The Gay Philosopher

By J. W. S.

THE POPULATION of a city's school system is a pretty good barometer of how the community is getting along. The Cisco Schools had a total of 1,159 students on opening day recently — up about 75 from last year's total. This indicates that our city isn't going backward, wouldn't you say?

See by the Breckenridge paper that that city's first day enrollment was 1,492 students — one less than last year. At Ranger, they enrolled 850 students. We didn't hear how this compared with the previous year, and we didn't hear yet about the enrollment situation over at Eastland.

DROPPED OVER to the courthouse yesterday to see about the county's new budget. A hearing was in progress and it looked like most of the day would be required to complete the job. . . . Understand the tax rate for the coming year will be the same as last year as far as the county is concerned. . . . Tax Assessor-Collector Stanley Webb and his staff were getting ready to mail out 1954 tax statements. . . . Saw Dick Anderson of A-G Motor Company here buying licenses for some cars they had sold. . . . The county grand jury was in session. Two or three cases involved wife and child desertion, we heard. . . . County Agent J. M. Cooper was getting caught up on the paper work in his office. . . . Treasurer Richard Cox was listening to proceedings in the budget hearing room. . . . County Clerk Johnson Smith was there, too.

RAN INTO MR. Everett Plowman, Eastland druggist, and asked him how the Labor Day golf tournament came out at Lakeside Course in Eastland. A Cisco man beat a very good Eastland golfer in the finals, Plowman said. The finals, we learned, were between Bill Goff and Plowman.

LOOKED IN AT the Cisco Peanut Company and was glad to look over a new invention of Manager Zan Burroughs. He has built himself a genuine refrigerated air-conditioning for the office. And it works splendidly. Zan took a bunch of tin, coils, a compressor, a blower and some odds and ends and built his system. Guess he ought to print some name on it — Burroughs, maybe.

DROVE BY THE Boss Manufacturing Company and Mr. Welborn Garrett had some 15 or 20 men busy on the new annex to the factory building. They're digging holes in preparation for the concrete floor, it appeared. Looks like they'll begin road topping work on Highway 80 just east of town soon. Work is progressing nicely on the project.

MAYOR G. C. Rosenthal reports a good many people are still undecided about the September 25 City Charter election. A legal notice concerning the election appears elsewhere in The Press and every citizen should read it.

The voters will ballot on the proposition of electing a committee of 15 men to re-write the City Charter. If the voters vote "yes" they will be saying "Yes, let's re-write our City Charter and let's have these men do it." There will be a list of 15 men on the ballot and 15 blank spaces for write-in votes.

