LOCAL NEWS FROM DALY'S

"After the rain the sun will shine" and it did shine yesterday—a most beautiful Sabbath day. It being our regular preaching day, a large crowd was out to hear the sermon. In the afternoon was singing, and quite a good many from Hays Spring were with us. We were glad to have them come and appreciate the good singing very much. This was the first and we are to have it here every second and fourth Sunday afternoons.

Newton Streetman and wife attended the singing here Sunday.

Mrs. R. E. Martin and children are spending a few days with her mother and father.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Bridges were also at Mr. Kyle's Sunday.

Misses Mary Kyle and June Pridgen are home again from teaching school.

Mrs. C. C. Hill returned yesterday from an extended visit to relatives in Crockett.

Since our last writing Fletcher

Weisinger and family have moved in our midst. We are glad to welcome these good people among us, for we know they will do all the good they can.

The farmers are planting corn and doing other farm work. A few days of sunshine puts energy and life into everything and the farmer takes advantage of it.

Pledger Chiles was a visitor to Daly's Sunday afternoon. Bro. "Zack," you would have enjoyed being with us Sunday. We are sorry you did not come.

Health of the community was never better. No cause whatever, to grumble. SYLVESTER.

Notice to Teachers and Trustees of Common School Districts

All trustees are requested to come or send a representative to a School Trustee's Convention to be held in Crockett at the Court House on Saturday, 2 p. m., March 20. Please see to it that your School District is represented.

All teachers' vouchers up to the No. of 671 can now be cashed at the face value. J. N. SNELL, Co. Supt.

ITEMS FROM OAK GROVE

March 15.—Farming is quite slow on account of the bad weather. It seems that the early birds have postponed building their nest for awhile, and we think it a pretty good idea.

There is practically no corn planted in this community at this writing. From what we can learn old King Cotton is fast losing his day in this part of the country. The people seem to be thoroughly awake to the situation they are placed in and almost every farmer has resolved to diversify and raise more feed stuff in the future than in the past. A few more pigs and goobers and chickens, in fact, let's raise a little more of everything that can be raised on the farm except cotton, and let it be our surplus. When we go to town let's carry in something to sell instead of going to town to buy something to eat. If we will practice this, think we would be more prosperous.

The Oak Grove literary and debating society met Friday night. A very large crowd was present. There were a number of recitations and dialogues. Some fine music was rendered, after which came the debate, the question being "Resolved, That the United States should intervene in the present affairs in Mexico. Affirmative, Charlie Haltom and Lewis Herod; negative, Durall Jones and Laney Johnston. Both sides were closely contested by the speakers. The decision was in favor of the affirmative. We regret very much that our teacher, Mrs. Pearl Musick, was taken sick and could not stay until the program was over. We hope she has entirely recovered by this writing. The debate was enjoyed by all present. Quite a number of visitors from New Prospect and other communities were present. Our society will meet again on the night of the 26th. As this is the closing night of our school, no committee was appointed. The school will arrange the program for that night. A cordial invitation is extended to all to come and be with us. We have a literary society that we feel justly proud of. We think a literary society is a fine thing for any community.

KEEP ANIMALS FROM DRIFTING

National Foresters Build Fences to Confine Cattle to Certain Specified Districts.

Many miles of "drift" fences have been built by the government in recent years for controlling the movement of stock, grazed under permits on the national forest lands.

These fences do not serve to inclose areas, but are simply intended to prevent the animals from going in certain directions, or "drifting," to use a cattleman's expression. In many cases they are used to restrict the animals to certain areas during the winter, as well as to prevent grazing on lands where poisonous plants are found.

In one case five miles of drift fence was built to prevent a city water supply from contamination by forest-range cattle. In one forest, a four and one-half mile fence was built to keep cattle on one range.—Popular Mechanics.

RUB PAINS FROM SORE, LAME BACK

Rub Backache away with a small trial bottle of old "St. Jacobs Oil"

Back hurt you? Can't straighten up without feeling sudden pains, sharp aches and twinges? Now listen! That's lumbago, sciatica or maybe from a strain, and you'll get blessed relief the moment you rub your back with soothing, penetrating "St. Jacobs Oil." Nothing else takes out soreness, lameness and stiffness so quickly. It is perfectly harmless and doesn't burn the skin.

Lumber up! Don't suffer! Get a small trial bottle from any store, and after using it just once, you'll forget that you ever had backache, lumbago or sciatica, because your back will never hurt or cause any more misery. It never disappoints and has been recommended for 60 years. Adv.

DRESDEN DESTROYED BY BRITISH FLEET

THREE WARSHIPS ATTACKED GERMAN CRUISER, WHICH WAS SET ON FIRE.

PLANS TO STARVE GERMANY

Neutral Nations Are Informed by England That Their Ships Will Not Be Molested If They Certify Cargoes Not for Germany.

Latest War News From Front.

Great Britain made known to the world Monday in a formal proclamation signed in council by the king and issued from Buckingham palace, how she proposes to sever all the arteries of sea commerce to and from Germany during the period of the war.

As in Premier Asquith's speech forecasting the order, the term "blockade" is not used and no prohibited area is defined. Nevertheless, the text of the order makes plain England's purpose—to prevent commodities of any kind from reaching or leaving Germany during the war.

British officials frankly called the movement a blockade, the foreign office describing it as an effective blockade, differing from the effective blockades of history only in that the property seized will not be confiscated outright, but sold, the proceeds eventually going to the owners.

A Reuter dispatch from Berlin to London Monday by way of Amsterdam quotes the German minister of the interior and Vice Chancellor Clemens Delbrueck as declaring in a speech in the upper chamber Germany's intention to continue the war until she obtained the guarantees she desired.

"If we are satisfied merely with repelling the enemy," said the vice chancellor, "we should soon have peace. But we can not rest satisfied with that alone; we shall not sheath the sword until we obtain guarantees that our enemies will not attack us again. Discussion of these guarantees at the present moment would not further German interests."

The British admiralty announced Monday that the German cruiser Dresden had been sunk.

The sinking of the Dresden was announced in the following statement:

"On March 14, at 9 a. m., H. M. S. Glasgow, Captain John Luce, R. N.; H. M. auxiliary cruiser Orama, Captain John Seagrave, R. N., and H. M. S. Kent, Captain John D. Allen, C. B., R. N., caught the Dresden near Juan Fernandez Island.

"An action ensued and after five minutes' fighting the Dresden hauled down her colors and displayed the white flag. She was much damaged and set on fire, and after she had been burning for some time her magazine exploded and she sank.

"The crew was saved, fifteen badly wounded. The Germans were landed at Valparaiso."

