Oct. 14.—Since our last letter there have been some changes, where the fleecy staple then was shining old Pied is now gathering the green foliage. We are very thankful for the nice calm weather. If the wind had blown very hard we would possibly have lost some of our corn.

We understand that Aldean Lively has purchased A. P. McKinzie's business house and contemplates putting in an up to date stock of general merchandise.

Mrs. Oscar Dennis spent most of last week in Palestine with her daughter Lola, who is in the Home sanitarium where she recently underwent a very severe operation.

Clyde Dennis spent yesterday in Palestine.

Mr. and Mrs. Arland Gainey have returned from New Mexico. Mrs. Gainey has been sick for some time.

Seth Fitchett left last week to help Uncle Sam get ready to lick the Kaiser. We are very sorry to see our dear boys go but when we stop to think what putting it off might mean to us we say to go and do your duty, and to those not subject to army service you have a duty to perform. Are you doing it? The destiny of our boys is in the hands of those of us who are left at home. Back the boys up with your letters and with your prayers and with your cash. If you want to do something worth while, do it now. Don't wait until the boys have returned and then praise them. Do it now. The young man who steps out and says, "Father, Mother, Brother, Sister, you stay at home in peace; I'll go." There is nothing too good to do for him. How proud we are made to feel when we read a letter from the boys and know they are being taken good care of. We should all feel proud to think that we are a part of the greatest nation under the sun, and so let us all stand together and in the outcome all will be well.

Last spring we told the readers of the Messenger about John Tyer's broom corn crop. Mr. Tyer has had some unusual experience with his broom corn. He ordered seed three different times. One batch of seed came up very healthy looking so Mr. Tyer said, "It's all right boys, I'll get my brooms." But it kept on growing and got so large that he told the boys that there must have been a mistake made in the shipment of the seed—it must have been broom-handle seed. It kept right on growing and finally it began to tassel. Then Mr. Tyer began to figure how he could use it without a loss. It was too long for one broom handle and too short for two. Eventually he decided to make syrup of it, so he made over 200 gallons. Now he says bring your biscuits with you and come over and name the kind of syrup he made.

Yours for more broom-handle syrup.
JAMES R.

H. C. Hale and Miss Jewel Dickson were married Sunday at the home of the bride's parents north of Grapeland. Rev. Jim Bean pronounced the words that made them one.

Mesdames. Geo. E. Darsey, M. D. Murchison, and George Crook, and Dick, Lewis Nance, George and Pete Murchison motored to Dallas and Ft. Worth Sunday to take in the fair and see the soldier boys at Camp Bowie.

Rev. J. F. Lively was a pretty busy man the latter part of last week performing marriage ceremonies. Thursday he went to Volga to fill his appointment and while there united in matrimony Grady Turner and Miss Minnie Little, Bryant Little and Miss Josie Robbins and Paul Maples and Miss Ida Goodrum. Returning Sunday night, he was met at his home by Luther Brown and Miss Bell Thredford, who were married in the presence of large number of friends. The Messenger extends best wishes and congratulations to all of them.

When the breath is bad and the appetite disordered, Prickly Ash Bitters is the remedy needed. It purifies the stomach, liver and bowels, sweetens the breath, promotes vigor and cheerfulness. Price $1.25 per bottle.—Wade L. Smith, Special Agent.

A barn belonging to Bob Edens, who resides a short distance north of town, was destroyed by fire about 3 o'clock Sunday morning. The origin of the fire is unknown. The loss on the barn and its contents is about $800.00.

The second lyceum number will appear at the auditorium tonight (Thursday). Coleman Hatfield will appear on the platform. He has a beautiful story to tell that will interest all. The same prices prevail as heretofore.

Local News

Reported from New Prospect

Oct. 15.—Everything is moving along smoothly with the people of this community at present.

There is some sickness here but not many cases are being reported.

Ford Newman is quite ill, but we trust that he may soon be up and able to go among his many friends who are feeling quite anxious about him.

The Methodist Protestants held their fourth quarterly conference at this place last Tuesday. Elder Butler preached at 11 o'clock and dinner was served at the church, business being attended to in the afternoon. A goodly number of visiting members were present.

Fred Bridges and family have gone to Oklahoma to visit Mrs. Bridges' parents. They traveled through in their car.