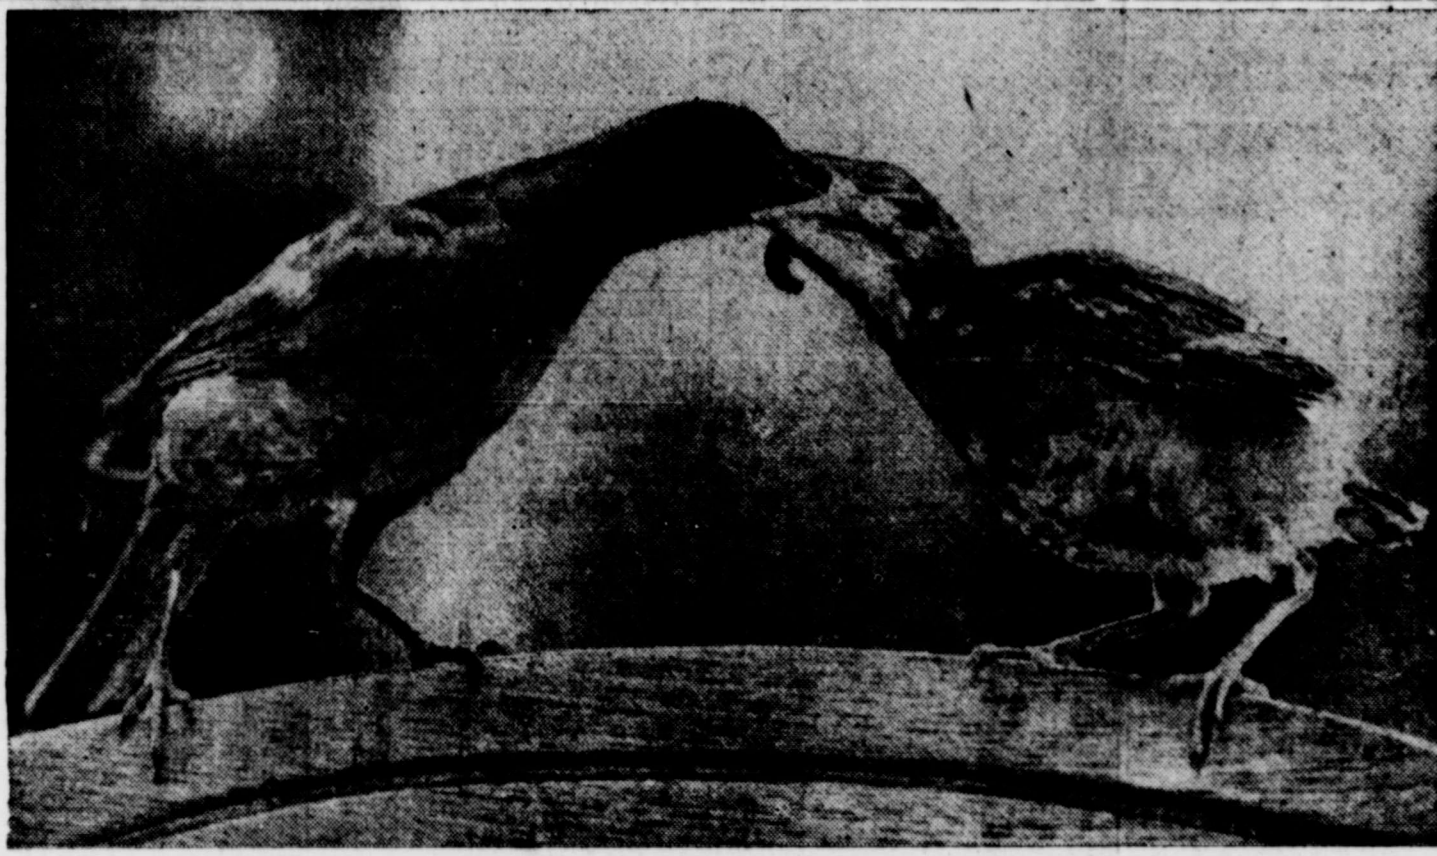

Any move to change to a City Manager form of government would come in a later election. In other words, you can vote "yes" in the Sept. 25 election and you will still have to vote again before there are any changes in the City Charter or in the form of city government. If you vote "no," the whole matter will end right there.

THE CITY'S mosquito fogging machine, which has been shut-down for repairs for sometime, will go out tonight and take up the fight against the mosquitoes, Mr. Rosenthal tells us. City workers will try to cover the whole town in four nights.

This would be a good time for all of us to join the city in a mosquito eradication campaign. Let's get rid of all mosquito breeding places around our houses and property. City workers treat water seeps and pounds with oil regularly.

Let's make "Operation Mosquito" a big success.

REUNION IN CHICAGO—After the family of James F. Hoge found a baby robin in the back yard in Chicago, the bird was moved into the house for safe-keeping. But its mama hadn't really deserted it; she had left the nest in search of food. She found her offspring, all right, and their happy reunion was celebrated by stuffing the baby with a fat worm.

Lovers Of Hound Dogs Organize To Sponsor Hunting

BRECKENRIDGE, Sept. 8.—Lovers of hound dogs and the chase in this area are organizing for fellowship and a program of hunting.

H-SU associate coach Harold Barrett has put his charges through drills twice daily since Sept. 1 and says his gridders are ready to go.

