Farmers in the lowlands of the Red River valley between Fort Worth and Lake Worth, evacuated their homes as the stream burst out of its banks and the waters in Lake Worth were rising steadily. The spillway at the dam was overflowing at the best rate in seven years.

SHE'LL FLY FOR NEW MARK.

It's a woman's privilege to change the woman's endurance flight record if she can stay up in the air long enough. And that's what Viola Gentry, shown above with her biplane "Annette" at Roosevelt Field, Long Island, hopes to do. She'll take off soon in an attempt to fly 30 hours without stopping. Elinor Smith, 17-year-old "flogger flyer" of Long Island, recently set a mark of more than 26 hours in the air for other aviatrices to shoot at.

WTCC DRIVE HERE NEARS 100 PER CENT

Practically a 100 per cent renewal of West Texas chamber of commerce memberships in Cisco has been obtained by E. H. Whitehead, assistant manager of the regional organization, and L. B. Campbell, field man in charge of membership campaigns, who completed their work here yesterday. A number of members who are expected to renew their affiliation with the WTCC this year, were out of the city and could not be reached at this time. B. S. Huey, local WTCC campaign director, however, will complete the work and when he is done a more than 100 per cent renewal is anticipated on the basis of the progress already made. Those assisting Messrs. Campbell and Whitehead in this campaign were E. P. Crawford, president of the Cisco chamber of commerce; B. S. Huey, Mayor J. M. Williamson and J. E. T. Peters.

MYSTERY OF ZEP'S MOTORS IS UNSOLVED

Eckener Is Awaiting Judgment of Experts.

TOULON, France, May 18.—The mystery of what caused the engines of the dirigible Graf Zeppelin to go bad so soon after the start of her transatlantic flight remained today, but a thorough examination of the crippled motors was promised, with the hope not only for explaining the mishap, but of providing valuable data for the safety of future flights.

Dr. Hugo Eckener, the Zeppelin's commander, told the United Press today that the question of where the ship would go from here would not be settled until German technical experts pronounce judgment on the motors. Dr. Eckener did not discuss the probable cause of the trouble. The Zeppelin commander received the report in the cabin of the mammoth airship. He showed signs of great fatigue after his few hours of sleep. Just the same, he was unable to restrain a smile of satisfaction. "I will always owe a debt of gratitude to the French navy for landing us safely here," the commander said. "We had the greatest difficulties ever encountered in a single flight, difficulties which just would not permit us to cross the Atlantic as we had planned," Eckener explained. "I was astonished at the efficiency of the ground crew here, inexperienced to such delicate maneuvers, which are entirely different to anything else in aviation and are troublesome even to experienced crews."

WOMAN STAYS WITH SHIP.

TOULON, May 18.—Mrs. Mary Pierce of New York will stay by the crippled Graf Zeppelin until the dirigible has been repaired and will be one of the passengers when the flight across the Atlantic to the United States is resumed. To Mrs. Pierce the forced landing here yesterday was just an incident. She told a correspondent for the United Press today that though the unscheduled stop here upset all her plans, she has not cancelled her passage to America and will be on hand when the Graf Zeppelin is ready to hop off. "I never slept better in my life than I did last night," she said. "I am ready to go back on the ship as soon as Dr. Eckener gives the word. I have not cancelled my passage and I do not intend to."

Mrs. Pierce was all smiles today, just as she was yesterday when she descended from the ship. The passengers and members of the crew could not hide their admiration for the plucky spirit of the only woman passenger aboard the Graf Zeppelin. "You ask me," Mrs. Pierce said, "if I didn't have a single moment's emotion and several flip-flops of the heart, I assure you, although it may not sound normal, that I never felt anything. As a matter of fact you'll have to admit there never was any danger. I don't know how I would have felt had we been forced to land elsewhere than at an airport. "As to what happened I can't say. I'll have to leave that to the experts. But they told us not to say anything, so I doubt that you will get much even out of the crew."

MOODY SIGNS.

AUSTIN, May 18.—Governor Moody today signed the bill prohibiting discrimination in issuance of insurance policies. It prohibits issuance of stock or bonds in connection with insurance policies.

DEAD IN ACCIDENT.

COMMERCE, May 18.—Dan Nickerson, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Hickerson, is dead here as a result of an accident near Mount Vernon Monday when his car overturned with him.

