

STRICKLINLY
SPEAKING....

By OLD HE

This old column is going to be short and sweet this week, and maybe most of the would-be readers will appreciate that fact very much, as most of our articles are rather long winded. But maybe most of the gentry and ladies of the area would appreciate just a bit more wind than recently, especially if it was cool wind. All the air we've been getting of late is from the southeast, and it is coming off country, part of which has had less than three inches of rain this year. Therefore the wind is hot and dry.

The daughter, Mrs. Herman Trigg and her little lady, Sara B., from Snyder, are up this week, looking after the place, while the madam and Old He are bowed down in work. And those nice hot meals she provides hit the spot—but poor old Herman! And of course we enjoy their company.

And speaking of cool air, she brought a large calibre electric fan along, and at night we turn the thing on, and we did not realize, by heck, that there could be so much "dip" in the poor quality nature has been delving out at night, and what that fan pours forth. Think we'll trade her out of that fan as they have air conditioning.

Harking back to the dim days of the past, we read a short four line local news item in the Terry County Voice, predecessor of the Terry County Herald for some eight months, when it was moved from Gomez to Brownfield, and re-named the Herald, we find the following under date of July 12, 1904:

"Brownfield was declared the county seat of Terry County by the Court of Martin County, last Tuesday week." That would have been Tuesday, July 5, 1904. Why so doggone brief, you ask, about such an important thing as the years go by. Brother, that was a hot subject at that time, and the least said was sometimes the better.

Even when we came here in 1909, not all the tempers were entirely cool. We have heard the Gomez people and farmers in that vicinity discuss bringing on another election as late as 1910, to move the county seat to Gomez. And many believed it could be done, as it would just take a majority vote.

But the great trouble the Gomez fans ran into was a vast lot of farmers—for that day—as well as ranchmen in extreme west Terry, who did not want to meet the expense of another election and possible removal. They just decided to let well enough alone, as they did not mind the extra five miles to Brownfield. But when the railroad hit Brownfield in 1917, the case was closed for all time. Brownfield began to grow, and Gomez fade. Many of their business men moved to Brownfield, as well as some of the other people. The Gomez people got a paper early in 1910. It got all the political announcements that year, and the editor closed shop and moved back to Dallas.

The weather is so hot we aimed to stay out of politics this week. But we just want to state here and now that we are watching reports that come out of the Duchy of Duval. All candidates for state office who get the endorsement of Parr and his gang, will get our black mark when the voting comes off the 24th.

We don't want anyone for any office in Texas that Parr and his gang even think they can control. We don't need any Kremlin ideals here in Texas, pardner.

In our own opinion expressed in the recent announcement of Hon George Mahon, we found his announcement was OK, but we just had the urge to add our mite in another article. A letter from George under the date of July 8, tells us how much he appreciated our sentiments about him.

In fact, he was so well pleased, that he had to show it to Mrs. Mahon and his office force, he

INFORMAL REPORT ON CANADIAN R. PROJECT

No Insurmountable Obstacles Seen By Engineering Firm

(From Plainview Daily Herald,
July 12, 1954.)

The Canadian River Authority in regular monthly session at the Plainview Hotel Hilton today heard an informal preliminary report from a New York engineering firm, Parsons, Brinckerhoff, Hall and Macdonald is the firm of engineers studying feasibility of the proposed Canadian river project. Representing the engineering firm were H. Alden Foster, A. Bahn, Jr., Eugene A. Hardin, and Edwin F. Cadiz.

Bahn said he felt there are no insurmountable obstacles apparent now.

"A preview" of what they expect to go into the preliminary reports was made and some factors not readily determinable were outlined for board consideration. The contract was primarily to review design and determine whether feasible. The hydrology of Reclamation Bureau has been reviewed.

The conservation feature of 500,000 acre feet storage is acceptable, as is the provision for silt-ing 150,000 acre feet. Yield of 144,000 acre feet conservation water per year is agreeable. Flood control is questionable yet in the engineers' minds. They propose discussion with the Bureau engineers. He holds the district is not responsible for paying for flood control benefits down stream and should not pay for any structural features providing flood control. Reducing height of dam would diminish flood control and reduce cost, saving six to six and one-half million dollars.

Total cost of project is such that most of savings above $13 million would be relatively unimportant. Study has gone far enough to indicate economic height of dam. Inclusion of filtration to clarify the water at a central place is indicated to be more economical as part of the project rather than each city providing its own filtration plant.

Hardin reviewed the so called Stockton report on prediction of water demands. He considers their method modern and acceptable. The engineers have used trending method and verify Stockton's report on cities themselves. He knows no better method on estimating industrial growth than Stockton's, and finds the report acceptable as a basis of demand.

Mrs. Wade Aboard Plane When Youth Is Slain By Pilot

Mrs. Wanda Wade, formerly of Brownfield, who arrived here on Tuesday of last week to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Collier, 1204 East Buckley, was among plane passengers questioned after a 15-year-old youth attempted to commandeer the airliner at Cleveland and was shot and killed by the pilot, July 6. Mrs. Wade boarded the plane

FIRST INSPECTION OF RACERS—Brownfield entrants in the seventh annual Lubbock Soap Box Derby were among 80 of the 125 youngsters who rolled their tiny gravity-powered racers through the inspection last week at Brownfield and Lubbock. The Derby will be run on Monday night, July 26. Final inspection of the racers will be conducted in Lubbock Saturday, starting at 1:30 p.m. Entrants are from 19 South Plains towns and communities and winner of the Derby at Lubbock will receive a free trip to Akron, Ohio, where he will compete against champions from 150 other cities in the US, for $15,000 in college scholarship prizes. Shown above, at extreme right, is one of the local entrants, James Chidester, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Chidester, Rt. 3, Brownfield, as his racer was given a checkup at Jack Bailey Chevrolet. Pictured left to right, are E. C. Pool, C. W. Ratliff, from the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal; R. H. Castevens, Mrs. Chidester, and James. Other local boys who will compete in the Derby include Guy Henson, Jack Bradley, Bobby Darnell, and James Collis. F. N. GOV. ALLAN SHIVERS TO BE HERE TOMORROW

Al Muldrow phoned us Tuesday afternoon that he had word from the Shivers headquarters that the Governor would be in Brownfield, as guest of the Shivers Club and other supporters, at 11 a.m., Saturday, July 17. He will make his address on the courthouse lawn.