The submarine U-29, one of the largest and fastest of German underwater craft, had a successful three days off Scilly Islands and in the English channel, where on Thursday, Friday and Saturday she succeeded in sinking four British steamers and one French steamer and in damaging three others.

The German command gave the crews of most of the steamers time to leave their vessels and in some cases towed the ship's lifeboats with the crew to passing steamers, by which they were brought to port.

The U-29 was chased by patrol boats, but proved too elusive for them, while steamers which tried to ram or escape her found that the submarine was much faster than similar craft which previously had been sent on a mission to destroy Great Britain's overseas trade.

The British feel that they have more than evened matters up for the loss of these steamers by the victory at Neuve Chappelle and the defeat Saturday of the Germans in their effort to recover the ground gained by the British regulars and Indians on the preceding days.

British airmen have also been active again and have destroyed a train at Don, a short distance from Lille.

This co-operation between the air and land forces has become more pronounced, these airmen always being active when fighting is in progress to obstruct the movements of German troops.

The Belgian army continues to gain a little ground at the bend of the River Yser and in Champagne, the Argonne and the Vosges there has been fighting of varying importance.

The French have occupied Embermenil, on the railway midway between Luneville and Rixongen, on the borders of Lorraine.

The German and Russian armies which are concentrating for a big battle around Przasnysz, apparently have not yet come into touch.

A BAD CASE AND ITS RELIEF

Lady Tells Details of Ten Years Of Suffering Which Now Lies Behind Her.

Wallace, Va.—Mrs. Mary Vest, of this town, says: "About ten years ago, I had very poor health, and for five years it steadily got worse. I could not stand on my feet. I got so I could only drag about in the room. Most of the time I was not able to do my work."

I had terrible bearing-down pains, my back ached all the time and was very weak. I could scarcely carry anything and suffered agony when I lifted anything. The muscles in my abdomen were so weak I could scarcely lift myself up straight, and I thought I would surely grow crooked. I had difficulty in walking, it was so painful. I suffered in hips and back and could hardly raise up at all. At times, I couldn't sit on the chair—would have to lie down. I was in such agony. I just sat around and cried.

At this time, about five years ago, I began to take Cardul, at my mother's insistence. After two or three weeks' use I saw an improvement. The pains got less gradually until they disappeared. In two months I could walk without pain and could do most of my work. For about three years my improvement was steady and continued until I had back my health and strength.

The cure has been permanent, for I have been in good health for the past two years, due to my having taken Cardul, which effected the cure."

KIDNEYS CLOG UP FROM EATING TOO MUCH MEAT

Take Tablespoonful of Salts If Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers—Meat Forms Uric Acid.

We are a nation of meat eaters and our blood is filled with uric acid, says a well-known authority, who warns us to be constantly on guard against kidney trouble.

The kidneys do their utmost to free the blood of this irritating acid, but become weak from the overwork; they get sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and thus the waste is retained in the blood to poison the entire system.

When your kidneys ache and feel like lumps of lead, and you have stinging pains in the back or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or the bladder is irritable, obliging you to seek relief during the night; when you have severe headaches, nervous and dizzy spells, sleeplessness, acid stomach or rheumatism in bad weather, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys, to neutralize the acids in urine so it is no longer a source of irritation, thus ending urinary and bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, and nobody can make a mistake by taking a little occasionally to keep the kidneys clean and active.—Adv.

THE RIVAL FACTIONS IN MEXICO MUST TOE MARK

PRESIDENT OF UNITED STATES TAKES EMPHATIC STAND TO PROTECT FOREIGNERS.

UNITED STATES WARSHIPS

American Warships Will Keep Guard to See That People Are Dealt Fairly in Troubled Country. Mexico City Improving.

Washington.—President Wilson has determined that all the rival factions in Mexico shall be compelled, if necessary, not only to respect the lives and property of foreigners, but to insure freedom of commercial communication between the United States and its southern neighbor.

This policy, enunciated in the last two notes sent to General Carranza concerning the situation in the City of Mexico, was further developed by the dispatch of a communication informing the Mexican chief that unless the gunboat Zaragosa was recalled from its attempted blockade of the port of Progreso the president of the United States "would be constrained to issue instructions" to the commander of the armored cruiser Des Moines "to prevent any interference" with American ships going to or from that port.

The American note was couched in terms as emphatic as the warning concerning conditions in the City of Mexico, relieved by the evacuation of Obregon. It set forth that if the American cruiser found it necessary to take steps to prevent interference with American ships such a policy should not be interpreted as having any relation to "internal affairs in Mexico," but "in the interest of peace and amity" between the two countries.

Washington.—While conditions in the City of Mexico have improved with the food and water supply replenished and the capital placed in order by the Villa-Zapata government, situations fraught with difficulties for the United States government have arisen at Progreso, the east coast port, and at Manzanillo, on the Pacific.

The American consul at Manzanillo reports a condition of anarchy there and that Carranza troops are unable to maintain order. Foreigners are apprehensive, he declares, and the food supply is decreasing, while Villa-Zapata troops are investing the town's approaches. Admiral Howard, commanding the Pacific fleet, is reported ready to take foreigners away if conditions do not improve.

Progreso, the port from which virtually all the sisal hems used for binding twine is shipped, has been ordered closed to foreign commerce by General Carranza. The United States cruiser Des Moines is at Progreso under orders to see that there is no interference with American commerce.

Demands by the United States government on General Salazar, the Zapata commander in the City of Mexico, for the punishment of soldiers who murdered John B. McManus, an American citizen, and the payment of an adequate compensation to McManus' family, were repeated Saturday to General Villa.

"As Villa and Zapata," said Secretary Bryan, "have been co-operating, I thought it was a good idea to make representations to Villa as well, so that the offenders would be punished."

Washington.—Encouraging advices telling of the relief of the food famine in the City of Mexico through the evacuation of the capital by the forces of General Obregon, the Carranza commander, were beclouded Friday by the news that on the entry of the Zapata troops John B. McManus, an American citizen, was murdered—shot down in his home, the door of which had been sealed with the coat of arms of the United States, and over which flew the stars and stripes.

Instant demand was made by the Brazilian minister on behalf of the United States government for the punishment of those guilty of the crime. After a conference between President Wilson and his cabinet, Secretary Bryan telegraphed the Brazilian minister approving the action he had taken, and adding a demand for reparation to the family of the victim.

The minister was instructed to insist on the early punishment of the offenders and to impress upon the post commander at the City of Mexico—General Salazar—the seriousness with which the American government viewed the occurrence. Salazar promises punishment.

