DALLAS.—R. R. Gilbert, chairman of the board of the National City Bank of Dallas, has been reappointed chairman of the Advisory Council of the Southwestern Medical Foundation, according to an announcement by Karl Hohlitzelle, chairman of the foundation's board of trustees.

R. R. Gilbert

 "Mr. Gilbert's unselfish acceptance of the chairmanship of this important regional committee gives the Foundation the continuity needed to carry out our plans for the future development of SMF," Mr. Hohlitzelle stated.
 Mr. Gilbert stated that he intended to see that every county in Texas gets represented on the Council. Louisiana, New Mexico and Oklahoma will also have representation, he said. There are about 240 out of 254 Texas counties already represented.

TO PRODUCE MORE OIL—Scientific equipment like this is a common sight in Humble Oil & Refining Company's new Houston Research Center, being formally opened this week to provide better facilities for continuing research into problems of finding and producing oil. Above, Humble technician Henry H. Shepherd tests fluid from a producing oil sand as part of a study of how to recover more oil from known fields. Some 330 other scientists, technicians, and assistants who formerly worked in separate locations will now carry on research in the new Houston Center.

"Behind the Scenes in American Business"

By Reynolds Knight
 NEW YORK.—Clamor over the business-affecting sections of the just-passed income tax law almost obscured the personal clauses. However, those are many and important. The next return isn't due until April 15, 1955, but meanwhile the taxpayer may be altering his plans.
 If he's thinking of retiring and wondering if his income will stretch, he can check his calculations against the new exemption from the 20 per cent basic tax. It applies to the first $1200 a year of income from pensions, annuities, rents, interest or dividends. He gets that exemption after 65 if he's in private employ, at any age if he has been a municipal, state, or non-military federal worker, and has retired.
 Medical expenses begin to be deductible after they pass 3 per cent of income. Old level was 5 per cent. Maximum medical deductions are up to $10,000 from $2500.

 If you have been watching to make sure that Sonny earns no more than $599.99 before you yank him off his summer job, relax. As long as you contribute more than half his support, he's still a deduction.
 If you were supporting a helpless person who wasn't close kin, you got no deduction. Now you can. Where the family chipped in to support a dependent no one got the exemption. Now you pro-rate it. The dependent has had to live in your home to make you eligible; now he or she can live anywhere.
 Women of any marital status, and widowers or divorced fathers, can now deduct up to $600 a year of baby-sitting or nursery-school costs for small children. Moreover, widows or widowers retain the full married-couple exemption for two years after the death of the spouse.
 Attorney Burton Hackney and Virgil Crawford were in Seminole, Friday, on business.

Every County Needs A Health Department

AUSTIN.—What the average community needs is a well organized health department to protect the health of the people, says Dr. Henry A. Holle, State Health Officer. Such a department will emphasize at least five types of activities to safeguard child health. "These activities are: (1) the safeguarding of child health and motherhood; (2) the control of contagion; (3) accurate recording of births and deaths; (4) support of public health laboratories; and (5) sanitary control of diseases spread from human waste and by vermin and insects."
 "The full time local health unit gives due emphasis to each of the above mentioned activities. To illustrate how these 5 essential functions are inter-related, the interest of the various divisions in the new born baby, pre-school and school child may be cited as an example. Child health is safeguarded by providing information and instruction to the mother. Through the use of vital statistics, complete and accurate birth registration is kept, as well as records indicating deaths which occur among children from preventable diseases.
 "Contagion is prevented or controlled against further spread through the encouragement of immunization early in life, through the prompt reporting of infectious disease. Public health laboratories and sanitary engineers provide additional bulwarks of protection for child life.
 "Adequate health organization and wholehearted support on the part of various state and local agencies are essential if these activities are to be successfully maintained."

The American Creed

We believe in the United States of America as a government of the people, by the people, for the people, whose just powers are derived from the consent of the governed; a democracy in a republic; a sovereign nation of many states; a perfect union, one and inseparable established upon these principles of freedom—equality, justice and humanity, for which American patriots have sacrificed their lives and fortunes.

The "Low Down" From Hickory Grove

As we zoom along toward autumn and with Congress home—and summing up how we stand—means the time is ripe for checking up on just what is to be done about our cleaning up the prodigal goings-on of the past 20 years. It is time to go to the mat—find out how come the ceiling still cramps our style—Govt. style that is. Ask our great man—senator or congressman—what he has been doing the past year to earn his salt.

