GENEVA WAS THE CLIMAX

The cease-fires in Korea and Indo-China were welcomed in the western world, even though they amounted to peace without victory. All the nations concerned were sick of the bloodshed.

The bloodshed, undoubtedly, was of much less concern to Red China, with her virtually inexhaustible supply of manpower and the low value the Oriental mind puts on human life. But the cease-fires must have been very welcome there too, for other reasons. She gained a major objective in preventing the unification of Korea under what, by Oriental standards, would have been a democratic regime. And in Indo-China she defeated a major Occidental nation for the first time in her long and sanguinary history. The importance of this to the Red Chinese leaders, to whom "face" is everything, cannot be exaggerated. Geneva was the climax of their lives so far.

There is still another reason, and an ominous one. The cease-fires released Red China's energies for use elsewhere — if her leaders so desire.

There can be no small doubt where she will strike next, if she does strike. The target will be Formosa. Conquest of the island has been threatened by the Peiping radio. And the West has learned not to discount Red China's threats.

This is a matter of the utmost seriousness to the United States. Columnist Robert S. Allen recently wrote, "The United States is prepared to go to war to hold Formosa." These are grim words, but the attitude in Washington seems to justify them.

Mr. Allen also wrote that Red China has already started a softening-up process which may be preparatory to an attempted Formosa invasion. He cited as an example the destruction by Red Chinese fighters of the unarmed British airliner. According to him, it has been definitely established that this was not an accident, but a deliberate act, and there were two reasons for it. First, it was designed to show Britain how precarious her position in the East is. Second, and most disturbing, the attack was made "for the malevolent purpose of venting their hatred and fury at the United States by killing Ambassador William Donovan, who they believed was on this plane, en route to Thailand."

Mrs. Donovan, luckily, wasn't aboard, but that doesn't make Red China's plans and motives any less threatening.

Mr. Allen further reports that security reasons prevent disclosure of the steps that are being taken by this country to defend Formosa. Some precautions, however, are known. Heavily strengthened U. S. naval forces are now patrolling the China coast and war materials are being stockpiled on the island.

Just about everyone agrees that if Red China does strike, and if Formosa is to be saved, we will have to do most of the saving. The Nationalist Chinese forces on the island are fairly large in number, but they are ill-equipped and their average age is high for combat troops. They haven't the resources to make major strikes against the Chinese mainland, which would be necessary to the prosecution of the war.

So the situation stands, with all the question marks that are involved. Before very long we should learn if Red China has decided to invite World War III.

JUMP-BALL—Baltimore Orioles' catcher Clint Courtney gets back to first safely as Chicago White Sox' first sacker George Kell leaps for a throw from the outfield during a game in Chicago. The White Sox won the game by a score of 1-0.

"HIGH" SCHOOL—A group of Sherpas make their way across a slope of a mountain in Rosenloui, Switzerland, where they are attending a mountaineering school to learn Swiss climbing methods. The group is led by world-famous Tenzing Norkey, who was co-conqueror of Mount Everest.

CAUGHT IN HIS ACT—Amusing the crowd gathered at the bars of his cage in the London Zoo, Brumas, a polar bear, playfully batted, twisted and bit the tire. Suddenly he was faced with the task of getting rid of the oversized teething ring, which somehow became a "nuisance necklace." The now not so happy Brumas attempts to remove the tire.

Swimming Pool News

they help bring a reunion to our town. Let's go after more and bigger reunions in 1955; now is the time to get to work.

While Nevada is generally thought of as a desert-like state with plenty of hot weather, we learned from a Nevada family Wednesday that their outdoor swimming pools usually open on June First, but cold weather this year postponed pool openings until June 20. We believe this swimming family forgot their nearly-full nursing bottle, which we will keep for them in case they return again. Another lost-and-found article they could use is a Desert Water Bag we have had for several weeks. Like every other out-of-town visitor, the Nevadans praised every part of our pool and wished they could take it all back to where they live.

Texans away from their home state are having difficulty in telling the truth about the bigness of the Lone Star state, and the big way Texans do things. While Texas "brags" may leave some room for argument, Texas "truths" should need no proof. At least that's what former Lobo and Wrangler athlete Barbee Smith believes.

Barbee is now with Uncle Sam's army in Germany, and like any other loyal Ciscoan, he told his "buddies" about the size of the big Lake Cisco swimming pool. Naturally they took Barbee's remarks as just more Texas "brags," until he told them that this was the truth.

The way his mother in Cisco explained it, his fellow soldiers wanted definite proof about our swimming pools. We suggested that she locate some picture post cards at local drug stores and send them to her son overseas. And perhaps she should include one of these colored cards of a large Texas Jack Rabbit!

Seventeen Bangs FFA boys spent a long day at Lake Cisco Tuesday, where they enjoyed lots of swimming, golf and roller skating. They arrived at 7 a. m. and left at 8 p. m.

The group, which came in a bus driver by their sponsor, Vocational Instructor Sargent, was particularly pleased with the swimming pool.

Before coming to Cisco, the Bangs delegation wrote the City of Cisco. City secretary Hal Lavery relayed the letter to us and we wrote them about the many lake recreational facilities.

The Bangs boys included: Marion Alexander, Ross Atkinson, Ray Barnes, Tommy Bowden, Johnnie Breeke, Tedy Denhart, K. D. Eason, Ronald Halford, F. C. Mason, Edwin Nichells, Robert Perry, Norman Preedy, Howard Rambi, Arnold and Bob Sikes and Wayman Sewell.

A&P Food Stores Cut Coffee Price

DALLAS, Aug. 19.—A&P Food Stores announced a price reduction Wednesday night on all three of the company's own brands of coffee. This was the first significant price reduction by a major factor in the coffee trade since costs in the price of raw coffee in South America were announced early in the week.

Since that time, the raw coffee market has been in an unsettled condition and there have been some price adjustments in high priced and low-volume coffee brands.

A&P Stores reduced prices 10 cents a pound throughout the country, effective Thursday.
