When the country newspaper editor wants some subject for an editorial, he usually scans the liveliest of the weeklies, the slick mags or the dailies. But lots of times he gets an idea from a much more modest source. We found one in the little Boles (Orphan) Home News, a home that is supported by the churches of Christ, principally of Texas. The home is located at Quinlan, near Greenville in east Texas. We are going to quote just a bit: "Jesus lived and worked in a world which many of his disciples shun today. Take a glimpse of the world that Jesus was commonly found in: 'All manner of diseases and all manner of sickness among the people,' and 'all that were sick, holden of divers diseases and torment, possessed of demons and epileptic and palsied, and he healed them.' Matt 4:23,24. What a horrid and terrible world in which the Master labored! All dejected and diseased, poor and unfortunate, full of leprosy and madness, ulcerated and bleeding, screaming with pain, dying with hunger and poverty, raving with insanity and fighting and foaming in a struggle for survival! What a shock and horror to our senses and feeling! How we fly to the other side of the track, and hide that world as far as we can from our sight and sensibilities. Yet that was the kind of world the Master found, for that was the world he was looking for. That was the kind of world that captured his sympathy and heart. Here was His challenge and chance to do good — among the people who needed His ministry and mercy." Yes, if it were we, or most of us, instead, we would shun just such people who needed help and encouragement. We would seek instead those who are at ease in Zion. Most of us want to "have it just as good as possible." But the Master could not have come into the world perhaps at a more miserable time for the common people. The Roman empire had overrun the world, and were the masters, and these masters ruled with an iron hand. Like presently, taxes were unbearable. Not only was Rome laying taxes on with an oppressive hand, but even the religious rulers of the time, were accused by Jesus of teaching for doctrine the commandments of men, and were laying on unjust taxes for their own benefit and pleasures. But Jesus was not only a Savior but a Physician as well, and He went into the byways and hedges and sought out those who needed a physician. It is a great pity that we of this time might not make Christ more of an example. Even those who do not believe in Him as the Messiah, must acknowledge that he was a very busy personage while here upon this old earth. He wasted no time in doing all the good he could to suffering mankind, in a brief few years.

Some of the higher ups in the Congress of the USA, who are now shelling the woods for Stevenson and Sparkman, are now being asked some very embarrassing questions. This is especially true of Senator Lyndon Johnson. Many of us that supported Coke Stevenson in the race for Senate, which Lyndon won by the corrupt votes of Duvall and Starr counties, were so proud of him last spring. Yes, it was no longer than that time, when Lyndon Johnson took the floor in favor of the retention of the tidelands by the states, especially Texas; and let the world know from the Senate floor that Texans were fighters for their rights, and had no idea of ousting this fight for our rights. What a change, in an editorial of last Thursday, the Star-Telegram, usually very Democratic(?) shot the questions to Johnson that we have no idea that he will even attempt to answer. These are very pertinent questions, if you ask us. What is the Senator doing down in Texas shelling the woods for the same administration that stole the tidelands? Both Adlai Stevenson and John Sparkman, the presidential and vice-presidential nominees make no bones that they are for the federal grab. And so-called Democratic platform is as silent as the Sphinx on the tidelands steal, or the prospective grab of any other public or private property that the powers that be wish to shake down from the States or individuals. On the other hand, the Republican platform, which is really more Democratic than the one under which Stevenson-Sparkman sail, comes squarely out for State ownership, and both Eisenhower and Nixon have not minced words that they stand four square for the retention of these lands by the states. And as to the Civil Rights proposition, of course Sen. Sparkman will remain on that when and if he speaks in the South, while Stevenson made it quite clear that he was for a Federally controlled Civil Rights and FEPC. Ike has stated that he believes a law worked out jointly by the States and Federal Government will cause less friction, if in the hands of the states instead of bureaucrats of the federal government. We believe that Senator Nixon has about the same idea. Ike and Dick believe that the less government we have centered at Washington, the better for the country. But Sammy Rayburn and Lyndon believe it more important that they hold committee chairmanships than it is to save millions of dollars for Texas, much of which belongs to Texas school children.