SINCLAIR MAKES STATEMENT.

WASHINGTON, May 18.—Harry F. Sinclair, oil baron, issued an eight word statement, the first he has made since entering district jail to serve a 90-day sentence for contempt of the senate, confirming press dispatches that his wife was in a Battle Creek sanitarium. A written question asking the multi-millionaire where Mrs. Sinclair was and whether she had suffered a nervous breakdown was answered: "Mrs. Sinclair is in the Battle Creek sanitarium."

FLYER KILLED WHEN 2 PLANES CRASH IN AIR

COLUMBUS, O., May 18.—Unable to free his parachute which became entangled in the undercarriage of his disabled plane, Lieut. Lee Meadows of Los Angeles, was killed and Lieut. Solter jumped to safety when their airplanes collided in midair north of here today. Both planes burst into flames. As Meadows leaped from the cockpit of his ship he apparently jerked the cord of his parachute which was whipped against the undercarriage of the falling plane. He was dead, his body badly charred, when nearby residents reached the wreckage. Lieutenant Solter's ship was disabled by the impact and angled off in a northerly direction, with Solter trying to free himself from the cockpit. The motor exploded as he jumped and the craft hurtled to the earth, a mass of tangled wires and fabric. The squadron composed of 17 ships, was enroute to Columbus on an air "raid" when the accident occurred. Solter said they spied a dozen red army planes and were swooping to "attack" when Meadows' plane crashed into the undercarriage of his ship.

NINE STRIKERS UNDER BOND AT ELIZABETHTON

By United Press. ELIZABETHTON, Tenn., May 18.—Nine Bemberg-Glanzstoff strikers, three of them girls, were bound over to circuit court today on charges of intimidation and conspiracy in connection with an attempt Thursday to prevent strike-breakers from going to work at rayon plants here. Decision of the two city magistrates to hold the group was made in the Carter county court house before a sullen crowd of 500 strikers who accepted the action without a word. National guardsmen with bayoneted rifles patrolled the courtroom as the decision was rendered. Those bound over were held under $1,000 bond each, which William F. Kelley, vice president of the United Textile Workers of America, said would be raised today.

LEGISLATURE VOTES DOWN HANGING BILL

Public Executions Arc Denounced by Solons.

AUSTIN, May 18.—Electrocution was retained as the form of capital punishment in Texas by vote of the house of representatives today. An attempt to return to public hangings was voted down. Detailed discussion of the rival horrors of hanging and electrocution preceded a vote on the bill which was offered by Representative Elwin Gerron of Waxahachie. Representative A. P. C. Petch of Fredericksburg secured an amendment to the bill so that even if it had passed the hangings would have been private instead of public. Petch declared that public hangings would result in such a sentiment against capital punishment that it would be abandoned. The vote on the Gerron bill was 44 to 62.

Public executions were denounced by Rev. Luke Mankin of Georgetown. He told of some that had occurred in Williamson county in early days. A man's watch chain made from strands of a rope used in a public execution was used as an illustration of the public effect. Scores Penalty Capital punishment of any sort was scored in the discussion. Mankin asserted that the majority of men called for jury service will not inflict capital punishment. Representative Jack Keller of Dallas asserted it is wrong for any man or group of men to take the life of another. A chorus of "amen" was heard when Keller declared it was as wrong to execute a man one way as another. "This is not a question of capital punishment," the bill deals only with the manner," said Keller. He advocated hanging as against electrocution. Gerron, advocating his bill, declared the purpose is to reduce crime by bringing home to criminals the effect of crime. Representative Carl Rountree of Lamesa cited horrors of execution by hanging. "Don't let the state become a partner in brutality," he urged. "Do you know a humane way to kill a man?" asked Representative J. Lewis Thompson of Houston. The senate passed finally a bill declaring ice a public utility and its manufacture and sale are placed under supervision of the state railroad commission. Certificates of public convenience and necessity will be necessary to operate ice plants if the bill is passed also by the house and signed by the governor. The senate finally passed the house bill enlarging the powers of the railroad commission over motor buses and increase the fees for operating the bus division. Amendments make it necessary for the house to act again upon the bill.

