READ AN Item in the papers the other day under a College Station dateline that impressed me. It was a report of what Mr. W. B. Starr, Cisco farmer, told a rural church conference at Texas A&M College.

"THE MINISTER shouldn't have to rent such land," he added. "Nor should he have to own his tractor or other large tools, which he could borrow from his congregation. By earning part of his living from the soil, he would be in constant touch with the problems of his congregation."

WHAT IMPRESSED us most about the item was the fact that it reminds us of the most interesting character we ever knew — our Uncle Bill. He lives on a good farm and he comes close to running his church.

SEVERAL YEARS back, Uncle Bill let the deacons talk him into obtaining a young minister just out of school. And they were paying him twice what the former pastor received.

ONE DAY we asked Uncle Bill about making the Pastor work. "Well, I'll tell you," he said, "in order to pay this fellow's salary I had to double my church contribution. And I'm just trying to get my money's worth."

ALTHOUGH UNCLE BILL has an unusual slant on some things, he has a lot of goodness in his heart and deeds. He's the type of fellow who pays his poll tax because he figures there will be a few fellows he'll want to vote against. He grows good potatoes because, he says, they're planted when the moon's right.

WE WENT TO see Uncle Bill recently for the first time in years. Time has mellowed him somewhat. And he's not as strong as he once was. He told us they make him stay in bed until 6 a.m. these mornings. He wasn't happy. The city near him was condemning his farm so they could buy it for an airport. And they only wanted to give him $300 an acre for it. (It cost him $10 some thirty years ago).

BUT HE ISN'T happy unless he has something to worry about. We suspect, sometimes, that he worries because he has nothing to worry about.

Surplus Material Sale Planned At Houston July 9

Round-up of nearly a million dollars worth of surplus materials at six Houston locations will be climaxed July 9 at Houston Disposal Center 6, 4600 Clinton Drive, by a competitive bid sale to priority buyers and the general public, it was announced today by the regional office of War Assets Administration.

Involving such varied items as steam traps, heat treating furnaces, X-ray machine, fountain pens, hand tools and automobiles, the sale promises to be WAA's biggest summer clearance in the southwest, according to John McGee, chief of field disposals for the five state region. Goods at all locations are available for inspection every day except Saturdays, Sundays and holidays through July 8 between the hours of 9 a. m. and 3 p. m.

Bulk of the inventory, comprising property originally costing in excess of $650,000, is located at the former Reed Roller Bit plant and WAA Warehouse 6, at 4600 Clinton Drive. The warehouse is stocked with about 70 lots of surplus, among which are office and shop furniture, machine tools, rope and cable, tool steel, dishes, other miscellany, a sedan, station wagon, jeep and truck. The Roller Bit plant houses more than 25 lots of goods, including scrap lumber with a cost valuation of $150,000, $50,000 worth of scrap metal welding equipment, dismantled test houses, laboratory, water coolers, a pickup, two truck tractors and a dump truck.

Other materials are located at the former Hughes Strut plant and WAA warehouses at 7700 Wallisville Road. The plant contains a quarter million dollar inventory of industrial machinery and general products, whereas other areas are stocked with a small quantity of consumer goods such as shop and office furniture.

Man Critically Injured in Oil Plant Accident

One man was critically injured and several others narrowly escaped injury Friday morning in a freak accident at the Dean Bros. Reprocessing Plant one and one-half miles southeast of Putnam.

Bill Goode, 26, relief pumper, who lives at the plant, was in a critical condition at Graham Hospital. The accident occurred while several men were overhauling an engine controlling the pumps at the plant. They were removing a piston when the engine backfired and drove the connecting rod into Mr. Goode's abdomen. The force of the explosion hurled him to the top of the building and he fell to the floor, landing on his knees and head.

The injured man was rushed to the hospital by Mr. Groda, plant superintendent. He remained on the operating table for three hours and was being given blood transfusions in an effort to save his life. Blood donors were selected from employees of Dean Bros.

Mr. Goode is married and is the father of a young son.

Wranglers Trim West Texas Nine In Softball Game

Coach Everett's Wrangler nine showed a 12 to 10 upset in the laps of the West Texas Kilowatts in last night's commercial league encounter here at ABC softball park. Boyd plays the Independents tonight.

The Kilowatts, winning the toss, chose to take their try at bat first. Cooper got on first with an error and Carroll made first on a walk, boosting Cooper to second. A single slash by Phippen cleaned the bases. Kilowatt short stop, Deuschle, brought Phippen in to score the third and final score for the first inning.