Funny the ideas that some people get. We learn that some don't think the Herald would run any advertising for Stevenson-Sparkman committees for the reason that the Herald is not for them. And even one of the leaders, who often pinch hits for us on reporting jobs, questioned whether or not we would take a news item about their rally last Thursday night. We have been in the newspaper business long enough to know that one of the ethics of newspaperdom is to keep forever separate the editorial ideas from the news items. For instance, we are a member of a particular church, club or lodge, but this does not in the least preclude publicity for other churches, lodges or clubs. If we did, we'd have a very narrow concept of what is just and beneficial for our community, county, state and nation. If the facts must be told, we are still the same kind of Democrat we were as a boy, a youth, young man, and at maturity. We stand for the same old Democracy that was first enunciated by Jefferson, and carried out by Jackson, Cleveland and Woodrow Wilson. We do not have a drop of Socialistic blood in our veins. And when we reach the point, if ever, that the National Democratic Party gets back to States rights and home rule, as did those old founders mentioned above, we are ready to rejoin the National Democratic Party. But as long as they stay with the ideas of middle and western Europe, socialism under the guise of democracy, we can't align ourselves with such a party. In fact, we dropped out of the Truman controlled party four years ago. And while we at the matter, we are fervently happy that the last amendment to our constitution forbids any man to succeed himself after two terms as president. If we keep that proviso in our constitution, we'll not have the number of scandals and messes in government as presently. If a change is made every eight years, from one party to another, it will be better for the nation. One party too long in power, is bad for the nation and the people. If it were possible for the real Russian people to eliminate "good old Joe," as Truman called him, there is a slight possibility that the living conditions, as well as more freedom among them would be possible. But just as long as old Joe Stalin and his motley crowd rule the Russians, just so long will they be serfs.

One of the whips the "loyal democrats"—loyal, that is, to Truman—is that if you do not vote for Truman's stooges, you are a Republican. Let us say right here, however, that we do not think it any disgrace to be a Republican. There are a whole of a lot of them in these United States. And among them are names of men who stand out among the greats of our nation, such as Lincoln, Garfield, Teddy Roosevelt and many others. So when a majority of Texas people voted for Hoover instead of Al Smith, we folks who stayed with the Democratic nominee did not call those who voted for Hoover, Republicans. We thought they were born free American, paid their own poll taxes, and as a consequence, had a right to vote for whom they wished. Of course, four years later, those who could not vote for Al Smith because he was a Catholic and a wet, could not be found with a fine tooth comb. A Republican president being in the office, naturally the unthinking blamed a world wide depression on him. And even though both houses of Congress were overwhelmingly Democratic the last two years, nothing that Hoover or anyone else suggested to combat the depression was done. Now many of those who voted for Hoover wish to forget all this so anxious are they to place all the blame on shoulders that could not in himself, help matters. Now that a lot of thinking people cannot stomach the mess of the last several years in Washington, along with the theft of Texas property, they are branded as Republicans. We suspect that these people, or some of them, use the word "Republican", in their homes to scare the children into good behavior, much like the word "hobgoblin" was used in our childhood. Really, some of these folks can offer no argument for the retention of scandals and graft for four more years, so they just try to scare. One of their favorite mud balls is "Hoover rabbit eating." This matter was being discussed recently, when one of the party remarked that if meat got much higher, we would have to turn to eating "Truman rabbits." A farmer standing close by but mostly listening, remarked: "Some people must be eating rabbits now, as you cannot find any." Brother, if you wish the truth and nothing but the truth, a lot of people in the South don't think we have a genuine National Democratic Party any more, but a Socialist-Democratic Party. Indeed, the writer believed that four years ago and voted for Strom Thurmond, a real Democrat, although we knew we were throwing away a vote. But it was a vote of protest, and we have never regretted it. We have found many recently, who said they went along four years ago, with the Truman-Pendergast crowd, but regret it today.

Lately, we have not heard the talk about car inspection that we heard when the law first came into force. At that time, most of the people who were so vigorously opposing the law said it was a graft to help insurance men. And there were others who were just as positive, that it was a handout to the automobile garages. Truth of the matter is that it was neither. Of course the insurance folks appreciated the few extra dollars they got by this extra work. And that dollar to a garage man to inspect the car would scarcely buy a pound for a cheap cut of steak. In our case, we had to have our car worked over, and the inspection was made at the same time, and as we remember at no extra charge. When a lot of folks found that the same law applied to many other states, not just Texas, another view seemed to have developed. Let's say that one of us poor but honest individuals were journeying down a highway, and some mechanical defect developed over which we had no control, and the car plunged to the other side of the highway, wrecking another car with perhaps resultant injuries and injuries in both cars. Suppose the highway patrolmen said you were to blame because your car had not been inspected. Then suppose the survivors in the other car sued you for high damages, and you had no car insurance to cover such happenings. The plaintiffs could take all or any part of your property in lieu of insurance to pay damages. But if you have the insurance, no court will force you to pay more damages than the face of your policy allows. Here's another angle. The Safety Department down at Austin believes that there will be 300 less highway deaths in Texas this year than last year. Maybe better conditioned cars, with better brakes, has helped. And the fact that perhaps many felt they were under bond via insurance to drive safely has had some moral effect. The saving of 300 lives on the highways, as well as many more from injury is worth taking any reasonable steps to check. But, instead of repeal, perhaps the law could be amended to work better. Perhaps heavy fines for careless and DWI driving would help a lot. We understand that some legislators ran on a "for repeal" platform. We don't believe the next legislature will be willing to scrap the inspection and insurance laws.

