By OLD HE

Easter with many religionists is the supreme day of all, many putting it ahead of Christmas. But it seems that we read somewhere in the New Testament that one of the Apostles in his writing sorter took the early church people to task about their "days." Then the fact that the Easter date is a movable one from late March to late April, don't seem to fit in with facts.

Then a lot of us read that each Lord's Day, which happens to be Sunday, or the first day of the week, the disciples met to break bread and worship. No other day was mentioned, and was not for hundreds of years after the ascension of Christ into Glory. In fact, Easter is not mentioned but one time in the New Testament, that being Acts 12:4, and that only in early versions of the King James translation; and then a foot note correctly designated that day in that instance, as "Passover." All new versions we have seen renders it as "Passover."

If we would be frank about the matter, the holiday Easter, is just another instance of many churches "keeping up with the Jones church." Easter, or rather Eastre, is just another heathen Anglo-Saxon holiday, dedicated to the god or goddess of spring, and the churches thought they had to keep up with the Jones idea.

Mostly with us today, it is just a day for the ladies to dress out in the new spring apparel, don their Easter bonnets or hats, if you wish, and make an "impres" among the fillies. And then it is a great day for the small fry, to get out and hunt Easter Eggs that the "Easter Bunny" laid.

But our two little grand-warts, after the hunt at the church, came home and had to reset over and over, first one hiding the eggs and the other hunting them, and vice versa. Anyway, that is about all they understand about the matter, is that the bunnies are supposed to have laid the colored up eggs. So, we pass from Easter for another year.

Senator Price Daniel states that he has asked the Senate Finance Committee to include in the income tax provision, so as to permit farmers to deduct for the installation of underground concrete pipe, as a farm expense. The Senator further states:

"The wise use and conservation of irrigation water is of supreme importance in the drought areas of our country. Such a provision would assist materially in the conservation of this valuable resource."

One of the wildest and wooliest things that has come our way of late was a firm down in Big D. seeking publicity on the sale of a 600-acre ranch down in South Texas. For six bits one can have two inches square of that ranch.

No explanation was made of the matter, but supposedly the promoters aimed to take in some two million dollars, on condition that many, many suckers would buy 75¢ worth of the ranch, and become "ranchmen." To heck with 'em.

A letter from John Ben Shepperd is to hand, stating he is filing, probably this week for re-election as Attorney General of Texas. John Ben needs no introduction, as his record as Attorney General during his first term will probably stand as a record of achievement for some time to come.

But he has his enemies, including the nest of Commies and left-wingers and fellow travelers down on the Gulf Coast, as well as the political ring of the Duke Parr element down in old Duval. Probably John Ben will have an opponent who will either sympathize or play 'possum on these issues, but we don't figure they'll get very far. Just also rans. Rah! for JBS.

Had a nice letter the past week from a local photographer, Duncan Ellison, in which he endorsed unreservedly what we had to say last week about the "traveling" photo-

FARM PROGRAM STABILIZATION

By Looe Miller

USDA OUTLINES DETAILS OF FARM STORAGE LOANS

The US Department of Agriculture announced, March 19, details of the farm storage facility program, which was extended for another year through June 30, 1955, by Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson.

Loans are designed to help the farmers throughout the country obtain the storage needed for the anticipated big supplies of grain to be stored this fall and are a part of a broad, coordinated attack by USDA on the general storage problem. Under this loan program, farmers and others can borrow a large part of the cost of additional storage space.

Any farm owner-operator, tenant, landlord, or producer partnership is eligible to participate in the program. Application for a loan may be made at the county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office. The loan may be made either directly through the county office or through an approved local bank. Loans may be obtained on storage for wheat, corn, oats, rye, barley, soybeans, grain sorghums, dry edible beans, rice, peanuts, cottonseed, flaxseed, and winter cover crop seeds.

Farmers can borrow up to 80 per cent of the cost of storage space. (Continued on Back Page)

There will be a district meeting in Lubbock, April 24 or 26 of the County Presidents. They are to decide upon a course of action for Soil Conservation practices namely: The payment by the United States Government for deep breaking in all the counties which have the problem of sand storms. If enough acres of this sandy land were deep broken, many farmers feel that we would have the sand storms under control.

Another Labor Field Day by the Texas Employment Commission was held in the Farm Bureau Office recently. Due to the rains, there was a large demand for tractor drivers. This demand has been increasing even more the last few days. Any farm tractor driver seeking steady work should see the local Texas Employment Commission office.

The Herald has been unable to see State Representative J. O. Gillham of the 98th District, since his return from the special session of the legislature down at Austin. One day he was reported to be off on a visit, perhaps with his daughter. And Wednesday, he was attending the Bankers' Convention at Lubbock, where he responded to the welcome address.

We have talked with many people recently about the special session of the legislature, and most are agreed that the boys did themselves proud in the 30 brief days they were in session. They cleared up and got into law most of the things they were called to rectify.

STILL A GOOD TYPEWRITER FOR THE SHAPE IT'S IN

Even though my typewriter is an old one, it works quit well except for one of the keys. I wish many times that it would print it. It is true that there are forty-six other keys that function well enough. But just one makes a big difference.

You may say to yourself: "Well, I am only one! Nobody will miss me." I make a difference if you are absent from church, club meetings and other activities. There are lots of other members who attend, but you are missed if you do not come at all or just come once in a while.

If you think that you are only one person and will not be missed, re-examine my typewriter and say to yourself: "I am the key person; the social and civic responsibilities of the community and the world are, to some extent, my responsibilities. I must not shirk them!"—Swipad.

THE LOCAL PAPER LEADS

In the comparatively recent past, the local newspaper was about the only place where merchants could advertise their wares. Since then, other important media have come into existence—notably the radio and television. But despite the inroads these have made on the advertiser's budgets, the newspaper is still the dominant factor in the field by a wide margin.

That statement is substantiated by a recent survey of the advertising practices of department stores in all sections of the country. It found that the typical store allocated 80 per cent of the advertising dollar to newspapers, nine per cent to television, four per cent to radio, three per cent to direct mail, and four per cent to other media.

The local newspaper offers the surest means of reaching the masses of the people—whether with a news story or an editorial opinion or an advertising message. And that's why merchants place it first when dividing up their advertising appropriations.

Incidentally, one wonders if there are still people who regard advertising as a waste which adds unnecessarily to the cost of goods? Actually advertising acts as a possible factor in holding prices down by creating the widest possible demand for merchandise, and thus making mass production and mass distribution possible.—Industrial News Review.

TREND IN COMICS

Several comic strips recently have embarked on campaigns of educational value to the public in regard to racketeering, medicine and new viewpoints on an old theme of justice in the nation's law system. Some of the better newspaper comic strips not only provide good reading for the youngsters, but also are interesting to adults, from standpoints of entertainment and education.

The comic strip, "Tex Morgan, M. D.," has been highly praised by the medical profession and by leaders everywhere for its portrayal of racketeering related to abuse of hypnosis and for publicizing the fact that it is no disgrace for a person to have leprosy, or Hansen's Disease. Another newspaper strip, "Judge Parker," currently is pointing up the injustice of sending an innocent person to prison. Both of these comic strips appear in The Lubbock Avalanche Journal.

Just as Congress a few years ago was irritated by the portrayal of "Sen. Jack Fogbound" in "Li'l Abner," so are many court and law officials displeased with the current theme of the Judge Parker comic strip. However, it cannot be denied that injustices are too frequent, even though courts and the law system in general, of course, does an excellent job.

The relatively new trend in comic strips is just further proof that comic strips in newspapers are designed for adults just as much as for children, and perhaps more so. Also that they can serve a useful as well as entertaining service.—Lubbock Morning Avalanche.

GOVERNOR SHIVERS SHOULD ENTER RACE

Texas is going to need the steady hand of wise and courageous leadership during the next few years. A good part of that leadership must be exercised in the field of statesmanship and politics. This means that heavy responsibility will devolve upon the Governor and the Legislature.

GAS MODERNIZES TERRY DWELLINGS

Liquefied petroleum, sometimes called bottled gas, has been a big factor in the modernization of a majority of Terry County's 3,700 homes in the past five years.

A study by the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association shows that the high-heat fuel has pushed many wood-burning cookstoves and kerosene heaters into obscurity and has helped homemakers here take advantage of modern automatic equipment for kitchens, laundries and comfort heating.

In fact, GAMA says, 48 per cent of the homes in this county do not receive utility gas and most of them rely on bottled gas for appliance operation.

Interests throughout. Quiet and unassuming, he has been eminently successful by the record. Not only has he been a good executive in the position of the governorship alone, he has also demonstrated his ability to co-operate with other branches of government. The recent businesslike special session of the Legislature was, in some degree, due to his forethought and the legislative program he laid before them.

Closing date for filing for the primaries is only about two weeks away. There are rumors that Governor Shivers contemplates retiring and devoting his time to his private business. It is not difficult to get his logic, looked at strictly from his own viewpoint. But the State needs the kind of leadership that he can give it during the next two years. He will serve his State well and add to his own record of achievement and loyalty to the State by responding to the desire and will of an undoubtedly great majority of Texas people in announcing for the governorship.—Dallas News.

POPULATION TRENDS

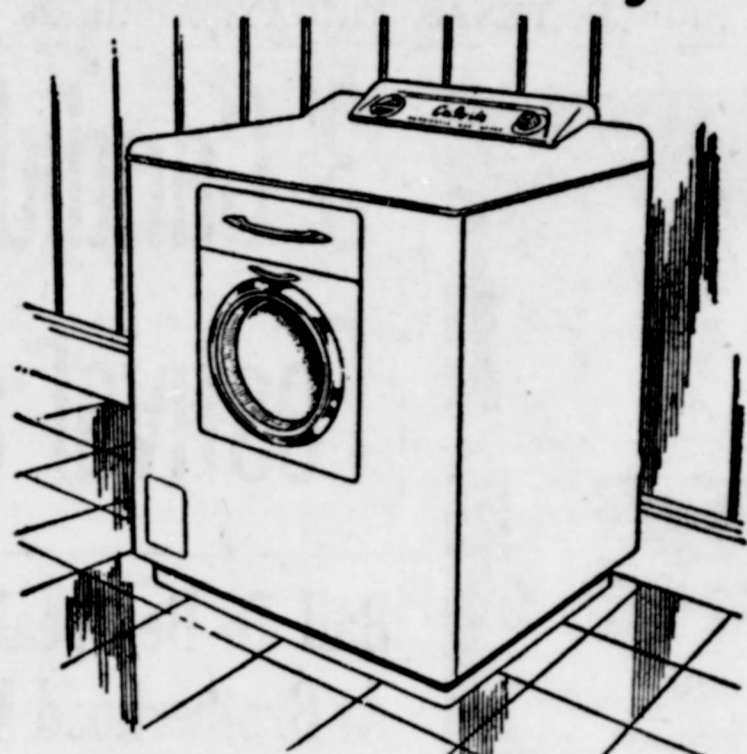

In 1850, there were 4,900,000 persons engaged in agricultural pursuits in the United States, as against only 2,800,000 in all non-agricultural pursuits. The percentages were 63 as against 36.3. One hundred years later, in 1950, there were 7,500,000 in agricultural pursuits and 54,000,000 in non-agricultural pursuits. The percentages were 12.2 and 87.8, respectively.

