MISSISSIPPI FLOODS ARE THREATENING

Farmers in Lowlands Seeking High Ground After Warning That Big River Will Continue Rising

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 14.—Memorials of the disastrous 1927 flood still fresh in their minds, farmers in the flood basins of Arkansas, Tennessee and Mississippi sought high ground today with their families and livestock when weather officials predicted the Mississippi river would continue to rise.

The "father of waters" already in two to four feet higher than flood stage from Cairo, Ill., to Vicksburg, Miss., and heavy rains in the Missouri and upper Mississippi valleys are expected to send it higher.

Water lapping at the top of the levees is at the highest point since the overflow of 1927. So far no lives have been reported lost but considerable damage has been done in western Tennessee where inundated highways have forced closing of schools and may cut off removal of inhabitants of lowlands should waters go higher.

Backwater overflowing into lowland counties of Mississippi and eastern Arkansas also has caused extensive damage, reports here indicated, and farmers are removing livestock to the bluffs.

RESIDENTS BREATHE SIGNS OF RELIEF

OMAHA, Neb., March 14.—Flood waters in the Platte were pouring into the broad basin of the Missouri today as residents along the stream from Columbus to

John Harris, on Trial for Fourth Time in Pioneer Slaying, Given 5 Years After Conviction at Baird

BASTLAND, March 14.—On trial for the fourth time for the killing of John Harris, shot to death in a shooting house at Pioneer on an oil field town in Eastland county in February, 1926, C. A. (Tweedy Eye) Johnson was found guilty by a jury in the district court at Baird Wednesday and his punishment assessed at five years confinement in the state penitentiary.

The case had been transferred to Baird from Eastland. Johnson was found guilty by a jury in the district court at Baird Wednesday and his punishment assessed at five years confinement in the state penitentiary.

Indicted by an Eastland county grand jury for murder Johnson was tried in the district court at Eastland, was convicted of the charge and sentenced to serve six years in the penitentiary. Tom Cunningham and R. N. Grisham of Eastland, appointed by the court to represent Johnson, appealed and reversed the case. A second trial resulted in a hung jury.

On the court, on his own motion transferred the case to Baird Johnson was tried for the murder charge. A jury found him guilty of the slaying and fixed his punishment at five years in the penitentiary. The case was again reversed and again reversed.

Johnson set up the plea of insanity Wednesday afternoon. Johnson had been found manslaughter by a jury but again he was tried on a charge of murder. Also that since the case had been provided for the charge against Johnson, he was again tried on a charge of manslaughter on the crime was committed under the law in regard to the case will be appealed. At the time Harris was shot and killed by Johnson, "Doc" Elliott was shot twice in the abdomen. Elliott, after being shot to death by Johnson's gun away from him and beat Johnson severely over the head with it, according to testimony given by state witnesses at the first trial of Johnson.

Johnson, one time constable at Rising Star, has the distinction of being the first and only man ever to run against himself for election to office. When he filed for constable he got his name on the ticket as "Tweedy Eye," a name by which he was familiarly known. Friends, induced him later to ask that the voters write in his name, using the initials, C. A., for fear that some question might arise as to the legality of his election if he were elected as "Tweedy Eye." In the election C. A. Johnson received more votes than did "Tweedy Eye" Johnson and Johnson defeated himself.

Johnson, past 50 years of age at the time he was indicted for murder, has aged greatly since his first trial. He spent a long time in the county jail at Eastland, but most of the time has been at liberty on bond.

GOOD TIME FOR BONDS. WASHINGTON, March 14.—Due to the present trend of the bond market now is a good time for the prudent investor to buy bonds, Secretary of Treasury Mellon said today. He made this statement to newspapermen at a press conference, explaining he had just been reading a book which analyzed government and industrial bonds.

ADDITIONAL U. S. TROOPS TO BORDER

WASHINGTON, March 14.—Approximately 300 additional troops have been ordered from Fort Huachuca, Southern Arizona, to the Mexican border in the vicinity of Naco, Ariz., the war department was informed today.

