BUILDING LOAN GROWTH—The building and loan associations of Texas have increased in eleven years from gross assets of $1,800,000 to $92,000,000, according to a statement made by Insurance Commissioner R. B. Cousins, Jr. in his annual report. In 1916 there were 27 domestic associations operating in the state. In 1928 there are 144 domestic associations and "unnumbered foreign associations" doing business in Texas. Only one of such associations has ever been liquidated with a loss to investors, and according to Mr. Cousins, "The reports we have of the associations now doing business indicate that there is not a single association in Texas in danger of insolvency." The only danger to such organizations, it seems, is in crooked management, or in overvaluation of real estate, and the only weakness in the system under which they operate is in lack of funds made available for close state examinations.

SMALL LOAN PLAN—Texas banks are closely watching the experiment being made by the National City Bank of New York in its system of making loans up to $1,000 to borrowers on their personal standing and reputation, without collateral. It is said that in half-dozen other cities banks are making definite plans to make loans in the same way. An objection that has been urged to the economic value of largely capitalized banks has been that they have limited their activities to large loans of a kind that have depressed rather than helped the small borrower in real need of funds, and that these banks have favored other countries by making large loans on long time to foreign capitalists, who have in turn loaned the funds to help finance their small borrowers, while such borrowers in this country have been unable to get needed money. One banker rightly senses the situation in the statement: "It is much healthier to have money going out into the innumerable small channels of trade, maintaining and stimulating consumption, than it is to have it poured into the stock market, creating inflated values, being drained off to foreign countries. Surplus money must be kept to work. If it enables innumerable workers and salaried persons to meet their obligations, to pay for the goods they have bought, it also enables manufacturers to keep on producing and selling and meeting payrolls, and railroads to keep on moving goods."

BIG BUSINESS BANKRUPTCY—It isn't always the man in "big business" who plays safest and makes the most money. A South Texas plant grower who a few years ago had a national reputation as a shipper of train loads—multiplied millions—of onion plants throughout the country has filed a petition in bankruptcy giving assets at $742,690 and liabilities at $621,689, which means that he will have nothing left except the homestead which he claims as exempt. This loss was made through a time that the small onion grower in his section, somewhat slowly perhaps and certainly unostentatiously, was making money, and even the growers who were supplying him with some of his plants, were making profits. Don't conclude that yours is a poor business just because it happens to be a smaller business and less prosperous looking than some others.

DISGUISED BLESSINGS—Perhaps often than not, things that appear to us as misfortunes and that at least temporarily are hard to bear, prove to our advantage rather than to our harm. A Texas telegrapher, temporarily out of work because of an improved method of receiving messages, became crazed by his misfortune and smashed the machine that had displaced him. While this was an unusual action, it somewhat represents the mental attitude toward any progressive movement that results in temporary loss. When typesetting machines were invented, printers who lost positions thought they had ruined the printers' occupation—the same feeling that existed when the steam printing press replaced the hand press. The Dallas Vocational school says that it can not train enough competent mechanics to supply the demand in the various branches of the printing industry. The trained mechanic now receives three or four times the wages paid printers in the days of hand composition.

POLITICAL BOUQUETS—The Texas Allied Printing Trades Council in session at San Antonio, nominated its own candidate for vice-president of the United States in the person of George L. Berry, of Pressmen's Home, Tenn. This is not the highest honor that has come to Mr. Berry, who has been president of the International Pressmen's Union for several years. The union endorsed him for president of the United States four years ago. In political honors he ranks along with some Texas politicians.

Cisco Chautauqua Starts June 23

Programs to Run for Six Days; Songfest by Churches, Clubs Is Suggestion for Open Sunday Night

Cisco's annual chautauqua will open Saturday, June 23, for six days, exclusive of Sunday, the 24th officers of Cisco Chautauqua association announced Thursday. Although the location has not been definitely decided, the chautauqua tent probably will be on the grounds on West Broadway near the Christian and Baptist churches. An unusually fine entertainment program for the week is promised. With Sunday an open date on the program it is suggested by The Daily News that all the churches of Cisco get together and arrange a songfest for that night in place of individual services. The Redpath-Horner company will have talent resting in the city that day that will contribute much to the success of such a program. Cisco and surrounding communities have musical talent along various lines as good as can be found in Texas. The cooperation of churches, clubs and the chautauqua company in a song service would assure an evening of religious entertainment that would be equal to that of the other six days and would be something different. That hundreds would come from nearby communities and towns to take part and enjoy the songfest is a certainty.

Programs at 2:45 and 7:45. The afternoon programs will start at 2:45 o'clock and those of the evening at 7:45. The program for the week is as follows:

First day—afternoon: Concert by Massey Five; evening: concert by Massey Five, address by Josh L. ...

Second day—afternoon: Entertainment by Maurice Wallace and Everett Kemp; evening: comedy-drama, "Tommy."

Third day—afternoon: Concert by Betty Booth Concert Co.; evening: concert by Betty Booth Concert Co. address "From Peace Pipe to War Trail" by Strongheart, Yakima Indian.

Fourth day—afternoon: Concert, Jaffa's orchestra; evening: concert, Jaffa's Orchestra, and address, "The Value of a Man," by H. L. Fogleman.

Fifth day—afternoon: Entertainment by Brown-Meneley and Mary Holdredge; evening: drama, "The Shepherd of the Hills."

Sixth day—afternoon: concert program for children by Eight Loyal Singers; evening: The Golden Ensemble in "A Gypsy Caravan."

Members of the chautauqua association met Wednesday afternoon and organized. The following officers were elected: B. O'Flaherty, president; Mrs. W. F. Watson, vice president; E. P. Crawford, secretary; George P. Fee, treasurer.

Rotarians, Lions to Greet. Committee chairmen were appointed as follows: E. S. Wilkerson and L. P. Kuykendall, grounds; T. J. Duncan, tickets; R. W. Mancill, advertising; C. P. Cole for Rotary club and W. H. LaRoque for Lions club, greeting.

Committees of Rotarians and Lions will be named as greeters for each day of the program. The Rotarians will have charge of greeting all visitors and showing them to their seats on three days and the Lions will act similarly for the other three days.

A junior chautauqua chairman will be appointed later. J. C. Potter will be the circuit manager of the chautauqua.

EARLY T. & P. PASSENGER IS DELAYED BY FREIGHT WRECK Passenger train No. 10, east bound, which passed through Cisco at 3:35 this morning, was delayed about three hours at Mill-sap due to a freight wreck near that place, according to information received by the American and Roundup. No serious damage resulted from the wreck. Local railroad people had not been informed of the wreck, it was stated at the union station here.

THE WEATHER. All Texas—Tonight and Friday, partly cloudy with probable local showers.

ITALIAN FLAG, CROSS DROPPED ON NORTH POLE

KING'S BAY, May 24.—The Italian exploration dirigible Italia flew over the north pole at 1:20 o'clock this morning. General Umberto Nobile dropped the Italian flag, the municipal flag of Milan and a cross presented to him by Pope Pius upon a polar ice cap. Bad weather prevented his landing.

LEGION OFFICER KILLED BY FALL IN BED ROOM

WACO, May 24.—Ed Roy Miller, 28, son of County Assessor Frank M. Miller, and an officer in the local post of the American Legion, was found dead in his bedroom this morning. His death is believed accidental as indications were that he fell striking his head against a piece of furniture.

$4,300,000 IN CONTRACTS UP TO ROAD BOARD

AUSTIN, May 24.—Contracts for the construction and maintenance of state designated highways aggregating $4,300,000 were scheduled to be awarded by the state highway commission which began a two-day session and opened bids here today. Thirty counties have applied for construction and maintenance help. Twelve county delegations are attending the session.

VALIDITY OF FEE SYSTEM IS QUESTIONED

AUSTIN, May 24.—An attack on the constitutionality of the fee system of compensating certain county officers was made today before the court of criminal appeals in the bond forfeiture case of Ed Jackson of Travis county. The defense contends that County Judge Matthews had a pecuniary interest in Joseph's conviction which, under a decision of the United States supreme court on a similar law in Ohio, was held unconstitutional.

150 STATE TAX COLLECTORS IN ANNUAL PARLEY

AUSTIN, May 24.—Approximately 150 tax collectors from various parts of the state are attending the 24th annual meet of the Tax Collectors' association of Texas here today. They were welcomed by Mayor McFadden. The annual address of S. H. Terrell, state comptroller, was read by Herbert L. Smith. Terrell advocated radical measures to force tax dodgers to pay their taxes and asked the cooperation of the collectors. Dan Moody, collector of Harris county and bearing the same name as the governor, presided.