High-Tax Harry may be dwarfed by the stature of previous presidents—but his merry tax collectors have raised a monument to Insatiable Greed that tops anything ever known to Americans.

If you'd like to know what this $310 billion means to you as, say, a married person with 2 children, here's the score:

If you earned $2,000 in 1940, you need $4,165 today to "have it so good" after swollen taxes and attendant inflation!
$3,000 earnings in 1940 matched $6,595

today—and if you earned $4,000 then, you need $9,010 now, to be as good a breadwinner!

So it's not your fault if you have to scramble like mad to make both ends meet.

But it is your fault if you let this continue. It is your fault if you believe the Tax-and-Spend Boys will ever reform.

Come Election Day, you'll have your last chance in 4 long years to keep a fairer share of your earnings. Don't miss that chance.

A Journey Out To Matt Williams' Shack

For these many years, we had promised a visit to the Matt Williams ranch in northeast Yoakum county. The ranch is in what most of us know as the Stanford Valley community, about 12 miles northwest of Tokio. And one can stay on paving until within less than a mile of the ranch home, and Matt has a fine, graded road right up to his house. The afternoon was an ideal autumn afternoon—just warm enough to be comfortable.

When we arrived, Matt and wife were out of pocket, but two girls riding horseback informed us that they were showing some visitors by the ranch, and invited us to go to their home some 200 yards away. Found this to be the home of his son, Jim, and Jim's wife and another lady entertained us until Matt and his party returned. We went back over to the main ranch house.

This home is a huge rock affair, with no telling how many rooms, and a rock fence some five feet high surrounds the building. And from the front gate to the front door, some 12 paces, the rock wall is even higher, and reminds one of some scenes of medieval Europe. But the conditions of welcoming is quite different. We knocked on the front door, and heard Matt yell, "Come in!" Knowing that people who live in town always want to know who's at the front door before inviting them in, we yelled, "How do you know you want us in?" So, you can see the difference in city style and ranch style.

Went through one room back into the parlor, and who should we find there but another old Yoakumite, George Cleveland. Mrs. Williams and Mrs. Cleveland soon joined us. Then and there the "bull" began to flow between the three old he's, while the ladies kinder hit off together. We thrashed out just about every subject we could think of, including that old chestnut out here, "When is it going to rain?" The Cleavelands whose ranch is some ten miles southwest of Plains, left first, and that gave Matt and the Old He a chance to talk about him. Nothing bad, as he has been a mutual friend to both for years.

So, we then decided it was time for us to hanoose, and Matt began to ask us to spend the night. In fact, he repeated it several times—and meant it. But we had not informed the folks at home we intended to spend the night, so had to get back. But we almost regretted this decision later, when Matt showed us through at least part of the layout. One big closet where canned goods, lard, etc., was stored, is kept at an even degree, possibly around 40 the year round. And Matt informed us that he had lard in there 2 years old—he had three huge tins at that time—that was as sweet and fresh as the day it was put in there. He has two huge home freezers that together are about ten feet long. And just before we left the storage department adjacent to the kitchen, he showed us some-

Wellman FHA News

Friday October 17, the Wellman FHA Chapter program was based on purpose seven, "To provide wholesome individual and group recreation." Mrs. Winnie Burnett, chapter mother, gave a very good talk for this occasion. Dessie Oliver and Fae Beavers sang a duet, followed by Sue Burnett leading the chapter in group singing.

In the business meeting held after the program, plans were made to attend the District 5 Area 2 meeting to be held in Seagraves Saturday morning, October 18th, at 9 a. m.