It is easy to get into debt—getting out is the tedious and tiresome trick, but a 100 per cent necessary task or somebody will foreclose on the mortgage. Spilt milk is spilt milk, and putting a finger on the gents and culprit of the past who pulled the wool over our eyes, is alright as history but the question now is how are we going to calk up the old boat and keep afloat—and a jump ahead of the sheriff.

We gotta pull ourselves together—use our noggin—get the Govt. out of 100 places where it is gumming up the machinery. Hire a good auctioneer—sell all the misfits—apply the cash to our mile high debt—let the new owners pay taxes which Sambo don't do—or America won't be America one of these mornings. End of essay.
 Yours with the low down,
 JO SERRA.

Received Another Long, Unsigned Letter This Week

We cannot understand why some people can never learn that newspapers don't publish unsigned letters, even if they agree with the writer. To be plain, they might say something that would give some firm or individual an opening for a libel suit. Therefore all unsigned letters hit the waste basket. It appears that a lot of writers want the newspaper to take the rap for them.

In a way we agreed with this writer, but not knowing all the circumstances, we were at a loss to thoroughly understand his argument. In fact, when we were younger, there was no such day as Labor Day for anyone to take off, or for any employer to announce any policy about the matter. But there are certain businesses we can think of that cannot observe the day, no matter how much they believe in it, such as hospitals and drug stores, to mention two.

And we imagine that farmers, if they happened to have some urgent cultivating or harvesting, would disregard the day. Not that any of them have any objections to people who labor or belong to labor organizations, but that it just does not fit in with their plan of operations. Even daily newspapers print on Fourth of July, Armistice Day, and even Thanksgiving and Christmas.

As we look at the matter, it behooves none of us to condemn the other man, if our plan of action does not fit in with that of the employer or his employees.

Let us repeat again, however, we positively do not print unsigned letters. We don't mind printing such letters if the writer writes or tells us his or her name. We can then use initials as a signature. All unsigned letters are due to hit the bottom of our waste basket.

FAIR FREE ACT

One of several free attractions at this year's Panhandle South Plains Fair in Lubbock will be the Sensational Ortons, a death-defying duo who perform high above the crowds on double sway poles. The team will give free performances twice daily throughout Fair week, Sept. 27—Oct. 2.

Red Cross Helps Flood Sufferers

Two months after the disastrous Southwest Texas floods, the Red Cross has now completed its mammoth task of helping people get back on their feet after rising waters ripped through their homes and their cities. Providing without charge basic needs in the form of everything from a dress to a dresser, or a sink to a sofa, the Red Cross spent in all a total of $641,932 to help persons on both sides of the Rio Grande.

Of this amount, $22,294 was provided for food, medical and other emergency supplies for 27,000 homeless Mexicans. The mass care assistance for 3,513 Americans, feeding of 1,379 emergency workers, and rehabilitation aid for 2,285 families given by Red Cross accounted for $619,638.

Each affected family's need was treated as a miniature individual disaster operation. A trained disaster worker met with the family, learned of its problems, its losses and injuries, and its assets. After determining what the family needed in addition to what it could do for itself, the worker recommended the amount of assistance of local citizens before becoming final.

DISCUSSION ON UNLIMITED OPPORTUNITIES CLOSES 2-WEEK WORKSHOP

"Educational Opportunities Unlimited through Parent-Teacher Cooperation" was the theme of the afternoon address by Mrs. Merle Cross, president of District XIV, Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers, which brought to a close the workshop which was held here August 16 through 27. Approximately 110 parents and teachers attended daily studies.

The closing day's schedule included committee meetings, faculty meetings in respective buildings, individual study and preparation, coffee, sack lunch at noon at the high school library, an address by Mrs. Cross, study groups, and study group reports and free discussion period.

Mrs. Cross stressed that our public schools touch the lives of more Texas citizens than does any other public institution, therefore, what we are as citizens, depends in great measure upon the quality of education was provide for our children and youth.

"This centennial year of the establishment of our public school system provides an opportunity for all of us to rededicate our thoughts and efforts to developing an outstanding educational program for our public schools, for we believe that in the public schools lies our highest hope of securing effective citizenship for the individual. This opportunity can become a reality, however, only as action and initiative are taken in our local communities," she said.

"One of the several purposes to be served in commemorating the first century of our public school system in Texas is to guide interest and participation into a long-range program of cooperative action for better schools.

