can do to an individual and a home. Fortunately, victims of this vicious disease are gaining new hope as a result of the research, education and service programs of the American Cancer Society. All of us can well join with this fine organization in a determined fight to bring cancer under control."

Mr. Wilson's statement read, "It has been a privilege of the Extension Service of the Department of Agriculture to work closely with the American Cancer Society in its endeavor to stamp out cancer. From intimate knowledge of its program, we want to urge every one to give this great work their fullest support."

Mr. Powell said that most of the major farm organizations nationally have endorsed the Cancer Crusade and have made outstanding contributions to the cause of cancer control.

He urged that farm organizations devote at least one meeting to the subject of cancer in order that rural families might know the life-saving educational message that cancer is usually curable if caught in time.

Rev., Mrs. Denison Make Endowment

Announcement will be made at the Northwest Texas Conference of Methodist Churches, which started in Lubbock yesterday, of an "Endowed Lectureship" to the amount of $10,000, by Rev. and Mrs. Dallas D. Denison. The title of the lectureship will be "Preaching and Evangelism."

Rev. Denison made the announcement of the endowment at a recent church service here, and the purpose of the lectureship is to keep evangelism before the preachers and the membership in Methodist churches in the Northwest Texas Conference; giving assistance to winning the lost to Christ and his kingdom.

The interest on the endowment fund each year will be used to pay expenses and honorarium of a lecturer. The first lectures are being planned for the Brownfield First Methodist Church in April, 1953, when Bishop W. C. Martin of Dallas will be guest speaker.

The sermons and lectures will rotate with the first here, the second year, at McMurry College in Abilene; the third year in Lubbock; the fourth year in Amarillo; and the fifth year back in Brownfield. This means that residents of Brownfield will have the privilege of hearing one of the greatest evangelistic preachers in America every four years, and the people of the conference, annually, according to Rev. Denison.

Members of the Denison family and two members from the board of evangelism of the conference will be trustees of the lectureship, Rev. Denison said. "Mrs. Denison and I felt the need in the conference for more emphasis in bringing the message of Christ to the lost," he added. "In consideration of the love and affection which we bear in our hearts for the church of Jesus Christ, and having a desire to provide in our humble way for the ongoing of his kingdom. The work will be continued through the years."

He is chairman of the board of evangelism for the conference. He and Mrs. Denison are providing the money for the lectureships.

As most people in this area, as well as all over Texas and adjoining states, know a bit or a great deal about Boys Ranch, situated at Old Tascosa, some 30 miles northwest of Amarillo. Most of them have seen or heard of Cal Farley, the President and Founder. Anyway, they are presently finishing up a unit to take care of some 24 more 'homeless, and what is still worse, often neglected boys, if so fortunate as to come to the attention of Boys Ranch, can be made to become useful men. Most of the work, about 70 per cent, on this new building has been done by the boys, with a superintendent in charge of construction in charge, and some of the boys are becoming efficient builders. Soon, the institution will start on the erection of a vocational school building, and will need more help. But such an addition will allow the instructors at the Ranch to branch out in new trades and professions for the boys. As a side-light, the Herald was sent a copy of a letter received from the former sheriff of a Panhandle county who stated it took from one to three thousand dollars to send a boy to reform school, and in most cases they would come out hardened criminals, and have to be sent to the penitentiary. He had never let one arrested in his county go to the pen, but had sorted out them on probation, and had never had a boy break his confidence. We were also sent a reprint from Time Magazine, telling the story of a six year old boy up in New Jersey, that older boys used to let down into stores from skylights on ropes, who after pilfering the store of goods as well as the cash register, was hauled out with the swag by the rope. But finally a rope broke, and the kid was left in the store. Police saw some maneuvers in the store, and after going in with drawn revolvers and flashlights, found the child playing with a string of Bologna sausage for a train. Cal Farley happened to be in New York at the time, and as the boy's mother was no fit person to bring up a child, the authorities turned the boy over to him. This boy's teachers states that the boy was doing fine, except that most of his lessons must include horses, as the boy is crazy about horses. The boys come from everywhere, and are of not particular religion. One of the mottoes under a smiling lad says: "It's easy to smile when someone cares." Assisting Mr. Farley in the conduct of the Ranch, as directors, are prominent ranchmen, business and professional men of Panhandle and south Plains. The boys have their own brands for their livestock on the Ranch. We believe that every penny invested in this home for boys is a penny well spent. Mr. Farley believes that our forefathers were right when they advised us against entangling alliances with foreign countries. The less we have to do with them, the better for us. And as it is we are having to meet most of the expenses of the UN headquarters in New York, and that is no little mazzoka, if you ask us.