P. L. Herod and family visited in the Rock Hill community Sunday.

R. E. Martin and family, of Grapeland, visited relatives here Sunday.

Jim Music attended the marriage of Cliff Hale to Miss Jewel Dickson, Sunday at the residence of the bride's parents in our sister community, Center Grove. These young people are well known all around here and we wish them every joy and happiness.

Our school opened this morning with Mr. Kelly and Miss Campbell as teachers. We feel sure we will have a successful term if the patrons will co-operate with them. Teachers cannot make a successful school without some help.

Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Keen are rejoicing over the arrival of a fine boy—a real soldier we suppose.

Lon Newman is here from West Texas visiting his brother.

News is scarce we must ring off.

three children, her mother, two sisters and brother.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. D. B. Clapp, of Palestine, and a large crowd of sorrowing friends of the family were in attendance.

IT WAS A SMART MULE

A farmer alleged a freight train of the defendant company had hit one of his mules.

"Now, Mr. Jones," said the attorney for the corporation to the aggrieved party, who occupied the witness stand, "will you kindly tell the court whether or not your mule was on the track, the property of the defendant, when hit by the train?"

"Well, sir," replied Mr. Jones, "I didn't witness the occurrence, but I suppose things must have been about as you say. This was a pretty bright mule and I reckon if that train had took out after him in the woods which fringe the track there where he was killed he would have got behind a tree."—Clipped from the Lufkin News.

YOUNG FOLKS, HERE IS YOUR OPPORTUNITY TO ECONOMIZE

Pick scraps of time from the waste basket, turn them into dollars; earn while you learn by taking a money back guaranteed course of Bookkeeping, shorthand, Business Law, Business Arithmetic, Salesmanship, Advertising or business writing through our correspondence department. We secure satisfactory results or refund tuition. All tuition paid on correspondence course is credited on personal course if the student desires to finish in our school. In other words, the instructions received in the correspondence department costs you absolutely nothing where a scholarship is bought later for personal work. Many find it to their advantage, even where they intend to take personal work later, to first enroll for correspondence work and utilize their spare moments until they are ready to enter, since it costs nothing extra. This often saves them a couple of months' time and board in school on personal work, and enables them to leave college and accept a good position two months earlier. Others take the correspondence course, finish it and accept a position without entering school.

We use our original copy-righted methods. We make every subject practical and interesting from start to finish; give every lesson personal attention and a personal reply. Our courses are practical and interesting by correspondence. We have taught hundreds successfully, and know we can teach you or we would not guarantee to refund your money. Why continue wasting your spare moments? Turn them into knowledge and make them earn you dollars and serve your country. You can't afford to idly dream away your time while your country is calling for help to handle the increased office work caused by this World War.

COTTON REPORT

There were 17,723 bales of cotton ginned in Houston county from the crop of 1917 prior to September 25th, 1917, as compared with 8,637 bales ginned to September 25th, 1916.

C. E. Jones, of Crockett, was here last Friday. Mr. Jones stated that he had sold his farm and was looking for a new location and might drift back to Grapeland. We assure him he would be welcome.

COMMUNITY CO-OPERATION

Did you ever hear of a live town or a live community in which the merchants were not as a body both prosperous and progressive?

Community buying and selling simply means the trading of money from one interest to another, thereby keeping as large a per cent as possible of locally produced wealth at home.

Take for example your expenditures with your dry goods merchant. He in turn patronizes the grocer, druggist, hardware dealer, doctor, lawyer, dentist, etc. Then, too, the salaries of his employees are also to a large extent spent with various local establishments.

Also in localities where home trading is practiced, merchants purchase many local products, thus turning back to patrons some of the money spent by them.

No one wants to live in a dead community, and it would be well to bear in mind the fact that upon the amount of business transacted by your merchants depends the development of the community as well as the prosperity of the citizenship.

You can, except in rare instances, spend your money in your home stores as advantageously as elsewhere, as even the smallest merchants, as a rule, carry standard brands in all lines.

Nearly everything we produce in the Southwest is bringing banner prices and we should keep as much of this wealth as possible in the localities in which it is created.—Sel.

NOT TO BLAME

A Kansas editor is about as hard to get ahead of as a Kansas cyclone.