TWO BILLS ARE MADE LAW OVER COOLIDGE VETO

WASHINGTON, May 24.—President Coolidge suffered two defeats of vetoes today. One was when the senate passed the postal pay increase bill over his veto 79 to 9. As it was previously passed by the house, it now becomes a law, granting a 10 per cent increase in salary to night postal workers. The other veto that was overridden by the senate was that of a bill granting extra allowances to fourth class postmasters, 63 to 17. It also became a law as it was previously passed by the house. Decision on the question of attempting to enact the McNary-Haugen bill over the presidential veto was postponed until tomorrow by the senate agricultural committee due to the absence of farm bloc leaders. After a conference between Speaker Longworth and Representative Tilson, Connecticut, Republican leader in the house, it was announced that a resolution calling for the adjournment of congress at 3 p. m. next Tuesday will be introduced late today.

Rides Big Winner WINK, KERMIT HAVE EPIDEMIC OF SMALL POX

Here is Chick Lang, veteran jockey, who rode Reigh Court, carrying the silks of Mrs. Hertz to victory in the classic Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs, Kentucky. More than 100,000 race fans braved the rain to see the favorite run true to form in spite of the mud.

ITALIAN FLAG GIVEN SALUTE BY AUSTRIANS

VIENNA, May 24.—Possibility of a dispute between Italy and Austria was dispelled today when Austrian troops raised the Italian flag over the Innsbruck consulate and saluted it, after rioting students had torn it down.

Life Story of Al Smith More Sensational Than Alger Tale; Once Newsboy and Fish Peddler Now Is in Sight of White House

Editor's Note: This is a first of a series of articles dealing with various candidates for the presidential nominations of the Democratic and Republican parties. Herbert Hoover will be dealt with Sunday in the Daily News.

To describe Al Smith merely as "a child of destiny" is but to confess the feebleness and inadequacy of words.

He is more than that, this son of poor immigrant parents, whose birthplace was the noisy tenement district of the lower East Side, and whose boyhood playgrounds and workshop were literally the "sidewalks of New York."

Hated and feared to the point of obsession, loved and admired to the point of idolatry, there has been no more controversial, arresting nor interesting figure in a century and a half of American politics than this man who has risen from a newsboy and fish peddler amid the squalid tenements to a serious contender for the presidency of the United States.

He is the first Catholic in American history to be considered certain of nomination by a major political party for office. That in itself attests the prominence and the arresting personality of the man. His Catholicism and his anti-prohibition views constitute the greatest barriers to his nomination. Far lesser handicaps have kept the prize from other men.

Like Fiction Tale The story of Al Smith's life reads like a tale from one of fiction's fantastic pages. Had Horatio Alger written one of his innumerable novels around a career so outstanding, tracing it from its beginning down in the "tough" section of New York, up through the hard-boiled wards of the great city, into municipal politics and thence into the governor's chair, and finally to within striking distance of the White House, practical people would have dismissed it with a laugh as fiction too imaginative to be true. And yet it is true, and the story becomes an epic of American opportunities and its fulfillment. Certainly there is no stranger story in American politics.

Al Smith is 37 years old, and each of these 37 years has been filled with fight and controversy and struggle against natural handicaps. He fought with other newsboys, tough little Italian, Jewish and Irish lads for advantageous corners on which to sell his papers as a boy. He fought them later for the fish trade that he plied from a cart which he pushed himself through the teeming and torrid streets. He had to fight to exist. His father was dead when he was still a tot, and he, young Al, was the principal support of a mother and sister in Oliver street.

Somehow, perhaps by a good deal of sacrifice on his mother's part, the boy managed to get an education, or the rudiments of one from the parochial schools of his neighborhood. When he wasn't peddling newspapers and fish he attended St. James parochial school in Cherry street in the old Fourth Ward.

With the natural aptitude of the Irish for politics (his mother was a Mulvelli) young Al began to take an interest in ward affairs after he outgrew the gangling age. In those days the Irish and the Germans ran the wards, mostly from the saloons of the districts, and the rivalry was intense, not alone as between the races, but as between factions. Al's father was German; his mother was Irish.

In 1894, "Tim" Campbell ran for congress from this district. He noticed young Al as a likely looking youngster, who had the tenacity of purpose to obtain some education and who seemed to have a flair for making friends and public speaking. That was Al Smith's first break into politics, his speaking for Campbell.

A year later he got his first political job, a clerkship in commissioner of jurors' department. He was then 22 years old. About that time Tom Foley, who later became noted as one of the big features of Tammany, decided to contest the Fourth Ward leadership with Pat Dwyer. Al was a hustler and had friends. Foley needed a hustler who had friends, so the youngster became a part of the Foley faction in East Side politics, and a friendship began that lasted until the death of Foley many years later.

Thus it was that Tom Foley became known as Al Smith's political godfather. Showed Gratitude They won that fight. Foley, in gratitude, threw various things young Al's way and the years rolled on. In 1903, when he was 30, young Al decided that he wanted something better than ordinary ward politics. He had been studying law at Fordham and at Manhattan College and he was ambitious. He decided he would like to go to the assembly, and Foley and the organization put him there.

At Albany, Smith found himself in a new and different environment from any he had ever known. He began to learn that there was a higher statesmanship than that of city politics.

He met there men, cultured and wealthy and educated men, from all parts of the state; his vision began to broaden and he began to grow politically. He had a natural aptitude for politics and for administration. He progressed rapidly, first to the speakership of the assembly and then to the leadership of his party in the legislature, whether the Democrats were in power or not. He was either majority or minority leader from then on until 1915 when he resigned to become sheriff of New York.

Throughout those years in the legislature Al Smith studied. He was a raw novice in legislative matters when he went to Albany. Yet so earnestly did he work, and so rapidly did he broaden that Elihu Root paid him the compliment in 1915 at the constitutional convention of saying that he had one of the "finest administrative brains in New York."

He left the legislature regretfully because the financial demands of his large and growing family made it necessary. The sheriffship of New York is a remunerative position, with its fees and emoluments.

The sheriff's office, however, was not attractive save in a financial way, and after two years of it Smith quit and became president of the New York board of aldermen, a responsible office more in keeping with his liking and talents.

After several years in that office, he ran for governor and was elected. That was in 1918. Since then, with the exception of one defeat, he occupied the executive mansion at Albany, and even his opponents have been forced to admit that his administrations have been successful. For the most part he has been hampered by having to deal with Republican legislatures, but notwithstanding this handicap he has effected widespread reforms in the state government.

His hold on the electorate of New York is without parallel in New York politics. Thrice he has been elected to the governorship while the rest of his party went down to defeat. He has run ahead of his ticket every time he has been up. The outstanding example of his popularity was in 1924 when Coolidge carried the state for president by an overwhelming vote, but Smith carried it, too, by half a million votes against Theodore Roosevelt.

Smith's road to the nomination for president has been and will be no smooth one. On the contrary it has been filled with barriers and obstacles such as have confronted no other man in political history, and yet, without actively pursuing the nomination, he has overcome them largely by the sheer force of his powerful personality and his outstanding ability as an executive of the greatest state of the Union.

But in 1924 that Smith, then serving his first term as governor of New York, first appeared as a candidate for the Democratic nomination. His claims were put forward by his loyal friends of the New York delegation at San Francisco, but it was no serious thrust. Al Smith then was too little known nationally.

But in 1924 with the successful record as an administrator in Albany behind him, it was a different story. His claims were then advanced with sincerity and purpose. The convention, which met at

Last Minute Switch of Moody to Constitutionalists Ends Hectic Convention; Charge Double Cross

BEAUMONT, May 24.—Delegates to the Democratic state convention were homeward bound today after one of the stormiest sessions in the history of the party in Texas. The anti-Smith element, led by Senator Tom Love, of Dallas, was jubilant over the turn of events that brought about the defeat of the Smith faction and resulted in the selection of a delegation to the national convention at Houston unfavorable to him.

The supporters of the New York governor were raising under the last minute switch. Governor Moody to the constitutionalists to prevent the selection of delegates favorable to the New Yorker. They charged openly that Moody had double crossed and betrayed them. The constitutionalist, harmony and Smith factions were wider apart than ever today, and great bitterness marked the termination of the convention.