It isn't difficult to see the impact upon the social structure of the nation, caused by the industrialization and urbanization of the national economy and population. Here in Texas, we have had a similar tendency but, of course, it has lagged far behind development in the United States. As late as 1920, almost one half of the population of Texas was actually living on farms and engaged in farming; 67.6 per cent of the population was classed as "rural," including farm and village population. In 1950, only 16 per cent of the Texas population was living on farms and the total "rural" population, including small-town population, was only 37.3 per cent of the whole.

The point is that we should do more than marvel at the swift change that has come over our Texas situation. We should try to do something about avoiding the economic and social problems that have arisen in the older parts of the United States as a result of these tendencies. We can do so by the right kind of legislation; by the right kind of effort through civic organizations and by a crystallization of constructive and mutually helpful attitudes in both urbanized and rural population blocks. This is a job that is everybody's business, of course. But we should not let "nobody's business" happen here. We have the unfortunate developments in some of the older areas to warn and guide us.—Dallas News.

New Automotive Fuel Made From Aviation Gasoline Components

A new "high performance" automotive fuel, made possible by the use of aviation gasoline components recently released from government priority, has been developed by Phillips Petroleum Company.

The new gasoline contains Diisopropyl, a high test ingredient originated by Phillips, which made possible more powerful, higher anti-knock fuels for combat aircraft. Until recently, the use of super aviation gasoline components has been restricted by military authorities for use in high performance aviation gasoline. These have now been released for use in automotive gasoline, and Phillips is able to use not only Diisopropyl but also HF Alkylate, both originated and first manufactured by Phillips.

According to Phillips research authorities the new gasoline, designated "Plite-Fuel for your car" offers important performance advantages. It provides increased power, higher anti-knock quality, greater fuel economy, and freedom from stalling.

Equally important, says Phillips authorities, are the clean burning qualities of the new gasoline. Use of natural gas components, which leave scarcely and carbon residue, eliminates the necessity for special gasoline additives to combat engine deposits.

Distribution of the new gasoline has already begun, and it will be available in the near future at all Phillips 66 Service stations.

NEW KOREAN SERVICE RIBBON

A new campaign ribbon has been authorized by the Department of Defense for men and women of the armed forces, who served during the Korean War. The latest decoration is the National Defense Ribbon and may be worn by any person who served in the armed forces since the outbreak of the Korean Conflict in 1950.

DEADLINE SOON FOR MUSTERING-OUT PAY

Korean veterans who have not applied for their Mustering-out pay have until July 15, 1954, to make application. All Korean veterans who were discharged between June 27, 1950, and July 16, 1952, had to apply to receive their mustering-out pay and there may still be quite a number who have not applied.

Those separated after July 16, 1952 (enactment of PL550) received their mustering-out pay at time of discharge. Soon after the passage of the law (PL 550) service officers were furnished application forms by the VAC and other organizations, for applying for the mustering-out pay.

The application should be accompanied by the original form DD-214 and forwarded to the U. S. Army Finance Center, MOP Section, Indianapolis, Ind., for Army. Air Force veterans should address their applications to Air Force Center, Denver, Colo. Navy veterans to US Field Branch, Bureau of Supplies and Accounts, Cleveland 14, Ohio. Coast Guard, Coast Guard Headquarters, Washington 25, D. C. And Marine Corps to Commandant of the Marine Corps, Washington 25, D. C.

If application form is needed the form may be secured from VAC Headquarters in Austin or from any veteran organization, and no doubt every County Service Officer has application forms.

PHYSICAL EXAMINATIONS REQUIRED BY THE VA

There seems to be some confusion in the minds of some veterans and even some Service Officers concerning the requirements of the VA in having a veteran physically examined. Every little while we receive letters saying, "This veteran is drawing $15.75 a month compensation and wants to be re-examined, please arrange it for him" or "This veteran wants to come to the VA for a physical check-up as he has not been rated in several years, please arrange a physical examination for him and notify him." Or a letter from the veteran himself, along the same lines, and often the veteran himself comes to the office with the request.

If a veteran is in receipt of compensation and he believes that a service-connected disability has grown worse and that he is entitled to an increased rating, it is up to the veteran to submit evidence to the VA showing that the condition is worse. A rating Board then considers this evidence and, if in their opinion, the evidence does show a changed condition a physical examination will be set up for the veteran and he will be called and examined under existing regulations. There is no other way that this can be done. The VA will not re-examine him for an increased rating simply because he wants to be re-examined. In all instances it is up to the veteran to produce evidence showing that his service-connected disability has changed.

12 MONTHS ALLOWED TO RE-ENTER TRAINING FOLLOWING INTERRUPTION

The delimiting date for training under Public Law 550 for Korean veterans discharged prior to August 20, 1952, will occur Aug. 20, 1954. At that time a veteran must have actually been in training or else be in training on that date. If any veteran, prior to August 20, 1954, began a course of training, and is in an interrupted status on Aug. 20, 1954, they have twelve consecutive months from date of interruption to re-enter training. Any veteran, whose delimiting date is Aug. 20, 1954, who is in training on that date and interrupts subsequently, has 12 months from date of interruption to re-enter training. There is no requirement as to the number of days the veteran must be in training in order to secure the 12 months extension.

Moreover, there is no limitation as to the number of times the 12 months extension can be granted. It must be remembered, that some time during the 12 months extension, training must be resumed if for only one day. The 12 months extension would then take effect from the date of interruption of this period of training.

If the interruption of training extends beyond 12 consecutive months the burden of proof is on the veteran to show that the period of time in excess of 12 months was for reasons beyond his control.

By Looe Miller,

THE 1954 SUPPORT PRICE ON GRAIN SORGHUM

Grain sorghum will be supported at a minimum rate of $2.28 per hundred weight on a national level for 1954. The rate for Terry County is $2.21 per hundred weight.

The 1954 price support for 1954 upland cotton will be supported at not less than 31.25 cents per pound. Price applies to Middling 7/8-inch cotton; a differential for Middling 15/16-inch cotton of the 1954 crop will be announced later. This level reflects 90 per cent of the current parity price for upland cotton. If parity for upland cotton is higher on August 1, 1954, the beginning of the 1954 marketing year, the level of price support for such kinds of cotton will be increased accordingly.

Price supports for the 1953 cotton crops averaged 30.80 cents per pound for Middling 7/8-inch upland cotton.

RELEASE AND REAPPORTMENT COTTON ALLOTMENTS

Any producer who has a cotton allotment for 1954 may release the allotment to the County Committee in case he does not intend to plant his allotment. Any producer may release any part or all of his allotment. Producers have until June 4, 1954, to release their allotment. If you have any questions pertaining to this, call at the county ASC office.

PRE-MEASUREMENT OF COTTON LAND

We are now taking requests for pre-measuring cotton land so you may plant your exact acreage in cotton. Under this program, we will send a reporter to your farm to measure and stake out the correct acreage. Then if you plant within the area staked out, you will have the correct amount of cotton this summer when the land is officially measured.

This is entirely up to you and the entire cost will be paid by you. The rate has been set at $5.00 per farm plus $2.00 for each plot of cotton above 1 on the farm. If you want this service, be sure to sign a request and pay the fee before May 3, 1954.

THE CRIMINAL HAS ALL ADVANTAGES OF THE LAW

Reading between the lines, we can readily see that the criminal has all the advantages of law in a trial by jury. The State or County or perhaps persons, including officers of the law, have to take what comes—and like it.

For instance, of late, cases against three young criminals, who all but murdered the Sheriff of Fisher County, with guns and chains, got their cases moved to Lubbock, because the sheriff happened to be "a very popular man." These young criminals made a break for it after beating the sheriff and two other men, one a farmer.

The first one to go to trial got a one-year sentence, think of that? They were later captured down in Nolan County, and the cases against the three was moved to Lubbock County for trial. Then there is the case of the Lamesa man that came home all beat up from Midland. Later a man and woman were arrested in Weatherford, accused of the crime, but for some reason the Dawson County grand jury failed to indict them.

The Lamesa man got home during the night some time, where he died, and was found next day by some nieces, as he was a bachelor, and a feed dealer. But a Midland grand jury did indict the man and woman, and their cases will go to trial soon.

All revision of the criminal statutes of Texas that have been under consideration for amendment in the legislature, have been killed with the overwhelming vote of the lawyers in the legislature, and lawyers hold the balance of power down there.

Of course a lot of good old honest lawyers think Texas deserves a thorough revision of its criminal laws, but not the jacklegs.

GI Q's and A's

Q. I'm planning to take an evening course under the Korean GI Bill. Since I'll be attending less than half time, the VA told me I will receive an allowance equal to the school's established charge which non-veterans are required to pay. Will this established charge include money for books and supplies?

A. Books and supply charges will be included only if all students—veterans and non-veterans—are required to pay for them as part of the school's established charge. If not, your allowance will cover only tuition and fees.

Q. Recently I made an investment that netted me several hundred dollars. Could I use this money to pay off part of my GI housing loan? If so, will my lender charge me a penalty for doing so? I understand some do.

A. You may use the money to pay off part of your GI loan, and under the law, the lender may not charge you a penalty for doing so.

Q. I hold a National Service Life Insurance term policy that will soon come to the end of its term. Before it does, I expect to be called back to active duty. What happens to my term policy if I apply for a waiver of premiums, and the term expires while the policy is under waiver?

A. Your NSLI policy will be renewed automatically for another five-year term while it is under waiver. Premiums on the renewed term policy will continue to be waived while you remain in active service, and for 120 days after you are separated.

Q. I'm a Korean veteran who left the service before August 20, 1952. I understand I'll have to begin Korean GI Bill training before a cut-off date of August 20 of this year. Could I file an application before the cut-off date, and actually begin my studies when the fall semester starts in September?

