

STRICKLINLY SPEAKING....

By

The latest Farm Labor Bulletin to come to hand, points out the fact that the area is still very shy on hands to help move the best crop in three years. For instance, the Littlefield area needed 3,000 hands, Brownfield 1500, Lamesa 800, Seminole 750, Tahoka 1000, Levelland 1000 and Morton 500.

May reach the point that the local farmers will just have to use mechanical harvesters to move their crops.

The herds of Aberdeen Angus cattle are increasing presently at a rapid rate, so states the National Association. Ten top states showed a 60 percent gain, with the production of 213,410 pure bred calves this year. Texas had 10,188 pure bred Angus. The association has 28,700 members.

Speaking of cattlemen, in a recent address the Hon. Ralph W. Guinn, a member of Congress from New York state, threw some light on recent happening in the cattle production business, they experience by using government subsidies. During that time beef got so high that the consumers went on a beef eating strike with dire consequences.

But the hearheaded old cattleman, always a pretty independent sort, decided to dispense with these subsidies, and to go back on their own as they had for centuries. The Socialistic idea was abandoned, he stated, and with a little persuasion, people began to buy their hamburger meat and T-bones again. After all, it is the old American consumer that pays, and it pays to cater to his whims.

We heartily agree with our State Representative, J. O. Gillham, who is writing the articles, that we earnestly hope our readers are taking advantage of and really are reading what he has to say. The amendment we particularly agree with him on is No. 7 under his discussion this week. It is the one allowing women to serve on juries in Texas. And let us second his motion right off the reel that we agree that women are qualified to serve as jurors. Probably make better jurors than men.

But here is the great drawback. The good ladies could not, under this new amendment, give household duties or family duties with puny children, as an excuse for not serving. Another thing, every county would have to rebuild their jury dormitories, making separate apartments for the women, which would be no little expense for small counties.

Honestly, too, if the truth was known, we believe there are very few if any of the ladies of Terry county, or this area for that matter, that really wish to serve on juries. Possibly it is a ring of supposed high tonies in the big cities, who have an idea that if Texas has Federal Judges like Judge Sara Hughes of Dallas, it ought to have a lot of women to set on the juries and hear the lawyers wrangle over cases, some of which fairly stink.

Lets go to the polls and try to save our fine womanhood from this hardship, at least.

Among those passing to the great beyond in the past few days could be numbered that of Boss Edward T. Crump, of Memphis, Tenn., which occurred Saturday. While most Teams do not relish the word (boss), Crump, if all things are considered, was a dif-

Only one more week to go, and then comes the event of all events for Brownfield and area, the grand finale, we know as the annual Harvest Festival, sponsored by the local Rotary Club. There are other events that the community endorse and appreciate, but the Harvest Festival stands heads and shoulders above all others. It annually attracts by far the most people of any other event, both locally and from other towns and cities.

But those in charge of making the event a go, tell us that the people of the community are kinder laying down on the job of buying tickets, which after all is the means that make the mare go in this great undertaking. Remember the Rotary Club does NOT use this money for the club, and to just have a large bank account, but on the other hand, every penny goes to make our community a better place to live and rear our children. So, if you have not already bought your quota of ticket, don't wait for some one to contact you, but contact them, and soon. Time is short.

Things the Rotary Club Does for Our Town

Right here is as good a place as any to mention some of the many things the Rotary Club does for our town and community:

They operate one school bus in the city that carries to and from the school some 400 students per day. Regular school buses do not pick up students within two miles of the schools, and are therefore operated for rural students. These buses cost some $2500 per year to operate.

The Rotary Club has spent some $17,000 on Brownfield High School uniforms. They also helped with a nice donation to the

Brownfield Banks Are In Fine Condition

The two Brownfield banks are in fine fettle, and this just as we start into the harvest in a big way. In fact, the Brownfield banks, the Brownfield State Bank and Trust Co., and the First National bank, put the Brownfield financial standing in third position on the south Plains, Lubbock being first and Plainview second. Two large towns are way behind Brownfield, although claiming a larger population — Lamesa and Levelland.

We are all proud of the showing of the two banks of our city, and we hope they shall always prosper as in the past. In many ways, they have gone all out to accommodate the people of the area. The personnel composing both institutions are men and women who look out for the people of the community. They see the needs of the commu-

NO TAX INCREASE SEEN IN SCHOOL BUILDING PROGRAM . . .

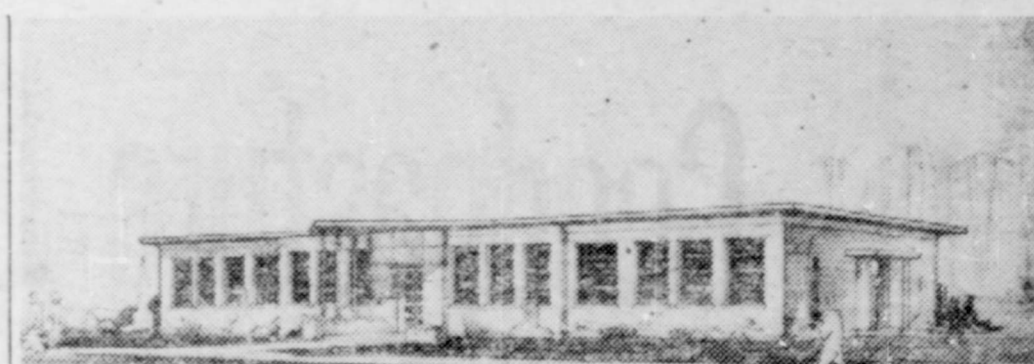

According to C. G. Griffith, the school board members called for a session on Monday Oct. 18th, to accept a petition for the $675,000 school bond issue. The members of the board are, C. G. Griffith, President; Bill Carter, Vice President; I. M. Baily, Secretary; Cecil O'Neil, L. V. Alexander, I. V. Newsome, Hubert Thompson. The meeting ordered the election to be held November 2nd., at the Courthouse in the County Treasury office.

This building program has been under study for some time by the board. Last spring, a petition for a cafeteria in the Junior High and High School was asked. The board was asked to wait until the tax roll was completed. The tax roll was completed August 31st., and it was determined, that a more complete program could be undertaken without an increase to the tax payers. After some study the board is now submitting this program to the people. The proposed building program can now be a reality without extra taxation to the people. This is due to an increase in value in the district, brought about primarily by oil development in Terry County.

The plans call for converting the East Ward building, which is now housing the 5th grade students, into a cafeteria. This would serve the Junior High school and the West Ward building. Plans also call for 16 or 18 room building, complete with cafeteria, to replace class rooms, that are now in the East Ward building, and also allow for additional 300 more students. Brownfield presently has enrolled 125 more students than at this time last year. In the beginning the new Elementary building is scheduled to house the 3rd., and 4th., grades. In time, it will likely house grades 1st., through the 6th. grade. It is so designed that (additional class rooms can be added with minimum cost if needed. The High School Auditorium, band House, and Cafeteria, is de-

Gillham Explains Amendments

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS

By Representative J. O. Gillham

Last week I wrote an article for this paper discussing the first of the five of the eleven constitutional amendments upon which the people will be called to vote on November 2, General Election Day.

The five amendments which I have previously discussed are as follows:

One: Authorizing the Legislature to increase spending for Old-Age Assistance, Aid to the Blind and Aid to Dependent Children by $7,000,000 a year and requiring that names of recipients of public assistance be made available to the public.

Two: Permitting employees of the Teacher's Retirement System and the State Employees' Retirement System to receive credit for services rendered as a teacher or as a state employee.

Three: Providing for coverage for proprietary employees of the state's political subdivisions under Federal Old Age and Security Insurance.

Four: Creating a State Building Commission with the authority to erect buildings for state purposes and establishing a State Building Fund by transferring to it the surplus from the Confederate Pension Fund.

Five: Authorizing the Legislature to fix the salaries of the Governor, Attorney-General, Comptroller of Public Accounts, State Treasurer, Commissioner of the General Land Office and Secretary of State and fixing compensation of members of the Legislature at $25.00 per day for not more than 120 days of any one session.

This week I want to discuss with you the remaining six amendments and they are as follows:

AMENDMENT NO. 6: PROHIBITING THE USE OF THE STATE OR GRANTS OF ANY PUBLIC MONEY FOR CONSTRUCTION, MAINTENANCE, OR OPERATION OF TOLL ROADS AND TRUNKPIKES.

You will remember that the Legislature passed during the 53rd regular session, a toll road bill which legalized the construction of toll roads by toll road authorities in the state providing that any toll roads which may be built shall be paid for by the issuance of revenue bonds payable solely from the revenues of such toll roads as may be built.

It was feared by some of us that there might come a time when some future legislature might see fit to appropriate some money to some toll road authority which was in financial difficulties so this amendment proposes a new Section 52b to Article III of the constitution providing that the Legislature shall have no power or authority to lend the credit of the state in any manner to persons or to political subdivisions of the state for construction, maintenance or operation of toll roads and turnpikes.

Such lending of the credit of the state or granting of public money is now prohibited by law but members of the Legislature wanted to give Texas citizens this opportunity to place in their constitution wording which would clearly prohibit some future Legislature under different circumstances from assuming the obligations of a political subdivision or of private capital in connection with toll roads or turnpikes. I think certainly that this amendment ought to be approved.

AMENDMENT NO. 7: PROVIDING THAT WOMEN SHALL HAVE BOTH THE RIGHT AND THE DUTY TO SERVE ON JURIES.

House Joint Resolution No. 16, if adopted, would amend Section 19 of Article XVI of the constitution to provide that where the term "men" is used in the constitution in reference to juries, it shall include persons of the female as well as the male sex. This proposal is very similar to an amendment which was rejected in 1949 by a vote of 163,971 to 134,703.