Officers estimated that the border guard now in the vicinity of Naco or enroute there numbered between 400 and 500 men. The second squadron of the 10th cavalry and a small infantry detachment were sent south by today's order. One troop of cavalry and one company of infantry were ordered to the border earlier this week. Major Charles B. Hazelton commands the detachment.

THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS DAMAGE DONE

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., March 14.—Many thousands of dollars damage had been caused today by streams in northwestern Missouri and Southern Iowa going out of their banks. The Nodaway, Platte, and 102 rivers are flowing over lowlands and injuring crops, highways, and bridges.

FACE FLOOD DANGERS

CHICAGO, March 14.—Several sections of Illinois faced grave flood dangers today as streams and tributaries, fed by melted snows and ice, continued to rise steadily.

Galena and East Freeport, in the northern part of the state, apparently were hardest hit, although several other communities reported near flood conditions.

Trouble in getting his engine started, delayed Lindbergh's take-off which had originally been scheduled for 9:30 EST.

The famous flyer said goodbye to his fiancée and the Morrow family at the American embassy residence. None of the Morrows, nor embassy attaches went to the field where the mail plane awaited Lindbergh. The colonel refused to discuss what his plans would be after reaching Brownsville.

Ten passengers were in the mail plane with Lindbergh and there was a considerable quantity of mail. It was understood another plane awaited him at Brownsville probably for a flight to New York, but what route was not known.

MINISTER IS WITNESS IN MURDER TRIAL

HENRIETTA, March 14.—After the presiding judge ruled that a minister of the gospel is qualified to distinguish between the smell of liquor and fluids that are not liquor, the Rev. A. O. Bates, Nocona Baptist minister, was called to the stand in the trial here of Cecil Goodspeed for murder.

Reverend Bates testified that he saw some broken jars and smelled whiskey in the garage in the rear of Goodspeed's home in Nocona on the night of January 13 when Goodspeed is alleged to have shot and killed City Marshal A. R. Gooch. The shooting occurred as Gooch was conducting a liquor raid.

The state rested late Wednesday and defense testimony commenced this morning.

CITY FLOODED

PON DU LAC, Wis., March 14.—Waters from the Pon Du Lac river and De Neveu creek left their banks today and flooded sections of the city. Part of the residential district were under water and damage to property was unestimated.

700 Federal Troops Reported as Having Been Captured; 2 Aviators Report Advantage With Government

BY FREDERICK C. OTHMAN. JUAREZ, Chihuahua, March 14.—Reports of two rebel victories and capture of some 700 federal troops near Torreon sent this ordinarily gay border town into near ecstasies of joy today.

When rebel reports arrived over commandeered telegraph lines from Chihuahua City that the in the war zone as seen from the air meanwhile was told by two American fliers, George Kraigher and Carl Schlaet, who arrived at the municipal airport of El Paso, Texas, with Colonel Alexander McNab as a passenger from Mexico City. McNab, military attaché at the American embassy in Mexico City, left immediately for San Antonio, Texas.

"I am sure there will be a battle at Torreon," Schlaet said, "but it probably will not amount to much." The federal government has one of the largest armies ever organized in Mexico and public opinion, which is important, is on the side of the federal government.

Troop trains puffing northward, with tiny engines pulling flat cars on which were artillery pieces passed us. Over the state of Chihuahua we saw the rebel army advancing southward, but to us the federal seemed to have all the best of it in man power and equipment.

The first battle, according to the reports, occurred in the Artega mountains about half way between Torreon and Saltillo. The other engagement, location of which was not learned definitely, was believed to have been near San Luis Potosi where the rebels failed in their report of having trounced a column of federal troops.

The Generals Torres, brothers, were quoted in the dispatches as having said the federal resisted their attack only a few minutes and then retreated in complete confusion.

