

STRICKLINLY SPEAKING....

By
OLD HE

Just so happened that we had enough of this tirade on hand to run the first week we spent at the Treadaway - Daniell hospital but there was nothing last week. In fact, we did not feel equal to the chore, but thank the good Lord, we are feeling some better this week, although still weak.

And we have moved our department to the bedroom at home, so that when we get a bit tired, we can leave the old Remington alone a few minutes and lay down to rest.

Over at the hospital, we could not have had better care and attention than if we were the uncle of the doctors, Lester Treadaway and Alfred Daniell. And we might mention that we had to wait but a minute or so, and often a shorter time for a nurse when we pulled on the red light. Those gals are on the job, and don't forget it. It is true that one or two of them would put on a quarrel with us when we started nagging, but always with a grin on their faces.

A few of them have known us over the years, and they understand that we delight in disputing, even when there is nothing to dispute. Even so, many of them claimed to be our "sweetheart." Some of them like to "aggrerect" us come early morning just after five, when they were preparing to serve breakfast. They would slip in and lay a wet wash rag across our face. Let it be known here and now that 7:30 to 8 a. m. is nearer our morning meal time than 5:30 or six. And to have a wet rag dabbed on our warm face at such a time was like punching a hornet's nest with a pole.

But we enjoyed our visit over at the hospital, and one of these days we are going to give the readers a writup about the history of the hospital, from the time these two boys, Drs. Thomas Lester Treadaway and Dr. Alfred Daniell, both fresh out of medical college, opened up in the old abandoned Klu Klux hall on the west side of the square. This will include the erection of their first unit one the half block southwest of the square, as well as the newer addition, including the nurse's home.

For some time, we have been giving some writups of this nature on one firm then another. But we are going to have to quiz these doctor friends some and get as much info as possible. We may find a lot of what we shall need in the old files of the Herald, which, of course, predate the hospital many long years. But having known these boyhood playmates of each other when they were short pants, and climbed the old rafters of the tin building in rear of the old Brownfield Hardware — now Collins location — we feel proud that these boys have returned to the old town and made good, despite the old saying that "a prophet is not without honor, save in his own country."

So, watch for this article, or for that matter it may be a series of two or three.

Was sure glad that the daughter, Mrs. Herman Trigg, and her little four-year-old offspring, Sara, could come up from Snyder last week, and spend the week with us, as we really needed to be cheered up. But they have a home, and Herman was there alone, along with being busy in school, being principal of the Junior High, and with his birds (parakeets), Sallie and Sara were needed by him badly. So, much to our

Preliminary Report Given River Project

E. D. Jones, general superintendent, Brownfield, attended a meeting concerning the Canadian River Dam project at Plainview, Wednesday of last week, the purpose being to hear a preliminary summary of a feasibility report compiled by engineers, as authorized by the directors of the project. Attending the meeting were the directors, engineers, and financial representatives of the project, as well as one or more persons from each of the member cities which are Amarillo, Pampa, Borger, Plainview, Lubbock, Slattion, O'Donnell, Lamesa, Levelland, Brownfield, and Tahoka.

A dam and pipe line system costing an estimated $69,200,000 was recommended in the report, compared to a project costing $89,000,000 proposed by the government. The dam in the new proposal would be reduced in height by approximately 20 feet, making it 170 feet high.

In the 46-page summary of the preliminary report on feasibility of the project and appendices covering an additional 100 pages, the Bureau of Reclamation's plan for development of the Canadian River to the purpose of the authority with modifications which provides for the construction of a dam reduced in height from the preliminary plans, eliminating the large volume of storage which had been planned for flood control for the benefit of downstream property.

The summary included tentative estimates that the general obligation bonds would carry 3.25 per cent interest and that revenue bonds would carry 2.50 per cent interest, and that 125 per cent coverage would be required for the first year of operation.

With the project entirely financed by revenue bonds, charges ranging from 20 cents to 32 cents per thousand gallons of water used by the cities was estimated. The financial representatives said they believed lower water charges could be made possible, to be progressively reduced in later years if the use of water by the cities increased as anticipated.

The board of directors, of which V. L. Patterson, city, is a member, will meet again Oct. 11, in Plainview, to hear committee reports concerning feasibility of the project.

Nancy Thompson, 917 South Sixth, is a new resident of Brownfield. Formerly of Louisiana, she is now employed at Primm Drug.

Cubs Show Plenty Of Fire Preparing For Hereford Encounter

"The Cubs have shown a lot more spirit and fire this week in regular workouts. It takes a win to build morale, and morale comes with winning," Coach Toby Greer said philosophically Wednesday morning in reference to the Brownfield Cubs' win over Muleshoe, 58-0, last Friday.

"Brownfield's win was due to team play rather than performance by any certain player," Greer said, and continued, "In the game Friday against Hereford, the Cubs will have to keep in mind that the Whitefaces have already beaten Muleshoe and scored a victory over Tulsa last weekend and have lost only to Littlefield. The Cubs will find extremely good men in Hereford's quarterback, Godfrey, who was voted outstanding back of the week when they played Littlefield, Left Halfback Smith, and Right Halfback Merritt. Also, the Whitefaces are under a coach with the 'know-how,' 'Sea' Russell, a former outstanding back at Hardin-Simmons, who has been with Hereford three seasons."

In last Friday night's game between the Cubs and Muleshoe, the District 6-AA Cubs slapped the District 2-AA Mules by a one-sided score of 58-0.

The Cubs scored 26 points in the first quarter, thus gaining a running start. The team mixed passes extravagantly with ground plays and made headway with any and every play. The Mules failed to find a thing to stop the wild-running Cubs.