"The team is shaping up and we have a lot of good boys," Barrett said. "We expect to field a strong team against Cisco Jr and we plan to do a lot of passing in the game."

The H-SU Buttons will run off the wing-T and use a passing attack as one of their big guns.

Game time is set at 8 p. m. and

CJC Plans Class In Parliamentary Procedure Soon

Carlos J. Turner, president of Cisco Junior College, said Wednesday that the school would begin a class in parliamentary procedure soon, as a public service to the community by the speech department of the school.

The class is open to everyone in the Cisco area who desires training in parliamentary law and procedure at no charge for tuition. Jack Chambliss, head of the department, will be in charge of the classes.

The first class will meet at 7:30 p. m. Monday, September 13, at the music building. At the first meeting the class will be organized and lessons assigned.

Chambliss said that the textbook, "Practical Parliamentary Procedure" by J. J. Auer would be used in the classes. Books will be available at 75 cents per copy or will be furnished to those who do not desire to buy a copy.

The class will meet for an hour and a half each Monday for six or eight weeks. It is a non credit course.

Those desiring to enter the class were asked to report to the music building Monday at 7:30 p. m.

ARTS CLUB TO MEET

The First Industrial Arts Club will meet Thursday evening at eight o'clock at the home of Mrs. W. W. Wallace for their first meeting of the new year. All members were urged to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack McWhorter and baby of Kingsville spent the weekend in Cisco with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Deen. Mrs. McWhorter and baby remained for a week's visit.

Miss Billingsley said. Saturday morning, September 11, at 10 a. m. there will be a meeting of all the 1953-54 4-H Club President and their adult leaders. The meeting will be held in the County Home Demonstration Agent's office, and it is concerned with only the girls 4-H Clubs.

The purpose of this meeting is to select two major areas for club programs and to work on the year book for 1954-55. It is important that each club be represented. If it is not possible for the club president and adult leader to be here they should be sure that someone comes in their place.

Miss Billingsley, County Home Demonstration Agent, will go to Stephenville Monday, September 13, for a sub-district meeting.

Plans Complete For 23rd Annual Rodeo At Prison

HUNTSVILLE, Sept. 8.—The 23rd annual Prison Rodeo, opening at Huntsville Sunday, October 3, will be rougher, tougher, wilder and faster than any ever staged by the penitentiary before. It will be bigger and better than any of the shows of the past three years, each of which have successively set new records in both attendance and performance.

Such is the consensus of opinion wherever you go in the Texas Prison System. Ask employee or inmate and they'll tell you of the 1954 show will out-do all others of the past in both action and performance.

Rodeo Manager Albert Moore says he has never had so many new hands bidding for a try-out to enter the competition.

"Even a woman inmate at Goree Farm, the women's unit, has written in asking for permission to enter the show," Moore said.

A former professional cow girl whose specialty is bareback and saddle bronc riding, her record reveals that she always held her own in competition with the best men riders in outside rodeo circuits. Her request is being seriously considered by the rodeo management.

The Parachute Jump, unique spectacle of a prisoner attempting to drop into the rodeo arena from a plane high overhead that won such popular acclaim and much publicity for the show last year, will again be featured.

For added attractions and specialty acts, Rodeo Manager Moore has booked some of the greatest names traveling the professional rodeo circuit today. These include, the Hendricks Family, whose fabulous acts have been hailed by rodeo producers everywhere as "the greatest in rodeo of this age," such famous trick riders as Tad Lucas, probably the First Lady of American rodeo performers; Mitzie Lucas, daughter of Tad and of equal fame to her mother; The Lamb Sisters, Ted and Betty, from Dallas who have appeared at every Prison Rodeo since 1950 and the widely known Gregg County Mounted Quadrille from Longview, Texas, who have appeared at every major rodeo in the Southwest the past several years.