The battle in the Artega mountains also took but a few minutes but the fighting was exceptionally fierce while it lasted, the wire said.

HOOVER STARTS SNOWSTORM ORGANIZATION HAMPERS HUNT FOR LOST BOY

WASHINGTON, March 14.—President Hoover today took the first step toward organizing his commission of inquiry to investigate law enforcement and judicial reform throughout the nation.

In a conference with Dean Robert M. Hutchins of the Yale law school and Prof. Charles E. Clark of the Yale legal faculty, the president outlined the general plan of procedure and the scope of the undertaking he has in mind.

EAKER READY FOR DAWN TO DUSK HOP

SAN ANTONIO, March 14.—Capt. Ira Eaker planned to fly to Brownsville today to make ready for his dawn-to-dusk flight from the United States to Panama Saturday.

His ship, the Pan American, was christened at the International Airport, Brownsville, last Saturday. Captain Eaker had planned to start for Panama last Sunday but his flight was called off by the war department because of Mexican troubles.

INCOME TAX RETURNS GO TO HIGH MARK

WASHINGTON, March 14.—Revenues from income tax returns due March 15 are far exceeding expectations, and the treasury will undoubtedly close the fiscal year without a deficit, Secretary of Treasury Mellon announced today.

Returns to March 13 were $345,000,000 more than estimated, which indicates the treasury will have a small surplus at least, Mellon said.

Income tax returns for March, 1928, were about $57,000,000 and it is expected the returns this month will exceed that. He indicated the returns for the fiscal year would exceed the $2,170,000,000 collected from income tax returns in 1928.

CLUBS FORM COUNCIL FOR LEGISLATION

AUSTIN, March 14.—Five women's clubs of the state have incorporated themselves into an organization to be known as the State Joint Legislative Council of Women's organizations.

The component members of this new organization are vitally interested in legislation. They are: Texas Federation of Women's clubs; State Women's Christian Temperance union; League of Women Voters; State Congress of Mothers and the State Nurses' association. The purpose of the organization is to instruct the members of participating organizations along lines of needed legislation.

The charter was taken out by Mrs. Nell D. Doom of Austin, representing the Federated clubs; Mrs. Irene H. Smith of Austin, representing the Congress of Mothers; Mrs. Josephine Collins, representing W. C. T. U.; and Miss E. L. Brient of San Antonio, representing the Nurses' association.

These women together with nine others compose the board of directors for the first year as follows: Mrs. Minnie Fisher Cunningham, New Waverly; Mrs. Florence C. Floore, Cleburne; Mrs. Ina Caddell Marrs, Austin; Mrs. Claude De Van Watts, Austin; Mrs. W. E. Spill Waco; Mrs. Jane Y. McCallum, Austin; Mrs. W. R. Potter, Bowie; Mrs. L. C. Banks, Austin.

TEXTILE UNION WILL NOT BE RECOGNIZED

ELIZABETHTON, Tenn., March 14.—Protracted arbitration of the strike at the American Glantzstoff corporation plants here was forestalled today when Dr. Arthur Mott-wurf, president, announced the company would refuse to recognize the textile union formed last night by militant women workers.

It was a plainly defiant pronouncement of an official who personally was wounded during rioting which yesterday featured the demand of several hundred women workers for shorter hours and more pay.

The Glantzstoff company manufactures both Rayon silk and Bemberg yarns and employ upwards of 4,500 workers in its two plants here.

House of Representatives Fiddles, Senate Sings as Solons Await Closing Hour of Present Session

AUSTIN, March 14.—Representative J. T. Walters of Buda, Jasper county fiddled "Fisher's Hornpipe" and "Arkansas Traveler" for the Texas house of representatives today in lieu of a speech. Representative Phil Sanders of Nacogdoches rivalled him with a hunter's call on a ram's horn.

All business was at a standstill with threats to raise the point of "no quorum" if any disputed measures were called up.