During the second period, the Cubs extended their lead another 13 points, with the half ending 39-0. After a few plays in the second half, Coach Greer sent in a full team of reserves, who finished the game, making another 19 points, continuing to hold the Mules scoreless.

Touchdowns for the Cubs were scored by Phil Addison, Lee Allen Jones, Jesse Scott, Jim Milburn, Kelly Mack Sears, Larry Fulford, James Morris, and Ronny Swan, who ran to victory twice, and the Cubs ran for four extra points.

Hereford forged ahead to trample Tulsa last Friday night at Hereford, after a see-saw first half.

Tulia scored first when the quarterback went over from a yard out. Buddy Godfrey of Hereford bounced back in the same quarter from the 21 to score and Francis Boyd's try for the extra point was good.

Tulia came back in the second stanza, going 43 yards for the TD. From then on it was Hereford's ball game with a pass from Godfrey to Don Sigle. Later in the quarter Wayne Smith came through to score from the three, and a third quarter pass from Godfrey to G. C. Merritt ended the scoring. Boyd made good on all four conversion attempts.

Economic Outlook For Nation Looks Bright

Subtle and outspoken propaganda that the nation is heading for an economic depression is not based on facts, according to competent authority. Much of it is in fact, purely political.

Among those citing present conditions and factors which rule out a progressive relapse in our economic structure is Dr. Arthur A. Smith, Dallas economist, who said we will not see another depression like the 1930's if we live to be 100. The American Retail Federation, meeting in Denver, declared recently that the first 26 months of the Eisenhower Administration has seen a steady growth of confidence in the economic future of the nation. The Federation reports 1954 is proving to be a banner year in retail sales.

Dr. Smith former head of the economics department at Southern Methodist University, says his outlook on long-term prosperity is based on the fact that "we're a lot smarter than we used to be." He says Americans have changed their whole philosophy of government, join more in teamwork for the good of economy and have laws to protect against bank failures. The Dallas economist, now a bank official, admits there will be "dark" spots in our economy now and then, but the nation will emerge satisfactorily from them. Further, he points out the decline in unemployment, optimism by the stock market, heavy construction which is at an all-time high and the large circulation of money. Dr. Smith is of the opinion that regardless of party control of Congress next session, there will be no major changes in American prosperity.

The Retail Federation predicts that by the end of 1954 the retail industry will set a new record of sales to make 1953 — the previous all-time high — the second best. This group cites an increase of 4.3 per cent in hourly wages over 1953; reduction of individual taxes; the cut in excise taxes and the revision of the internal revenue code and the elimination of price controls, among the factors assuring a good economy in the future. Construction in the retail field alone, the Federation reports, was up 114 million dollars by June this year, an increase of 19 per cent over the same period of 1953.

Gloomy reports from disgruntled politicians and others are refuted by the many sounds and basic facts and developments, such as those cited. "Prophets of gloom" may find personal satisfaction in their defeat and political expediency, but their "doctrines" will not make converts of intelligent Americans who can see and think for themselves. — Lubbock Evening Journal.

MITCHELL STRIKES BACK AT UNION CRITICISM

The polite round of applause from which most of the unionists abstained is the best evidence of the effect of Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell's outspoken talk at Los Angeles. Mitchell fired a lot of plain truth at the American Federation of Labor Convention. It was not calculated to win friends and influence people.

Had he proposed to go down the line with a George Meany program, doubtless the delegates would have raised the roof.

Yet what Mitchell was saying was well worth attention. It is not an anti-union administration. It is not anti-labor. Few people nowadays are the former and few have ever been the latter. But the administration is All-American in the sense that it wants the best results for all labor, union or non-union. It wants to guard against labor tyranny as against management, either of which can be extremely bad and both of which have frequently demonstrated that they are.

Nor has the administration, as Mitchell emphasized, been bad for labor. But if union leadership is to oust the administration's Congress, it must present a case. So the tactics of Meany and Co., as of Steve Mitchell, S. Rayburn and Co., is to emphasize the ill and ignore the good. James Mitchell's point was simply that, if labor will take the mote out of its eye and look at the good done for it, it will see a constructive record.

Probably the Secretary of labor anticipated the reception he received. He was talking over the heads of the labor bosses to the labor ranks where the average American exercises his own judgment, whether he is a union man or not. So, while Mitchell may have been a conspicuous failure at Los Angeles, he was laying it on the line for the rest of the country.

For one thing, the man-in-the-shop and the man-in-the-street admire forthrightness and political courage. James Mitchell demonstrated that he had plenty Monday. — Dallas News.

IS FDR, JR. SUFFERING FOR PARTY PURGE ATTEMPT?

The New York governor's race, now in its preliminary stages, offers one puzzle which many casual observers of politics may find baffling. It is easy to understand why U. S. Senator Ives was selected as the Republican nominee when Governor Dewey announced his retirement to private life. Senator Ives is far and away the best vote-getter, on the basis of past performance, political views and current popularity, that the New York GOP has in its stable of prospective candidates.

But why did Democratic political leaders in New York line up almost solidly behind Averell Harriman as their party's candidate in preference to young Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr.? That is the thing which undoubtedly has puzzled many. Mr. Harriman is a relatively colorless candidate who never has demonstrated that he has the popular appeal which could make him a potent vote-getter. Young Roosevelt is energetic, colorful, and possessed of a name which has spelled magic in politics. Why desert such a promising candidate in favor of one who is not so promising?

An explanation of sorts is now forthcoming, and you can take it for whatever you think it's worth. First, young Mr. Roosevelt is brash as well as ambitious. When he could not get the Democratic nomination for Congress, he deserted the party to run on the Liberal Party ticket — and won. That didn't set well with Tammany leaders and those who make party regularity a fetish. When he wanted to become a candidate for governor, he again ignored the party powers that be and began making political alliances on his own.

