JOB WORTHY OF UNCLE SAM

"Upon whom rests the responsibility?" asks a business writer, referring to the Mississippi floods. "To whom can the nation turn for sure and certain prevention of other such catastrophes in the future? The answer is, 'the federal government.'" Quite so. The Mississippi is a natural river, bisecting the country and drawing its waters from two-thirds of our continental area. It drains many states, and flows through many states, and has flooded several. No state alone can cope with its local flood problems. No group of states can perform the task effectively. Private enterprise cannot do it. It is up to Uncle Sam. This is a frequent experience, only a little more obvious than usual in the present case. Americans have a habit of belittling and distrusting the national government. This is especially true of business men. It is held desirable to let the government wield as little authority as possible, because it is assumed that what the government does, it will do worse than the states or cities would do it, and still worse than private business would do it. But what happens when a big catastrophe comes, or a great need arises? Quickly every minor group forgets how important and efficient it is, and turns to the ever reliable federal government. The bigger the job, the louder the call for Uncle Sam—the giant who represents the combined might of us all. And Uncle Sam never fails when the job is really big. It is in the small things that he falls down.

ALCOHOLIC BREATH

How can you tell when a man is drunk? The only sure way, Dr. Emil Bogen of Cincinnati tells the American Medical association, is by a laboratory test. The ordinary symptoms of alcoholic intoxication are well known—the odor of alcohol, dilated eyes, flushed face which may turn pale in the later stages, staggering gait, confused, thick speech and boisterous behavior. These, however, are not always present. Dr. Bogen points out that different persons act differently under alcoholic influence, and that a drinker may be overcome to such an extent that his judgment powers and behavior are seriously affected "without presenting the entire common picture of drunkenness." Such a person may be really dangerous, and yet seem sober at the time. One of the simplest and surest tests, he says, is a laboratory test of the alcoholic content in the breath. Less than one-tenth of one per cent shows a suspect is sober. But one-half of one per cent alcohol in his breath rates him as completely drunk. There may be more in that crucial prohibition percentage than scoffers have realized.

Germany is more generous in paying the kaiser for his property than in paying Uncle Sam.

MACHINE REPLACES IMMIGRANT

"Let us understand this question of restricting immigration," says the Scientific American. In the first place, we do not stand in need of a larger volume of raw, unskilled labor. Digging ditches? A large mechanical ditch-digger can do the work of 400 picks and shovels. On the farms? In the factories? Tractors, cranes and a host of labor-saving devices of all kinds and descriptions make an army of illiterate hands unnecessary. Here is the immigration question in a nutshell. The time has passed when American prosperity depends on a large, steady supply of unskilled labor. America has less and less use for that class of labor. Shutting off the old supply, by means of our drastic exclusion laws, has helped mightily to make that supply superfluous. Necessity, as usual, has unlocked a new store of energy. thinking mainly of safeguarding the quality of citizenship, we have so stimulated the creative, inventive capacity of the nation that we can now do by machinery and intelligent methods the tasks that formerly required millions of unintelligent hands. This is the land of the machine. Americans of the future will have an ever-growing army of mechanical slaves to do their work for them. We ourselves shall still need to work, mind and body, but we shall not work so hard with the body as to dull the mind, and we shall get more for our work than any other race ever got.

Six Liners Tug at Ropes Today Awaiting for Start Tomorrow With Rotarians Bound for Europe Meet

NEW YORK, May 24.—Six trans-Atlantic liners, loaded to the rails with Rotarians and their families, will sail out of New York harbor Wednesday and Thursday carrying delegates to the eighteenth annual convention of Rotary International which opens at Ostend, Belgium, next Monday morning.

The business and professional men of 40 countries will be represented at the gathering. Special trains are being run from all over Europe to the Belgian seaport and the Japanese delegates are coming by the first through train to run between Tokyo and Paris. Three thousand from the British Isles will attend and it is expected the total attendance will be more than 8,000.

The Belgian director of public safety has snipped away the yards of red tape which, since the war, have delayed the progress of international travelers. Passengers on the Rotary fleet will not be required to display passports or submit to baggage examination. A Rotary button in the coat lapel and a membership identification card will be sufficient evidence of good faith to the director of public safety to cause him to waive the customary inspection.