Mr. Weaver, of the Sedwick Pantagraph recently raised the price of his paper from $1.00 to $1.50 per year, and in reply to some complaint heard about the change says:

"You may be of the opinion that the paper isn't worth $1.50; neither is a gallon of gasoline worth 27 cents, nor ten pounds of sugar worth $1.00, nor a pound of veal worth 30 cents, nor a bushel of corn worth $1.50; but these are the prices the people are paying. Potatoes are retailing at $3.00 per bushel and sow-bosom at 23 cents per pound. So don't get mad at us. Goodness knows we didn't start that fuss in Europe."—Ex.

While money will take you a long way it won't always bring you back. Wit will not only take you most anywhere, but also brings you back. Of the two it's the better. So get wit and wisdom.

Every man who has fifty dollars to spare, and we have many of them in this community, ought to buy a Liberty Bond.

Which had you rather do, buy a liberty bond from Uncle Sam and draw four per cent interest, or pay a heavy indemnity to the German Kaiser? Go buy your bond to day.

You had better catch up with your correspondence before November 2, for after that date it will cost you three cents to mail a letter. Everybody will have to pay the expense of the war.

And another reason why the Kaiser has decided not to levy an indemnity on the United States is because the hens in Germany all use toothpicks made from American pine.

In view of the great drouth which is due to strike Dallas Saturday some of the papers up in that part of the state have been advising their readers to "do their Christmas shopping early."

Beginning November 1, the price of the Messenger will advance to $1.50 per year. If you are taking the paper now, renew your subscription before that date and get advantage of the $1.00 rate. If you are not now a subscriber but expect to be, subscribe before November 1 and save 50c.

Down in the village of Houston the tonsorial artists have pried the price of a shave up to two bits and the Houston Post is throwing fits about it. Of course it may not be possible to properly size up the situation from this distance, but the snake editor would timidly suggest that if the Houstonians don't like the idea of a twenty-five cent shave they had better just let 'em grow.

The GrapeLand Messenger announces that on November 1st the subscription price of the paper will be $1.50 instead of $1.00 as at present. It wont take you long to figure out that a raise in prices of the weekly papers all over the country is absolutely necessary as everything entering into the cost of a newspaper has advanced from 20 to 200 per cent and more in some instances, besides some editors have to eat, and "eats" are like Jim Ferguson's Higher Education; they are "Very High." Senator Willacy's astounding story "The Heavy Hand of Invisible Rule" beginning in the Oct. 20th issue will open your eyes to the way the people of Texas are being mulcted, it will show you just how the money that you sweat and struggle to make is being squandered by the insidious forces that control this state. It is something that every man who pays taxes wants to know and ought to know. Nobody has ever dared to publish these facts before. The only way to learn them is from the pages of FARM AND RANCH.

CANNING ISSUE contains about 100 recipes for drying, preserving, pickling and canning fruits and vegetables. These recipes are invaluable to the housewife who watches the cost of her kitchen.

farmer said to the Tribune man that he wanted to pay for his paper this year in sweet potatoes and when asked what they were worth the reply came back stunningly: "One dollar and fifty cents per bushel." Last year we exchanged the paper for potatoes readily at fifty cents per bushel. Perhaps the potatoes cost the farmer more to raise this year; we don't know about that, but we don't doubt it in the least.—San Augustine Tribune.

Don't be afraid to do your duty because someone ridicules or opposes you. A man who has opinions of his own and the courage to advocate them will be sure to have opposition in this world because he runs contrary to the opinions of the people, but just keep right ahead if your cause is right and your conscience clear. Don't bother yourself about what people say; life is too short for that. Some will abuse you through envy, others for the want of principle, and some because they honestly differ with you, but if you keep right on, openly, manfully and intelligently and with proper dignity and character, honesty of purpose and self respect, those who differ with you will respect your opinions.

HOW TO SECURE A LIBERTY BOND

You are satisfied that it is your duty to yourself and to your country to buy a Liberty Bond. Now you want to know just how to secure one.

Go to any bank, sign the application form for the bond of the value desired. The bonds are of the following values:

$50, $100, $500, $1,000, $5,000 and $10,000.