Then, too, young Roosevelt joined with Governor Williams and the late Senator Moody of Michigan in an ill-starred attempt at the 1952 Democratic national convention to impose an iron-clad loyalty oath on the South. The attempt threatened for a time to wreck the party. This evidence of a rule-or-ruin attitude, according to the story, has caused a good deal of distrust of the ambitious young congressman's stability and political maturity.

Personally, we are willing to accept the explanation. We like to think there is some retribution for the shameless attempt at Chicago two years ago to deprive the South of any voice in the party of which it traditionally has been the backbone, and to make it bow to the will of a few self-appointed Northern masters. — Star-Telegram.

GOOD PROBE NEEDED

As probes delve further into amazing "windfall profits" which went under the operations of the Federal Housing Administration, some very smelly financial transactions are being revealed. Attorney General Herbert Brownell, Jr., in ordering a special grand jury investigation, says the FHA "became riddled with corruption under the prior administration."

The Senate Banking Committee, in studying a report that builders reaped windfalls totalling nearly 14 million dollars on 40 housing projects, has learned that a trio of New Yorkers invested $90 and parlayed it into a profit of $735,434. Another group invested $10,000 and netted $3,500,000 on another New York investment. These facts were supplied to the Senate committee by FHA Administrator Albert M. Cole, at hearings being conducted in Chicago.

Cole explained that the extra profits, or windfalls, represented the difference between the actual construction costs and loans based on excessive FHA estimates. Over-estimates which produced the big profits in most instances must be paid for by others. For instance, it was cited that in the case of a Chicago building, tenants must pay an extra $100,000 per year in rent to even up accounts.

Certainly, Congress has learned a bitter and expensive lesson from the housing scandals and unbusiness-like deals — legal or not. The legislators must tighten up every legal loophole, restore efficiency and public confidence to the FHA. An angry citizenry demands that politics be set aside, also, in putting a definite end to any future waste of taxpayers through gross mismanagement and possible connivance with unscrupulous persons. — Lubbock Avalanche.

AGGRESSORS REBUKED

The U. N. Assembly's overwhelming vote against any consideration of the Russian proposal for admission of Red China to the world organization was a fitting rebuke to two partners in aggression who have blocked all international efforts for peace since the United Nations was established. The vote of 43 to 11 with six abstentions was a reassuring expression of confidence in the United States and its unselfish aims on the world front.

Actually, Communist China is still an aggressor in Korea, where only a truce has been approved, and the Soviet Union was the power behind the scene in the offensive war there. Ostensibly, mere truce in Indochina, where the Communists gained territory as reward for aggression, emboldened Russia to press Red China's case before the United Nations.

Even the 11 affirmative votes backing the Russian stand did not signify that much strength for the Communist bloc, because there is some non-Communist sentiment that Red China should be in the United Nations because the Asiatic power is a going concern and the world organization should embrace all nations. The answer to that contention is the Soviet Union has repeatedly black-balled prospective U. N. members allied to the group against aggression.

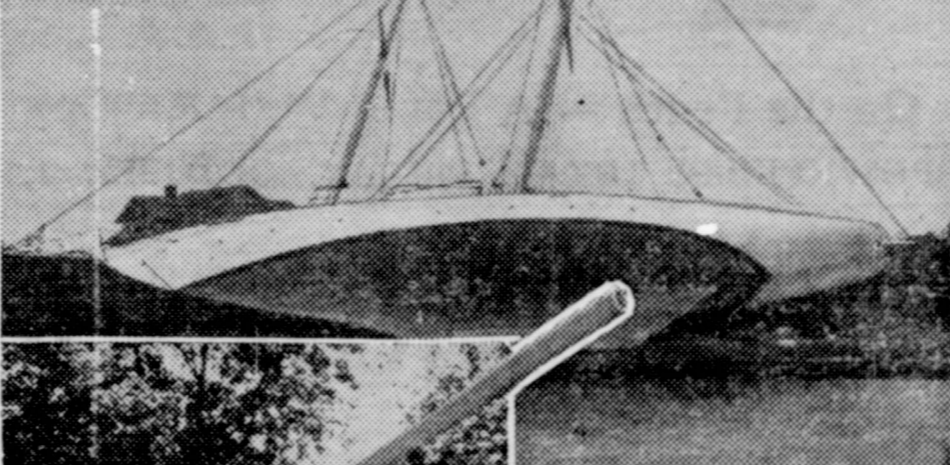

Before Red China intervened in the Korean War, 16 countries in the U. N. supported an Indian resolution to seat representatives of the Peiping regime, but subsequently not more than 11 votes have been mustered in favor of that proposal.

It can be argued that since the Soviet Union, the arch force for aggression, is in the world organization, aggressor Red China in consistency should be admitted. The answer is that two wrongs do not make a right, and that the Soviet Union could not gain admission to the U. N. today if it were not a member. Another consideration against extending membership to Communist China is that it probably would mean abandonment of the Chinese nationalists, who should not be so treated. — Star-Telegram.

G. I. QUESTIONS and ANSWERS

Q—I am a World War II veteran training under the original GI Bill. Next Month I expect to finish my course. Since I have some entitlement remaining, would I be allowed to enroll in another course in a different field?

A—No. Once you complete or discontinue a course under the World War II GI Bill, you generally are prohibited from taking another course, even though you do have additional entitlement.

Q—I enrolled in college under the Korean GI Bill for an AB degree in English. Several weeks after class started, I changed my mind and decided I would rather go after a BS in business administration. Would this be considered my one-and-only change of course?

A—Not necessarily. You may change from one baccalaureate degree to another, without having it count as your one-and-only course change, so long as your new course won't take any longer to complete than the old.