The fiction of a quorum was maintained to permit Speaker Pro Tem Minor to sign bills that already have passed.

Mrs. Batts Introduced. Mrs. J. J. Batts of Cisco, club woman, was introduced to the house by Representative Victor B. Gilbert of Baird.

The senate broke into song when told to stand at ease pending arrival of bills to be signed.

Copies of a book containing "Favorite Songs and Hymns" were distributed by Senator Gus Rusk.

"No Not One," called for by Senator W. D. McFarlane to be dedicated to administration forces.

"Now let's sing 'Rescue the Perishing,' in honor of supporters of the automobile license fee reduction bill," called Senator Julien Heyer.

The walls of the senate chamber echoed with "Not a Star in My Crown," "When You and I Were Young, Maggie," "Old Black Joe," "My Old Kentucky Home."

Senator W. R. Cousins was elected president pro tempore ad interim of the senate this morning. He defeated Senator Pink L. Parrish of Lubbock. Senator Cousins succeeds Senator Walter C. Woodward of Coleman, who served as president pro tem during this regular session.

At the beginning of the special session another president will be elected to succeed Cousins.

Senate voted to postpone consideration of report by the senate textbook investigating committee until special session.

The house bill making wife and child desertion a felony was passed by the senate.

THE "LAME DUCK" SESSION.

While the country has learned not to expect much constructive legislation from a congress during its short and final session, when its personnel consists largely of men whose successors have already been elected, the "lame duck" session of the seventieth congress made its exit on March 4 to a fair accompaniment of editorial applause, says the Literary Digest.

During these last three months of an expiring congress's life, as the Utica Press reminds us, there is apt to be something of uncertainty and confusion; and "there is lacking also that incentive, an impending election, to inspire it to do its most serious work." Nevertheless, says the Newark News, the last session of the congress that has just come to an end behind it "a record above the average." It has disposed of several measures "in a way that reflects the sentiment of the country," adds this New Jersey daily, which rates the ratification of the treaty to renounce war as "the session's outstanding achievement." This Kellogg pact and the act providing for the construction of fifteen new cruisers are memorable achievements, agrees the Norfolk Virginian-Pilot, which includes in its commendation the Jones act increasing the penalties for violation of the prohibition law.

"Apart from the several supply bills, the short session will be memorable chiefly for its ratification of the Kellogg anti-war treaty and its enactment of the cruiser bill," declares the Chicago Daily News. And the New York Herald Tribune brackets the Jones merchant-marine act, passed in the first session, with the short session's passage of the cruiser bill:

"The seventieth congress, whose second session is drawing to a close, will be remembered, we think, chiefly for the passage of two related measures strengthening this country's position as a sea power. The Jones merchant-marine act, passed at the first session, has opened the way to a healthy development of an American merchant marine privately owned and operated. Its provisions have enabled the government to cut down its shipping operations, and to dispose of some of the most important units of its merchant fleet. Capital is being attracted into overseas shipping, and private enterprise will build new and larger vessels for service on regular lines to Europe and South America.

"American export trade has grown so enormously that a first-class American overseas merchant marine is becoming a national necessity. Its appearance will respond to the Mahan doctrine, that trade requires a marine and a marine requires an adequate navy. The United States is destined to have both. It is only a matter of time and economic pressure.

"Fitting in with the passage of the Jones act was the authorization by congress, of the construction of fifteen additional 10,000-ton cruisers. Our cruiser strength had fallen far below the Washington treaty ratio, and only large-scale building—five cruisers for three successive years—could restore parity, or, at least, nearly restore it. Violent opposition to this cruiser program was made by the forces in congress, which wanted to have the United States forego cruiser parity with either Great Britain or Japan. The cruiser authorization bill was left unacted on in the senate when the first session ended last May. It was also held up in that body until near the end of the present session. But it is now a law, and our determination to secure cruiser parity has been established beyond question. If that determination had been manifested a few years earlier, the Geneva three-power naval limitation conference would not have failed. As it is, our position on the seas has been vastly strengthened by these two pieces of far-seeing legislation."