In order to accommodate the great throng, practically every hotel in Ostend has been turned over for the exclusive use of Rotarians during the convention. Americans who will make this trip will have their hotel room keys handed them before they walk up the gangplank to board their ships in New York harbor.

The convention will be held welcome by King Albert. No hint of what the king will say to the Rotarians has been given but as the object of the gathering is to spread international good-will and understanding, it is believed by many that he will make some important observations on these subjects.

This is the second convention of the organization held in Europe and the first to be held on the European continent and it will also be the first gathering at which Americans and Canadians have not been present in the greater number. This year it is believed those from the British Isles and Continental Europe will be in the majority.

As more than a dozen languages and practically every major religion on the globe today will be represented in the gathering, the sessions will be opened by silent prayer instead of the customary invocation from the platform. The delegates, adherents to Protestantism, Catholicism, Judaism, Shintoism, Mohammedanism, Buddhism, etc., will be asked at the opening session to invoke the blessing of the deity they worship during a minute of silence, rather than be led in prayer by a representative of any particular sect.

In recent years, Rotary has gone into the four corners of the earth. There are now clubs on every con-continent and on most of the great islands. As Rotary has extended its influence it has embraced many whose religious faiths are not common in either Europe or the Americas, and the convention committee this year deemed it the courteous thing to recognize all beliefs by placing emphasis on none.

International President Harry H. Rogers of San Antonio, Texas, and other officers of Rotary, believe the time is appropriate for furthering the Sixth Object of Rotary which is "the advancement of understanding, good will and international peace through a world fellowship of business and professional men united in the Rotary ideal of service."

In order to further this object, groups of Rotarians from other continents will visit the Rotary clubs of Europe and the British Isles in order to get acquainted with the business and professional men of the countries where Rotary is established. The European clubs are arranging special good-will and acquaintance programs for their visitors. Some of the clubs will hold special meetings to receive their visitors. The Paris club plans to hold a luncheon every day during one week in order that the French Rotarians may become acquainted with their fellows in other countries.

After the convention the international officers of Rotary will be entertained at Brussels at a luncheon given by King Albert and his representatives. Later the international officers will be received by King George of England at Buckingham Palace.

BADLY RUN-DOWN

Kentucky Woman Had "Terrible Time" Doing Her Home Work. Strength Returned After She Took Cardui.

Shelbyville, Ky.—"Several years ago," says Mrs. Alven Jense, of this place, "my health was very bad. I was very much run-down. I was in such a weak, nervous condition that I was not able to do my housework. I struggled to keep up, because I had to, but many a time I spent hours in bed, trying to force enough strength to go through the daily routine.

"This condition went on for some time, until I heard about Cardui, which some one told me was good for such ailments. I gave it an immediate trial, and, I am thankful to say, my improvement was rapid. I soon was able to do my housework with ease and comfort. I felt fine and I looked so much better.

"This spring I was not as well as I had been. I was ill in the winter with colds, which left me weak. So I sent at once to the store for Cardui and began taking it. In just a little while I was feeling much better, my strength returned and I was able to get my work done easier and with less effort."

DEATH OF 30,000 CHILDREN IN FIVE YEARS UNNECESSARY

Keep Fit!
Good Health Requires Good Elimination.

To be well, you must keep the blood stream free from impurities. If the kidneys lag, allowing body poisons to accumulate, a toxic condition is created. One is apt to feel dull, languid, tired and aching. A nagging backache is sometimes a symptom, with drowsy headaches and dizzy spells. That the kidneys are not functioning properly is often shown by burning or scanty passage of secretions. If you have reason to suspect improper kidney functioning, try Doan's Pills—a tested stimulant diuretic. Users praise them throughout the United States. Ask your neighbor!

WHAT CAN PIMPLY FACED BOYS AND GIRLS EXPECT
Nobody knows better than the boy or girl who has been slighted time and again by their supposed "best friend," how humiliating it is to have to stand for such "cutting" things when they know they can expect nothing more as long as they don't look attractive on account of a pimply, blotchy or rough skin.

But such heartaches don't have to be put up with. Any boy or girl who is troubled with these skin blemishes can get rid of them if they will just use Black and White Ointment and the Skin Soap. The fact that they sell at the tremendous rate of more than two million packages a year shows how popular they are. They are economically priced. In liberal packages. Any dealer can supply you with both the Ointment and the Soap. The 50c size Ointment contains three times as much as the 25c size.