"The school has the responsibility to instill within the hearts and minds of its children and youth an understanding of the principles upon which our government is based, and upon the essentials of democratic living in the home, community, state and nation. The school can do little, however, to instill these principles of democratic living unless we, as parents, cooperate. James Earl McGrath has said that the best way that we, as parents and teachers, can teach our young people the meaning of our democratic freedoms is to demonstrate by our own example that we have mastered the three R's of citizenship—Rights, Respect, and Responsibilities," she continued.

"The home is the child's first environment, but the school must give every child the best environment for learning—and the teacher is by far the most important part of that environment given by the school. Teachers are too often thought of as subject-centered people instead of 'object-centered.'"

Mrs. Cross feels that regardless of the subject they may teach, the great object of all teachers is to help develop morally, spiritually, and physically strong, intelligent citizens, capable of preserving and extending our democratic freedoms.

"Cooperative enterprise is a way of democracy, therefore, we teach ourselves more about democracy by working together. As a result, it is not only the children and youth who realize fruitful benefits, but we, as parents and teachers, learn better how to work together."

She concluded, "We are convinced that our youth's needs in

Rogers Says He Has Best Crop In Years

The Phillip Rogers family dropped in Wednesday for a chat, as they as well as we have been very busy, and had seen little of each other lately. Phillip stated that he got about an inch and a half of rain two weeks ago, and about an inch the past weekend. Said he had some feed that suffered, but his cotton was fine.

Invited us out for some roasting ears soon, and stated that their landlord, Mr. and Mrs. Earnest Broughton, of Odessa, would be up soon to talk matters over. By the way, Ernest, an old Terry County reared lad, had a close call in his race for Sheriff down at Odessa this time. Only beat out his opponent by some 300 votes of some 5,000 cast.

Yep, the oldest Rogers child started to school this week, and next year another will start.

R. L. Helton, of Rt. 1, Seagraves, was in to renew recently, and stated they had the best crops in his area for several years. They have had a rain or shower almost every time one was needed this year, and their crops have not suffered at any time, greatly.

a free world will be met ultimately by what we, as parent-teacher partners are able and willing to do in the community where children grow, learn and develop character. We, as parents and teachers are making brave attempts to attain our goal of bringing into closer relation the home and school that parents and teachers may cooperate intelligently in the training of the child — and when we see more clearly what needs to be done further, we will do it, as a family of good citizens, with parents and teachers standing side by side with deep understanding of their mutual interests and obligations."

MADDOX BROTHERS AND ROSE BOOKED FOR FAIR—A special added attraction at the Grand Ole Opry show which will be presented at the Panhandle South Plains Fair in Lubbock will be the Maddox Brothers and Rose, one of the nation's most colorful hillbilly bands. The group will appear twice daily in the new Fair Park Coliseum for six days from Sept. 27 through Oct. 2. Among others in the show will be Webb Pierce, Slim Whitman, the Wilburn Brothers and other top-flight Western entertainers.

Visiting her this week with Mrs. Jim Burnett, who is seriously ill in the local hospital, are her sons, Elvin Burnett and daughter, Evelyn, and Ervin Burnett, all of California, and her daughter, Mrs. Homer Newman, of Oklahoma City.

Old Timers Regret Passing Recently Of Boyce Cardwell

Lubbock papers recently gave an account of the passing of J. Boyce Cardwell, who for the past several years has been a citizen of Lubbock, being engaged in the construction business. Boyce was just a lad of some 11 or 12 years when we came to Terry County, and was always regarded as a fine lad by elderly people, teachers and folks in general. He was the son of the late C. S. and Mrs. Cardwell, the latter of which survives.

The late J. T. May and family moved here some time in the early teens, and he had a young lady in the family, Miss Katharine, a sister of the late Tom May. After a few years they were married, and upon the advent of the railroad, the Kemp Lumber Co. put in a yard, and Boyce became the manager. After the company closed out their yard here, Boyce and wife moved to Plainview, where he finally became the mayor of the city.

Several years ago, they moved to Lubbock, and Boyce seems to have done well in that city. But for the past year or so, his health has not been good, and he passed away Monday afternoon in a Lubbock hospital, with a heart attack. Burial was in a Lubbock cemetery. He is survived by his wife and two daughters. He has one sister still living here, other than his mother, Mrs. Irvin Rambo, another sister in Amarillo, and three brothers, one in Yoakum County, another in New Mexico and one in California.

Boyce was 56 years of age, a Rotarian and a member of the Methodist Church. He had been suffering from high blood pressure for some time.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Cooper, 905 East Reppto, returned last week from a week's sight-seeing tour of Old Mexico.