Uncle Sam it seems, and his people, must stand ready at all times for the descent of the dirk. And one of the worst offenders along this line is the Canadians, our next door neighbors and fellow English speakers to our north. They are even worse than our Latin speakers to the south about ramming the dirk between the ribs of Uncle Sam. This, of course, is pretty easily understood, as the English speaking part, and majority, are sympathetic to John Bull and his methods, while the minority are of French extraction and sympathy. All of them are notorious in pulling the leg of the USA. The latest stunt up there is to hike newsprint paper, the kind the Herald is printed on, $10 more per ton, as it were not already sky high. This brings the New York price to about $126 per ton against about $60 a few years ago. The price will be much higher here in Texas than in New York. Of course the OPS has taken up the matter with the authorities in Canada, but we don't look for much if anything to be done about the matter. But Ellis Arnold, director of stabilization, makes a few points clear to the thick headed paper makers in Canada, as well as the director of pulp manufacture up there. He tells them that on account of the high cost of paper and other materials, that during the last 20 years, 749 American daily newspapers have quit operation either through consolidation, mergers or failures. He does not tell how many weekly newspapers were written off as bad investments, but they probably were more than the number of dailies. But, continues, the advice to the greedy Canadians, your course of action could in the long run injure you instead of help if more and more papers are put out of business in the USA, who buy 90 per cent of their print paper from Canada. Mr. Arnold urges that the director in Canada give the matter serious study and rescind the order for the hike.

About the latest socialist move of the powers that be up in Washington, was a directive order from the President's Water Resource Policy Commission to divide the 15 regional basins into river basins. These fifteen basins would be formed to develop the 15 regions—by the federal government, of course. This move would break down the last vestige of States right in the USA, and bring out socialist evolution in its fullest extent. They would not only dominate agriculture, but industry and labor. In a recent speech Judge George T. Cochran of Oregon gave us a bit of the results of the measure if put across by congress. The Judge, who is a water expert attorney, stated: "A basin authority is a new state. A state is a sovereign power. A sovereignty is the power to govern, regulate and tax. Federal property cannot be taxed by a state. All these matters of state sovereignty would be taken from the states and placed in the hands of the basin authority. The sovereignty of the state would be completely taken over by a new, totalitarian state. Socialism in the extreme." The burning aim of course is to take over all the utility companies in America, which has been the ambition of the present rulers at Washington many years. This alone would go a long way down the road in making America a totalitarian state. Of course if we, the people, want to remain our own masters, we have got to get a hump on ourselves, quit our lazy listless ways and march to the polls and stop this spread of socialistic movement before it gets beyond our reach. Shall we be free men and women here in the good old USA or wards of the state?

It seems that congressmen see the real home folks so little the past few years that they have gotten out of touch with the people back at home. Of course they get a few letters, but it has been determined that most of these letters come, not from Tom, Dick and Harry, but from governmental employees, who are more interested in their own jobs and high pay than for the millions of taxpayers, who usually are mum in the matter. One of these is the idea of price controls and no price controls. But the lawmakers are averse to doing anything about the matter, especially on election year. Presently with an abundance of most everything the buyer may want, and the seller has in stock, there is no earthly use for price controls. And it would take a Philadelphia lawyer to figure out the meaning of some of the directives that the merchants receive. To say the least, the almost have to have an additional employee to figure what's what. Add to this, in the larger firms it almost takes one man or woman to keep track of the withholding and social security taxes of the firm. The more the controls and directives imposed on the business of the USA, the more it costs to do business. And instead of keeping down prices, the additional cost of keeping a lot of books and reading changes that occur, almost daily, it adds to the price of the consumer must pay. Controls, no matter how wisely drawn and carefully applied, are eating away at the very foundations of free enterprise. Controls also discourage initiative and ultimately reduce production. The firm that is smothered with red tape can hardly be progressive. And controls substitute political controls for the orderly working of business as we have known it for 175 years. Controls came in with the New Deal.

Sometimes the claims of labor leaders look feasible if one does not go into the matter too deep. When there is a strike, we can always hear that old chestnut that industry can pay the wage hike without imposing a higher price on products. And they always manage to give figures of income of concerns before wages and taxes, and of course they show huge profits, if you take that route in computing. Let us have a look at the figures for last year, 1951, according to Economic Intelligence. Dividend payments were 9 1/2 billion dollars, while employees got a take of $178 billion plus. And that was 20 times more for wages than went to the owners. Now, suppose that every nickel of the income had gone to the employees and left the stockholders nothing, their wages would only have been increased by 5 per cent. Another way that is often maliciously given for public consumption, is to figure the huge incomes of the owners before the taxes are taken. If the powers that be, aided and abetted by their henchmen, the labor leaders, continue to insist on the extraction of all the profits from owners of industry, who will want to build plants, pay wages and dividends or anything else? If there are no plants to employ people at good wages, you will have a depression that will make the early 30ties look like 30 cents.

From press release stuff we have been getting of late, many of the US Senators and Congressmen are waking up to the fact that to be a member of United Nations or "one world" as it is sometimes called, is not exactly what we, as a free and independent nation, with our own way of life might desire. In the first place, many of the nations in which we are joined in the UN, are to say the least, unfriendly, and some of them, Russia, in particular, is presently engaged in war in Korea against us (secretly she may think, of course) are furnishing the enemies of UN and the United States, with implements of war to destroy our young men. One of the latest to take a good sized rap at the UN and one world, was the Hon. John T. Wood, congressman from Idaho. To give some idea of what Mr. Wood think of the UN, he states that the whole idea of one world is wrapped up in a package of Godless Communism, that is expected to sweep the world. Already in many nations under their domination, Christian worship is prohibited. Now our New Testament tells us to shun the very appearance of evil. But under the cloak of UN we are in cahoots with this abominable aggregation. And according to Wood, we are letting the Commies use a balancing power between 400,000 Christians and 400,000 Moslems to carry on their godless aims. The Commies know full well that they could never succeed if the adherents of Christianity and Moslemism were united to resist them. Their idea is to cause a quarrel, and then the thieves (commies), will do their dirty work. Today, all Christian worship is forbidden in Russia and satellite nations, and all of us that read and reason know that. Yet, we are in cohort with this godless nation, who is secretly working to line up the 400,000 Moslems with them, at which time their aim is to launch an attack on Europe and America to make us slaves of the Kremlin. Already China, once a very good friend of America, is now fighting us in every way. But this was somewhat the fault of the very poor work of our administration and its state department. For the past two years our idea of the UN has been very poor, and to be perfectly frank, we were glad when those who ran up the UN flag on the county courthouse square about a year ago, dispensed with it, and now use the Stars and Stripes and the Lone Star flag of Texas. We be-