Saturday morning, the Wellman chapter group consisting of Beth Golden, Glenda Jo and Dessie Oliver, Rudene and Nita Rich, Fae Beavers and Margaret Ferguson, Gloria Ingram, Nit Chrestman, Bobbie Weaver, Norma Fore and Nelda Bowlin, and chapter mother, Mesdames Juanita Golden, Irene Beavers, Willie Mae Oliver and chapter sponsor, Miss Willie Mae Hines, with Mrs. Vic Herring as bus driver, attended the District FHA Meeting held in the Seagraves high school building.

Nelda Bowlin, president, led a discussion group. Beth Golden represented the Wellman chapter in the House of Delegates. Lunch was served in the school cafeteria. — Reporter.

thing that really made us want to spend the night.

He lifted the cloth off a huge home cured ham, that had not been cut, but was laid out for that purpose. Now Matt would not have had to get down on his knees to make us change our mind about spending the night. However, just before we boarded the old 40fy, he repeated again. But since Post Toasties is our main supper diet, we decided to come on home, and make it back to Matt's some time before our main meal time—noon.

The Williamses are just the true type of old time west Texans. Their home is always open to their friends, and even the stranger in their section is made to feel that he has a friend in a strange land. They are the true type of western pioneers that are fast passing into the realm of the gone, but never to be forgotten, because their good works will follow them.

Fairly good crops out in the farming section out there, and there was a gin some eight miles out from Tokio, that we did not know existed. And that oil field some five miles northwest to Tokio is much larger than we could possibly expect, and we counted seven rigs drilling for more oil. The field is mostly in Yoakum county, but runs into northwest Terry.

Hay, ho! Aimed to have visited a spell with the George Alexanders to see how his oil wells smell. But no time that time. So later a visit with the Alex's.

Well Proportioned; Easily Constructed

HOUSE PLAN No. 53

The maximum for the minimum; that is, the maximum in home attractiveness, comfort and convenience; the minimum in cost and in construction work.

The unusually spacious kitchen is conveniently located. The pantry and home freezer will be ideal for storing the family food supply. There is 12 1/2 feet of counter and storage space with ample room for at least 10 feet of wall cabinets.

If your family spends a lot of time in the kitchen, as do most farm families, you'll appreciate the cheerful spot for the breakfast table near the refrigerator and a front window.

By the back door is a closet where boots and outside clothing can be kept. The extra lavatory by this door can be installed for little more than the cost of the fixture itself because it is so near the drain from the bathtub. This will be valuable, because field hands can wash up before going into the house.

The bedrooms are convenient to the bath, and offer a maximum of privacy. Yet they are easily accessible from the living area or the kitchen. They have large closets with sliding doors; this makes a maximum use of space.

The living room is large enough for pleasant family living and for entertaining small groups. If you need more space, you can use the dining room and porch very nicely for group entertainment. The central hallway permits traffic through any part of the house, including the outside, without it being a disturbance to party guests.

If you do not care for the porch adjoining the living room, it is an ideal spot for a library or study. Very few materials would be required to enclose it.

M & M Game Party Is Well Attended

About one hundred women enjoyed the Maids and Matrons Semi-annual Game Party Friday, October 17, from 2:30 to 4:30 o'clock in the Seleta Jane Brownfield Club House.

Games of bridge, bingo and canasta were played. Cokes were served as refreshments and in the games of bingo, seven prizes were awarded.

About $130 was realized from the party and will help to defray club expenses. The chief club project is the Maids and Matrons Free Library.

Plans are already being made for another such party — this to be an evening affair, in order that the men may attend. Time will probably be early in the spring.

All members are made responsible for the sale of tickets. The finance committee, headed by Mrs. W. F. McCracken, has charge of the arrangements and are responsible for the prizes and refreshments.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to express my heartfelt appreciation to my dear friends for their kindness and consideration toward me. Not only have they remembered me on my birthday, but every day someone does something helpful and thoughtful for me. My love and gratitude for each of you are more than I can express. Miss Virginia Burgess

Miss Virginia Burgess, Regional Field Director, of Albuquerque, N. M., met with local Girl Scout leader at the Little House at 4:00 p. m., Monday.

Miss Burgess led the discussion and answered questions and gave suggestions for troop activities. She explained the importance of keeping troop records and reports, and she gave information on the procedure for keeping these records.

Asks Clarification On VA Changes

Albert D. Brown, Jr., state commander of the American Legion, in a wire to President Truman today asked the chief executive for clarification of persistent reports in veterans' circles that the president intends to put the Booz-Allen-Hamilton recommendations for changes in the Veterans' Administration into effect by executive order while congress is in recess.