A. No. Under the law, you actually must begin your Korean GI training before the August 20, 1954, cut-off date. Filing an application alone is not enough to comply with the law. So long as you start your training before the cut-off date, it won't be necessary for you to be in training on August 20 itself.

Rev. Hayden Edwards of Polytechnic Methodist Church in Fort Worth, conducted the services, assisted by an old friend of Mrs. Casey's, Rev. Cecil Fox, of Westbrook, Texas. Burial was in the Garden of Memories Cemetery in Fort Worth.

MRS. BRUCE WHITE OVER FROM YOAKUM; VISITS THE HERALD

Mrs. Bruce White of the Stanford Valley community of old Yoakum, was in our city this week, and dropped into the Herald office briefly to talk a bit. They have a 3 1/2 section ranch in that community, and they are raising cattle and doing some farming. In fact, reading between the lines, we gathered that diversification is the word over there.

She also stated that the grass was getting green fast since the rains last week, which were good in that community. Her husband served some two terms as County Commissioner of Precinct 1, in Terry County, before selling out and moving over to Yoakum County.

By the way, Mrs. White promised us if we would visit them sometime, she would wring a fryer's head off. Oh! boy.

Gov. Allan Shivers Announces For Another Term

Gov. Allan Shivers announced this week that he would be a candidate in the July primary for reelection as Governor of Texas, making his third race, and third term in that office. However, with much of the term of Gov. Beauford Jester, that he served out, added to two elective terms, Gov. Shivers will have served longer than any other man as Governor of Texas.

It seems that the filing of the Speaker of the House, Reuben Senterfitt sorter hit a snag, as the Secretary of the Democratic Executive Committee stated that the filing application was not made out legally, as some information was lacking. Both Shivers and Senterfitt are regarded as conservatives.

It is almost certain that Ralph Yarbrough, an Austin attorney, will also enter the race, as a left-winger, and an ardent supporter of Adlai Stevenson. Some others are regarded as likely to toss in their sombreros.

NACONA WOMAN HONORED BY TOWN AND STATEMISS ENID JUSTIN

The House of Representatives of Texas and the Nocona Chamber of Commerce recently paid high honor to Miss Enid Justin, civic and industrial leader of Nocona. The House of Representatives unanimously passed a resolution commending Miss Justin for her civic and industrial contributions to Texas and the Nocona community. The Nocona Chamber of Commerce designated her as "Nocona's Woman of the Year."

Among Miss Justin's civic accomplishments is that of helping organize and produce Nocona's annual fall rodeo, known as the Chisholm Trail Round-Up. She has served as its president since it was organized three years ago. The association will sponsor an all-girl rodeo on June 4 and 5.

As the only woman president of a cowboy boot factory, Miss Justin has attained world-wide recognition as the head of the Nocona Boot Company. Nocona Boots are now sold in all 48 states and in many foreign countries.

Work Started On Church of Christ Building at Plains

Construction of a Church of Christ building in Plains has begun at the corner of Fifteenth and Copeland streets, after about one and a half years of the congregation meeting in the old courthouse. The 36 by 70-foot meeting house now under construction is the result of about a year's hard work on the part of the membership, which now stands at 52. There will be four classrooms in the building, one being located in each corner, and the auditorium will be approximately 36x52 feet in size. All windows will be stained glass to cut the glare of the sun, and the floor will be concrete. Cecil Allen, present minister, moved to Plains from Whitney, Texas, to work with the church on January 1, 1953. At that time there were 32 members. After about six months, the membership grew to 47. Then because of members moving away, the membership fell to about 31, but is now up to 52. Audiences average about 60 to 65 on Sunday mornings and about 45 in the evening.

G. I. QUESTIONS and ANSWERS

Q. I applied for disability compensation, and the VA turned me down. I filed an appeal. Would I be entitled to a hearing, so that I could appear in person and argue my own case?
A. Yes. You would be entitled to appear, without expense to the Government, at a formal hearing. You also could bring with you whatever witnesses, recognized attorneys or representatives you may designate.

Q. I'm a World War Two veteran taking a correspondence course under the GI Bill. My entitlement is due to run out, but I've completed more than half the course. Will I be allowed to finish, even though I won't have any entitlement?
A. Yes, provided that your eligibility ends after you have completed satisfactorily more than half the lessons required by the course. The extension, however, will be limited to the number of lessons that $125 will buy.

Q. It is possible for a World War Two GI Bill trainee to change his course, even though the cut-off date has passed?
A. It is possible to change a course while in training, but only for reasons satisfactory to VA. Such reasons might include not making adequate progress in your present course through no fault of your own; wanting to change to a course more in keeping with your aptitudes, or if the new course is a normal progress from the one you are now taking.

Q. Does VA make direct GI loans to help veterans start business?
A. No. Direct GI loans may be made by VA only for the purpose of buying or building a home or farmhouse, and then only in certain areas where private capital is not available.

HISTORY OF TROOP 15

Troop 15 was organized last year at the "Girl Scout Little House." It started with sixteen girls. Mrs. Lal Copeland and Mrs. Crawford Taylor were the leaders. A few days later another beginner troop was organized. This was Troop 7. Its leaders were Mrs. J. W. Eastham and Mrs. Bob Thurston. There were not enough girls to register Troop 7 until close to the end of the year. By this time some of the girls in Troop 15 had moved away. So at the beginning of the year Troop 7 and 15 were combined to form a troop. Last year they learned the Brownie Promise, Motto, and slogan. Also games, folk dancing and songs. This year, Mrs. I. M. Bailey and Mrs. Crawford Taylor worked with Mrs. Copeland as leaders for Troop 15. During the year, Mrs. Crawford Taylor took over the beginners troop when the leaders resigned.

The girls in Troop 15 now are Deanna Blackburn, Mary Angela Gates, Michele Ann Daugherty, Beverly Goble, Beth Hahn, Laura Gayle Herron, Doris Nell Jackson, Darinda Lea King, Adell Miller, Cheryl Dale Miller, Sandra Nance, Ella Sue Nelson, Linda Kay Neungert, Karen Newman, Judith Timmons, Ann Webb. There are five members on the waiting list. A new troop may be organized with as many as eight. The girls have planted a tulip bulb in a can they covered with raffia for their work in Agriculture. They had a slide film on Holland for world Friendship. They have learned new songs, folk dances, and went on a field trip to the Courthouse for Community Life; recently went on a trip to Money Price's farm; made paper sack masks; and made up skits for dramatics. They have a trip planned on the train to Seagraves for this week end. They all agree that it is great fun to be a Brownie.

Mrs. West, Mrs. Hicks, Mrs. Henson, and Mrs. Verner all had parts on the program. The meeting closed with prayer. Ten ladies were present.

The community was saddened by the death of J. D. Hinson, of Lubbock, who died Sunday morning at his home in Lubbock. He is survived by his wife and three children; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Hinson; a sister and four brothers. Our sympathy goes to the family in their hour of sorrow. Mr. and Mrs. Earl Conlter and son, of Lorenzo, were visiting in Meadow, Sunday, and attended the services at the Baptist Church. Norman Lockett, of Wayland, spent the Easter holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Lockett and family.

Rev. Crosby's Son Decides To Follow Family Tradition

Uel Crosby Jr., the son and grandson of preachers, made his decision last year to follow the family tradition. His father, the Rev. Eel Crosby, Sr., is pastor of the Brownfield Methodist Church, and was executive secretary of the Northwest Texas Conference until November. His grandfather, the late R. A. Crosby, was also a minister.

Crosby is living at the home of his sister, Mrs. Tommy Daniels, in Lubbock, until he graduates from Lubbock High School this spring. His parents reside at 402 East Tate in Brownfield.

Young Crosby, president of the young people's department at Asbury Methodist Church in Lubbock, is also president of the Shining Cross Sub-District of the Lubbock District for Methodist young people, which includes Asbury and Overton Methodist churches in Lubbock, and the Methodist churches at Post, Southland, Slaton, and Cooper.

Crosby and a friend, Donald Hamilton of Seymour, both made the decision to become preachers last year at Prairie Grove, Ark., while they were participating in the Mount Sequoia Leadership Training School at Fayetteville, Ark. The two plan to study and room together at McMurray College, Abilene, this fall, where Crosby hopes to major in history and psychology for four years. Then he wants to enter the Perkins School of Theology at Southern Methodist University for three years.

His ultimate goal is to be a service chaplain and later work with other young people.

WHAT HAS HAPPENED TO DAIRY INDUSTRY?

A communication from the US Ag. Dept., through the Texas A&M this week, takes up the condition of the dairying industry. In this communication, it was explained that in reality there was already a sliding sale on those products, and that the present parity rate is 75 per cent instead of 90.

It was disclosed that the government not has in storage the huge amount of 1,320,000,000 pounds of dairy products, in warehouses, caves and what have you. This storage is at the expense of the taxpayers and consumers who have to eat.

But there was a powerful substitute, oleomargarine, and that fact alone has kept butter from

Earl Brown Named Outstanding FFA Boy

Brownfield Ag boys honored their parents at a banquet held recently in the Jessie G. Randal cafeteria, when Earl Brown was announced as the "Outstanding FFA boy of the year." He was elected by secret ballot earlier in the year.

The program was listed as follows: Invocation, Clyde Bragg; dinner; opening ceremony; introduction of parents and guests. Chapter program of work, John Burnett; greetings from the State Association, Darrell Rodgers, state vice president from Lamesa; entertainment, Sonny Curtis, Area II president, from Meadow; leadership teams, Earl Brown; judging teams, Van Perry; honorary member nomination; outstanding member of 1954, Glenn Reid; movie upon FFA 25th Silver Anniversary, shown by past BHS Ag teacher, Lester Buford; and the closing ceremony.

going sky high. Already above the purchasing ability of all but the most prosperous. And as a result, the taste of the American people has changed, and they really like oleo.

Many people in the dairy states, especially are angered at Secretary Benson about the drop in price, but millions had asked a reduction in price of dairy products long ago.

RANGE RE-SEEDING IS LIKE THE PREPARATION FOR A CASH CROP

College Station.—Drouth-weary West Texas livestock producers are advised not to reseed their ranges if as much as 15 per cent of the native, key grasses are still on the ranges.

Deferred grading and proper stocking are cheaper methods of recovery, explains A. H. Walker, extension range specialist.

Walker compares reseeding with the preparations for a cash crop. Permanent grasslands should be planted with seed of high germination and purity and on a good, comparatively deep soil. Some areas, he points out, need first to be fertilized and revitalized with an annual grass and legume crop.

He recommends reseeding in the West Texas area in May or June. Best results are obtained if the new grasses are seeded in rows, then followed with a cultipacker or roller.