But the satisfaction with which the country may look back upon the work of the short session, virtually all editorial commentators agree, is marred by the failure of congress to pass a reapportionment bill. As the Troy Times remarks:

"The constitution makes specific provision for a redistribution of representation after each census. The Fenn bill would have made such redistribution automatic after the 1930 census. This nine-year-old scandal should be smothered by the next congress and a bill should be passed to accord with the provisions of the constitution. The only objection to such legislation is that certain states would lose representation to which they were not entitled."

The Fenn reapportionment bill was passed by the house but allowed to die by the senate. In an editorial headed, "Do Senators Wish Another Hayes-Tilden Contest?" the New York Evening Post says:

"In English history we read with indignation of the glaring misrepresentation which existed in the house of commons down to 1832. Districts once populous which had dwindled to hamlets or to actual wastes still had the right to choose members of parliament, the right being exercised by whoever happened to own the deserted land. On the other hand, large cities which had grown up in modern times were virtually unrepresented.

"But we can no longer condemn this state of affairs without hitting ourselves. In Michigan there are three congressional districts with an average population of 800,000 each. There are districts in other states with less than 160,000. One person in any of these districts counts for as much as five persons in any of the three districts in Michigan.

"In California there is one district with a population of 1,500,000. There are whole states with that many inhabitants which have half a dozen or more representatives in the house to the California district's one.

"Nor is this all. The discrepancy reaches farther than congress. It touches the presidency. Since the electoral vote of a state is equal to the total number of its senators and representatives, states which do not have their fair share of members in the house are similarly under-represented in the electoral college.

"California and Kentucky have the same number of electoral votes, thirteen. But California has a population of 4,400,000, while Kentucky has only 2,500,000. Suppose there were another close election like the one in 1916, with Kentucky instead of California casting the deciding vote. Then we might have not merely a minority president—which we did have in 1916—but a president whose majority in the electoral vote was due directly to over-representation of that minority in the electoral college.

"This would be a result squarely at variance not only with the spirit but also with the plain letter of the constitution. Such an election might be challenged when the votes were counted, as the election returns of the Hayes-Tilden election were challenged, and with much less room for debate than was the case in 1876, when there were fraud and intimidation on both sides."

MAYOR ISSUES PROCLAMATION FOR LEGION

The tenth anniversary of the organization of the American Legion is being observed by the John Williamson... with a campaign to bring every ex-service man in the city into the membership.

A PROCLAMATION

By the Mayor of the City of Cisco. The American Legion will soon celebrate the tenth anniversary of its organization. To those who so nobly served their country in time of great peril it will be an anniversary of achievement for a great work has been performed by the Legion in the decade of peace that has followed the close of the World War.

those who were left widows by the war. Although much has been accomplished for these war sufferers there is still a great deal to be done. The Legion has given assurance that this work will be continued as long as there is a need for it. In the field of community service the Legion has successfully conducted civic betterment projects in all parts of the country that have demonstrated in a concrete way the power of the Legion to serve in time of peace.

Now, therefore, I, J. M. Williamson, mayor of the city of Cisco, do hereby proclaim Friday, March 15, and Saturday, March 16, as the dates for the tenth anniversary celebration of the American Legion and urge all citizens to aid the Legion in every possible way to increase its membership strength.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the City of Cisco to be affixed. Done in the City of Cisco, this 11th day of March, in the year of our Lord, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine.

Give these energetic seeds a chance in your garden

ENERGETIC seeds take no more digging, or raking, or caring for in a garden, than seeds that are not so full of the spirit to live. But think of the difference at harvest time! The energetic seeds withstand disease better — grow better and stronger — produce more vigorously and more abundantly.