Governor Shivers will make Brownfield, Lubbock and Plainview on that day. There will be music as well as other entertainment and the speaking will be over loud speakers, so that all may hear. A good crowd is expected to be on hand to hear him.

This will make about the third time Governor Shivers has visited Brownfield since he has been governor of Texas. We believe he addressed the Harvest Festival one year.

at Syracuse, N. Y., where her husband, Jimmy, is stationed with the Air Force. She said the plane was not detained very long for questioning of the pilot, crew, and 53 passengers; the latter knowing very little about the commanding attempt at the time.

She will be joined here soon by her husband and they will visit relatives and friends in Brownfield and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. V. Wade, in Lamesa.

Mrs. Cates Receives Knee And Ankle Injuries in Crash

Mrs. P. R. Cates, 903 East Lake, is reported improving in a Lubbock hospital from injuries she received in a two-car head-on collision at 1:15 p.m., Wednesday, four miles southwest of Wolfarth.

Driver of the other car, Mrs. Jessica Crawley, formerly of Brownfield and now of Lubbock, received lacerations over the entire body and possible internal injuries; also a broken jaw and possible fracture of the legs. She was reported in critical condition, Wednesday.

Mrs. Cates was driving alone toward Brownfield in her '54 Chrysler, and Mrs. Crawley was headed toward Lubbock when they met head-on. Both cars were demolished. The accident was investigated by the Highway Patrol.

P. R. Cates and daughter, Carolyn rushed to Lubbock upon hearing of the accident, and were accompanied by Mr. Cates' son, Don and wife. The injured woman is a teacher in Jessie G. Randal School here.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Orndorff, Bingham, N. M., visited this week in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Stafford, 803 East Main.

THOSE DIRTY PUSILANIMOUS SEX PERVERTS

We had thought that those dirty, beastly sex perverts that have been bothering small girl children, some mere babies, were confined down east and among the bigger cities, or out on the coast. But the last one between Seminole and Hobbs, N. M., only some 50 miles away, brings this heathenly crime nearer home. It will make all parents suspicious and cautious of strangers hereabouts.

We hope Judge Louis B. Reed gets his grand jury together soon, and that if at all possible, no jackleg lawyer is allowed to delay the trial of the pervert for any technical reason. Such people should be behind bars and soon. And many, you'd be surprised at the number, would not be averse to a few examples of the old time cowman's idea of breaking up horse thefts by swinging a few up on a convenient limb or telephone pole. Even a young single lady expressed such an idea to us this week.

We thoroughly agree with an editorial in the Lubbock Morning Avalanche recently, and prior to this last incident in Gaines County. The Avalanche had this heinous crime under consideration, and was particularly talking about the recent incident at Miami, Fla. News items had stated that "some 40 known sex perverts" had been rounded up for questioning in the death and rape of a child. The Avalanche asked, "why were all these 'known' sex perverts running loose on the streets, in the first place?"

To our notion, all such gentry should be under lock and key so long as they live. They don't deserve to be running loose on our streets.

Telephone Company Asks And Granted Increase In Rates

Telephone rates will be hiked and the increase will go into effect with the August billing, it was decided at a meeting of the city council, meeting, July 8. All councilmen were present, along with telephone company representatives, Dusty Kemper, Western District Manager; Paul Farrar, district commercial supervisor; and N. J. Nichols, district traffic supervisor.

The plea of the General Telephone Co., was that while the rates were raised when the local exchange was transferred from a common battery to a dial system, that the figures represented conditions that existed back in 1951, or prior. Also, that since that time we had the Korean War, which brought on a period of rising costs in material and wages of employees.

With the making of Brownfield the Western District headquarters,

We Are Having To Delay the 50th Year Edition of Herald Until July 23rd

Late last week, we reached the final conclusion that we would be unable to make the 16th of July dead-line on our 50th Anniversary Edition, but it will be in the mails July 23rd. In fact we had lost some hope of doing so a week or so ago. We have been trying to carry this work on with the home force, with a little additional outside help as possible. In fact, part-time men in the printer profession, are scarce. If they are able to earn their salt, they have a regular job.

Also, there was the matter of getting the writeups and pictures of some of the old nesters and ranchmen, who made it possible for the rest of us to enjoy a fine country. There is no doubt that we will have to go to press without some of these fine old pioneers, either because of our neglect, or that of someone else, or the facts about them are not procurable at this late date.

But we are coming along as fine as could be expected under the circumstances, and we hope to present you the results of the labor of many people, whom we have asked to help. Everyone of these people, who have taken on the task of reporting on the activities of some pioneer, or some church, lodge, club, or school, have put their best efforts forward, and we thank them very much.

The force, too, has put in long hours, that many times ran well into the night, and in some instances Sundays. We dislike to work on Sundays the same as you, but a Golden Anniversary Edition comes but once in a lifetime. We have used our old files in the vault, running back to the long dim days of 1903, in our effort to give you the low-down on the early history of Terry County, Texas.

