Ford Co. Bestows Highest Award On Portwood Motor Co.

Portwood Motor Company of Brownfield received the Ford Four Letter Award, Thursday, June 2. The plaque was presented to Harry Elwell, office manager, at Portwood's, in the absence of John Portwood, president of Portwood Motor Company, by C. J. Kenny, Ford district sales manager from Dallas. Portwood Motor Company has won the award five years consecutively, and only nine other dealers in the Dallas district were presented the five year plaque this year.

There are 185 dealers in the same district with Portwood Motor Company, and a dealer receives the award only if the Ford Motor Company in his district finds him qualified for having sound finance, efficient management, competitive spirit, and modern facilities.

The five year plaque is the highest award that the Ford Motor Company bestows on their dealerships, and Mr. Portwood stated that the fine response by the public has enabled the Portwood Motor Company to gain this recognition. The local dealership was established in 1947, and won the first award in 1949.

Among those employed at the Portwood Motor Company are W. T. Pickett, new car sales manager; Jay Jones, used car sales manager; George Germany, parts department manager; Harold Wilson, service manager; James Burney, body shop manager; Harry Elwell, office manager; W. N. Lewis, and George Wade, car salesman; T. P. Brown and B. W. Smith, parts salesmen; Minnie Willingham and Frances Hailey, bookkeepers.

Mechanics are J. D. Mitchell, J. F. Anderson, Van Harris, James Bevers, Royd Wilson, and N. L. Welch. Mechanic helpers are Arnold Aiken, Carl Peterson, James Rogers, Harvey Lee Williams, and Jesse Hines. Body shop metal men are Bill Reid, Phillip Abney, and their helper is Tom Williams.

BALL BRINGS IN FIRST COTTON BLOOM

W. D. Ball, down on route 5, was the lucky man this year, as he brought in the first cotton bloom for 1953. Mr. Ball lives out 1 1/2 miles southeast of the city, on the old Lamesa road. He has 10 acres of this early cotton, but failed to say when it was planted. As the Herald always gives a year's subscription for the first cotton bloom brought in, Mr. Ball had the paper sent to his dad, J. H. Ball, who lives here in town, as a present.

Mr. Ball is farming the Cooper place, and has 80 acres under irrigation out of the 160 acres. He stated that his cotton was looking extra good. The bloom was white when brought in on the 3rd, but turned pink that afternoon, and was red the 4th. So, we have decided that the bloom came out on the 2nd day of July.

GOV'T GRAIN TO ARRIVE NEXT WEEK

Production and Marketing Association official, Loe Miller, announced Tuesday that the five-man drouth committee, mentioned elsewhere in this paper, met Tuesday morning, and screened 125 applications for purchase of government-owned grain, cottonseed meal, and cake. The committee voted to make purchases strictly cash, and farmers and ranchers are urged to bring cash money, money order, or cashier's check when paying for their purchase. Mr. Miller also stated that the grain is expected to start rolling in sometime next week.

FIVE YEAR AWARD—Portwood Motor Company was presented a five-year four letter award, June 2, by the Ford Motor Company. At right, C. J. Kenny, district sales manager of Dallas, presents the plaque to Harry Elwell, office manager at Portwood's, in the absence of John Portwood, president of Portwood Motor Company. Local Businessmen Host Terry Farmers In Meadow Cafeteria

Brownfield Chamber of Commerce staged its second monthly farmers and businessmen's dinner at 8 p. m., Tuesday, July 7, in the school cafeteria at Meadow.

Brownfield businessmen were hosts to Terry farmers at the dinner, and after the meal, six contests were performed, with farmers and businessmen competing. Herbert Chessir was master of ceremonies, and he explained all contests, which were:

First—Eight contestants blew up balloons that contained two pieces of bubble gum. The men had to burst the balloon, take the covering off the gum and the person blowing the first bubble received a box of gum.

Second—Set of four partners were blindfolded, and then given a banana apiece, which each fed to his partner. This contest turned out to be quite mushy—and the winning partners weren't too happy when they saw their prize—bananas.

Third—Eight contestants were lined up and given a ruler apiece which they carried in their mouth, and a piece of tissue paper was placed on the ruler. Contestants raced each other to a wall and back to the starting line. Men that dropped their paper, in the race had to start again from the starting point. Winner was presented a group of rulers, doubtless to measure the heavy rainfall Terry county has received lately.

First Six Months Gave Us Less Than 4 1/2 In.

We believe that old 1953 is holding its own pretty well with 1917, when we had less than eight inches of rain all year. Up to now, we have had just 4.39 inches of rainfall for the first six months of the year. Just one rain in June, which was by far the heaviest of any month so far. But here's the

Bob Bowers Was A To Build Pharmacy Very Valuable Citizen At Denver City

The passing of R. L. (Bob) Bowers, 68, Saturday night, while not unexpected, caused grief and regret in our fair little city. As the writer remembers, Bob came here with his partner, the late Cleve Williams, from Tahoka, about 1917, and went into the feed and heavy groceries business. They built and occupied their building on the Santa Fe tracts, that had just been built into Brownfield, and just west of where the city light plant now stands.

It was a good year to sell feed, especially, since it was not unlike this year. Both 1917 and 1918 were dry. But even when rains came in 1919, they had established a good business in the heavy grocery line, and people wanted the mixed feeds for their cows and poultry. But in a few years, Bob got a chance to become the local wholesale agent of the Gulf Oil Corp., and had held that position longer than any agent of the company in this area.

He also branched out into farming by buying farms, and has some good farm property. But he remained a town man himself, and served on the school board, the city council, and was the last of the active charter members of the Rotary Club. He was also a member of the Church of Christ, being a deacon, a member of the Masonic and Odd Fellow fraternities.

About 1924, he married Miss Elizabeth Wines, and reared a daughter, Mrs. Bobbie Hicks, and two sons, Robert and Marion, all of whom live here; two brothers also survive, Joe of Lorenzo, and Sam of Idalou, and also a sister, Mrs. Lee Moses of Booneville, Ark. Two grandchildren also survive. The Bowers lost a baby several years ago.

Bob has not enjoyed good health

Plains were drawn and contract let early this week for the construction of a building to house a pharmacy at Denver City. The building is supposed to be completed in one month, and will be of brick and asbestos construction, 25x40 feet.

This new pharmacy, as we understand it, will be owned jointly by Homer W. Nelson and Robert Wells, and will be located across the street from the Youkum County Hospital, at Denver City. Mr. Wells will move to Denver City to operate the new pharmacy.

Mayor Homer Nelson, the senior partner, is already well known here, having been a citizen some 30 years, and active in the business and civic affairs of the community. Mr. Wells has been here some two years, Little Rock, Ark., being his old home town.

Robert has made friends at a rapid rate since he arrived here as pharmacist of the Nelson Prescription Pharmacy. Mrs. Wells has been assistant cashier at the Brownfield State Bank and Trust Co., for some time. We regret to see this fine young family leave Brownfield, but believe he will make good over at our neighboring city.

LIGHT SHOWER FELL WEDNESDAY A. M.

With a bit of rumbling thunder, looked like we might get a bit of moisture Wed. A. M., but it played out after a mere 8/100 inch fell.

It looks a bit like we might get another effort, but you can't always sometimes tell.

Funeral services were conducted at the Crescent Hill Church of Christ, where he held his membership, with T. J. Finley officiating, assisted by J. R. Chisholm, Monday at 3 p. m. Burial followed in the Memorial Cemetery, with Masonic rites at the graveside.

Pall bearers were Leonard Lang, Henry Chisholm, Ned Self, Glen Akers, R. G. Peeler, and Ross Black. Honorary pallbearers were Joe J. McGowan, J. O. Gillham, Monk Parker, J. L. Cruce, Arthur Sawyer, E. D. Jones, Albert Anderson, and Raymond Simms.

Invitational Softball Games Start Monday

The local Lions will be hosts to the International Softball League, starting Monday, the 13th. Invitation to the teams in nearby towns have gone out. All games will be played at the Lions softball park, down on the draw on South Sixth Street.

The International softball tournament will start the first week in August. This is Texas' own tournament for the league. Softball teams from all over the state will gather at Brownfield for the week of games.

The winner of this state tournament will go to San Francisco, Aug. 20, for the international tournament. Games at San Francisco will determine the international champions.

Proceeds will go to crippled children, and various other projects sponsored by the local Lions, for the handicapped.