The Main Thought Is— Pooling for Profit!

—AND IT APPLIES IN A THOUSAND WAYS IN THE METHODS WE LIVE BY TODAY.

WE'RE TALKING ABOUT combining the potential strength of the advantages that exist . . . to get the most value for the most people — and for the LEAST IN EXPENDITURE, just so long as the full value is there.

A SCHOOL SYSTEM isn't going to put a huge bus to work bringing children to school ONE AT A TIME! There are designated bus stops; the children learn the regular stops, gather there regularly on time for transportation to their school — thus the expenditure is cut to a minimum for each child.

MERCHANDISING SEEKS out some of the same principles to achieve success. A merchant would not attempt to send one of his customers a postcard, another a letter, and still another a circular to get his sales increase on an individual item. He naturally picks a uniform method.

HERALD ADVERTISING typifies the uniform system of reaching every one regularly . . . and the VASTLY SUPERIOR CIRCULATION is a dependable guide to the buying public . . . just as the "bus stop" is a regular convenience to the school child. YOUR MESSAGE IS EXPECTED.

France To Hear Texas Tall Tales

Texasans sailing to Europe for "Texas Week on the French Riviera" July 12 to 20, might carry along these props so they can talk about their home state in French, suggests Alice Duke, of San Antonio. The Riviera celebration is sponsored by the French Government Tourist Office as a salute to Lone Star visitors and marks the first time any state has been so honored. Gala balls, fashion shows, parades and nautical rodeos will be staged in Monte Carlo, Nice, Cannes and other famous resorts on the Mediterranean shore during the festive week. All Texans traveling in Europe this summer are invited to be guests of honor at the Riviera parties.

Harry Has Been Riding a High Hoss

The little man from Missouri has been showing his mammy's temper in a big way of late. In a recent speech before the Association for Democratic Action, ADA, he let go with both barrels. As we understand it, this ADA is composed of long-haired leftists, the CIO-Political Action, and other conglomeration of folks who wish we were like Stalin's nation, for one.

Anyway, President Harry let go a barrage at his long time friends in the South, who have more or less stayed with him through thick and thin, when he didn't know for sure how the other bunch was lined up—probably for the big mouthed Henry A. Wallace. But he alienated a lot of good men, such as Senators Connally and Johnson and most of the Congressmen from Texas, as well as other Southern States. Perhaps Sam Rayburn is still a henchman.

Mr. Truman had few friends left in the South before his tirade, and none now except those who have their hands out for a dole or job. By making his FEPC plan a MUST, for the next Congress, he lost many, many friends that had stayed with him as a matter of party allegiance, perhaps.

But when he accused the tidelands states of "stealing" them, instead of the other way around, Harry even lost the respect, at least of some of the "Loyal" Democrats of Texas. Among them was Mr. Yarborough, who is running for Governor on the "loyal" ticket. We have not heard from Lindsey Beckworth; maybe he still thinks Uncle Harry is the cat's whiskers.

As a matter of fact, all Supreme Courts, up to this last "packed" one, had held that Texas Tidelands had belonged to this state since its admittance to the Union, with the understanding that Texas could keep all its public lands. Of course HST will veto the bill to return the tidelands to the several states. We hope his last tirade will cause both the Senate and the House of Representatives to override his veto in a big way.

SODA ON THE RANGE

How many ranges get the care they deserve day to day, meal to meal? Yet a few minutes time when it is most needed will keep a range sparkling and efficient. Here are a few pointers to keep in mind.

Most ranges have a porcelain-enamel finish, therefore range care usually means porcelain-enamel care. For example, there's the problem of food acids—milk, tomatoes, or fruits—left in spots on the surface. They may stain it. Some range enamels are acid-resistant, but unless you are sure of your range it's best not to take chances. You'll be absolutely safe if you wipe them off immediately with a dry cloth or paper towel. Then, when the range has cooled, wipe with a damp cloth sprinkled with baking soda.

It's always wise to wait until the range has cooled before using a cold damp cloth because sudden temperature changes on some range enamels may cause "crazing". Crazing shows up as a fine network of cracks that definitely and permanently mar the appearance of the surface. Always be careful, too, not to drop heavy objects on the surface or hit them against it—this, too, can cause bad chips or crazing.