Washington.—Another note was sent by the United States government Friday to General Carranza in reply to his response Thursday night to the notice that Carranza and Obregon would be held personally responsible for the safety of Americans and other foreigners in the City of Mexico.

SYNOPSIS.

Warrington, an American adventurer, and James, his servant, with a caged parrot, the trio known up and down the Irrawaddy as Parrot & Co., are bound for Rangoon. Elsa Chetwood, rich American girl tourist, sees Warrington and asks the purser to introduce her. He tells her that Warrington has beaten a syndicate and sold his oil claims for £20,000. Warrington puts Rajah, the parrot, through his tricks for Elsa and they pass two golden days together on the river. In Rangoon, Warrington interferes in a row over cards caused by an enemy, Newell Craig. Elsa is annoyed by Craig and stabs him with a hatpin. Warrington discovers Elsa on the Singapore steamer. He avoids her. Craig is aboard and is warned by Warrington who ceases to avoid Elsa. Craig stirs up evil gossip. Elsa tells Warrington of the hatpin incident and he hunts up Craig. The murder bent. He finds him stretched and drunk on deck and turns the hose on him. At Penang Mallow, who drove Warrington from his plantation when he learned his story, comes aboard. Warrington tells Elsa that Mallow and Craig both will tell that she spent money that did not belong to him over the gambling table to Craig, and asks her not to speak to him again. Mallow bets Warrington, who keeps his temper. A Singapore Elsa calls on her father's old friend the American consul general. Mallow calls and relates the steamship gossip about Elsa. Warrington also calls and sends a cable to the Andes Construction company, offering to restore the stolen money if they will lift the ban.

"And a man may break any one of these laws. I consider it horribly unfair."

"So it is. But if you wish to live in peace, you must submit."

"Peace at that price I have no wish for. This man Mallow lives within the pale of law; the other man is outside of it. Yet, of the two, which would you be quickest to trust?"

The consul general laughed. "Now you are appealing not to my knowledge of the world but to my instinct."

"Thanks."

"Is there any reason why you should defend Mr. Warrington, as he calls himself?"

The consul general's wife desperately tried to catch her husband's eye. But either he did not see the glance or he purposely ignored it.

"In defending Mr. Warrington I am defending myself. My dear friend, Elsa went on, letting warmth come into her voice once more, "my sympathy went out to that man. He looked so lonely. Did you notice his eyes? Can a man look at you the way he does and be bad?"

"I have seen Mallow dozens of times. I know him to be a scoundrel of sorts; but I doubt if bald sunlight could make him blink. Liars have first to overcome the flickering and wavering of the eyes."

"He said almost the same thing. Would he say that if he were a liar?"

"I haven't accused him of being that. Indeed, he struck me as a truthful young man. By the way, what is the name of the firm your father founded?"

"The Andes Construction company. Do you think we could find him something to do there?" eagerly. "He builds bridges."

"I shouldn't advise that. But we have gone astray. You ought not to see him again."

"It is a hateful world!" Elsa appealed to the wife.

"It is, Elsa, dear. But James is right."

"You'll get your balance," said the guardian, "when you reach home. When's the wedding?"

"I'm not sure that I'm going to be married." Elsa twirled the sunshade again. "Oh, bother with it all! Dinner at eight, in the big dining room."

"Yes. But the introductions will be made on the cafe veranda. These people out here have gone mad over cock tails. And look your best, Elsa. I want them to see a real American girl tonight. I'll have some roses sent up to you."

Elsa had not the heart to tell him that all interest in his dinner had suddenly gone from her mind; that even the confusion of the colonel no longer appealed to her bitter malice. She knew that she was going to be bored and miserable.

When she was gone, the consul general's wife said: "Poor girl!"

Her husband looked across the room interestedly. "Why do you say that?"

"I am a woman."

"That phrase is the City of Refuge. All women fly to it when confronted by something they do not understand."

"Oh, but I do understand. And that's the pity of it."

CHAPTER XIV.

According to the Rules.

Elsa sought the hotel rickshaw stand, selected a sturdy coolie, and asked to be run to the botanical gardens and back. She wanted to be alone, wanted breathing space, wanted the breeze to cool her hot cheeks. For she was angry at the world, angry at the gentle consul general, above all angry at herself. To have laid herself open to the charge of indiscretion! To have received a lecture, however kindly intended, from the man she loved and respected next to her father! To know that persons were exchanging nods and whispers behind her back!

It was a detestable world. It was folly to be honest, to be kind, to be individual, to have likes and dislikes, unless these might be regulated by outsiders. Why should she care what people said? She did not care. What made her furious was the absolute stupidity of their deductions. She had not been indiscreet; she had been merely kindly and human; and if they wanted to twist and misconstrue her actions, let them do so.

Once or twice she saw inwardly the will-o'-the-wisp lights of her soul. But resolutely she smothered the sparks.

The coolie stopped suddenly.

"Go on," she said.

But the coolie smiled and wiped his shaven poll. Elsa gazed at the hotel veranda in bewilderment. Slowly she got out of the rickshaw and paid the fare. She had not the slightest recollection of having seen the gardens. More than this, it was a quarter to seven. She had been gone exactly an hour.

"Perhaps, after all," she thought, "I am hopeless. They may be right; I ought to have a guardian. I am not always accountable for what I do."

She dressed leisurely and with calculation. She was determined to convince everyone that she was a beautiful woman, above suspicion, above reproach. The spirit within her was not, however, in direct accord with this determination. Malice stirred into life again; and she wanted to hurt someone, hurt deeply. It was only the tame in spirit who, when injured, submitted without murmur or protest. And Elsa, only dimly aware of it, was mortally hurt.

"Elsa," said Martha, "that frown will stay there some day, and never go away."

Elsa rubbed it out with her finger. "Martha, do you recall that tiger in the cage at Jaipur? How they teased him until he lost his temper and came smashing against the bars? Well, I sympathize with that brute. He would have been peaceful enough had they let him be. If Mr. Warrington calls to-morrow, say that I am indisposed."

Martha evinced her satisfaction visibly. The frown returned between Elsa's eyes and remained there until she went downstairs to join the consul general and his wife. She found some very agreeable men and women, and some of her natural gaiety returned. At a far table on the veranda she saw Craig and Mallow in earnest conversation.

She nodded pleasantly to the colonel as the head boy came to announce that dinner was served. Anglo-Indian society had so many twists and ramifications that the situation was not exactly new to the old soldier. True, none had confronted him identical to this. But he had not disciplined men all these years without acquiring abundant self-control. The little veins in his nose turned purple, as Elsa prophesied they would, but there was no other indication of how distasteful the moment was to him. He would surely warn the consul general, who doubtless was innocent enough.