Q—if I simply send an application for Korean GI term insurance to VA within the 120-day deadline, will I be able to get the insurance? I'd like to pay my first premium at a later date if possible.

A—An application alone, submitted within the 120-day period, would not be enough to entitle you to Korean GI term insurance.

FROM RED PRISON-LANDS

Good people are slow to believe evil of others. This is a characteristic of Americans who have grown up in an atmosphere of freedom, neighborliness, family devotion and dedication to high Christian ideals. Especially is it difficult for church-going Americans to believe the horrible facts about Communism. The Communists know this and are pleased and aided by it. Herbert Philbrick, the courageous Massachusetts Sunday School teacher who worked with the Communist leaders nine years before revealing himself to be an FBI counter-spy, told me: "The average healthy American mind cannot conceive the evil in the unhealthy, twisted mind of a Communist."

In spite of powerful resistance from left wingers, a number of Congressional committees are continuing to expose to the American people the evils of Communism, how it is engulfing the world, and how it is threatening our own nation through thought-shaping propaganda and its network of spies and saboteurs.

The House Committee on Communist Aggression has sent me its latest report (House Report No. 2650) on a series of interviews it has just concluded with non-Communists who have escaped from Communist-held nations. The following House members sat in on the interviews, conducted in Europe and America, and signed the report: Kersten, (R. Wis.), Busby (R. Ill.), Bonin (R. Pa.), Hillings (R. Cal.), Madden (D. Ind.), Machrowicz (D. Mich.), Dodd (D. Conn.), and Feighan (D. Ohio).

"All who testified," the Committee reported, "had one thing in common. They were eye-witnesses. They saw. They experienced. They were there. Most of them suffered the tortures of Communism. They came separately from the different nations enslaved by Communism but with fundamentally the same story: the anti-human nature of life under Communism. The basic conclusions from their cumulative testimony under oath cannot be questioned. It was a tragic parade of witnesses — people from another world, a dreadful world of mass murder, and anonymous graves, of concentration camps, torture prisons, slave labor camps, and ever present secret police; and hatred — hatred beyond the comprehension of us Americans."

Red Brutality
In nation after nation, as they took over, the Communists treated the people brutally. "As soon as the Communist-controlled Red Army, infiltrated and dominated as it was by political commissars and elements of the NKVD, entered any area," the report said, "terror, robbery and violations of women and children became the order of the day. The people learned through bitter experience that the Communists would do whatever they wanted to do without regard for any laws, ethics or moral codes. The people also learned that any opposition . . . meant certain imprisonment or death."

Here's another fact about Communism which many Americans find hard to believe: "Mass deportations," our Congressmen report, "are a prime Communist technique of destruction. They serve as a forerunner to a life of misery in a slave or forced labor camp. More than 15,000,000 people are detained in such camps in the U. S. S. R. itself. Human slavery is an integral part of the economy of the U. S. S. R. and it is organized on a more absolute, ruthless and efficient basis than ever before known to mankind. Complete evidence and documentation in the form of maps, charts and statistics covering this subject have been made a part of the committee's record."

Mass Murder
Another excerpt: "In 1943, after the Communists had been driven out of the Ukraine and that nation was under Nazi occupation, the people of Vinitia expressed their concern over the great number of people who previously, under the communist occupation, had entered the NKVD headquarters. These people were never heard of again . . . this led to an investigation. a total of 38 mass graves were discovered containing the remains of over 10,000 farmers, artisan, workers and intellectuals . . . This terrible crime of mass murder has become known as the Vinitia Massacre. Estimates were given to the effect that more than 200,000 Ukrainians fell victims to this particular phase of Communist mass murder.

What can American citizens do? For years, I have been urging citizens to read reports of all Congressional committees exposing Communism. Read the reports and give your assistance to the loyal patriotic Americans who are working to develop this information so vital to our security. Next week: the conclusions of this House Committee, and its recommendations to the President.

Biggest Check in Texas

A 25-word statement on why she liked the Kelvinator automatic washer won her the grand prize in the company's Homemakers' Holiday contest. Because Texans like big things, Kelvinator officials thought the over-size check appropriate. Awards of more than $90,000 were made in the contest.

IT'S UP TO YOU

By Howard E. Kershner, L.H.D.

Responsibility toward our fellow-men and the moral limitations of freedom which we must impose on ourselves is taught all through the Bible. Even the Old Testament, written in a period when Judaism recognized coercive powers, emphasizes the connection between personal freedom and responsibility.

Read Old Testament History with open eyes and you will find a most fascinating repetition of stories of the struggle between democratic and despotic ideals of statecraft. Consider one example.

King Ahab was a strong and wicked king, who rode roughshod over human rights. One day he admired a certain vineyard near his palace. He approached the owner, Naboth, and offered to buy it. Naboth refused to sell the land where his fathers had lived. It furnished his means of living and he had no desire to become a serf or a soldier.

According to Deuteronomic law, Naboth had his rights, and he did not have to sell. This tyrant king was up against a shielding democratic law. He went back to his palace and sulked like a spoiled child. He couldn't reconcile himself to not getting what he wanted. He stared not, however, so against Naboth's rights as a citizen and freholder. The King's ruthless wife had no such scruples. She had Naboth falsely accused and killed under a pretense of law, and then sold Ahab the vineyard to his.

When Ahab went down to take possession of it, there was the prophet Elijah waiting for him. Elijah denounced him so fiercely for his sin that Ahab quailed before him. Here as elsewhere in the Old Testament, the prophets stand boldly for the rights and liberties of the ordinary citizen. They were foes of tyranny.

Throughout the world there have been many attempts to take property from one person and give it to another. All along the way, philosophers, economists and preachers have cried out against the immorality of disregarding the rights of individuals. The Christian doctrine of stewardship states that man holds property in trust for God and with social responsibilities. However the very doctrine of stewardship places property in the hands of individuals and not in the hands of a few controllers over many.