The language of House Joint Resolution No. 16 is clearer and stronger than the resolution defeated in 1949 in that it would make serving on juries by women both a right and a duty. This proposal would require jury service of women whereas the former proposal qualified them for the service.

Proponents of HJR No. 16 say that Texas ought to give women the full duties and rights of citizens as have the majority of other states, while requiring them to serve on juries; that doing so would increase the supply of jurors and speed up judicial processes.

Those who oppose HJR No. 16 argue that their courthouses are not equipped to furnish overnight accommodations for women jurors where that would be necessary and that special exemptions and exceptions for women will be necessary because of household or other duties.

There is no question in anyone's mind that the women of our country are just as well qualified to serve as jurors as are the men and I actually think they might make better jurors than do the men; yet, I am "old fogey" enough to believe that the majority of the women of Texas do not want to have the responsibility and duty of serving on our juries and furthermore, I believe, that our good women are the cornerstone of what little home life we have left in America today. Due to these reasons I expect to vote against this amendment.

AMENDMENT NO. 8: CHANGING TO FOUR YEAR TERMS OF OFFICE THE ELECTIVE DISTRICT, COUNTY AND PRECINCT OFFICES WHICH NOW HAVE TWO YEAR TERMS.

Senate Joint Resolution No. 4, if adopted, would amend nine sections of the constitution and would add three new sections. It is difficult to assess the full effect of these proposed changes.

Clearly, Senate Joint Resolution No. 4, if adopted in November, would immediately provide four-year terms for District Clerks; Criminal District Attorneys; County Judges; Judges of County Courts at Law, County Criminal Courts, County Probate Courts and County Domestic Relations Courts; County Clerks; County Treasurers; County Surveyors; County Commissioners for Precincts 2 and 4; Justices of the Peace; and Inspectors of Hides and Animals.

If this amendment should be adopted, the change to four-year terms for the following offices would not be effective until 1956; District Attorneys; Sheriffs; Assessors and Collectors of Taxes; County Attorneys; County Commissioners of Precincts 1 and 3; Constables; and Public Weighers. Since the four-year terms of all the elective district, county and precinct offices would not expire in the same year, some of them would be up for election every two years.

Unquestionably this amendment was poorly drawn and would be subject to court tests in the event it is favorably passed on November 2nd, because of the fact that it is uncertain whether or not the amendment would cover certain offices which now have a two-year term and furthermore, the provision of having to elect some of our officers each two years would tend to confuse the people.

Those who favor longer terms of office for these officials argue that two-year terms do not give a capable official time to accomplish improvements in administration; that two-year terms require too much of the time of incumbents to campaign for reelection; that running for office every two-years is expensive and puts the official in the embarrassing position of depending too largely on outside contributions.

Opponents of changing these terms to four years contend that it is a fundamental principle of our state constitution that elective local officials should subject themselves frequently to the judgment of the voters at least every two years; that reelection is not too great a problem for a competent official since Texas voters have always been willing to grant successive terms and that outside contributions to campaigns are not so likely to injure the public interest as would terms doubled in length during which no accounting is made to the public.

Personally, I am inclined to agree with the opponents of this amendment for I am convinced that having to elect part of our officials every two years and most of our state officials every two years, would only complicate the election machinery and would not reduce the expenses of holding primaries, and would actually increase the cost on candidates in that some of the ones who ordinarily pay part of the expense would not be running. Personally, I feel that the people ought to have the opportunity to pass judgment on their officials every two years, therefore, I shall vote against this amendment.

AMENDMENT NO. 9: AUTHORIZING THE CREATION OF COUNTYWIDE HOSPITAL DISTRICTS IN BEXAR, DALLAS, EL PASO, GALVESTON, HARRIS, JEFFERSON AND TARRANT COUNTIES, AND AUTHORIZING AD VALOREM TAXES FOR SUPPORT AND OPERATION OF SUCH DISTRICTS.

Senate Joint Resolution No. 2 proposes to add a new Section 4 to Article IX of the Constitution, which would authorize the Legislature to provide by law for the creation of countywide hospital districts to furnish medical and hospital care for the indigent and needy in counties having a population in excess of 190,000 and in Galveston County. The counties now within the bracket are Bexar, Dallas, El Paso, Galveston, Harris, Jefferson and Tarrant.

This amendment in itself would not create any such districts but adoption of the amendment by a statewide vote is necessary before any county can set up a county-wide hospital district. What the individual counties will do is not involved in the vote on this particular amendment. Any one of these seven counties which desires to establish a hospital district must hold another and later election for that purpose.

SJR No. 2 is of more interest to all counties and to the individual voters throughout the State than is at first apparent. The facilities for medical and hospital care in the larger counties of Texas provide training for nurses and physicians and are a source of supply to which other communities of the State look for trained technical and professional personnel and for other forms of assistance in their own hospital problems. The hospitals in larger counties furnish services to areas far larger than the counties in which they are located.

This proposal was submitted by the Legislature at the request of officials in the larger counties which for many years have had serious and growing administrative problems in their joint city and county operations. They told the Legislature that if they could set up countywide hospital districts, a special tax for this purpose would be more equitable to all taxpayers in their counties, and equally or more important, that it would establish clearly the administrative authority and responsibility needed for efficient operation.

The question which voters will decide in the November election in voting on SJR No. 2 is whether to give permission to the people of the seven counties named to decide at subsequent elections whether they want such a hospital district. The need for such a hospital district will, if SJR 2 is adopted, be decided in future elections in each of the counties concerned.

Since this amendment only applies to certain counties and provides that said counties may by vote of the people assess certain ad valorem taxes for the support of hospital districts, I see no serious objection to its passage.

AMENDMENT NO. 10: PROVIDING THAT A MEMBER OF THE ARMED FORCES OF THE UNITED STATES OR COMPONENT BRANCHES THEREOF MAY VOTE IN THE COUNTY IN WHICH HE OR SHE RESIDED AT THE TIME OF ENTERING SUCH SERVICE.

Our constitution now allows those persons in the armed forces of the United States or component branches thereof, who are not members of the regular military establishment, to vote without paying poll tax during the time this country is engaged in fighting a war, or within one year after the close of the calendar year in which the war is terminated. At other times most of those who are not members of the regular military establishments can vote if they have made timely payment of their poll tax.

HJR No. 10, if adopted, would rewrite Sections 1 and 2 of Article VI of the constitution, and it would repeal Section Xa of the same article. The result would be to permit any member of the armed forces of the United States or of their component branches to vote, provided they are otherwise qualified. They would be required to pay their poll tax in order to vote just as are citizens not in the armed forces; and they could vote only in the county in which they resided at the time of entering service.

Prohibition of voting by active members of the armed forces of the United States has always been in our State Constitution, on the theory that such persons could not be properly informed on State and local issues, and that voting by members of the armed forces could lead to domination of civilian affairs by the military. Proponents of HJR No. 10 believe that members of the armed forces can and should be made aware of issues in their state and in their home communities, and that they should not be barred from voting on such issues because of their service to their country. This argument has gained force from national draft laws, which require military service of most of our young men.

I certainly think that our citizens who are devoting their life to service within the armed forces should not be deprived of their right to vote. This amendment ought to be passed.

AMENDMENT NO. 11: PROVIDING THAT COUNTIES WITH LESS THAN 10,000 INHABITANTS MAY ELECT TO HAVE A TAX ASSESSOR-COLLECTOR.

The constitution now provides that in counties of less than 10,000 inhabitants, as determined by the last preceding United States census, the Sheriff shall be the Tax Assessor-Collector. House Joint Resolution No. 8 proposes to add a new Section 16a to Article VIII, giving the Commissioners Court in such counties the right to submit to the qualified property taxing voters, the question whether they would prefer to have a separate full time office of Tax Assessor-Collector. If a majority of those voting approve the addition of this official, he will be elected at the next general election.

There are ninety-six counties in Texas which have a population according to the last Federal census, of less than 10,000. Adoption of HJR 8 would not require a change in any of these counties; it would give taxing voters of these counties the right to determine whether they want a separate county official to handle their tax assessments and collections.

This amendment simply gives the 96 counties who cannot have tax assessors and collectors as the constitution is now written, the right to have a tax collector and assessor in their counties if the majority of the people in these counties indicate what they want. Personally, it is my opinion that the constitution as it is now written already provides for too many county offices; that many of them could be consolidated and be saving the taxpayers an enormous sum of money. In other words, I think we ought to be giving consideration in the reduction in some of the county officials rather than in increasing the number of county officials. In all of the 96 counties which cannot now have a tax collector or assessor, due to the fact that they have less than 10,000 population, it is the duty of the sheriff of said county to look after the assessing and collecting of taxes. Personally, I do not think this works any hardship on the sheriff of those sparsely populated counties to handle these extra duties; therefore, I see no reason why we should pass this amendment which would only add to the expense of operating our county governments. Personally, I shall vote against this amendment.

In two articles I have attempted to discuss all eleven of the amendments and have tried to be frank with you concerning my honest opinion of the merits of these amendments because I thought you were entitled to know my position concerning them. You understand of course, that I am only giving you my opinion concerning these amendments and make no attempt to tell anyone how they should vote on these various proposals. My position has been mainly to try to shed a little light on the meaning of the amendments in order that they may be a better understanding and a more intelligent vote on the amendments.

In the past, unfortunately, it has been the habit of a lot of us to disregard the amendments altogether and not having had the benefit of any explanation of some of them to vote against a perfectly good amendment. I hope that my brief discussion of the amendments will be helpful to those of you who take the time to read the two articles I have written. It has not been the purpose of these articles to indicate how anyone should vote on any of the proposals, but to present facts which will be helpful in determining whether these amendments are desirable.

New Drugs For High Blood Pressure

Several drugs developed in the past few years give the 16,000,000 high blood pressure (hypertension) victims in the United States a better chance of living with a condition which, if allowed to go unchecked, can lead to severe heart, brain and kidney damage and even to death.