They sat down. The colonel blinked. "Fine passage we had coming down."

"Was it?" returned Elsa innocently.

The colonel reached for an olive and bit into it savagely. He was no fool. She had him at the end of a blind alley, and there he must wait until she was ready to let him go. She could harry him or pretend to ignore him, as suited her fancy. He was caught. Women, all women, possessed at least one attribute of the cat. It was digging in the claw, hanging by it, and boredly looking about the world to see what was going on. At that moment the colonel recognized the sting of the claw.

Elsa turned to her right and engaged the French consul discursively; indeed, she gradually became the center of interest; she drew them intentionally. She brought a touch of home to the Frenchman, to the German, to the Italian, to the Spaniard; and the British official, in whose hands the civil business of the Straits settlements rested, was charmed to learn that Elsa had spent various week-ends at the home of his sister in Surrey.

And when she admitted that she was the daughter of General Chetwood, the man to whom the Indian government had cause to be grateful, upon more than one occasion, for the solidity of his structures, the colonel realized definitely the seriousness of his crucifixion. He sat stiffer and stiffer in his chair, and the veins in his nose grew deeper and deeper in hue. He saw clearly that he would never understand American women. He had committed an outrageous blunder. He, instead of dominating, had been dominated by three faultfinding old women; and, without being aware of the fact, had looked at things from their point of view. A most inconceivable blunder. He would not allow that he was being swayed less by the admission of his unpardonable rudeness on board than by the immediate knowledge that Elsa was known to the British official's sister, a titled lady who stood exceedingly high at court.

"Miss Chetwood," he said, lowering his voice for her ears only.

Elsa turned, but with the expression that signified that her attention was engaged elsewhere.

"Yes?"

"I am an old man. I am sixty-two; and most of these sixty-two I have lived roughly; but I am not too old to realize that I have made a fool of myself."

Interest began to fill Elsa's eyes.

"It has been said," he went on, keeping the key, "that I am a man of courage, but I find that I need a good deal of that just now. I have been rude to you, and without warrant, and I offer you my humble apologies." He fumbled with his cravat as if it had suddenly tightened. "Will you accept?"

"Instantly," Elsa understood the quality of courage that had stirred the colonel. But ruthlessly: "I should, however, like your point of view in regard to what you consider my conduct."

"Is it necessary?"

"I believe it would be better for my understanding if you made a full confession." She did not mean to be relentless, but her curiosity was too strong not to press her advantage.

"Well, then, over here as elsewhere in the world there are standards by which we judge persons who come under our notice."

"Agreed. Individuality is not generally understandable."

"By the mediocre, you might have added. That's the difficulty with individuality; it refuses to be harnessed by mediocrity and mediocrity holds the whip-hand, always. I represent the mediocre."

"Oh, never!" said Elsa animatedly. "Mediocrity is always without courage."

"You are wrong. It has the courage of its convictions."

"Rather is it not stubbornness, willful refusal to recognize things as they are?"

He countered the question with another. "Supposing we were all individuals, in the sense you mean? Supposing each of us did exactly as he pleased? Can you honestly imagine a more confusing place than this world would be? The Manchurian pony is a wild little beast, an individual if ever there was one; but man tames him and puts to use his energies. And so it is with human individuality. We of the mediocre tame and harness and make it useful to the general welfare of humanity. And when we encounter the untamable, in order to safeguard ourselves, we must turn it back into the wilderness, an outlaw. Indeed, I might call individuality an element, like fire and water and air."

"But who conquer fire and water and air?" Elsa demanded, believing she had him pocketed.

"Mediocrity, through the individual of this or that being. Humanity in the bulk is mediocre. And odd as it seems, individuality (which is another word for genius) believes it leads mediocrity. But it cannot be made to understand that mediocrity ordains the leadership."

"Then you contend that in the hands of the stupid lies the balance of power?"

"Let us not say stupid, rather the unimaginative, the practical and the plodding. The stubbornest person in the world is one with an idea."

"Do you honestly insist that you are mediocre?"

"No," thoughtfully. "I am one of those stubborn men with ideas. I merely insist that I prefer to accept the tenets of mediocrity for my own peace and the peace of others."

Elsa forgot those about her, forgot her intended humiliation of the man at her side. He denied that he was an individual, but he was one, as interesting a one as she had met in a very long time. She, too, had made a blunder. Quick to form opinions, swift to judge, she stood guilty with the common lot, who permit impressions instead of evidence to sway them. Here was a man.

"We have gone far afield," she said, a tacit admission that she could not refute his dissertations. This knowledge, however, was not irksome.

"Rather have we not come to the bars? Shall we let them down?" in the civil and military life on this side of the world there are many situations which we perform most tolerate. But these, mind you, are settled conditions. It is upon new ones which arise that we pass judgment. I knew nothing about you, nothing whatever. So I judged you according to the rules."

Elsa leaned upon her elbows, and she smiled a little as she noted that the purple had gone from his nose and that it had resumed its accustomed rubicundity.

"I go on. A woman who travels alone, who does not present letters of introduction, who . . ."

"Who attends strictly to her own affairs. Go on."

Imperturbably he continued: "Who seeks the acquaintance of men who do not belong, as you Americans say."

"Not men; one man," she corrected.

"A trifling difference. Well, it arouses a disagreeable word, suspicion. For look, there have been examples. It isn't as if yours were an isolated case. There have been examples, and these we apply to such affairs as come under our notice."

"And it doesn't matter that you may be totally wrong?"

His prompt answer astonished her. "No, it does not matter in the least. Simmered down, it may be explained in a word, appearances. And I must say, to the normal mind . . ."

"The mediocre mind."

"To the normal and mediocre mind, appearances were against you. Observe, please, that I did not know I was wrong, that you were a remarkable young woman. My deductions were made from what I saw as an outsider. On the Irrawaddy you made the acquaintance of a man who came out here a fugitive from justice. After you made his acquaintance, you sought none other, in fact, repelled any advances. This alone decided me."

"Then you were decided?" To say that this blunt exposition was not bitter to her taste, that it did not act like acid upon her pride, would not be true. She was hurt, but she did not let the hurt befog her sense of justice. From his point of view the colonel was in no fault. "Let me tell you how very wrong you were indeed."

"Doubtless," he hastily interposed, "you enveloped the man in a cloud of romance."

"On the contrary, I spoke to him and sought his companionship because he was nothing more nor less than a ghost."

"Ah! Is it possible that you knew him in former times?"

"No. But he was so like the man at home; so identical in features and build to the man I expected to go home to marry. . . ."