HIGH SCHOOL LIBRARY OFFERS OVER 2300 VOLUMES AND FILM STRIPS

The Brownfield High School Library collection is comprised of about 2300 bound volumes, including reference books, books approved for book reports, and supplemental reading in the different school subjects as well as leisure reading. The library has an unusually full collection of information on Texas and Southwest history. Besides bound volumes, the Library has for use a large number of magazines, film strips, and a vertical file made up of pamphlets, pictures and newspaper clippings, of interest or use to the students.

The magazines are greatly enjoyed by the student body. An indexing service, to which the school has recently subscribed, is proving helpful to teachers and students who need to find magazine articles on a given subject. The library has been in existence for a number of years. Some time during the late 1930's, Miss Perkins, who was employed as an English teacher, organized the library and made the first catalog. Miss Maudie Fields and a Miss Griffith also served as librarians in the past. Mrs. Sammie Miller, who was librarian until January, 1954, did much to improve the library service.

No small part of the efficient functioning of the school library is due to the service rendered by student librarians who work during their study period. These girls check books in and out, shelve books, help in processing new books, and do many other useful tasks. The girls who worked in the library last year are: Nancy King, Judy Land, Patsy McAnally, Beverly Isaacs, Doris Masingill, Charlotte Green, Linda Moore, Aline Powell, Jeanne Criswell, Sue Campbell, Cleve Harbin, Vona Patton, Ann Lee Jones, Lajuna Bryant, and Shelby Thompson. Since the library and the study hall are together, it is convenient for all students to do their library work during their study period. The Library is also open from 8 to 8:55 a.m., and for a short time after school for the benefit of students who do not have a study hall.

The present librarian, Mrs. Cornelia Peters, holds a library degree from Columbia University School of Library Service. She has had experience in New York state school libraries, and in the Duluth, Minn., Public Library. For three years, Mrs. Peters was with the Army Library Service and for two of those years, worked in France and Germany as an Army Bookmobile Librarian.

Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Turney, and children, returned Thursday from a ten-day vacation at Beeville and Dublin, where they attended the rodeo. Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Turney, Sr., of Brownfield, left Saturday to attend the rodeo. Jesse Taylor, police radio operator, has been serving as fire truck driver during Turney's absence.

Colliers Return From A Trip Up North

Roy B. Collier, owner of the Brownfield Funeral Home, and Mrs. Collier returned last week from a journey in northern New York, and into Canada. Roy stated that he had sure seen it rain a lot since he left, and in some areas developed into floods. He stated that he did not know until this trip that they grew tobacco as far north as Canada.

They returned via the old South, and Roy stated things are looking green back there. Had a big rain in Nashville while there, and a hard shower while they were in Memphis, and some as they passed through Arkansas.

"But we are glad to be back home, even though we had a great trip and a good time," he stated.

Maize Originated In Western Hemisphere

Archaeological evidence strongly indicates maize, one of the world's most important food plants, originated in the Western Hemisphere, a University of Texas researcher reports.

Scientists have recovered fossilized grains of wild maize from drillings 200 feet below Mexican City, Miss Dee Ann Suhm of Elberton, graduate student in anthropology, says. The fossils are estimated to be at least 60,000 years old.

Numerous primitive varieties of maize have been discovered in remote hill areas of northeastern India, but no archeological evidence has been found indicating an earlier origin than American maize, Miss Suhm writes in a research report on the grain.

CHALLENGE TO SCHOOLS
Thirty million American boys and girls are entering school this month. They are the luckiest boys and girls on earth. They have the greatest measure of freedom and the greatest degree of economic welfare of any children anywhere. In spite of the many things that need to be corrected or improved in our school system, these millions of young Americans have the best educational facilities in the world, and during the school year they will eat better, be clothed better and will enjoy more childhood pleasures than children anywhere else have enjoyed at any time in human history.

But do our American boys and girls entering school this month really know how lucky they are? My feeling is that only a very small percentage do. One of the major responsibilities of our school system is to see that every child gets well acquainted with the facts about the blessings of American citizenship. And this responsibility must be accepted and carried out not merely by our school administrators and teachers but by the parents too.

Citizenship Course

For a great many years I have been advocating the development of a course in American citizenship for every school in the nation. This need, it seems to me, is a challenge to the parents and the school people in every school district in the land. Here are some of the educational goals which should be sought in such a course:
1. An understanding by every school child of the Christian origin and foundation of the American way of life. Faith in God gave the American founding fathers the spiritual strength needed to open and develop a primitive new world and to overcome the great obstacles in the building of a new kind of life and a new kind of government for mankind. God's laws were acknowledged as supreme and were made the foundation for our social, economic and political order.