Mrs. Clara Driscoll Sevier, Austin, was named to replace Mrs. J. T. Bloodworth, as national committee woman, but Jed Adams of Dallas was reelected national committee man.

Governor Moody's effort to placate the Smith faction, with which he has had a working coalition since the first day of the Texas Democratic state convention, failed utterly Wednesday night, while policemen were patrolling the convention hall which still was in tumult from the occurrences earlier in the afternoon.

Committee Summoned The governor sent for John Boyle, Senator A. J. Wirtz and others of the Smith steering committee. Boyle, Wirtz and others went to meet the governor.

"I want to see if we can't work this out some way or other," Moody said. "I am in favor of the districts electing their delegates, but I want it done with honesty, fairness and candor."

Boyle whirled on his feet, and left. "I will not sit in conference with any man who impugns my honor," he said. "Did you have any agreement with Governor Moody on the district delegates?" he was asked. "I had a solemn agreement with Governor Moody that he would favor the selection of the delegates elected by the districts," he replied.

Wirtz shortly left the conference, and by so doing terminated it. "Governor Moody said he wanted to work out a plan," Wirtz said. "I have been double crossed once by him, and no man can double cross me twice. The only thing Governor Moody can do is to go through with the original agreement to elect the district delegates as chosen by their caucuses."

Boyle Is Bitter Boyle was surrounded by friends throughout the afternoon, many of them chiding him that they had told him Moody finally would ditch him. Boyle smiled when one man said to him: "Like every other man that ever did anything for Dan Moody, he pushed them aside when the going got hot."

Governor Moody twice appeared before the convention. His second appearance caused a near riot. "Double cross" and "treachery," were shouted from the audience as Governor Moody, his facial muscles taut, declared that, while he believed that the individual districts had a right to select their own delegates he believed it necessary that the convention at large select the delegation "in order that my program might be carried out."

"Most Astonishing Thing" Boyle, who stumped South Texas for Governor Moody two years ago, while the convention was in an uproar, went to the platform and declared the governor's two speeches had been "the most astonishing things in my political life."

"We have seen the spectacle here," he said, "of a roll call being interrupted by the governor of Texas who, talking about his awkward position, makes a speech about the matter being voted before the convention. We have only asked a fair and square deal, and that has not been given us."

When the Ball resolution was first presented Tuesday I was asked to delay any vote on the matter, I did. We were asked to delay the vote on the Ball resolution Tuesday night. When the matter was to be presented Wednesday morning we were again asked to delay the vote until Wednesday afternoon and after the resolution had been adopted. "John, I'm humiliated."

"Now, after delegates are on their way homeward and have already elected their delegates, believing that Governor Moody's stand for local self government by the districts would be maintained, Governor Moody came here and asked the passage of the Ball resolution."

As Ball left the microphone Governor Moody, who had been sitting with his head resting on both hands and looking toward the floor, arose and said: "John, I'm humiliated." Boyle, his eyes flashing with anger, replied, He walked briskly away from the governor.

The tumultuous incident started when while the vote was being called, Lynch Davidson, a Moody lieutenant in the harmony program, declared that there was confusion about how to vote. Dimmitt county had just been called. At that time the Boyle motion was leading, although Dallas county had already voted.

Growl Grows Into Howl "If you want to vote for the Boyle motion, vote yes, if you want to vote for the Ball motion, vote no," Davidson said.

"The one that Governor Moody is for," said someone on the platform. "Yes, if you want to vote for the Ball motion vote no, the one Governor Moody is for," Davidson said. "There was a growl! The growl grew into a howl! In a split second men were on seats howling like mad men. Hands, arms were waving in the air. Many doubted their fists."

Air Davidson rapped for order. The convention was in a state of riot and uproar, and Davidson's furious pounding of the gavel only added to the confusion. His voice could not be heard in the press pit below him. There were cries for Deas.

"I am not retracting to myself the right to pick any man for any delegation, but I appeal to you in fairness to myself to aid me in this dilemma. I advocated this program, but I know that there are men here who were sent here as a part of my program who are in favor of sending Al Smith delegates to the national convention."

H. M. Garwood of Houston suggested that the district delegates be selected and that they then be referred to the convention and each district's delegates be elected from time to time. Nothing came of his suggestion and the roll call proceeded. "In his first speech, the governor said that he strictly favored local self-government and the right of the districts to elect their delegates. In his second speech, he said that, because of the turmoil, when I find myself, I will support the Ball motion."

"GREATEST DOUBLE-CROSS" "The greatest political double-cross in history," was the way Boyle termed Moody's switch to the enemy camp. "When the agreement was made Wednesday morning to postpone the vote on the Ball resolution I released many delegates," he said. "Exactly 85 votes went home. I had the positive agreement, solemnly made with Governor Moody, that he would stand for the right of the district delegates to go on the state delegation."

MOODY SCARED BY KLAN "The vote plainly shows that we were defeated only after Tom Love and his Ku Klux Klan delegates had terrified Governor Moody and, thinking only of himself and trying to please the klan, he threw his strength to them. The klan vote behind Collins amounted to 179."

"The Moody-klan combination against the right of local self-government received 483 votes. Take the 179 klan votes away and you have 304. We polled 252 votes and with the 85 who went home we had 337, or a clear majority over Moody's strength alone. That is the reason why Governor Moody was willing to agree that he would stand for the right of local self-government when he wanted to name the chairman of this convention."

"Governor Smith, of course, will be nominated in Houston despite this treachery. Our governor speaks of the 'ungracious' thing while he commits the 'ungracious' thing of breaking a solemn agreement."

"Whose adorning let it not be the outward adorning of braiding the hair, and of wearing jewels of gold, or of putting on apparel; but let it be the hidden man of the heart, in the incorruptible apparel of a meek and quiet spirit, which is in the sight of God of great price."—I Pet. 3:3-4.

OUT THEY GO

Commencement! Glorious word and glowing movement. Out they go from the grammar schools into the high schools, from the high schools into work or into colleges, from the colleges into the wide, wide world.

Grave Old Seniors are they all, whether of the sixth grade moving into junior high, or of the colleges into the everywhere. They are full of years and dignity.

Funny? Of course they are funny. Sixth or eighth grade or ninth or twelfth or college or university or trade school, the younger graduates are funny to all the older ones. For the old fogies, whether of the fiftieth reunion or of the ninth grade looking down on sixth, realize to the full how much these graduates have yet to learn, how hard the path before them, how confusing the frequent conflict between theory and fact, between ideals and experience.

Yet they have a right to their dignity, and a right to our respect for it. For they stand before the world as people who have set themselves a task and accomplished it. Happy is the man who has found his work, and blessed is he, whether he be ten, twenty or seventy, who has done it.

One thing is certain: To face life as a term full of problems to be solved, of tasks to be done well and then put behind while one presses onward to the next task and the next problem, is to be successful and of service to the world.

Out you go, Youngsters! We may smile at you a little, though perhaps our eyes are wet. You may not know the reason either for smiles or tears—that does not matter. What matters is that you have done your bit at one task and will do your bit at the next. You have won our respect. We give you our encouragement. We will gladly help you when you feel the need of our experience. We love your courage and your ambition and your high resolves. We hope you will make a better job of this world than we have done. Out you go! Our hearts and hopes go with you!

RAILROAD FLYING

A business man asks William Wallace Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad: "General, why did you go into the flying business?" And the general replies: "Flying business? Why, we'll be licking the flying companies soon." Which seems to imply a belief on the part of the railroad man that there's plenty of flying business to be had, and those who go to it quickest and hardest will get the lion's share. Here's a new spirit of progress in railroading. With a prospect of regular transcontinental transportation within a few months by a combination of railroad trains and airplanes, whisking passengers from New York to Los Angeles in two days, it seems a long time back to the pre-Lindbergh period of a little more than 12 months ago. How that young man has made aviation hum!

GROWTH

The latest estimate of our national wealth, $320,000,000,000, doesn't seem much in itself. To make it intelligible, there must be comparisons. Since the year 1850 our population has about doubled; our railroad mileage has trebled; our freight tonnage carried by railroads has been sextupled; our manufactured products have multiplied seven times; our bank deposits have multiplied 12 times; our farm products have multiplied 8 times, our total wealth has multiplied 44 times. That is measured in dollars, which isn't quite fair, because a dollar isn't worth near what it was in 1850. Still, there's quite enough growth to satisfy the most ravenous statistic-hound, and to justify the wildest optimist. No wonder the burden of our war debt, big enough to crush many a nation, is scarcely felt.

