And good old Arkansas went right down the line like our native Tennessee and eliminated a lot of deadwood in the party. Just as Tennessee put Senator McCellar and Gov. Gordon Browning on the retired list, this week Arkansas voters saw fit to let Gov. Sid McMath bow out. Maybe not too many of our readers will remember that when the Southern Governors Association met in convention at Little Rock with Gov. McMath as the host, he was the only one of the Southern governors that praised the administration at Washington. And almost made an insulting speech because the other Southern governors did not go along with him. But when Gov. Jimmie Byrnes of South Carolina got through raking McMath and the Truman administration over the coals, it is said that McMath although host to the convention, walked out in a huff. For all this, Mr. Truman was very grateful, and asked the voters of Arkansas to re-elect Gov. McMath for a third term. But a little known country judge in the rural areas of the state, took McMath for a 5 to 3 ration cleaning in the runoff election last week. Truman endorsed McMath personally, when he recently paid a visit to that state. Almost the same identical thing happened in Missouri, home state of the president, recently when he publicly endorsed one man for the US Senate. The other man beat the Truman man for the nomination almost 2 to 1. It may be just for that reason that Gov. Stevenson of Illinois has been rather juberous of any endorsement from the White House. It seem that such an endorsement is almost the kiss of death. Yet a lot of people believe voters don't think, but just go along in the even tenor of their way, doing what the big bosses tell them to do without reason or question. Traditionally, the South has always voted the straight Democratic ticket. But for the past few years, they are fast waking up to happened in Arkansas and Tennessee, and we don't have to go out of Texas to see the results of people's thinking. Take the opposition of both Gov. Shivers and Price Daniel, for instance, who were at least patted in the back by the national administration. They took a great drubbing at the hands of the voters of Texas. It seems from this distance that the Democratic nominee for president is doing some tall dodging to try and leave the impression that he does not want or seek the blessings of HST. As a consequence, there has risen much disputing and perhaps quarrels among some of the higher ups in the Truman autocracy. This has appeared especially in the retiring Truman National Democratic Chairman, and the one recently appointed at the behest of Gov. Stevenson. It is becoming the general idea over the land that an endorsement from Truman is the kiss of death, politically.

The Dallas Morning News of August 12th copied a rather lengthy but interesting editorial, taken from the Los Angeles Times. We shall try to give a bit of substance of this editorial herewith: First off, the Times admitted that Texas people were taking the lead in fighting the stealing of their oil rich tidelands by the federal government, at the behest of Mr. Truman and his interior department. It stated that people of Texas were justly aroused, since the tidelands had been in their possession for more than 100 years. That the ownership was admitted in a treaty when Texas joined the union in 1848. But of late years, oil has been found, and most of the money from this oil justly goes to the school children of Texas. Of course most of the Trumanocrats soft note this fact, when they think Mr. Truman is listening, but talk rather bold for Texas ears. In fact some really don't seem to care if Texas school children are robbed of this possession. But a lot of other people do, and we are going to mention some of the prominent organizations that are fighting this big steal. Here they are: State Teachers Association, Texas Bar Association, the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the American Legion, Parent-Teacher Association, Texas Federation of Womens Clubs, the East, West and South Texas Chambers of Commerce, Sons and Daughters of the Republic of Texas, County Judges and Commissioners Association, Junior Chambers of Commerce and the Texas Association of Commerce. For that reason many Texans cannot conscientiously support the National Democratic ticket. It is well known that Gov. Stevenson hedged on the idea of States Rights in this matter at the Governors Convention in Houston, just before the national conventions. It is equally well known that Senator Sparkman of Alabama, the vice-presidential nominee, voted both times for the government grab of the tidelands, and the Democratic platform ignores the question altogether. On the other hand, the Republican platform comes out squarely for State ownership, and Eisenhower stated that he believed in States Rights in the matter. It is a very reasonable conclusion that the Republican vice-presidential nominee, Sen. Nixon, being a citizen of one of the states involved, California, is for state ownership. By the way, what has become of those a year or so ago who always put this idea forward: "Let's stay in the Democratic party and fight it out there?" No success?