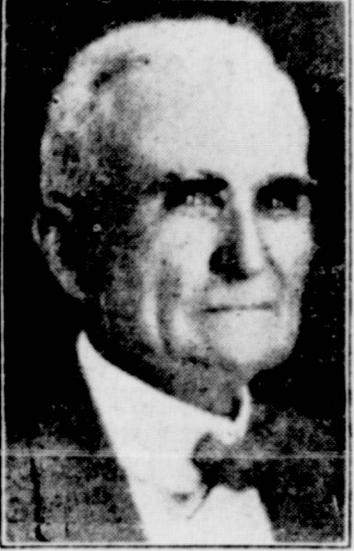

Auto Crashes Into Children; Two Dead

CHICAGO, May 18.—A stolen automobile driven by two youths who police said were drunk, crashed into a group of school children here last night, killing two and injuring two others so seriously they are not expected to live. The dead are Robert Jennell, 12, and Jerome Boyd, 13. Ray Rousseau, 13, suffered internal injuries and Harold O'Grady, 13, received a fractured skull. The two youths were William Sweeney, 26, and Frank O'Dowd, 27. They will be charged with manslaughter. The automobile had been stolen several hours previous to the accident, police learned.

NAIL FATAL TO CHILD.

FIVE PEOPLE HURT IN OAK CLIFF CRASH

DALLAS, Texas, May 18.—Five persons were injured today, two perhaps seriously, when an inbound Trinity Heights-San Jacinto street car, derailed by a broken rear axle, crashed head on into an outboard Corsican interurban at the Dallas end of the Oak Cliff street car viaduct. Mrs. M. T. Robbins, 60, received severe chest injuries and possible internal injuries. Leroy Taylor was badly bruised about the body. Less seriously injured were Mrs. Lee A. Wall, 31; Maxine McDonald, 5, and Miss Ruby Odell, all of whom suffered slight bruises.

PROXY TO TAKE GROOM'S PLACE FOR MARRIAGE

SAN ANTONIO, May 18.—Marriage by proxy, stretching across several nations tomorrow, will bind in wedlock Mrs. Laurinca Jackson Burns Yarbrough, of San Antonio, to Manuel Enrique Escalante, Peruvian army aviator. The marriage will be performed by a Bexar county justice of the peace, with Frederick C. Gross, San Antonio insurance man, serving as the proxy groom. The license for the unusual wedding was issued here today, and was believed to be the first in the history of the county. Mrs. Yarbrough and Capt. Escalante met while the latter was at Kelly Field last summer taking flying training at the United States army flying school. He was permitted to take his training here through a special arrangement between the United States and Peruvian governments. In his declaration of intention, Captain Escalante named Gross as the proxy groom, and stated that official duty prevented him from coming for his bride. She will join him at Lima, Peru, in June, she said today.

Pageant to Be Given at Methodist Church

A pageant will be presented at the Methodist church tonight at 8 o'clock. The pageant is a review of the work of a modern Sunday school. It is called "The Messenger of a New Day." A large number of characters, in artistic garments, accompanied by appropriate music will tell this story. A large part of the Sunday school will pass in review in the latter part of the pageant. The pageant closes with a beautiful scene of reverence for the Cross. Several musical numbers enrich the presentation. The public is cordially invited.

PROGRAM FOR COURT HOUSE EVENT SHAPED

Structure Will Be Monument to Ex-service Men.

Eastland county will close up shop Thursday, May 30—Memorial Day—and make "whoopee" in a big celebration in honor of the Eastland county men who gave their services to the country in the World war. On this occasion the county's new $300,000 courthouse will be formally dedicated to the county's soldiers, 32 of whom made the supreme sacrifice in the recent world conflict. While the celebration will be held at Eastland, it is a county-wide affair, being sponsored by the Eastland county posts of the American Legion. Every town and community in the county is working to make the affair a success. The expense of the program is being borne jointly by the various towns and communities throughout the county. The general dedication committee and the score or more sub-committees are made up of citizens from the county-at-large.