Two of the new drugs have proven particularly valuable in control of this disease. One is a refinement known as reserpine from a crude root used for centuries in India for a score of ailments.

The second drug is hexamethonium chloride, a compound discovered in Europe which was administered only by injection until an American pharmaceutical firm succeeded in producing it in tablet form.

Reserpine is believed to lower blood pressure by its calming effect upon the central nervous system. It slowly lowers mildly elevated blood pressure. The drug has few side effects and it has been useful in mild cases or as the initial treatment in severe cases—largely because of its tranquilizing effect upon the patient.

Hexamethonium chloride, the single most potent drug available now, operates on the "roadblock" concept by preventing the transmission of pressure-raising impulses across key nerve centers. It lowers blood pressure quickly in most cases and often relieves many of the disturbing symptoms associated with advanced high blood pressure.

Most promising results for the patient are now being reported by physicians using the two drugs together. It appears that the calming effects of reserpine make it possible to obtain the marked reductions in blood pressure brought about by hexamethonium with low doses of the latter drug. Physicians report that this new method minimizes side reactions and permits greater comfort for the patient.

Although the primary cause of high blood pressure is unknown in 90 per cent of cases, when the disease is diagnosed early, the patient can often be helped by a general slowing down of activity and perhaps by diet. In severe cases, surgery, in which certain nerves are cut, has helped some patients.

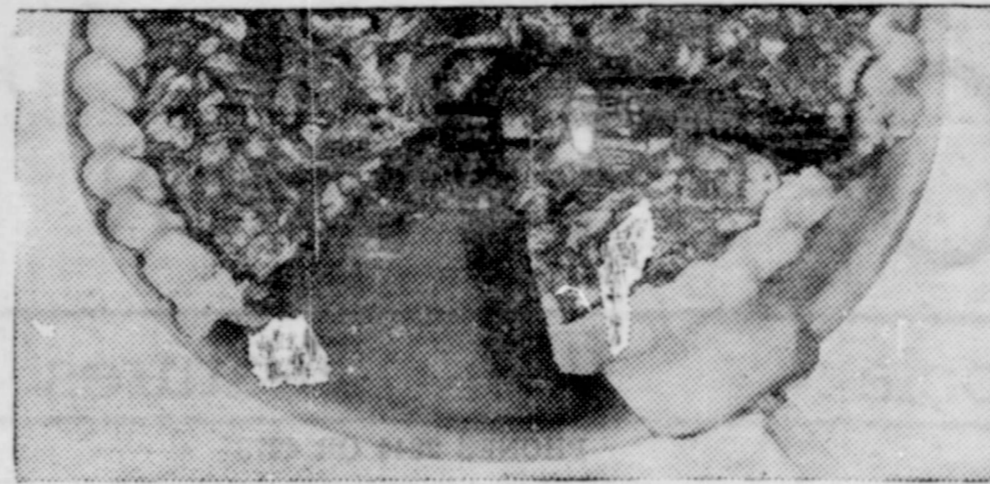

Drug treatment, however, is the most widely accepted method once the physician considers the condition a serious medical problem. Not only is this method effective, but it is less disruptive to the patient than dieting and considerably less drastic than surgery, which can't be undone even when it doesn't work.

SOLVING SIMPLE DISEASES

By Science Features Don't think that doctors overlook common ailments just because they have not yet been able to cure the cold. Medical science is concerned with simple, annoying diseases as well as the deadly kind. For example, one very prevalent but not-dangerous disease called pinworm (there are about 210 million cases throughout the world) can now be cured by new drugs and diligence.

The most universal of all human parasites, these little white worms primarily affect children, causing a constant itching that disturbs sleep and may also interfere with the youngsters' eating.

In a recent report from Buffalo, N. Y., three doctors declared they found the antibiotic terramycin was "the most effective drug" for treating pinworm patients. A disinfectant, gentian violet, was also highly successful, they said, but often "cannot be swallowed by many children." Of 47 cases, 84 percent were cured with terramycin—a drug prepared with raspberry-flavored liquid for children.

Because the pinworm's eggs are well protected in a three-layer shell, it is difficult to destroy them. Furthermore, they can easily spread to other members of the family by contaminating household furniture, toys, clothing and even the air. The utmost personal vigilance is therefore necessary to help drugs destroy the pinworm and cure the infection.

Through washing of the body every day, especially hands and nails before meals, careful soaking and sterilizing of bed linen and clothing plus the scrubbing of toilet seats and personal articles are a few of the measures doctors say should be taken.

Wrecks This Past Week

An Olton man was treated Sunday morning in the local hospital for face and head cuts which he received in an automobile wreck on State Road 137. He was Billy Walker who was a passenger of Charlie B. Bodkin who was driving South on the State road.

Dike Hardin, Jr., colored, was making a U turn on 137 to turn in on Bridges Street and was hit by the Olton car. Both cars damage was estimated to be around $800.

Claude Merritt and Frank Denton spent Wednesday fishing at Lake Thomas, Gail, Texas. It is much easier to get in debt than to get out of it—remember that.

"And What's Your Problem?"

Everyone has problems—real or imaginary. That's why even the make-believe problems raised on the entertaining, provocative CBS Radio show, "Make Up Your Mind" has struck such a responsive chord with the listening public.

The problems, sent in by listeners, take on interest when famous guest panelists have their say on a given situation. Then, the problem and suggested solutions are interpreted by a recognized guest psychologist. Among the personalities who have appeared and "made up their minds" are shown above (top, left to right): Wendy Barrie, actress, and authoress Ilka Chase. On the bottom, (left to right) are Composer-critic Deems Taylor and actor Zachary Scott.

Shown in the center above is Jack Sterling, master of ceremonies of the panel session and a fast man with a quip. He took over Arthur Godfrey's early morning stint on a New York station—and still is sitting in the cat bird seat. "Make Up Your Mind" is heard at 11:30 a.m. EDT.

1955 Cotton Allotment Data

We are compiling statistical records for the 1955 cotton allotment program. The community and county committeemen have the responsibility of selecting a percentage of the cropland in establishing the 1955 cotton allotment or a historical basis. It is anticipated that this decision will be made next week. We have been advised that within the next 15 days we will receive official notification of the allotment for the county for 1955. The tabulations, listing sheets and computations must be completed, and cotton allotments issued for each farm before the Cotton Marketing Quota Referendum which will be held not later than December 15, 1954.

Cotton Marketing Cards

Almost all cotton marketing have been mailed from this office. You should always take your marketing card when you sell cotton because the buyer is required to deduct 17.5 cents per pound each time he buys cotton from any producer who does not have a card. The card is also used by the clerk when preparing cotton loan notes so be sure to carry your marketing card at all times.

In case you have not received your card please call at this office so we can determine if the card was mailed to the correct address. In most cases cards were not sent to landlords since the cotton is usually sold by tenants, however we will be glad to furnish any landlord a card who wishes to sell his part of the cotton separately from the tenant.

ACP Practices sharing practices under ACP must make application and receive approval before the work is started in order to eligible for payment.

Veterans Day Is Same As Old Armistice Day

The American people became so use to referring to November 11th as Armistice Day, that it was hard to switch to calling it something else. After all, Armistice Day was just for World War I veterans, as that was the day on which the Central Powers surrendered to the Allies. Since that time, we have had time to engage in two more wars to keep up prosperity, World War II and the Korean "police action."

So by an act of the last Congress on June 1, 1954, an act was passed by that body, designating the same day, November 11th of each year, to be observed by veterans that engaged in all three conflicts or other wars. But the day is to be called Veterans Day instead.

The setup is headed by Secretary of Defense, Charles E. Wilson, and assisted by the heads of the American Legion, VFW's, Disabled Veterans, Marine Corps League, etc. The first Veterans Day will be Thursday, Nov. 11th.

WOMEN AND WHEELS

Learning To Drive? It's Not A Family Matter

By Mary Lou Chapman

If you are thinking of learning how to drive, avoid your husband as a teacher. That goes for Dad and Brother Bill, too.

A friend of the family would be much better than a relative. Ideally, you should go to a qualified driver-training school. Unless your husband, brother or father is just naturally a good teacher, he is apt to make you feel rather stupid as you learn.

("You don't know what NEUTRAL is?")

He is used to seeing his wife working efficiently around the house and may not understand why she can't pick up driving right off the bat. He may have forgotten the nervousness and uncertainty that he felt as a beginner. You may become nervous or angry. This reaction has completely destroyed the will of some wives to drive at all. One wife told the AAA, "We always had a squabble after every lesson, so I gave it up to keep peace in the family."

QUALIFIED TEACHER BEST
A friend who has a good driving record may be a better choice as an instructor, because he must be more tactful than your husband.

But neither a friend, husband or relative is as good as a qualified instructor for this important reason: The former are likely to pass on to the learner poor driving habits of their own. This may be unintentional, of course. But drivers—even good ones—are likely to have their personal driving habits which would be better left untaught to others. Here are a few of them:

"Creeping through" at stop streets instead of coming to a full stop. Making a "shoe button" turn, (that is before turning right, the driver veers out a little to the left and then turns right). There are almost as many other bad habits as there are drivers.

PLANNED INSTRUCTION
By contrast, the driving school is thoroughly equipped to handle the novice, will teach all the correct procedures, and the instructor will be patient and courteous because that is part of his job. And learning to drive under planned instruction usually turns out to be fun instead of an ordeal.

We recommend organized driver-training courses. Their instructors are carefully chosen for driving ability, calm personality and a good traffic record. They have also been trained in teaching methods.

MODERATE COST
The AAA, for example, gives a 12-hour course which costs $30.00, on the average. The lessons actually cost the AAA around $40.00, but, they make up the difference from their national dues because it is to their interest to promote better driving.

Of the twelve hours, four are classroom work and eight hours are spent on the road. Dual control cars are used, and only one student is taught at a time. You can learn to drive either with standard or automatic transmission. After the course is over, you should be capable of doing a good job of driving.