Brown said the report had recently been completed by Booz-Allen-Hamilton, a Chicago firm of engineers, at a cost of $605,000 from the Veterans Administration appropriations. Brown said contents of the report had been kept highly secret and efforts of veterans groups and others to find out the contents have failed. It is supposed to make many recommendations in Veterans Administration plans.

Mrs. Wingerd Gives Book Review

Mrs. Wingerd renews the regular meeting of the Maids and Matrons Club was held in the Seleta Jane Brownfield club house October 21 at 4 o'clock.

Vice president, Mrs. E. F. Latham, presided during the business meeting. The budget was presented and adopted. Mesdames Money Price, Frank Weir and Mrs. L. M. Wingerd were appointed to prepare an entry in the Harvest Festival Parade.

Mrs. Wingerd reviewed "The Silver Chalice," by Thomas B. Costain, in her most excellent manner. It was not a coincidence that Mrs. Wingerd was privileged to view the Chalice on her recent visit to New York. She had planned to review Mr. Costain's latest book before the trip was planned, and knew that the cup is on display in "The Cloisters" in Fort Tyron Park, New York.

Here is to be seen the monastery built by John D. Rockefeller and donated to the City of New York. She and Mr. Wingerd were conducted on a tour of the "Cloister" and were told by the guide that 90 per cent of those who visit there ask to see the treasury room, where kept under a heavy glass dome is to be seen this remarkable cup, believed to be that from which Jesus drank at the Last Supper.

Mrs. R. H. Castevens was hostess and served a salad plate and coffee to twenty-four members and two visitors. Mrs. Tom May and Mrs. J. O. Rogers, for the book review.

Congratulations go to Phillip Williams of Tokio in the open riding horse contest down at the Dallas Fair, riding Little Tom W. In the first go-round, Williams and his horse stood sixth. In the second go-round, they stood third, and in second place in the finals.

Had a letter last week from Mrs. Ralph Ferguson, renewing for the Herald. The Fergusons now live out at Farmington, N. M., and she says it is a wonderful place, and they like it.

Invites us out to see the wonderful fruit they raise, and says we'll forget Tennessee when we see their country. We have always heard that Farmington is a wonderful place. But we do not go to Tennessee just to see and eat fruit and hams. We have some wonderful kin and friends back there. If we come out to see you folks, Mrs. Ferguson, it will mostly be for that, although we do like good fruit and scenery.

We note that a former citizen of Brownfield, Jerry Kirschner, now of Lubbock, has been elected president of B'nai B'rith. We admit we don't know how to pronounce those two words. However, Jerry stated that the organization was to promote better interdenominational understanding, and to do charitable work.

Of course, the military reports are glowing about the piles of dead Chinese Reds on the slopes of the hills in Korea recently taken by G.I.'s and Marines. However, one does not have to guess that a lot of our boys will never return except in caskets.

More and more people are reaching the conclusion that this year, along with high military production, are kept going in order to maintain "war prosperity."

In some data that National Wildlife Federation sends us, the prairie chicken has been selected as the wild fowl to symbolize National Wildlife Week. The article went on to state that it was the colorful native grouse that "flushed ahead" of the pioneer's wagons.

Those birds were real plentiful when we came to Terry 43 years ago. In fact, we have killed them just across the draw south of the Herald office, and have even seen them killed in the courthouse park, trying to get away from hawks. We have seen them literally cover shocks of maize. We are told there are still a few in Yoakum and Gaines Counties.

While we are laying the worldwide depression to the Republican party in the early 30ties, although both houses of Congress were Democratic. Who shall we lay this entire south-southwest drought to this year? About as much sense to one as the other.

If you can depend on what Robert Ruark writes in his daily column for syndication, including his wit and sarcasm, it is more trouble in the north to register to vote than it is to obtain a poll tax receipt in the south.

According to his account with a dame at the registration office, one of the questions was, "Where was Bill Rogers born?" And the answer given was Claremont, Okla. Robert started in to argue the question; that it was Claremore and not Claremont. But that dame would have none of his foolishness. "Didn't he think the government knew more than he?"

Speaking of dames, we sorter made one sore last week in telling of an incident that was said to have happened on a Dallas street car. She was listening as well as some males. According to the story, all hands were in a hurry to get home when this Dallas Dame, large enough to block the aisle, began rambling in her purse of many articles, for change to hand the conductor the fare.

A guy behind her waited patiently for quite some time, then proposed to the lady to pay her fare as well as his, if she would move down to a seat.

The lady who heard the story didn't laugh. The men did.