Farmer, Businessman Now Co-operating

We regret to say that, in former years, it appeared that the merchant and other business men in the towns and cities, used the old farmer only as an income in conducting his business. On the other hand, the farmer had no special friendship for his dealer, believing that his business was all the town man wanted out of him. As for visits between them, they were as rare as bananas in the Klondike.

What a change in the past few years! Now, all the children of the town people and farmers go to the same school, a consolidated affair, that gives much better equipment and faculty than the little two-teacher schools. And, mostly, all go to the same church in town for worship. Many of the town women belong to the HD clubs in the rural communities, and many of the farm ladies belong to the social clubs in town. Visits in each other's homes are not infrequent.

The conclusion, therefore, has been reached, that it is not a case of each man for himself, and the devil take the hindmost. But it is a matter of friendship and co-operation, and the more of both, the better. For instance, the Brownfield State Bank and Trust Company, on Monday night, invited a bunch of farmers and others, to a big gathering at the Legion hall. Not only did the bank feed the crowd, but had Dean Stangel down from Tech College to address the farmers on the idea of diversified farming.

Diversified farming has paid off wherever practiced, and will do so here, and will give cover crops to protect the precious soil that has been taking to the air too much of late.

Then, there is the Chamber of Commerce, whose membership meets at various places with farmers as guests, to have a meal together, and talk over matters. No long speeches. Just neighborly visits. A good one was recently held at Wellman, and another took place at Meadow, with Meadow community farmers, Tuesday night of this week.

Yes sir, we are all in the same boat. Let's not rock the boat.

OIL CO. PAYROLLS IN BROWNFIELD $3,600,000

According to an estimate by the Chamber of Commerce, the payroll of various oil companies now located in Brownfield, has reached a total of $3,600,000 per year.

And, if you ask us, that's not peanuts. Nevertheless, we believe we could roll over and make a bit more room for more oil companies, as well as others, who want to come to Brownfield.

Mrs. E. D. Ballard and daughter, Mary, are in Colorado Springs, Colo., this week.

Diversification Is Stressed At Terry Farmer Program

Dean W. L. Stangel of the agriculture department, Texas Tech, was the main speaker at a barbecue supper, held Monday night at the American Legion Hall, which was attended by approximately 125 Terry county farmers and businessmen. After the supper, the group laid additional plans for an agricultural program less vulnerable to recurring drouth.

The third meeting of the new Terry County Agricultural Development Association emphasized the farming possibilities leading away from the all-cotton, heavy drouth loss system now prevalent here.

The effects of the continuing drouths were considered only as guides to a more diversified farming, which could reduce personal costs of the farm families, requiring less growing moisture, and preserve better the fertility of the soil.

J. O. Gillham, president of Brownfield State Bank and Trust Co., and Robert Lewis, president of First National Bank, were among the speakers, and officials and employees attended from both banks. Stangel emphasized the operational economy of cattle and pasture programs, while the bankers stressed the need of more diversification to add the stability needed in bank loan assistance in farming. Banks are limited in the credit they may extend, particularly for a one-crop operation that can be easily hurt by drouth, the bankers said.

R. J. Purcell, president of the organization, led the meeting that, on this occasion, was sponsored by the Brownfield banks.

The new club is an informal organization without listed membership, that will attempt to make every place in Terry county a part of a huge agricultural experiment, Purcell said.

Local Jaycees Hear State President

Three distinguished guests were introduced to the Brownfield Junior Chamber of Commerce by Morgan Copeland, president, at a special noon luncheon, held Tuesday, at the Esquire Restaurant. They were T. E. Cook, state president of the Jaycees, Walter S. Shaller, national director of the Jaycees, and Rufus Rush, vice-president of Region II Jaycees.

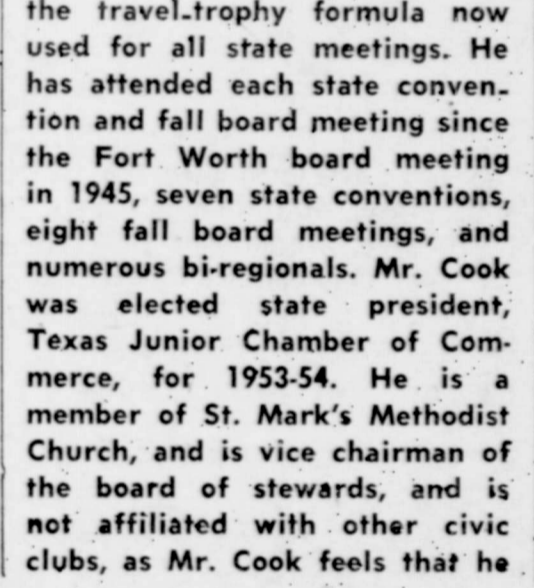

Mr. Cook gave a short talk concerning current activities, and the programs and projects that the state Junior Chamber of Commerce organization is working on.

A fish dinner was served to 17 Brownfield businessmen and the three guests.

T. E. "TOMMY" COOK, of Baytown, state president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, joined the organization in Baytown in 1942, and served as state director in 1945, and second vice-president in 1947. Mr. Cook was chosen outstanding state committee chairman in 1948, after serving as state vice-president in 1951, during which time he traveled 21,000 Jaycee miles, edited a monthly newsletter for Region 7, and participated in executive board meetings. Mr. Cook was selected outstanding state officer in 1951, and originated the monthly mailing system as state committee chairman in 1948, and developed the travel-trophy formula now used for all state meetings. He has attended each state convention and fall board meeting since the Fort Worth board meeting in 1945, seven state conventions, eight fall board meetings, and numerous bi-regionals. Mr. Cook was elected state president, Texas Junior Chamber of Commerce, for 1953-54. He is a member of St. Mark's Methodist Church, and is vice chairman of the board of stewards, and is not affiliated with other civic clubs, as Mr. Cook feels that he RUFUS RUSH, of Lubbock, Region II, Junior Chamber of Commerce, joined the Lubbock Jaycees in 1946, became secretary in 1949, and agriculture chairman in 1948-53, state director in 1951, was awarded two Key Men awards, and 100 percent attendance award for four years. Mr. Rush is a member of the First Methodist Church, and is district commander of the Boy Scouts. He is a grandson of the late Pappy John Powell of Brownfield.

The American Creed

We believe in the United States of America as a government of the people, by the people, for the people, whose just powers are derived from the consent of the governed; a sovereign nation of many states, a perfect union, one and inseparable, established upon those principles of freedom, equality, justice and humanity, for which American patriots have sacrificed their lives and fortunes.

We find that people are greatly divided on what they consider a great preacher, and we'll admit that we did not agree with all that he said. What constitutes the great preacher? Our idea has always been that a minister of the gospel should be modest and unassuming, as he expounds the scriptures to the people. We have never gone for the sensational in a religious way. Fact is, what we have read and heard of big name evangelists, we had rather hear any of the many pastors and ministers of our local churches than one of them. It always amazed us that the big evangelists were in a way, trying to compete with the circus. The practice of religion to us, has always been something modest, and not to be heard of men. Then, there is the guy that pops up now and then who thinks he has discovered a "greater way" than that enunciated in the New Testament. For instance, we have been told of an announcement, mats and pictures of a fellow down at Dallas who has formed "a business partnership with God," a multi-million dollar business; he would have us know, and he is having hundreds of thousands of shiny aluminum half dollars made to distribute, supposedly the just and anxious. We were a bit too dense to understand whether or not the man thought the false coins would increase one's faith and finally walk him to the portals of glory, or just what his idea is. To us, such stuff approaches the idol idea, and all idols were condemned by both God and Christ. We are still so old fashioned that we believe the Bible, and the Bible alone, is the word of God to man, and is sufficient for his salvation. And that reminds us of the much ado over Billy Graham, constantly holding forth in Dallas in the fair park football field, with audiences of 70 to 100,000. And, unlike Billy Sunday, Graham bristles off to the Winterland area during his protracted setups. He had some 20,000 at Amarillo, and Lubbock was trying to best the record, and did perhaps, with 22,000, according to the Avalanche. And that reminds us of what a prominent business man said to us this week, and he is a member of the same church as Graham. When he went home Wednesday, the day Graham came to Lubbock, his wife asked him if he was going to Lubbock to hear Billy Graham that night. He remarked that he did not answer her wife, just handed her a copy of that day's paper, showing a great castle like residence near Colorado Springs that the Graham aggregation bought and aimed to use for a retreat and a long, delightful rest, after one of their campaigns in a city. He remarked that after his wife read the story, nothing more was said about attending the meeting at Lubbock. There was also a mighty good article from the pen of Lynn Landrum, who writes the Thinking Out Loud column in the Dallas News, daily except Sunday. We believe Mr. Landrum is personally a Methodist, and he had some nice things to say about

George Truett ahead of Graham as a preacher. Truett, as all know, is a Baptist, same as Graham. The main article by Landrum was the defense of the Dallas News against some attacks that the News had not spread the meeting in Dallas all over the front page. Landrum reminded his readers that there were many other churches in Dallas. In fact, he designated Big D as the religious capitol of Texas. That they had in Dallas the world leaders of several faiths of the English speaking world. And Mr. Landrum went on to say that, according to many, the theology of Graham was the bread of life eternal. And, according to others, heresy of the most harmful type. But here is the results that we have observed over many years past. Most of the converts that hit the "sawdust trail" are over zealous as long as the revival lasts, but you couldn't find them with a fine-toothed comb two months after the revival is over. On the other hand, most of the converts that the local evangelists persuade to change their way, enter into the work of the church with zeal, and make their efforts a great help to the community. Yes, so far as we are concerned, we will stay with the "little" located preachers.