COMMERCIAL SCHOOLS
Commercial training schools are also available, and generally charge around $5.00 an hour. They usually do not have a set number of hours for the course, but let the customer take as many as needed. Eight hours road training is average.

The public high schools offer students driver-training courses. Students take them day-times during the school year, and adults can register for evening courses. Classes are divided into groups of twelve, and in general, the "off-street-area" system is used. Real traffic problems are set up and solved. The cars are donated by the various car dealer associations. There is one instructor for the group. The cost of this course is around $12.50, but at present, there is a long waiting list in most cities.

(Fashion writer, artist, and TV personality, Miss Chapman is a native of Detroit and has spent the last several years working with automobile stylists, designers and engineers at Chrysler Corporation.)

HERE'S HOW . . .

MAKE A BUNK BED

For the children's room, or the summer camp, bunk beds are space savers, and are easy to make.

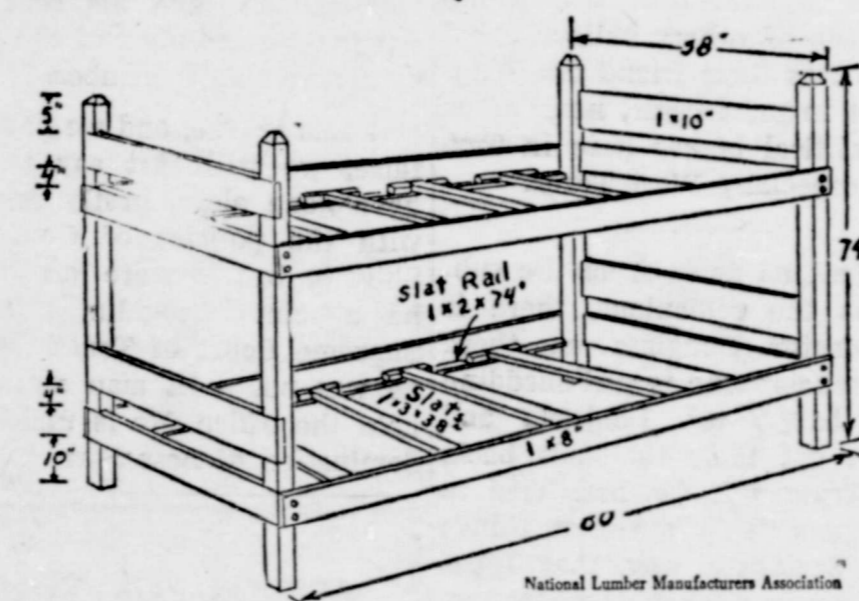

The bed posts are of 3 by 3-inch lumber, each 74 inches long. The dimensions below are easy to follow. The cuts for insertion of the head boards and end framing rails are 3/4-inch deep. Drill 1/4-inch holes for the bolts with which the side rails will be fastened later.

Bed-ends are assembled by gluing the head boards and end rails and securing them with No. 6, 1 1/2-inch wood screws, countersunk.

Side rails of 1 by 8-inch lumber, 80 inches long, are drilled to match the holes in the posts. To each side rail is added a slat-support rail, a strip of 1 by 2, 74 inches long, securely glued and screwed into place. Four pairs of glue blocks, placed 20 inches apart, provide 2 1/2-inch slots for the slats.

The completed side rails are bolted to the bed-end assemblies. The 8 slats are 1 by 3-inch lumber, each 38 inches long.

All sharp edges should be rounded or beveled.

Another Old Timer Takes Last Long Journey, October 14

Passing to the great beyond October 14th at 10:30 p.m. was S. F. (Sig) Lane, at the ripe age of 80 years. SO. PLAINS BOY SCOUT COUNCIL OPENS DRIVE IN 20 COUNTIES

The annual campaign for support of their operating budget was begun Monday morning, Oct. 18, in all of the communities of the twenty-county South Plains Council, Boy Scouts of America, with Bobby Jones heading the Brownfield drive.

Goal of this year's campaign is $100,000 divided up as $87,000 for the current operating expenses for 1955, and $13,000 for the development of Camp Haynes, which is located 10 miles northeast of Silverton, Texas; and for the purchase of canoes and row boats for a complete aquatic program; and a purchase of a mountain campsite for the use of all the troops in the twenty counties, the campsite to be located in the mountains of New Mexico.

Nearly 6,000 boys and over 2,000 adults make up the present membership of the South Plains Council, and it is anticipated the membership will gain approximately 15 percent over the present figure in 1955.

Over 1531 scouts and leaders attended long term summer camp this summer, which represents 51 percent of all the registered Boy Scouts and Explorers of the Council. One of the finest experiences ever offered to the boys of this area was the Green Badge training course put on at Camp Post for the junior leaders of the council which was one of the highlights of the 1954 summer.

Scouting has been in use by all of the communities of America during the last 45 years and it is a character building, citizenship training, and physical fitness program that has as its purpose the working with the home, the church, and the school in the proper training of the boyhood of this country. Nearly every community in the council has already started the process of setting up their local campaign organizations in their attempt to cooperate with all of the other communities in raising this sum of $100,000 to carry on and expand the Scouting program in these twenty counties of the South Plains of Texas during 1955.

The Scout program is a participating agency in community chests in the communities of Lubbock, Plainview, Lamesa, Hockley county, Seminole, Seagraves, Floyd county and Matador, while independent campaigns are held in all the other communities throughout the 20 counties.

Following the kick-off date Monday of Big Gifts, the General Solicitation will begin on Nov. 15.

ing was the result of a drinking brawl. Mable and Nathaniel came from Dallas to pick cotton for H. L. Strickland. They were staying on the Strickland farm with her brother-in-law, J. C. Warren and Frank (Cowboy) Royale. They drove to Big Springs to buy whiskey and beer, returned home and drank and played poker. Owens wanted to go to town for a hair cut, and they all came to the flats where J. C. Warren started to gamble. The police picked up Warren and fined him for gambling. While Warren was gone Owens moved the car and took the keys and left. When Mable came back she found the car was moved and the keys gone. Royale was sent to find Owens and get the keys so Mable could pick up her brother-in-law and return home.

There was a dispute between Mable and Owens about the keys and Owens left again. Mable picked up Warren after he paid his fine and returned for Royale and Owens at the flats. After Owens got in the car to return to the farm there was another dispute about who was going to drive. Owens was told he was too drunk to drive and angry he got into the back seat and Warren drove back to the farm.

About two blocks away, Mable said they ran over a rabbit and stopped to pick it up to cook for dinner. Once in the farm house she asked Owens to skin the rabbit for her, handing him the recently sharpened curved knife. Unwillingly he skinned the rabbit and threw it on the floor. Mable became angry and Owens hit her, and went into the other room and tried to pick a fight with Warren and Royale who ignored him. Returning to the kitchen he and Mable had some words and he hit her again knocking her to the floor, angry she reached for the knife and stabbed him in the chest. After seeing what she had done she became frightened and ran for their employer, Mr. H. L.

thing frivolous. Every penny of the intake goes right back into making Brownfield a better place to live. If this old paper did not sincerely believe that the Harvest Festival was not a grand thing for the community, we'd say so, so all could read. But the man or men who got the idea across back some seven or eight years ago, certainly had the betterment of the community in mind. So, keep in mind next Thursday, October 28th and let nothing frivolous keep you away.

No New Well But One Locations For Terry County

The new wells completed in the North Permian was rather low last week, even including Lea county New Mexico, as we are doing from this on, as Lea county is really a part of the North Permian basin. But for the benefit of readers not too familiar with this area, will say that Lea county, New Mexico, is about as large as five counties like Terry, for instance, which is 30 x 30 miles square. However Gaines and Andrews counties are 30 x 45 miles. Lea county is approximately 105 miles in length north and south, with an average width of 45 miles, east and west.

In completions last week, Andrews had 10, Garza 5, Yoakum 3, with Dawson, Gaines, Howard, Kent, Lamb and Scurry counties one each, making 24 on the Texas side with 9 on New Mexico side, total 33.

The new locations showed Andrews with 14, Howard 12, Scurry 3, Gaines and Garza 2 each, and Kent, King, Terry and Yoakum with one each.

Total for Texas side, 37, and 13 in Lea county N. M., making 50 new locations.

The lone Terry well was in the Cisco-State section of Terry, 10 miles south of Brownfield, to be drilled by Ohio Oil Co., on the Mrs. A. E. McBroom land, with rotary rig to 10,070 feet, at once. The Gutersloh well 11 miles south of town was finished early this week, with a potential flow of 364 barrels daily of 42 gravity oil. This was much less than we expected from early reports of around 37 barrels per hour.

Strickland. He advised they rush Owens to the hospital. They arrived about eleven and entered him as an emergency case. The following morning Sheriff Chick Lee went out to the Warren house and arrested Mable. It is understood that Owens has not pressed charges.

Local FFA Team Takes Top Honors At Kansas City

Brownfield's Future Farmers of America meat judging team was awarded a gold emblem Thursday night at National FFA Convention at Kansas City being named the top ranking team in that category. Members of the meat identification team include Duane Lewis, John Tuttle and John Milburn, and Alton Massingill, all of Brownfield, with Ves Hicks, as coach.

Duane Lewis, was among four South Plains FFA youths honored at a breakfast Wednesday of last week given for the Santa Fe Foundation winners throughout the nation. This was held in conjunction with the national convention. They were accompanied by their instructor, Ves Hicks.

The other three boys were Norman Tueck of Canyon, Bud Hale of Lamesa, and George Harris of Lubbock. These youths were named Santa Fe winners last summer at area conventions at Tulia and Lamesa, and their convention expenses were paid by the Santa Fe Railroad.

Brownfield FFA's state meats judging team, which won top judging honors last summer competed with teams from throughout the nation at 8:30 a.m. Wednesday at the American Royal building for national honors.