The Ferry's Seeds that you can buy today at the "store around the corner" are surprisingly energetic. What is more, they are fresh. What is most important, they are purebred! These Ferry's Seeds came from plants that measured up to the Ferry standard in size, color, flavor, productivity — plants that have handed their inheritance on.

They are pedigreed seeds! — in the strict sense you mean when you say a race-horse is pedigreed. Their parents, grandparents, great grandparents — all were of fine true stock, without an inferior strain. Doesn't this mean something to your garden? Send for the Ferry's Seed Annual to plan what you want. Remember that Ferry makes thousands of tests a year to determine the truthness of every seed you now can spill into your hand from a bright Ferry packet. Garden facts in the Annual make it far more than a catalog. Address: D. M. Ferry & Co., Dept. H, Detroit, Michigan.

Give your garden its best possible start with Ferry's purebred Seeds.

Queens Easy Winners Over Team From Throckmorton in State Meet Breckenridge; Play Dalhart Tonight

The Lobo Queens had little difficulty in defeating the Throckmorton high school sextet last night by a score of 53 to 21 in the state A. A. U. high school girls basketball tournament at Breckenridge. This evening at 8 o'clock, however, the Cisco girls take on an unknown quantity in the persons of six girls who form the Dalhart sextet. The Dalhart group has to its credit the championship of two previous tournaments this year, one a tri-state meet held at Dalhart, the other an invitation tournament at Goodwell, Oklahoma.

The game will be played in the junior high school gymnasium. The feature of last night's round of five games was the defeat of Dublin, last year's champions, by the Frankel sextet. The game, hardfought from start to finish, ended in a 19 to 17 victory for the Frankel girls.

Other games in the initial round were:

Celeste 28; Parks 12.
Rose High (Basket) 23; Colby 18.
Breckenridge 50; Eula 8.

The tournament will continue today with eight games scheduled for the afternoon and evening sessions.

Twenty-three teams are entered in the tournament, making it the largest and most comprehensive meet of its character ever held in this section, or perhaps, in the state. The Southern A. A. U. is conducting the meet.

The Cisco girls, grimly remembering their defeat at the hands of Breckenridge in the West Texas tournament at Snyder recently, are out for revenge. The scorings in the first round last night, as far as Breckenridge and Cisco are concerned, cannot be taken too seriously, as each team appears to be conserving its strength against weaker opposition, holding it in readiness against the final hours of the meet. Needless to say Cisco and Breckenridge are the favorites in the meet.

Dalhart, Cisco's opposition tonight, drew a by in the first round and that team's game tonight will be its first in the tourney. No estimate of the strength of the team is possible, but the Queens are prepared for it.

RANDOLPH BADGER STAFF TO GIVE PLAY

The Randolph College Badger staff is to present a three-act mystery comedy "Am I Intruding?" in the city hall auditorium on March 22 at 8 p. m.

This is a thoroughly modern comedy, based on a mystery plot that holds the attention from start to finish and comes out quite differently from what anyone in the audience is expecting. There is really no big star part, all the people in the cast having an unusual opportunity to shine.

The proceeds from this play are to be used by the staff in financing this year's Badger, the college annual.

WIMROD CLUB HAS ALL-DAY QUILTING BEE

The Ladies Home Demonstration club met Thursday at the club house for quilting. This club has quilted and sold two quilts and has two more ready to sell. The quilt that was made on Thursday was covered with advertisements that the Cisco merchants gave the ladies at 50 cents each.

At noon a delicious dinner was served. Each lady brought food, consisting of homemade light bread, cucumber pickles, plum cobbler pie, salmon loaf, fried ham, beef roast, New Orleans gumbo, two kinds of potato salad and two cakes.

The members present were: Mesdames H. A. Wright, J. W. Holt, J. E. Notgrass, J. E. Stovall, Jim Lanham, J. W. Brown, Otto Langritz, L. D. Stanford, H. H. Harrelson, Roy Allen, Misses Ola Notgrass and Era Hale. Visitors present were Mrs. Major Notgrass, Miss Etta Notgrass and Miss Louverne Scriet.