Never use harsh abrasives—that is, scratchy cleaners—on the top of a range. A safe product is baking soda. It is non-abrasive which means it cleans without scratching. Soda emulsifies grease, loosens burnt-on spots, quickly whisks away fruit and other acid stains. To clean the range surface with soda, just sprinkle the soda directly on the surface and then wipe it and the soil away with a damp cloth.

Terry ACP Payments

Total $134,987.57

Terry County farmers received $134,987.57 as government assistance for completing agricultural conservation practices in 1951, reports Looe Miller, PMA administrator.

"In carrying out these practices, farmers have increased the value of Terry County land many times the amount they received in ACP payments," said Miller.

Last year 497,202 feet of large ridge type terraces were constructed on 32 farms, and 4,809 cubic yards of diversion terraces were constructed on one farm; 18,379.4 acres of contour listing was carried out on 88 farms; 33,347.1 acres of land was deep broken on 435 farms; 27 acres of land was leveled for irrigation on two farms; 4,125 feet of concrete pipe for improvement of irrigation was constructed on four farms; 43 acres of winter legumes were planted on six farms; and 101.5 acres of permanent pasture was seeded on 15 farms.

"These figures are an agricultural conservation practices for which PMA payments were made," said Miller. "Agricultural conservation practices for which no payments were made benefitted many additional acres of Terry County Land," he concluded.

Juvenile Board to Lubbock Conference

Judge Leonard Lang and several members of the juvenile board will attend the County Juvenile Court Judges' Conference which was held Thursday, May 22. The conference is in the new Lubbock County courthouse. The principal speaker is Judge J. Harris Gardner, 53rd Judicial District, Austin. Judge Gardner will speak during the morning session beginning at 10 o'clock.

Of the thirty judges invited to the conference, twenty-four indicated that they were interested and would attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Smith, 708 East Cardwell, left the 23rd for Wellington, Texas, to attend the formal opening of Cicero Smith Lumber Co. The establishment there has recently been remodeled, and the manager is Ben Hurst, who formerly was assistant manager of Cicero Smith Lumber Co. here.

CALL YOUR DOCTOR IMMEDIATELY

HERE ARE SYMPTOMS OF POLIO listed by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. They may—or may not—mean polio. Call your doctor and then, if help is needed, contact your local chapter of the National Foundation. When polio is around, these precautions are recommended: Keep children with their own friends and away from people they have not been with right along. Don't become congested through work or hard play. Don't stay in cold water too long or sit around in wet clothes. Avoid becoming chilled. Always wash hands before eating.

Farmers Get Ready To Seed the Land

(intended for last week)

Most of our farmers had their tractors checked over by mechanics of the dealer who handles their particular tractor, back in the winter. But after breaking part of the farm deal was over, some brought their tractors in for recheck before planting operation started. We have seen several being carried out this week under their own power, of course.

Farmers are going to be very busy this and part of next week, perhaps, getting the cottonseed in the soil. Farmers have always wanted to plant cotton here from the 10th to 20th of May, and the latter is the date this is being written. However, we have seen some fairly good cotton made in early June planting, but that depends on the lateness of the fall. That is, how early we have the first freeze or frost.

Of course there is an abundance of time yet for maize and other feed crops. In fact, farmers usually think that June, if we have plenty moisture, is a better time to plant sorghum grain crops than May. Many of the farmers, however, plant a small field of sudan just as early as possible, to have a good grazing pasture for the milk cows, calves, and what few horses that are left.

Some thought the farmers would start planting Monday, perhaps a few did... But some fields would have been rather muddy, and by waiting until Tuesday, they gave the moisture time to reach as low point in the soil as possible.

Reply to Truman's Insulting Speech

We tuned in Saturday night to listen to the sensible reply of Senator Holland of Florida to the tirade of half truths and insinuations of President Truman, made before ADA, recently.

The Holland address was logical and free from the invectives the president used in his address, in which he ignorantly or knowingly stated that the tidelands were being stolen from the government, instead of the government stealing them from the states.

Also Senator Johnson of Texas made a reply to the tirade of Truman on the Senate floor recently. He repeated the assertion of Truman about "robbery in broad daylight—and on a colossal scale."

Senator Johnson then went on to state as everyone should know who has studied history as much as an elementary school boy, that for the past 100 years these tidelands have belonged to the states without question—until oil was discovered under them a few years ago.

An overwhelming number of the congress and senate, the vast majority of the association of state governors, as well as the association of state attorneys, all say the tidelands belong to the states. Not only this, but such organizations as the United States Chamber of Commerce and others have gone on record favoring the retention by the states of their tidelands.

But Senator Johnson goes on to state that this is a day when the air is full of strange doctrines, and that only recently have we heard language from a president of the US about his "inherent powers" to seize this and that, and

Turning Back the Time

By A. J. S.

When there is a lot of spare time on your hands, and not much in the way of recreation, young people will find a way, somehow. And as little as you may think about the matter as of the present time, nearly all the people here 40 odd years ago, were comparatively young people. Older folks just do not seek out a new country on the frontier to make the battle of life.

The young town folks were generally speaking of high moral quality. So were the ranchmen and families that the settlers found here. But people get tired of chewing the rag with one another, perhaps going over the same old ground, with the same old chesnutty stories, which had been repeated until they were threadbare. So, some other means of entertainment must be found. The "badger fight" proved to be a good one.