Plans for the program are not fully completed and can not be for a few days yet, but they have advanced to that stage where it is known what character of entertainment will be had and a general outline of the program may be given. The schools, both independent and rural; the Boy Scouts, service clubs, civic organizations, churches and all other organizations of the county may have a part in the program if they so desire and many of them are already making arrangements to be represented in the parade or on some other part of the program. Grand Parade. The grand parade, which will open the program, will be staged in the morning, beginning not later than 10:00 o'clock. There will be not less than a half dozen of the best band organizations in Central West Texas, the Boy Scouts, schools and civic organizations of the various towns, the American Legion, and numerous other organizations in the parade. On the program will be a number of speakers of state and national reputation. Governor Moody has been invited to make an address, as has Judge Nelson B. Phillips of Dallas. The program is being arranged to consume not only the entire day, but will last into the evening when the visitors will have an opportunity to see Eastland's county's handsome new courthouse, recognized as one of the most imposing structures of its size in the country, illuminated by the indirect, or floodlight system, it being the only courthouse in the state so lighted. There will also be a dance and other forms of amusement and entertainment at night. The committee in charge of the affair considered a free barbecue for the celebration, but due to the short time in which to arrange a program, the uncertainties as to the number of visitors who will attend, it was decided not to attempt this. An abundance of coffee, ice water, lemonade, etc., will be provided, however, and those attending are requested to bring with them picnic lunches which may be spread on tables being arranged for the purpose. 25,000 People. Taking into consideration the fact that the celebration is in honor of the World war veterans, the fact that almost every civic organization in the county is participating and the further fact that it is a county-wide celebration, it is estimated that 25,000 people will be present.

POT SHOTS -AT- POLITICS -By- Col. Hugh Nugent Fitzgerald. AUSTIN

Cheap Wheat in London On May 19 the price of wheat in English markets reached its lowest level since 1914. Cheap wheat does not call for cheap bread. American wheat is protected by a duty of 30c per bushel. American farmers produce a large surplus. There are many wheat producing countries. Canada is getting to be a great wheat producing nation. Economists say that the surplus fixes the price. There is an over-production of wheat how will it be possible to obtain a fancy price for the grain that is said to furnish the staff of life?

William Green on Labor Conditions William Green is president of the American Federation of Labor. He is a staunch Baptist, a staunch prohibitionist, a staunch Republican and a very able successor to the late Samuel Gompers. William Green appeared before a Senate investigating committee. Speaking of labor trouble in southern industrial centers, he said: "Textile operatives work from 50 to 60 hours a week in southern mills. They receive low wages. They are compelled to strike to bring about higher standards of living. Their organizers were driven out of the mill towns by representative citizens, soldiers armed with machine guns terrorized the strikers and altogether the conditions are not lovely."

Summer Home for Hoover Leading citizens of New Mexico have invited Pres. and Mrs. Hoover to spend their summer vacations in the Spanish-American commonwealth where snow-capped mountain peaks are ever visible to the naked eye. Pres. Hoover has a very important session of Congress "on his hands." Sen. Borah induced him to call the session for the purpose of enacting "farm relief" legislation. Now the political prophets are croaking that the session will be extended far into the summer and perhaps the early fall months. If so the president will be compelled to forego the summer vacation. Duty has the first call.

Another Republican Farm Bloc Republican representatives from 16 states have organized a bloc. They demand protection on livestock, that hides shall be taken from the free list and that the growers of long staple cotton shall be given the same protection that is enjoyed by New England manufacturers who buy long staple cotton from southern farmers and ship it into high priced thread. There may be a new tariff bill written by the Democrats and the Republican representatives of 19 agricultural states of the west and the northwest battle together and then vote together. These

CAPONE FINDS PEACE BEHIND WALLS OF JAIL

PHILADELPHIA, May 18.—Peace and security, which Al Capone says he has been seeking for three years, came to him today behind the thick walls of Moyamensing prison.

For the first time since he became front page news because of his domination of the Chicago beer runners, life flowed placidly for the gangster who was arrested here yesterday, indicted and hurried off to jail for one year for carrying a pistol. It remained for the law, Capone's bitterest foe, to provide haven for him in what some persons insisted was the most perilous hour of his eventful life. Today the crowds that hurried along Broad and Market streets were ready to accept as fact the report that Capone was driven to jail, not by the power of the police, but by fear of death at the hands of rival gangsters.