These ladies have a nice 14x28 feet club house built and partly furnished. The furniture consists of a Home Comfort stove, large dining table, cabinet, settee and shades, a 64-piece dinner set, 18 goblets, 27-piece silverware set and 30 cooking vessels together with a canner and sealer. It is hoped to have it completely furnished before long.

The club has been organized less than a year.

This club will have a quilt and sandwich sale at the school house on Friday night, March 15.

Early Settler Peeved Because Newcomer Moved Into His "Back Yard" Without Asking Permission

Editor's Note: In his last article Mr. Lamb discussed the early history of the Gunsight and Harpersville communities. His story of the organization of churches in the communities is taken up again in the article below.

BY ISHAM LAMB.
There were those who did not belong to any church and who took no part in the work but would attend the services while the pastor was there. I spent many pleasant hours in the home of J. W. Babcock who was not a church member but a fine, wide-awake citizen, a good neighbor and a true friend. There were a number of good singers in the community and they were always on hand to lend their aid in the services.

The most of the people in the community owned homes and stayed with them. In the settlement of the west there were many people who stopped where they could find water and grass for their stock. They would build stock pens and a camp cabin and when the country began to settle up would move to some other part where they could find more room and fewer neighbors. In 1873 I was in Comanche and one man was berating the people moving into the country, saying that they did not regard the rights of the old settlers. He said one man had settled right in his doorway and that without asking him anything about it. I asked how close that settler had got to him, thinking that it was within a hundred yards or so of his house, perhaps. Quite indignantly he told me that the new comer had made his home only 15 miles away. The crowd laughed.

In writing of the people of Battle Creek I failed to mention several that were here at the time of which I was writing. Among them was Wash Wray, one of the first settlers of the country. James Wray, whose son lives here yet, his sister, Mrs. Clanton and her husband, J. W. Clanton, Mr. and Mrs. Clanton now live near Eureka in Stephens county. J. C. Compton, another old settler, lived in that part of the county. He was the first man to go into the dairy business. He started that business at Baird, later going to Albany where he started a similar business. His sons still live on Battle Creek and are prosperous. The Macevains were also early settlers, so were William and Robert Blackman, Mrs. Pritchard, the mother of Frank and Ples Thorp, Mrs. Calderon, the mother of the Richardson boys Mrs. Calderon lived to be about 100 years of age. Wayland, a neighboring community of Gunsight, was one of the first settlements in this part of the country to attract the attention of immigrants. That big-hearted, noble pioneer Billy Pembrough, was among the first to invade that section. He is still living hale and hearty, jovial, and always meets one with a broad smile and a glad hand. Dr. Cole was perhaps the first physician to make his home in that community. He and Dr. Tigue were early settlers in the Wayland community. The Lauderdals were also early settlers. They were stayers and community builders and took an active part in the development of that section. Mr. Maxwell was a wide-awake farmer and stockman. If I remember aright, Almer Hiltner was the first merchant at Wayland. He ran a general store there. The Nunn, the Prewetts, Lockharts, the Wells and the Brewers were all early settlers. Mr. Hardin kept a store there for many years and also operated a gin and a mill. I passed through that part of the country a few months ago and looking at it now and remembering how it looked 50 years ago it did not seem the same country. Fifty years ago there was but little timber. The whole country was covered with a fine coat of grass and it was one of the best ranges to be found. This applies also to the Gunsight country. But now it is covered with small growth. Most of the grass is gone and the brush has taken its place. Very little of it is needed for fuel and like the fleas on a dog, does not help the country. I think the brush hinders rather than helps. Why not destroy the brush and let the grass grow again? A diamond jubilee will be observed in May at Panna Maria, Karnes county, said to be the oldest Polish settlement in the United States and which was founded in 1854, seventy-five years ago.