Reservations for this greater than ever prison extravaganza are available by mail or wire at only $2.40 each, tax included. Checks or money orders sent to Rodeo Ticket Office, Huntsville, Texas, will receive prompt attention.

BOOSTERS CLUB MAKES PLANS TO HELP OPEN FOOTBALL PLAY

Plans for aiding the coaches and school officials in the opening high school and college football games Friday and Saturday nights were made at the first meeting of the Cisco Boosters Club of the season at the high school auditorium Tuesday night.

President Bob Latson was in charge of the meeting. Mr. Latson explained the program for the opening games and made committee assignments. He reported that the club would have a membership booth at the games and that new members would be signed up at the booths. J. L. Stafford and Sam King were put in charge of that part of the work.

Bob Siddals was placed in charge of the group to help with the taking up of tickets at the games and W. P. Knight was put in charge of the program sales.

All club members who were not at the Tuesday meeting were asked to be at the field at 7 p. m. Friday night to receive assignments.

It was agreed that members of the club would be at the field house at each game as the Lobos and Wranglers enter the field for the beginning of the games.

Plans were made for the filming of the contests and it was agreed to build a steel stand on the light standard at the 50-yard line for the use of the cameraman and the coaches. J. L. Stafford and Bill Kendall were put in charge of the project.

President Latson said that the club was furnishing oranges for all players to eat at the end of practice sessions, and Coca-Colas to drink between halves of the games.

Goal posts for the practice field and the junior high school practice field were ordered and will be in place soon, it was reported. It was decided to hold future meetings at 7 p. m. Tuesdays.

Following the business session the coaches were introduced and each made short talks, expressing appreciation for the work being done by the club. They also told of prospects for the coming year. At the conclusion of the meeting a film on the highlights of the 1952 Southwest Conference season was shown.

Odessa Rancher Life Story Told In Publication

NEW YORK, N. Y. — William Paul Moss, ranch and oil magnate, and former West Texas judge, is the author of ROUGH AND TUMBLE, his life-story which is released today by Vantage Press, New York Publishers. $3.00.

Now owner of a magnificent ranch house in Odessa, Texas, set on 31 acres of his 7,000-acre ranch, Mr. Moss started life on a farm in Clay County, N. C., a member of a poor but hard-working family. Ultimately, he managed to work his way through Hiwassee College in Georgia, and Valparaiso University in Indiana, from which he received a law degree. Later, he did graduate work at Texas University.

His ambition and restless spirit brought him to Odessa where he felt sure he would succeed in making a place for himself. After many years of hardships, through rugged determination Mr. Moss achieved success in his legal profession, became District Judge (70th Judicial District, Texas), and achieved financial success when his luck finally turned.

The author of three previous books, William Moss has now found time to present the details of his colorful career in a vivid fast-moving picture of U. S. life as it was at the turn of the century. His baptism of fire in the West came on a day when young Paul rode over a hill in the New Mexico badlands and ran smack into a blazing gun battle. A stranger, showing a rifle into his hands, shouted: "If you can shoot, take this and fight for your life," and left the young man to do exactly that. Mr. Moss has been fighting ever since, in the law courts and on the Texas plains. ROUGH AND TUMBLE is the story of his colorful career.

The cheer leaders and the members of the student body will begin work immediately on preparing for the initial game of the season at Chesley Field Saturday night.

RED CROSS COMPLETES WORK IN SOUTHWEST FLOOD RELIEF

Two months after the disastrous Southwest Texas floods, the Red Cross has now completed its mammoth task of helping people get back on their feet after rising waters ripped through their homes and cities. Providing without charge basic needs in the form of everything from a dress to a dresser, or a sink to a sofa, the Red Cross spent in all a total of $641,932 to help persons on both sides of the Rio Grande.

Of this amount, $22,294 was provided for food, medical and other emergency supplies for 27,000 homeless Mexicans. The mass care assistance for 3,513 Americans, including 1,379 emergency workers, and rehabilitation aid for 2,285 families given by Red Cross amounted for $619,638.