Freedom is not primarily a political concern. It stems from religion. Freedom is a quality of life that has its roots in the worship of God. Worship develops in men a high sense of moral responsibility. Such men do not need external restraints, but develop a society in which law, penalty and government are reduced to the minimum and freedom is enlarged to the maximum.

HEALTH HORIZONS

The Cost of Medicine

The only thing most of us know about medicines is that they seem to cost too much. So you may be surprised as well as enlightened by some facts recently garnered from the magazine, American Professional Pharmacist.

When Pneumonia Cost $1000.

Do you know, for example, that the price (just in dollars) of having pneumonia twenty-five years ago was about $1000.—and today it is usually treated successfully with only $15. to $30. worth of drugs? In the days before penicillin and other antibiotics, pneumonia meant an average of five weeks in the hospital, plus a long convalescence before you were fit to work. Today the chances are you can be treated at home—no bills for hospital or special nurses—and you will be up and around in a couple of weeks, able to get back on the job.

Penicillin is just one example of the life-saving drugs we wouldn't have today if millions of dollars had not been risked in research. Your pharmacist can fill your prescription of penicillin in a few minutes, but it took several years of research to put that one drug on his shelves. Today every big pharmaceutical manufacturing company supports huge laboratories staffed by many chemists, physiologists, bacteriologists, biochemists, engineers and a dozen other kinds of scientists—and even with all these experts, it may take 1000 false leads to arrive at one useful new drug.

From Test-Tube to You

When, at last, something that was promising is found, that's the beginning. A new drug often takes through a year or two of testing. Only gradually can all the data required by our drug laws be gathered: information on purity, possible toxicity, correct dosage for various conditions, possible after-effects—and so on, almost ad infinitum. And then there are manufacturing problems, packaging problems (some drugs lose strength rapidly unless properly protected) sometimes requiring newly designed, fabulously expensive equipment.

And yet, unlike almost anything else, the price of some of our most valuable drugs has come down. Ten years ago, penicillin was so rare it cost $20. a single dose! Now, in some forms, it's a few cents. Spectacular cuts have been made in other drug prices; two famous examples are ACTH and cortisone.

But, for the most impressive reduction of all—just take a look at our death rate for dozens of once-dreaded diseases!

A Girl's Best Friend

IT ISN'T OFTEN that one sees diamonds weighing almost 100 carats all in one eye. But here is lovely Hollywood star, Rita Gam, sporting $100,000 worth of the glittering gems, set in gleaming white platinum and its sister metal, palladium. The necklace alone, designed by Lucien Piccard, is set with almost 70 carats of baguettes, round, square, triangle and pear-shaped stones. Marc Koven styled the attractive palladium carolips which double as a brooch, as well as a ring. According to the diamond ring. According to the popular song, diamonds are a girl's best friend. And best friends of diamonds are the platinum metals which hold precious jewels securely, faithfully reflecting their true color and enhancing their brilliance. Few girls will have a chance to wear as much jewelry as Rita Gam does here, but many may wear a ring of palladium which is becoming increasingly popular for even the moderately priced wedding and engagement rings.

An Admirable Lady Passes To The Great Beyond

Last week this old weekly stated briefly that a good lady, Mrs. W. H. Harris, had departed this life. It was brief for two reasons, the writer was laid up in bed of afflictions himself, and aside from that, we were short of help in the office, as one employee had quit to seek an "easier" job. But we believe that we explained about the funeral at the Methodist church and burial in the Terry County Memorial Cemetery.

But we failed to tell the people that the good lady was born up in Minnesota in 1870, and that later the Harris family migrated to Texas, but, as we understand the matter, the Harris family came directly to Texas from one of the Dakotas. As all the old timers know, the family settled on their ranch out in northwest Terry, where the late husband of the good lady started a store, and later got a postoffice, that bore his name.

Like many of the pioneer families of this area, the belated and tired traveler, always found shelter at the Harris abode. And after a night's repose and a good meal or two, there were no charges, as most of the pioneers considered it almost an insult to be offered pay. The Harris family, led by the father and mother, were very religious. They tried their best to live the life as exemplified by Holy Writ. Selfishness was banned. It had no place in their lives.

As a result, their children followed in their footsteps, and have made the community, both at old Harris, as well as after the family or most of them moved to Brownfield. All, without exception, have made the community a fine lot of citizens. We believe the article failed to give the name of all the survivors, which are as follows:

Two sons, Roy and Glenn of Brownfield; three daughters, Mrs. Geo. Alexander, Tokio; Mrs. Mildred Ellington, Montrose, Colorado; Mrs. Clifford Pray, Brages, Okla.; two step-sons, Lynn Harris, Sacramento, Calif.; Clyde Harris, Montebello, Calif.; and Mrs. Ida Vercoe, Chesterton, Indiana.

Members Visit Lamesa Radio Club
Several members of the Terry County Amateur Radio Club visited the L mesa Amateur Radio Club Thursday, Sept. 23.

WHAT OIL PROGRESS WEEK MEANS TO BROWNFIELD AREA

A dozen or so years ago, Oil Progress Week would have meant little to Brownfield, or for that matter the entire area. We believe it was 1935 when the first oil well was brought in over in the Bennett field in Yoakum county. Many of us went over there to see our first well, and even then, the majority believed that oil would be confined to a small area thereabouts. But in just a few years the development spread, over in the Denver city and Wauson areas of Yoakum and Gaines counties.