THANKS FOR YOUR PATIENCE.

Brahaney—Hunt Oil Co. J. D. Webb, 1,980 from east and 660 from north lines of Section 513, Block D, John H. Gibson Survey, pumped 89 barrels of 35.2 gravity oil plus 12.75 per cent water daily. Gas-oil ratio was 121-1. Perforations from 5,224-5,248 — 5,253-5,269 feet were acidized with 6,000 gallons.

This week, and as far as that is concerned, for the past several weeks we have been so busy on the Golden Anniversary Edition of the Herald, and at the same time honoring Terry County on its 50th Anniversary, that we have had little time to think of editorializing in the usual way. In fact, we have just about reached the conclusion, that as hot as State politics are at this time, few people will read what we have to say on any subject. And perhaps after all, most of you could do a better job writing editorials than we. But most old newspapermen have a cranky notion that if a fellow lets his paper go to press without one or two hot editorials, the ideas being their own, of course, they are laying down on the job—or plain lazy. Either that, or incapable of writing an editorial. But with the heat of the weather augmented by the heat of the political campaign that will be climaxed just a bit more than a week after you read this, if you read it, we have about reached the conclusion that about all editorials do under the circumstances is to fill space. And most papers have more or less space to fill, as at this season of the year, local merchants of the smaller towns do not whoop up their advertising to any great extent. Although reason will tell us that when business is dull, that is the time to pour it on advertising, without let or hindrance. But if there is any whooping it up, it is generally when business is good with or without advertising. Then there is another angle just here. It is hot weather generally when the merchants let down in their advertising. The boys feel tired and hot and maybe bothered, and they just don't want to be bothered with any physical or mental effort to place any special offers before the public. Just human nature working, aided by the fact that we are all on a low ebb of energy at this season of the year. Even when their ads are laid out for them, they do not feel like reading, revising, or filling in prices of surplus invoices of stuff they have on hand. All of us reach the point of "let George do it," at about this time of year. In fact, many times we reach the point at this time of year when we had rather have an easy chair under a heavy leaved tree, or in the way of a good cooling air conditioner. Yeah, it is just too hot to write editorials, and besides, the people are too hot to read them—unless we say something that crosses their ideas. In that case, you will hear from the ones that happen to be crossed, and you can depend on that. He always sees it.

Just what does it take to make a good community? Most of us will agree right off that it is the people, first, and the good earth of secondary importance. And if there are good people in the community, they will have good schools and churches, and you may bet your bottom dollar on that. This week, our local nurseryman, John B. King, and the writer got to talking about the early life some 45 to 50 years ago on the Plains, as well as other sections of Texas. How an old nester or ranchman, no matter how crowded they were with other visitors when a blizzard hit, and you were moving to another section of the country, would make room some way for others. And if you really wanted to insult one of these old timers, just offer to pay next morning, or when the weather cleared enough to leave. But there was one section of our great State that we cannot say so much for. That was way back at the turn of the century, and down in what we now know as the blackland belt. For various reasons we are not going to name any counties, for their habits may have changed in that time, and those blacklanders may be as prime neighbors now as they were selfish around 1900. When you met one of those old guys, most of whom owned a big blackland farm, they might speak to you, then maybe they'd just nod, and offer a howdy-do, and on they went. So far as we know they did not have much to do with each other. We often wondered then, if they attended church, would they shake hands with each other, and if so, perhaps extend a cold, boney old paw that was like shaking hands with a skeleton. In our days we shook hands with guys that almost "squeeze" our hand off and jerked it loose from the shoulder. Then again, we have shook hands with some jerk that there was no grip and his hand felt like a cold piece of meat in your hand. There are few of the former or latter variety, thank goodness, otherwise you'd go 'round with your hand sprined and bandaged, or it would feel like it came out of a deep freeze. Well, that is the kind of folks you find most anywhere. But going back to that selfish horde down in the blackwaxy, it was always the strangest thing to us that if you moved 100 miles or less to the tall pine section of old East Texas, you found folks that when you rode up, they'd tell you to "light and look at your saddle, stranger," without any hems and haws. And they made you feel at home from the jump go. Or bearing west from the heart of the waxy land, you ran smack dab into the cross timber section in Texas, and the Crosstimberites were no more like those a few miles east of them than if they had migrated to Texas from another nation, instead of the same State, as was the case in many instances. For instance, in one area down there where the black muck lurks, in the early days, doggone near all of them were from Tennessee. We remember one yarn that was used on all new comers in that area. After all there were a few guys that would josh a bit. In that particular vicinity, pretty near all of them happened to be from Giles County, Tenn., Pulaski, postoffice. And if when asked, allowed you was from Tennessee, they'd add: "Oh, yes, from Pulaski postoffice, Giles County, Tennessee." If you denied you were from that place, he'd tell you, "No use denying it, brother, we are all from there, and all of us stole a horse and had to leave." By that time the stranger or new arrival would catch the joke and laugh too. But it is related that the joke was taken rather seriously by one old pioneer, who had heard the accusation perhaps before he left home. He drove his wagon up to a store and had groceries and feed loaded on before taking off to the farm where he was headed. So, an innocent young clerk, believing his customer was a new man in the area, asked him where he was from. By that time the gentleman was up in the spring seat, turned and said, not too politely: "I'm from Pulaski postoffice, Giles County, Tennessee, and I don't give a d— who knows it." Whereupon, he cracked his whip over old Pete and Beck, if mules, and/or Buck and Red, if steers, and took off for his future home. Don't know whether he patronized that store any more or not. This incident is just to point out the difference in people in a day or so's ride. Out in this area, there didn't seem to be any distinction. Homes and ranches were miles apart, and the ranchmen or nesters were both glad to see anyone, and they were always welcome. The word was, "always welcome for one more." John King told us some incidents of their move from New Mexico back to the line of Terry and Yoakum in 1909, and how the settlers along, would go any measure to provide room for them. They would even open up an old store or warehouse building, and get fuel to try and keep them warm, while the women and children would be taken in the homes. We had just related to John that about 1908, in March, we believe, our brother, brother-in-law, nephew and we, had come upon the Plains in Dickens County, to look at some land that belonged to Lee County, Texas, down in the central part of the state. This land was mostly in Dickens, but partly in Crosby County, as we remember, and was on sale by some Abilene real estate men. That was before there was a Spur, and just as we reached the old Espuela headquarters of the Spur Ranch, a few miles northwest of where Spur now stands, a heck of a blizzard struck full force. There was a little school house some 10x12 near the ranch headquarters, but the few children who attended school there, mostly children of ranch hands, and ranch farmers, had gone home, and we asked permission of the ranch foreman to make our bed rolls down in the school house. "Sure," says he without stuttering, "and if there is not enough wood there to keep you warm, just help yourselves to my woodpile. You will get your water from the windmill here in the ranch yard." As an afterthought he added that if we needed anything else that he had, just ask for it. After relating these incidents we want to add again, that it is not always the fertility of the soil that makes a country, but that is a good reason. It is the people who compose the community; their ideas of community betterment, such as schools, churches, and other social affairs. Some of the old timers would give dances or attend them. We have heard many people both in the old states, as well as Texas, vigorously condemn them. And we always thought that some of the condemnations were a bit unreasonable and non-logical. Personally, we cared nothing for dances, but as a small lad before we were crippled, we imagined we could "cut the pigeon wing" to a fare-you-well. To illustrate, we in our youth used to hear people bemean the dance, yet they would allow play parties in their homes. At that time the old square dance was about the only kind of dance we country bumpkins knew about. We remember that one old fellow 'lowed: "Yes, you good religious folks condemn the dance as the offering of the devil, but you think it is OK for the youngsters to play such old play party songs as, "I measure my love to show you," etc., when maybe the boy that is measuring his love on his arm, just hates the girl and the girl hates him. Both are lying." Generally speaking, there was no answer to that one, and the argument ceased. But most folks would not have their homes 'desecrated' by a dance, even the old square variety. But many dances were the order of the day—or night we should say—after we landed here in good old Terry.