"My dear young lady, you are right. Mediocrity is without imagination, stupid, and makes the world a dull place indeed. What woman in your place would have acted otherwise? Instead of one apology I offer a thousand."

"I accept each and all of them. More, I believe that you and I could get on capitally. I can very well imagine the soldier you used to be. I am going to ask you what you know about Mr. Warrington."

"This, that he is not a fit companion for a young woman like yourself; that a detracting rumor follows hard upon his heels wherever he goes. I learned something about him in Rangoon. He is known to the riff-raff as Parrot & Co., and I don't know what else. All of us on shipboard learned his previous history. And not from respectable quarters, either."

"If I had been elderly and without physical attractions?" Elsa inquired sarcastically.

"We are dealing with human nature, mediocrity, and not with speculation. It is in the very nature of things to distrust that which we do not understand. You say, old and without physical attractions. Beauty is of all things most drawing. We crowd about it, we crown it, we flatter it. The old and unattractive we pass by. If I had not seen you here tonight, heard you talk, saw in a kind of rebellious enchantment over your knowledge of the world and your distinguished acquaintance, I should have gone to my grave believing that my suspicions were correct. I dare say that I shall make the same mistake again."

"Did you learn among other things what Mr. Warrington had done?"

"Yes. A sordid affair. Ordinary speculations that were wasted over gaming tables."

Warrington had told her the truth. At least, the story told by others coincided with his own. But what was it that kept doubt in her mind? Why should she not be ready to believe what others believed, what the man himself had confessed? What was it to her that he looked like Arthur, that he was guilty or innocent?

"And his name?" She wondered if the colonel knew that also.

"Warrington is assumed. His real name is Paul Ellison."

"Paul Ellison." She repeated it slowly. Her voice did not seem her own. The table, the lights, the faces, all receded and became a blur.

The food supply in Mexico is getting shy—also brains.

Old Man Snow tried to declare a war zone around Miss Spring last week.

The time is rapidly approaching when Uncle Sam is going to have to take Mexico across his knee and administer a good sound spanking. And when he does the job will be neatly done.

Governor Ferguson has signed the compulsory educational bill and it will become a law at the beginning of the next scholastic term. We are not familiar with the provisions of the new law, but as it was fostered by the best posted men in the state, we feel sure it will greatly advance the educational interests of Texas.

Sunday, March 21, is the official opening of spring. That is, the calendar makers say so, but we shall place no confidence in the date until we see some of the local fishermen hauling out their fishing tackle.

One reason why we have just passed through such perilous times is that pessimists barked on every corner, calamity howlers were straining their lungs, which caused even sane men to worry. Now, that condition is being rapidly changed—optimists are in the saddle and the horizon is clearing. Let us keep it so by talking good times and bending our efforts in that direction.

Chas. Butler, who is teaching at Creek, was here Saturday mingling with his friends. Mr. Butler informed us that he had contracted with the trustees for the same school for another year at an increase of salary, which is pretty good evidence that he is popular with those people and is rendering them good service.

Paint or Not

Is a horse worth more or less after feed?

Hay and oats are high today; shall I wait today and feed him tomorrow?

That's how men do about painting their houses and barns and fences. Paint has been high for several years; and so they have waited. Some are still waiting.

Their property drops a trifle a year and the next job of paint creeps-up creeps-up creeps-up; it'll take more paint by a gallon a year; they don't save a cent, and the property goes on suffering. DEVOE.

ENTERTAINED IN ELKHART

Last Saturday night the Grape-land Basket Ball Girls and all who went to Elkhart with the team, were invited to the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Foster, where they were met and royally entertained by the young people of Elkhart. The hostess had prepared a large number of interesting games and contests, which made the time, until the train came, seem very short. After serving delicious refreshments in a very unique way, the guests made their adieus, after expressing this as the most enjoyable feature of the trip—even more so than the victory a few hours before. The team was escorted to the train by their hostesses. Mrs. Foster was assisted by Misses Laseter and Stubblefield.

AN ANNOUNCEMENT

On Thursday, March 25, the school at Antrim will cease its labors for the present term and we have a feeling akin to sadness as we see the good work about to come to an end, but we feel that when the harvest is again ripe that we shall have just as great a source of energy, hope and interest as that which has caused our efforts to be not in vain this term, and that ere many months shall have passed, the boys and girls will be again in the front lines of the battle and again mounting the ladder of learning toward the desire of our hearts and the ambition of our souls.

Thursday afternoon March 25, will be given to enjoyment and all are invited to be present.

Beside the program prepared by the children we hope to have an old fashioned Spelling Bee, in which all will be invited to participate. Be there. From Antrim.

He'd Change His Wooring.

"If you had it to do over again, would you marry?"

"Yes, I think I would."

"The same girl?"

"Yes, the same girl."

"Then you have no regrets whatever?"

"I wouldn't say that exactly. If I had it to do over again, I shouldn't be so reckless during my courtship days with promises of the things I would buy for her after marriage. I'd have more common sense and fewer electric motor cars and fur coats and servants and unlimited charge accounts in my wooring."

No Hay.

As is usual on Monday mornings, a stream of offenders against the lesser laws passes in and out of the police court dock. Nothing happened to lighten the gloom of the proceedings until a rather battered woman took her place behind the rail.

"Name?" queried an official.

"Meddow, sir."

"How do you spell it?" said the magistrate.

"Hem-He-D-D-He-W, sir!"

"Ah, I see! There is no 'hay' in your meadow!"—Answers (London).

"Have you ever eaten any turtle soup?" he was asked.

"Nope," confessed old Dad Bing. A moment later he added: "But I've been where it was at."

CHILDREN SHOWED IT

Effect of Their Warm Drink in the Morning.

"A year ago I was a wreck from coffee drinking and was on the point of giving up my position in the school room because of nervousness.

"I was telling a friend about it and she said, 'We drink nothing at meal time but Postum, and it is such a comfort to have something we can enjoy drinking with the children.'"

"I was astonished that she would allow the children to drink any kind of coffee, but she said Postum was not coffee, but a most healthful drink for children as well as for older ones, and that the condition of both the children and adults showed that to be a fact.

"I was in despair and determined to give Postum a trial, following the directions carefully. It was a decided success and I was completely won by its rich delicious flavor.

"In a short time I noticed a decided improvement in my condition and kept growing better month after month, until now I am healthy, and do my work in the school room with ease and pleasure. I would not return to nerve-destroying coffee for any money."

Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

Postum comes in two forms: Regular Postum—must be well boiled. 15c and 25c packages.