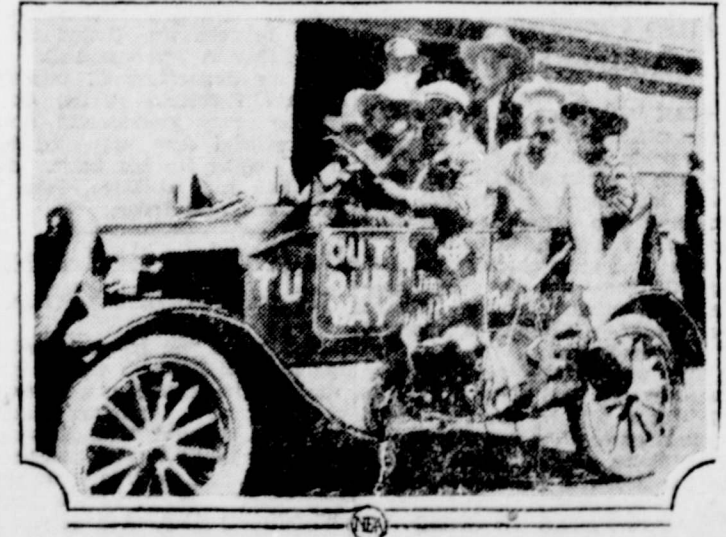

Two Are Charged in Theft at Gorman

Two boys were placed in the Eastland county jail at Eastland on charges connecting them with the robbery of Kirk & Halle's automobile establishment a night or two ago.

Officers said charges were filed against the pair at Gorman. They were arrested here. Officers reported that 30 or 40 automobile casings taken from the Kirk & Halle establishment when it was burglarized, had been recovered.

VAGRANT INCONSIDERATE BRATTLEBORO, Vt., May 18.—Instead of arresting a vagrant who was crossing the Connecticut river bridge Brattleboro police officers shoved him back to the New Hampshire side where he was taken into custody. The officers explained that all three local cells were occupied and that nobody else could be accommodated.

"OUT OUR WAY" COMES TO LIFE

"SYNCOPIATION" IS SPARKLING FILM STORY

"Syncoption" is derived gorgeously from "Stepping High," the novel by Gene Markey, and whirls tunefully about the careers of the team of Darrel and Sioane, a pair of Broadway loafers, wedded, and striving for Broadway honors. Their varicolored careers take them from the small time haunts to the cabarets and musical comedy atmosphere of New York with all the temptations, heart-breaks, jealousies, fears and bursting glories of the world of make-believe. And in the competent hands and voices of Barbara Bennett and Bobby Watson playing these leading roles one finds laughs and tears enough for several evenings of big and soul-satisfying entertainment.

LOBO CORONATION IS MAGNIFICENT SPEC

THRONE ROOM IS A THING OF SPLENDOR

Maris Kellogg and Gertrude Van Horn Are Crowned.

In the world of beautiful make-believe Maris, of the House of Kellogg, and Gertrude, of the House of Van Horn, were crowned King and Queen Lobo V at the high school Friday night.

The magnificence of reality was there, in a throne room of silver and crimson and gold, in the twin thrones erected upon a broad dais beneath a canopy of glittering white, in the regal robes of the king the splendor of Her Majesty's gown and in the magnificence of the court which surrounded the newly crowned monarchs.

The identity of the two monarchs was held a guarded secret until the very moment of their entrance into the throne room to receive their scepters from the hand of Prime Minister J. J. Youngblood.

The procedure of the coronation carried out after the fashion of true court etiquette and form. The throne room, erected at the rear of the gymnasium, transformed from a region of bare walls and floor into a region of sumptuous beauty, was approached by a carpeted aisle down which the princes and princesses passed to bow before the throne before taking their appointed seats, either upon the rails or upon such chairs arranged in circular fashion about it.

Heralds Announce.

The entrance of each august personage was announced in stentorian tones by one of the two heralds, Ernest Elliott and Travis McCary. Behind each of these heralds, who entered and took stations on either side of the dais preceding the entrance of the remainder of the court, stood a bugler, John Peter Huey and John Erwin. A blast from a bugler preceded the announcement of the names of the approaching royalty by the heralds.

The jester entered first, in the person of Quincey Lee. Rather he catapulted into the room bells and all. With the license of the court fool he made the event alternatively miserable and pleasant for the members of the court, as well as furnishing huge amusement for the crowd that packed the gym for the event.

Then followed the prime minister, J. J. Youngblood, who took his station beside the two thrones on the dais.

King and Queen Lobo IV, Garland Keyes and Doris Bates, next entered to take their places upon the dais. After them came King and Queen III, Britton Pippen and Velma Morrison, who also took seats upon the dais.