Moore, CJC outfielder, taking the advantage of a walk, scored for the Wranglers. It was the only score for the collegians in the first. And with infield performances by Wrangler infielders, the West Texas' scoring power was halted in the second and third, also.

In the last of the third, a sudden spurge in Wrangler hitting power, started by Wynne, chalked up 8 runs for the collegians. Davis got a clean fly ball to center, bringing in the loaded bases.

What seemed to be a Kilowatt scoring threat was blocked by CJC fielders in the fourth. However, before the attack was stopped, the Kilowatts pushed three across home plate.

A home run by Tipton, CJC short stop, and a walk by Thompson enabled the collegians to maneuver into scoring position once again, but stubborn Westex opposition turned back the counter-attack in the fourth.

With the West Texas' crew again at bat in the seventh, after holding the Wranglers at bay in the sixth and hosting their score two counts, it looked as if their last final drive might carry the game into the eighth inning. Anderson and Deuschle crossed home, but the threat ended and the Kilowatts counter-attack was repulsed.

AUTO DRIVERS URGED TO USE CARE IN HIWAY TRAVEL DURING WEEK-END

WASHINGTON, July 2 — It is not unlikely that most of the 31,000,000 passenger cars in the country will be on our highways at some time during the three days of the coming Fourth of July weekend, says a bulletin from the National Automobile Dealers Association.

"No more sensible way of celebrating the great day could be imagined," the statement points out, "than for these 31,000,000 drivers to give it a place in history as the first modern American holiday ever to be celebrated without a traffic fatality."

Workmen Near End Of Dismantling Task at Del Rio

Erection of Cisco's long-anticipated Community Center Building will begin in the near future at its location near the athletic stadium, school leaders announced today as workmen neared completion in the job of dismantling it for removal from Del Rio.

Three huge truck loads of material that will be a part of the huge building have already arrived at the site, and additional loads will be sent here during the next few days. All of the flooring was included in the early shipments, along with considerable heavy timbers.

The gymnasium-auditorium was purchased by the Cisco School System from the War Assets Administration several weeks ago, and citizens of the community underwrote the expense.

Committee workers were nearing the finish of the $15,000 fund needed to tear down the building, truck it to Cisco and reassemble it, along with the pouring of a concrete foundation and obtaining asbestos shingles as an outside covering.

A total of $14,431.50 in cash contributions and pledges has been turned in. Donations in the form of labor has been pledged, and leaders said the $15,000 fund would be intact within a few days.

School leaders said the building would be ready for use this fall. In addition to serving the school system as a gym, the structure will be available as a city auditorium and for any other purposes needed. It will seat large audiences. It is complete with electrical, plumbing and heating equipment.

It was reported that the association now has a membership of 65 business firms and individuals. The trade extension committee reported on its activities, and the advertising committee submitted a report.

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Richard Gallitz were unable to sit together in church, so Mrs. Gallitz sat in an empty place and motioned for her husband to sit behind her.

When the collection began, Mrs. Gallitz found she had no money. She held out her hand, palm up, behind her, and a coin was dropped into it.

When services were over, she turned around to talk to her husband — and found he had been seated six rows back. Whoever had been sitting behind her had left.

122 More Reserve Units Allocated

AUSTIN, July 2 — The Organized Reserve Corps of Texas has been allocated 122 more Reserve Units for activation, Colonel Oscar E. Abbott, Senior Instructor for the Organized Reserve Corps announced here today.

A small number of this figure are units that have been redesignated. In Dallas, the 300th Cavalry Group will become the Headquarters and Headquarters Company of an Armored-Cavalry Regiment Light; the 323rd Cavalry Reconnaissance Squadron will become an Armored Tank Battalion Light; and the 469th Field Artillery Group will become the Headquarters and Headquarters Battery of Corps Artillery. In Fort Worth, the 311th Cavalry Group will become the Headquarters and Headquarters Company of an Armored-Cavalry Regiment Light.

The allocation of these new units will aid the Organized Reserve program in that more officers and enlisted men will be assigned to Army reserve units. Heretofore, many of the Reservists have been placed in a Composite Group and have awaited assignments to units. Reserve Instructors throughout the State have received this list and have been ordered to initiate requests for the number and the types of units that their area can activate.