It was, simply stated, whether or not an American citizen could get and hold a job in that industry without joining a union and paying dues. The question arises: Is an American laborer free, or do they have to comply with certain restrictions of bosses or be ousted? It is pretty well known that a union with say 10,000 members seldom have more than 400 present at these business meetings, where maneuvers are planned. This shows conclusively that a small minority circle controls the working conditions of their members, and dictate who shall or shall not work. Is this liberty and freedom? Leaders in all countries and in all ages, have become mad with power, and have become dictators, when they have their nation in hand. It will be well for the run of the mine people to see how these would be dictators are lined up, and cast their votes just the opposite.

Run onto something the other day that was contrary to all reasoning, it seemed, but the more we studied the matter, the more we became convinced that the idea had merits. There was at one time a man highly connected with highway traffic safety in Texas, but is now connected with a large northern university, where he is instructor in safe driving. He made the remark that the high IQ people generally speaking were the poorest drivers, for the reason they might have their minds on things other than their driving. Then he went on to say that sometimes those considered a bit moronic, with an IQ test of the 12 or 14 year old boy, might be the safest driver, because they had been taught to watch their driving, watch the roads, signs, lights, etc. And that is exactly what they do. Their minds are just capable of comprehending one thing at a time, and that's what they do. We are calling no names, but on a few occasions we have gone through heavy traffic with a man who holds a college degree. Instead of watching the traffic about him, he like as not would be pointing out the big buildings, and what they were. But on each such occasion, the Lord seemed to be with us, and no harm came. This safety instructor, mentioned above, went on, however to say. Not all brilliant people are educated, and not all educated are brilliant.

Keep Cool-You'll Work Better!

TESTS conducted among students at a large midwestern university during winter and summer showed that the students suffered an average drop in mental efficiency of 40% during the hot humid summer months. The tests were similar in each case.

SCIENCE has shown that excessive heat slows down bodily processes. In some cases to the point of complete collapse. The reasons for this are that the body's own regulating system closes off the large internal blood vessels, diverting the blood to the surface to pass off the unwanted body heat. The hotter the outside temperature, the more blood must be diverted since the hot atmosphere cannot soak up so much of this heat. The result, experiments have shown, is that the brain is robbed of oxygen-bearing blood, slowing down mental processes as much as 50%. Speed and accuracy both suffer.

Prepared by Mitchell Manufacturing Company, Air Conditioning Division

Science has found that the best temperature environment for performing mental work is in the mid 70 degree range. Studies of office workers at varying temperature conditions show that efficiency drops markedly as the temperature rises above this range. Body heat rises rapidly because the atmosphere is unable to absorb the extra heat generated in the body. This results in a rapidly decreasing ability to perform even simple tasks requiring mental alertness, accuracy and speed. There are three basic ways the body can combat this building up of energy-destroying excess heat. These are radiation, or passing off the heat directly to the air; evaporation of moisture or perspiration; and by contact with a cooler surface which will absorb the excess heat. Among the ways of accomplishing this are frequent cool baths, rapid circulation of air and the wearing of light, porous clothing. However, the most efficient way to keep cool is to lower the humidity and temperature of the atmosphere. Tests conducted by the Mitchell Air Conditioning Research Foundation show that this is best done by means of the room air conditioner which not only cools the air but dehumidifies it as well, allowing the evaporation of perspiration to cool the body naturally. The room air conditioner also affords relief from asthma, hay fever and other airborne allergies by removing 99.9 per cent of solid foreign matter including pollen from the incoming air stream.

People who can remember back 50 years ago or longer, recall that many of the employers of those days were almost contemptuous of their employees. That the working people were expected to get on the job if at all physically able, for long hours and full six-day weeks. They were expected to take the pay offered them—and like it. Then came a great change for the betterment of the working man. We say man, because few women were employed at that time. This improvement came gradually via labor unions. These unions were hailed as the salvation of the underdogs of the industrial setup. But as the unions gained in membership, importance and power, they became almost as arrogant as the big industrial bosses, and became drunk with power and importance. A lesson along this line was recently pulled by Phil Murray of the CIO, during the steel strike. Contrary to what many people believe, the strike was not for higher wages, working conditions, hours or ben-

"All my life I've wanted to own a Buick"

POWER STEERING on the Roadmaster and Super

It seems that owning a Buick is something that a lot of folks dream about—plan for—and finally do.

We say that because, so many times, they say so in words like those above.

Those words make us happy, of course—happy to know we sell a car which means so much to those who own it.

But they make us feel just a little bit sad as well—sad to realize all the years of fun such folks have been missing for no good reason at all.

For the fact is this: If you can afford any new car, you can afford a Buick.