Each affected family's need was treated as a miniature individual disaster operation. A trained disaster worker met with the family, learned of its problems, its losses and injuries, and its assets. After determining what the family needed in addition to what it could do for itself, the worker recommended the amount of assistance for Red Cross to give, which was then approved by a volunteer advisory committee of local citizens before becoming final.

In all instances, according to traditional Red Cross program, once an award is made, it becomes a gift of the American people and is never repayable.

Bedding of all types proved most urgently needed by flood victims in all of the stricken communities. The Red Cross provided families with funds to purchase over 1,300 beds and 2,780 mattresses, of which 2,400 mattresses were needed in Laredo alone. For Eagle Pass families, the Red Cross replaced 920 chairs, 225 sofas, 52 stoves, and 25 iceboxes, among a multitude of assorted household items.

Oddly enough, in Ozona, the single most-needed item was a dresser and chest, where 207 were provided. Ozona families also needed 51 washing machines, 55 sofas, 66 dinette sets, and 49 lamps, to name a few items. Floors and floor coverings took severe damage in Laredo, where the Red Cross replaced 1,000 linoleums. Among other badly needed household items which the Red Cross provided for families in that community were 250 sets of dishes, 200 sets of linens, 200 ironing boards, and even 20 sewing machines.

Nothing was overlooked in providing for people's needs, as, for example, in Ozona, where the Red Cross replaced 19 eyeglasses, and even one hearing aid and one set of dentures.

In all of these instances, families made their own selection of merchandise in local stores and Red Cross paid the bill. For household furnishings alone, the Red Cross picked up a $230,867 tab.

But Red Cross assistance didn't stop there. It extended to such items as building 41 homes and repairing 589 other homes at a cost of $314,142, to helping 1,528 families with food, clothing, and maintenance at a cost of $34,628, to providing medical and nursing care for 90 sick and injured at a cost of $10,080, and to furnishing occupational supplies and equipment to 73 families at a cost of $15,362.

The disastrous floods, which struck first at Langtry on June 27 and stranded a passenger-filled train, next caught Ozona by surprise at 3 a. m. on June 28. Literally washing people from their beds, and houses from their foundation in that city, the raging waters then raced past Del Rio into Eagle Pass, and lastly into Laredo, there to vent their full fury on June 30.

Not only American cities, but the Mexican towns of Ciudad Acuna, Piedras Negras, and Nuevo Laredo suffered fearful damage, as countless thousands of Mexicans fled the waters to the hills without food, water, or other provisions. The Red Cross local chapters, on the scene the same day the first flash floods struck, immediately set up shelters in the Texas cities and began relief and rehabilitation work for their people and, as good neighbors, extended aid across the river to their hard hit Mexican friends.

With the help of the U. S. Army and Air Force, the Red Cross was able to carry out immediate emergency measures. Throughout the disaster operation, the state of Texas cooperated and assisted Red Cross in its program.

While the bulk of Texas families have already received Red Cross assistance, some 160 families who were north to help harvest crops during the flood, will get Red Cross consideration for aid upon their return in September and October.