KNOX SISTERS REUNION HELD HERE JULY 9TH

By MRS. EFFIE COOPER

The reunion of the Knox Sisters was held in the Brownfield Park Friday, July 9, with all six women and many relatives present.

Because of a mistake in the invitations sent out, some of the relatives arrived one day ahead of schedule, but this didn't seem to make too much difference with the families living here, they got busy ringing the phone and soon a large group was assembled in the home of W. W. Price for noon lunch and later in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hamilton, where a real picnic feast was spread. John Knox Cooper, his wife Charlie, and their three children, Carol Kay, John William, and Nancy, were the first to arrive. Soon afterwards, O. C. Cook, Superintendent of Hico schools, his wife, also a teacher, and Mrs. Clem Ross of Dublin, joined the merry makers. The next day, Early Knox and family, of Dublin, arrived with well filled lunch baskets. Mrs. Jetty Garvin, a cousin of the Knox Sisters, and her son, Ben, drove over from their home in Silverton, Texas, bringing their contribution to the feast.

This was by far the largest gathering of the Knox families that had ever gotten together. And much reminiscing followed. In fact it was difficult to get down to the real object of the meeting—eating—for each one had so many incidents and tales to relate, that dinner for a time was pushed into the background—or at least deferred until long after the noon hour. However, after the tables were literally groaning under the burden, the picnickers gathered around for grace, which was offered by O. C. Cook. Then every one turned his or her attention to the repast, fried chicken, boiled ham, cakes, cookies, peach cobbler, salads, ripe tomatoes, pickles, celery, pies galore, iced tea, and many other good things were in abundance.

After the meal had been served, we were favored by a musical concert furnished by the Curtis brothers, Sonny and Pete, assisted by Olan Finley. This was enjoyed immensely by all. At this time, Mrs. Jack Hamilton introduced Mrs. Effa Knox Cooper, who introduced her late book, "Egg Custard vs. Black Strap Molasses."

After lunch was served the cameras were clicking continually. Early Knox, Mrs. Alleyne Cook, and Mrs. Jack Hamilton took care of this feature of the program and you may be sure no one escaped.

A very colorful part of the program came next, when Mrs. Homer Winston presented lovely gifts to each of the Knox sisters, and the musicians came forward with several numbers, the first of which was a song composed and sung especially for these sisters by Sonny Curtis. Needless to say that this young man's personality won the hearts of these oldsters, who gave him a glad hand for his originality.

Saturday evening some of the visitors were entertained with a dinner in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hamilton. The last get together of the big six, took place in the palacious home of Mrs. Homer Winston. Soon after the church hour the relatives began to arrive for a last feast. This followed much the same pattern as the previous event, except being the Lord's Day, it was more reverent and composed.

Instead of fried chicken, which had been the favorite on the previous occasions, chicken and dumplings were served, boiled ham, fresh string beans and fresh potatoes, replaced potato chips, fruit and vegetable salad, instead of boiled eggs, tomatoes and pickles held their own as before. This was topped off with cake and ice cream and iced tea. After lunch was served, all went into the reception room and spent a few hours watching TV.