You can afford the thrill of bossing around that big Fireball 8 Engine that purrs forth a mighty flow of power.

You can afford the gas bills—as any owner of a 1952 Buick will tell you—because that high-compression, valve-in-head marvel gets a lot of miles from a gallon of fuel.

You can afford the extra luxury of a real million dollar ride—the silken smoothness of Dynaflo Drive®—the extra room and comfort and style that have put Buick popularity right up at the top of the list, next to the "low-priced three."

So if you want to own a Buick—there's just one thing to do: Come in—pick the one of your choice—and let us show you how close the figure that goes on the bill of sale comes to what you'd pay elsewhere.

As we've said before, your first car can be a Buick. Why not take the Big Step right away—today?

Or, if you want the Herald at that price for 6, 9 or 12 years, we will take your order and receipt you for any number of years you wish.

Miss Von Forbus King Du Clos Wed In First Presbyterian Church Ceremony

In a double ring ceremony read Saturday, August 16, at 3:30 p.m., in the First Presbyterian Church, Miss Von Forbus, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Forbus, 907 South 7th, became the bride of King Du Clos, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Du Clos, South Peoria St., Chicago, Ill.

Rev. Tom Keenan, pastor of the church, officiated for the service. Formal vows were spoken before an altar of greenery and pastel varicolored satin and flowers.

A musical prelude to the ceremony was offered by Mrs. Jack Shirley. During the ceremony, she played "The Lord's Prayer," and was also accompanist to Miss Billy Fulcher of Alpine, who sang "Give Me Your Hand" and "The Wedding Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a gown of imported organdy lace over white taffeta. The dress was fashioned with a fitted, strapless bodice and a high neckline bolero outlined with seed pearls. Her bouffant skirt of demitasse length and her waist length veil of illusion fell from a heart shaped tiara made of lace an illusion outlined with seed pearls.

The bridal bouquet was of green orchids surrounded by white ranunculus in a cascade of green and white satin and net. For something old and borrowed the bride wore a pearl brooch set with an emerald, belonging to the groom's aunt, Mrs. Louise Faulmann of Wisconsin. As something lucky, she had a coin in her slipper and wore a garter for something blue.

Miss George Ann Elam of Staples, Texas, was maid of honor and was gowned in a demitasse length dress of imported green organdy, and wore a green picture hat. Her bouquet was of pink carnations.

The bride was also attended by two bridesmaids, Mrs. Bill Blankenship, who wore a dress of yellow organdy and a yellow picture hat, carrying an arrangement of blue-green carnations, and Mrs. Harley Rodgers, who wore pink organdy dress and hat and carried a bouquet of yellow carnations.

Candlelighters were Miss Nancy Du Clos, sister of the groom, of Chicago, and Miss Bonnie Rea, cousin of the bride, of Eunice, New Mexico. The two wore gowns of orchid organdy designed identical to those of the bridesmaids. Yellow flowers ornamented the candles used for lighting.

Bruce Du Clos of Chicago served his brother as best man. Ushers were George Clements, El Paso, and John Schultz, Chicago.

A reception honoring the newlyweds was held in the church parlor immediately following the ceremony. The bouquets of the maid of honor and bridesmaids formed the floral decoration for the bride's table and were centered by a miniature bride and groom under an archway of silver wedding bells. Candles in crystal holders completed the decorations.

Serving the heart shaped wedding cake and punch were Misses Billy Fulcher, George Ann Elam, Nancy Du Clos, Bonnie Rea, and Mrs. Bill Blankenship.

Out of town wedding and reception guests were present from Dallas, Abilene, Ft. Stockton, Alpine, Lubbock, Abernathy, Lamesa, Lovington, Eunice and Chicago.

Following the reception, the couple left on a trip of two weeks for the Great Lakes, Wisconsin, and Chicago. For going away, the bride wore a rose silk denim suit with toast and white accessories, and a green orchid corsage.

Upon returning, the couple will be at home in El Paso where Mrs. Du Clos is employed as a physical education instructor in the El Paso High school and Mr. Du Clos is a student at Texas Western College and co-captain of the Miners football team.

Disabled Vet May Get His Car

AUSTIN.—Now disabled veterans can have those cars they've been waiting for.

Congress has appropriated the funds with which to implement its program of furnishing cars for disabled veterans under certain conditions, the Texas Division of the American Automobile Association has learned.