As all the older people will remember, Uncle Jack Cole, who settled here with the Uncle Joe Hamilton family, ran a livery stable and wagon yard where the Higginbotham-Bartlett lumber yard now stands. And that, folks, was the site of all the "badger fights" that we remember attending. All the male population of the town attended without fail. There were two reasons for the selection of Uncle Jack's huge livery barn.

First, and foremost, a large area away from the main streets and the female persuasion could be found there. Second, Uncle Jack had an old Collie dog that played a great part in the performance. In fact, the old dog would charge around the tub that the "badger" was under, bark and growl like mad, scratch and paw like there were two or three wild animals under the tub. This made the maneuver so realistic that even the natives also believed Uncle Jack really substituted a real badger—for once.

For the benefit of the uninitiated, who perhaps never saw a badger, there were many of these fighting animals here at that time. They are slightly larger than a full grown raccoon, not quite as tall, but much heavier. They had very loose hide, and a strong dog with a good grip on the back of the neck got a surprise sometimes, by Mr. Badger turning his skin and getting a firm hold on the dog. It took a large dog with plenty of fight to kill a badger.

The badger fights were always deferred until there was a "prospector" in town, preferably from back east or the north. We remember that one of the greatest fights on record here, was one time when a Mr. Wilbur Fauley, now deceased, and at that time on the editorial staff of the New York Times. Mr. Fauley had a section of land north of town on the old Levelland road—no, Levelland then, however—and near the Hockley county line. He came down to have a look at his holdings. So, a badger fight was promoted one afternoon.

Word was passed out down the line, and all the business men and clerks soon gathered at the livery stable. No doors were locked in those days. Of course the intended victim was always in the crowd that gathered. Betting ran high (no real bets), and talk was loud. Some were for the dog—some for the badger. There set the tub with a rock or post across it to hold the badger, and Uncle Jack's old dog was barking and growling for dear life.

So, the crowd would always compromise on the visitors, as he "knew no tricks" about how to pull the badger in its or the dog's favor. A rope some 20 feet long ran from a post to and under the tub. When word was given, the visitor was supposed to pull the badger out from under the tub, when some one slightly tilted the tub, standing behind it.

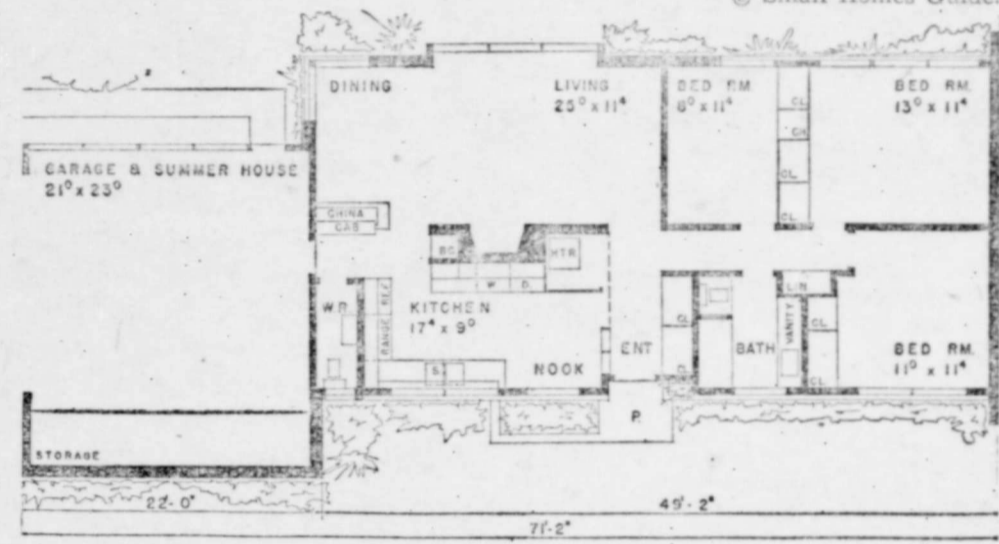

At that time, the visitor would give a yank of the rope, as instructed, but instead of a badger, it would be nothing more or less than a bed chamber vessel with the rope tied in the handle. That always called for a treat of cigars. And we remember that Editor

Economical Home Design Wins First Prize Award From Small Homes Guide

3 Bedrooms, Rear-View Accent

A combination of architectural interest and economical construction has won the home shown here a design award. Rear-view living is emphasized in the plan, with even the garage having a window wall on one side, making it an ideal living and entertaining room in the summer. The rectangular shape of the plan, plus storage walls replacing partitions, plus built-in features, add to the economy and livability of this house. Room-to-room circulation is regulated by the fireplace wall, which also includes utility items. Fine touches are the double closets at the entrance and the small but useful lavatory off the garage. The house, not counting garage, has a floor area of 1,200 sq. ft.

The Importance of Mortgage Insurance to Home Owners

Safety Measure Against Income Stoppage

Adequate life insurance should be an important part of your insurance program for the protection of your home. Life insurance can be applied directly to your home under the heading of mortgage insurance, according to Small Homes Guide.

Mortgage insurance protects the family from loss of the home through income stoppage due to death in the family. The simplest way to cover this possibility is through an extra life insurance policy which is earmarked for payment of any remaining mortgage debt, should the insured die unexpectedly.