His Most Gracious Majesty, Maris, of the House of Kellogg, King Lobo V, was then announced. Robed in true style, he proceeded to the steps leading to the throne upon the dais and there received from the hand of the prime minister the scepter of authority. Afterwards he took his seat.

Court Introduced

Couple by couple the court was introduced to bow to the throne and take seats provided for them. Two visiting Kings and two visiting Queens were among those who came to greet the new monarchs and wish them well. They were the King and Queen of McMurray college, Abilene, Howard Miller and Dona Locke, and the King and Queen of Belton high school, Lewis Jones and Laura Lee Hill. Numerous other schools, colleges, clubs, lodges and social organizations sent princes and princess and dukes and duchesses to pay homage at the Lobo court.

Last of those to enter, greeted with thunderous cheers while the entire court and audience stood to pay respect to her station, was her Most Gracious Majesty, Gertrude, of the House of Van Horn, Queen Lobo V. Beautifully gowned, she moved to the center of the throne room to be greeted by King Lobo V, who had descended from the dais to meet her, and escorted her to the foot of the throne steps where she knelt as the prime minister placed the crown upon her head and invested her with the scepter of authority.

When she had seated herself beside King Lobo upon the twin thrones introductions were completed and the program prepared.

Shields Victorious In School Fight

BUFFALO, N. Y., May 18.—Dr. T. T. Shields stood victorious today in "the battle of Des Moines university" which reached a climax with an egg and vegetable bombardment in Iowa, went through the law courts and apparently came to an end here in the convention of the Baptist Bible Union.

Besides being re-elected chairman of the board of trustees of the school, Shields received the unanimous support of the delegates at the meeting of the Bible Union, which controls Des Moines university.

His two chief opponents, Dean E. C. Calloway of the university and the Rev. Minor Stephens, a member of the board of trustees, gave up the fight and left for Des Moines.

WICHITA FALLS, May 18.—Refusing the body of her son because he was shot while attempting to escape prison, the mother of Raymond Sellers wired from Ladysmith, Wis., telling authorities to dispose of the body in any way they thought best. They said the remains would be buried here.

Presbyterians Will Elect Deacons Today

A congregational meeting of the First Presbyterian church has been called for 11 o'clock this morning, during the regular worship, for the purpose of electing four additional deacons.

This meeting was authorized by the session of the church in joint session with the deacons at their last meeting, according to the minutes, Rev. B. C. Boney.

Mr. Seale a young man 35 years of age, was a typical soldier of fortune and had travelled practically all over the world. He was a lover of adventure and feared nothing. He enlisted in the U. S. army to go to Mexico with Pershing's men, after which he entered the officers' training camp and was commissioned an officer in aviation. He served considerable time as an aviator in France and saw active service on several fronts. After the World War he returned to Europe and served as an aviator in the Royal Air Force. He was a member of the Texas A. & M. College, E. P. Holland Jr. and J. L. Lancaster, directors in charge of agriculture.

her lips to the smooth young cheek that lay uppermost. She was feeling each pang of her suffering twain, knowing their hearts aches exactly as they knew them.

"Mother," Connie cried chokingly. "Why did it have to happen to Mildred? She isn't hard boiled like . . . like me. Can't you just imagine how gloriously happy she'd have been with Stephen?"

"Yes, dear, yes. But let's do all we can for her. Don't say any more about him."

"I won't," Connie promised.

Stephen was not mentioned again in that household for several days.

But in another quarter his name was the chief topic of conversation for a heated half hour.

The gunned Huck had sent to do his killing were on the carpet for the second time. Huck couldn't seem to get enough of cursing them.

Finally the man with the injured wrist rebelled. "Aw, cut the spiel," he said sullenly. "You ain't crippled for life and you still got yer dough."

Huck suddenly clamped his lips together and his black eyes snapped. He reached into an inside pocket and brought out a billfold. From it he extracted a thousand-dollar bill which he spread out on the table before him.

"That's for the man who gets Armitage," he said quietly.

The gunmen regarded it greedily.

Huck touched a bell. A big burly fellow in a spotted white apron answered his ring.

"Tell Duke I want to see him," Huck barked.

The waiter slipped out quietly and in a few minutes Duke Grinnard appeared in the doorway.