Under the law which was passed last October, the U. S. Government would pay the first $1,600 of the purchase price of an automobile for each disabled veteran who met the qualifications. Originally, applications of the vets were delayed because no funds had been appropriated to carry out the provisions of the act.

But now the money is available, and the Veterans Administration says prompt attention will be given to the applicants.

Joe S. Moss Favored For Court Post

JOE S. MOSS

Joe S. Moss, the Post lawyer, is the favorite for Associate Justice of the Amarillo Court of Civil Appeals, according to those who know him best, the lawyers of the 46 county district. In the poll conducted by the State Bar Association among the lawyers of the sprawling district, Moss received 176 votes to only 59 for his opponent.

Moss, the small town lawyer, who has practiced civil law in Post for nearly twenty years, is married and has one child. He served over three years in the army in the late war.

In the first primary his home county gave him more than a six to one majority over three worthy opponents. He has served in various official positions throughout his career, but this is his first venture in a district race.

G. I. QUESTIONS and ANSWERS

Q. I'm a Korean veteran and I want to go to school this fall under the new Korean GI Bill. May I attend any school that was approved by my State for World War II veterans?

A. No. A school must be State-approved for training under the new GI Bill, before you may enroll. Approval granted under the World War II GI Bill does not carry over, under the law, because in many cases schools are required to meet different standards than in the past.

Q. I'd like to take a single course in school this fall under the Korean GI Bill. It would be for less than half-time. How large an educational allowance would I get?

A. You would receive either (1) the established charges for tuition and fees which all students taking the same course must pay, or (2) a prorated amount based on $110 a month for a full-time course. You would be paid whichever amount is the lesser.

Q. I am a World War II veteran and I've recently gone back on active duty. I have never used any of my GI loan entitlement. Which GI loan dealline applies to me: July 25, 1957, under the World War II GI Bill, or 10 years after the present emergency, under the Korean GI Bill?

A. The Korean GI Bill dealline applies to you. You will have 10 years from the end of the current emergency to make use of your GI loan benefit.

Q. Are loans made under the Korean GI Bill subject to the down payment requirements of the Defense Production Act?

A. Yes. The down payment requirements of the Defense Production Act apply to GI loans made under the new Korean GI Bill in the same way that they apply to loans made under the World War II law.

Three years ago 60 to 70 per cent of the population of Chiangmai, in Northern Thailand, was affected by malaria. Since then, with the help of the U.N. World Health Organization (WHO), and the U.N. GMC
TRUCKS

GASOLINE 1/2 TO 30 TONS
DIESEL 2 1/2 TO 35 TONS

Your key to greater hauling profits

PAYLOAD

-1195 extra pounds of it!

-to cut your costs, increase your profits!

GMC engineering brings you this great new Model 470 highway tractor that hauls up to 1,195 pounds more cargo than any other vehicle in the 45,000 gross weight class.

Here are the reasons why. It will pay you to study them carefully.

Sensational new engine. Model 470 is powered by GMC's new 145 h.p. valve-in-head "302" engine—the most powerful gasoline engine for its weight in truck history.

Maximum power-to-weight ratio. The "302" engine weighs as much as 500 pounds less than other engines of comparable power, due to new high efficiency design.

Highest compression—7.2 to 1—excels any other standard gasoline truck engine, accelerates faster. Delivers full power at an easy-stroking 3,200 r.p.m.

More ton-miles per gallon—less dead weight in engine and chassis means more profit in every mile.

Highest payload capacity—upwards of one-half ton greater than any other tractor of the same GCW rating.

Price—the biggest surprise of all. Compare the price you have to pay for this pace-setting GMC against the field. Nowhere else will so little buy so much in a 3- to 4 1/2-ton tractor.

Why not come in and see for yourself?

Reminds us that most of the long distance forecasters have been predicting for the last two or three years that 1952 would be the last of the extremely dry years, and that a wet cycle will start beginning in 1953. HOUSE JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 20 proposing an Amendment to Article III of the Constitution of the State of Texas by adding a new section thereto to be known as Section 61 to authorize cities, towns, and villages of this State to provide insurance for employees; providing for the submission of the proposed Amendment to the qualified electorate; and providing for proclamation and publication by the Governor.