Life insurance plans written specifically as mortgage insurance have become popular and can be tailored to your own requirements. There are a number of different types of mortgage insurance policies, and we will describe several typical basic plans here.

Annuity Type Policy

One of the best plans is embodied in a policy that insures you for a certain number of years, then in itself reaches a cash value equal to the remainder of your mortgage, at which time the insurance policy matures. Your cash investment in the policy is then used to pay off the mortgage balance. This type of policy is the most expensive to carry while you are paying periodic premiums. (Insurance payments may increase your mortgage annual payments by a third or more); but its over-all cost at maturity when your mortgage has been liquidated, is almost insignificant or may be canceled entirely. At the same time you are fully insured for the full initial obligation of your mortgage for the entire time that you are making payments. Your death at any time during these years not only pays off the debt, but refunds to your family every cent that has been paid on the mortgage to that date.

A typical policy of this type on a 20-year $10,000 mortgage, with the insured at age 35, costs approximately $23.00 a month. Cash value of the policy equals the mortgage debt in 15 years, at which time both policy and mortgage are canceled.

Because of the interest saved through prepayment, you will probably pay less, including the cost of insurance, than if you paid your mortgage off in the normal manner over the 20-year period!

A plan entailing less running expense for insurance during the mortgage payment years (but costing more in the long run than the previously outlined plan) is one which combines the cash-value type insurance with ordinary term insurance. The amount of term insurance coverage is reduced as the mortgage reduces. Term insurance is the type which offers protection only in case of death, does not return any cash to the insured when the policy is terminated.

This second type of mortgage insurance package, as does the first, has a cash value at any time but, as far as insurance is concerned, covers only the outstanding mortgage debt. In the event of the insured's death, the insurance cancels the mortgage, but there is no refund to the family. However, with the policy having a cash value, the point is eventually reached where this equals the outstanding mortgage, so that additional mortgage payments are not necessary. It takes longer to reach this point than with the previously outlined policy, but the net cost of this type of insurance over the full mortgage term is still very low.

A typical policy in this category on the same 20-year $10,000 mortgage previously given as an example, calls for a monthly premium of approximately $8 for the first 16 years of the policy, reduces to about $5 per month thereafter. If you allow the policy to run full 20 years, you have paid about $800 more for the insurance coverage than remains to you as cash value. This is not as good a long range bargain as the first policy described, but the monthly payment burden also has been appreciably less.

Least Expensive Plan

Least expensive insurance plan to carry, but costing most in the over-all if the insured lives, is straight term insurance applied to the mortgage period.

A typical policy of this type applied to the same 20-year $10,000 mortgage would cost only about $5 a month. Total 20-year cost comes to over $1,100, with no cash value to refund.

It is usually possible to obtain with any of the above policies a disability waiver-of-premium clause. This means that should the insured be disabled through sickness or accident, premiums are automatically paid as long as the condition prevails. Cash and dividend values continue to increase just as though premiums had been paid by the insured person.

Fauley came through nobly. He bought a whole box down at the Randal Drug. All had fun. When Mr. Fauley returned to

New York, he wrote quite an article for the Times about his experience at a "badger fight" in west Texas.

Stricklinly Speaking

By OLD HE

This year above every other year as long as the writer can remember, party politics in all its ugliness has come to the surface. For instance, we see a handful of old line Republicans who have for many years had charge of matters here in Texas, take things over, in spite of what happened at the precinct and county conventions, and have seated the minority or rump delegates at the State Convention at Mineral Wells.

These "Old Guards" don't want fair play. They want to run matters to suit themselves. They are not giving a whoop about winning an election. What they want is the plums that they get as party leaders. Until these self appointed leaders are eliminated in Texas, the Republican party is just a party in name only.

And we find the "Loy-ists" Democrats up to the same kind of shenanigans. They lost in the precinct, county and state convention, but the radical northern gang at Chicago will no doubt seat the rump organization that is presently led by Fagan Dickson.

For the reason that both parties are presently led by minorities in not a few places, the people should demand that the next legislature of Texas give the people a presidential preferential primary, one with teeth in it, so that those who fairly and squarely won in the precinct, county and state conventions, would be the ones that represent that state in the National convention.

Not only should Texas, but all other states adopt preferential primaries, and while we do not fancy federal dictation or control, we believe the primaries should be as uniform as possible throughout the states. That the delegates chosen by popular vote, should be pledged to support the name of the person they were elected to support as long as his name is before the convention: Or until a majority see there is no chance for their man, and may with mutual consent switch to another candidate.

When our founding fathers in convention at Philadelphia found they could not agree on the provisions, all of them at least, for a United States to compose a nation, that wise old leader, Benjamin Franklin, suggested that the convention adjourn, and that all pray that God might lead them in their project of duty. This was done, and when they next came together, the Declaration of Independence was adopted, and later the Constitution. Back in those days the efficacy of prayer was a must among a burdened, oppressed and freedom loving people. But prayer seems to have gone out of the window.

When the United Nations was brought into existence out at San Francisco following the war, in deference to the godless nations led by Russia, prayer was dispensed with. And the same goes with that "debating society" now housed in their fine headquarters with regal offices, etc., in New York. Their sessions are never opened or closed with prayer. We have been listening for something like this to happen in our congress and state legislatures.