Instant Postum—is a soluble powder. A teaspoonful dissolves quickly in a cup of hot water and, with cream and sugar, makes a delicious beverage instantly. 30c and 50c tins.

Both kinds are equally delicious and cost per cup about the same.

WORK OF LEGISLATORS AT THE STATE CAPITAL

TEXAS SENATORS AND REPRESENTATIVES NOW OCCUPIED WITH MANY PROBLEMS.

HOUSE AND SENATE BILLS

Many New Measures Have Been Passed to Date, While New Bills Are Constantly Being Offered for Consideration.

Austin, Tex.—At 12:35 Tuesday morning the Valentine "Waters Pierce bill" was engrossed, as amended, by a vote of 59 to 51. Amendments provide that the attorney general shall make investigations of any corporation seeking to take advantage of the act, and shall examine books and records in and out of the state, and that any corporation intending to take advantage of the act shall so notify the attorney general. Another amendment was added that no corporation having a stockholder who was a stockholder of any corporation previously convicted of violating the anti-trust laws or refused a permit to do business in the state shall be admitted in Texas under this act.

At 12:40 Tuesday morning the house adjourned until 10 o'clock "tomorrow." "Tomorrow," however, was Tuesday morning.

Appropriations for normal schools, woman suffrage and oil legislation were the chief subjects debated in the house Monday. Many other subjects were brought up, but occasioned no discussion, the members merely expressing themselves by voting.

The house passed finally Mr. Dickson's bill requiring county tax collectors and attorneys to mail notices to delinquent taxpayers and providing penalties for these officials when failing or refusing to do their utmost to collect these delinquent taxes. This is intended to eliminate the printing of delinquent tax lists.

The following measures were engrossed in the house Monday:

Mr. Burges' bill, providing for state board of forestry and state forester.

Mr. Vanney's bill, providing for possession of property involved in litigation while suits are pending.

Mr. Tiller's bill, reducing to 500 the minimum population of towns or villages authorized to regulate charges of electric light and power companies.

Austin, Tex.—The senate Monday passed finally the Jones-Bolin house bill for the creation of a new state normal, amended, however, to establish three new normal colleges, and further amended by Senator Parr, proponent of the measure in the senate, to provide that the governor, lieutenant governor and attorney general constitute the locating board. The bill contemplates the location of normal colleges in South Texas, East Texas and West Texas.

The bill was passed finally by a vote of 24 to 3.

The senate killed Senator Lattimore's anti-blacklisting bill by refusing to engross it.

The senate then went into the consideration of local bills, of which nearly thirty were passed finally during the night session. Among the bills of a general nature which were passed finally was the Harris "pure seed bill," the bill by Senator Conner permitting the appointment of deputy constables in towns of 1,500 or more population; by Senator Brelsford, permitting companies chartered to do an oil business to also engage in the sale, transportation and manufacture of gas; and by Senator Nugent, providing for the cancellation of unsold road bonds by a two-thirds vote of qualified voters.

The senate also passed finally the insurance bill by Senator Henderson, over which there was some debate in the afternoon, when it was engrossed.

The senate passed finally the McNealus bill creating a state board of public accounting, consisting of five members to be appointed by the governor, and defining the qualifications of expert accountants.

Austin, Tex.—The bill providing penalties for fraudulent advertising was placed on third reading Saturday in the house and, after some discussion, the enacting clause was ordered stricken out and the measures killed.

The house Saturday engrossed Mr. Dickson's bill relating to the collection of delinquent taxes, then in rapid succession, without any roll call, passed finally the following bills:

By Mr. Dayton: Fixing the time of filing an answer in all cases where the defendant is cited by publication; By Mr. Cunningham: Providing for teaching agriculture in summer normals and teachers' institutes.

By Mr. Byrne and others: Providing for the establishment of a state school of correspondence in Austin.

By Messrs. Metcalfe and Spencer: Authorizing executors under foreign wills to sell real estate probated in this state.

By Mr. Crudginton: Providing for an additional stenographer to be employed by the supreme court.

By Mr. Mendell: Removing requirement that trustees and superintendent of the Confederate home shall be Confederate veterans.

By Mr. Metcalfe: Requiring railway track foremen to report and describe animals killed on railroad right of way, filling same with the county clerk.

By Messrs. Greenwood and Dunn: Requiring taxpayers to pay property taxes for preceding year before voting in any bond election.

Austin, Tex.—The senate Saturday reconsidered its action of Friday in postponing until March 19 further consideration of the bill by Mr. Bailey of Harris, regulating oil pipe lines. This places the bill on the calendar where it may be called up any time.

The senate engrossed the committee substitute for the Sackett house joint resolution, submitting a constitutional amendment to separate the State University and the Agricultural and Mechanical College.

Late in the afternoon the senate adopted the pending amendment by Senator Lattimore to the McGregor cotton seed investigating commission bill, the amendment providing that the investigation be conducted by the attorney general and eliminating all reference to the governor, after which the bill was engrossed.

The senate adjourned at 5:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon out of respect to the memory of its chaplain, Rev. H. M. Sears, who died at his home Saturday.

Austin, Tex.—Two joint resolutions providing for constitutional amendments were passed finally in the house Friday and two others were defeated. The text book bill was passed finally and goes to the senate. A number of local measures were passed finally and engrossed.

The resolution by Mr. Dove providing for the purchase by the state of lands to be sold to actual settlers for homesteads was passed finally, 97 to 32.

The resolution by Messrs. Boner, Florer, Dove and others exempting cotton and woolen factories from taxation for a period of ten years, urged by Mr. Boner as a platform demand, passed finally by a vote of 119 to 4.

Mr. McAskill's bill defining and regulating reciprocal indemnity insurance, was passed finally without discussion.

The uniform child labor bill by Messrs. Laney and Parks, after being amended by Mr. Woods of Navarro to provide for proof for exemption certificates and to conform with provisions of the compulsory education, Mr. Sullivan offered an amendment exempting from the bill all counties having no city with a population of more than 10,000, which was opposed by Mr. Laney but adopted 64 to 20, and the bill then was passed finally, 72 to 43.

Austin, Tex.—The senate having recessed Thursday night, the consideration of the Texas company bill was resumed Friday morning, and at the outset Senator McNealus offered an amendment striking out the enacting clause. Senator Bailey of Harris offered several amendments to make the measure conform to the amendment adopted Thursday night placing pipe lines under the control of the railroad commission, which were adopted with little opposition.

Without debate the senate passed finally a bill by Senator Johnson requiring that all public pool halls be closed at 9:30 o'clock every week day evening. No opposition was offered.

By unanimous consent Senator Wiley called up his "pure sugar" bill, and it was passed finally with but little debate after he had offered several minor amendments which were adopted.