In the immediate future, the Department of the Army will allocate further Training Units to place the balance of all unassigned Reserve personnel who desire active training into some type of a unit, so that the Reservists can obtain training pay and be kept up on the latest tactical and technical trends of his Arm or Service.

Economic Highlights.

Late in June, the Federal Reserve Board released its third annual Survey of Consumer Finances. This study, which is prepared by a University of Michigan research center, is designed to find out what typical families want to buy, how their finances shape up, what they think of the economic future, etc. It is based on interviews with several thousand "spending units" — a spending unit being defined as a group of people living under one roof whose incomes are pooled.

According to a Business Week breakdown of the survey, "if consumers make good their intentions, 1948 is going to be even bigger than 1947 in purchases of houses, automobiles, and other durable goods. Two years of postwar production have made no dent you can see in the backlog of demand." For example — the waiting market for automobiles is in the $8,000,000,000 bracket; housing expenditures may run as high as $19,000,000,000; consumers who want furniture, washing machines and other durable goods apparently are ready to spend between $3,000,000,000 and $4,000,000,000 before the dawn of 1949.

Some obvious qualifications must enter into consideration of these findings. The interviews were taken during the first two months of the year, and in the time that has ensued there may have been a few changes in the desires and the financial positions of many potential buyers. Of perhaps greater moment, even if consumers are still able and willing to buy as they anticipated months ago, all of the goods will not be available. The market for automobiles, for instance may approach 4,500,000 units. The industry can't produce that many this year, and some of its top men think it may be late 1950 before it will be possible to walk into a showroom and pick a car of one's choice off the floor. Also, it does not look as if new housing construction will be able to come anywhere near meeting the demand for a considerable time to come. The other durable goods — radios, appliances, etc.—are in good supply, though it is not always possible to immediately find some particular make and model.

In any event, buying is naturally conditioned on purchasing power. Here the situation remains bright. The survey found that two-thirds of the spending units still had a liquid backlog — though it was not so large as in 1947. And there has been a noticeable increase in installment purchasing.

One of the most interesting phases of the survey was consumer opinion of what lies ahead, both for themselves and for the nation as a whole. Twenty-seven per cent expect that their incomes will be larger a year hence, 38 per cent anticipate no particular change, and only 10 per cent look for a drop, with the balance uncertain. This is a somewhat more optimistic outlook than was found in similar surveys sponsored by the Federal Reserve Board in 1947 and 1946.

On the subject of the general outlook, 47 per cent foresee good times, 19 per cent little or no change, and 26 per cent are afraid that bad times are coming. This too represents a brighter point of view than in the preceding surveys.

The survey takes into account spending units at all the principal levels. As is to be expected, the reaction varied greatly between lower level and upper level income groups. As compared with the previous year, the over $5,000 units showed a heavy increase in projected purchasing. In the under $2,000 groups, on the other hand, there was a very heavy decline. This is the inevitable result of the continued rise in prices.

All in all, however, the survey supports the widely held opinion that the period of high purchasing power with near-peak employment is here to stay for a while. When people with money are unable to buy new cars they will buy used ones. If they find new housing scarce or too expensive, they will bolster the old-home market. And many of them say they are prepared to pay still higher prices than obtained now.

This and all comparable surveys are necessarily based on a short-term outlook. No one is willing to stick his neck out on what may happen over a period of some years. There has been a steady decline in family savings marked in the middle and low income groups. Even so, the country's savings backlog is extremely high, so the drop hasn't occasioned too much worry as yet.

Speaking of Oil Booms—

..... the increased lease activity in Eastland County has been a real break for several types of business. Abstractors as a general rule struggle along for years on bare existence with heavy overhead expense until something on the present order comes along, if it does, then everybody else is busy, too, sufficient help is not available and away goes our reputation for prompt service. HEADS TEXAS JAYCEES—Melvin B. Evans, young Wichita Falls business man, this week assumed the presidency of the Texas Junior Chamber of Commerce, largest in the nation. President Evans pledged that during the coming year the more than 15,000 Texas Jaycees would greatly expand their programs of service to the community. To carry out this project he urged all young men in Texas to join their local Junior Chambers or, where none have been organized, to call on him for assistance in organizing new Jaycee chapters.

A & M Will Open New Department

COLLEGE STATION, July 2 (Spl)—A department of journalism to train Texas boys for the operation of small town weekly and daily newspapers will be established at Texas A&M College in September. President Gibb Gilchrist announced today. The department will also emphasize training for writing on agricultural and technical subjects.