TO ABOLISH LEPROSY

The good that men do lives after them. General Leonard Wood, while governor-general of the Philippines, became interested in the leper problem. He learned that leprosy, long a scourge in the Orient, is not hopeless, but controllable and curable. Shortly before his death he declared that with $2,000,000 for use over a period of years, it would be possible to eradicate leprosy from the Philippines and provide treatment for the cure of the 3,000,000 lepers in the world. He was trying to raise the money when he passed away. Now the work is being carried on. As a fitting monument to him, there has been established the Leonard Wood Memorial for the Eradication of Leprosy, which is now seeking the fund he wanted. There should be no difficulty in getting it in this rich, philanthropic country.

SCHOOLS AND NEWSPAPERS

"Newspapers," some highbrow readers maintain, "are spoiling the language and ruining our literature." Mebby so, mebby so! But they are getting a surprising amount of help, in their devastating work, from educators. Newspaper methods of treatment are being introduced into the public schools of many states. California's adaptation is especially interesting. Its new series of language books even employ cartoons, made on the plan of the comic strip, to brighten up the pages and drive home the main points. The text matter is to have a journalistic flavor, with "lead" paragraphs such as are used in news stories, and plenty of blackface type. "Slogans will be introduced freely." And this will make strong men shudder: "Rules of speech and writing will be impressed on youthful minds by the headline method." Horrible, no doubt! But the kids will learn.

WOE IN ZION

There is sad strife in Zion—that is to say, in Zion City, Ill. Zionists are suing to prevent Wilbur Glenn Voliva, "Overseer" succeeding John Alexander Dowie, from "confiscating and misappropriating" the church estate, which is almost co-extensive with the city. Prosperity usually brings trouble to a church. The property which Dowie bought for $75,000 is said now to be worth $10,000,000. Industrious Zionists have built value into it, and population creeping up the north shore from Chicago has raised realty prices. The complainants charge Voliva with selling them out and going to Europe with the spoils. Worse still, it is charged, the city has changed from a religious center to open lawlessness. The ordinances against smoking, drinking, swearing eating pork, and vanity and unseemliness in woman's clothing are not enforced. That may trouble John Alexander, in his heavenly abode, more than the alleged diversion of property to outside sinners.

SUGGESTION TO PLANT MORE VEGETABLES MADE

To the Cisco American and Roundup. The following suggestions, I hope, will meet with the approval of the Cisco chamber of commerce, by a friend of progress. I shall suggest a few things that we need which are not too late to promote. Most of the grain crops were ruined as much of this crop had been pastured before the rains. But there is plenty of time to plant crops to can, such as sweet potatoes, tomatoes, peas, beans, cucumbers, spinach, turnips, beets, radishes, carrots, sweet corn, cauliflower, kohlrabi and many other vegetables that can be successfully grown in the Cisco country.

Those who already have vineyards, orchards and berries would like to see Cisco have a great canning plant. We have the land and water. All we need is backbone and energy. People can turn their acres to such as the crops mentioned, with plenty of maize, kaffir corn and other feed stuff to care for their stock and chickens, and thus keep down the over-production of cotton, as it is now indicated that there will be a large acreage put in cotton unless the farmers can be shown how they can make more money by planting something else.

Some of our needs are a combined truck growers' association; an "eating bee"; a canning and shipping organization with this slogan: "Eat all we can; can what we can't eat; sell all we can't can." Be sure to raise enough surplus to have a sufficient income.

I hope this will meet with the approval of the Cisco American and Roundup, as it would be very difficult to reach so many worthy people without the assistance of your splendid newspaper.

MRS. J. E. KINCADE, Box 743, Cisco.

COUNTY DAIRY PROGRAM IS SHOWING DEVELOPMENT

Two New Farms Are Going in For Registered Cattle; Cream Routes of Cisco and Ranger Prove Worth

Two new dairy farms near Eastland are the latest developments in the county dairy program according to a statement by J. C. Patterson, county agent.

The Eastland Registered Jersey Farm, organized by Long & Mum with eighteen head of registered Jersey cows and numerous young stock, plans to purchase at least six more pure bred cows. It is notable that every cow on the farm is registered and several are unusually high producers.

Having the advantage of years of experience as breeders and dairymen Pat Long and John Mum have in mind the breeding up of a real show herd. The sale of dairy products will help finance the breeding operations although it is considered as a side line on this Jersey farm.

Herd Valued at $5,000. Having been given the T. B. tests under government supervision the herd is "federal accredited."

Two Cream Routes in County. The two cream routes now in operation out of Ranger and Cisco have proven their worth and are both steadily gaining in volume of cream handled.

Good Market For Cream. Splendid markets are available for all sweet cream that can be produced in Eastland county for many months and any community wishing to be served by a sweet cream route would do well to indicate the interest and let the desire be known.

EASTLAND CO. SHOWS IT CAN RAISE IT ALL

That anything can be grown in Eastland county that is produced in any part of Texas, except tropical fruits, is being demonstrated by specimens brought to the Daily News office from time to time.

The vegetables were as fine as those grown in any climate, and superior to much of the produce shipped into Cisco. The head lettuce was large, firm and hard; the onions—the Crystal Wax variety, were crisp and nearly as large as a saucer, while the beets were about the size of a baseball, perfectly formed and of the choicest growing.

Successful Season Is Closed by San Angelo High School Class in Vocational Agricultural Work

SAN ANGELO, May 24.—Students in the vocational agriculture department of San Angelo high school have closed a very successful year of study and achievement and gained experience that will enable them to pay some of their future schooling expenses with profits from growing thoroughbred sheep and goats.

The work of the term was closed with a sheep and goat show here in which some of the finest animals ever exhibited in West Texas gained attention of ranchmen who journeyed as far as 100 miles in some instances to attend the show. The boys received awards offered by the San Angelo Rotary club totaling $190, and some of them will offer sheep and goats at the sale to be conducted during the convention of the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers' association to be entertained here July 24, 25 and 26.

105 RELATIVES VISIT PIONEER ON BIRTHDAY 90

When M. V. Farmer, pioneer of this section of West Texas, celebrated his 90th birthday last Sunday at the home of his son, Van Farmer, 12 miles northwest of Cisco, 105 relatives were there to help him and to make it a family reunion.

Farmer came to the Cisco country 50 years ago and for many years was engaged in farming. He has 132 living descendants—four children, 53 grandchildren and 75 great-grandchildren.

48,000 EGGS SHIPPED BY SAN SABA FARMERS

SAN SABA, May 24.—S. J. Hordard, salesmanager for a local wholesale produce company, is authority for the statement that four carloads of eggs have been shipped from San Saba within the past three months, amounting to 48,000 dozens of eggs, which have been bought from the San Saba county poultry raisers, at a price of 20 cents during the season and a price of 25 cents prevailing at this time. The chicken movement has amounted to 20,000 pounds per month, or 60,000 pounds in the past 90 days. Farmers of this section are receiving $1000 to $1,200 per month for cream.

MILK HAS MORE "KICK" IN IT THAN ANY OTHER DRINK!

Does that sound strange? It may, but it is nevertheless true. There is more substantial nourishment in milk than in any other food drink. Healthy people drink milk because, in addition to its fine taste and its thirst-quenching power, it helps them to keep healthy. Sick persons are advised by physicians to drink milk in order to regain their strength.

Yes, milk has a "Kick" to it; and unlike other drinks with a "Kick" builds up the bodily tissues rather than tending to break them down. Be sure it's pasteurized.

WHAT HAS BEEN DONE

Abilene, Texas, April 22, 1922.

To Whom it May Concern:

It is with pleasure that I recommend Dr. Brown's treatment to the public. I was stricken with Sciatic Rheumatism after which I took Dr. Brown's treatment, and it was immediately after his magic touch that all pain ceased and I was able to walk around. I would recommend to anyone who is afflicted to take this treatment without delay. This treatment cured me after others had failed, and it can do the same for you.

This treatment has been successfully applied for years in this locality. Practice has grown until this institute is known over Texas and other states, and in many instances people get relief after other treatments fail. We invite your investigation. Rates reasonable.

PERSONAL MAGNETISM—Personal magnetism is a scientific method of healing and has been practiced as far back as history dates. It is not an experiment but a natural law of healing. So we must turn the hands back on the dial of time and let nature prevail in her liberating of suffering humanity. Men have recognized the existence of this power of force and given it various names. History says this force is "Life." Physicians say it is "Thought" or "Ethereal Energy," and Philosophy as represented by Herbert Spencer, who says it is "An infinite energy from which all things proceed."