The last event for the occasion, and perhaps the most enjoyable was the watermelon feast furnished by Mr. and Mrs. Jim Burnett.

When the time came for dismissal, the following had registered: O. C. Cook and wife, from Hico, Texas; Mrs. Jetty Garvin and son, Ben Garvin, from Silverton; Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Capell and daughter, Mrs. Fred Voyt, of Weslaco, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. Earlie Knox and daughter from Dublin; Mrs. Ruby Loomery from Odessa; and Effa Knox Cooper from Gordon, Texas. And later was Barney Holgate and wife and children from Lubbock; N. L. Mason and wife, Mary D., and children, Gene and Doug; W. W. Price and wife; Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Whisenant, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Burnett; Mrs. Homer Winston and Mary Winston; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hamilton and sons, Mike and Pat; Mr. and Mrs. Earnest Burnett; Mr. and Mrs. James Burnett and children, Horace, Judy, and Gary; Walter Cobb, Pete Curtis and wife and son, Rodney; Sonny Curtis, Olan Finley, and Mrs. S. H. Holgate.

This meeting, it was unanimously agreed by all, was the most colorful and most enjoyable of all reunions yet held, and much of the credit for the success of the affair goes to the families here in Brownfield, and Mrs. W. W. Price, Mrs. Homer Winston, and Mrs. Jack Hamilton, are to be credited for making the reunion possible.

 Our mail has been unusually heavy as a result of the series of columns on Herbert Philbrick, who served nine years as an FBI counterspy within the US Communist underground. We condensed the series and used it in our June National Program Letter. Great volumes of mail came in from the estimated 100,000 readers of the Letter. The recurring question in these letters has been: "What can I do?" A young mother and homemaker on the Pacific Coast asks the question, then answers it. She writes:

"I most certainly have been guilty of the apathy of which you speak. And I'm sure this is also true of the majority of all my friends. The Velde Un-American Activities Committee has recently completed a short hearing on Communism here in the Northwest, which was televised, and this was a jolting eye-opener. If the Committee accomplished nothing else, the public enlightenment obtained would justify their time and effort.

Vague Understanding
 "My circle of friends are in the 30 to 40 age group, busy establishing themselves in their jobs, buying homes, rearing their children, and trying to keep half-way informed. 'Communism' is not a new word to us. I have some sort of vague idea of what Communism is, but could not possibly put that idea in words. Heretofore we have all felt that as long as we were not Communists and didn't associate with any, that was all that was necessary.

"We are guilty of more than apathy—we have a downright reluctance to believe that the Communists are a serious threat, and that they could ever gain any substantial foothold in our country. In the light of our lack of information, and our unwillingness to believe, we have felt that the situation was being taken care of by the Veldes, the Jenners and the McCarthys. And even when thinking that all might not be well, comes the inevitable question: 'Well, after all, what can I do?'"

Her Answer
 "I've been pondering that question for a few weeks now, in direct relation to myself. What CAN I do? Your letter gave the first answer of any kind that I have run across. Here is the answer I came up with:

"1. Make my way to the public library and get one of the only two books that I know of, either 'I Led Three Lives' (Herbert Philbrick), or 'Witness' (Whittaker Chambers) and start reading.
 "2. Order more copies of your Letter, which I am doing now, and give them to my friends to read, in an attempt to get them interested in doing what they can do.
 "3. Ask you for a list of books on Communism mentioned in Herbert Philbrick's comment; and, after getting the list, give copies of it to my friends.
 "4. Not believe everything I see in print, with no thought as to the author, or as to my own common sense.
 "5. Try to get my friends to prevail upon their friends to embark on a self-education program."

We Can Win
 "It seems that each city could have some sort of organized effort or program to acquaint its citizens with 'What You Can Do.' Most cities have many media through which most of its residents can be reached—but particularly the newspaper, the radio and television. It seems to me that a series of articles in the local newspaper informing the public as to what they, as citizens, can do, might have some effect.

"At any rate I'm going to see what I can do. This is my first step (please send 10 copies of your June Letter). I'm going to give these to ten friends and prevail upon them to read one book. If the Communists have traveled so far with their unholy lie, who knows how far ten people might go with the truth?"

Ten people can go a long way with the truth. One person, inspired with a love of freedom and moved into action by an understanding of Communism's terrible threat against it, can go far. Herbert Philbrick says the forces of freedom still are losing to the forces of slavery. Will enough of us awaken out of apathy in time? Letters like the above strengthen my belief that we will.

Let's all go to Church Sunday where we are all one with the Lord

MEET YOUR MINISTER—Rev. A. J. Franks, pastor of the Northside Baptist Church, moved to Brownfield in January, 1942, with his family from the Challis community, where they had lived since 1930. Rev. Franks first pastored at the Highway Baptist Church, 10 miles south of Lamesa. The local church has a full-time missionary, Miss Jean Kinard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Kinard, of Brownfield, who returned July 1 for a month's visit here, after being in Old Mexico for a year. The Franks' children are Billy, at home; Mrs. Gwendolyn DuBose, and Calvin Franks, both of Brownfield; and Cpl. John Franks, Ft. Sill, Okla. Rev. Franks, who is a member of the Oddfellow Lodge and Masonic Lodge, is pictured above with his wife at their home, 1312 East Hill Street. (Staff Photo).

Army Draft Calls For 23,000 Monthly

Present plans will require draft calls for 23,000 men per month until next summer, according to Assistant Defense Secretary John A. Hannah, of Washington. During the fiscal year, 1955, which ends next June 30th, 276,000 men will be drafted under the plan.

The monthly rate of 23,000 is based on the assumption that the world situation will not change to such a degree that the Army will have to be increased in strength. The projected rate also assumes that re-enlistments, now at a low ebb, will not drop further.