It is regrettable that, outside the South, that too many people jump at the conclusion that white and Negro schools are so rigidly segregated that the one has nothing whatever to do with the other. And that Negro schools get what crumbs that fall from the master's table. Nothing could be further from the truth. While the two races go to different buildings, with separate faculty, they are, in truth, under the same board of trustees, and the superintendent is usually a white man. The principal of the Negro schools is usually a Negro man or woman. And they draw the same per capita tax for the expenses of the schools. While the white population is usually much larger in this area, and much wealthier, paying perhaps better than 90 percent of the school taxes, the Negro youth gets the same per capita as the white child. And, while much ado is made of the fact that they have separate schools, we have often wondered if both races are not happier because of that fact. They feel more at home, as there is no friction, and the progress of the student body of both are therefore greater. Of course, in the far north or northwest, where there are very few Negroes, the expense of maintaining separate schools would almost be prohibitive. The same thing may be said of colleges and universities. It is a well known fact that some of the older Negro institutions, like one in Nashville, Tenn., are not only well patronized by Negro students from the South, but many from the north attend, stating they feel more at home with other Negro young people, than in the mixed universities of the north, where they are sometimes snubbed. In Texas, Negroes have some mighty good schools that are state owned and supported, such as the university at Houston, and Prairie View Normal, run on the A. & M. style. Most of the larger denominations have some fine Negro schools of higher learning, and a newcomer to the field is the Southwestern Christian College at Terrell, which is supported by both white and Negro Churches of Christ, or rather members. In the three sessions held this school has made wonderful growth. A school plant started at the beginning of the century as a military school, and later a private college, has been purchased, and we understand most paid for. Since vacation started, some 18 of these students as a chorus, accompanied by their instructors and sponsors, have made many towns, as far away as Albuquerque, N. M., and Denver, Colo., have been visited, and new friends won, who will help them in the Terrell undertaking.

Sometimes newspaper folks and the medical profession sorter gets their tail up at each other over the little matter of ethics, but in the long run, both have a task, and that task is the elimination of disease as far as possible. Both stand four square against disease, and both as a cripple and a waster. And while it is the task of the medical profession to dig out the cures or preventives, it is equally the program of the newspaper to keep the world posted on the progress that is being made by the medical profession. Some 106 years ago, or around the year 1847, some scattering medical societies joined together to form the American Medical Association. To say the association has made a wonderful growth, would be putting the matter lightly. Their growth has indeed been phenomenal. And just before you jump at the conclusion that this association meets once a year to have a nicknailing good time, be undeceived. They have a great task before them, and they are making a lot of progress in realizing the benefits to humanity in so doing. For instance, the medical alone are spending the enormous sum of $10 million each year in research into the fields of rural health, industrial health, and the availability of physicians, care for the armed forces, civil defense, medical education, etc. As most of us understand, the medical are strenuously opposed to forced government health programs, that at best are socialistic, and have proven to be a hoax in England and other countries that have tried it. But the AMA has encouraged in every way health and accident insurance, and so far as we know, they have no favorites. They do, however, advise people to take health and accident insurance against the day that misfortune strikes, when perhaps they will not have a dollar, or a friend with a dime, and no credit at their banks. The AMA realizes that, in this day of specialized medicine, it is hard to get a young medical graduate to settle down in some rural community, and grow up with the country. So, the medical are advising such communities to build offices and small hospitals, and to equip them with modern apparatus, to induce young doctors to settle among them, and be handy in case of serious sickness and accidents. To say the least, modern medical facilities are available to more Americans than any other people. And much of this is due to the fine work of the medical, who really have worked more and talked about what they have accomplished less.

Naturally, we expect the Texas Liquor Control Board to make their business of enforcing the liquor laws of the state, as well as the collection of moneys for permits and fines, to look as good as possible. That is part of their job. And the revenues and fines are enormous, if you ask us, as for May, for instance, the collections were $1,391,589.79. For the first full year after liquor came back to Texas, according to a report at hand from Coke R. Stevenson, Jr., the revenues were just the rise of 6 million dollars. But last year the intake was almost 19 million dollars, and Mr. Stevenson expects them to run over 19 million this year. Then there is the other side of the liquor business that brings in the cash; liquor violations. The record states that during the month of May for instance, there were 344 criminal cases. There were 303 convictions with 24 jail sentences; 24 cases were continued, and four cases were dismissed. Collection of fines was more than 50 thousand dollars. And the report goes on to state that there were more cases and more fines in the dry than in the wet counties. Well, there are a lot of old timers that will tell you that as long as corn and rye grows, there will be liquor for sale. Perhaps they are right. And there would be few gripes by the general public, if the fines and jail sentences were confined to just those who are so affected. But the grief is not confined to the salesmen, either in the dry or legalized regions. Fact of the matter is, that a high percentage of the wrecks on the highways is caused directly from drunken drivers, who either got their wares from the legalized place or the bootlegger. And it does not stop there by any means. Oft times the bread winner of the little family he is supposed to support, lack meat and bread and decent clothing, because the man cannot resist taking on his drams, and getting cockeyed drunk. This sometimes leads to gambling and bawdy house visits, where the weekly salary for the rent, food and clothing goes up in thin smoke. And the LCB did not tell us how much the court costs were in trying all these leaguers. We imagine the amount would run into the millions of dollars yearly here in Texas, and who pays the bill? Old John Q. Public, of course. Of course, the leger has his own counsel, but the state and county must furnish the prosecutors, the juries, and feed the liquor salesmen while incarcerated.

Matchett To Head FHA In The District

J. F. Matchett, erstwhile banker and business man of Seagraves, has been appointed to head the new district FHA, established at Lubbock. Matchett is moving to Lubbock to take over his duties. He will be responsible for FHA programs in 65 west Texas counties, served by the Lubbock insuring office.

General Telephone Co. Buys Two Exchanges

Purchase of the Del Rio, Texas, and Comstock, Texas, exchanges from the Del Rio and Winter Garden Company was announced in Dallas Wednesday by Walter G. Wright, president of General Telephone Company of the Southwest. The two exchanges furnish telephone service to approximately 3,200 telephones, the majority of which are located in Del Rio. This exchange presently is common battery operated, but is scheduled to convert to attended dial this year.

More About The Selective Service

No. III

Young men of draft age who ask for and get deferments under certain conditions automatically extend the time during which they can be drafted by nine years.

1. Members of the ROTC and other officer training programs.

2. Students deferred to go to high school or college under requirements of law; college students deferred under authority of the local board.

3. Men left at home for civilian employment.

4. Men deferred to farm.

5. Married men deferred because of their children, or because of extreme hardship and privation to dependents.

6. Men classified as mentally, physically, or morally deficient or defective.

"The regulations spell this out," General Wakefield says. "So, when a man gets the privilege of a deferment, he is taking on a corresponding responsibility. The man who never receives a deferment like these cannot be drafted after he reaches his 26th birthday."

The state draft director says that, under this provision of law, it is possible for a deferred man to lose his qualification for deferment at age 34, for example. Under such circumstances, he would again be eligible for draft.

earn as much as $400 per month. But what will $400 buy? Sometimes we think the best methods of handling the Commies here in the good old USA would be to give them a one way pass to the iron curtain nation of their choice.

OLD TIME SETTLER BURIED HERE WED.