Sixteen South Plains-Panhandle schools had representatives at the convention, namely, Lubbock, Cooper, Lamesa, Whiteface, Claude, Lockney, Hale Center, Texas Tech, Plainview, Gruver, Canyon, Hereford, Shamrock, Levelland, Lorenzo, and Floydada.

The Brownfield Future Farmers placed in the Gold Emblem Group, and were in the five top teams out of 32 States. They returned Sunday.

Terry Farm Bureau Will Stage Bar-B-Q

Even with this shortage, harvest is getting into full swing. Mr. Jones also says, that there is a shortage of general help in Terry County. Unemployment has dropped since beginning of fall harvest.

Bales ginned in Terry County week ending October 15th, 3,348. Yoakum County, 1,310. Total bales ginned in the two counties through the 14th of Oct. 9,264.

ferent type of man from Parr, down in the Dutchy of Duval, in south Texas. For many years, he not only controlled the destinies of Memphis and Shelby county, but on occasion, he with his heavy Memphis vote, controlled the statewide elections of Tenn.

However, we have a lot of close kinfolks who have lived in that city many years, and all seem to think Crump governed wisely and well. That Memphis and Shelby county had a good, well conducted administration of financial and improvement policies, and that one and all were justly taxed in their bracket. And Shelby county had one of the best county penal farms in the nation. Didn't we borrow Mr. Ellis, head of their farm for many years, to come to Texas and get our own State penal system out of the red and under steady improvement?

The dailies showed a picture of an older, well up in his 80ties, sitting, and unshakably shedding tears at the funeral of Boss Crump. He had worked for years for the city government and like thousands of others believed that Crump was their friend and helper. But in most cases, none of us like political bosses here in Texas - especially West Texas.

To jerk us down from the sublime to the ridiculous, there is old Senator Douglass up there in "Eleanois" who is still shedding tears that Texas, Louisiana and Florida got their tidelands back, after Truman & Co. had tried to steal them. That old goat thinks in his Socialistic way, that Texas and Louisiana should whack up with their tidelands oil and leases with the rest of the country for school purposes.

With what Texas and Louisiana are getting, it make a nice addition to the school funds, but if divided up with the other 46 states, the sum would hardly be noticed. Texas is not asking Illinois to whack up with us on their steel and other natural resources.

That belongs to them.

And while we are about the matter, and trying to fit things contrary to nature, why couldn't some of that rain that caused disastrous floods up in Ohio, fallen on the dry forests of east Texas, where disastrous fires are now sweeping along, destroying valuable timber?

If you want our opinion, a Wiser man than we, fixed this old country many ages ago, and it will always remain thus. We shall have our forests, rivers and prairies, the later mostly denuded of trees. We shall have our Mississippi and Ohio and other valleys with a rainfall of 45 to 60 inches per year. On the other hand we shall have our semi-arid sections like this, with around 15 to 20 inches of rainfall per year.

While so far man has been unable to increase the rainfall to any noticeable extent, a Wise Father does not prevent man from going down after water, or damming streams to provide water to make crops, even in the most arid sections. When man was kicked out of the Garden of Eden, where everything was provided, he was told to go forth and labor and replenish the earth, by the sweat of his brow.

So, no limitations was put on the human race about making improvements on nature.

Last but finally for the column this week, is the report that Gov. Shivers is said to be thinking of appointing C. Woodrow Laughlin down in old Duval to fill out a term of office as District Judge until Jan. 1, when Laughlin is supposed to take his seat from nomination in July and the general election in November.

If this is true, and we hope it is false, we will just say that we have gone along pretty regularly with the policies of Gov. Allen Shivers, but we are off him if he appoints Laughlin, after the Supreme Court of Texas declared he was not a fit man morally to hold the office. He is under the domination of Boss Parr.

PAGEANT TO CELEBRATE 50 YEARS OF CO. HISTORY

Newcomers, as well as those who have made Terry County home for years; are looking forward to the Pageant to be presented at Cub Stadium on the evening of October 28th, from 8 until 10.

This group of scenes, portraying fifty years of history, is being presented by the Rotary Club as the climax to the greatest festival ever planned by this hard working group. The crowning of the Queen will take place on the center stage, immediately following the Pageant.

Two side stages, one an indoor, the other an outdoor scene; will be used for the presentation; and on these stages, more than two hundred actors will appear during the evening.

One of the most unusual scenes will depict the coming of the settlers to Terry County; and, in the old wagons and buggies which have survived from that early day; many descendants from old pioneer families, will ride.

will feature Brownfield's first schoolroom; and many of Brownfield's small fry are busily turning themselves into replicas of their grandmothers and grandfathers for this event.

Still another highlight, for the old timers, will be a number by Pappy Johnny's first band. In this, five of his original hands-men will appear, bolstered by some of the high school band.

Bernie Howell and his orchestra will furnish the music, and Mrs. L. M. Wingerd is in charge of the direction, and observers of past shows which she has directed, will know that the evening hours from 8 to 10 will be filled with good singing and dancing, as well as highlights from Terry County history.

The Rotary invites all to attend.

You Will Get A New Type Of Phone Bill

A different, new type telephone bill will reach telephone subscribers in Brownfield this month, according to Paul M. Farrar, district manager for General Telephone Company of the Southwest.

The new bill comes through subscriber telephone billing by mechanical equipment, which will eventually be put into operation in all 242 Company exchanges.

In describing the bills, Farrar stated they are about the weight of a postcard, compared with the paper bills of the past. They are 7 1/4 inches long by 3 1/4 inches high and are not folded as were the former bills. General's new insignia appears on the new bills, which are printed in green.

The manager added that the new bills, like the old ones, have a stub. This stub must be returned with the payment, he continued, and must not be bent or mutilated by the subscriber since a mutilated sub cannot be returned through the machine for accounting purposes. He stressed that the more stubs returned with the bill payments, the more efficient and economical will be the Company's operation.

Subscriber billing by mechanical accounting equipment is described by the district manager as "another milestone of progress by General Telephone Company." "This new billing method is the result of many months of study and will enable us to prepare bills more efficiently and economically," he stated.

He concluded by inviting subscribers with questions about their new bills to call the local business office of the telephone company.

Went To See The Crops Sunday P.M.

Got out awhile in the fine fall weather Sunday P. M., to look at the good crops, especially in west Terry and east Yoakum counties. We want to say here and now, that with a few exceptions, where the crop was neglected by the man with the plow and hoe, we saw some mighty fine crops on that drive, both cotton and feed.

Our route took us into eastern Yoakum, and it was our intention to take the F-M road from 380, via Bennett, but we evidently turned off too soon. At the time we remarked to Jack Jr. that we did not know they had oil wells so close to the highway. We soon found we had turned off two or three miles too soon. But we were glad as we got to view out some new territory. This road finally made a juncture with the other F-M, both being paved, before we reached the site of the first oil well brought in over in Yoakum county.

After hitting the F-M road to Wellman, we traversed it to that place, thence over 51 in home. In sections of the area traversed, we saw cotton and maize that was almost up to the irrigation portions of the county, with cotton waist high, and full of bolls, open and not open. With maize headed and ready for the combine, or just combined. Heads heavy and thick. But as we stated above, there are some fields now and then that they sure have a fine crop of cockleburrs and other weeds, including tumble weeds.

Such fields almost make one sick to look at them, but they are the exception and not the rule. But it is discouraging perhaps to view a nice crop on one side of the road, and a field taken by weeds on the other. One just has to wonder what the guy that pretended to work the field was doing, and what he could have made if he had possessed the energy and determination of his neighbor across the road.

One untoward thing that happened on the rounds, was that just as we had a lid full of Sweet Garrett, when our hat blew off, and we dumped about a half box of the snuff on and in the front seat. Jr. lost no time stopping that car on the shoulder of the highway, and all but the Old He piled out. We had to remove that snuff ourselves.

But we enjoyed seeing the crops.

RECENT LEGISLATION ON WHEAT ALLOTMENT EXPLAINED

By Looe Miller

Farmers who have wheat acreage allotments of less than 15 acres may plant as much as 15 acres of wheat in 1955 and have their other crops eligible for price support Carl Golden, Chairman of the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee said September 15. However, exceeding the farm wheat acreage allotment will make the wheat from the farm ineligible for price support.

This means, he explains, that farmers with small wheat acreage allotments can produce 15 acres of wheat and have their other crops, including such allotment crops as corn, tobacco, cotton, and peanuts, eligible for price support. However, farmers with a wheat allotment of less than 15 acres who want their other crops eligible for price support must comply with all other crop acreage allotments and stay within the 1952-53 average acreage of vegetables, potatoes, and sweet potatoes (for the fresh market or processing) and dry edible beans on the farm to have any of the crops eligible for price support.

Recent legislation provides that farmers who plant in excess of any of their crop acreage allotments be given an opportunity to adjust their acreage before harvest. Any wheat acreage used for hay, silage, pasture, as a green manure or cover crop will not be considered as wheat in determining compliance with acreage allotments for the wheat marketing quota program or for determination of eligibility for price support.

Mr. Golden also reminds farmers that farms with a wheat acreage of 15 acres or less are exempt from wheat marketing quota penalties.

ACP Funds Not Reduced

The U. S. Department of Agriculture September 20 explained that the September 15 announcement eliminating compliance with total acreage allotments as a requirement for eligibility for price supports in 1955 in no way will reduce funds authorized for the 1955 Agricultural Conservation Program.

The September 15 action does not eliminate the previously announced program to influence the use of diverted acres, it was explained, but simply modifies it to the extent and "total" acreage allotments are no longer required. The provision of compliance with individual crop acreage allotments (cross compliance) as a condition for eligibility for price supports remains in effect. Cross compliance observance also is a requirement for ACP payment eligibility.