The only thing that we can give Russia and other bandit nations credit for is that they are several jumps ahead of the real democratic nations in putting out lying propaganda. They are really efficient and polished liars.

Well, the Old He and frau, or better four-fifths, as Editor Wade in his Jayton Chronicle always says, are going to be fearfully lonesome this summer. The son-in-law is taking off this week for the summer in California, and of course the daughter and little grand-daughter, Miss Sara Beth, will go along. School was out at Snyder Tuesday this week; they rented their home for the summer, furnished, and they're off.

And if they find something that he likes out in the Golden State, the visit might become permanent. But right now it is their intention to return to Snyder for opening of school in September. Anyway, it is going to be a long

The Best Way Is to Help Small Business

Uncle Sam is making a big business out of helping small business. This is a development which the West Texas Chamber of Commerce points out in a plea that "our government in Washington give some real help to the nation's small business man, and getting rid of bureaucratic red tape and restrictions."

If Congress should vote the full amount requested next year for the "small business" activities of the various Federal agencies and of Congress itself, the WTCC figured the total bill to run them would be about $8,000,000 annually. Most of this money would go for salaries of more than 1,300 persons on various Federal "small business" agency payrolls.

Representative J. Vaughan Gary (D., Va.) of the House Appropriations Committee added the number of actual employees on small business activities in 11 Federal agencies and found that these alone totaled 757 persons. On top of all this, an appropriation of $3,100,000 is now asked to support the newly created Small Defense Plants Administration which would have a payroll of some 500 employees next year.

Still others are similarly employed in connection with the Federal Government's foreign economic aid program. The activities of the Senate and House Committees on Small Business cost more than $150,000 a year.

old summer with us, and although it takes two hands and the cook to keep this little Miss Sara B. out of stuff—including our snuff—we love the little 21 months old lady.

But we will have the three offspring of the Jr. family. However, Jack T. has reached the point that he is one of the men. But Robert and Mary Ann are still lively twaddlers that keep us well entertained. But that does not keep us from wanting all three of them. When the three get together occasionally in our home, we almost feel that we are raising our second family.

Especially is there much ballehujah raised about bedtime when it is time for them to visit the land of nod. They are not possessed of any idea of sleep, and only screams, wiggles, turns and twists, which finally induce sleep. But many of the readers know all this. They've had the same experience.

Still Monkeying With West Terry Wildcat

It would take several more oilologists than works on this great religious weekly to figure what is happening to that Conoco No. 1 Atlas, out there in West Terry, 12 miles west of town, and (four east of Tokio). Anyway, the one presently located just west of the County Experiment farm.

From what we can gather, they have cemented the hole, which was drilled down to the lower regions more than 13,000 feet, back to the Wolfcamp zone at 10,950-75. In this space of 25 feet, they have punched some holes in the casing (they call it perforation). This was the lowest strata of the three or four that oil was encountered in the wildcat.

Presently, they are swabbing, if you know what that means, and have recovered some oil, and now they are fixing to acidize. Supposedly, acid makes the formation where the oil is located more porous, and the stuff gets out where the gas, if enough will surface it, or can be pumped out. Hope it is a whizzer.

The only new well brought in last week was the Stanolind No. 5 Mary G. Scales in the Wellman pool. A fair producer. A new location in the Adair-Wolfcamp on the F. H. Carpenter holdings, Sec. 1, block C-36. Hope they get a good well on "Big Boy" Carpenter's holdings.

Making A Sashay Around the Area

Do you ever start out some Sunday afternoon just for an outing or trying to "forget it all?"

Or maybe you have in mind to see how the farmers have progressed since the rains in getting the precious seeds into the ground? Anyway, when you leave the own, you have no more idea than a haunt where you will go or end up. You are just a Rumbling Rufus.

That's the way it all happened with the Old He, wife, daughter, Mrs. H. Trigg, and the little Miss Sara Beth, Sunday p. m. So, we just headed out the Plains road. We found a considerable portion of land to Gomez and a few miles beyond, planted, but the rain seemed to have been lighter out that way, and not so much planted. Waiting for more rain, perhaps. Out this side of the County Farm, we turned north to Johnson, and the further north we went, the more rainfall apparently, and therefore more land planted.

Only saw one field of some sort of grain coming up. Perhaps sudan for grazing, and one or two fields of cotton breaking through a bit—but could have been goat heads. Found that the Pool community perhaps had the most abundant rainfall. Water still standing in the bar ditches out there, and most of the land planted. The lady in attendance at the store stated that they received a fine rain.

When we approached the intersection of the Sundown road and the F-M road, we remarked to the daughter who was driving, that the left end went to Sundown. She remarked that she had never been to Sundown, so we decided to go on over there. We then took a F-M road from Sundown east to the Brownfield-Levelland highway. There is little drilling activity thereabouts presently, as the field has long since been drilled out, so the town has settled down to the even tenor of its way. They had good rains up that way, however, and from there into Brownfield, most of the farms were planted or being planted.

We saw but one place where the people were planting Sunday on the whole route. Most had decided to rest for the day. But all in the Pool, Sundown, Locketville and Needmore sections, the grass is much greener in the pastures, and the countryside looked bright and clean.

