The Gay Philosopher

By J. W. S.

THE LOBOES ARE going to have some scrappy football players in the next two years. That fact was evident to several hundred fans last evening as the Midgets and the Lobo "B" team won a doubleheader from Moran and De Leon at Chesley Field.

Offensive stars of the Midget game were Benji Lipsey and Herby Gallegos, plus a bunch of others. Lipsey is a 14-year old lad who weighs 118 pounds in full uniform. He runs, passes, punts, kicks off, place kicks, calls signals and plays safety on the defense. He goes to high school next year, and if he can gain 50 or 60 pounds and grow a few inches in the next couple of years he'll be "in."

The "B" team of the Loboes look very good, too. We'd say the top offensive man there was Kent Davis, a junior student who transferred to Cisco High from Abilene this year and is ineligible for the "A" team. Kent circled twice for 70-yard touchdowns, one of which was called back. He's the type of runner who keeps digging and makes a few additional yards after you think he's through.

We wouldn't be surprised to see Kent make all-district next season. Certainly, you'll hear from this young fellow. He's a cousin of Gerald Davis, the Wrangler line star.

We liked the way several of the linemen worked. Edward Bernie, for instance, is a fine tackle prospect. He seems to have the ability to figure out what's going to happen and to be at the right place at the right time.

Both teams looked classy with a lot of class players. Let's all go over to Ranger tonight and help the Loboes open their conference race.

COMES A NOTE from somebody who neglected to sign their name that says: "I have two very choice seats to the Texas-A & M game to be played in Austin on Thanksgiving Day and as I shall be unable to attend am wondering if you know of someone who may want to buy them." If the man who wrote the note will let us know who he is, we'll probably have him a customer by the time he sees this.

SOMEBODY HANDED us a clipping from a newspaper which says as follows:

"Pa," said the subscriber's little daughter, "I know why editors call themselves 'we'."

"Why?" asked Pa.

"So the fellow who doesn't like an article will think that there are too many for him to lick."

BACK IN TOWN is the Rev. Sidney Spain, who has been up at Iowa Park in a church program for the past ten days. He'll return to his pulpit at the First Christian Church on Sunday.

MR. LEON MANER was by our office yesterday and he is feeling just dandy. He is an enthusiastic Republican and has been all his life, and he is an enthusiastic ex-student of the University of Texas. And we don't need to say more as to why he is feeling just dandy these days.

THIS WEEK'S edition of The Rotary Tattle Tale, official publication of the Cisco club, honors Dr. E. L. Graham with a "thumb-nail sketch."

"Dr. Graham, owner and operator of Graham Hospital in Cisco since 1922, has set an enviable attendance record for Rotarians all over the world since he became a charter member of the Cisco club in 1921," the paper reports. "Doc has a 31-year perfect attendance record — and that is hard to beat. Many of those more than 1,500 meetings made up in foreign countries where the doctor was taking post graduate work."

"Dr. Graham was born in McGregor. He graduated from McGregor High and entered the University of Texas for pre-med work. He played in the Longhorn band in the flute section. From there, he went to the UofT medical school at Galveston and graduated in 1915. Then followed a year of studies in London. He

Gun Collector Is Speaker At Rotary Meeting Thursday

"The development of civilization has gone hand in hand with the development of firearms," L. C. (Red) Jackson of Dallas, vice-president of the Texas Gun Collectors Association, told members of the local Rotary Club at their regular meeting at the Hotel Victor Thursday.

As a specific example of the statement Mr. Jackson told of the attempts made by the Spanish and others to settle Texas without success because their weapons were inadequate to cope with the Indians. "It was Texans, armed with better weapons, that really began the era of progress in Texas," he said.

He told of the development of guns from their beginning and had several collectors pieces with him to show how the firearm had advanced. In his collection he had guns that were fired with burning punk, some that were fired by flintlock and several rimfire and centerfire models.

Mr. Jackson was on the program at the invitation of Rotarian L. C. Davis. He was introduced by Rotarian Earl Stephens of Eastland.

Two new members were introduced to club members at the meeting. They were the Rev. H. Grady James, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, and George Irvine, assistant district superintendent of the Humble Pipe Line Company. Rotarian Haywood Cabanes introduced the new members.

Visitors at the meeting were Rotarians Tom B. Clay of Dunsuir, Calif., C. O. Weiser of Gladewater, Leonard King of Brownwood, C. R. Mansfield of Ranger and Vic Behrens, Dub Wofford and Bob Gilchrist of Abilene. Other visitors were Shy Osborn, Homer Lee Hensley, Jack Garrett and John Leveridge.