A women writer for AP, Martha Cole, of Dallas, tells us why women don't make good printers. These facts are already well known to employers in the printing line, however. Summed up in a few words, she says, "A pretty red manicure don't last long back where the ink flows."

And it is no secret that printers are dying or retiring at the rate of 1500 per year, against only 1000 in training to take their places. While printers get an

In today's seminar we will discuss "Education." That, says Henry, should be something — you and education, he says. And that right there shows that everybody don't savvy everything on today's subject. Henry figures education is something you get only in a book — he don't figure, I reckon, that a kick in your breadbasket by a mule is also an education — it teaches you that jeapordy lurks if you don't watch your step when harnessing the critter. But to proceed, somebody is sounding off via ponderous writin' and radio and etc. — and no end — that more schools are the only way to avoid communism. But checking up on the communist culprits of the U.S.A. who are being put in the coop you will find no illiterates. So there is more to education than just schoolhouses.

It is what you teach in the schoolhouse. A young fellow getting his sheepskin at a big university and then proceeding to take off on a socialistic maneuver to lower the boom on private ownership, demonstrates — the young fellow does — that horse sense was not included in his curriculum.

But in closing, and to show that I am not against books — and to round out your education — I suggest "Aesop" as one to dust off and peruse — kindergarten to Ph.D. — from 5 years old to 100.

In our some 50 years in a printing office, we have seen about one that really took all machines in her stride, Mrs. Belle (Williamson) Hilliard. With most of them, if the machine runs OK, well and good. But if it balks, some male employee has to fix it.

But the ladies fit well into the work of the front office, such as writers, bookkeeping and soliciting advertising.

CRESCENT HILL CHURCH OF CHRIST
T. J. Finley, Evangelist

Quite a group of young people gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tress Key on Monday night for a combination hayride and party. The group traveled some distance, then unloaded and gathered around a cozy fire to roast weiners. While riding along the group contented themselves with singing folks songs. All had a wonderful time and returned with a new energy to continue their church and school activities.

Brother Maurice Hall, missionary to France, is scheduled to speak at the Crescent Hill church Thursday night, November 6. Brother Hall has been engaged in the work of the church in Paris, France, for the past three years. The Crescent Hill church has had a part in the support of this work. All look forward to his coming.

Mr. and Mrs. Jay King came in last week from Salt Lake City to make this their home. They own their home at 904 East Lons, which is presently occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Henley, who will soon be moving into their new home. The ladies are sisters.

UT LECTURER ESCAPES THE IRON CURTAIN

AUSTIN — A visiting lecturer who spent eight years in some of the world's roughest power politics is giving University of Texas geography students a first-hand report of life behind the Iron Curtain.

He is Dr. Julius Rezler, holder of two doctor's degrees and former advisor to two Hungarian ministers. In 1941 he managed to "lose" himself in Hungary when Prime Minister Paul Teleki, to whom he was an advisor, was forced by the Nazis to wage war on Yugoslavia. Teleki committed suicide.

Dr. Rezler in 1948 fled to Hungary where, as an advisor to Reconstruction Minister Joseph Antall, he had written a handbook on democratic principles. He is teaching this semester while on leave from research studies with the Mid-European Studies Center, New York, N. Y., an agency of the Free Europe Committee.

How To Avoid Hallowe'en Accidents

AUSTIN — Dress as a ghost, not as a witch on Hallowe'en, the Texas Division of the American Automobile Association advised youngsters today in connection with the AAA's hints for Hallowe'en safety.

"If you wish to hide your identity, disguise yourself from your friends, not the driver," Paul R. Kulp, Texas Division manager said. "Dressing as a ghost will increase your safety as a pedestrian because a driver can distinguish persons wearing or carrying something white sooner."

Wearing white after dark is a basic safety measure, but it is particularly timely for Hallowe'en when costumed figures often dart into the street, Kulp said, adding, "the frivolity of Hallowe'en often outweigh good safety habits, but traffic accidents don't take a holiday unless everyone cooperates. Remember these basic safety rules for Hallowe'en night, and every night:

1. Wear or carry something white, preferably white shoes.
2. Walk on the left side of the road.
3. Where there are no sidewalks, step off the paved portion of the road when meeting an oncoming vehicle.
4. Cross at a lighted intersection wherever possible.

Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Tarpley left Friday for Freeport to visit their son, Larry and family. They will also go to Corpus Christi to visit another son, Boy, then on to Carizo Springs to visit relatives before returning home.