The Army rate was raised from 18,000 to 23,000 a month this month. It had been 18,000 since last February when it was dropped back from 23,000.

HOW SALT IS PRODUCED FROM TEXAS MINES

How salt finds its way from mine to dinner table will be the main feature of the Humble Company's Texas in Review next week. Salt production is the oldest of Texas' mineral industries, dating back to Spanish colonial days. Scenes taken at Grand Saline show how great blocks of salt are blasted from the mines to start their journey toward the familiar package on the grocer's shelf.

Other features will include the Volunteer Firemen's Training School at Texas A&M College, a story on "Civilians at War" during summer training for Texas Reservists at Fort Hood, and the first pictures of the new "automatic car parker" just installed in Houston's recently opened, multi-story Medical Arts Garage. On your nearby TV station at 8 p.m., Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Browder, South Fourth Street, had as weekend guests, Mr. and Mrs. Norwood Browder and two children of Midland, and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Threep and children of Seminole.

THE ARKANSAS HOUSE

HOUSE PLAN No. 5049

House No. 5249, a landmark for almost a century in Glenrose community, near Malvern, Ark., was remodeled into a "homey" ranch-type house.

In preparing this house plan for distribution, several minor changes were made to simplify construction. The outside appearance, however, is the same.

The den and breakfast room are arranged for complete and comfortable living, if you want to close off the spacious living and dining rooms with sliding doors. The den's location on the back of the house offers privacy, and its picture window gives a good view of the landscape. The conveniently arranged kitchen has a lot of storage space—a feature any housewife is sure to love. And there is a two-way cross ventilation when the utility room door is open.

A spacious storage wall opens either from the breakfast room or dining room. The utility room closet will accommodate work clothes as well as household equipment. There are shelves for canned food, too. If liquid or gaseous fuels, such as fuel oil or LP gas, are available, central heat can be provided from a compact unit placed in the utility room. The convenient sink below the windows, with counter space on either side, offers a spot where the man of the house can wash up at mealtime without disrupting the kitchen routine or making muddy tracks across the house.

There are seven closets in all. Two linen closets are convenient to the bath and bedrooms, and a walk-in closet at the end of the hall makes a fine place to store out-of-the-season clothing.

Two light and airy corner bedrooms and a readily accessible third bedroom all have large closets, arranged so only a minimum of hall space is needed.

You can obtain blueprints for this Farm and Ranch House Plan No. 5249 and a handy list of materials by which you can figure your construction cost accurately. Send $2.00 to Building Editor, Farm and Ranch, Dept. L-193, Nashville, Tenn. Order by number—Plan 5249 is adequate for any farm carpenter or any farmer handy with tools.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Dry, of Brownfield, returned this week from a trip to Tennessee where they visited with their daughter.

CAN'T DO WITHOUT HIS OLD HERALD

Had a letter under date of the 7th from Rev. Alfred A. Brian, who was for a number of years pastor of the First Baptist Church here, until he was called to Brownwood to help get Howard Payne College up on its feet and off to a good start again. But, let him tell his present story:

"Please note, Old He, that I have changed my address from Brownwood to San Antonio" (giving the street address in each case, the latter being 822 Cherry Chase Drive.)

"The fishing is better down here. I think I can still hold my own when it comes to jinking. I do miss the fellowship I used to have with newspaper editors. However, all of them (or most of them) have been very nice to me. My business here is "fishing for men," as Supt. of the Baptist City Missions." Your friend, Alfred A. Brian.

OK, Alfred, here she comes again, and let us caution you that while fishing around that meandering creek (river they call it) don't fall in and get drowned. And by the way, we have a icce who is a Baptist, out on King's Highway (forgot the number), name of Mrs. Don French. Her dad was a Baptist preacher, also.

Council Says Texas Needs Many More Highway Patrolmen

AUSTIN.—The Highway Safety Council said today that "under-staffing of the Texas Highway Patrol is the most serious handicap facing enforcement of safety measures on the highways of the state."

In a report to members, executive director G. C. Morris said that by all established standards "Texas is one-half to two-thirds deficient in providing adequate patrolmen to protect the public safety on the highways beyond the city limits."

"Texas has made remarkable progress in reducing the highway death toll," the council's director noted. "In 1953, our death rate was 6.4 for each 100 million vehicle miles traveled, and this was the lowest in our history."

"The disturbing aspect of this otherwise fine achievement is the fact that we do not have sufficient patrolmen to assure a continued decline in the accident and death rate," Morris said. "Unless we do what needs to be done, the continued increase in travel over Texas highways will result in an upward trend in the death rate. Our highways will become more dangerous, instead of more safe."

Morris said that the minimum standards set by national groups such as the White House Safety Conference, National Safety Council and International Association of Chiefs of Police show that Texas should have between 1,173 and 1,603 highway patrolmen. Texas actually has only 470.

Morris noted that "virtually every state with a safety record better than Texas has far more highway patrolmen, although no state has a greater area to be patrolled."

California has 1,474 highway patrolmen, Pennsylvania has 1,785, and Michigan has 677, the Council report pointed out. Texas, sixth ranking in population, is fourth ranking in automobile registrations.

"In Texas," Morris added, "we have only one patrol unit to cover more than 200 miles of highway, while in the State of New Jersey the standard is one unit for each 10 miles."

"No state," Morris continued, "has ever made a sustained deduction in tragic deaths without good traffic enforcement."

Morris told members of the Highway Safety Council that "the solution to this problem is legislative—the Texas Legislature must provide the funds with which to expand our highway patrol."