In fact, at that time, most of us thought oil was just an accident in this area, and that rough terrain sections like Ranger, Greystone and the Wichita Falls area, was supposed to be good for oil production. We little dreamed at that time, that geologists would be able to see down under the surface, where rock formations were to be found. All this evidence of oil on the surface here had been discovered by the drilling dirt and sand. But a hunt for oil and more oil was on, as it had in Texas from some places, as the huge growth of oil and gasoline continued. Then there was no fuel known to exist out here either on the surface, or beneath it.

Alpha Omega's Have Colorful Indian Program At Tea

A tea honoring newcomers to Brownfield was held Tuesday afternoon in conjunction with a guest day program by the Alpha Omega Study Club at the Selma Jane Brownfield Clubhouse.

The theme for the afternoon, "Texas Indians," was highlighted by a talk by Dr. Ernest Wallace, assistant dean, department of arts and sciences, Texas Tech.

Guests were greeted by Mrs. V. L. Patterson, chairman of the social committee, and other officers in the receiving line were Mrs. George O'Neal, Mrs. Tommy Hicks and Mrs. Truett Flache.

Mrs. P. R. Cates registered guests and Mrs. Jack Hamilton poured punch. Mrs. O'Neal welcomed the guests and Mrs. Patterson presented gifts of Indian pottery to the newest newcomer, Mrs. R. J. Hoey, who moved here 3 1/2 weeks ago from Lubbock; Mrs. Donald Webb, formerly of Missouri, newcomer moving here from the farthest distance; and Mrs. Marion Bowers, the most recent bride.

An Indian motif was carried out in table decorations and refreshments. A bouquet of deep red asters centered the serving table, which was covered with a red linen cloth. Miniature Indian dolls flanked the floral arrangement, and an authentic Indian headdress was placed on the mantle. Iced cookies decorated with Indian teepees were served with punch and nuts.

Approximately 25 club members and 15 newcomers attended.

Coal and gasoline had to be brought in from other sections. Back 15 years ago, what would a native in our growing little city have said if he had been informed that by 1954, hundreds of oil men, from geologists, drillers, welders, engineers and roughnecks, would be here, and that their annual payroll would run into the hundreds of thousands of dollars annually? What would the local man have said if told that there would be hundreds of office workers here, some taking the entire floor of some buildings, of coooping 10's? What would have been their reaction, if told that within the 15 years, there would have been numerous oil field supply houses here, employing many more at good wages?

Who would have believed it if some modern prophet had allowed that within the next few years taxable valuations here in the county and the school districts would double and triple? That whereas, only a few years ago our county districts would have to make every dollar count, and that perhaps many new buildings would have to be disposed with right now, however, our school board is making prepara-

Terry Winked Out On Oil Wells For The Past Week

For some reason, there were some radical changes in new locations and finished wells in the north Permian last week. For instance, four counties stood ahead of the usual leader, Andrews county, in new locations, last week, as follows: Garza led with ten; Howard had 8; Kent got 6; Gaines, five; Andrews and Dawson with 4 each; Lamb Scurry and Terry with two each; while Terry and Yoakum had only one each for a total of 35.

But Andrews led in finished wells, with 8; Garza, Howard and Scurry got 4 each; Gaines, 3; Yoakum, 2; while Kent and Lamb each got one new well, for a total of 28. Both of the Yoakum county wells were in the Brahaney, one a flowing well of 448 barrels daily, 30 gravity. The other was a light pumper, of 66 barrels 33 gravity oil.

The two new locations in Terry were given as follows: Prentice-6700 — Kay Kimbell 5-A S. T. Murphy, 1,012 from north and 66 from east lines of Section 22, Block K, PSL Survey, 5 miles northwest of Tokio, rotary to 7,000 feet, at once.

Wildcat (Re-entered to deepen) — Fred Turner Jr. and Lynn D. Durham 1 Luther Bohanon et al, 660 from north and east lines of the southeast quarter of Section 74, Block DD, John H. Gibson Survey, 3 miles north of Seagraves, rotary to 13,000 feet, at once.

Looks like the O'Neill Drilling Company of Midland is going to get a well out in the Pool settlement, on the Cay Day holdings. First test showed over 500 feet of mud-cut oil. Location, Section 23, Block D-11, and three miles northeast of the Prentice Field. Drilling ahead, last report.

And, by the way, and Amarillo drilling concern has spotted a north offset of the new north Wellman discovery. The test will be on the L. D. Hamm holdings on Section 152, Block D-11.

Occasionally a man likes to say what he thinks, a privilege some of us abuse.

Wellman Wildcats Meet Bovina Tonite

The Wellman Wildcats have their next game at Bovina tonight, having already played Frenship, Whiteface and Plains. Coach Eustace Conwoop and his assistant, L. T. (Rip) Sewell, have been devoting most of their afternoon practice sessions in routing signal drills and dummy scrimmage.

The main figure in the Wildcat attack this year has been Alfred Tittle, 202 pound fullback. The big senior was shifted from tackle during the final two games of 1953 and has been considered possibly the best bone crusher in 4-B. As yet, the Wildcats haven't faced a man who could drag him down alone. In last Friday's encounter with Plains, Tittle accounted for the two touchdowns made by the Wildcats, despite the fact that the Cowboys defeated them. Wellmans has also suffered defeats by Frenship and Whiteface.

Allen Wray Smith, who has been hampered by injuries, is considered the fastest man on the team, even though Tittle is close. Other backfield men include former end Ernest Thornton, who weighs 129 pounds, and Sam "Spec" Sanders, who is hampered by lack of experience.

Gerald Jordan is another back the Wildcat team was depending on, but will not see action for at least another three weeks, due to an appendectomy.

The fairly rugged line, which features three 1953 starters, usually forces opponents to run around or pass over it. Number one boy is Left Tackle Bill Tom Goza, a 170 pound senior, together with Center Jerry Carmichael, Right Tackle Leon Abbott, largest line starter at 180, and Benny Cowling, and Bob Womack, both letterman guards.