Correct seeding rate is another consideration. Cover the seed from one-quarter to one-half inch and do not graze the young plants the first season. Either let the plants grow a one-inch crown or produce a seed crop before livestock are turned in.

While reseeding programs pay off if properly managed, Walker says, they take time, patience, work and cost money. For that reason he suggests that producers not reseed if some of the native forage plants are not present.

"Reseeding on the High Plains of Texas," bulletin L-183, is recommended by the specialist to producers who desire more information on re-establishing permanent range grasses. Copies are available through county agents or from the Agricultural Information Office, College Station, Texas.

Fishing None Too Good—Money Gone

A bunch of the high school youths hied off to Possum Kingdom Come on a Big Bass Drum the past weekend on the long Easter holiday to catch some fish. But the money they make after school and Saturdays don't last long on such a jaunt. Besides, the fishing was none too good.

To add to the other headaches, the blamed old car threw a rod, and most of the bunch had hitchhiked in by noon Sunday. All save the owner of the jalopy, who stayed with it, to get it fixed up, and come home Monday.

Yep, one of them happened to be a grandson of this scribe or typewriter peckerwood, if you like. He was hard to interview about the matter, but finally admitted one fish was caught one day and two another day.

But such is life. If all our aims and ambitions panned out as planned, we'd have heaven here on earth.

Cancer cures are being effected by surgery and radiation today that were not possible by treatment methods of ten years ago, the American Cancer Society says. Support the ASC Crusade.

CLIMAX OF WILDLIFE MIGRATION ABOUT DUE

AUSTIN.—The climax to the mighty migration of the feathered millions from Texas is approaching down on the Aransas National Wildlife Refuge on the Texas Coast.

Reports to the Executive Secretary of the Game and Fish Commission indicated that the most celebrated of the north-bound flocks—the whooping cranes—are poised for their mysterious flight to their summer nesting grounds.

Emphasis on this momentous wildlife event has been made this year because of the concentrated effort to attain maximum public cooperation in protecting the big whoopers, now reduced to a mere twenty-four in number.

The executive secretary said this team showing, between the general public and the acknowledged wildlife authorities, already has stirred unprecedented interest in the spring migration. Field men are aiding the countless unofficial watchers by helping them identify the various species, especially the larger birds which resemble the whoopers.

The Stricklin families here were thrilled to have the rest of the bunch up from Snyder for the week end, the Triggs, Herman, Sallie, and Miss Sara B.—the dog, Rover, and the baby duck, which goes under the name of Quick Quack. The old homestead really resounded once again, as Robert, Mary Ann and Sara Beth played with their Easter baskets and eggs. Us older ones chatted and read, mostly.

COFFEE TIME With MARY WINSTON

The weather is getting so hot nowadays that I should probably rename this column "Ice Tea Time, or something similar. Also, the price of coffee is rocketing so that I may have to define the word coffee in order that late readers will know what the heading implies.

Seems TV has everyone spell-bound, even those who said they never would like it.

My grandmother is one of those people, except she twists the statement a little further. When a western program is all there is to be found, she'll say, "I just can't stand those westerns," but if I turn it off and go into another room, when I return, I'll find her looking at the show—a western.

Last night we were watching a commercial advertising gum that makes your breath sweet. A girl and boy were shown kissing, and Grandmother quickly remarked, "That would make a dog sick." But next day she bought a package of gum—that particular brand.

TV is giving the general public a chance to learn something of classical music, which heretofore they termed "long hair nonsense." Such persons as Lieberache, with his inimitable personality, has brought "high brow" music to the average listeners level, which is in my opinion, doing much to put the public on a higher plane of understanding.

Lubbock has done it! Why can't we? They voted at an election last week that all dogs must be penned or tied up, and with walking days fast arriving, Brownfield could certainly do with such an ordinance.

For the person who constantly drives a car, the local hounds do not present a problem, but for the citizens who do not drive or occasionally like to take a walk, the mongrels make it unpleasant.

Last summer my car broke down on a Sunday afternoon about four blocks from my house, so I decided to walk home, as the auto repair houses were closed. When about three blocks away from my destination, two huge collies took it upon themselves to escort me home with one in the front and the other behind me, and with snarling teeth in the middle. Well, luckily, I wasn't bitten, perhaps because the dogs could tell that if they bit me, I would most likely bite them, literally, I mean.

After "leading me a dog's life" for two blocks, they finally gave up and left me alone, as I was walking as fast as they were running. One more block to go, and I vowed if I ever did get home, I'd never walk by "man's best friend, if you have so high-life," again.

Half a block to go—I was almost home, when a big red chow leaped at me from behind a shrub, and caused all the vitamins I had taken a year ago to take effect. To say I was scared is an understatement—my teeth aren't false, but they certainly rattled.

The chow didn't think I was walking fast enough, so he spurred me on with his teeth so close to my ankles that I could feel his breath. He made sure I got home and when I got to the drive, I didn't walk, I ran.

I've never walked any further in that neighborhood than from the house to my car since then, because, I'll admit it, I'm just flatly afraid of barking dogs, especially when they are well fortified with big pearl-like chompers.

The situation is really getting serious here because so many people, young and old, have to walk to work, and those of us who don't walk regularly would like to do so now that spring is here.

There's nothing to compare with a walk in the moonlight, except a run in the sunlight with a hound at your heels.

A few of the college and university students seen around town during the last weekend were: Parilee Nelson from Hardin-Simmons University, and Graves Nelson, Texas Tech, daughter and son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Nelson; Fay Grissom, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Grissom, HSU; Joann Shelton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Shelton, TCU; Lyle Shelton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Shelton, Texas Tech; Ronny Daniell, son of Dr. and Mrs. A. Three People Who Will Keep Your Secret

In a column received from the State Bar Association and occasionally published, goes into details about lawyers keeping inviolate the secrets of their clients. These secrets, it is stated are the property of the client, just the same as their money.

Then the matter goes on to say there are three people who are supposed to keep secrets of their informants, their lawyer, their doctor and their minister. And we might add that on occasion, as the situation justifies, your newspaper man might be added.

At the present time there is a newspaperman down in South Texas as being tried before a court because he refuses to give out information on some matter published in his paper, without calling names. He is being sued to find out the name of his informant.

BOWERS-NEELY PLEDGE WEDDING VOWS IN EVENING CEREMONY AT FABENS

Miss Rosemary Neely, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Grover Tate Neely of Fabens, and Marion Clark Bowers, son of Mrs. Robert L. Bowers and the late Mr. Bowers of Brownfield, exchanged wedding vows in a ceremony read recently at 8 p.m. in the Fabens First Methodist Church.

Dr. Eugene McLaurin of the Presbyterian Seminary in Austin, a long-time friend of the bride's family, performed the service before an altar banked with white flowers against a background of greenery.

Traditional wedding marches were played by Mrs. Donald Coppock, organist, who also accompanied the soloist, Mrs. C. E. Barron, as she sang "I Love Thee," "Because," and The Lord's Prayer.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of Chantilly lace over cream white satin. The fitted lace bodice featured a rounded neckline with a pleated yoke effect and long, fitted sleeves ending in points at the hands. The bouffant skirt of alternate tiers of tulle and lace extended into a short train.

Her fingertip veil of imported illusion fell from a tiara of mother of pearl. The bride carried a white Bible which was a gift to her from Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Pallen, and her bouquet was a white orchid showered with Stephanotis and satin streamers. The pearl earrings which the bride wore were a gift of the bridegroom, and her strand of pearls was given to her by Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Parker of Ysleta.

Mrs. J. E. Webb of El Paso sent the bride the imported Chantilly lace handkerchief which she carried. Mrs. Jimmy Bowden attended the bride as matron of honor, and bridesmaids were Miss Barbara Pearce of San Francisco and Miss Betty Bondurant of Oklahoma City. Their frocks were identically designed of aqua taffeta shantung. The three bridal attendants were matching veiled bandeaux and carried nosegays of violets circled with orchid malline.

Robert Bowers, student at the University of Texas, served his brother as best man. Groomsmen and ushers were Tommy Hicks, B. F. Hutson, Edgar Self and Robert Lee Craig, all of Brownfield.

Flower girls were Barbara Cook, cousin of the bride, and Linda Hicks, niece of the bridegroom. Their frocks were of eyelet embroidered white organdy fashioned with full skirts featuring scalloped hemlines. They wore flower bandeaux and scattered rose petals before the bride.

A reception honoring the couple was held immediately following the wedding at the Neely home, Rancho Blanco. An all white floral theme was carried out. The bride's table was laid with a lace cloth and featured silver and crystal appointments. The couple cut a five tiered wedding cake topped with white flowers.

For their wedding trip, the bride chose a navy blue spring suit with navy and white costume details and a white orchid corsage. After May 3, they will be at home in Brownfield, where Mr. Bowers is manager of Bowers' Liquefied Gas Company.

Among the out-of-town wedding and reception guests were Messrs. and Mesdames Tommy Hicks and children, Joe McGowan, Robert Lee Craig, Edgar Self and Earl Jones, all of Brownfield, Mrs. W. D. T. Storey of Littlefield and Mr. and Mrs. Regan Peeler of Harford.

Mrs. Bowers, the bridegroom's mother, was hostess at the rehearsal dinner honoring the couple and their wedding party in Del Camino. A pink and white color scheme was carried out, and an arrangement of carnations and stock centered the tables. Forty-five guests were present.

James Harley Dallas, chairman of the Cancer Crusade, of the American Cancer Society, had a call meeting of the members of the society last Wednesday night, at the South Plains Health Clinic. Miss Katherine Daniels, field representative of the ACS, met with the Terry County members, for the purpose of laying out the tentative plans, for the financial drive, that is being launched this month throughout the United States.

The Neighbor to Neighbor plan was adopted. It is the American Cancer Society's Terry County two-fold drive to raising $1,500 and to educate people in Brownfield and Terry County as to the seven danger signals of cancer.

Here is the way the gimmick will work—One family on the corner of each block will receive a brown envelope containing information about cancer. The packets will be passed out at 9 a.m., Friday, April 30. The family is to remove and read information in the packet, keeping the educational matter. Attached to this material is a subscription card which the family is to fill out with name and address and clip its contribution to the card. The family is to retain the stub of the card for its own keeping. Next step is to pass the envelope on to the house next door so that the family there may follow the same procedure. When the packet reaches the end of the block, the family there is to carry it to the neighbor back of him, and the same procedure is followed in making its way around the remainder of the block to the next corner house. After the envelope has made this round it will be picked up at 9 a.m. the following morning.

This over-the-fence campaign has only been used in one Texas city, but it went over with a terrific bang, and we are hoping for equal success here.