U. OF T. HAS MANY ON WHO'S WHO LIST

AUSTIN — The University of Texas has 94 members of its main University faculty listed in the 1952-53 edition of "Who's Who in America."

Forty-four of the Main University's teaching departments (divisions of its colleges and schools) have one or more representatives in the famed biographical dictionary of notable living men and women.

Grass Roots Opinion

Red Springs (N. C.) Citizen: "Today the value of the dollar bill is one-half of what it was in 1932 — 52 cents compared with $1.03 in 1932, and $1.00 in 1940. While the dollar shrunk by one-half in 20 years, the Federal tax burden on the average family increased by 25 times. In 1932, the average share of the two billion dollars collected in total Federal taxes was $64, during this fiscal year, 1953, a family's Federal taxes, income plus hidden taxes, will average $1,700."

Northport Long Island (N. Y.) Observer: "Americans have become accustomed to thinking of the money they earn in terms of take-home-pay. They have forgotten that not too long ago the wage earner spoke of his pay without thinking about 'pay after taxes.' The Federal government today takes its cut first. You get what is left."

Washington (Iowa) Evening Journal: "We believe there is downright concern at this moment over governmental trends. Underneath the natural interest everybody has in the coming election, one can often detect a vein of anxiety, a desire to do something, a determination to make a change. One special point of concern is the pattern of thinking apparent in our government. It is the same pattern seen in other countries where freedom and private enterprise have lost their holds. Always this trend starts in the name of national defense."

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Whisenant, who have spent the summer here with their daughter, Mrs. Mahota Winston, left Sunday for Socorro, N. M., to make their home. Their son, J. C. Whisenant, came for them. Also Sunday visitors in the Winston home were Mrs. George Bragg, Sr., and Mrs. George Bragg, Jr., of Lubbock.

There's still time for planting winter cover crops. Weatherproof the soil with a blanket of green and hold the winter rains where they fall.

Surprised By Visits From Old Timers

Sometimes we get as much a surprise from an unexpected visit as we do from a keen clap of thunder from a clear sky. Two of which we had of late. First was Ed Ellis, who with his wife were here visiting Mrs. Ellis' aunt, Mrs. Jessie Randal. Ed was filling prescriptions at the Randal Drug Store when we came to Terry county in Jan., 1909. His brother, Dr. J. W. Ellis was the local physician.

Ed, we believe, is a native of Bell county, but has been living at Rising Star for many years. Ed and the Old He had much in common. We happened to have a bed which was sent out from Jones county, and we rented a room over the old Randal Drug location where the Brownfield Hotel now stands, and shared the room and bed. We boarded at the Hill Hotel, where Cobb's store is now located.

This arrangement existed until the writer got married. But in those several months, we got to know each other pretty well. Ed owned a Drug store at Rising Star up to a few weeks ago, when he sold it.

Then Tuesday of this week, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. (Moon) Mullins, presently of Sterley, up in Floyd county, called. They have a sick daughter in the local hospital, items about which appears elsewhere. Anyway, they called to get on the mailing list for a year. About the first question was, if they called him "Moon" up there? "Yes," he stated.

They have an irrigation farm up there, and raised principally cotton and maize, but just about everything else needed to eat by the family. Moon filled cars at stations here so long that we wonder what he would do if some one slipped up behind him and yelled, "Fill 'er up!" Hope they enjoy the old home town paper up in old Floyd county.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of the late Jeff J. Little takes this means of expressing their thanks to friends and neighbors for their many acts of kindness shown us and for the lovely flowers and food. May God bless each of you.

The Jeff J. Little family.

Miss Judy Griffin and Miss Judy Gilbert, teacher in our local school, accompanied by Joe Mathers, were in San Antonio last week end. Miss Griffin visited the girls at Julia Katherine Hall, Trinity University, and the other two visited relatives and friends.

Shall Christians Be Home Breakers Or Home Preservers?

Editor's Note: Recently some people in this city, of which several were members of the church to which the editor and family belong, got sorter sore at us because of the position we took concerning the division and breaking up of a family in our city. We got our ideas all from Orphan Home papers, and we want to reproduce an article herewith taken from the current issue of Boles Home News, put out by Boles Orphan Home, at Quinlan, Texas:

"The home is built by Jehovah, and it is will of God that the husband and the wife love each other, and abide with each other.

When children are born into the home, it is the normal and natural expectation that these family ties shall be maintained and preserved, but in this country, there seems to have grown up an utter heartlessness and disregard for these family ties that are cherished by all children.