W. R. Lanier, 88, died at Fort Sumner, N. M., last Saturday. Mr. Lanier and family moved to Terry county in 1916, they, therefore, being one of the early settlers. He moved to New Mexico about a year ago.

Funeral services were conducted here yesterday at the Northside Baptist Church, with Rev. A. J. Franks officiating. Burial in the Memorial Cemetery beside his wife, who passed on in June, 1950. Arrangements were under the direction of Brownfield Funeral Home.

Deceased was survived by three sons, Jesse R. of Brownfield, J. O. of Sonora, and W. E. of California; three daughters, Mrs. J. M. Richburg and Mrs. J. R. Hinnen, both of Fort Sumner, N. M., and Mrs. Bertha Smith of Abernathy.

HEALTH QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Prepared by T. M. A.

Q—What is cardiology?
A—The study of the heart and its functions.

Q—Why is it important to have a medical examination if you suspect you have heart disease?
A—For a couple of reasons: (1) if heart disease is present, to catch it in its early stages or (2) if disease elsewhere in the body is present, to assure proper treatment.

Q—What are two important machines that give precise information about the heart?
A—The electrocardiograph (pronounced electro-cardi-ograph) measures the heart's pattern of action, which may change with disease. The X-ray machine enables the doctor to see the size and shape of the heart, the appearance of the heart's valves and chambers, and, perhaps, defects in the heart, or nearby vessels.

Q—Why is rheumatic fever of significance in the South, where it is neither as common, nor as a rule, as severe, as in other regions?
A—Early symptoms of the disease, if very mild, may be overlooked completely, with its first evidence being a damaged heart.

Q—What are the measures used to treat high blood pressure?
A—Diet, rest, drugs, and surgery.

Pretending to be rich keeps a lot of men poor.

Benson Asks Farmers About Farm Program

Waco—Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson has turned to the American Farm Bureau Federation and two other general farm organizations to tell him what kind of programs American farmers want, according to J. Walter Hammond, president of the Texas Farm Bureau.

Recognition of the major role of farm organizations in policy development was the keynote of a letter in which the secretary requested the farm bureau to discuss five "paramount agricultural issues of today," and give his department "the consensus of ideas these discussions."

The five major problems which Benson asked to be discussed are:

1. Farm income stability and improvement.
2. Production and marketing adjustments.
3. Capital needs of agriculture.
4. Trade or aid.
5. Pres. Allan B. Kline of the American Farm Bureau stated that "in addition to these issues, farm bureau members are almost certain to discuss and make recommendations with regard to such problems as (1) how to create and maintain peace in the world; (2) how to develop more sound labor-management policies; (3) how to deal with the threat of monopoly power, whether from industry, labor, agriculture or "big government."

DROUTH EMERGENCY FEED PROGRAM GIVEN

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson has appointed B. F. Vance, who is chairman of Texas Production and Marketing Association, chairman to the present aid being given to the drought seared areas of the southwest by the government, and Vance has appointed two chairmen to the Terry county committee, Riley Jones, and Bob Land, farm home administrator. The local banks appointed R. N. McClain as their representative to the committee, and Choc Winn will screen applications for disaster feed, and will obtain feed to be distributed of foundation herds. Looe Miller, at the PMA office, is taking applications for cotton seed meal, cake, and grain, making the five-man committee complete.

Government-owned feed was offered recently for the drought-seared areas of the southwest at prices ranging from 40 to 50 percent below cost, as a reluctant sun continued to beat down on Texas. The feed was expected to be made available in most sections by last Monday.

The feed, now held in Commodity Credit Corporation storage, will be sold to farmers and ranchers in 192 stricken counties of Texas and Oklahoma, and in newly designated disaster areas of Colorado, New Mexico, Kansas and Arkansas. The feed was taken over by the government under the price support program.

Agriculture department officials said most of the feed is being held in storage in areas near the southwest, and will not have to be shipped a great distance. Railroads serving the drought area have joined the relief program by announcing they will ship the feed into the drought sector at reduced rates.

Eligible recipients of the aid will be determined by five-member committees being set up in each disaster county.

The delivered prices follow: Cottonseed pellets and meal, $35 a ton; corn, $1 a bushel; wheat, $1.10, and oats, 50 cents.

These commodities, acquired under the farm and price support program, averaged $60.50 for cottonseed products, $1.61 for corn, $2.49 for wheat, and $1 for oats.

Wheat sold in Fort Worth last Thursday at $2.21 to $2.23 a bushel for No. 1 hard, delivered to Texas common points. Oats sold at 97½ to 98½¢ for No. 2 white. Corn sold at $1.86½ to $1.87½ for No. 2 yellow. Cottonseed meal was last quoted at $60 a ton, FOB crushing plant, with pellets $2 higher.

Texas common points is a freight destination for certain stations. Most grain in Texas is sold at the basis of Fort Worth prices, with adjustments for freight differentials.

Meanwhile, other drought developments include:

1. Dr. Forrest Feezor, president of the Texas Baptist Convention, to carry out Governor Shivers' request that Sunday be a day of fasting and prayer for rain.

2. Texas stockmen, waiting for details on the government's relief program, sharply reduced their marketing of cattle, with the result that prices have advanced moderately.

3. Bank deposits at Big Spring, in the heart of the drought area, have sagged $2¼ million over a year ago, last Thursday's bank call showed. And Wichita Falls bank officials blamed the drought and depressed cattle and wheat markets for a drop of nearly $1 in deposits in the last year.

Feed will be distributed through county relief committees, including a county agricultural agent, the chairman of the farmers home administration, chairman of the county production and marketing administration, a prominent farmer or rancher, and a local banker. These committees will consider applications, establish eligibility, and act as agents of the agriculture department in selling and collecting for the feed.

The department said the feeds will be sold only to eligible livestock farmers. It will be up to these farmers to mix their own livestock rations or arrange to have feed mills or other processors do it for them, on whatever basis that can be arranged.

At College Station, the chairman of the state drought committee—B. F. Vance—announced that three members of the committee had been appointed. They are G. G. Gibson, state extension director at College Station; L. J. Capple-man, state director of the farm and home administration at Dallas; and William L. McGill, state director of civil defense at Austin.

A banker and a farmer or ranchman are to be added to the committee.

Vance expected the feed to start moving onto the farms and ranches of west Texas by last Monday.

Benson also appointed 12 persons on state committees in Texas and Oklahoma to supervise emergency relief in those states. He said state committees also will be appointed for Colorado, New Mexico, Kansas, and Arkansas.

Heading the Texas state committee is Vance, and other members are G. G. Gibson, extension director at Texas A. and M. College; L. J. Cappleman, state director of the farmers home administration; William L. McGill, state coordinator of civil defense and disaster relief; J. Autrey Walker, executive vice president of the Del Rio National Bank; and Grocer C. Carothers, Jr., Stamford, Texas, farmer.

Morgan Copeland Hears Interesting Address at Ft. Worth

Atty. Morgan L. Copeland, Jr., was in this week on some other business, and informed us that he attended the State Bar Association meeting at Fort Worth, over the weekend, and heard a mighty fine address by the National Bar Ass'n president.

Morgan stated that the speaker at one period during the address, commented on the Rosenberg trial, showing they had a long draw out, and absolutely fair trial in the lower courts, and that it went before the Supreme Court on appeal seven times, who refused to review the case, and was before President Eisenhower twice, who also refused to show clemency for treason to the USA.

After all this, the speaker repeated the nasty things the lawyer for the Rosenbergs had to say about our courts and president, but says Morgan, if this Rosenberg lawyer was kicked out of the Bar Association, the Combies would come back with the cry that our courts are dominated by Fascism.

NEWS FROM THE SOUTHSIDE CHURCH OF CHRIST

Southside Church of Christ is presently engaged in a vacation Bible school, with good attendance and fine interest. Since Southside congregation is a young congregation, this happens to be the first of such efforts for the church, but it is none the less successful. Plans are also being formed which call for a trip to the mountains of New Mexico for the young people of the congregation during the week of July 19th.

The local minister, Ernest West, is scheduled to begin a gospel meeting with the church in Wellman next Lord's Day morning. The meeting continues through Sunday week. Brother S. A. Ribble, minister of the Wellman church, will be the guest evangelist of the Southside congregation each Sunday while Brother West is in meeting at Wellman.

It may also be added that, beginning July 26, the Southside Church of Christ will be engaged in their annual summer meeting, with Jesse Powell doing the speaking.