Ends will be Ellis Harlan and Jimmy Weaver, neither of whom top the 150 mark.

Conwoop believes that barring injuries, his group will continue to improve, and hopes to see them coming up with some wins later in the season.

The Wildcat's remaining schedule includes:
Oct. 1 — Bovina
Oct. 8 — Dawson at home
Oct. 15 — Open

Get To See A Few Terry County Crops

Being cooped up in the local hospital for a period of some 11 days, and at home a few extra ones, without seeing any Terry crops, was exasperating, to us to say the least. While we may have been crowding the season a bit, we got the wife, daughter and three of the grand-children, to mobile us out in a portion of the county we had not visited in some time.

The route was to Needmore, thence west three miles, and then south over dirt roads, coming into the F.M. that runs north of Gomez. Let us say here and now folks, that section of the country sure looks different from what it has the past two years — or is it three? Then too, we just wanted to check up on P. Roger's crop. While that boy is usually pretty modest about his own holdings, this is the first year in several that he has admitted to having a good crop.

He has, for a fact, and we believe some of the best dry land cotton we have seen this year, and his maize is superb. Phillip being on a visit to Tenn., there was no car at home at the time, and we did not stop, supposing his wife and the three girls to be at her dad's — the A. A. Olivers.

Out in the Needmore and Harmony section, they have some of the finest irrigated crops extant, both cotton and feed, and occasionally alfalfa. Some of the cotton is better than waist high, and full of bolls from top to bottom, and beginning to open underneath. Looks like a bale and a half per acre on some of it. And that reminds us of what one of our prominent merchants stated to a Herald reporter recently. "We have enough land under irrigation presently to make 40,000 bales of cotton annually, without any dry land yield counted," he stated.

However, the acreage was considerably cut this year, but with both irrigated and dry land cotton, the guesses on the bales for Terry county run from 60,000 to 65,000 bales.

Like the crops right around Brownfield, those in the Gomez area, except irrigated, are not as good on the average as the Needmore and Harmony sections. Just didn't get as much rain.

IT'S UP TO YOU

By Moward E. Kershner, L.H.D.

A young man just beginning his life work was advised to save his money for investment and for future comfort in his old age. He agreed with the principles of saving but wished to delay the process because he was having such a fine time spending his money.

"What will you do," he was asked, "if you become ill or if you lose your job?" "The government provides for me," he said, "if I lose my job, and before long some form of state medicine will take care of me if I am ill." "But you want to be married," the advisor continued, "and you will need money to buy a home." "Perhaps not," he replied, "for the President said recently that it was the responsibility of the government to see that its citizens were properly housed."

"Remember," the young man was told, "the government has no money. It can give you nothing except what it takes from others. Moreover, in most countries, the rich have already been stripped of their possessions and now the governments in those countries must oppressively tax the lower income people. Already the rich are rapidly being despoiled in our country. Thirty years ago the very rich paid income taxes up to 7 per cent, now those in the lower brackets pay more than three times that amount. You yourself are paying almost a quarter of your earnings in income tax. As the rich are taxed out of existence, the income tax will be increased against the lower income people, and you will find in the long run that the housing, the medical assistance, and unemployment relief you expect from government will come out of your own pocket."

"Anyway," said the young man, "I can't be bothered with these things. Let the government tax me when and if it must, to whatever extent is necessary, but let it provide me with security in these and other respects without my having to worry about it."

"Do you realize," he was told, "that you are asking for a guardian, that you still consider yourself a minor and want to be a minor all of your life? That you are willing to accept direction and control from the government in exchange for a process of security?"

It was pointed out to the young man that he and all the rest of us would have to do the bidding of government under that system; that we would have to work at whatever jobs the government authorities assigned, accept whatever pay they chose to give us, and be satisfied with such products as they chose to manufacture and put into government shops. In other words we would live under the system existing in Russia and her satellites, and from which people are so anxious to escape that they run the risks of barbed wire, dogs, machine guns and prison camps. No man who knows the price he will eventually have to pay would ever consent, much less ask for, that type of security.

MEET YOUR MINISTER AND FAMILY — Rev. Uel D. Crosby, pastor of the First Methodist Church, moved here in Dec., 1953, from Lubbock, where he was executive secretary of the Northwest Texas Conference Board of Education for the Methodist Church for 6 1/2 years. He has been a member of the conference for 26 years and Mrs. Crosby served as conference director of children's work for ten years prior to moving here. At present he is district director of evangelism and secretary of the inter-conference commission on Methodist student work of the state of Texas, and she is director of children's work for the Brownfield district. Rev. Crosby enjoys attending the Rotary Club and likes to go fishing. He has his AB and BD degrees from Southern Methodist University and Mrs. Crosby has a MA degree from the same university and an AB degree from Texas Wesleyan College. The Crosbys are shown above in their parsonage living room at 402 East Tate with their son, Uel D., Jr., who is now a freshman at McMurry College. Information From The Office Of The Attorney General

AUSTIN — Attorney General John Ben Shepherd Wednesday announced that Texas will accept an invitation from the United States Supreme Court to file a brief on segregation in public schools.

"After having given this matter several months of constant and exhaustive study, and having consulted with a wide cross section of educators, teachers, legislators and State officials, we feel that we should file a brief in order to properly present the Texas position on this question," he said.

Shepherd pointed out that the only States having the issue of segregation before the Supreme Court at this time are Delaware, Kansas, South Carolina and Virginia and the mere filing of his "amicus curiae" (friend of the court) brief would not bind Texas in any decree resulting from these four cases.