Your banker will take your check for 2 percent of the amount of the bond you desire to purchase. The remaining payments will be made as follows:

18 per cent on November 15, 1917.

40 per cent on December 15, 1917.

40 per cent on January 15, 1918.

You can pay in full at the time of application for any bond up to the value of $1,000 if you wish.

If you care to pay for your bond in full at the time of application you can have your bond by about October 10th. If you pay by installments you will receive your bond as soon as you have finished paying for it.

The bonds are free from Federal, state or local taxes. In the case of wealthy people who pay income sur taxes, and hold bonds of over $5,000 there is a small tax, but as far as the average man is concerned they are tax free.

Any banker will handle your application and charge you nothing for the trouble.

The interest on the bonds is 4 per cent payable to you on May 15th and November 15th of each year.

The bonds will be redeemed in full by the Government on and after November 15th, 1927. In the meantime the bonds may pass from one person to another just as a dollar bill does. There is very little difference between giving your check for a $500 dollar bill and giving it for a Liberty Bond.

Do not neglect the warnings of nature. If your appetite is poor, breath bad, tongue coated, you will be sick unless you take steps to put your system in good condition. Quite a little excitement was created at the depot Saturday night just as the north-bound train was about to pull out. The commotion was caused by a negro, Will Denby, from Shaver's saw mill, who objected to his conjugal partner leaving with her new-found dusky soul-mate, and proceeded to work on his delinquent spouse with his pocket cutlery. The woman was not seriously hurt and proceeded on her way. Denby was arrested by Justice of the Peace Jno. A. Davis, who happened to be at the depot. He gave bond and was released. The other negro in the case had made himself exceedingly scarce on Denby's first appearance on the scene.

POULTRY FACTS

EGGS AND MARKET CHICKENS

Plymouth Rocks, Wyandottes and Rhode Island Reds Are Most Popular American Breeds.

American markets prefer fowls that are medium size, that have short, plump bodies and yellow flesh and legs. The breeds that carry these requirements are the Wyandottes, Plymouth Rocks and Rhode Island Reds, says a writer in Indiana Farmer. One who wishes to combine the selling of eggs and market poultry will make no mistake if he chooses one of these breeds.

The smaller breeds of fowls—those of the Leghorn class—are not as desirable as a market fowl, for the reasons that they have small bodies and do not fatten readily. Some markets discriminate against Leghorns, quite often the prices offered being four or five cents under the figures given for the larger fowls. On the other hand, if one expects to obtain the greatest possible income from eggs, it certainly would be advisable for him to handle the smaller fowls. As a class, Leghorns lay better than the larger fowls and consume less feed. A Leghorn pullet will reach laying maturity a month earlier than will pullets of the larger breeds.

The larger breeds, such as Langshans and Cochins, are not raised extensively for the reason that they are considered poor layers. In some sections of the country, where large roasting chickens and capons are in demand, they are profitably grown.

EGGS ARE MOST PROFITABLE

Should Be Important Source of Income From Farm Flock—Sell Broilers During Spring.

Eggs for market should be the most important source of income from the farm flock, according to M. C. Kilpatrick of the Ohio college of agriculture. There is a steadily increasing demand for fresh eggs of good quality at profitable prices. In addition eggs are produced with less labor than other poultry products and are more economically marketed.

Poultry for market should be the second source of income. Under present conditions the larger part of the poultry meat produced on most farms is a by-product produced and sold with little regard to the cost of production. The poultryman should plan his work so that while producing eggs for market he may obtain considerable revenue from the sale of broilers during early spring.

MONUMENT FOR A COMPOSER

People of Middletown, Conn., Where Author of "Marching Through Georgia" Lived, Raise Fund.

While Uncle Sam's boys in France may be marching to the music of that stirring air, "Marching Through Georgia," across the bridge in the city of Middletown a committee is trying to secure the final $100 to erect a monument near the birthplace of its composer, Henry Clay Work, says a Portland (Conn.) correspondent for the New York World.

There is a tradition that "Marching Through Georgia" was played so often after the war that in time the very hint of its melody began to grate on General Sherman's nerves and finally he used to request that it be left out of any ceremony in his honor.

Once, when he was visiting a capital in Europe and resting at his hotel, he was peeved to hear a band approaching playing that eternal air. He got into his uniform and stepped to the balcony to review the parade, which he supposed was in his honor, but to his surprise it turned out to be for some other occasion.