The senate passed finally the Lattimore bill permitting corporations to contribute to bona fide commercial organizations. An amendment by Senator Townsend was adopted providing this act shall not affect any pending suit.

Austin, Tex.—The house considered senate bills all day Thursday, advancing quite a few to third reading, but killing the Morrow preferential primary bill, permitting voters to vote for "first" and "second" choice candidates, and also killing the senate committee bill making it a felony for a tenant to dispose of the landlord's share of the crop.

Two senate bills, making appropriations for $25,000 to fight the introduction of the bubonic plague into Texas, and $25,000 for the Texas exhibit at the Panama-Pacific Exposition in San Francisco, were advanced to third reading with sufficient majorities to indicate their final passage with the emergency clause.

The following bills were advanced to third reading:

Senator Johnson's bill appropriating $6,196 for temporary buildings at the West Texas Normal School in Canyon, Texas.

BEACHEY, GREAT AMERICAN AVIATOR, FALLS TO DEATH

Thousands See Tragic End of Famous Aviator As He Drops 3,000 Feet Into San Francisco Bay.

San Francisco, Cal.—The spectacular career of Lincoln Beachey, one of the most daring of American aviators was ended Sunday when he fell to his death at the Panama-Pacific Exposition in sight of thousands of spectators. Beachey was completing his second flight of the day when the accident occurred. The fatal fall was attributed to the fact that Beachey attempted his "stunts" in a monoplane.

On the first flight all went well and the aviator's familiar tricks were indulged in with the exception of the perpendicular drop. This Beachey had saved for the climax. It proved too much of a strain for the frame of the monoplane.

The machine was at an altitude of about three thousand feet when Beachey shut off his power. It dropped head on for the earth and then the aviator grasped his control levers to adjust the planes for the graceful descent which had characterized his previous flights.

At that point the wings crumpled like a collapsed umbrella and the aeroplane, turning over and over in its fall, plunged into San Francisco bay. With the exception of a few splintered fragments of the aeroplane floating on the surface of the bay, no sign of the wrecked machine could be seen.

Launches equipped with grappling hooks put out immediately and a boat's crew joined in an attempt to recover the body of the aviator, who was strapped to his machine under forty feet of water.

Divers searching the shallow inshore waters of the bay found the form of the aviator in the twisted rods and torn canvas of the machine. The divers freed the body from the wreckage and brought it to the surface.

That Beachey still was alive when he struck the water and had sustained no material injury as the result of the fall except a broken leg, was the opinion expressed by Dr. David Stafford autopsy surgeon. The face, said Dr. Stafford, was discolored from choking and strangling, indicating death was due to drowning. Cuts on the aviator's hands were taken to indicate that he had made desperate efforts to release himself.

Lincoln Beachey was regarded as the most skillful and daring of American aviators. He earned his reputation long before the French fliers, headed by Pegoud, began to glide through the air upside down. Beachey was in retirement when these feats were heralded and was drawn back into the game by his desire to excel the remarkable flying of the French men.

With an aeroplane of small wing surface he flew upside down, made spirals while head downward and looped the loop.

Beachey was born in San Francisco in September, 1887, and made his first flight in 1905 at Oakland, Cal., piloting a dirigible balloon. In 1906 he circled the capitol at Washington. He soared over New York City in July, 1907. His motor failed and the wind whirled the dirigible across the river, wrecking it. His first heavier than air machine a monoplane, was wrecked at St. Paul in 1910. He made a successful flight in Los Angeles, but wrecked another flyer.

May 5, 1911, he was the first man to circle the capitol in Washington in an aeroplane. He then startled the world by flying over Niagara Falls. Later he won the first intercity aeroplane race in America, flying from New York to Philadelphia.

SAGE TEA AND SULPHUR DARKENS YOUR GRAY HAIR

Look Years Younger! Try Grandma's Recipe of Sage and Sulphur and Nobody Will Know.

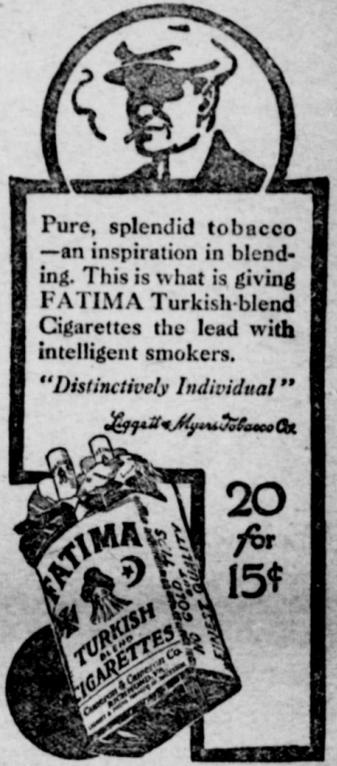

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray; also ends dandruff, itching scalp and stops falling hair. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy." You will get a large bottle for about 50 cents. Everybody uses this old, famous recipe, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger. If All the World Lived in Texas.

If the entire population of the world resided in Texas there would be only an average of ten persons to the acre, according to figures compiled by John Adams of Fort Worth. The population of the world is about 1,500,000,000. If all the inhabitants of the world lived in Texas the density of population would be about equal to the density of Fort Worth's population, which is 5,440 a square mile. There are 265,-

NO DOUBT THAT RESINOL DOES HEAL SICK SKIN

When you know physicians have prescribed resinol for 20 years in the treatment of eczema and other itching, burning, unsightly skin eruptions, and have written thousands of reports saying: "It is my regular prescription for itching." "Resinol has produced brilliant results." "The result it gave was marvelous in one of the worst cases of eczema," etc., etc., doesn't it make you feel that "this is the treatment I can rely on for MY skin-trouble?"

The moment resinol ointment touches itching skins, the itching stops and healing begins. With the aid of resinol soap, it almost always clears away every trace of eczema, ringworm, pimples, or other tormenting eruptions quickly, leaving the skin clear and healthy. Sold by all druggists.—Adv.

It's Foolish to Suffer

You may be brave enough to stand backache, or headache, or dizziness. But if, in addition, urination is disordered, look out!
If you don't try to fix your sick kidneys, you may fall into the clutches of kidney trouble before you know it. But if you live more carefully and help your kidneys with Doan's Kidney Pills, you can stop the pains you have and avoid future danger as well.

says: "I thought I was going to die with kidney trouble. My feet and limbs were numb and I had terrible pains in the small of my back.
The kidney secretions
passed far too often.
Doan's Kidney Pills
cured all these ailments. My kidneys are now normal and my back doesn't trouble me."