Frank Jordan, of the First National Bank, has been appointed treasurer for the drive, and the tellers at either bank will be glad to take contributions, of anyone who wishes to contribute to this worthy cause.

Other officers of Terry County Cancer Society include: Mrs. Wayland Parker, chairman; Mrs. Ben Monnett, educational chairman; Mrs. Jimmy Shook, secretary and publicity chairman; Dr. T. L. Treadaway, Dr. L. R. Mullican, and Mrs. Viola Simmonds, medical advisors.

Contributions may also be sent to PO Box 1192, care of Local Post Office.

NATIONAL MAGAZINES GIVES BROWNFIELD PLUG

Not only did the daily papers play up our fine rain of a couple of weeks ago, but even Time Magazine in its issue of April 26, and we understand Life, gave Brownfield and other West Texas dry areas a big play. If the first impression is bad, it's usually because the preliminary build-up was overdone.

Emergency Loans Available In The Dust Storm Areas

COLLEGE STATION.—Emergency loans are available to farmers and ranchers in dust ravaged areas to pay for listing and chiseling land subject to wind erosion, according to an announcement by Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson.

Up to one dollar an acre or more can be advanced for this purpose to eligible borrowers. In addition, funds for family subsistence, planting of new crops, temporary and permanent pasture reseeding and other necessary farm and ranch expenses may be included, says the announcement.

The loans bear three per cent interest and may be repaid on a schedule based on the applicant's ability to pay.

The funds are handled by the Farmers Home Administration, and to make certain all applications for assistance are handled rapidly, additional personnel have been assigned to offices in dust storm areas.

In addition to the emergency loans, drought relief funds are available on a reimbursable basis by the Department of Agriculture to states in dust storm sections to help control wind erosion.

Applications for these loans are handled by county offices of the Farmers Home Administration. Farmer committees pass on all applications.

RIGHT-OF-WAY DEEDS SIGNED BY SANTA FE

The Panhandle Santa Fe Railroad Co. has signed deeds for right-of-way on their land through Meadow for construction of the four-lane US Highway 62, according to word received Wednesday by County Judge Herbert Chesshir. The County will turn right-of-way over to the State Highway Department in the near future to let the bids.

Mack Thomason, who has been securing right-of-way for the county for the past year, said that the contract to the State would be let at least by July, when construction of the highway would begin.

The J. M. Burleson barn was moved last week to make way for right-of-way and marked the last of such buildings that will be moved for awhile.

Thomason, whose job with the county ended last Saturday, stated that he wished to thank all persons who helped with procurement of the land and especially to the county judge and commissioners court for their cooperation. He will resume his real estate business, here.

The right-of-way that is pending settlement has now been turned over to a jury view committee and will be settled by legal means.

Trying to Name a Senator in Advance Of The Election

(From Beeville Bee-Picayune)

The Bee-Picayune recently has received numerous reprints of editorials published by various newspapers over the state, most of which seem to promote the underlying theme, "Lyndon Johnson deserves to win re-election to the United States Senate WITHOUT CONTEST FROM AN OPPONENT."

Our concern does not stem from the desire of these papers to offer their editorial support to Mr. Johnson because newspapers traditionally support candidates of their choice for public office. It is the newspapers' right, purpose, and perhaps obligation to do so.

But we are worried about the suggestion that "no contest is in order," because we feel that for such an event to take place in the case of a major office would be a dangerous, un-American idea violating the very purpose of free elections.

We think that democracy itself depends on our election system whereunder men in office are caused to go back before the people frequently in order to determine if the majority of the voters still feel such candidates to be their first choice among all willing to submit their names to the ballot.

That these editors which have carried these editorials urging "no contest" for the high office of United States Senator have been requested to do so by Lyndon Johnson supporters would seem quite probable since they have been so similar in content, and published at about the same time. If this assumption is correct, then we think Mr. Johnson and his friends are suspect of an un-American practice in attempting to abscond with the election without allowing the people of our state to have a voice in the choice of a man for this so-important public office. The fact that these papers were well aware at the time they carried these editorials that Mr. Johnson already had at least one opponent (Dudley T. Dougherty had announced) causes us to believe that the real purpose in planting the "no contest" theme was to reflect unfavorable public opinion on any opponents who might enter the forthcoming race—and we think that's unfair play.

In the days of Caesar, his phalanges beat upon their shields with spears and the resulting din served to drown out the voice of any opposed to the controlled thinking of the chiefs. It may serve good notice to the supporters of Lyndon Johnson that the Roman Empire has decayed and disappeared.

America will remain strong as long as the true meaning of the ballot is preserved and nurtured as the most beautiful blossom in our garden of remarkable privileges as free thinking people.

PLANNING A PARTY? Guide to Good Food

When you're giving a party, so much depends on the refreshments you serve. Besides the usual party fare, you'll want to serve some special delicacy that will have your friends asking for the recipe. Orange-Nut Fruit-Jells will establish your reputation for homemade candy with young and old alike. Everybody likes its tangy orange flavor—and who can resist a candy that's rich with crunchy, chopped walnuts?

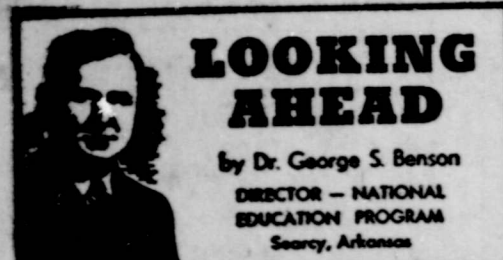

Orange-Nut Fruit-Jells are economical and really so easy to make—just take fifteen minutes from your busy schedule and prove it! Each piece has the consistency of gumdrops and there's never a worry about smoothness, for Certo liquid fruit pectin gives a perfect jelling quality to each batch you make.

ORANGE-NUT FRUIT-JELLS CANDY
Yield: about 5 dozen candies (1 1/4 lbs.)

1 bottle Certo liquid fruit pectin	1 cup light corn syrup
1/2 teaspoon soda	1 1/2 teaspoons orange extract
1 cup sugar	1 teaspoon grated orange rind
	1/2 cup chopped walnuts

Pour liquid fruit pectin into 2-quart saucepan. Stir in soda. (Pectin will foam as soda is added.) Mix sugar and corn syrup in another saucepan. Place both saucepans over highest heat. Cook both mixtures, stirring alternately, until foam has disappeared from pectin mixture and sugar mixture is boiling rapidly. (This takes about 2 to 5 minutes.)

Pour pectin mixture in a slow steady stream into boiling sugar mixture, stirring constantly. Boil and stir 1 minute longer. Remove from heat. Stir in orange rind, extract and chopped walnuts. Pour immediately into 8x8-inch pan. (Or use 8-inch pie pan or round layer pan, or 9 1/2 x 5 1/4 or 10x6-inch loaf pan.) Let stand at room temperature until mixture is firm and cool (about 3 hours). Cut into 3/4-inch squares and roll in confectioner's sugar. . . . Note: If gumdrops are to be stored or packaged, let stand overnight at room temperature before storing, to prevent weeping.

A subcommittee of the House Committee on Government Operations has been making a study of "The Government in Business." The study has not been completed, but the subcommittee has made its first report. Information given in the report reflects the bigness of the federal government, and the vast expansion in recent years of its business and industrial operations.

The federal government owns and operates more than 100 business-type activities, most of them in competition with private enterprise; and it has inventories officially estimated at from $75-billion to $100-billion, which is comparable to those of all private enterprises combined. Encouraging actions have been taken in Washington recently toward the apparent aim of halting the growth of government in business and in time actually getting the government out of most of its competitive business and industrial activities. But only a small start has been made.

Cheaper From Outside

Much of government's sprawling manufacturing and processing activities ought to be closed. Most of them are adding to the tax burden of all citizens, since they do not pay federal taxes and in many cases the products manufactured cost the government (the taxpayers) more than it could buy them for from private manufacturers.

"The military services," reports the subcommittee investigating the government in business, "insist that it is economical to roast and grind their coffee. (They require) some 88 million to 105 million pounds annually, which is about 5 per cent of the United States total consumption. They insist that quality control can only be obtained by production in their own factories. On the other hand, the Veterans' Administration, which procures some five million pounds of coffee annually, alleges that the coffee it buys on a competitive contract basis, f.o.b. the hospitals, is a better blend at lower price than that obtainable from the military factories."

Dangerous Tendency

Another item reported: "The Navy insists that the rope manufacturing operation at the Boston Naval Shipyard is economical and produces a superior product. However, the Navy manufactures only a third of its rope, and buys the other two thirds on the commercial market. The two stocks are mingled, showing that in reality the Navy considers commercial rope to be equally acceptable. . . . The Coast Guard advised the subcommittee by letter that commercial rope was cheaper."

A sizeable percentage of the 2,300,000 civilian employees in the federal government work in factories and other government business establishments. If these workers were in private industry, with its keen competition and profit incentive, they would invariably produce the goods at lower cost. The operations would return a profit to the companies thus broadening the tax base and lessening everybody's tax burden. And it would smother a tendency dangerous to the American way of life. "As big government gets bigger," observes the House subcommittee, "there is a tendency for government agencies to take over more and more activities. . . . one enterprise leads to still another."

Prosperity At Stake

No doubt the government got into many business activities out of what was considered at the time "absolute necessity." And perhaps there are some few activities, particularly among the armed services, which necessity still dictates should be done by the services. However, since operating a business is alien to the fundamental concept of our government, even these few should be rigidly examined and not permitted to give birth to others. Thomas Jefferson said: "Agriculture, manufacturing, commerce, and navigation, the four pillars of our prosperity, are then most thriving when left most free to individual enterprise."

In private enterprise there is the strong incentive of profit and the constant spur of competition. By outstripping every other producer in this country, a better product is made at lower cost. The prosperity and even the freedom of all Americans depend on our keeping the profit incentive and competition as our basic productive force.

CHURCH OF CHRIST, at Meadow, was organized there in 1920, the present building constructed in 1924, and extensively remodeled in 1952. Deacon at the church is D. S. Carroll, and Elders include Preston Hester, and Thurl Swinson. The present minister, W. Melton Bruster, and his family moved to Meadow in 1953 from White Deer, Texas, where he was minister three years. Charter members who still live in Meadow include Mr. and Mrs. S. W. White, Mrs. Carrie Avary, and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Finley. J. C. Hollis was the first regular preacher, and Gerald Paden, who is now a missionary in Italy, preceded Bro. Bruster as minister. The Church owns a modern parsonage, which is located next door to the main building. Sunday school attendance averages about 80 persons and church membership is 95. (Staff Photo.)