A Unique Republic

2. An understanding (by every school child) of the structure of the unique American system of government, and its benefits. The Declaration of Independence was a people's defiance of an autocratic government which denied individual freedom. The United States Constitution welded the freedom philosophy into an instrument of government, the first genuine Republic and the only Republic of its kind on earth. It is important that our children know that true democratic ideals cannot be achieved in a pure "Democracy," but that to survive, they need the basic principles of a Republic.

3. An understanding (by every school child) of the structure of the unique American economic system. Our economic system is called capitalism. It is founded on the right of individual citizens to own property. Youngsters can get an understanding of our system from the story of Plymouth Colony where it was gradually developed out of trial and error. The basic need for private ownership, the wholesome power of the profit motive, the spur of competition in a free market, and the character-building influence of self-reliance — these are the lessons available in the history of Plymouth Colony.

Our Great Advantages

4. An understanding (by every school child) of the relative social, political and economic advantages of the American system over any other system known. The basic advantages, stated briefly, are: the greatest degree of freedom given any people in the world; the greatest degree of prosperity achieved by any people in the world; the greatest opportunity for economic progress and spiritual happiness enjoyed by any people in the world. These are not abstract generalities; they are relative advantages that can be cited and proved in specific detail and they make fascinating subject matter for classroom study and discussion.

In recent years I have heard parents and teachers all over America express a desire for a course in American citizenship which would include the foregoing substance. Let me urge parents who are reading this column to contact the school people in their community — NOW! — and work with them this school year on the development of such a course. There is nothing you could do of greater importance to the future of America.

MEET YOUR MINISTER AND FAMILY—Rev. Howard Smith, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene, moved here with his family in May, 1953, from Grassland, where he was pastor a year. He has been preaching for the past 16 years and did his ministerial work under the supervision of the Board of Ministerial Studies, in the San Antonio District, graduating in 1941. For a hobby Rev. Smith likes to repair watches and Mrs. Smith finds sewing a full time job. He is president of the Brownfield Ministerial Alliance. Rev. Smith is shown above with his family, left to right, Retha Faye 10, Janie Lee 3, and Mrs. Smith. The couple's daughter, Mrs. Don Dury of Hamlin, is not shown. The church completed a revival Sunday, with Buford Baffin of Lubbock conducting the services, and the most recent remodeling at the church includes a new baptistry and aisle carpets. (Staff Photo.)

While a farm girl was milking a cow, a bull tore across the meadow toward her. The girl did not stir but continued milking. Observers, who had run to safety, saw to their amazement that the bull stopped dead within a few yards of the girl, turned around and walked sadly away.
"Weren't you afraid?" they all asked.
"Certainly not," said the girl. "I happen to know this cow is his mother-in-law."

Around And About The Old Burg—
Mr. and Mrs. J. W. (Tiny) Nelson and the children attended the reunion of the Inman family at McKenzie State Park at Lubbock, Sept. 3rd, when the descendants from all over West Texas, gathered together. Mrs. Nelson, who was an Inman before marriage, originated in Lynn County, and graduated from Tahoka High School. As they lived out quite a way from Tahoka, she stated there were no buses in those days, and she stayed in the home of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jack Alley to attend school.

During the bad storms in New England recently, the tower of old North Church, was blown off. From the tower of this old church was said to have swung the lantern that signaled Paul Revere that the British had started their invasion, and he rode swiftly through every Middlesex village and town, spreading the news. It was stated that the old tower was toppled once before, about 1808.

Can't say that we blame Judge Broadfoot for wanting to quit that job of judging down in old Duval and its mess. Judge Broadfoot is getting up in years, and had quit the job as a District Judge once, on account of age and poor health. But Governor Shivers persuaded him to go down and start the cleanup. But it seems to us that old Fannin County and Bonham are one man ruled, also, judging by election returns. Come to Terry.

Governor Shivers issued thanks to his supporters early this week, and asked for harmony of the people that we might all build Texas, and for the time being, forget political animosity. However, we believe the harmony part could have been deferred until after the State Convention is over, come Sept. 14th. Shivers will no doubt control the convention, but some hot tempers may flare.

From the Santa Fe monthly crop report, it appears that the best crops this year are in extreme West Texas. Some portions of central and east Texas are literally burned up, according to reports, and many more of those counties ask for drought relief.