We have an invitation to attend the U. S. Marine Corps Reserve Commissioning ceremonies, at Lubbock, May 30, 8 p. m. The ceremonies will be held at the Naval Reserve Training Center, at 710 College Ave.

Good Rains Visit The Terry Area

(Delayed)

Rain that could not have fallen prettier was received here during the weekend, and from what we can gather, was lighter in some places and heavier in others, than here in town. The USWB gauge for instance, registered 80/100 Saturday, 38/100 up to 6 p. m., Sunday, and 15/100 after that time.

This made a total of 1.33 inches during the spell. It was approximately fair Monday morning. We understood that more than two inches was reported out at the radio station. And there were possibly places with less than was registered here in town. But if most of the area got as much as here in town, 1 1/3 inches, they can now plant the cotton.

There was considerable thunder at an early hour Saturday morning, that appeared to be located mostly north and northeast of town.

On Thursday, May 15, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Moore, 804 East Hester, and their house guest, Mrs. Allie Blair of Houston, visited the Carlsbad Caverns. They went to El Paso that night and spent the following day sight-seeing. The also went to Juarez, Old Mexico.

Counting the Eggs Before the Chickens Hatch

The Sunday Lubbock dailies were pretty well filled with what is supposed to be the income on the farms of the 18 south Plains counties, presumably at the close of the operations of making and marketing the 1952 crop, if it takes part of 1953 for the harvesting. Usually does take part of the second year. But after seeing some of the predictions made by the farm editor, we could not help but think of that trite old saying back in our boyhood, "never count the chickens until the eggs hatch."

Nevertheless, we hope the predictions are more right than wrong, and that Terry will harvest a crop of more than $26,000,000. Of this $22,720,000 was for cotton, $3,475,000 for grain sorghums, and $3,780,000 for other crops not specified.

In the same forecast, Yoakum county was to have an income of $3,500,000 for cotton and $1,500,000 for grain sorghums, and Gaines county was to have an income from all crops just short of $1,000,000. All this in face of the fact that little cotton has been planted in the south, southwest area of these 18 counties, and it is not almost too late to plant cotton.

A lot of people, however, have just about reached the conclusion that year in and year out, a farmer makes just about as much clean money on maize production as on cotton, counting the huge cost of hand gathering of cotton, whereas all maize or sorghum grains are presently harvested with a combine, and usually done with the regular farm force. But, they get now getting a lot of cotton harvesters in this man's country, and the importation of Mexican and Negro farm workers may not be what it used to be in another year or two.

While the farm acreage as a whole may have increased in Terry county, slightly in the past few years, the number of farms have decreased from about 1400 to 1200 and the farms are larger. The two, three and four row tractors have taken care of the matter of larger farms. But one bad condition is that, it has caused a lot of small farmers to have to move to town, and get day work.

Irrigation too, has greatly increased in the past five or six years, and still doing so. While there were only two irrigated farms in 1945, they had increased to 64 in 1950, and much more as of this year. Most livestock with the exception of horses and sheep have increased in numbers as well as values. This of course takes in dairy and beef cattle.

The best horses we see in this section of life is when we have a nice parade, and the Sheriff's Posse come to town.

Mr. and Mrs. Prentice Walker and their children, Jimmy and Jill, left Monday afternoon for Cloud City, N. M., for a few days.

Another Glorious Rain Came Tuesday

While the USWB gauge here in town showed a total of only 1.08 inches of rain up to about nine o'clock Tuesday night, other measurements in the county ranged up to 2 inches. However, some places reported less. The rain started falling here in town slightly after 2 p. m., Tuesday, and continued heavy for some two hours, and then showers until after nightfall.

We understand that 1.50 was gauged out at the radio station; Phillip Rogers reported some 2 inches out in the Harmony community. Herman Trigg coming in from Snyder reported that from the caprock east of Lamesa to Brownfield, water was then standing in the middles of plowed fields.

But from other reports the rain was heaviest south and southwest, an area that has been shy of rain for more than a year. One fellow remarked recently that he thought he had about two inches of rain in 1951. The rain at Seagraves was first reported as 7 inches, later reduced to three.

And there was also a report that Tahoka was flooded, probably another exaggeration. They had 2 inches. But according to the Lubbock dailies, the heaviest part of the rain was in the south, southwest part of the south Plains. From Levelland with 35/100 north, just showers. The same from Lubbock east.

But that section of the south Plains have received during the year, more rain than this area. Right now, we have a pretty good season over the area.

ON EXTENDED TOUR
Mr. and Mrs. Ches Gore and Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Sawyer left Wednesday, May 14, for an extended trip through the Northwestern part of the United States, and Canada. J. O. Gillham, Burton Hackney, and A. M. Muldrow left Sunday afternoon, May 25, to attend the State Democratic Convention in San Antonio. They went as delegates from the Terry County Democratic Convention. They are expected to return home the latter part of the week.

Well we dropped around at a Humble Service Station, the one run by Mr. Leon Goldston, last Saturday afternoon and got our souvenir. A real good ballpoint pen that is capped in case it ever leaks. So far it hasn't. Our son-in-law also got one and the little granddaughter some candy. Thanks a lot.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Shelton are attending market in Dallas this week. Their daughter, Joan, accompanied them as far as Cisco, where she will visit her grandmother, Mrs. J. E. Shelton.