Cisco Grid Teams Win Both Games Of Doudleheader Here

Cisco teams won both games of a football doubleheader at Chesley Field Thursday night as the Midgets of Cisco Junior High School powered and passed to a 40-14 win over Moran, and the Lobo "B" team won over De Leon 19-0.

Benji Lipsey was the big gun in the Midget win when he completed six of eight passing attempts — two of them for touchdowns, scored one touchdown on an option play and kicked three points after touchdown.

Herby Gallegos scored first early in the first quarter when he plunged over the goal from the three yard line. Cisco opened the game by kicking to Moran on the 20. Moran worked the ball to their own 36 and were held for downs. They kicked to the Midget 40 and the ball was returned to the Moran 39. From there the ball was carried on

Lt. O'Brien Arrives After Korean Action

Lt. W. M. O'Brien, brother of Mrs. H. L. Thompson of Cisco, arrived here Thursday following a tour of duty in Korea. Lt. O'Brien left Korea on November 1 by air. He landed in San Francisco and then took a plane to Dallas.

Lt. O'Brien is the son of Mrs. H. V. O'Brien of Abilene. He will visit relatives here and in Abilene for 15 to 20 days before reporting for duty with the Marine Corps in Camp Le June, North Carolina.

Horace Walker Goes On Trial For Second Time

Horace Walker, former Eastland County delinquent tax attorney, went on trial this week for the second time in Stephens County's 90th District Court on charges of embezzlement. Opening Wednesday, the trial was continuing today.

Involved in this case is $200 which the state charges that Walker failed to turn in to the county. The indictment alleges that he collected $475 from Lucille Mancill of Cisco but turned in to the tax collector's office only $275. The defense contended that the $200 went for the cost of collecting the money.

Some 60 witnesses were expected to be heard. The case was being prosecuted by County Attorney J. M. Nuessle, assisted by Special Prosecutor Frank Sparks.

Youth Programs Will Be Studied At Area Meeting

BROWNWOOD, Nov. 7.—Recreation and youth leaders from 30 communities in this area will meet here November 15 in a conference to outline plans for workshop training in community recreation leadership and programs. The workshop will be held sometime next spring.

The Brownwood conference, to be held at the Brownwood Hotel, is the last in a series of four regional conferences for lay and professional leaders interested in expanding and improving local recreation programs. The conference here will be highlighted by group discussions on recreational needs which should be stressed in workshop training next spring, according to William W. Brown, city director of parks and recreation and chairman for the regional meeting.

Brown said the conference would organize a planning committee to take the lead in planning the area workshop training program next spring. He said the workshop next spring will offer training in recreation leadership and programs. The area workshops are sponsored annually by the State Youth Development Council to help local communities meet their recreational needs, Brown said.

Earle Meadows, recreation consultant of the Youth Council, will be on hand to assist Brown and other area youth leaders during the two and one-half hour conference, scheduled to get underway at 7 p. m. Meadows is the former Olympics and world champion pole vaulter.

The meeting will be open to the public and will be of interest to all active in youth work, Brown said. The conference will also recommend the time and place for the area workshop. (Turn to page four)

Aiken of Vermont, member of the Senate Committee on Agriculture and Forestry, will be principal speaker here next week at the 19th annual state convention of the Texas Farm Bureau Federation. He will speak on "What's Ahead in Agriculture" Tuesday night at the annual banquet.

The convention will be held Nov. 10-11-12 at the Plaza Hotel. Registration starts Sunday, and the convention proper gets underway Tuesday morning. An open hearing on resolutions is slated for Monday morning. That afternoon will be devoted to special conferences on commodities, rural roads, labor, legislation, etc. Monday night will be "Recognition Night" for individuals and counties with outstanding organizational achievements.

Other speakers highlighting the program are Romeo E. Short, vice-president of the American Farm Bureau Federation; Congressman Clark W. Thompson of Galveston, member of the House Committee on Agriculture; and Harry L. Bryson, AFBF director of field services.

Senator Aiken, a nationally recognized authority on agricultural problems, is a Farm Bureau man, himself. He helped organize the Windham County (Vermont) Farm Bureau when he was only 21. He served as president of the county organization in 1935-36. Aiken was a state legislator, lieutenant-governor, and governor in his native state before he was elected to the senate in 1941.