In authorizing the 1955 ACP, the Congress conditioned the $55 million increase over the 1954 appropriation (from $195 to $250 million) on the development of a program for use of acreage diverted from crop production because of acreage allotments. Under the plan originally announced, these diverted acres could not have been used for certain crops. Under the September 15 announcement, the cross compliance controls are still in effect, but diverted acres may now be planted to anything the farmer wishes, except another allotment crop, or a group including commercial vegetables, potatoes and sweet potatoes, and dry beans.

There will continue to be wide opportunity for much needed agricultural conservation work on these diverted acres — some 35 to 40 million of them — it was explained. It will be in furtherance of this work that ACP will dedicate a large part of the 1955 funds.

ACP Funds Still Available

The County Committee at their last meeting increased the amount that each producer can earn up to $800.00. This includes all practices carried out on the farm in 1954. However, this does not include the special Wind Erosion Practices carried out and all farmers who anticipate carrying out Cost Sharing Practices in 1954 must make their request before starting a practice and this should be done now while funds are still available.

So you want to be STRONG

Remember this: "Some folks just naturally wouldn't want a Farm Bureau as strong as all farmers working together could make it."

It is so easy to be "Against" things—A few loud voices can do farmers a lot of damage. Indeed, it is quite another thing for "Loud Voices" to be "for Something" and make it work.

Farmers, through Farm Bureau, have never made a policy of attacking any program without first advancing a better program. WHAT HAVE YOU DONE TO MAKE IT WORK? Do you exert your thinking in shaping policy making resolutions? Do you attend meetings?

Do you accept responsibilities of holding community and county office?

Do you accept committee assignments?

"Loud Voices" don't attack, criticize, and destroy that which they have helped to build.

The American Creed

We believe in the United States of America as a government of the people, by the people, for the people, whose just powers are derived from the consent of the governed; a democracy in a republic; a sovereign nation of many states; a perfect union, one and inseparable established upon these principles of freedom—equality, justice and humanity, for which American patriots have sacrificed their lives and fortunes.

—Terry County Herald.

The passing of Senator Harley Saddle, of Abilene this past week cast a shadow of gloom over the entire state, and especially West Texas. There never was anything that came up for the betterment of the area, but that Harley Saddle was in there, with might and main, fighting for the best interests of all concerned. Of course the most of us remember Saddle most vividly some two decades ago, as a showman. His tent shows, with the old time plays that were of a moral tone, were shown for several nights in each town visited. And so well known was Saddle and his splendid wife, Billie, on the stage or off, that generally speaking even out in this area, which at that time was sparsely settled, his tent performances were packed, weather permitting. In our days, we have attended a number of his shows, and as we usually had a press pass, we attended just about all of them in Brownfield. In all that time, we never saw one of his plays staged, that the moral was questionable, or that any of the actors or actresses so dressed or undressed, we should say, as to cause raised eyebrows from the most moral. This was also true of Saddle, when he met you on the streets or in your place of business. He don't remember that Saddle ever came to Brownfield but that he failed to call some time during the week to have a nice quiet chat with us. His talks were not so much about the show business, but things in general that were of concern to the community, state or nation at that time. His conversations on any line were always clean. We don't remember that we ever heard him use the Lord's name in vain, or that he ever made use of the indecent and vulgar. He just was not cut out that way. The story of his life, however seems to show that he ran away from home, when a youth, and followed, carnivals for several years, before returning home, and attending an old college at Albany. But the show business was in his blood, and for several years he formed a partnership with Brunk's Comedian Company. He, however finally formed his own aggregation, and he always played the part of "Toby," the backwoods youth, and did so to perfection. He represented the Sweetwater district in the legislature for some time, before moving to Abilene, where he was elected as Representative, and later as State Senator, and was elected without opposition in July for a four year term as Senator from that district. He always worked for the best interest of his district, especially along the line of soil, water and oil conservation.

We don't believe that in our lifetime, there has been so much whoop, holler and halabalo raised over Congressional and Senatorial elections in the USA. The Republicans seem to think that if that party does not have a congress, GOPers of course, all lined up with them, the nation is headed for the eternal bow-wows. On the other hand, it appears that the Demos have an idea that if they do not control the next congress, the nation is headed for salt river in a hurry. There is a lot of this matter to take with a grain of salt, and it appears to us that is just what the average voter is doing. In fact, all the fire and excitement and name callings has been with the higher bracket politicians, and not with the man from the forks of the creek. In fact, most people are more concerned with making an honest livelihood, and to get the dough to pay their high taxes, jammed on them to pore down rat holes in every low class nation under the sun. It also appears to most of us as ordinary citizens that the leaders of both parties have run into the notion that we should be one worlders, and that it is our duty and obligation to run all over the world to defend with the lives of our young men, the freedom of every nation on the globe, whether those nations know what it is all about or not. As far as Texas as well as most of the south is concerned, we believe this section of our nation will send men of honesty and integrity to the halls of congress, most of which are Democrats of the old Jeffersonian stripe. The kind of folks that believe in each State controlling most of its affairs without the advise and direction of the federal government. Here is going to be the trouble with the next congress. It will depend to a large extent on who is elected from the north and east, Democrats or Republicans. Will they be the rattle-brained, egg-heads that will cater to every whim of the pressure groups, or will they be men who will seek to be a representative of all the people? Most of us believe in giving all a square deal, the pressure groups included, and especially those who are not tightly organized and have no leadership. We are hoping that the people will not be frustrated with high sounding oratory, and elect men who will not be for the best interest of all the people. We hope the people carefully select their representative, and elect men or women who will have the best interests of the entire nation at heart.

Speaking of the queer things that broach out in politics during a hot campaign, there are many things that are transferred from a molehill to a mountain that few others would pay the least mind to, except on an election year. Take the matter of dogs, recently started rather innocently by Defense Secretary, Wilson. His talk about the bird dog that got out and rustled, or the kennel fed mutt that elected to remain in his house and starve, was just about as foolish thing as we ever heard of to get into a big hallabalo over. But there are some people, especially those who are members of some pressure group, will take exceptions to most anything that is said concerning anything, man or animal, that sorter depends on Uncle Santa Claus to look to their every need. For that reason, not only the hell for leather Democrats, but some of the union bosses, broke loose and howled worse than the kennel fed dog was supposed to howl for his dinner. No one with much reason ever thought to compare the laboring man with a dog, physically, and we feel sure Wilson had no such thought. Wilson, like many other of our nation's leaders, did not come up in the top pot, but made their way by hard work, close application to business, and seeking at all times to serve their stockholders, and at the same time produce something that the people want. In other words, most of our great industrialists have come up the hard way. They were not exactly born with the silver spoon in their mouth, but came up by their own efforts. Let us take just a few lines that Mr. Wilson is reported to have made only recently enunciated in a statement: "Too many people get a vested interest in war, and that's not good. I think it is better that a boy has to go 100 miles to look for a job than to have to go to Korea to fight." That doesn't sound like a man who has no sympathy for the human race, does it? On the other hand, we remember that once President Roosevelt made some kind of a comparison of his pet dog, Fala, that was taken up with a hue and cry by the Republican opposition, when as a matter of fact, the statement never meant what a lot of folks tried to make it mean. Dogs are like humans; some of them have good traits and some bad. Some dogs, when they become hungry get out in the fields and woods and rustle for themselves, while others will expect their masters to put up the gaff. We just wonder why people get into such a rut of thinking, that they suspect that every little bit of non-sense uttered is thrown at them.

Much has been said and written in the past few years, trying to place the blame for juvenile delinquency, which is the headache that all the larger cities and towns are having to face presently. To begin the matter, we have never followed the lead of some that think just about all the young people of the land are mean and lowdown, and should be shot or hung. Perhaps delinquency and crime among younger people has risen percentage wise in the past few years, but in most places, the people are getting together to try one means or another to counteract youth delinquency. Some people, who are so inclined anyway, and don't think much of churches anyway, are laying this trouble at the door of the church. But that is a foolish thing to even consider. There never has been a time in the world's history that the church used force to make people attend, or even tried to control their conduct, when not at church. Just as the church is sustained by freewill offerings, so are their adherents allowed to attend regularly, irregularly, or just when the notion to attend hit them. Nor do we follow the line of some that the schools are to blame. In most schools, if not all, the scholarship must obey rules and regulations while in the buildings or on the grounds of the schools some six hours of five days a week. But when the pupils leave the grounds of the school, they are not supposed to be under the jurisdiction of the faculty. They then become amenable to their parents. And right there in the home environs is where most, if not all the blame for children becoming unruly should and ought to be placed. For the first six years of the life of children, they are amenable to the rules and regulations of the home, if such things are practiced. Many of the officers of the law will agree with this, as they have to deal with the delinquent when they get into trouble. Of course such officers creak with the homes of these people, and know pretty well what care and instruction the child gets while growing up. These officials tell us that many of the parents of delinquent children are somewhat delinquent themselves. Often they leave the home, and get out for a good time, leaving the children to their own idea of entertainment, which is more often bad than good. For this very reason, we don't believe the people of Brownfield and Terry County should lose sight of the fact that we should build places of innocent entertainment and amusement for our own young people. While we build good roads and schools, let's spend part of our money for community centers, etc. Also, they get a lot of stuff to read that never should have been printed.