$10 Club to End Saturday Night

Chance to Gain 1,500,000 Points in Circulation Drive Is Nearing Close; More Than 100 Women Seek Prizes

To make up a $10 club of subscriptions by Saturday night, May 26, and receive 1,500,000 extra points is the goal that many workers in the Cisco Daily News and The Weekly American and Roundup country-wide subscription drive are striving to attain. Very few have made the club as yet. Quite a number have a portion of the club and will no doubt secure the necessary balance by the time the offer ends which is 11 o'clock Saturday night.

Workers who secure late subscriptions Saturday and free coupons may send or bring them to the Daily News office Monday and they will count for the points offered for the week. The offer for the high extra points will positively close this week-end. Those who wish to get an even start in the race for the most points to win the better prizes will make every effort to make up their first $10 club of subscriptions. Three, six months or year subscriptions to the Daily News with The Weekly American can be secured or subscriptions to the Daily News alone or to the Weekly American and Roundup. Three months to both papers is $2 and secures 40,000 regular points and counts on the club for the extra points. Six months to both papers is $3 and 160,000 regular points and the amount counts on the $10 club one year to both papers is $5 with 250,000 regular points and goes on the club for the 1,500,000 extra points. The Daily News alone is $4 a year, 225,000 regular points and the Weekly American and Roundup is $1.50 and counts 30,000 regular points and applies on the $10 club.

The big country-wide subscription drive is just now getting under way and in fact is just starting with more than 100 ladies who have said they would assist in making the drive the greatest success ever before attempted by a newspaper. Everyone will be paid for what she accomplishes and the great opportunity offered to win some of the best prizes is indeed a wonderful one.

STATE JUNIOR COLLEGE FIGHT TO BE REVIVED

AUSTIN, May 24.—Another effort will be made by Senator Charles R. Floyd, Paris, to have passed his bill authorizing the creation of junior colleges throughout the state, when the forty-first legislature convenes next January, the senator announced here today. At the last session of the legislature there were two bills introduced proposing creation of junior colleges, one by Floyd and the other by Representative H. T. Brown, of Jacksonville. Brown's bill passed the house but was defeated in the senate. Floyd's bill passed the senate but was defeated in the house.

The Floyd bill authorizes the creation of junior colleges in any county of the state having a taxable valuation of not less than $12,000,000, the college to be supported by local taxation. However, the bill provides that state aid could be applied for. The Brown bill was similar but made no provision for state aid.

Senator Floyd said that there is no compulsory feature to the bill sponsored by him but that it merely gives counties the option of establishing junior colleges in event their taxable valuation equals $12,000,000.

HORNSBY WILL PILOT BOSTON NATIONAL CLUB

BOSTON, May 24.—President Emil E. Fuchs of the Boston Braves announced Wednesday night that the resignation of Manager Jack Slattery of the club had been accepted and that Rogers Hornsby would succeed to the position.

"Under the existing circumstances, based on our experience, best judgment and information as to conditions, we are constrained to accept the proffered resignation of Jack Slattery of the club had been accepted and that Rogers Hornsby would succeed to the position."

"We have after much persuasion, obtained the consent of Rogers Hornsby to accept the management of the Braves. We shall continue in our efforts to build up a fighting and winning team for Boston."

CROP DAMAGE NOT AS GREAT AS INDICATED

According to T. L. Lasater, well known farmer of the Scranton community, the damage from the recent rains were not as bad as indicated at first.

"Of course there has been much damage done and crops are badly washed and covered, but some of the crops that appeared totally destroyed are beginning to come out, and with the abundant moisture in the ground will grow very fast during the warm days. Some will have to be replanted, but in most cases the replanting will only be partial," Lasater said.

"But the country now has the best season to make a crop that has been known in Eastland country in several years. Stock water is plentiful everywhere, and indications that most crops, except those entirely destroyed, will yield abundantly."

Forewarned, forearmed; to be prepared is half the victory.—Cervantes.

"WHAT WE HERE HIGHLY RESOLVE THAT THESE DEAD SHALL NOT HAVE DIED IN VAIN"

Something to Remember!

We have a nation with a past that is glorious in achievement and made sacred by the crimson sacrifice of our heroes. Our heads and hearts are bowed in reverent gratitude. They suffered for us. In this and other lands their precious dust receives the tribute of our flowers and tears.

Something to Do!

"It is for us, the living, to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us, that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to the cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion; that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain; that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom, and that government of the people, by the people and for the people shall not perish from the earth."

Something Else!

These inspiring sentiments and these ennobling purposes can become effective only as the inner life is fortified with faith in Almighty God. Feel today the hush of reverence. Heroic action springs from souls that are obedient to the highest ideals. America summons every citizen to devoted loyalty to her mandate. Our city calls for an unselfish service for the public good. The churches of our city serve the cause of patriotism by spreading righteousness and good will. They deserve your interest and support.

NOTICE, VISITORS!

Don't think that because you are away from home you are away from friends--there are many friendly churches in Cisco and Eastland county, all denominations. They extend to you a cordial invitation to attend their services.

Shipment of Hogs and Cattle Puts $5,660.57 in Pockets of Members of Cisco Cooperative Association

A check for $5,660.57 has been added to the resources of the farmers and stockmen of the Cisco country through the Cisco Cooperative Livestock Association, by the returns from the sale of the last shipment the association sent to market. There were 242 head of hogs in the three cars shipped out, and 43 head of cattle in the one car comprising the four-car livestock shipment. H. J. Woolridge and W. A. Dalberry accompanied the shipment.

The gross weight of the three cars of 242 head of hogs was 45,115 pounds and the net receipts amounted to $3,985.61; the one car of 43 head of cattle weighed 23,960 pounds, and increased the bank accounts of the shippers $1,744.96. There were 13 shippers in the car of cattle and 43 shippers in the three cars of hogs, who were as follows:

Cattle shippers—John W. Brown, 6; G. S. Cleveland, 3; Charles Wendt, 1; J. E. Burman, 2; J. F. Sheridan, 1; W. L. Agnew, 6; E. M. Strickland, 2; H. J. Woolridge, 4; A. Reich, 1; F. E. Harrell, 2; J. W. Statton, 2; J. R. Smooty, 10; W. L. Boyd, 1.

Hog shippers—O. G. Reich, 2; E. K. Winge, 1; Carl Winge, 7; W. L. Parmer, 5; E. H. Tune, 2; Ed Townsend, 10; J. B. Ely, 2; B. F. Trotter, K. Word, 4; Adolph Reich, 11; J. M. DECATUR TOPS PRODUCER SAND AT 1,223 FEET

ALBANY, May 24.—The Decatur Oil Co., on the R. J. Moberley fee, section 61, block 12, T&P railway land, topped a producing sand at 1,223 feet and drilled on three feet into the sand. This well is rated as good for 20 barrels per day. This is a remarkable well in that it was drilled just two locations offsetting a dry hole plugged last year by H. G. Gulnapp. This is a rank wildcat well and is believed will lead to new development in the southern part of Shackelford county. The Humble, Hope Oil and Gas, and other large concerns hold leases in the vicinity.

The Meridian Petroleum Company, et al. No. 2 Alexander, on the F. W. Alexander fee, 3 miles north of Albany, brought in their No. 2 well at 875 feet. This well was drilled fifteen feet into the sand and is estimated good for 20-30 barrels per day. Their No. 1 was drilled into production at 895 feet about two weeks ago and is still making about 14 barrels per day.

L. C. Heltzell and Gilman McMurray No. 2 Davis, NE corner, section 14, block 12, T&P, struck 1-4 million feet of gas at 700 feet and are drilling on with hopes of encountering good production. Loggie and Arendt Oil Co. spudded in their new well on the TE&L Co. survey No. 502, which is owned by Blach Bros. of Birmingham, Alabama. This well is designed to test the shallow sand in this area and is being watched closely as some good leases lie in this area.

HOUSTONIAN, 91, HAS MEMENTOES OF EARLY DAYS

HOUSTON, May 24. — Capt. William Christian, one of Houston's most distinguished citizens as well as one of her oldest living pioneers, will celebrate his 91st birthday this year. In addition to holding the first receipt for a loan for the deepening of Buffalo Bayou, Capt. Christian is the oldest member of the local chamber of commerce, the oldest depositor of the Houston National Bank and the only living charter member of the Houston Cotton exchange.