"We have no intention of duplicating the efforts of existing schools and departments of journalism," President Gilchrist said, "but intend to specialize in the field for which our school is particularly suited. Our students will be given a broad educational background with a minimum of technical courses in journalism. Students majoring in this department will also receive a sufficient knowledge of the mechanics of newspaper production to fit them for practical small town operation."

Editors and publishers of Texas weekly and daily newspapers will be asked to visit the classes as lecturers and observers, and their advice will be sought in order to keep the curriculum practical. An arrangement for summer "interne" training of advanced students in local newspapers throughout the state will also be sought.

Journalism students expecting to work in agricultural areas will be given sufficient agricultural background to enable them to understand the problems of their communities. Those who will go into oil or industrial areas will receive engineering courses as a background for their work.

In addition to training prospective newspapermen, the department will furnish training in newspaper writing for future county agents, vocational agriculture teachers and others whose work will be enhanced by this training. Engineers will receive special training in the field of technical writing.

Provision will be made for special training of young men who will work on agricultural or technical magazines as well as those who will specialize in agricultural, oil or other technical writing for newspapers.

The new department will be headed by Donald D. Burchard, who is coming to Texas from South Dakota State College, where he is professor and head of the department of Printing and Rural Journalism. Burchard received his M.A. degree from the University of Missouri with a major in journalism, and taught journalism at Butler University, Indianapolis and Oklahoma A&M College before moving to South Dakota.

In addition to his academic training, Burchard has served as city editor of a midwestern daily, owner and publisher of a Missouri weekly, associate editor of Radio Digest magazine and a staff member of the Chicago Herald and Examiner.

Sheriff Told to Take His Railroad Away

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP)—The Greene County court ruled that John T. Pierpont must stick to shuffling and give up engineering, at least on the court house lawn.

Sheriff Pierpont installed a toy train on the court house lawn. He planned to operate it for profit, the court said.

The sheriff said he wanted to charge fares to pay for the electricity. Pierpont packed up his train and moved it to skeet-shooting range, which he also operates.

4-H Girls Enter Talent Hunt

Photographs of members of 4-H Clubs in more than 30 states are pouring in to Hollywood offices of Glenn McCarthy Productions as a nationwide search is begun for a girl club member to participate in a forthcoming film, "The Green Promise."

Above, Robert Paige and Monty Collins, co-producers of the film, are looking over one day's mail. Paige, star of many Hollywood productions, will enact the role of an agricultural extension agent in the film, which portrays the life of a farm family. Collins is author of the original story and has written many other successful screen plays.

The girl chosen for the part must be not more than 12 years old and must be a regularly enrolled member of a 4-H Club. Four girls will be selected from the photographs submitted, one from each of four sections of the United States. The four will be taken to Hollywood for screen tests and final selection made following those tests.

"The Green Promise" will emphasize the importance of soil conservation and the great value of 4-H Club work in the struggle of a farm family to a higher standard of living. Participation of club members in the talent search has been approved by national extension headquarters and the state offices in the states where the search is being conducted.

The film will be produced by a new independent company formed by Glenn McCarthy, Houston, Texas, industrialist who has a keen interest in better farm living and better farming methods.

COOL INTERIOR MODES

Summertime turns every homemaker's mind toward thoughts of how she can make her home look cool and inviting while still keeping work at a minimum. A smart housewife knows that a cool-appearing room can go a long way toward making summer weather more bearable. One way to achieve this cool, comfortable look and eliminate extra work is to take down heavy curtains and the winter draperies. But the best trick is to follow this young lady's good example of pulling down the window shades before spending her leisure hours outdoors sunbathing or gardening. To keep the room cool, draw the window shades to the sill during the hot part of the day. Cloth shades insulate against excessive heat and will make the room as much as 10° cooler — a welcome relief on sultry days.

Card Takes 54 Years To Go 15 Blocks

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—In October, 1894, the city editor of the old Richmond Dispatch mailed a post card to a correspondent who lived 15 blocks away. It wasn't a newspaper stunt, but the card wasn't delivered until 54 years later.

Addressed to Miss Kate Don Leavy, who has been dead more than 25 years, it was delivered to a nephew, R. C. Don Leavy. Don Leavy estimated it had traveled 4,000 miles. Postmarks indicated it had been kicked around in a Philadelphia mail bag most of the 54 years.