"At a minimum," he added, "we should add 100 to 200 new highway patrolmen next year, and continue to increase the force annually. Each year traffic accidents cost nearly $150,000,000 in economic loss, which is more than 20 times what we spend annually on the entire operation of the Department of Public Safety."

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Smith and daughter, Patsy, of Brownfield, visited their sons and families in North Hollywood, Calif., last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Phillips and Valerie, of Lubbock, visited Sunday of last week in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Garland Jones.

Joy Chisholm, of Lubbock, is spending her vacation in Brownfield with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Chisholm.

MORE MONEY for SCHOOLS

During Governor Allan Shivers' administration more money has been spent for schools than ever before.

The result?—better schools, more and higher paid teachers, and better guidance for your children.

Since Allan Shivers became your governor, school funds have increased from 145 million to 211 million dollars per year. Teachers get $1000 a year more. Your child receives individual attention from 15,000 more teachers.

This educational climb is your child's guarantee of a profitable and happy future. For you it means assurance about his growing-up years. It means a better Texas for everyone.

IN TERRY COUNTY

$365,297.10 was spent for your child's education during the last fiscal year. He got better teachers with higher salaries and an administration that had more money to spend for its needs. Texas veterans received more educational aid.

The money went for other—but mighty important—things too, like school buses and cafeterias and hot noontime lunches. It meant more vocational help for your child. It went for many things, all necessary for a better education for him.

Stricklin Speaking—

By OLD HE

And he loved as how it was great to have good friends. We might add that this is especially true if the friend in question is one we can actually bear down and express ourselves just as we feel about the matter. And that goes 100 per cent from us to George Mahon.

Some people these days make a lot over voting three or four times for someone. We admit voting for Franklin D. Roosevelt four times, and we have lost count of how many times we have voted for George Mahon, but it has been each and every time he has run for the office of Congressman from this district, and if we are here about July 24, we aim to put in another. No extra charge for this special, George.

And we read a sign on the former Palace Drug store building that as soon as it is rebuilt, it will be occupied by Copeland Hardware, presently next door west. But Lal is taking a vacation back in the old states, and we are unable to quiz him about the matter.

"GRAIN STORAGE" WAS TOPIC AT 4-COUNTY AG. MEET AT LAMESA, TUES.

The four-county Agriculture Workers Council, composed of Terry, Yoakum, Gaines and Dawson counties, met at Lamesa on Tuesday, July 13, at 7:00 a.m., at Bart's Cafe. Nine businessmen attended from here.

The 36 agriculturalists discussed "grain storage," with Mr. Leroy Colgan, County Agent, Lamesa, acting as speaker and moderator. Mr. Colgan explained that this year the four counties would have two million acres of grain to be stored. He stated that over three million bushels cannot be stored because of lack of facilities, and two and a half million dollars will be lost because farmers cannot get loans on grain that is not stored.

Colgan explained that Dawson County probably could not store, but 3,000,000 more bushels of grain. Yoakum has practically no storage. Gaines County has 300,000 capacity that is almost full and Terry County has 12 million capacity with little room left to add. ASC will loan 80 per cent on stored grain, stated Colgan, and the government will pay 11c to 15c for storing. Farmers will suffer a great loss, if they have no place to store this year's crop.

Colgan explained that farmers will have to store grain on the farm to take care of this year's crop.

The next meeting will be held in Plains, August 3, 1954.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. (Dick) Chambers, and children, Kathy and Ricky, are on a ten-day trip, visiting his relatives in Arizona, California, and Nevada. Chambers is the local compress superintendent.

Foy Named Chmn. On 4-H Club Camp Planning Group

Jim Foy, Terry County Agent, has been named chairman of the horseshoe pitching committee for the annual District 2 Boy's 4-H Club Camp, which is to be held August 9, 10, and 11, at the Panhandle-South Plains Fairgrounds and McKenzie Park in Lubbock.

The camp is held each year in an attempt to teach area 4-H boys the fundamentals of leadership, self confidence and healthful recreation.

Other committees have been appointed for general program, food and camp supply, pop stand, wash-er pitching, crafts, finance and registration, mess hall supervision, first aid, softball, swimming, and buildings and grounds.

Approximately 175 boys, adult leaders and extension workers attended the camp last year. Usually from five to 20 boys and leaders from each of the 20 counties attend.

Twenty boys are allowed to participate from Terry County, and so far 10 boys have signed up at the agent's office, from the 115 club members in the county.

M-Sgt. Samuel Hilton and his wife have been visiting with her mother, Mrs. Fitz Speckman, of Meadow, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Hilton, of Lubbock, before he reports to Fort Bliss, at El Paso, for re-assignment. Hilton has recently returned from a two-year tour of duty in Alaska.

B'FIELD WILL BE HOST TO HI-WAY 51 MEETING

The Highway 51 Association which is a division of the International Highway Parks Association, met in Andrews, July 13, to discuss plans of the dedication of Highway 51, upon completion of the new bridge at Vega. Attending from here included Judge Herb Chesshir and Grady Elder, manager of the local chamber of commerce.

It was decided that the next meeting of the Association, set for Aug. 13, would be held in Brownfield, and the local CoC will serve as host for the session. The dedication date was not set because the completion date could not be determined, but it was expected to be about the middle of September.

The association members decided to send two representatives from the 46 towns on Highway 51 in Texas, on a tour to Canada to meet with officials along Highway 51, and to talk with other highway officials.

B'field Legion Jr. Team Loses To Lubbock Friday

The Brownfield American Legion Junior Baseball team was knocked out of its chance to win District 2 when Lubbock's crew beat them 8-4 in the tourney lifter, Friday afternoon at Plainview. Lubbock went on to win the district tournament Saturday.