After a family of boys and girls has been victimized by death, disease or desertion, many people take it as a signal to rush in and seek to snatch away a baby boy or girl from the fond clasp of older brothers and sisters who are left defenseless by their misfortunes.

It is certainly a far cry from observance of the Golden Rule for people to take away from older boys and girls their younger brothers and sisters, simply because they have the ability to do so.

The family was built by God, and so often the work of the devil destroys the family causing the father or mother to leave it. It certainly would be expected of decent society and considerate Christians that every effort in the world be made to keep the remaining boys and girls together in their family group, and to help them overcome the devastation of such a hard and cruel blow as they have sustained through or desertion of parents.

But all too often people utterly insensible toward the feelings and desires of such little fellows, break up and tear down and utterly destroy the last vestige of their family tie by adopting them, and scattering them and robbing them of their God-given heritage.

Here at Boles Home we are constantly having to fight away thoughtless and selfish people who would come to the campus of Boles home and take away the little boys and girls from large family groups. And when we refuse in the name of Christ, and in an effort to preserve the family as nearly as we can, we are subjected to criticism and defamation on the part of such people and oftentimes on the part of journalists who have no conception of the problems we encounter, and who have done very little thinking in terms of the rights of defenseless boys and girls, but who have done a lot of talking and criticizing concerning matters of which they know very little.

We have yet to find one person who comes to us seeking to adopt children out of family groups which we have here who has the frontory to admit that he would be willing for his own children to be dealt with in such a manner.

LET ALL MEN KNOW THIS FULL WELL: Whether our defense of family groups is appreciated or not, or whether certain journalistic blatherskites over the country approve or not, we still refuse to break up these families. We will not adopt the youngest and choicest out to people over the country who have absolutely no heart and regard for the older and less desirable children left in the family at Boles Home. We do not have the legal right, and would not do so if we had. We

Issues Warning On Scarlet Fever

AUSTIN — The State Department of Health has just issued a warning in regard to scarlet fever, as the number of cases usually increases during the fall months. The majority of deaths from this disease occur from October through February.

Scarlet fever is a very contagious and serious disease. Grown people may contact it, but children under 15 years are especially apt to have it, if exposed. It is especially dangerous for children under 5 years, and Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, warns mothers to "not let your children take any chances with scarlet fever. Call the doctor as soon as the first symptoms appear."

If your child has contracted a moral obligation.

We simply are not in the family destruction business, but we are in the business of doing so unto other boys and girls exactly as we would have done by our very own. We are rendering a service to the cause of Christ and the body social that is needed, and is recognized and appreciated by every person who knows anything at all about it.

scarlet fever, the first signs you may notice are that he seems tired, restless and out of sorts. Usually these is a sore throat, chills, vomiting, or convulsions or fever. His skin is dry and hot. His tongue is furred, and under this white covering, it is red and swollen. In ordinary cases, these early signs are followed in 2 day or two by a rash. Little flat red points, close together, appear first on the neck and chest and soon the rash, very red in color, spreads over most of the body.

The doctor is required by law to report the case to the local health officer. Do your part by following carefully the quarantine instructions which the health officer will give you, since a severe or fatal case of scarlet fever may develop from contact with some one who has only a slight attack. Children who have had scarlet fever, or who have been exposed, must not return to school until permission is given by the health officer and physician.

Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Dunn and Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Pounds attended the funeral of a cousin, Joe Barnes, in Canyon, Texas, last week. The boy was killed in action on Old Baldy in Korea, on July 18th.

Here are the groceries you got for five dollars in 1939

Here's all you'd come home with today—and no change from your five-dollar bill

Do you call this prosperity?

Sure, you're making more money than you did in 1939. The question is: what is it getting you?

It's not getting you more groceries. Food costs have risen 169% since 1939 —has your income soared that much? Even before taxes?

It's not getting you any more house for your money. The neat little $4,000 home of 1939 has a sign on it now that reads: "$11,995." And the $40 apartment of those solid earlier years is a find now—at $95.

Shoes, clothing, automobiles, newspapers, a bottle of beer—you name it. Will even your falsely fat 1952 pay envelope hold its own with the soaring cost of any of those commodities?

What do they mean: "You never had it so good"?

If that's prosperity, we can't afford it.

And we can't afford a government determined to ram that kind of phoney arithmetic down our throats—and trying to make us like it.

Let's put in the men who'll stop these shady shenanigans—who'll put the brakes on this get-nothing spending—who'll make your dollar MEAN something once more!