Texas Leads in Rural Telephone Loans, Says Sen. Johnson

Senator Lyndon B. Johnson has been informed by the Rural Electrification Administration that Texas has received more loans and more money from the REA for the rural telephone program than any other state.

Twenty-five loans, totaling $18,029,218, have been made by REA for the Texas part of the rural telephone program since it was started in 1950. Subscribers to be served in Texas under loans made to date total 34,462.

Senator Johnson said, throughout the nation, 252 borrowers have received $162,477,218 to serve 366,325 subscribers under the program.

"The bringing of new and improved telephone service to farms and other rural places is a very important part of the overall REA program," Senator Johnson said.

"I am glad that Texas is in the forefront in extending telephone service to rural areas. Many of our farmers are now receiving telephone service for the first time, and many others are getting better service than they have ever had before."

The Texas Senator said REA Administrator Ancher Nelsen has announced that during the present fiscal year, ending June 30, telephone loans will total about $74,000,000.

Guide To Good Shopping

by Pamela Morrison

There's a movement underfoot to make men more foot-fashion-conscious. As wives and sweethearts know only too well, their busy men are often inclined to select socks with little or no fashion interest, to treat them as prosaic details of their wardrobe.

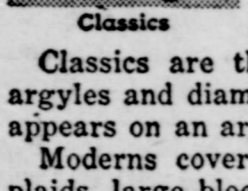

Recognizing this, stylists for the Interwoven Stocking Co., have created a new spring line of Basics, Classics, Moderns, which makes it easy for men to pick the right stocking for the right time. These spring selections, incidentally, lend themselves to every fashion preference.

Basics, which are solid colors in flat knits and ribs, should be selected for conservative business wear, with darker tones appropriate for evening dress.

Classics are the more colorful socks, traditionally acceptable. In argyles and diamonds, they are differentiated by the overcheck which appears on an argyle diamond.

Moderns cover a broad field including, medallion patterns, fancy plaids, large block patterns, near verticals, sportweight leaf as well as neat diagonals. They are just the thing with business suit or suburban tweed.

Assembled with an eye toward a complete wardrobe these Interwoven stocking styles add that extra bit of spice to a too-often neglected part of a man's attire. The well-dressed man would never think of choosing a suit, hat or tie haphazardly. Is it too much to ask that he exercise at least the same care when he chooses socks?

To Aid Children Of Dead Marines

A special Tenth Anniversary Edition of Robert Sherrod's memorable "Tarawa—The Story of a Battle," will be published during the month of April as a practical tribute to those gallant Marines who lost their lives on its beaches.

The anniversary edition will lay the foundation for a fund with which the Second Marine Division Association will finance college education for deserving sons and daughters of the Division's heroic dead.

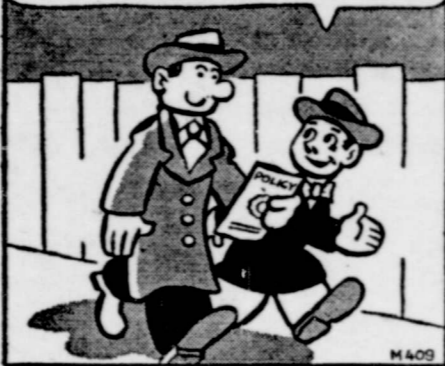

According to Brigadier General David M. Shoup, who won the Medal of Honor on Tarawa, a portion of the price of every book sold will be earmarked specifically for that purpose. Additional direct contributions to the fund will be accepted and placed one hundred percent to the credit of the fund. Plans for management of the fund already are being worked out.

One feature of the Tenth Anniversary Edition will be a new foreword by the author, in which the famed correspondent sums up his reaction from the perspective of today.

Another feature will be the thoughts—"after 10 years"—of Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, Lieut. General Julian C. Smith, Major General Merritt A. Edson, General Shoup, Colonel Henry P. Crowe and a score of others who

Measles Year Here; Texas Leads States

"It's a measles year this year," with Texas leading the US in number of cases and Terry County and Brownfield getting a share. From Jan. 1 to April 3, this year, 145 cases have been reported to the South Plains Health Unit compared to 45 cases in the corresponding period last year.

The public health service said last week there were 196,481 reported cases in Texas up to March 27, compared with 116,319 in the corresponding 1953 period; and 286,744 up to this time in 1952.

This year's rate of increase has exceeded that for the corresponding periods of 1952 and 1953, the Service said in its weekly communicable disease summary.

Last week 29,969 new cases were listed, compared with a five-year (1949-53) median for the week of 17,575 cases.

Texas led the states in new cases last week with 5,322. New York State had 3,466, California 2,710, and Kentucky 2,699.

The health service said scarlet fever, streptococcal sore throat and whooping cough cases also are running ahead of those reported up to this time last year. There have been 54,469 cases of scarlet fever and streptococcal sore throat reported. The whooping cough total through last week was 12,884 cases compared with 7,552 up to this time a year ago.

Miss Freda Anthony, student at Texas Western College in El Paso, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Anthony, Jr., 409 East Hill Thursday of last week, through Monday. She had as her guests, Norman Hensley, also a student at the college.

Scientists are now able to transplant some types of human cancer into laboratory animals, mice or guinea pigs, the American Cancer Society says. This provides an important avenue for cancer experiments to test new chemicals and study how cancer starts.

VET NEWS

By C. L. Lincoln, County Service Officer

PENSION REFUNDS MAY BE ASKED BY THE VA

Many veterans on the Part III (non-service connected) pension roll, whose incomes from other sources edged over the statutory limit last year, are disturbed over the prospect of a demand by VA for refunding the amount of pension received. Actually, there is no hard-and-fast rule governing the matter of refunds and no single answer that can be given to the problem of an individual veteran. Each case is handled by VA on an individual basis, in which all circumstances are taken into consideration in arriving at a basis of adjustment.

Part III (non-service-connected) pensions may not be paid if the annual income of a veteran exceeds $1,400, if single and no dependents, or $2,700 if he has a wife and or children under 18. Generally, VA requires refund if the vet's income in any calendar year exceeds the sum fixed by law. However, when the pension was received in good conscience and when the vet notified the VA promptly when the income topped the ceiling, it may not be necessary to make a refund. As an example, a vet anticipated his income for 1953 to be $2,600.00—very near the limit—but for some reason he received an unexpected $150 late in the year, VA would take that into consideration in giving its decision. Or, in cases where a refund would create hardship, it might be waived by the VA committee on Waivers and Forfeitures. But, when a veteran knows earlier in the year that his income will exceed the ceiling and fails to report it to VA at that time, refund would undoubtedly be required. Part III pensioners are warned that it is to their best interest to keep VA advised of the status of their earnings, particularly if the income nears the limit of $1,400 or $2,700. If in doubt, ask the VA Regional Office handling the claims for a specific ruling.

VA ISSUES S-O-S FOR TRAINED WORKERS

Technicians in several classifications—social workers, dietitians, bio-chemists, x-ray and medical technicians and therapists of all types are urgently needed to fill immediate vacancies in Veterans Administrations hospitals in various locations throughout the country. Most of the positions require college-level training in the specialty. In case of social workers graduate training is required. For the higher paying positions appropriate work experience is needed to qualify on the basis of experience alone. Annual beginning salaries range from $3,175 to $7,040, depending upon the classification. Qualified applicants can get full information regarding vacancies and qualification requirements by contacting the Personnel Office at any VA Hospital, Regional Office, Center or Domiciliary. Or if they wish, applicants may write directly to the Veterans Administration, Washington 25, D. C.

VETERANS' RIGHTS TO RE-EMPLOYMENT

Veterans who intend to return to their pre-service jobs should exercise their re-employment rights by advising their former employer immediately after separation on or before the 90-day time limit ends. Veterans hospitalized have a year longer to apply for their old job back. An eligible veteran is entitled to re-employment in his former job, or a job of like seniority, status and pay. He may not be discharged within one year without cause from the job to which he has been restored. Any vet who does not know what his re-employment benefits might be, can easily get information by writing to the Bureau of Veterans' Re-employment Rights Section, US Labor Department, Washington 25, D. C. or by contacting the nearest State Employment Office.

Some Annual Cleanup Hints From Dr. Cox

AUSTIN.—This is the time of year that most towns in Texas conduct their annual clean-up campaigns. Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, suggests that whenever such activities are planned to keep in mind the various measures necessary to get rid of rats.

Rats are noted carriers of disease. Some of the diseases transmitted by rats or their hosts are bubonic plague, typhus fever, dysentery, food infection, trichinosis, infectious jaundice and Rocky Mountain fever. Rats are scavengers that live on filth as well as edible foods. They thrive in insanitary places such as garbage dumps, trash piles and sewers.

If you don't see rats it doesn't necessarily mean that they are not near you. Rats are not often seen but their destruction is evident wherever they have been. Sometimes they can be traced by their dirty runways. In storehouses, sacks and boxes of grain and food with holes gnawed in them and the contents spilled are evidence of rat destruction. Occasionally rats start fires by gnawing and short-circuiting electric wires or by chewing on matches.

The rat lives in filth. Almost any pile of trash, small piles of lumber, cluttered barns, garages, yards or homes, afford harborage for them. Rat proofing is effective and permanent. However, even rat proofed buildings may become infested if rats are allowed in the open doors or windows. It has been calculated that a pair of rats having plenty of food and shelter could be responsible for the production of 1,400 rats in a single year.

Because of the danger rats bring to humans and because of their enormous destruction of food, crops and merchandise, the importance of getting rid of rats is apparent. In addition, homes and communities are more enjoyable if they are clean and free of animals and insects that cause disease.

The President, who added Toledo to the list of labor surplus areas, said it was possible to frighten the country into a recession, but not a depression.

Sargeant: "Soldiers like to make a fuss about trivialities. And as for that bread you'er complaining about, if Napoleon had had that bread when he was crossing the Alps he would have eaten it with delight."

Corporal: "Yes sir, But it was fresh then."

SOMEBODY'S LAND IS STILL ABLOWIN'

Monday was considered a fairly average April day, but not enough wind to bother, and no "native dust or sand" moving. Yet the air was so full of hazy white smog, that visibility was cut to a mile or so.

Now this dust did not belong in these diggings, but come from some point possibly hundreds of miles north of here, as the wind was in that direction.

Didn't hurt anything that we know of, but just didn't look good to visitors.