Work was a prolific writer of both words and music, and it has been said that his songs ran the entire gamut of expression during the exciting times following Fort Sumter, "from sarcasm to triumph, from gayety to military glory."

RED CROSS GROWING RAPIDLY

Now Has Membership of 3,000,000, Compared With Only 25,000 Two Years Ago.

Two years ago, in 1915, there were 25,000 members in the Red Cross, and the resources were comparatively small, says Farm and Fireside. Today there are 3,000,000 members, and the cash capital of this vast organization is $100,000,000. Within two years we expect the membership to increase to 10,000,000 and the money we receive will be tripled.

If you can imagine a piece of work bigger than that of an express company, a telegraph company or a telephone company which grew to ten times its original size in the space of three months, you will know the kind of a job that is facing the Red Cross. Up until March of this year the Red Cross had 40 workers in the new headquarters in Washington; now there are 730. Mail streams into the offices every day from all over the world, and none of the letters can be dismissed with a brief note. They all require pages of thoughtful advice in response. The demands from the front are increasing daily, and they must be met somehow.

DIDN'T MIND.

Willie, aged five, had been warned not to eat too much fruit pie for supper, but ate a lot, nevertheless. The next morning he related a wonderful dream, in which bears had chased him, a snake had crawled down his neck and a camel turned a somersault over his head and a big elephant rolled over him.

"There!" exclaimed his mother. "I told you if you ate too much pie for supper you would have bad dreams."

"Well, I don't care," replied the youngster. "It was better than a circus, anyhow, and I did not have to pay to get in."—Pearson's Weekly.

LIVER DIDN'T ACT DIGESTION WAS BAD

Says 65 year Old Kentucky Lady, Who Tells How She Was Relieved After a Few Doses of Black-Draught.

Meadorsville, Ky.—Mrs. Cynthia Higginbotham, of this town, says: "At my age, which is 65, the liver does not act so well as when young. A few years ago, my stomach was all out of fix. I was constipated, my liver didn't act. My digestion was bad, and it took so little to upset me. My appetite was gone. I was very weak... I decided I would give Black-Draught a thorough trial as I knew it was highly recommended for this trouble. I began taking it. I felt better after a few doses. My appetite improved and I became stronger. My bowels acted naturally and the least trouble was soon righted with a few doses of Black-Draught." Seventy years of successful use has made Theford's Black-Draught a standard, household remedy. Every member, of every family, at times, need the help that Black-Draught can give in cleansing the system and relieving the troubles that come from constipation, indigestion, lazy liver, etc. You cannot keep well unless your stomach, liver and bowels are in good working order. Keep them that way. Try Black-Draught. It acts promptly, gently and in a natural way. If you feel sluggish, take a dose tonight. You will feel fresh tomorrow. Here are two evening gowns that suggest the directoire. At the left is a dinner frock of pink silk and malines lace. The silk coat has a peplum that turns into pockets, and there are lace sleeves. The skirt of lace hangs in ragged points at the ankles. At the right the gown is of pale lilac taffeta, embroidered on the lower sleeves in pale green, yellow and pink. The bodice is finished with a loose band of colored beads and fastened with neck lace of purple velvet ribbon.

PARIS PRESENTS VARIOUS DESIGNS

Poiret Reopens His House and Shows Many Attractive Models.

WAISTLINE BELOW NORMAL

Lanvin Clings to Slavic and Russian Fashions—Worth Still Uses Trains and Rhinestones.

New York.—This is a vastly exciting time in the fashion zone. It is not alone exciting because women want new clothes for a new season, but for the more important reason that commerce in this country is entirely entangled in the industry of clothes.

A question as to what will be worn is supposed to concern itself with woman's vanity. Never was there such a foolish conclusion. The question of what will be worn is inextricably mixed up with the lives of millions of industrial workers in this country, and upon its judicious adjustment depend the bread and butter, the happiness and the ability to be free from nervous depression of thousands of men too old or too young to fight and thousands of women who have not the leisure to offer their services to war relief.

It is a curious thing that the woman who wants to know, even through an assumed indifference, whether her coat and skirts are in fashion, should be so densely ignorant of the vast ramifications of fashions into the innermost recesses of American life.