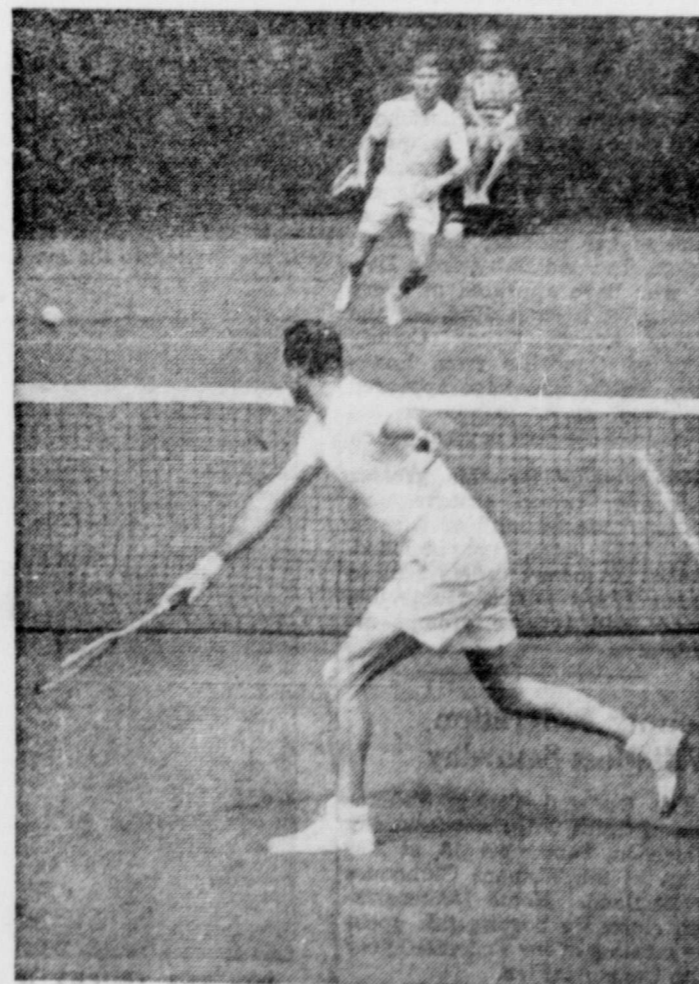

MIXED EMOTIONS—Three-year-old Steven Mender, of Brooklyn, wasn't aware that a camera was trained on him as he watched a puppet show given by youngsters of the Children's Aid Society. Steven waited anxiously for the show to begin and then started to heckle the performers, top photos. Later, he laughed heartily, then settled down in amazement, below.

BABY'S OWN—It's the Kantwet apron which slips over the high chair tray and baby at the same time and is tied to both sides of the chair. It's not only a labor-saving device for the busy mother, but it protects the child's clothes. Made of a coated fabric, a damp cloth is all that's needed to keep it clean.

PIN UP—With her hair up in curlers, six-week-old Debra Lynn Michaud of Utica, N.Y., shows everyone that she's a big girl and is entitled to a permanent. Not many babies have half like Debra's, which is four inches long. Her daddy is with the Air Force in the Philippines.

RICHARDSON ADVANCES—Hamilton Richardson, in background, of Baton Rouge, La., and Charles Masterson, of Washington, are shown battling it out during a match at the National Tennis Singles Championships tournament in Forest Hills, N. Y. Richardson eliminated his foe, 6-4, 6-3, 6-love.

Humble To Open Research Center In South Texas

HOUSTON, Sept. 8. — America's largest domestic oil producer will formally open a new research center here Saturday to provide better facilities for continuing research into problems of finding and producing oil.

This latest addition to Texas' scientific resources is Humble Oil & Refining Company's Houston Research Center, containing more than 300 laboratories, shops, and offices in two buildings on a 15-acre tract in the southwest section of the city.

Humble President Hines H. Baker will formally dedicate the Center at public ceremonies on Saturday morning, Sept. 11, following an open house for employees Friday night. Tours of the center will give the public a chance to see the two "electronic brains," complex laboratory instruments, and other equipment the scientists use in their research work.

The new Center will provide some 330 scientists, technicians, and assistants who formerly worked in separate locations with the newest scientific equipment in a single center.

Research in the Houston Center is divided into two phases: exploration research, which seeks to advance the search for new oil reserves to meet our present and future needs; and production research, concerned with the problems of drilling for oil, of bringing it to the surface, and of developing fields so that the greatest amount of oil will be recovered. Product and refining research is carried on at the company's Baytown Research Center, opened in 1951 to consolidate research activities at Baytown Refinery.

Humble now has almost 600 employees devoting full time to a broad research program which costs between $5 and $6 million per year.

Company officials said the new Houston Research Center "is a symbol of the growing importance of research in the Humble Companies, in the oil industry, and in the daily lives of all people in the modern world."