THE HERALD APOLOGIZES FOR LATE APPEARANCE PICTURES

A week late, the Herald is showing pictures of some of the animals that took prizes week before last in the 4-H and FFA Show at the Show Barns, and sponsored by the Jaycees. The delay was just one of those things that can't be avoided sometimes, and unnecessary to explain here, as few would probably understand. Late as it is, we hope the pictures prove to be some encouragement to our fine boys and girls.

GRAND CHAMPION, "BIG BOY," the 1100-pound dry-let steer, owned by Robert Flache, member of the Brownfield Future Farmers of America, took top honors in the final day events of the two-day Terry-Yoakum Livestock Show, held April 17. Thirty-three cents a pound was paid for Flache's calf by the Phillips "66" Wholesale Purchase Co. of Brownfield. (Staff Photo.)

Social Security Man To Be Here Apr. 29 Terry County H-D Clubs Hold Meeting

Employers under the Social Security Act have an obligation to report all of the covered earnings of each employee up to a maximum of $3,600 a year. With the exception of domestic working in private homes and farm labor where cash wages only count toward social security, the fair value of meals, room and board, an apartment or house furnished the employee as a part of the compensation is to be considered as a part of the employee's earnings for reporting purposes.

Since the amount of the benefit payment the worker will receive at retirement or the amount payable to his family in case of his death depends on the total earnings credited to his account, the employee as well as the employer should be concerned about correct reporting. If the worker wishes to assure himself of the correctness of his account he may request the Social Security Administration to furnish a statement of his account once each year. A postcard form for this purpose may be obtained at any social security office.

A representative from the Lubbock Social Security Office will be in Brownfield on April 29 at 2:00 p.m. at the County Commissioners Room, Courthouse, and will be glad to assist in all matters pertaining to social security.

Seeds should be treated before planting with a recommended chemical to control seed borne diseases. Treatment is also an aid for improving germination.

Terry County HD Council met last Tuesday for its regular business session. Mrs. Lee Bartlett, chairman, was in charge of business procedures. Instead of reading "Club Collect" as is the usual custom, Mrs. O. D. Kennedy led a prayer of thanksgiving for the wonderful rains God has seen fit to send. Plans were completed for the district meeting to be held in Post, Texas, May 5.

The annual banquet entertaining the Commissioners Court will be held in the Randal school cafeteria on Monday night, May 10. Seventy-five people are expected at this banquet, and this year's affair is expected to be the best we have ever had. A good program has been planned, including a talk by our State Representative J. O. Gillham, of Brownfield. A report to the Court will be made as to what the HD women have accomplished the past year.

An advanced course in dress-making has been started, with Miss Mildred Cox as instructor. The HD women are very fortunate indeed, to have such an opportunity. Council is having a show-case made for exhibit purposes. When the displays are ready for the public, we sincerely hope people will make a special effort to view each one. We feel sure you will perhaps be surprised and certainly pleased, to see the talents and arts of the busy farm women of the county. —Mrs. O. D. Kennedy, reporter.

FOR BEAUTY'S SAKE
Your Face Is Your Fashion

The year's at the spring, and even as the first red robin comes bobbin' along, there are budding rumors and full-blown announcements of what the fashion world has up its 1954-style sleeve for the women of America.

Plenty of excitement ahead . . . new colors, new lines, new fabrics. And as the style scene shapes up, one fact becomes clearer all the time . . . this year, your most important fashion accessory will be your complexion, brought very much into the spotlight by up-and-coming hats, necklines and fashion shades.

New straw hats, many of them brimmed, are designed to be worn level or tilted forward. A series of "canopy" straws jut out in front into pseudo-brims that shade, but do not conceal the browline. Front brims are trimmed with flat velvet bows, some are piled high with roses or with flowers of white or gandy or pique, poised directly above the hairline, centering all attention on the face.

Necklines are scooped and widely-bared. A leader is the new cut-out stand-away collar, which reveals more of your throat-and-neck complexion than last year's flat, close-fitted collars.

Key colors of the new season are charcoal, slatey blues, turquoise, coffee, sun yellows and a whole spectrum of orange shades . . . frosty nasturtiums, zinnia, coral, gladioli. All of them beautiful in their own right, but none of them designed to do kind things to complexions that are muddy, sallow, winter-weary because of less-than-perfect cleansing. But how these shades will flatter when they are cast against the glow of a soap-and-water skin. Your face is definitely part of your fashion-future . . . and Palmolive Soap is the answer to your need for a 1954 fashion-complexion. Palmolive cares thoroughly, yet as gentle as dew. Recent tests prove it the mildest of all leading soaps . . . milder than other leading "beauty" soaps, "deodorant," "floating" and "castile" soaps . . . even milder than leading cold creams.

So before you even start to think of, "Shall it be a gray or a navy suit this spring?", plan a twice-daily scrub session with gentle Palmolive for a prettier skin, your most important fashion accessory of all.

Why Sword of Hope Is Mightier Than Ever

In his ageless struggle on a cold and hostile planet, man's most faithful weapon—sometimes his only one—has been Hope; and it has never altogether failed him.

Even today, in the battle against one of our strongest and cruelest enemies—cancer—there are splendid indications that our hope and faith are not misguided; that the long winter of despair is no longer quite so dark.

Already, cancer patients are being cured—completely cured—who, even five years ago, would have been beyond all help.

Tens of thousands are living happily this Springtime—and will live through many Springtimes yet to come—because they were saved last year from cancer.

Other tens of thousands could have been saved by today's knowledge, if only they had been treated in time.

Why weren't they treated in time? Because of all of us. We haven't worked hard enough at cancer education and service to patients. And we still haven't given enough money for training physicians, for clinics, and for research.

Yes, the Sword of Hope—symbol of the American Cancer Society's struggle against a mighty, implacable enemy—is stronger and sharper than ever. If it isn't being wielded as powerfully as it might be, it's simply because more help is needed from everyone. Much more! Won't you please give really generously, this year?

Tips For Owners Of Food Freezers

COLLEGE STATION, April 9.—What to do in case of a long-time power interruption is a big problem confronting owners of home food freezers.

A new bulletin prepared by foods and nutrition specialists of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service says, 50 pounds of dry ice in a 20 cubic foot freezer will hold temperatures below freezing three or four days.

The bulletin which contains 35 pages of helpful information on freezing foods at home goes on to say that foods in a loaded freezer will remain frozen two or three days, even in summer, when power is off. Foods in a freezer filled to less than half capacity however, may not remain solid more than a day.

When the power fails or the unit fails to refrigerate properly, it's advisable not to open the freezer door unnecessarily, it points out.

Copies of "How to Freeze, How to Cook Frozen Foods," B-175, are available from county extension offices or from the Agricultural Information Office, College Station, Texas.

HEALTH HORIZONS

The Child Who "Can't Learn to Read"

If your child has difficulty in learning to read, it may be a sign that he is in trouble, physically or emotionally. Reading disability is often a distress signal, just like fever or pain—and like them, it calls for diagnosis and treatment, advises Spectrum, the weekly news service prepared for physicians by Chas. Pfizer & Co.

Like fever, reading disability may be due to any number of causes. But one thing is sure. The child who can't keep up with his class in reading is not happy. Whatever his I.Q., he feels inferior. Scolding or coaxing will only make him feel more of an outcast. Ridicule is even worse. Like a sick child, he needs help.

First, See Your Doctor

A good starting point for intelligent help is your family doctor. A complete physical check-up will disclose whether or not the child's difficulties are due in any way to ill health or some unsuspected defect. Eyesight and hearing should be tested particularly. But the physical examination, whether it uncovers any handicap or not, is only a beginning in most cases of reading disability. Very often the boy or girl who can't learn to read is troubled emotionally, investigators have found. Growing up is a difficult process in many ways, and children have more problems than most parents suspect.

Other Experts May Help

Obviously, a troubled child needs help by someone especially trained in children's problems. That's a task for an educational psychologist or a child psychiatrist. It doesn't by any means imply that your child is abnormal or "neurotic" if he requires such help. These are experts in learning and emotional problems, just as your physician is an expert in matter of health.

Once the diagnosis is made, the outlook is bright. Reading problems have been studied extensively in the last few years, and many new methods have been developed to help the boy or girl who needs to catch up with his class in reading ability. Parents can help the child's progress by recognizing his problem and restoring his confidence with understanding and encouragement.

SQUARE DANCERS TO CUT PIGEON WING AT STATE FAIR MUSICALS

DALLAS.—Southwestern dancers will have first chance at the ensemble roles for the 1954 State Fair Musicals, according to Chas. R. Meeker, Jr., managing director. Auditions for the dancing chorus will be held both in Dallas and New York with first choice going to local dancers.

The auditions will be at 7 p.m. Tuesday, May 4 in the State Fair Auditorium, Dallas. Applications may be obtained by writing to the State Fair Auditorium.

Edmund Balin, who is the new dancer director for the 1954 Musicals will be in charge of the auditions. Balin was assistant choreographer to Donald Sadtler, choreographer for the Broadway production of "Wonderful Town."

Traditionally the singing auditions are held in Dallas although they attract aspirants from as far away as New York and the West Coast. These auditions will be held May 24 at the State Fair Auditorium.

SON BORN TO LOFLANDS

Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Lofland, of Meadow, announce the birth of a son, weighing 7 pounds 8 1/2 ounces at 1:05 a.m., Wednesday of last week in a Lubbock hospital. The father is a farmer.

Scientists have discovered more than 300 chemicals that will damage cancer cells, the American Cancer Society disclosed. Further tests will be made to learn if any of these might be developed as a useful cancer treatment.

Moth-proof Woolens While You Wash

COLLEGE STATION, April 9.—Bad news for moths—and good news for housewives storing winter woolens is the new liquid moth-proofing solution which goes directly into the wash water.

A few spoonfuls in the wash or rinse water leaves a minute quantity of DDT in the wool to ward off insects, says Mrs. Bernice Claytor, home management specialist for Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

More than 80 firms manufacture the product under various trade names, but EQ-53 appears in prominent print on most containers.

Treatment with EQ-53 protects wool in storage for a year or more. It is also convenient for blankets in use—the year around. When woolens are washed or dry cleaned they will need retreatment.

This product was developed by entomologists to meet the housewife's need for an easy, economical, effective way to treat washable woolens against clothes moths and carpet beetles.

Moth Protection For Rugs and Carpets

COLLEGE STATION.—Careful and thorough cleaning with the right spray treatments are the keys to springtime protection of wool rugs and carpets against the destruction of clothes moths and carpet beetles.

Frequent cleaning, especially with a vacuum cleaner, prevents dust, lint and hair from accumulating and offering extra food for these expensive pests. Cleaning may also remove the insects themselves and their eggs.