The Lubbock nine had to come from behind to win in the contest against Brownfield, after the local team had taken a 3-2 lead in the third inning.

Max Miller went all the way for Brownfield and hurled seven-hit ball, but was hampered by six costly Brownfield errors and five walks.

Song service will be under the direction of Bro. R. L. (Bob) Burnett.

TERRY GETS MILLION IN ROAD AID

AUSTIN.—During the last five years, 78.13 miles of roads have been built in Terry County. It was Texas' greatest period of road construction history, Highway Department files show.

The breakdown by counties as well as state totals prepared by the department showed that $1,071,850.68 was spent in the county for maintenance of present roads and for the gigantic construction program.

Meanwhile in Austin, Governor Shivers cited the impressive figures "as evidence that the state's construction program is giving Texas motorists the best roads that engineering can provide."

The report showed that 14,926-10 miles of roads added to the state highway system over the period covered cost $575,153,577.32, more money spent for construction than in any other comparable period.

Figures also showed that Farm-to-Market roads came in for a lion's share of the total. The roads were named a priority because they give farmers needed routes to markets and access to towns surrounding rural areas, a highway official said.

Shivers, who said he was very proud of the excellent way Texas roads have improved in the last half-decade, listed dollars and time saved as two prime benefits to Texas motorists.

"State drivers have been able to save countless hours and money through good roads that provide the ultimate in safety and design," he remarked.

He also pledged that the "would do everything in my power" to continue the present rapid pace of road-building and maintenance.

"A road system worthy of its name must provide its motorists with swift, safe routes," he said.

two cents cost per thousand gallons for treatment.

The Bureau's pipe line distributing system is found adequate.

From Amarillo south, the authority can reduce size of pipe and cut $10 million from cost. In first ten years pumps would be installed as far as Canyon. In 20 years stations along the line would be needed and investment can be deferred until needed.

An alternative design is to provide water for cities only, no industries, municipal use only at Borger and Pampa, initially, then later, where and as needed, new lines to industry.

Underground water storage in well-pumping ground would cost one-fifth less than reservoir, and maintain more desirable temperature, with reduced evaporation.

Unit construction estimates have been checked with firms in the business. On some phases the engineers have used own quantities and price estimates.

Total cost of around $95 million on the Bureau's design is indicated. Annual costs on basis of cost of operation, staff and maintenance as estimated by the Bureau are acceptable.

Pumping facility costs, with power requirements re-computed, plus purification costs, run $106 million.

Where cities take all the water over a long period of time the cost would be $72,000,000. With alternate industrial load scheme, $22,900,000.

Underground water storage is anticipated. Pumps can charge ground in winter and pump out in peak summer period. If water underground moves a little you use some that comes in as yours go out.

Two new members were qualified, V. L. Patterson, vice C. C. Primm of Brownfield, and S. B. Whittenburg of Amarillo vice the late T. E. Johnson.

Attending from Brownfield were V. L. Patterson, director, and E. D. Jones, water superintendent.

Member cities have paid into funds for the authority's activities on the basis of assessment of 10 cents on number of meters Oct. 5, 1953, $7,684.50. On March 8, 1954, a 25-cent levy brought $19,447.50.

Another assessment of 50 cents per meter as of June 16 brought early response from O'Donnell, $138; Brownfield, $1,166; and Plainview, $2,250, totaling $3,554. It has cost $22,043.67 to operate, including $7,000 attorney's fee, most of which was for service preliminary to and during organization.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Griffith and daughter, Carolyn, of Brownfield, spent the weekend in Dallas and Fort Worth, visiting Mrs. Griffiths brother in Dallas and their daughter, Mrs. Bard Dunlap, in Fort Worth. Griffith is also buying for his variety store.

Crowford Says The Lawyers Did Some Arguing at S. A.

Atty. Virgil Crowford dropped in one day this week to leave some advertising for his friend, John Ben Shepherd, who is asking re-election as Attorney General. He told us some of the ups and downs at the Bar Association at San Antonio recently. He said the barristers from Minnesota really put on a good and helpful program.

One of the measures that there was considerable wrangling over, was a resolution, commending committees as well as law enforcement officials who have made it hot for the Communists. Some one wanted a paragraph added to encourage them to keep on after the Commies. Others feared some would take it they were endorsing McCarthy's committee.

Finally one guy stated that most all the people knew where lawyers stood in regard to Communists, and the whole resolution was then voted down. Another, which created some dissension was in regard to women jurors. The Minnesota men aided somewhat in this discussion, as women serve on juries in that state.

Virgil stated that a few were for women jurors, but mostly against them.

—and only a few dollars more than the low-price cars!

HAVE you been thinking you can't afford a new Buick? Listen: If you can afford any new car, you can afford a Buick — and a look at the figure on the price tag proves it. Look again, and you'll see that this is the local delivered price of the new Buick SPECIAL 2-door, 6-passenger Sedan. Compare, and you'll learn that this price is just a few dollars away from those of the so-called "low-price three."

But — dig a little deeper if you want the real clincher. That's when you find that those few dollars more you pay for a Buick buy you a lot more automobile. They buy a whale of a lot more power — Buick V8 power—plus the new economy of Power-Head combustion. They buy a lot more luxury and comfort and solidity—more room, more glass area, more frame strength, more tread width, more ride steadiness—including the million dollar "feel" of all-coil springing and torque-tube stability. They buy, too, the most advanced styling of the time, and the great panoramic windshield, and the surety that such fresh-

Is it any wonder, then, that Buick now outsells all other cars in America except two of the so-called "low-price three"?