Came the prompt response, "A government loan!"

WE TAKE OFF ON A RAMBLING WEEKEND

Got sorter hungry for some of that good old cooking that Sister Rosetta Roberts and her daughter, Miss Nell, always put up for us from the deep freeze and the pantry when we go to see them, so about 2 P.M., Saturday, the Mrs. and Old He took off in the 40ty like we were going some place and aimed to get there the same day. While the highways were not crowded as much as we expected, being the starter of a three-day holiday, there were plenty people on the roads, but we saw none doing any excessive or careless driving.
When we reached a point some ten miles southeast of Lanessa, and where a farm-market road turns south to old Sparenburg, we decided to see that the Knott area once more. Way back before the highway was built, the old dirt roads from here to Big Spring went by both places. There was no such place as Ackerly at that time. Despite the fact that we approached Sparenburg from a different direction, the old burg looked pretty natural, and as the F-M road went on south, we began to look for the old home of Mr. Bartowsky.

Way back in the late teens, the Methodist held a district conference here, and Mr. Bartowsky and his minister, whose name we do not recall, were domiciled in our home nights, during the conference. In those days, all hands helped out in entertaining visitors and delegates to affairs of that kind that were held here. We recognized the old home of this man, as we once stopped there for a short chat, on our way to Coahoma, back in the twenties. Between there and Knott, which is southeast from Sparenburg, some 20 miles, all but some 4 or 5 miles of the road is paved, and the dirt part was good.

There used to be a west and east Knott, but it appears there is a middle Knott presently, all within a mile or so of each other. We figure the way the roads run now that between the village of Sparenburg and Knott, one passes through considerable of northeast Martin County. Just a few miles from Knott until one goes back into the highway, some 15 miles northwest of Big Spring. When we came to the gin and store, where one turns due south into Big Spring, we decided on some other country roads we had not traveled in 20 years or more, and avoid the heavy traffic we expected over 80, and see some country we had not seen since Heck was a purp. We had some paved roads, more dirt roads, but all in fine traveling condition, striking the F-M from Coahoma north to an intersection with the Big Spring-Snyder highway. On these two jaunts, we saw a lot of good crops, and in spots not so good, but all above the

Old Timer At O'Donnell Liked 50th Year Edition

Had a letter from George Lightfoot, old timer now residing at O'Donnell, who gave us some more light on early day ranching in this section of Texas, before the county was organized. He worked for the old J-Cross Ranch in west Terry, which he stated had about 5,000 head of cattle. Their other ranch was the CC down in the Midland area.

Rollin Conley was the boss, Lee Perry the straw boss, Joe Beal, Jim Boston, Ed McRosa, Henry Scott, and Lightfoot were the punchers, while a man by the name of Carter was Cook, and Towe wrangler. He stated that Brit Clare was at that time working for John Gordon or the Wolf-farth Bros. Lee and Scott, he stated, were still living and working for the Scarbrough interests at Midland, but so far as he knew, he and Brit are the only two still in this area.

Mr. Lightfoot stated that it was a rather hard life in those days but the boys liked it. And they even had some fun at the expense of the other fellow on occasion. One time a polecat bit the straw boss Scott, on the big toe, and all got a big laugh, except Scott.
Just a bit later came the man with the plow, and the big cattle business went the way of all flesh, he concluded. Some one had given Mr. Lightfoot a copy of our old 50th year edition, and he got a big kick out of it.

that by the time he got to Snyder it would be time to start feeding his some 300 head of parakeets, so he and the Old He left at the same time for Snyder in the old 40ty, leaving the Buck for the wife, daughter and granddaughter, Miss Sara, to come home in later.

After another nap and a good supper, we got out in the back yard and told our tales of woe or what have you, until about bedtime, and a looksee at Amos and Andy on the TV. But something had happened to the TV, and it went round and round in a fast tumble. So to bed and happy dreams. Up betimes and after a hearty meal of bacon and eggs, honey and butter, it was time for us to take off to the "salt mine" here in Brownfield, where we landed slightly after 10 a.m. By the way, we took a newcut road on the way back. Instead of coming ten miles east of that town, we kept on to Draw, thence west to Wells, Newmore and on home, all paved.

Saw no antelope on this trip, but did see a fox a few miles southwest of Coahoma, Sunday morning. Good crops in most all the territory we saw, and especially good in north Borden, east and south Lynn and south Terry. Man, we had one glorious weekend.