It's a good idea, says Bernice Claytor, extension home management specialist, to rotate rugs and carpets occasionally since insects usually feed under heavy furniture where it is difficult to clean.

Mrs. Claytor suggests a spray of five per cent DDT oil solution for rugs and carpets at intervals of 12 to 18 months. It takes about one and one-half to two quarts of spray for a 9 by 12 rug of average weight.

Give special attention to parts of the carpet that will be under a piano, sofa, bookcase or other heavy furniture.

Untreated animal hair and wool pads under rugs will also need a thorough spraying on both sides, Mrs. Claytor adds.

In spraying wall-to-wall carpeting, give particular attention to the edges all the way around.

Finally, the specialist says that if you have expensive broadlooms or oriental rugs and fear that inexperience in spraying may mar their appearance, it's advisable to call on a reliable pest-control or carpet-cleaning firm.

Cancer has risen from eighth place as a cause of death in 1900 to second place in 1954. Help combat this disease by supporting the American Cancer Society's 1954 Crusade.

Strickingly—

By OLD HE
rappers and their habit of leaving behind a string of "hot checks" to newspapers for advertising.

Mr. Ellison states that the photographic organization is trying to do something about this matter and are making some progress. For Mr. Duncan's information, will say that County Attorney Vernon Townes, has phoned us that he has a PO money order over at his office for the hot check. We also thank Mr. Ellison for his complimentary remarks about the Strickingly Speaking column, and also his remittance for a year's subscription, which he guarantees not to "bounce."

Our advice to one and all is still—patronize local photographers. They'll make everything satisfactory.

Then there was M. B. Childress in from the farm in the Forrester section Saturday, carrying a gallon jug of windmill oil. We remarked that we thought most of the farmers were now pumping their wells with compression pumps that "high-powered" the water in the kitchen sink, the bathroom, etc.

He stated that many farmers in Terry County were so equipped, but they in the Forrester community were still pretty well satisfied with the good old windmills.

The Texas wheat crop has taken quite a beating this year, especially in the west part of the State, on account of the drought and many days of hard winds and blowing dust. The 1954 crop is estimated presently at some 19,000,000 bushels compared to the yield last year, 1953, to 23,035,000, and a ten-year average, 1943 to 1952, of 57,221,000.

The current issue of the Andrews County News pays a glowing tribute to their voluntary fire department. And then goes on to enumerate many of the commendable things that may be said about them. And further, that too little is said and done about these men who risk their lives, health, etc., for the protection of life and property, with little or no pay.

We agree wholeheartedly. Sometimes the people of the smaller towns and cities get it into their heads that these men owe the town something, and this is one way to pay off. Nothing is further from the truth. These volunteer firemen owe no more to our towns than you or me. They are just patriotically doing their duty toward their fellowmen.

On occasion, the firemen here in Brownfield have a supper, or more correctly a dinner, at which all the firemen are invited, and sometimes their friends and neighbors are invited—but the firemen stand the gaff of the affair. It should be the other way around. The citizenship should give the banquet, and invite the firemen.

Twice in the past month, our five boys have fought two stubborn blazes practically all night, then perhaps had to go on their jobs next morning. If a bunch of men and boys ever deserved a banquet, we think it is the Brownfield Volunteer Firemen.

Down at Austin, at UT, they are going to have a meeting about May 1st, to discuss the Texas North, and its influence on the State. It seems to us that these things were a lot worse 50 years ago than presently. When one of those blue northerners blew up along about the turn of the century, all the people and purps hit for the house, and picked up wood to start a fire as they trotted along. New days we have news of their approach hours in advance, and then sometimes, they are not half as bad as predicted.

We may be just getting old and cantinary, and "sot" in our ways, but long ago, we arrived at the conclusion that a gracious Father set up this old world just like He wished it to be at the beginning, and new allows nature to take its course. For instance, out in this section, we never expect a great lot of rain, while the Mississippi Valley gets 60 to 70 inches annually to our 8 to 18. Same way in Asia. Parts of the north and west get shy rainfall, while parts of India gets more than 160 inches some years. Always been that way and there is little man can do about it.

Out here we sometimes have a period of two or three years of from 7 to 12 inches, then again it will tear loose like 1941, and give us more than 40 inches.

The same God that created the Mississippi Delta also created the deserts of Arizona and California, cent of the cost of new storage bins, or other approved storage structures. The structure must meet requirements for storage under the price support program. The loan can be paid off over a 4-year period. The first installment is payable 12 months after the loan is disbursed. Interest on the loan is at the rate of 4 per cent per year. Since the program started, about 46,118 loans have been made covering structures with a capacity of approximately 175 million bushels.

Continuation of the storage facility loan programs will enable producers to finance more readily the acquisition of additional storage during the coming crop year. Special income tax features (similar to those authorized for defense plant amortization) under which the cost of new farm or commercial storage facilities can be amortized over a period of five years is an added encouragement for farmers to increase their farm's grain storage capacity.

COLLISION FRACTURES PUMPER'S KNEE-CAP

F. E. Perry, of Denver City, pumper for Bay Petroleum Co., is in the local hospital following a collision enroute from Denver City to Seagraves of his car and a truck. In the accident, Perry received a fractured knee-cap. The other driver was uninjured.

It was reported that Perry was attempting to go around the truck when the trucker turned left and then gave a hand signal. Perry tried to avoid hitting the truck, pulling into the ditch. He will return home any day now.

MON TELFORD HAS BAD HEART ATTACK

Mon Telford, who lives about a mile southeast of the city limits, had a severe heart attack last Friday, while at breakfast. He was immediately brought to the local hospital, where he has had another attack since, but is now doing as well as can be expected.

Mr. and Mrs. Telford had everything arranged to leave Monday for California to visit several weeks with their son, Mon Jr., and family. Of course that trip is off for awhile, as Mon has been ordered by his physician to remain in bed for four months.

TEC URGENTLY NEEDS TRACTOR HANDS

Since the recent rain, a very definite shortage of tractor hands exists in the Brownfield area. The Texas Employment Commission Office has been able to assist numerous farmers in securing hands but the supply of experienced tractor drivers has been and still is far short of the demands.

The farmers primary requests at this time are for experienced tractor hands that have small families or that are single and will go out and batch. There is also a few requests where the larger families are needed.

Anyone having had tractor driving experience doing listing, planting, etc., that does not have a job at this time, should contact the local office of the Texas Employment Commission for directions to the farmers in need of hands, according to Aubrey T. Jones, office manager.

AUTO ROLLS OVER LAYLAND CHILD

Little Shirley Layland, 17 months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Layland, 209 South First, has been taken home from the local hospital and is reported doing satisfactorily after being run over by the family car.

The child fell out of the automobile as her mother backed out of the driveway, tumbling beneath the vehicle and it rolled over her body. After x-rays were taken it was determined that miraculously no bones were broken.

Directors Farmers Coop Society Elected At Annual Meeting

Over 100 members and their families were in attendance when one new director and two former directors were re-elected at the annual membership meeting of Farmers Cooperative Society No. 1, held at 7:30 p.m. April 20, at the American Legion Hall.

New Director is Foster Winn of Gomez, and re-elected directors are James Thursman and Wood E. Johnson. Other directors who will finish their terms are J. S. Smith, Ed Whitaker, Bill Blackstock, and Grady Dickson.

Out of town speakers for the evening included Otho Keys of the Cooperative Oil Mill of Lubbock, and Tom Brown of the Coop Compress of Lubbock.

Short talks were given by L. L. White, local CCoop Gin manager, and J. T. Clements, local Coop Station manager.

Sandwiches, doughnuts, ice cream, coffee and pops were served to those attending.

Telephone Co. To Move Warehouse Here From Lubbock

J. L. "Dusty" Kemper, Western Division manager of the General Telephone Company of the Southwest, announced today the execution of a contract which will further increase the staff and enlarge existing operations of the Brownfield offices of the Company.

The contract involved a five year lease of the building formerly occupied by the Ross Motor Company.

This building will serve as the new location for Kemper's Division staff, which now has offices in the local exchange building. In addition, the garage portion of the building will be utilized as the Division Warehouse and for the storage of all company owned vehicles located here.

Establishment of the Division warehouse here will result in the move of that section now located in Lubbock and the corresponding move of some eight employees and their families. This change is scheduled to take place about the middle of May.

Following the move from Lubbock of the warehouse employes, Brownfield will boast approximately 65 telephone company employes. This number places it fifth among the exchanges operated by the General Telephone Company of the Southwest as far as number of employes are concerned, yet Brownfield ranks 11th in the company regarding the total number of telephones.

Kemper estimates the telephone company spends over $250,000 annually in Brownfield just for wages and salaries alone.

He added that no remodeling will be required in order to adapt the newly-obtained building for its intended use. Sufficient counters and partitions prevail so that adequate office space may be assigned members of the Division staff. Also yards on the north and south sides of the building will provide adequate space for materials which can be stored outdoors.

Selection of Brownfield as headquarters for the Western Division under the Company's reorganization last July resulted in the addition of six families, totaling 18 persons, and the remainder of the staff was hired locally.

PONTIAC'S 'SUPER DUCK' IS A SENSATION

Pontiac, Mich.—Development of a "Super Duck" far superior to the amphibious truck GMC designed and mass produced for the Army during World War II was revealed today by GMC Truck and Coach Division.

Phillip J. Monaghan, general manager of the division, said the new, sea-going truck is faster and carries nearly twice the payload of the original Duck. It was produced under an experimental contract awarded by the Army's Detroit Arsenal.

"The Super Duck has successful tests," Monaghan said. "We are prepared to put this greatly advanced model into mass production whenever the Army wishes."

At an estimated cost of $8,400, work will begin in the near future on placing a seal coat on US Highway 62 from three miles south of Wellman to State Highway 137 (the Lamesa cut-off), according to word received by County Judge Herbert Chesshir from the Texas Highway Department.

Chesshir said that the Highway Department is waiting on the weather to warm up before applying a "hot top" on US Highway 380, west of town. Caliche has already been applied on the 12-mile run.

Softball League In Texas This Summer Is Still Doubtful

At a meeting in Brownfield, Sunday, J. C. Bumpass told the 25 persons attending that, "Unless six more checks are received by Saturday, there will be no Texas Softball League this summer."

Only two checks had been received up until the time of the meeting, those coming from the Denver City Jaycees and the Lorenzo Lions, last year's representative to the World Tournament.

However, Amarade Oil Co. of Brownfield promised their check would be in by Tuesday, and A. C. Ward of Seminole said that his $100 check would be in Monday. Others promising checks were the Keeling Buick Co. of Levelland, the eStamford All-Stars, and the