When I was in Washington recently, Dr. Bella V. Dodd, former school teacher and college professor, and one time member of the American Communist party's national committee, was testifying at the hearing conducted by the judiciary subcommittee on internal security. For 12 years she taught political science and economics at Hunter College, New York City, and infected a great many students with the Communist viewpoint. During this time, she worked secretly with the Communists, but did not formally join.

A Red Professor Talks

There has been a great hue and cry in some circles against the investigations into subversive activities now being conducted by committees of congress. It would be well for any interested citizen, before forming a conclusion in the controversy, to read the latest series of published reports by the committee on judiciary, United States Senate. These reports, available to any citizen upon request, give the transcript of the actual testimony in the hearings on "subversive influence in the educational process."

Worked With Reds

Professor Dodd left the party in 1949, and has since endeavored to rectify the wrongs she did her country, by warning the public of the menace of the Red infiltration in every walk of American life. Among the educational profession in New York, she obviously was an influential personage. Attractive, cultured and fluent in her speech, she was an effective witness at the judiciary hearing. The room was crowded, and the hearing was televised. However, the utmost dignity was maintained.

Fellow Traveler Menace

"I raised the question of whether I should or should not belong to the Communists," she testified. She was instructed by a Communist official as follows: "No, it is not advisable for people like yourself, who are in strategic positions, to become members of the Communist Party, to have a card or to attend meetings." Thus, she was a fellow traveler, doing the bidding of the conspirators, while comparatively safe from exposure. Under these circumstances, she was more valuable even than if she were a party member. The significant thing is that the Communists have claimed about 500,000 fellow travelers working in organizations and institutions throughout the nation, calling themselves "liberals."

Smear Their Enemies

Dr. Dodd testified: "There is absolutely no doubt in my mind, that anyone in America who dares to buck the Communist conspiracy is going to receive very rough treatment from Communists, who learn how, unfortunately, to utilize many unsuspecting people, who think they are supporting freedom of thought, but who, in reality, are the best protections for the Communist conspiracy."

(Released from the office of Leonard Coleman, agricultural engineer, soil conservation service of the Terry Soil Conservation District.)

It is important that, if irrigation is to become a permanent feature in agriculture, the underground water must be used conservatively, and for maximum effective production. Practices must be carried out that will conserve the use of underground water from a standpoint of agriculture, and engineering feasibility.

The engineering feasibility should be reached at the installation of the pumping plant, and the conservation delivery system—an engineered system that will deliver every gallon of water pumped to the field for crop use. This will include a well designed flood or sprinkler system. The engineering problem is a mechanical analysis of conserving underground water. The big problem is the agronomic feasibility.

The limiting factors of crop production are air, moisture, and plant food. To have an abundance of two without the third, limits the growth and production of plants. Upon entering the irrigation business, the problem is in maintaining and improving soil fertility and keeping the soil in good condition. A well planned conservation program will keep the soil in good condition, and conserve the underground water, and give maximum production for water pumped.

"The maximum use of rainfall must be made, and water must be pumped according to the use of the crops to be grown."

"It is first important that the annual rainfall be conserved. Rainfall will be lost in one of three ways: (1) by runoff, (2) by evaporation, and (3) by plant growth. Runoff can be cut to a minimum by carrying out a well balanced conservation program. Runoff is cut to a minimum on close growing crops, and permanent vegetation. The growing of soil improving and soil conditioning crops will increase the infiltration rate of water into the soil, thus decreasing runoff. In this area, with an annual average rainfall of 16 to 18 inches, and an approximate 40 percent runoff, an additional six to seven inches of irrigation water could be saved annually by eliminating runoff. Evaporation can be decreased by growing close growing crops and permanent vegetation. The ground will have the protection of shade, therefore decreasing temperatures. Temperature is a great factor in evaporation. Also, the ground temperature can be decreased by growing high residue crops, and by use of good crop residue management. By eliminating as much evaporation as possible, maximum use can be obtained from the one-half and one inch rains.

"Irrigation water delivered in a conservation system is lost through evaporation or plant use. Since moisture out of the top six or eight inches of soil is lost through evaporation each time an irrigation is applied, the number of irrigations should be cut to a minimum. In order to do this, the water holding capacity of the soil must be increased in order to store the maximum amount of water each time an irrigation is applied. The growing of soil improving and soil conditioning crops, in addition to high residue crops and good crop residue management, will greatly increase the water holding capacity of the soil.

"A good conservation program will increase yields from the irrigated crop, thus allowing the maximum return for money spent."

"By cutting evaporation to a minimum, one less irrigation could be applied annually. One irrigation plus the water lost through runoff could save an acre foot of water per acre annually. At an average cost of $6 per acre foot, the annual saving on 160 acres of land would be $960. This would be in addition to the saving of levels."

The important fact is that not many American citizens understand the workings of this widespread, powerful, undermining conspiracy. Ask your congressman for the judiciary committee reports on "subversive influence in the educational process."

Ten Articles Given On Selective Service

How does a local draft board consider a draft registrant's case when it comes before the board in the manner governed by law and regulations?

The members of a board sit around a table—and the file containing the man's papers are placed before it by the clerk.

The board then considers the man from the following standpoints, based on information in the file:

1. Is he on active duty in the military service? (1-C).
2. Is he a conscientious objector, who has been ordered to a civilian job, (1-W).
3. Is he too old for service under the law? (5-A).
4. Can it be determined at the board level whether he is physically, mentally, or morally unfit for service? (4-F).
5. Is he a minister of religion or divinity student? (4-D).
6. Is he subject to exemption as an alien?
9. Is he subject to deferment because of his dependents? (3-A).
10. Is he eligible for deferment as a member of the armed forces reserve or a student in military training? (1-D).
11. Is he a student in a college or university deferrable under local board authority? (2-S).

12. Does he meet the requirements for farm or other civilian job deferment? (2-C and 2-A, respectively).
13. Is he a college or high school student subject to deferment by law for a short period? (1-S).
14. Is he one of the two types of conscientious objectors? (1-O and 1-A-O).

If the evidence in the file indicates to the satisfaction of the local board that he is eligible for none of these, then the registrant is considered available for military service. (1-A.)

Speakers in the order named, were Herbert Chesshir and Harmon Howze, on "history of oil development in Terry county"; Mel Browne and Earl Jones, "tall tales of Texas"; Ted Odom and J. R. Miss Ruby E. Stewart Weds Bill K. Power in Church Vows

Mrs. Billy K. Power

Lubbock (Special)—In a double ring ceremony read Monday, June 29, at 8 a. m., in the Asbury Methodist Church, Miss Ruby Edna Stewart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Otto Stewart, 2419 21st Street, Lubbock, became the bride of Billy Keith Power, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ovid Bennett Power, 2317 14th Street, Lubbock. Dr. C. A. Bickley performed the service before an altar flanked by baskets of white gladioli and greenery. The bridegroom is a former resident of Brownfield.

A prelude of wedding selections was played by Mrs. Carlos Reynolds, organist, who also accompanied Mrs. Grady Goodpasture of Brownfield, soloist, as she sang "With This Ring," and "Because." Traditional wedding marches were used.

The bride's ballerina length gown of white organdy over satin was fashioned with a fitted bodice which featured a closely tucked yoke fastening down the front with tiny covered buttons.

A strand of pearls, which was a gift of the bridegroom, complemented the soft round collar of the neckline. Tucks of graduated widths accented the rippling gathered skirt, and she wore white kid opera pumps.

Her veil of imported French illusion fell from a coronet of blossoms. The bridal bouquet was a white orchid, showered with stephanotis, and white ribbon streamers tied in lovers' knots, carried atop the bride's white leather Eastern Star Bible. Something old and blue was an antique heart-shaped broach, which was given to the bride's mother by Mrs. Rosa Wood of San Angelo, a long-time friend of the family. Something new was a linen handkerchief, ornamented with rhinestones, given to her by Mrs. L. E. Parsons. A rhinestone bracelet, belonging to the matron of honor, was something borrowed, and her earscrews were of pearl and rhinestones.

skirt was banded with lace. Her fitted Duchess caplet of Venetian lace was detailed with navy velvet tubing, and her bouquet of shaded white and yellow carnations, tied with wide yellow satin streamers, carried out the bride's chosen colors.