No one laughs at fashions in Paris. No one takes them lightly. Every one regards them as a supreme branch of French industry that brings welfare to millions. Each artist takes his or her designs for new clothes under serious consideration, and the state accords them the merit or demerit that they deserve.

Now, what have these great designers done for America this season? That is the leading question among the shopkeepers, the dressmakers, the millions of woman workers in the industry of clothes, the mills, the manufacturers, the importers and the exporters.

We know that the styles for the autumn have been settled, but the masses do not know what each designer has done and what each great fashion establishment has sponsored.

To begin with, Paul Poiret has again opened his house, to show models. That interesting little sign that went up over his house on the Avenue d'Antin, which was also placed on many other doors, saying that the place would be closed until the end of the war, has been taken down. France may have foreseen a long war, but her people felt that things would come to a crisis before the fourth year broke.

Waistline Below Normal. Poiret is always important; therefore, what he shows is of interest. To begin with, he features the waistline which is dropped below the normal, in the Oriental manner. There is very little that would ever appeal to Poiret in the first and second empire fashions. He is strongly barbaric in what he does. He has a genius for fabrics. He knows the art of weaving and dyeing better than most artists in Paris do, and he has special places that work out his ideas. Therefore, he has been able to make frocks in the new kind of plush which will be very hard to get in this country, but which will be desired because it has been featured by a few of the great French dressmakers. The fabric is difficult to describe, because it owes everything to its manner of weaving.

Poiret uses an unusual amount of black and white and brings back quantities of black and white jet lavishly arranged on frocks with a Slavic or Oriental tendency.

His evening gowns feature the high line at the neck, which he has always sponsored. His wife, a beautiful woman who wore his clothes better than anyone else, always adopted the evening gown which showed only two or more inches of the neck and dropped in a flexible line to a low belt.

Poiret will never give up the skirt that suggests Turkish trousers. It is almost as much a symbol of his work as the flat, red rose that he used in his Martine house decorations. He does not object to the separate bodice of velvet that forms part of the evening gown, although he has watched a good many other dressmakers use it since he invented it nearly half a dozen years ago.

Lanvin Is Slavic.

There have been so many things in common between Paul Poiret and Jeanne Lanvin for so many years that some dressmakers have insisted that they are related or that the houses are commercially connected. The personalities of these two designers in France are as different as can be, even beyond the fact that one is a woman and one is a man.

Therefore, it is not surprising that while Poiret clings to the sumptuous effects of an exotic past, Lanvin also continues to hammer upon the anvil of Slavic and Russian fashions.

She has gone to Serbia and Roumania for inspiration and probably draws a color, a line or a suggestion from the Cossacks of central Russia. In direct contrast to these short, brilliant Slavic clothes, she has put out a most dignified evening gown. The skirt is quite long, but without a train, and the belt is nearly over the hip-line. The top part of the skirt has the tightness of the days of the Renaissance, and judging by the many things that Lanvin is doing, as well as other French dressmakers, it looks as though the loose blouse in any form will soon belong to a day that is done.

This is not startling news to the American woman, because the smartly dressed young women have been adopting the tight bodice and the long, tight sleeves in their summer clothes, even making them of gingham and especially of jersey cloth.

Lanvin also exploits the large waistcoat in various materials, to be worn under a coat suit and to serve as a blouse or jerkin when the coat is removed.

The hats she produces with these gowns are often small of brim. She clings to the Russian effect, but she has introduced a small edition of the Continental worn by Lafayette and Washington.

Worth Continues Trains.

Although several of the leading French designers have contributed to the demand for conservation of material by eliminating trains, Worth continues to use these appendages to evening gowns. One would feel that Worth was not himself if he abolished rhinestones or trains, and it makes one feel quite safe that he has not done so.

His bodices are not only covered with rhinestones, but glisten with cut jet in different colors. He uses dark blue and beige for the evening, built in satin and velvet.

Like Poiret, he uses the low waistline, but no matter how heavy his skirts, the bodices are transparent, which is not in sympathy with Poiret at all.

He tries out a bit of first Empire here and there, and he has taken up that wonderful hydrangea blue that Callot made so famous the summer before the war.