Capt. Christian knew and counted as his friend Gen. Sam Houston. He has a unique souvenir of Houston. On one occasion when he and a group of friends were talking, the general was busily engaged in whittling on a cork, shaping it for service in a flask. Completing the task to his own satisfaction, Houston handed the cork to Christian, saying in a jocular vein, "Here, keep this and remember me by it."

Capt. Christian was born in Lynchburg, Va., and came to Houston in 1848 to work as a laborer for W. M. Rice, founder of Rice Institute.

He has served Houston as alderman, is the oldest living member of the Second Regiment, Texas Rangers; and served in the Civil War.

MORAN, May 24.—A three day short course for the people of Moran and farmers of Moran trade territory has been planned for June 12, 13 and 14. There will be two programs each day which will be given by authorities along the various phases of farm work.

The afternoon program on June 12 will emphasize horticulture, that is, pecans, home orchards, etc., and small farm irrigation. A pecan budding demonstration will be included in this program.

The evening program on June 12 will feature "Foods" and "Poultry." Miss Lola Blair, extension foods specialist, will conduct the "Foods" work.

The afternoon program on June 13 will feature poultry, while the night program on that day will feature dairying and livestock feeding.

Everybody is invited to attend these meetings which are conducted under the supervision of the extension service of A. & M. college and the Shackelford county agent. Everything is free.

Nine men and one woman have been secured to give these various talks and they are all specialists. Among the people listed on the program are: Miss Lola Blair, College Station; E. N. Holmgren, College Station; John T. Egan, College Station; A. L. Ward, Dallas; Paul Huey, Dallas; Ross R. Wolf, Stephenville; J. C. Patterson, Eastland, and others.

This is one of the first courses of this nature that has ever been held in the Moran territory.

Crime conditions may make it necessary for congress to fix a quota for immigration into this country from Chicago.—San Diego Union.

CARBON

Carbon appreciates the words of praise from Hon. R. Q. Lee upon our school work and will say in reply that the aims of our school have always been of the highest type. Carbon has always produced "better winning" materials in the literary events of the Interscholastic League, such as declamation, debate, essay writing, etc.

We are always anxious to have the returns from the county and district Interscholastic League meet. The winners of the county are: Joe Hazelwood, one of our senior girls, won in the essay writing contest both at the county and district meet. This is the second time that Carbon high school has had the honor of winning in essays at the district meet and we are proud of our contestants.

Miss Marie Courtney was valedictorian of the senior class this year and has all along been striving for something worthwhile. She soon won a membership in the Good Scholarship club by making a monthly average of "A." Miss Marie has by her year of hard work won a scholarship in S. M. U. and also in John Tarleton, Draughton's Business school and some others. Why not be proud of our school girls and boys who overcome obstacles and various difficulties and win out. We believe we are safe in saying Carbon has equipped more girls and boys for school teaching than any other small place in our state.

OF A SOCIAL NATURE

Circle Seven of Baptist W. M. S. Meets With Mrs. Daniels.

The members of Circle Seven of the Baptist W. M. S. were entertained Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Jasper Daniels at her home on D avenue. During the business meeting, plans were made to take food and clothing to the needy. The circle voted to change the date of meeting from 3 to 3:30 o'clock during the summer months. Each member brought clothing for the Buckner's orphan home, which amounted to $17.38. The program was then turned over to Mrs. J. R. Burnett, who taught the Bible lesson taken from the book of Nehemiah with each one presenting refreshments of brick ice cream and cake were served to 11 members and one guest.

Wednesday Study Club Has Last Meeting of Year.

The members of the Wednesday Study club met Wednesday afternoon at the home of Miss Mary Fee on West Fifth street in their last meeting of the year. There were 14 members answering to roll call with the name of a late book and its author. During the business meeting several committees gave reports and unfinished business for the year was brought to a close. A very interesting program was rendered. The topic for the afternoon was "Book Reviews." Mrs. J. E. Tichenor read a paper on the "Book of the Month." Mrs. Martin Matson read a paper on "Review of a New Book by a Texas Author." A very interesting round table discussion followed the program.

Presbyterian Circle Meets at Home of Mrs. Bible.

The members of Circle One of the Presbyterian auxiliary met Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Homer Bible on E avenue, with Mrs. James Bates, assistant hostess. The devotional lesson was read by Mrs. W. P. Martin. During the business meeting, reports from the various committees were given. Each member is working on a pillow for the Files orphans. These pillows will be completed and brought to the meeting May 29. A free will offering is taken at each circle meeting for the orphans. Mrs. W. P. Lee had charge of the Bible study lesson, which was the first chapter in Grace Saxe's book on Luke. During the social hour, Mrs. O. W. Shepherd gave two vocal numbers, accompanied by Mrs. V. Hoyt. Refreshments were served to 15 members and two guests. The meeting adjourned to meet May 29, at the home of Mrs. W. P. Lee, with Mrs. J. A. Lamb as assistant hostess. The time of meeting has been changed from 3 to 3:30 o'clock.

Mrs. D. Ball Hostess to Baptist Circle.

Circle Two of the Baptist W. M. S. was entertained Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. D. Ball on West Seventh street. The meeting was opened with a song, which was followed by a short prayer. Several business matters were disposed of during the business meeting. The program was devoted to the study of the book "Wandering Jew in Brazil," led by Mrs. M. A. Wright. The hostess served a salad course to 11 members.

Dr. and Mrs. Roberts Hosts to Randolph Seniors.

President and Mrs. T. T. Roberts of Randolph college entertained Monday afternoon with a reception for fifty guests at their home on College Hill, honoring the seniors of the class of 1928. The guests were received at the door by Miss Grace Reed of the English department. They were introduced to the receiving line which was composed of Dr. and Mrs. Roberts, Mrs. Tom Reid, Mrs. Thomas Lenox and Mrs. E. B. Isaacks. Mrs. C. R. West and Mrs. Oscar Cllett presided at the table in the dining room and served sherbet, cakes, mints and punch. A silver basket, holding roses in maroon shades, formed the table centerpiece, about which maroon tapers burned in silver holders. The reception rooms and dining rooms were decorated in roses and hollyhocks of lovely maroon shades. Miss Zella Bianche McClinton of the Expression department, gave several readings, while Professor Reid of the Fine Arts department, gave a group of songs. Miss Velma Walters and Mr. Wiley of the Fine Arts department furnished music throughout the afternoon.

Circle Two of Presbyterian

Circle Two of the Presbyterian auxiliary held an interesting and enjoyable meeting at the home of Mrs. J. M. Carter in Humboldt Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. R. B. PACK TRAVEL TOGS IN SMALL PARCEL

PARIS, May 24.—Travel togs that pack into the smallest possible space and come out of the bag without a wrinkle are the natural result of the modern motor age. The weavers have contributed tissues of jerseys and etmines, wool crepes such as crepella and asperic, silk crepes such as georgette, crepe marocain and crepe have made these "uncrushable" fabrics into light, exquisitely-designed costumes with nothing bulky and nothing puffy about them.

A "compact" travel bag is just as necessary today as the face compact. It may contain as many as 14 costumes if one chooses wisely. For afternoon wear there is a gown of printed crepe de chine, a skirt of black georgette, a blouse of the same with long sleeves and a jabot front, a skirt of white georgette and a blouse of the same with a coat of black georgette and small black felt hat. Any woman may look smart for a number of days in these combinations.

For evening there are two blouses, one of nail embroidery and one of white georgette with the black and white skirts that serve for the afternoon blouses. The black georgette coat has a very complete trimming of white ermine which can be snapped in to turn into a full length evening coat.

Beige tones dominate morning costumes which consist of a lynx-trimmed coat, plaited skirt and sweater striped with blue. There is also a sweater with long sleeves striped with red and a red-striped scarf to match and a blue striped sweater with scarf of the same.

Old Days of California Gold Finds to Be Restaged in Gathering of Masons at Coloma, Discovery Point

COLOMA, Cal., May 24.—Wepath, Nevada's gold flash in the pan, petered out like "fool's gold," the mica which trickles through light fingers.

Not so Coloma, California's mother of gold, who has retained her lure for 80 years, ever since John Marshall one cold January day in 1848 rushed from Sutter's mill in the North Fork of the American River crying, "I've found it."