Bill Gaylor of Lubbock attended the bridegroom as best man, and Coke Toliver of Brownfield was usher. Approximately 30 members of the couple's families who attended the ceremony, were registered at a wedding coffee, held immediately after the service in the home of the bride's parents. Mrs. Bill Gaylor presided at the registry, which was ornamented by a nosegay of white rosebuds and lily of the valley, tied with yellow streamers, and a miniature bride and bridegroom.

The bride's table was laid with a white nylon lace cloth over yellow, and topped by china and crystal appointments. An arrangement of white carnations in a double wedding ring holder, sprigged with yellow and white ribbons, was reflected in a mirror above the buffet. Mrs. Hardy Ballew presided at the silver coffee and tea service, and cake was served by Mrs. Toliver. The wedding cake was iced in white, topped by a miniature bridal couple, and ornamented with yellow confection roses and swirls of lily of the valley.

The couple chose June 29, as their wedding day, since it was the birthday of the bridegroom's mother.

Immediately after the reception, the couple left for an extended wedding trip to Colorado and other points. For traveling, the bride chose an oyster suit of silk surrah, with a palomino straw hat and matching gloves. Her shoes and bag were of brown lizard, and her corsage was a white orchid.

After Aug. 1, the couple will be at home in Lubbock.

The bride is a graduate of Texas Technological College, with a BS degree in textile engineering, and is now doing graduate work for her master's degree in mathematics at the college. She was formerly associated with Chicopee Manufacturing Corporation, and is now employed by the cotton research committee of Texas.

The bridegroom received his BS degree in textile engineering from Texas Tech, and was awarded his master's degree in textile technology from Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He is also employed by the cotton research committee of Texas, here at the college. During World War II, he was in service.

When Mr. Power resided in Brownfield, he was employed by Southwestern Associated Telephone Company.

Stricklinly Speaking

By OLD HE

We note by reading the dailies, that a speaker imported from the some "fur off" place, to address the Union out there at El Paso. And the Hon. Imported Speaker ridiculed the old Southern idea of States Rights, and called it "fascism." It seems that some of the union speakers can put up with Communism OK, but can't tolerate Fascism. To our notion, they are as alike as two peas from the same pod—both totalitarian.

And the speaker also ridiculed the Governor of Texas, because Shivers stands for States Rights, including the right to retain Texas Tidelands. But the audience bood'ed when Shivers' name was mentioned. We wonder just how many in that audience were really over Texans? We would like to see a list of the names; just to see how many sounded like Smith, Brown and Jones. Yep, those boys want their right—and a bit more—but the States should quit business and move everything to Washington, according to their idea.

Of course, they may go under the name of Loyal(?) Democrats here in Texas, but the national chairman, who has been making his rounds in Texas, has had a time reminding up any number of them. Just a few of the leaders. And you know what he promised? Surprise! Yep, he told the boys that the bossing of the party would be taken away from the northern radicals, and returned to the Southern Democrats, where it really belonged. Now, we wonder what he has been telling the locals(?) up there in New England? But from what we could gather from press reports, his visit to Texas was not very satisfactory. In fact, in some places they refused to meet with him, and Lubbock was one of the places.

And we don't appreciate slurs at our governor by visitors, union or non-union. He suits us Texas folks, or we would not have elected him in the first place. And he was probably elected by the help of a whole lot of non-bossered union folks.

Appears like the Lynn County

News over at Tahoka, kinder got balled up on the announcement last week of the new district headquarters, and put Brownfield in the Lamesa district along with Tahoka and others. Truth of the matter is, Bro. Hill, that Brownfield has a district headquarters of its own, and nine new people are moving here, some with families, to enthrone work in or out of Brownfield.

The General Telephone Co., has in the past year, spent more than $100,000 here in Brownfield, for a new building and dialing equipment for the city. With the influx of all these new district officials, we feel that Brownfield is getting a good deal out of the telephone people.

Well, we note that Amos and Andy are to make their "daybutt" over TV Sunday at 8 p. m. That in that audience were really over Texans? We would like to see a list of the names; just to see how many sounded like Smith, Brown and Jones. Yep, those boys want their right—and a bit more—but the States should quit business and move everything to Washington, according to their idea.

Then of course there will be Amos with his understanding little wife, as well as the Kingfish with his acid-tongued old battleax. But this program could have depreciated just as did the Fibber and Mollie program. To our notion that is not half as funny as it was ten years ago—or are we just getting old?

Well, they tell us that the olden days of opportunity knocking at your door, has reached an abrupt end. Today, they call you over the phone and ask you a few questions, and if the answer is approximately correct, your home is immediately furnished with the best, and enough money for a good, long vacation. But opportunity hardly ever lifts your mortgage.

Speaking of opportunity, the Roanoke (Va.) World-News gives us this guessing contest: When will the budget be balanced? Will taxes be reduced? Will John Q. Citizen ever get out of this mess? Tune in tomorrow for the next amazing chapter of this dramatic struggle." We just can't help agreeing with Bro. Smith of the O'Donnell Index that the dailies kinder overplayed their hands in the series of sensational murder trials in the area. That they left little for the imagination.

Following closely on the mess up at Levelland, came the one moved from Amarillo to Colorado City, and the horrible murder trial of an airman moved from Lubbock to Vernon. Was glad when they were over.

Well, maybe the dailies are trying to hold their own for sensationalism with the blood and thunder, comics, sex mags, all going and selling under the misleading title of "health" magazines.

Here we are writing this crap on the 3rd of July, and according to the old traditions and what we read in our old school histories, was that the celebrated Declaration of Independence from the British yoke, was signed and sealed on the 4th day of July 1776, and that the Liberty Bell rang out its message of freedom throughout the breadth of the land.

Now, to blast our childhood ideals, they tell us that the bell now stashed away at Independence Hall in Philadelphia, was not the bell that sounded glad tidings throughout all the land, and as a matter of fact, the Declaration crowd did not get around to celebrating until July 8th. Why the first thing we know, they'll be telling us that the founding fathers signed on the dotted lines, but were so scared that they took to the backwoods on the run.

As for the Liberty Bell, they now tell us that it has been called various and sundry names, such as "Old Independence," the "Bell of the Revolution." It was first named the "Liberty Bell" in 1840, and the name probably coined by the name of Riley, as the Anti-Slavery bunch used a picture of the bell as a symbol of freedom.

Anyway, most of us go by what the bell was supposedly used for originally. While on the subject of the great holiday, we hope all our

TEXAS ALSO HAS A POPULAR CAVERN

When caverns are mentioned in this area, one usually thinks of the Carlsbad Caverns over in New Mexico, right at our back door. But Texas Longhorn Caverns are coming to the front fast, since the state improved and opened them for inspection in the fall of 1932.

The caverns are situated near highway 281, where the Sam Bass entrance is found. It is on the official route from Canada to Mexico. Mr. Galloway, manager of the caverns, believes that a quarter million people will have passed through the caverns from the opening date to the close of July, this year.

Joe Forbes, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Forbes, 110 West Buckley, was a patient in the local hospital last week. Joe was suffering from a virus infection, and among those visiting him was his aunt, Mrs. Bobby Latham, the former Jean Cloud, who now lives in Lubbock.

people get back home off their weekend celebration in one piece. And now for the worst of the whole matter: Over in Russia they have changed the old story we loved so well about G. Washington as a small lad, who admitted that he cut down the old cherry tree, and could not tell a lie about the matter. The Ruskos have changed that to Lennin. That is what we call adding insult to injury, dag-nab their scaly hides.

Resourceful girls of today know a good many answers—and many of them are patterned after the ones advanced by their parents. For example:

The angry dad went to his daughter's room after she got in from a late date, and is reported to have said:

"Well, young lady, explain yourself, coming home at an hour as late as this!"

"Oh, daddy, I was sitting up with the sick son of the sick originally. While on the subject of man you always tell mom you sit up with!"

FRED SMITH HAS 160 ACRES OF GOOD COTTON

Mrs. Fred Smith of 708 East Cardwell had a number of the kin in at the noon meal, Friday, being Mrs. Sallie Limer of Long Beach, and Mrs. Don Herborn and son, Larry, of Compton, Calif., who are here visiting their sister and aunt, Mrs. Stricklin, Sr. Also the Old He and wife were invited. Mrs. Stricklin and Mrs. Limer are aunts of Mrs. Smith.

Well, sir, you know all those Roberts gals were good cooks—taught by their mother—and Annie Belle Lay, another of the girls, was on hand to help Ida, and dog our buttons, they sure spread a feast, and we felt sorter sorry for Fred, as he will have to stand the gaff of a number of whetted appetites.