As we promised some time ago, we are going to make an effort to give at least one editorial a month to safety, and careful driving, on the highways and elsewhere. And included in this, will be just a bit of caution to farmers, as the farms are now equipped with power machinery, and the death rate from accidents have gone skyward in the past two decades. Back in the good old days, if you like to say that, when old Pete and Dobbin constituted the power on the farm, there were few accidents, especially in this section. Back further east, where there is timber, several would get careless, and get killed or hurt in cutting timber. The writer was among that number. Back when horses or mules were worked on the Terry county farms, we remember very few accidents. One young man was killed on a ranch soon after we arrived here, and a few other more or less seriously hurt. It seems that the most danger in those days was farmers staying in the fields, and especially on their cultivators, when a thunder storm would come up. A few in this section were killed by lightning striking the cultivator on which the farmer was riding. There has been a lot of stuff added to the homes of the farmers since that period that are dangerous to all the family if carelessly handled. Most homes in the rural sections now have electricity in the homes, as well as power pumps, and they can cause much grief if not handled with care. But it is on the streets and highways that most of the agony and grief comes to our community. While some of it seemingly is unavoidable, a lot of it is caused by fast and careless driving or both. Hardly a week passes that the community is not thrown into grief over the untimely death of some person or child. Some of this could have been avoided with proper precaution. In case where there are small children, it is always best to check on where each one is, before moving a car or any motor vehicle. They will sometime be at the most unlikely places, when perhaps we have an idea that they are somewhere else. Many tots are killed annually, because they dart out from behind another car or some other object directly in the path of a moving car. Many times the drivers in such instances are not to blame, and again, they may be going too fast, or looking at something or other on the other side of the street. At best, we always have to be on our guard with both eyes wide open as we navigate the streets, especially if we are near a church or school, when in session.

As we promised some time ago, we are going to make an effort to give at least one editorial a month to safety, and careful driving, on the highways and elsewhere. And included in this, will be just a bit of caution to farmers, as the farms are now equipped with power machinery, and the death rate from accidents have gone skyward in the past two decades. G. I. QUESTIONS

Q—I am an ex-WAC, planning to attend school under the Korean GI Bill. My husband is working. Will VA pay me the added GI allowance for a veteran with dependents, even though he is working?

A—No. You could claim the added allowance for your husband only if he were in fact dependent upon you.

Q—As a member of the Reserves, I receive pay for attending weekly meetings and going on active duty two weeks each year. Will this pay be deducted from the monthly allowance I receive as a student in college under the Korean GI Bill?

A—No. Reserve pay will not be deducted from your GI allowance. Neither will any other outside earnings you may receive. Under the law, the monthly allowance for school-going veterans remains the same, regardless of outside income of any kind.

Q—I have a permanent GI insurance policy which lapsed several months ago. To reinstate, I understand I will have to pay all back premiums. Will I also be required to pay interest on the premiums?

A—Yes. You will be required to pay interest at the stipulated rate for your type of policy.

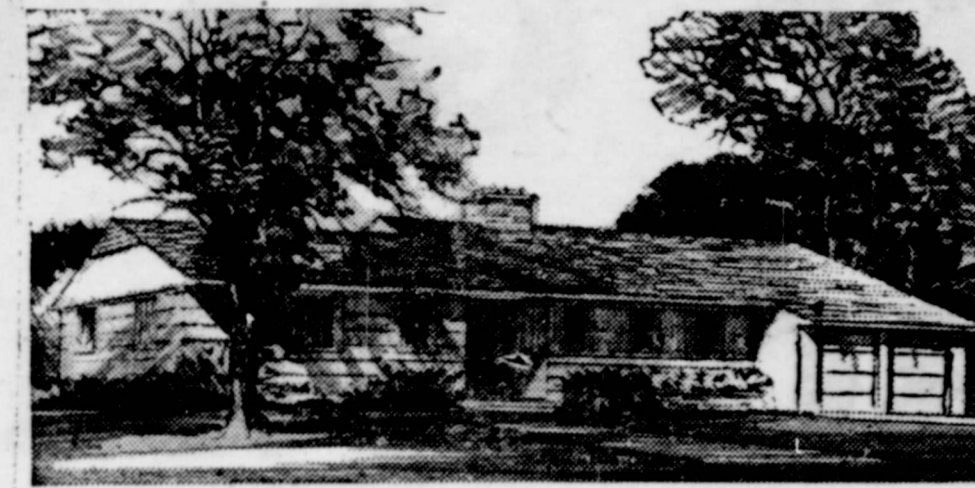

Q—I am thinking about paying the additional premium on my GI insurance policy, so that if I become totally disabled for six months or more I will receive a monthly payment from VA. If I should become disabled, would these payments I receive be deducted from the face amount of the policy?

A—No. Monthly payments for total disability for which you are paying extra premiums do not decrease the face amount of your GI insurance policy.

MARKET GRAIN SORGHUM THROUGH HOGS

A suggestion on how to market part of the big grain sorghum crop on the South Plains is given in the November issue of The Progressive Farmer magazine. In her article "Sell Sorghum Through Hogs," Mrs. Louise Allen points out that some farmers have found they can increase their profits on grain by feeding it to livestock.

Dave Eaton, Lamb County Agent, explains three reasons farmers may turn to hogs: (1) Diverted acreage furnishes pasture; (2) With a hogsurplus of grain, they can make more money through hogs than on the open market; and (3) There may be no other place to go with the grain.

New FORD THUNDERBIRD

A personal car of distinction
...with Trigger-Torque performance

You'll be delighted at the wealth of conveniences the Thunderbird offers. Two tops are available: a disappearing fabric top... and an easy-to-lift-on hard top. The extra-wide vinyl upholstered seat is foam-rubber-cushioned... power-operated 4 ways. Windows roll up... by power, if you like. There is a tachometer... and a clock with a sweep second hand. There is a telescoping steering wheel. And you can have power steering and power brakes.

Something totally fresh is here—a bewitching new all-steel beauty that sets the styling keynote for other Ford cars to come.

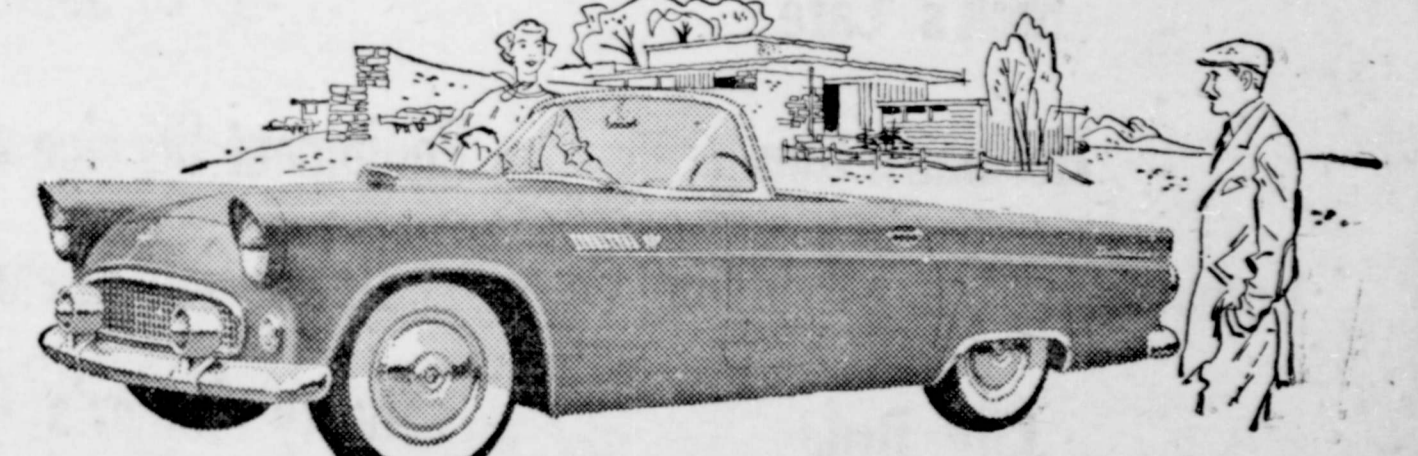

But, styling gives the merest hint of what the Thunderbird has to offer. In traffic and on the open road the Thunderbird's Trigger-Torque performance is literally a revelation. Here is hair-trigger response... fleet, liquid agility... backed by a reserve of swift, sure power to meet safety's every demand. Trigger-Torque performance stems from Ford's new Thunderbird Special V-8—a high-torque engine with 4-barrel carburetor, dual exhausts, wide-opening valves and Ford's famous low-friction design. And you can have the Thunderbird with the transmission of your choice—Conventional, Overdrive, or new Speed-Trigger Fordomatic.

Ford's Ball-Joint Front Suspension not only velvet-cushions your ride, it also allows the Thunderbird to handle with utmost ease—to corner with greatest stability.

But, more important, the Thunderbird is the product of the same advanced engineering... the same manufacturing skills that have made Ford products so dependable, so value-full and so desirable to so many.

HEALTH HORIZONS

Increasing Mental Alertness: A Simple Key

A simple way to improve your work output and mental alertness is suggested by recent studies at the College of Medicine of the State University of Iowa.

The scientists' prescription for this improvement will probably surprise you. They have no new magic formula, and it's no expensive treatment. All they recommend is that you eat a good, sensible breakfast. They have found this by comparing the mental and physical efficiency of many groups during periods when they ate breakfast, and when they didn't. All their tests have shown that people, from young school boys to older men and women, show up best when they eat breakfast.

Fuel for Your Motor

This is as logical as it is simple. You wouldn't expect a motor to start without fuel, or to run most efficiently on inferior fuel. Your body and mind need fuel too—and that's food—especially after a long night's fast. Yet many of us think of breakfast as unimportant—rush off to a day's work with only a cup of coffee and a bite of toast. That's hardly being fair to ourselves, as you can see from the latest study of Dr. W. W. Tuttle and his associates at Iowa.

In this study 25 boys cooperated. It lasted for 26 weeks, divided alternately into two- or three-week periods of breakfast and no-breakfast. All this time, records were kept of the boys' work rate, work output, and school marks. When the test was over, two and two were put together, and here's what the scientists found: (1) Maximum work rate and maximum work output decreased during no-breakfast periods, and increased when the boys did eat breakfast. (2) Scholastic records improved during the periods when the boys had three, instead of two, meals a day. (3) Even the attitude toward school work improved during the breakfast-eating weeks; instead of being "careless, languid and listless during the late morning hours," the boys showed interest.