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS:

Section 1. That Article III of the Constitution of the State of Texas be amended by adding a new section thereto to be known as Section 61 to read as follows:

"Sec. 61. The Legislature shall have the power to enact laws to enable cities, towns, and villages of this State to provide Workmen's Compensation Insurance, including the right to provide their own insurance risk for all employees; and the Legislature shall provide suitable laws for the administration of such insurance in the said municipalities and for payment of the costs, charges, and premiums on policies of insurance and the benefits to be paid thereunder."

Sec. 2. The foregoing Constitutional Amendment shall be submitted to a vote of the qualified electorate of the State at the General Election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1952, at which election all ballots shall have printed thereon (or in counties using voting machines the said machines shall provide for) the following:

"FOR the Constitutional Amendment authorizing the Legislature to provide for Workmen's Compensation Insurance for employees of cities, towns and villages;" and "AGAINST the Constitutional Amendment authorizing the Legislature to provide for Workmen's Compensation Insurance for employees of cities, towns and villages."

Each voter shall mark out one (1) of said choices on the ballot, leaving the one (1) expressing his vote on the proposed Amendment; and if it shall appear from the returns of said election that a majority of the votes cast are in favor of said Amendment, the same shall become a part of the Constitution of the State of Texas.

Sec. 3. The Governor of the State of Texas shall issue the necessary proclamation for said election and have the same published as required by the Constitution and laws of this State.

It was Paris, folks—no, Texas, not France. And the great part of the affair was that we did not have to pull our nearly empty purse and register for the night, or have a smiling waitress bring us a bill for the chuck.

And speaking of travel, and it seems that for the reason that a lot of people don't answer their phones these days, that a lot of them are off sometimes seeing the sights. The American Automobile Association tells us that there are sometimes accidents on the highways when the drivers seem to be up to par. But the roads they are traversing may be way under par—in great need of repairs, but the overburdened highway workers, or lack of funds just has not permitted repairs.

So, a fairly careful driver may drop into a deep chughole, the car veers, and overturns or runs into another car. Public opinion is the only way to get needed repairs on torn up and worn out roads, says AAA.

Here we are right back on the weather, as if we could do a dratted thing about it. As the late humorist, Will Rogers, used to say, we read it in the papers that on account of the heat over the nation, soft drinks, and the writer mentioned several, had boosted sales as much as 20 and 25 per cent.

So, we might mention right here that it is an ill wind that blows no one any good. And continuing the idea of tasting and drinking, one guy who seems to know about everything, says, says he: "If your mind is harboring good thoughts, your mouth will respond in the same way." We'll have to admit right here, that the Bible itself, says something like this: "Out of the abundance of the heart (mind) the mouth speaketh."

So, says one, if you have a good taste in your mouth, you are not likely to spew out gall.

Now, as to these flying "saucers." We saw one, and some in the crowd out on the terrace, as well as some over in the Hayden Griffin yard saw as many as three of them. Couldn't figure how high they were, but if they were a "good piece" up in the air, man they were drifting along and we don't mean maybe. But if they were just the shadows of bullbats cast into the sky from the powerful street lights and other neons nearby, they moved just about as fast as those birds fly.

in the night prowlings for bugs. Some thought they looked like they were whirling, but others of us thought they were moving along straight and had wings. We heard no noise of wings or honks, if wild geese as some think. Anyway, Herman Trigg spent the night with Jack Jr. and they slept out in the yard to watch for others. Jr. says he saw one other. Herman evidently went to sleep. So much for the saucers.

Well, here is our weekly belly-ache: Although Lubbock, Hale, Floyd and Crosby counties are not in the "make it rain more" belt, they seem to be getting the lion's share of the moisture. Maybe if the south group of counties lay off next year, they'll get more rain.

Among others who are sending in the cash for the Herald at the old rate, while it is still good, was P. G. Stanford, of Plains. He also had a plaint. Hot as 'ell, and feed burning up.

In closing this tirade for the week, we can't help think of a very nice letter we had from Red Smith, sometimes called Wayne. Red has been with us two or three years as manager of the Chamber of Commerce, and believe you us, he has really put that organization on its feet, and we hate like heck to see him go, but feel that Mr. Elder is going to carry on satisfactorily.

Anyway, Red tells us of his friendship toward us and the help we had given him in his work, which was little enough, if you ask us. Nevertheless we appreciate the sentiments of Red, and wish all the good things of this life for he and his excellent family. And we hope they like Plainview.

LOVE LAUGHS LAST
BY ALEX GARRISON

IT WAS July, and in July the mountain, in whose bosom nestled the quaint little hotel, was heavenly. Few guests had arrived; they had the hotel and surrounding country almost to themselves.