However, Fred was showing us a stalk of cotton from his 160 acre cotton farm, with a lot of squares on it, and one almost ready to bloom. We imagine he will have blooms before you read this. He has an 8-inch irrigation well that supplies plenty water for the 160 acres.

They were to finish putting five inches of water on the farm this week, which, even without any rain, should make a good crop of perhaps 1½ bales per acre.

POSTOFFICE SHOWS GAIN, DRY OR WET

While the percentage of gain was not much, just 2.9 percent, it was a gain, just the same, in postal receipts for the first six months of 1953. This, according to figures given us by the local postoffice, which was as follows: Postal receipts for the first six months of 1952, was $34,460.58, compared to the first six months of this year, which was $35,488.69.

"AMES" The Irrigation Leader For Your Town And Community

FAST, EASY OVERHEAD IRRIGATION

with ROTO-RAIN or PERF-O-RAIN* equipped with

AMES BALL COUPLERS and VALVES

"Make rain while the sun shines" with low cost, portable Ames ROTO-RAIN Revolving Sprinklers or PERF-O-RAIN. Ideal for row crops, orchards and pastures. Available in Aluminum or Galvanized Steel with self-sealing, self-locking AMES BALL COUPLERS and VALVES.

ROTO-RAIN, using relatively high pressures, lays down controlled "showers" in overlapping circular patterns. Sprinkler heads are selected for correct crop and soil application.

PERF-O-RAIN, using very low pressures, lays a uniform, gentle "rain" over a rectangular area through a pattern of holes along the pipe. Many call it the simplest, most efficient rain making system ever developed.

AMES BALL COUPLERS make field connections "as easy as ABC." No latches, chains or other gadgets. Water pressure automatically locks and seals the connection. Push, click ... it's engaged! A twist and a pull ... it's apart! ABC VALVES close against the flow, providing easy precision control of water in mains or laterals.

Let our experienced engineers plan your system. No obligation. See your Ames dealer, or send coupon to nearest plant for helpful new literature.

No more wasteful, back-breaking ditches!

9 Volunteers Meets June Draft Quota

Nine volunteers from the local draft board No. 116 more than filled the June army quota for the board. The men left Brownfield June 24 for the Amarillo induction center.

Those reporting were Richard Pete Morris, Levelland; Franklin Dee Parker, Anton; James Harvey Latham, Jr., Levelland; Joe Tarant Bybee, Levelland; Kenneth Norman Neal, Levelland; Zack B. Reid Levelland; William Dwin Burks, Levelland; Lonnie Brooks, Levelland; and C. D. Tyler of Brownfield.

Texas Draft Is Predicted

State selective service headquarters recently predicted Texas will be called upon to furnish between 15,000 and 16,000 men during the next year, compared to more than 28,000 called during the past 12 months.

The forecast was made by Lt. Col. Morris S. Schwartz, deputy state director of selective service, who said he expected the prediction to hold true, regardless of whether or not there is a truce in Korea.

Schwartz explained that nationally the armed forces foresee a need for 457,000 men in the fiscal year from July, 1953, through June, 1954. The armed forces anticipate 150,000 men will enlist, leaving 307,000 to be drafted.

"The Texas share of this expected need of 307,000 normally would be 15,000 to 16,000 men," Schwartz said. "Regardless of the situation in Korea, we expected a decline in monthly quotas this summer."

The deputy state director pointed out Texas draft quotas began

Terry County Got Five New Oil Wells

Well, old Terry stood right up among the best last week, in the number of completed wells—five of them. And every last one of them was in the Prentice fields of northwest Terry. There were two new locations, both in the same field. Yoakum county reported no completions, but two new locations, one in the Prentice field of Terry-Yoakum, and the other a 12,000 feet deep test five miles south of Bronco.

Of the completions, there was the Great Western Oil Co., 2-A Brit Clare, in section 22, block D-14. The total depth was 5,970, and flowed 419 barrels of 30 gravity oil, no water, daily. Also the Honolulu Oil Corp., 3-B Alexander, section 18, block K. This well finished with a flow of 456 barrels of 33 gravity oil, no water, daily. Total depth, 5,920 feet.

Honolulu 6-B, F. M. Ellington section 19, block K, carried to a total depth of 5,884 feet. The well flowed 459 barrels of 32 gravity oil daily, with no water. Honolulu No. 4-B Alexander, in section 18, block K. This well flowed 172 barrels of 32 gravity oil, at a total depth of 5,866 feet; no water.

Then there was the Tennessee Production Co., No. 6, C. B. Townes, in section 22, block K, completed at a depth of 6,018. It was a pumper, finishing 160 barrels of 29 gravity oil daily, plus 8 percent water.

The two new locations were the Honolulu No. 1, Ella Covington, section 21, block D-14. Also the Joseph I. O'Neill, No. 3, Ella Covington, on same section and block. As stated above, both are in Prentice field, and contract depth 6,100, with rotary rigs.

The Terry county fields have 14 rigs in operation, a loss of one, since June 10th, but stands ahead of most counties in this area. It has the same as Yoakum county presently, but Andrews heads the list with 46 rigs, Gaines next with 31. But Andrews reported but two completions last week, and Gaines none. Cochran had five completions.

The Whoop! Bang! And Hurrah! Is Over

According to Hoyle, fireworks were on the bane in the city of Brownfield, but only the deaf and blind could have made such a discovery Friday and Saturday nights, and a bit Sunday night. So, Washington, Franklin, Jefferson, and John Hancock surely heard the efforts made to celebrate, as if probably turned some of them over in their caskets. The law was rigidly enforced? There was no noise—but folks, "better" watch your old rusty mufflers?

However, we drove out on the Tahoka road Saturday night—just to be driving—and there was some people out there with their kids, who did not wish to violate the laws of the town. The kiddoes were having a great time shooting their Roman candles, rockets, and other noise makers. But, when we reached town, rockets and candles were exploding all over the city. But maybe the fire fighters were alerted, and stood, paused to go.

Every time we see or hear one of the things, we are reminded of two of the greatest disasters in Texas this year, outside San Angelo and Waco tornadoes, the explosion in the huge fireworks plants, one at Houston, and the other at Fort Worth. Many of the State Legislatures have prohibited the import or manufacture of fireworks. Texas is overdue such a law, come the next session of the legislature.

And what in heck went with all the folks that day? Wasn't it Saturday, and isn't Saturday the big day in Brownfield? Could have gone down east to see about a cottonpicking job. They weren't here. But here they came Monday. Well, maybe they were just waiting for those Tradesday bargains? A lot took off to the neighboring state, we understand, where they could wet their whistles in the cool of air-conditioning. Or maybe a lot were just lounging around home by their own conditioner. They were needed.

We guess it is like the old saying: If all had the same desires and visions, each man would have wanted to marry Sallie Ann. Some like shrimp, but they look too much like grubworms to us. We could never go an eel, as they favored a water moccasin. Just owing to what you like.

G. I. QUESTIONS and ANSWERS

Q—May I take institutional on-farm training under the Korean GI bill on a part-time basis? I want to get a job in a factory in a nearby town the rest of the time.

A—Under the law, institutional on-farm training must occupy your full time.

Q—I was totally disabled in an automobile accident over six months ago, and my National Service Life Insurance premiums are under waiver. I have a permanent plan policy. Will my policy continue to build up, guaranteed values, like it did while I was paying my own premium?

A—Yes, A permanent plan policy under waiver, of premiums provides increasing guaranteed values—including the loan privilege, and the right to dividends—just as though you were paying premiums.

Q—I'm getting a VA pension for a total and permanent disability, and I live in a house that I received through an inheritance. If I sell the house, how much of the proceeds must be considered as income, in figuring whether it come under the income limitations for a pension?

A—In the case of a house that came into your possession through inheritance, all the proceeds will be considered as income, for pension purposes.

Q—I was released from service in July, 1952. By what date must I start training under the Korean GI bill?

A—Veterans, such as yourself, released from service before Aug. 20, 1952, must begin their training under the Korean GI bill by Aug. 20, 1954. Those released after Aug. 20, 1952, have two years from the date of separation, in which to begin.

Q—If I sign up for institutional on-farm training under the Korean GI bill, how much actual instruction will I get?

A—You will receive a minimum of 200 hours a year of group instruction in school, plus at least 100 hours of individual instruction. A minimum of 50 hours of the individual instruction will be on your own farm.