Start the Day Right

These improvements—in groups of all ages, remember, in previous studies—didn't result from a greater amount of food, because there was no difference. During the "no-breakfast" weeks, other meals were made a bit larger, to make the calorie intake the same. The difference is simply in starting the day right, with enough breakfast to supply muscles and mind with working power.

Mrs. J. J. Atkinson left Saturday morning for Abilene where she will visit a few weeks with her daughters, Mrs. Jesse Barnes and Mrs. H. B. Beights.

Did You Note The Mustache On Old Kyle's Lips?

Met up with Kyle Graves over at the PO 'tother day, and about the first thing we noted was that he was growing a big mustache on his upperlip. As this was something new to us with Kyle, we up and asked the reason.

As you may have already observed in your daily, old Erath county and Stephenville, Kyle's old home town, are to observe their 100th anniversary soon. And every mother's son of them must have a beard of some kind, or suffer the consequences.

Well, Kyle would not miss going for the world, and he doubts that he has enough friends left down there to stake him to a heavy fine in money.

Old Time Printer & Publisher Calls

Another unexpected visitor this week was Willard Bright, a printer from boyhood, having learned the trade down in the Cisco section, and at one time was the editor and owner of the Gaines County News at Seagraves. Willard still wears that old time grin.

Presently Willard is working on a paper at Beeville, Texas. It is his vacation time, he stated, and he decided to come up and see how every little thing was coming along up on the bawldies.

Always glad to see that smiling mug of yours, Willard.

Mrs. Rosetta Roberts and daughter, Nel, of Coahoma, were up last week visiting their daughters and sisters, Mrs. Fred Smith and Mrs. Anna Belle Lay, and other relatives. They even paid the Stricklins a short call. Always in a hurry to get back to ol' "Coer-hommer."

Where In Heck Did That Fish Come From

We seldom ever lock the front door, and never the Frigidaire, but some one unbeknownst to us slipped in some time Monday, and deposited a nice fish, already for the frying pan, and about a foot long in the freezer compartment of the food container.

No note was found so it left us to do some tall guessing. Who had been off fishing of late? The first couple we thought of was Luther and Bessie Cruce, who used to live just across the street from us, but have moved into their fine new home down on Cardwell.

Anyway we thank them for that whooping big bass.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our friends and loved ones for the many kindnesses shown us during the recent death of our mother and grandmother, Mrs. Georgie Ellis, who died Thursday, Oct. 14 in Lubbock and was buried in Tahoka cemetery. We are grateful for the foods and flowers that were sent.

We wish to thank the people of Brownfield community for their many acts of kindness extended us in the passing of our son, and grandson, Harry James Bryant. May God bless each of you.

Your New Car Upholstery Can Be Cleaned Easily

By Mary Lou Chapman.

If Junior and his muddy-pawed puppy race through the car and fret too much about it. There are methods to clean both mud and chocolate off the upholstery.

The most important point to remember is to clean spots and stains as soon as they occur. Don't let them set, or they'll be harder to remove. carbon tetrachloride, and evaporates rapidly. Do not pour the fluid on the seat, but dampen a cloth with it and use a slight stroking motion on the fabric. Carpets can be cleaned with the same fluid.

OTHER STAINS
Candy, fruit, ice-cream or beverage stains can usually be removed with very hot water. Don't be too liberal with the hot water, however. It should only be used directly on the stained area to loosen it up. Follow with fabric cleaner.
On chocolate stains use lukewarm water. Follow with cleaner.
Blood or nausea should be sponged as quickly as possible with clear cold water, followed by a washing with luke-warm water. Rinse with cold water.

Lipstick, chewing gum, tar, grease and oil can best be removed with fabric cleaner or spot remover, using a dull knife first to scrape off excess quantities.

BRUSH THOROUGHLY
Fabrics should first be brushed thoroughly to remove embedded dirt and dust. Nylon, leather and synthetic leather upholstery can be sponged off with semi-dry suds made from a pure soap. Be careful not to saturate the seat with too much water. Next rub gently with a damp cloth (moistened with clear water) and finish with a clean, dry cloth.

For upholstery of wool, broadcloth or rayon composition, your dealer's dry cleaning fluid should be used. This usually contains

Brownfield stays at home next Friday to meet Kermit in Brownfield's first District 6-AA game of the season. The Tahoka Bulldogs go to Post for a District 5-AA game.

Some who attended the game stated that Brownfield appeared to get over-confident, as they were leading at the half. But the Bulldogs are known to be tough little fellows:

And the Cubs will have one of the toughest teams in West Texas, when she takes on the Kermit Yellow Jackets tonight. However, Kermit barely oozed out the tough Artesia, N. M., team, last Friday night, 25 to 20.

MEET YOUR MINISTER, Bro. Bill Andrews, minister of the Southside Church of Christ, and wife moved here in August, 1953, from Honey Grove, Texas, where he had worked with the church for 1½ years. Bro. Andrews attended Freed-Hardeman College in Henderson, Tenn., Austin College, Sherman, Texas, and Southwestern State College at Durant, Okla. This summer, Bro. Andrews conducted revivals in Whitesboro and Dodd City, Texas, and preached in Detroit, Mich., while on vacation there. He enjoys many hobbies relating to music, as his college majors were Bible and music, and he owns an extensive collection of records, taking especial pride in the operatic aria selections. The Andrews enjoy attending home and college football games and baseball games. The couple is shown above in their living room of the parsonage at 703 Old Lamesa Road. (Staff Photo).

HEALTH HORIZONS

Your Suntan—Healthy or Not?
When you go on vacation, do you try to squeeze a whole year's quota of sunlight into two weeks? Many of us make that mistake and, according to the skin specialists, it can have "disastrous" results, either immediately or far in the future. A severe overdose of sunlight can lead to symptoms including delirium and shock—which may mean death—and constant over-exposure may cause skin cancer, says Dr. Ray O. Noojin, Professor of Dermatology at the Medical College of Alabama.

Seashore Tips
People who are unaccustomed to the seashore often do not realize that they are exposing themselves to a double dose of sun's rays—the direct rays plus those reflected by water. Also, "moisture in sea air is thought to increase susceptibility to sunburn by softening the outer layer of the skin..." says Dr. Noojin.

A cloudy day may be especially dangerous. You may not see the sun, but it's there, and the rays can penetrate clouds. An umbrella doesn't give complete protection at the beach, either, because you may still be burned by reflected light rays. When you know you've had enough sun for the day, but still want to stay on the beach, cover up. "Adequate clothing is the safest and best way" to prevent burning.

For women, Dr. Noojin has this warning: "Sunburn may occur more readily on the first day of the menstrual cycle and from the second to the seventh month of pregnancy." Apparently gland function influences the susceptibility of the skin at these times.

EDUCATION FOR FREEDOM

John Leighton Stuart, American ambassador to China during the years in which America lost China to the Communists, has written a book, "Fifty Years in China." Among other things the book reveals that a factor in the loss of China was the Communists' ability to hoodwink an important number of teachers and students in China's colleges and universities. Ambassador Stuart, who was president of Yenching University for 27 years, confesses that he himself had a "rude awakening" about the Communists after they victoriously entered Nanking.

"The Communist propaganda was exceedingly skillful," he wrote in describing the events preceding the Red victory. "And the Kuomintang (anti-Communist government) propaganda was incredibly stupid..." Student strikes and demonstrations, many of them Communist instigated, became more frequent.

A Red Target

It is well to observe that wherever the Communists have sought to seize control of a nation from within, they have worked hard to win over the teachers and students with propaganda. Students misled by Red propaganda paraded in Guatemala for the Communists. They paraded in China. They have paraded and rioted for the Reds in nation after nation. Why have teachers and students in these nations been such easy prey for the Communist propagandists? It's an important question. Here are a few thoughts on it:

Teachers represent a profession built largely upon scholarship — education out of books and life in the cloistered atmosphere of the campus. Communist writers are cunning; they paint glowing pictures of a "paradise" for "the intellectual workers" — as the teachers are called. Students are immature, with plastic minds. The crooked Communist propaganda promises an idealistic world of comparative ease, without conflict, and with economic plenty for all. In so many countries, the students and teachers getting this Communist come-on have not developed a genuine respect for the existing governmental and economic system, whatever its merits or demerits may be. Therefore, they have little, if any, resistance against the propaganda.

In America Too

The Communists and Socialists in America have directed much of their propaganda at students and teachers. That's why I have been recommending for years that we strengthen American citizenship education throughout our entire school system. Several years ago the Brookings Institution searched for but failed to find a single high school or college economics textbook which favorably compared the American private enterprise system with other systems. Recently, however, of texts now in use have been studied. Some of the books contain brazen propaganda against the American system; others subtly undermine basic American principles. It is a genuine pleasure to find a book written by persons who obviously love America and respect its constitution and basic economic principles. Such a book is Fundamentals of Citizenship, an eighth grade civics textbook, by Laidlaw Brothers, publishers.

Good Teachings
It unashamedly teaches the need for "moral fitness" — the age-old educators have been demanding textbooks which contain the favorable facts about our system. At Harding College in Searcy, several textbook projects are underway. In these projects scores

G. L. Blough and David S. Swit-virtues of honesty, courage, sincerity, self-control, initiative; the attribute of thrift and the value of self-reliance. It speaks of our founding fathers with highest respect. It places God and country in their proper perspective in the allegiance of American boys and girls.

Fundamentals of Citizenship gives the American youngster an understanding of a system which he can respect and defend. It says in conclusion: "Government in America has preserved and has developed the best in civilization. The key that unlocks the door to its enjoyment is American citizenship... If we want to continue our way of life, each generation must continue the principles upon which this way of life was built." American youngsters taught from sound textbooks will never parade for the Communists; but will, on the contrary, be more likely to develop the moral strength and the resourcefulness necessary to defeat Communism and preserve freedom.