"It, what is it?" prosaic Scott, working at the carpenter bench in the river clearing among the Sierra pines, queried of the enthusiastic discoverer.

"It's gold!" Marshall replied showing the glittering nuggets he had found in the mill race.

And "it" still lures men. "It" will lure ten thousand back to the magic golden valley tucked in the foothills on June 2, when the great Masonic trek back to the place of "discovery" of gold will be staged.

Then a re-staging of the "days of gold" will celebrate the Diamond Jubilee of the California Grand Lodge of Masons and the mother lodge, Coloma, will be the hostess.

But gone is Leland Stanford, the old storekeeper, who founded the fortune that keeps Stanford University going; gone is Mark Hopkins, whose fortune was laid in the gold dust of the American River; gone though his wheels are not forgotten is "Wheel Barrow John," John Studebaker, who made barrows for the miners before he founded the great ambulatory company that bears his name.

The river still swirls about the rock monument where the old mill stood. Pines still tower toward the blue sky. Lupine and wild iris still tempt modern Melissa on the way to the school on the hill. And gold is still panned in the crystal water, gold enough to "get color."

The lure of gold remains but man has changed. The gold of commerce has lured him hence. Coloma, once numbering 8,000 men and a few women has now dwindled to 100 souls. Once it was the county seat of El Dorado and the thriving center of the "mother lode" country, now it buzzes only with bees on the old apple trees.

And men will return in June but to play at the gold metal game in a revival of the Fourth of July celebration held herein 1849.

Wild West Show They will but play at it for a Hollywood movie company will stage the "wild west" resurrection of "old times" it is rumored, and Jess Whitehead, the playwright, will compose the pageant of "the days of '49."

Among the California pioneers were numbered many Masons, according to State Treasurer Charles G. Johnson, who is assisting the celebration committee. Lodge brothers will honor Peter Lassen, the pathfinder of the route by Mt. Lassen; Kit Carson for whom Carson City was named; and General John Fremont, the first defender of California, who were all pioneer Masons.

And jumping from the past to the present, Governor Young will be guest of honor and Adjutant General R. E. Mittelstaedt, commander of the California National Guard, will bring a detachment to replace the "California Grays," the Coloma company of Civil War fame.

Now that a California scientist has discovered a way to raise plants without soil, what is to become of the old-fashioned dirt farmer?—Oakland Tribune.

WEEK IS FULL OF EXERCISES OF GRADUATION

Two baccalaureate sermons were heard in Cisco by graduating classes Sunday. At 11 o'clock the 48 who will receive their diplomas at Cisco high school heard an inspiring address by Rev. P. T. Stanford of the First Methodist church at the high school auditorium. At 8 p. m. the Randolph college graduates occupied the positions of honor in the First Christian church while Rev. J. B. Tom Love to Bolt Party if Al Smith Is Nominated

Dallas Senator Says He Will Not Support Tammany Representative or Anti-Prohibition Candidate

BEAUMONT, May 24.—Senator Thomas B. Love, with whom Governor Moody formed a last minute coalition when he broke away from the support of the plan to sustain the right of districts to elect their delegates, told the state Democratic convention that he would not vote for Al Smith if he were nominated by the party.

Love declared he would not support any man who represented the Tammany Hall contingent of the New York party, nor who would stand for the repeal of the prohibition amendment or the violation of the Volstead act.

The statement was elicited by Senator Paul Page, who asked him the direct question, if he would support Smith, if Smith were nominated.

When Love replied he would not, there was applause and boisterous calls of "Throw him out" and "He's got no right in a Democratic convention."

Robert L. Henry was called to the platform. When he turned to Col. Thomas H. Ball, who had just spoken, and said that Ball's resolution had won because of the Ky King Klan votes of Love, somebody bellowed "When did you quit the Klan?"

"I quit when I found such infamous scoundrels as you in the Klan," he said facing his inquisitor in the audience.

"And when I was running for the senate I was asked if I was a member of that order, and I said I was, rather than to tell a lie to go to the senate," he added.

Increased Crop Yield to Offset Damage by Washing of Recent Hard Rains, Is Opinion of E. J. Mercer

E. J. Mercer, who lives about 18 miles southwest of Cisco, says the rains washed his farm considerably but he thinks the damage will be offset by increased yield in crops this year.

Mr. Mercer was in Cisco Tuesday buying field seeds for replanting some of his crops and making late plantings on his Irish potato ground which will be ready for another crop as soon as the ground is dry enough to dig the potatoes. He will make a nice yield from this early crop and hopes to get another crop from the same land. Potatoes are a wonderful crop for this section, he thinks. They come on early and are ready to harvest by the last of May or first of June. This gives plenty of time for some other kind of crop during the year. They nearly always make a good yield since they mature before the hot weather comes on. Mercer says late potatoes will be better this year than the early ones, since the recent rains will cause them to mature a much heavier crop. He doesn't understand why more farmers do not plant several acres each year. If Cisco could be made a potato market with several cars shipped each year, buyers would come and better prices would prevail. With several thousand dollars coming into Cisco each spring from this crop, business would be much improved in every line.

Mr. Mercer's corn was washed up by the roots. He is throwing the dirt to the corn with a plow and then having hoes follow and prop it up. The sun will soon straighten it and no damage will result, he says. Some maize was washed up by the waters, but a little replanting will repair the damage.

Farmers will be mighty busy now for a few days, but crops will soon be well in hand. Everybody should feel optimistic now. With water seeping out of the hills, farmers never fear very much for a bountiful crop.

FEELER MINDED INSTITUTE CAPACITY IS INCREASED 150

AUSTIN, May 24.—With the completion of a new dormitory at the Colquay for the feeble minded at Austin, the capacity of the institute has been increased 150, according to R. B. Walthall, chairman of the state board of control. The new building is to be used exclusively for housing boy inmates and will in great measure relieve the congested condition of the school, Walthall said.

Chairman Walthall made a personal inspection of the building after which it was officially accepted by the state. The structure cost $30,000, and appropriation for which was made by the fortieth legislature.

RANGER BOY INJURED SLIGHTLY BY AUTO

RANGER, May 24.—Cape Yonkers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred R. Yonkers, was painfully cut and bruised when he was struck by an automobile Tuesday. He was taken to a hospital where his wounds were dressed. He received a gash in the head and a cut over the left eye and bruises and small cuts on his arms.

He was dismissed from the hospital after his injuries had received medical attention.

MAY DEPOSE SON IN RUMANIA

Due to the present peasant uprising in Rumania, who are demanding that the present Premier resign and Juliu Maniu, man of their own choosing, succeed him, it is again rumored the efforts are being made to return Prince Carol (insert), exiled heir to the throne of Rumania, into power in place of his little son, King Michael.

Total of Years in Prison Imposed on Aubrey Ray for West Texas Crime Career Up to 327 with Last Trial

DALHART, May 24.—Aubrey Ray, 22-year-old bank bandit, had his total prison sentences hiked to 327 years here Tuesday when a jury trying him for the robbing of the Wildorado State bank last January assessed a 99-year penalty. The jury deliberated less than two hours.

The youth who is suspected of robbing at least 8 banks and has been prosecuted for four jobs, since more heard Clem Calloun, Abilene, 194th district attorney, plead with the jury to send him to the electric chair. Once more he heard his young defender, Roy Formway, of Roby, seek leniency. Once more the few jurors who wanted to give death were outvoted by less severe members.

The only difference in the local trial, which was started Monday, and previous ones, was that Aubrey's mother and father were not present. His mother is reported to be near death at her home near Anson. However, his young wife and sister were with him.

Tried Twice. Ray was given 30 years at Abilene in 1927 for robbing the Ovalo State bank. After serving a brief period he escaped and spent war-fare upon small banks. After a series of bank holdups in West Texas he was captured in Oklahoma City with two confederates in robbery of the McCauley bank. A strenuous effort to send him to the electric chair was made at Roby in the McCauley robbery trial but 99 years was the verdict. The next day he was given a like penalty for robbing the First National bank at Sylvester. He pleaded guilty in both cases. A few days later Roy and Robert C. Peck, also convicted in the two Fisher county cases, attempted to escape from the Nolan county jail at Sweetwater. A few hours later Bud Russell, penitentiary transfer agent, reached that city and added the bank robbers to his party. Ray was brought from the penitentiary for arraignment and trial in the Wildorado case.