Neither had known such a glorious six-days as those which followed. When it was over, John said: "We'll go back to New York together. We'll be married on the way."

But Helen shook her head. "We can't, John. It wouldn't be fair to either of us. Everything that has happened here has been wonderful, too wonderful. Going back might change it. We're not sure. We must test our love for your sake and mine. For the sake of the future. Test it by parting, by staying apart for a year. That's the only real way to tell."

"Of course." He understood perfectly. He kissed her. "A year, my sweet, I'll love you a thousand times more. How long will be that year, yet how glorious the reunion!" He looked away down the side of the mountain. "July 23, next year, we'll meet in my apartment, for dinner. And after dinner we'll go out and get married."

The practicability with which they made their plans caused them both to laugh. With their arms about each other it seemed so silly, so utterly ridiculous.

But they were intelligent, mature people and both could see the logic of such a scheme. And so they parted. John went back to Philadelphia and to his architectural desk. At first it was hard, unbearable. His thoughts were constantly with Helen. Now that they were apart his imagination played easy tricks. Had she really loved him? Could it be that the plan she had suggested was merely a stratagem to make their parting easy, dramatic? Had she been amusing herself with him? In retrospect they had spent together. No, he decided, she must love him. No girl could give as much as she unless the giving were provoked by a deep and sincere devotion.

A sudden demand for his services in connection with the construction of a great municipal building in a nearby city was a welcome antidote to his tortured mind. Even so, several times he was tempted to write, though they

Man Dies of Injuries From Wellman Wreck

Charles L. Phillely of Lubbock died at 6 p. m., Thursday, August 15, in the Veteran's Hospital at Big Spring from injuries sustained in a car wreck near Wellman the previous Saturday night.

Also injured in the mishap with Phillely was Ray Hyer, Lubbock. Both men were taken to the local hospital following the wreck, later being moved to the Big Spring hospital.

The accident occurred when the car in which the two men were riding towards Seagraves swerved out of control on a double curve inside Wellman and struck a utility pole. Both men were thrown approximately 30 feet from the car. Phillely did not regain consciousness.

Phillely was a cousin of Mrs. L. R. Pounds and Mrs. L. J. Dunn Sr., both of Brownfield.

Mrs. Buck Howell left Wednesday for Arizona to visit relatives.

He pictured her out west, counting the days until July 2. Now that he had come to his senses he could look at the thing clearly, could appreciate how greatly she loved him. He scowled. It was going to be hard on Helen, but it was better to be a little hard now than ruin her whole future life.

And then suddenly he had an idea. They were to meet in his apartment for dinner. Wouldn't it be better, easier for them both if he closed up the apartment and went away, wasn't there to see her? The idea relieved his conscience. He'd do just that. But where he go? Where could he hide so that she couldn't find him? The answer came in a flash. The mountain resort where they had first met? It would be the last place in the world she would think of looking for him, because of its obviousness, if nothing else.

He arrived at the hotel shortly after dark. The lobby was deserted, save for one person, a girl sitting before the fire reading a magazine. She looked up when he entered and her face blanched.

"John! Oh, John, this is the last place in the world I thought you'd come looking for me!"

Give Pre-School Children Checkup

AUSTIN.—Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, urges the parents of all children who will respond to the school bell for the first time in September to be sure the child is physically ready for school duties.

"First and foremost, is the need for vaccination against smallpox. Parents should see that children are vaccinated before they are one year of age; however, if not done previously, at school age vaccination becomes absolutely necessary," Dr. Cox said. "If your child has not been vaccinated, have it done immediately for his own protection and that of others."

Immunization against diphtheria is also highly important, Dr. Cox declares. This disease which causes serious illness and deaths among young children can be prevented with toxoid. The child who has never been protected should be given this safeguard against a dreaded killing disease. Even though he may have been immunized as a baby, doctors and health officers usually recommend an additional dose of toxoid to strengthen immunity before entrance into school.

"In addition, before you send your child to school you are urged to take him to your family physician and dentist for a thorough examination," Dr. Cox adds. "You will want to know that he is in good physical condition and can compete with the other children on equal terms. If the check-up reveals any weakness or defects they should be corrected at once. Don't let your child start his school life with any avoidable handicap."

Mr. and Mrs. William Noble visited in Odessa last weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Randall Tidmore.