Resolutions adopted during the Farm Bureau session here next week will determine the Texas Farm organization's stand on various agricultural issues. Adopted resolutions pertaining to national issues will be forwarded to the AFBF national convention which meets Dec. 7-11 in Seattle. A special train will take the Texas delegation to the Seattle sessions.

Bids Asked For Leon River Dam

The Eastland County Water Supply Board will open bids on Tuesday, November 25, at 3 p. m. for a contract to construct a dam on the Leon River to provide water for the Cities of Eastland and Ranger, according to an announcement this week.

President C. B. Pruet, Ranger, of the water district said that advertisements had been published calling for bids on the job. It has been estimated that the project will cost about $1,500,000.

The announcement said that engineering details will be ready for work to begin by December 1 — a few days after a contract is let. The district has already begun steps to buy some 2,000 acres of land over which the lake will spread.

Bulldogs Favored To Defeat Locals

Cisco High School's Loboes will open their District 2A-10 conference season in a football game at 8 p. m. Friday (tonight) at Ranger with the Ranger High Bulldogs. It will be the last road game for the Lobo machine this season, as their final two contests — both conference affairs — will be played on the home gridiron.

Coaches Jack Everett and Jay Williams plan to leave at 5:30 p. m. for Ranger with their Loboes, who will be somewhat crippled for the game. Two school buses will follow them at 6:30 p. m. with the high school band and pep squad leaders.

The Loboes completed plans for the game in a light workout Thursday afternoon. Five members of the squad were nursing ailments and their part in the play will be limited if they see action at all. Players with injuries include Bill Smith, Max Poyner, Daniel Gray, Bobby Black and Sonny McCrea. Charley horses, ankle bruises, knee injuries and bad legs were their ailments.

Lanky Bob Lloyd was expected to start at quarterback with Irv Brunkenhoefer, Boy Gallagher and Marcus Gallegos as his running mates. The boys up front will include Jim Webb and Bill Miller, ends; Sherwood Gaines and Bennie Edwards, tackles; Jim Reynolds and Mack McCauley, guards, and Bob Qualls, center.

In the defensive setup, Bobby Black or Sonny Bosworth will be at safety. Andy Mosley, Bill Smith and Daniel Gray are expected to fit into the picture. If his ankle injury improves sufficiently, Black may also appear with the offensive machine.

The Loboes will meet a team that has shown a lot of strength in several games this season. Although they lost to Diamond Hill last week, the Bulldogs have a good team and they have been picked to win. Reports here today indicated that injuries were hampering the Bulldog machine, too.

A large crowd of Ciscoans was expected to journey to Ranger for the contest.

OUR FINANCIAL STANDING

By comparison with past times, how do we, as a people and as individuals, stand financially? That's a very pertinent question these days, and it has been given all kinds of answers. Certain facts are obvious to all. There's a great deal more currency making the rounds than in any other era in our history, and a great deal more of it finds its way into the average pay envelope and salary check.

General income levies, have gone up and up. Such elements as savings and debts enter into the picture—as does the financial position of people who are living on pensions, savings, investments, and other fixed incomes.

The question also played its role in the presidential campaign. Democratic spokesmen placed heavy emphasis on the "You never had it so good" theme. Prosperity, they said by inference, is in the nature of a Democratic patent.

A very different view of our financial situation was recently given by Herbert J. Miller, executive director of the Tax Foundation and former research director of the Hoover commission. Newsweek reported his findings under the apt title, "Never had it so bad." Mr. Miller's statistics and interpretations show that the buying power of practically all individuals and families is shrinking, and in many cases very materially so—that, in other words, there are some very large and menacing flies in today's brand of prosperity.

Mr. Miller finds, for example, that government figures covering per capita incomes fail to take into consideration the enormous increases in taxes—and it is obvious that the money we must pay in taxes can't be spent for anything else. He also finds that the net worth of the average American family (a figure which is arrived at by adding up the assets and then subtracting the debts) has dropped 12.5 per cent since 1939. And, in terms of 1939 dollars, individuals are 54 per cent in debt now than then.

Mr. Miller's most interesting comparisons show how much our incomes must have increased since 1939 if we are to have maintained or improved our purchasing power. This yardstick is based on a married couple with two children, and takes into account the tax burden and the rise in the price level. If you earned $2,000 in 1939, you must earn $4,200 this year to keep even and almost $5,000 if you are to increase your purchasing power.