DE LEON FARMER BUYS NINE FINE DAIRY CATTLE

DE LEON, May 24.—M. E. Stephens went to Cleburne last week and purchased nine head of Jersey cattle, paying as high as $250 per head for a cow. In the lot purchased were three old cows, five heifers and a fine Jersey male. Mr. Stephens has continued to purchase better Jerseys from time to time, and he now has a very fine small herd. The method of breeding he is employing will ultimately build for him as fine a herd as one could wish to see.

Total Rainfall of Week End Here 10 1-2 Inches; Lake Cisco at New Mark; Flood Damage Insignificant

A total of something more than 10 1/2 inches of rainfall was recorded by the city hall rain gauge during the precipitation the latter part of last week and the first of the present week. Lake Cisco is about three feet higher than previous high water marks, with the maximum depth of the lake being 90 feet. All lowlands in Cisco were inundated. Three bales of cotton at the Moss gin were washed across the street to the lowlands west of the Katy tracks. Many stores were flooded on the east side of D avenue in the business section, but the damage in the city was insignificant.

Reports from the country adjacent to Cisco were to the effect that crops were badly washed and covered with soil. Many farmers stated they would have to replant. In some sections the hail did considerable damage to fruit and gardens.

The Dothan highway was flooded in many places, and two cars were nearly submerged when they were washed off the pavement late Friday afternoon near the Harrell crossing west of Cisco.

Out on Sandy creek, on the old Moran road, W. J. Tickner, rural carrier, found C. C. Carey pulling a car out of that stream, when making his regular trip Saturday morning. He came back to the highway and made his rounds over another route.

The rural carrier on the Rising Star highway went out Saturday morning as far as Leon creek, but found that stream a raging torrent, running over the bridge, and extending from hill to hill on each side to a width of over 300 yards, and returned to Cisco.

Farmers in Cisco Saturday with few exceptions, said they suffered considerable damage from the high waters and hail. Many crops are reported to have been covered, and will have to be replanted.

W. B. Starr said six inches of rain fell at his place in so many hours, overflowing his fields and covering and washing away practically everything that was growing in the fields.

W. J. Poe, living in the Pleasant Hill community, said the damage done on his place was slight, but many of his neighbors were hard hit by having their crops covered with earth.

O. G. Reich, living south of Cisco, said everything on his place will have to be replanted except his corn. All feed crops are buried under the earth and silt that washed over them. What fruit that escaped the freeze is practically ruined, as most of the fruit was struck by the hail, Reich said. Henry Stroob's crops suffered about like those of the Reich farm. Stroob's hay crop which was nearly ready to harvest, was covered with earth.

Must Replant Crops. N. S. Kinaird, another Pleasant Hill farmer, was here Saturday, and said his lands were badly washed and much of the crops were covered and will have to be replanted. He said he had no fruit, but his gardens were badly damaged by the hail, accompanying the rain.

Reports from Eastland indicated that the damage wrought by rain and hail was similar to that in the Cisco Country.

47 WOLVES ARE KILLED IN CALLAHAN CO. IN 10 DAYS

BAIRD, May 24.—Since the inauguration of the payment of a bounty on wolves killed in this county, the number of bounties paid out by County Agent A. M. Cooper, secretary of the Callahan county association, has reached 47.

On May 8, thirteen wolves were presented to Cooper and bounty was paid.

As the workings of the wolf club became better known over the county, and the good results became recognized, it should be but a matter of a few years until this predatory animal is exterminated in Callahan county.

Cow Census to Start Soon, Says Chairman Spencer

Leader in Movement to Get Milk Plant in Cisco Finds Increased Interest in Nearby Communities

J. E. Spencer, chairman of the dairy committee, under whose direction the census of dairy cattle will be taken in the Cisco country, said Thursday that work will be started on taking the dairy census just as soon as the committee can be gotten together.

"I attempted to start this work Tuesday, but some members of the committee were out of town, but I shall endeavor to have a committee meeting today or tomorrow. The matter will be rushed through as speedily as possible," Spencer said.

"I made a short talk before the business men's club at DeLeon last Tuesday in which I gave a synopsis of my observations of the dairy business as seen on my recent visit to Memphis, when our committee visited the dairy centers in Arkansas, Mississippi and Tennessee. What I told the DeLeon people was a condensed statement of the same report made to the Cisco chamber of commerce.

"There is much interest in the dairy business being manifested in with the common point plan, which has been in operation practically since the railroad commission was organized. The West Texas chamber was unable to save the common point plan, but its opposition has delayed the inauguration of the new system. The organization also took up the fight to prevent the loss of the waters of the Colorado to West Texas. A portion of Eastland county is on the water shed of the Colorado. This was accomplished after the water rights had been lost to this county. Then the chamber took a prominent part in conservation of the oil and gas resources of West Texas by assisting in securing the present proration plan, through its oil and gas bureau, organized at the meeting of the directors in Cisco last June. This oil and gas division has been functioning ever since its organization for the conservation of our oil and gas resources. These matters have been accomplished in addition to the regular routine business of the body."

MORAN WOMAN IS RECOVERING FROM INJURIES

Reports from the Graham sanitarium Thursday stated that Mrs. J. S. Dennis, victim of an auto accident west of Cisco Monday, was doing nicely and would soon be able to be taken to her home in Moran. J. S. Dennis, with Mrs. Dennis and a Mrs. Jones, of Moran, while returning home Monday afternoon late from Cisco, were spilled from their car when it turned over east of the Harrell farm. Mrs. Dennis sustained a broken arm and an ugly rash on the side of her face. L. D. Campbell, of Abilene, passing the scene soon after the accident, picked up Mr. and Mrs. Dennis and brought them to the hospital at Cisco, where the injured woman was given surgical attention, and where she is rapidly recovering from her injuries.

Mr. Dennis told the American and Roundup that just before the accident an unidentified car, traveling at a high rate of speed, whipped around in front of his car, striking the fender as it passed, knocking his car off the highway and causing it to turn over. Mr. Campbell, who brought Mr. and Mrs. Dennis to the hospital, said he arrived on the scene after the accident, but before reaching there he passed a car going about 50 miles an hour, and he was forced to drive off the pavement in order to avoid being struck.

WORKMAN LOSES PART OF FOOT IN ACCIDENT

RANGER, May 24. — Andrew Mack is in the City-County hospital with the toes and a portion of his left foot cut off as a result of an accident at the Lone Star Gas company's plant at Tiffin. Mack was engaged in changing a smokestack when a chain, wrapped around the stack, broke and the heavy stack, weighing approximately 800 pounds, fell on his foot. He was rushed to a hospital where medical attention was given. Mack has been an employee of the company for 10 years and until recently has been in the machine shop division of the company. Later he has been a gang foreman. Although suffering considerably he is reported to be improving.

COUNTY COURTHOUSE TO BE HIGHER, SAYS JUDGE

EASTLAND, May 24.—There will be another story to the courthouse—in fact two more as far as height is concerned, according to County—Judge Ed S. Pritchard. The wings are as high as those parts of the building will go but the central portion of the structure will have another story, which will be occupied by the court of civil appeals. Then, above this, will be the top of the elevator shaft and storage room, thus giving the courthouse the appearance of six stories, not including the basement.

Drive Is Being Made in Cisco to Reach Quota in W. T. C. C.; Some of Year's Accomplishments Cited

E. H. Whitehead and L. B. Campbell, representing the West Texas chamber of commerce, are in Cisco working with local committees closing up the membership drive for the West Texas body. Mr. Campbell has just finished the work in Breckenridge, where he secured 135 members, ten more than Breckenridge's quota. Cisco's quota this year is 109, including old members. "We will close up Cisco's quota probably today," Whitehead said.

The West Texas chamber of commerce has just closed a most successful year in point of results achieved. One of the best achievements for the year was the defeat of the proposal of the insurance companies to raise the fire insurance rates in Texas. The West Texas chamber of commerce was the clearing house through which the various local chambers of West Texas carried on this fight to a successful conclusion before the fire insurance commission in Austin. This act alone saved Cisco several thousands of dollars in insurance premiums. Failing to secure the increased rates the insurance companies sought a readjustment of the fire credits from a three year to a five year basis. The West Texas chamber sponsored the opposition and defeated this proposal before the insurance commission, so Cisco will get its fire credits this year instead of having to wait two more years. The organization has opposed the proposition of charging the common point freight rates to the mileage basis, and as a result of this opposition has succeeded in having the matter deferred until now. The change, which will operate against outlying towns, will go into effect in July, and incoming freight rates will be charged on the mileage basis, doing away