A Message To Women

Those of Middle Age Especially.

When you have found no remedy for the horrors that oppress you during change of life, when through the long hours of the day it seems as though your back would break, when your head aches constantly, you are nervous, depressed and suffer from those dreadful bearing down pains, don't forget that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the safest and surest remedy, and has carried hundreds of women safely through this critical period.

Read what these three women say:

From Mrs. Hornung, Buffalo, N. Y.

BUFFALO, N. Y.—"I am writing to let you know how much your medicine has done for me. I failed terribly during the last winter and summer and every one remarked about my appearance. I suffered from a female trouble and always had pains in my back, no appetite and at times was very weak."

"I was visiting at a friend's house one day and she thought I needed Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took it and have gained eight pounds, have a good appetite and am feeling better every day.
Everybody is asking me what I am doing and I recommend Lydia E.
Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. You may publish this letter if you wish and I hope others who have the same complaint will see it and get health from your medicine as I did."—Mrs. A. HORNUNG, 91 Stanton St., Buffalo, N. Y.

Made Me Well and Strong.

MACEDON, N. Y.—"I was all run down and very thin in flesh, nervous, no appetite, could not sleep and was weak, and felt badly all the time. The doctors said I had poor blood and what I had was turning to water. I took different medicines which did not help me, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made me well and strong, and I am recommending it to my friends."—Mrs. FRED CHACE, R. No. 2, Macedon, N. Y.

The Change of Life.

BELTSVILLE, Md.—"By the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I have successfully passed through a most trying time, the Change of Life. I suffered with a weakness, and had to stay in bed three days at a time. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound restored me to perfect health, and I am praising it for the benefit of other women who suffer as I did."—Mrs. W. S. DUVALL, Route No. 1, Beltsville, Md.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No one sick with woman's ailments does justice to herself if she does not try this famous medicine made from roots and herbs. It has restored so many suffering women to health.

W. C. VICKERS
GRAPELAND, TEXAS

Last Friday evening at the school auditorium, Misses Lucile Laseter and Roberta Scott, of Elkhart, entertained a small, but appreciative audience with rich piano solos and choice readings. The program was ably rendered, and these young ladies made a favorable impression upon all who heard them, and we await the time with pleasure, when we shall have the opportunity of having them with us again.

GRAPELAND WINS

The Grapeland High School basket ball team was in first-class condition when it met the Elkhart team Saturday afternoon, and piled up a score of 25 to 9. Not a single change was made in the line-up of the visiting team, although the work of the forwards was especially trying during the first half because the ball was played mostly toward the Grapeland goal.

Just as the referee's whistle blew, Miss Rena Ross Richards, the jumping center, batted the ball to the side center, Miss Carry Spence, who played it to the forward, a goal was made in less than a minute and an aggressive game was played throughout.

The guards, Misses Marie White and Linnie D. Haltom, showed good speed and effective interference and accuracy in throwing the ball. The centers showed team work in playing to the forwards, Misses Winnie Davis and Esther Darsey, who received most applause from the side lines.

The home team were worthy opponents and have many elements of strength. Miss Charm Parker, who played guard the second half, threw the ball more than fifty feet several times, which drew much applause from the by-standers.

The line-up: Elkhart—Centers, Etta Corley, Ethel Neel; forwards, Lurline Paxton, Ettie Lee Pope; guards, Elinor Paxton, Lillie Hooks; substitutes, Charm Parker, Florence Paxton, Mary Hemby.

Grapeland—Centers, Rena Ross Richards, Carry Spence; forward, Winnie Davis, Esther Darsey; guards, Marie White, Linnie D. Haltom; substitutes, Adelaide Selkirk, Georgia Bell Richards. Length of halves, 15 minutes; referee, Mr. Clifton of Salmon; umpire, Miss Roberta Scott.

To Miss Calhoun, the Elkhart coach, much credit is due for the excellent care of the team and visitors, who were given a reception at the Parker residence till twelve o'clock.

Those who attended from Grapeland besides the team were Misses Addie Hill, Louise Denny, Eulalia Lively, Mabel Boykin, Mary Lou Darsey, Perlina Spence, Mr. and Mrs. Will Selkirk, J. L. Jackson, Jack Murchison, Clarence McCarty, Tom Brooks, Chas. Jones, Murdoch Darsey, Billie Allee.

ripples ON THE TRINITY

March 15.—That moon that did not get full in February got too full in March and spewed out some mighty cold weather, and the "white rain" we did not enjoy, however the cold did not kill our gardens and we are hopeful the fruit is not all killed but cannot tell to what extent it may be damaged, for quite a bit of corn planting was checked up, which may all be for the best, as it was the wrong time of year to plant according to moonology, but should next week be favorable there will be a good lot put in the ground.

There is very little land in these parts that will lie out this year.

Today was another made to order day and looked real "fishy" and with a new moon hope to have some nice out-patches in our midst and from this on we are going to plant a fall patch. Some visiting yesterday. J. L. Chiles says he is awfully behind with his.

Our Sunday School is having a hard pull, however we have a few faithful ones. We want to meet at 3 o'clock next Sunday and practice singing and elect officers for the year. Everyone who is willing to work for the Lord on a credit come. Mr. and Mrs. Lenard Kent and Bailey Taylor are new members and we are glad to have them.

Harry Denton is spending a while with his sister, Mrs. Tom Kent.

Jack Beazley and Frank Taylor lost a good mule last week, which we style hard luck.

Mr. Stevens has a bunch of Mexicans clearing some fine bottom land. They want to add to the farm until they will have a thousand acre farm.

Nothing ahead of us for a good while but work, work, and everybody and the cook is needed at their post for a few weeks at least. As ever, ZACK.

ADDITIONAL PEA ACREAGE

Previously reported 237 acres; R. T. Murchison, 4 acres; W. E. Gallant, 2 acres; H. S. Harrison, 5 acres; Dick Calhoun, 5 acres.

The meeting was held Saturday to see about ordering seed and quite a number turned in the amount wanted, together with the money to pay for same. The amount collected was 8c per pound, though the seed are going to cost a little less than this amount, and the secretary will refund all money which has been overpaid. It was thought best to collect this amount in order to have funds sufficient to pay for seed, freight, drayage, etc. There are yet quite a number who have not responded to this call, and if you are going to buy seed, it is important that you hurry and turn in the amount to the secretary (A. A. Luker) as the order will be placed within the next few days. Figure it this way: 10 pounds of seed to the acre and 8c per pound. Figure out the number of pounds you need, and if impossible to see the secretary personally mail him a check to cover the amount. Please do this at once.