EVEN WATER COSTS MORE.

CARLISLE, Pa. (AP)—Consumers in this community have been paying no more for one of the necessities of life than they did in 1878. Water rates have not changed in 70 years. But the times have caught up. A new rate schedule will increase water prices an average of 40 per cent.

Says Let There Be Light And There Was Light

LOGAN, O. (AP) — Prof. Homer P. Cotterman of Capital University was delivering the commencement address at Gibsonville high school when a storm knocked out the school's power system, throwing the auditorium into darkness. Candles were found and Prof. Cotterman continued his address. Nearing the end of his talk, Cotterman said, "Open the door and let the light come in." The lights flashed on. Cotterman said later that never in his experience had one of his points been so aptly illustrated. —

When Onion Tops Bend Over, Harvest is Here

When the Tops of Onions Grow Limp and Fall Over, the Blubs Are Ready to Harvest.

When onion sets which were planted early and left to mature begin to reach good size, some may send up seed stalks. If this is the case nothing can be done to stop it, and the onion will grow no larger. The best plan is to pull such plants and use the onions at their present size.

Breaking off the seed stalks, as often practiced, does not make the bulb in the ground grow larger; and plants which do not make seed stalks should not have their tops bent over, as that will not speed up maturity. Let the tops grow without interference until they become limp and fall over naturally; this is a sign that the onion is full grown, and a week or ten days later the blubs should be pulled up.

Leave them in the open for about two weeks, preferably shaded from the full sun, but allowing air to circulate freely about them. Then cut

Sow Pansies for Next Spring This Summer

Pansy plants such as are sold in flower in early spring may be grown quite easily by the gardener who has a cold frame. The seed is sown in late summer in a seed bed which can be shaded and watered.

Seed of one of the giant strains should be obtained if one wants large flowers. Violets may also be given the same treatment. All pansies are members of the viola family, but the name pansy is applied to those which have "faces."

If you have a seed bed made of fine soil shaded with a canopy of cheesecloth or lath, and which can be watered, sow the seed in rows. If you have no such seed bed, prepare a flat shallow box full of sifted soil in the usual manner and sow the pansies in that. It can be placed in a shady spot and kept well watered until the seedlings appear.

In sowing spread the seed thinly. Mix sand with it if necessary to prevent overcrowding. If the seeds are too thick it will be difficult to disentangle the roots of the seedlings when time comes to move them. As soon as the seeds sprout they should be given all the light possible and plenty of fresh air. Do not let them dry out. Protect them from the mid-day sun.

When the seedlings have made their first true leaves they should be transplanted to other flats, where they have more space, or to the cold frame. Florists usually move them to flats where they are planted 2 inches each way; this is called "pricking out." They are allowed to grow here until they are small sturdy plants. The amateur may short cut this procedure and move the seedlings directly from the seed bed or first flat to the cold frame.

Soil in the cold frame should not be overmanured, but should be light and friable and reasonably fertile. The plants should be set in rows, 4 inches apart in the rows, and 6 inches between the rows. Let the plants grow in the open through the fall until the ground begins to freeze. Then fill up the cold frame with dry leaves and cover it with the sash or boards. In severe weather the sash can be covered with straw mats or any such covering, but this is not usually needed.

In the spring as soon as the frost begins to come out of the ground, the leaves should be taken off the pansy plants and the sash put on the frame. The management from now on is the same as any other planting in the spring. The pansies will bloom under the glass much earlier than they would outdoors, and you will have pansies to set out in the border when the tulips begin to bloom.

Seems There's a Trick To Curbing Chickens

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Police Judge Carleton E. Jewett is a city man but he knows how to keep chickens out of a garden.

James Wilson, 59, was brought before Jewett on a charge of allowing his chickens to trespass on a neighbor's property.

Asked, "Don't you know shetern 'What's the matter?' Jewett asked, "keep your chickens in?"

The defendant admitted he was having some difficulty.

"Clip one of their wings," Jewett said. "Not both of them."

He gave Wilson until Aug. 3 to find out what he meant.

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Two Green Bay women met only twice in the last two years, but each time it was in a maternity ward.

Two years ago Mrs. Edward Donovan and Mrs. Norman Chadoir, strangers, were assigned the same room in a maternity ward. They gave birth to sons only a few minutes apart.

Recently, the women met again for the first time since the birth of their boys. Again they were assigned the same room, and they followed the script perfectly.

They each had a second son.