"The Texas segregated school system is unique," he said, "and most Texas citizens think Texas should be allowed to work out her own problems.

We urge this view in our brief.

"We don't want what is happening in West Virginia to happen to our school children," he declared.

West Virginia abolished segregation following the May 17 decision of the Supreme Court, and the opening of the fall school term was marked by strikes, demonstrations and other civil disorders.

The court held May 17 in the Delaware, Kansas, South Carolina and Virginia cases that segregation in the public schools in those States was unconstitutional.

The court indicated then that it might set up machinery to hear evidence in individual states. Shepperd expressed hope that the Court would work out some such method for Texas, thus allowing this State to bring out all facts concerning her own school system.

"This would allow time to study the experience of the four States now before the Court," he said, "and would also permit a possible legislative solution to the problem."

Stricklinly Speaking

By OLD HE

Speaking of kin, we had a very interesting letter from a grandchild by marriage, Wardie, wife of Enloe, or Jerry Jacobs, as she calls her husband. It was written under date of Sept 24th. Wardie announced the birth of their first born, Linda Susan, weight 9/10. Head full of jet black hair. So we have another great grand-niece. Enloe and Wardie got their vacation dates one year when we were back there, and came home with us, returning via train or bus. They spent about a week with us back in the middle forties.

For many years, Wardie has held a very desirable job with the Memphis, Tenn., store of Sears-Roebuck, and Enloe held a position with a garage for many years, but is presently employed with a big supply firm. Wardie stated in her letter that Enloe's firm is sending him to Brazil soon, where he will spend a few months. Of course, Wardie stated that she would feel very lonesome without her husband, but was glad that his firm felt he could be of help to them down below the equator. Well, Enloe may be speaking Spanish or Portuguese next time we see him. Bon voyage, boy!

Well, we note with some misgivings, that up there in "dry" old Oklahoma, the bootleggers are advising their customers to do their Christmas shopping early. In other words, the 'leggers are already sending out their highly decorated propaganda, giving delivery prices on your favorite brand of "branch water." This was over at Tulsa.

And speaking of Christmas, while almost three months away, perhaps it is not too early to begin to mention appropriate gift suggestions. Indeed, we note that one of our stores has had a Christmas gift sign up in the front of the store for the past month, or since the latter part of August.

Much has been written of late why boys in particular leave home and take to the open road, with a few instances of the girls doing the same thing. While this idea of the young folks concluding they are not loved at home seems to be growing worse with our modern highways and cars, and especially as it is easy to stick out a thumb, and get a lift anyway from 50 to a few hundred miles down the road.

This is especially true of a youngster traveling alone, but no one would want to pick up several strapping young fellows. In some cases, we are told, the young fellow left his home and board because he thought a younger child was getting the most attention. To us, that is a very poor excuse.

Cousin Phillips Rogers and little son, Gary, slipped off from home last week, and went back to Tennessee with one of his nephews and wife from California—one of the Luttrell boys. Back when we were a boy, they pronounced it "Litterell." Never could see the reason why, as it no more spells "Litterell" than monkey spells ape.

Anyways, we are anxiously awaiting the arrival of the Californians and Texans back, so we can hear all the news first hand.

SIZE AND CHARACTER OF BROWNFIELD REVEALED

The following is the second article in a series of three concerning a recent survey of Terry County compiled by the Brownfield Chamber of Commerce. Last week's article was concerned with the size and character of the city, housing, banking facilities, and general statistics. Discussed in the following paragraphs will be business statistics, local and state legislation, power, gas fuel, and water.

Business Statistics

Terry County is the site of four manufacturing establishments, namely: the Carbon Black Plant, which employs 102 persons with monthly wages from $28,000 to $30,000; Western Cottonoil Co., with 80 employees drawing wages of $208,000 per year; Terry County Mattress Co., which employs 6 persons with wages running $800 per month; and California Spray and Chemical Co., which has one employee, except from May to September, when it has 7 employees, and its payroll is made up in the head office at Oklahoma City.

Manufactured products in 1953 were valued at $2,700,000. Also of December, 1953, there were 270 retail establishments with a volume of retail sales totalling $13,381,000.

Twelve wholesale gasoline companies and two wholesale meat companies are in the county, with their sales in 1953 being approximately $3,000,000.

Mrownfield State Bank and the First National Bank clear with each other. The State Bank also clears with First National of Lubbock, while the First National Bank clears with First National of Lubbock. Both clear with the Federal Reserve System, District 12, Dallas.

Workmen's compensation law is the same all over Texas, as stated in Articles 8306-8309 in the Statutes of Texas. It applies to employers that hire three or more persons except to domestic servants, farm or ranch labor. Before it is payable the employee must be incapacitated for at least one week. All disability payments are based on a rate of 60 percent of the average weekly wage, but not over $25 a week. The maximum payable in case of death or total and permanent disability of $25 a week for 401 weeks, or a maximum total of $10,025. These rates range from this maximum rate down to 15 weeks.

Plant inspection requirements are set up standardly according to local building and zoning ordinances. Industry is affected by the local zoning code if it is within the city limits, as are building codes.

Insurance rates are variable and further information is available upon request.

Tech Student Body 6,234 At Deadline

LUBBOCK — Registration at Texas Tech for the fall semester stood at 6,234 for Monday afternoon at the deadline. There were still several persons in the process of enrollment. They will finish procedures later this week, their delay being effected by unusual situations.

The present count represents an increase of 816 students over the enrollment for the fall semester in 1953. Every division has more students than it had a year ago. The over-all increase is above 15 per cent.

The student body now exceeds that of the previous all-time high of 6,145, recorded in September 1948, by 89, or more than 1.4 per cent. Only twice before has the student body exceeded 6,000—in 1948 and in 1947, when the enrollment was 6,114.