If you earned $5,000 then, you must now earn $11,641 and $13,664 respectively. If your 1939 take was $15,000, today's equivalent is $44,384, and $56,291 is needed to show purchasing power gain. And when very high income levels are reached, the difference becomes amazingly large. For instance, the family with a 1939 income of $100,000 now has to earn better than $1,000,000 to hold its own, and almost $1,252,000 to produce an improvement. In the upper brackets, of course, the main reason for this is taxes, as it is to a lesser extent in lower brackets.

Mr. Miller makes many other comparisons and poses many questions—all of which are related to the big, overriding question of whether we are as honestly prosperous as many people think we are—due to the fatter pay envelopes—and many politicians tell us we are. He asks, for instance, "May not 'better-offness' based on inflation be a delusion?" It is apparent that he believes the answers to be an unqualified Yes!

"In 1919 he came to Cisco as doctor for the Humble company and was placed in charge of the company hospital. He purchased the hospital from the company in 1922 and has operated it since that time.

"In 1922 he was married to Miss Nova Shelton. The Grahams have two children, Mrs. Layton Stroud and Emmett Graham, both living in Dallas. A granddaughter was added recently to the Graham family. She is little Carolyn Graham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Graham.

"Dr. Graham has never stopped studying. He is continually seeking new methods of treatment for his patients. In 1927 he spent a year in Europe and every year takes graduate work in America or abroad. Wherever he goes the first thing he looks for is the Rotary Club—and he always attends. He received his fellowship in the FACS early in the 1920s.

"His hobbies are limited because of the press of his service to his community but he finds time to do a little farming on the side. He is an ardent swimmer and spends a lot of time reading—reading new developments in his field, so that he can be of better service to his fellow Ciscoans. He is a walking example of service above self."

What's the Use of an Abstract - ... if it doesn't cure the title? is another puzzling question to some abstractors, but we have never worried much about this one. Neither does the doctor's prescription cure human ills in all cases, but it may help. touchdown for the Midgets late in the final period when he plunged over the goal from two yards out. Lipsey kicked to bring the count to 40-14 as the game ended. The Midgets scored another touchdown in the first quarter on a 37 yard pass from Lipsey to Gallegos but it was nullified by a penalty.

Playing for the Midgets were Johnnie Trigg, Don Gray, Gene Courtney, Harold Donica, Jackie Reynolds, Ralph Berry, Bobby Cluck, Lipsey, Ewell, Don Price, Gallegos, Carlisle, Edwards, Bobby Collins, Phillip Surlis, John Adams, Wayne Smith, Johnny Richardson, John McCanlies, Larry McCanlies, Dickie Bennie, Freddie Howell, Ace Lucas, Ronald Fleenor, Buddy Waters, Lee Hall, Bud Ainsworth and Vernon Lassiter.

In the Lobo "B" game Kent Davis scored two touchdowns and Harold (Cotton) Pippen one as the Cisco team downed De Leon 19-0 to avenge a defeat suffered in De Leon several weeks ago.

Kent Davis broke the ice early in the first quarter when he scampered through the De Leon secondary for 64 yards. The play was set up when Edward Bernie intercepted a De Leon pass at the 36 yard line. Davis received good blocking that shook him loose. Tommy Reynolds failed in the try for extra point. Pippen scored the second touchdown on a plunge over the line from the two-yard line. The score was set up after the Lobos took the ball on their own 15 and powered it to the five from their own 40 where they obtained possession when a fourth down pass attempt by De Leon failed. Reynolds' kick hit the crossbar and the try for point was no good.

Davis scored another touchdown on a 70 yard run late in the first quarter, but it was brought back when a Cisco back was in motion on the play.

The entire Cisco team played good ball and running plays clicked to account for a total of 227 yards. The defense held the De Leon team to 23 yards on ground plays. The ball handling of Quarterback Tommy Reynolds kept the opposition fooled all night and the hard driving runs of Whitehead, Pippen and Davis were aided by good blocking. Seeing action for the Lobos were Levere Adams, Don Meier, Edward Bernie, Kenneth Penn, Joe Wayne Farrow, Tommy Collier, Ronnie Qualls, Tommy Reynolds, Buck Whitehead, Harold Pippen, Kent Davis, Biddy Echols, Carrol Thames, Duke, Buz Johnson, Robert Fletcher, Howard Hamilton, B. Webb, Paul Ford, Bobbie Bennie, Jim Sublett, Frank Walton and Ernest Moore.