WELLMAN NEWS

Wellman school will open August 28 with a faculty meeting. On August 29, the buses will run at the regular time to bring students to the school for registration. Buses will take all children home at 12 o'clock, noon. A full schedule of classes will begin on September 1.

J. T. Bryant, superintendent, wishes to remind all parents their children beginning school for the first time this year must be vaccinated for smallpox, and must have a birth certificate.

School lunches will be $5 for the calendar month.

The faculty for the coming year will be: Mrs. Juanita Lanious, 1st grade; Mrs. Lorena Jackson, 2nd grade; Mrs. Kathleen Walser, 3rd grade; Mrs. Geneva Bryant, 4th grade; Mrs. Juanita Lyon, 5th grade; Otis Walser, 6th grade; L. T. Sewell, 7th grade home room teacher and Junior High school coach; Thomas George, elementary principal, 8th grade home room teacher, and girls' basketball coach.

The high school faculty will be: T. A. Sharp, principal and history teacher; Grady Baker, head coach and commercial subjects; Mrs. Grady Baker, English; B. H. Baldwin, assistant coach, math and government; Homer E. Jones, vocational agriculture; Miss Willie Mae Hines, homemaking.

New teachers for the year include: Mr. and Mrs. Grady Baker, who come from Luaders, both are graduates of McMurry College in Abilene. Mr. Baker holds a Master's degree and Mrs. Baker holds a BA; T. A. Sharp comes from Abilene and holds a BS degree from Hardin-Simmons University; L. T. Sewell is a graduate of Tulsa University where he played on some of the great teams that Tulsa has had in recent years. He was especially active in basketball, baseball and track. He coached the freshman team there the past year, and he is well known here, since he played on the Primm Drug team the past summer. Mr. and Mrs. Otis Walser are returning to Wellman after a year's leave of absence to attend the Southwest Baptist Seminary in Fort Worth.

Old Age Insurance Payments Increase

Nearly every family in the Brownfield area now getting old-age and survivors insurance payments will receive more money beginning with the September payments due about October 3. If the increase does not show on a check when it arrives early in October, and an increase is due, a later check will make up the difference. It is not necessary for people already receiving benefits to apply for the increased payments.

John G. Hutton, manager of the Lubbock Social Security Office, stated today that the recent amendments to the law will mean monthly payment increases ranging from $5 to $8.60 for practically all of the retired insured workers in the Brownfield area. The average for retired workers will be about $6.

The original term of copyright under existing U. S. law runs for 28 years.

Texas Is Biggest Cotton Producer, Lowest Yield

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Texas is at the same time the nation's greatest cotton producing state and one of the poorest.

The Lone Star State normally produces from a fourth to a third of the nation's cotton. No other state approaches Texas in total cotton production.

But on a per-acre-yield basis, Texas is almost at the bottom—a position it has held consistently in recent years.

This year, for instance, the latest U. S. Department of Agriculture report estimates the Texas cotton crop at 4,200,000 bales. That's more than 25 per cent of the indicated crop for the entire nation—14,735,000 bales. In No. 2 place in the nation as a cotton-producing state is California, with an indicated 1952 crop of 1,880,444 bales.

But Texas is way down the list when the comparison is on the basis of yield per acre. In the bottom spot, with an expected yield of only 173 pounds an acre, is Oklahoma. Texas is next to the bottom, at 184 pounds an acre. By contrast, Arizona is expected to produce 750 pounds per acre—more than four times as much per acre as Texas.

Other states with high per-acre yield expectations include California, 645 pounds per acre; Missouri, 407 pounds per acre; and New Mexico, 467 pounds per acre. In many of these, of course, the proportion of irrigated cotton acreage is higher than in Texas.

SANTA FE CARLOADINGS

Santa Fe carloadings for week ending August 8, 1952, were 23,220 compared with 22,949 for same week in 1951. Cars received from connections totaled 12,383 compared with 10,103 for same week in 1951.

Total cars moved were 35,603 compared with 33,502 for same week in 1951. Santa Fe handled a total of 34,095 cars in preceding week of this year.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Fulton will return by the end of this week from a trip to Yellowstone National Park in Wyoming, Salt Lake City, Utah, and other points of interest in the Rocky Mountain region.

Mr. Geo. Hudspeth Sr. went to Ft. Stockton, Texas, Friday, and her son, George Hudspeth Jr., and wife went down later and brought her home on Sunday.