Q—I'm a widow of a World War II veteran, and I've been getting a pension. However, it stopped because I forgot to mail in the questionnaire asking about my annual income that VA sent me. Is there any way I can get the payments to start again?

A—You should submit the questionnaire, or other evidence of your annual income, to VA. If VA receives this within one year from service. I haven't yet applied for the GI term insurance available to Korean veterans. How long will I be covered by the free indemnity that protected me while I was in uniform?

A—The free indemnity protects you for 120 days after your separation from service. If you want the GI term insurance, you must apply to VA for it and pay your first premium within that 120-day period.

from the date it originally issued the questionnaire, and if your income does not exceed the legal maximum, the pension may be payable from the date of the last payment you received. If more than a year elapses, the payments if otherwise in order will start as of the date VA gets the new questionnaire, or a new claim.

Q—I understand that, with credit controls lifted, it's possible to get a 30-year GI loan with no down payment. But I can't find anybody who will lend me the money on those terms. Aren't lenders required to do that under the law?

A—No. Although such terms are permissible, it's still up to the lender to make his own decision as to the terms of the loan.

Mayor Nelson Thinks All Noises Nuisance

Mayor Homer Nelson looks at things like a lot of the rest of us just common run of the mine humans. In other words, he thinks that noises on the streets, whether made by an old car with the cut-out gone from the exhaust, is no worse nor no better than these huge box car trucks that bound up and down our streets and highways, that will almost raise the dead.

Here of late not a few tickets have been handed the mayor by the officers, for running an old jalopy, hot rod or perhaps a fairly new car with the muffler rusted out. He has, on occasion, talked to these people with such cars, mostly teenage boys, and, in all cases, tore up the tickets.

Mayor Nelson stated that, when we get to the point we can eliminate some of the noise these old commercial trucks make, as well as motorcycles, then it will be plenty time to hop on the boys with both feet, and make them pay fines for too much noise. We have our share of experience along the line that Mayor Nelson points out.

We live within a half block of the main highway to Lubbock and Seagraves. This highway carries an immense lot of traffic toward Lubbock, Plainview, and

OLD FRIEND POLLOCK COMES THROUGH

Last week we had a letter from our old time friend, O. E. Pollock, who is now domiciled out there at Bell Garden, Calif. It was addressed to the Old He of the Terry County Herald, and, while he remarked that he was a bit late with his 4-bucks, he didn't suppose we would rant much about that. Heck, no, what's a little extra time between old friends?

He remarked that he was in Brownfield a week or so ago, and the wind and sand was on a high horse, which reminded the Old Mule Skinner, as he calls himself, of the many years that he served on the old OBR ranch down in the Union community.

Last but not least, he hopes we soon have a six inch rain that will switch the county from a crisis to sublimity. Thanks!

CARD OF THANKS

To our many friends in Brownfield who stood by us during the long illness and death of our beloved companion and father, we wish we could find words to express to your our heart felt thanks for the many nice things you did for us. You will never know just what you have done to make our burden lighter until you have experienced just what we have. The people of Brownfield are wonderful, you have gone out of the way it seems to aid us and we shall never forget you for it. Especially do we thank Drs. Daniell, Treadaway and the nursing staff for their efforts to restore him to his much wanted health, but still God saw best to call him home. We thank Rev. Denison for his words of consolation also each one that had a part in the beautiful floral offering and to the ones that furnished the music. Amarillo, etc. northward, and to Odessa, Hobbs, and El Paso southwest. Many of the trucks are of the mogul variety, and the drivers stop at the cafes along near us to coffee up, or get a sandwich.

Their trucks get a cold shoulder, so, when the drivers turn them on, they race the engine for a long spell, and when they do start up, with some 60 tons of freight, it is about five gears forward, and when each takes hold, they almost lift one out of bed.

But the old jitney without a muffler is against the law. The mogul trucks are exempt, as far as we know. But, despite what the law says, these big trucks and even motorcycles make more noise in a minute than an old mufflerless car makes in an hour. In comparison, the noise is about like a 12 gauge shotgun compared to a toy pistol.

National Call For 3,000 Men—Texas August Quota Is 1,235

Local draft board No. 116 releases the following information from Maj. William B. Sinclair, with the state selective service headquarters at Austin, Texas:

"An August draft quota of 1,235 men was received Monday at state selective service headquarters, Brig. Gen. Paul L. Wakefield, state draft director, said recently.

The quota is the Texas share of a national call for 23,000 men. The July quota, announced nearly a month ago, is 1,286. The June call for Texas was 1,749.

"General Wakefield said local board quotas to fill the August call should be placed in the mail sometime during the first week in July, under present plans.

He said it was doubtful if all local boards would receive quotas to have men examined in August at state selective service headquarters show."

Only 48 out of the state's 137 local boards received a call for pre-induction examinations in July.

"Only those boards needing examined and acceptable men, and those which have accumulated a supply of older men in 1-A will be called upon," the state director said.

"Instructions were received from selective service national headquarters to fill the August call with men 20 years old or older, where possible. Boards are authorized, where necessary, to fill calls with men under 20.

"Currently, despite the fact that quotas have been reduced, more men under 20 years of age are being drafted, General Wakefield pointed out. In April, 24 men out of every 100 were under 20 years old.

"In May, 33 out of 100 were under 20, and during June, the figure was still the same, statistics

PVT. TOMMY ADKINS IS ON DUTY IN ALASKA

With U. S. Forces in Alaska—Pvt. Tommy D. Adkins, whose wife, Mary Jo, lives at 301 Lubbock Road, recently arrived in Alaska for duty with the army arctic center at Fort Richardson. Private Adkins, son of Mrs. Mirtlemy Adkins, Route 1, Box 21, Ropesville, was previously stationed at the Atlanta (Ga.) general depot.

A farmer in civilian life, he entered the army last December.

Army units in Alaska receive intensive field training while providing security for the northern approaches to Canada and the United States.

Beautiful Home Designed For Gracious Living

This plan offers you a beautiful home, with a lot of space for comfortable living, at the very lowest cost in terms of dollars per square foot of usable area. All of the rooms are rather spacious, and in every case, you have plenty of unbroken wall space for an attractive arrangement of the furniture.

The kitchen in this house will appeal to any farm family. It should be especially attractive to the homemaker, since it has 21 lineal feet of counter top, and an abundance of wall cabinets, and ample space for eating most of the family meals.

The workroom not only provides ample space for laundry equipment or storage as desired, but it also provides space for a lavatory for the field hands to clean up before going into other parts of the house, and room for a freezer chest and water heater. It has a closet for storage of raincoats, overshoes, etc., that are used outside and cannot be conveniently stored with other clothing.

The dining room is of ample size, although it has been made almost a minimum, in order to conserve valuable space, yet it will conveniently provide space for normal dining room furniture, and a table that will seat about ten people very easily.

The entrance hall is provided with a coat closet, and will prevent unnecessary traffic in the living room. You will notice that the entire house has been arranged so that it will not be necessary to go through any room in order to get to another. This will mean that a minimum of work will be required to keep it clean.

SALES VOLUME STILL HIGH, LEVELLING OFF

Austin—Sales volume in some parts of Texas continues above the national average, Dr. A. Hamilton Chute, University of Texas retailing specialist, reports.

While the boom has tapered off, business is stabilizing at a very high level, he adds.

New car sales are steady. An overstocked condition is being reached for electric refrigerators and other household appliances, and production is being adjusted. One finger turns the wheels... even when the car is standing still!

Now! Power Steering for as low as $134⁴⁰* Ford brings you the lowest priced power steering in its field... and the finest in power steering at that:

We all know the advantages of power steering. Most of us would like it. And now many more of us can afford it! By spending testing time and development money, Ford brings you Master-Guide power steering for nearly three-quarters the price of any other system in its field. For the facts, read the captions on this page. For a thrill, Test Drive Master-Guide power steering in the Ford!

So simple... So safe! Blowouts become less risky with Ford Master-Guide power steering. It helps you steer to a safe straight-line stop. And power steering helps you park easier, too... does up to 75% of the work for you!

No radical change in driving habits! Unlike many other systems, Ford's system gives you much the same "feel" of handling that you get without power steering. Then, too, you always turn the wheel the same amount as you would with regular steering.

And, because Ford's Master-Guide power steering has a more natural "feel" than many others, you don't have to change your driving habits radically. The steering gear ratio is the same as without power steering and the hydraulic system gives you the right assistance when you need it.

Worth more when you buy it... Worth more when you sell it!