Huck waved his hand toward a chair. Duke came in and sat down.

Huck picked up the bill from the table and handed it to him.

"You will pay this over to the man that bumps off Armitage," he said tersely.

Duke rolled the bill into a ball and tucked it into his vest pocket.

Then he leaned forward and said to Huck: "Better add a century for Snifty."

Huck started. Then he looked at the other two men. "Wait outside," he said shortly.

They got up and went out.

"That little rat's been squawking over the beatin' you give him," Duke told Huck. "It was a fool thing to do, Connor."

"Damn him," Huck grunted.

"I told you to let the girl alone," Duke reminded him. "A thing like that stirs up too much public sentiment. 'It was a break for you that Snifty muffed it. But you don't want him yappin' better get the boys outside to take him for a ride."

Huck nodded and dug out a hundred-dollar bill. "Call them in," he said and Duke went over to the door to summon the men.

Huck gave the hundred-dollar bill to the man who had driven the taxicab from which the shot was fired at Frean and told him what he wanted done.

"And don't lose any time," he added coldly.

The man nodded and went out.

"Wait," Huck said to the other as he started to follow. "You stay here. That bandaged arm will land you in stir if any bull that knows you lumps it."

"Aw, I gotta get down to Daisy," the other answered. "I got my own plant to pass the time in. You flopped me here long enough. Daisy won't stand for it."

Huck disregarded Daisy. "Frean's got you tagged, you yanp," he said fiercely.

"How'n I gonna knock off this

"You're wrong," Mildred wailed defensively. "Pamela doesn't know . . ."

Connie snorted. "She doesn't! Oh, how I'm laughing! That boob Stephen is the only one who doesn't know that you're nuts about him!"

"Please."

"Yes, please," Connie stormed. "Please let her keep right on hurting you—the Chinese brigand—just because she's the high and mighty Miss Judson and we're noodies. And don't tell me I have an inferiority complex, either. It's you and men who have when you won't fight back at that white-livered pussy cat . . ."

"Don't now me," Connie raged on when her mother tried to quiet her. "Mildred told me all about it last night. She knows I think she's a fool. Trying to convince me she went to Mr. Judson just to get Stephen out of jail. What good does it do her, I'd like to know, to have him out? He ran straight back to his mama with the sugar plums!"

Suddenly Mildred put her face down on her knees and burst into uncontrollable weeping.

"See what you've done now," Mrs. Lawrence cried and rushed over to Mildred's side.

Connie stared, turned on her heel and rushed from the room.

For the next half hour she lay with her face buried in a pillow sobbing over her bruised young heart.

She believed she'd saved Mildred's pride and her achievement wasn't appreciated. Anyway, if that wasn't enough to cry over, she had to release the floodgates of sympathy for her sister that had been locked up in her heart since she first discovered Mildred's secret.

Her mother came to her presently and lifted her head from the wet pillow, holding it against her bosom while she gently stroked the damp curls back from the tear-stained face.

"There, there, baby," she soothed tenderly. "Mildred wants you, honey. Just sit with her while I fix a bite of lunch."

She leaned over and pressed

her lips to the smooth young cheek that lay uppermost. She was feeling each pang of her suffering twain, knowing their hearts aches exactly as they knew them.

WORLD'S ONLY MONUMENT TO CHEESE

Vimoutiers, France, is believed to be the only town in the world which has erected a monument to cheese and its creator. Marie Harel, French girl, said to be the inventor of "Camembert" cheese, is thus honored along with her product. The monument to erect the monument was started by a New York doctor who used this cheese in treating stomach patients. The picture shows the old home of Marie Harel near Vimoutiers. On the right is the monument.

Armitage?" the other came back.

"You'll have to wait. And you'll let Capper do the shooting."

"Yes, I know. But that won't do you any good until you get the bandages off that arm. If Capper gets an earlier chance, it's his."

"That crook wouldn't split straight," the other grumbled.

"That's your look out," Huck told him. "New get out."

Duke stayed on and Huck ordered whisky and soda.

He noticed that Duke was uneasy. He seemed to be trying to lead up to something. After he had chewed his cigar to a rag Huck asked what had on his mind.

"I'll tell you," Duke answered. "I've got some bad news for you."

How Men Became Millionaires Over Night Told in Story of Rise of Motor Industry

Fortunes Were as Trees for Bravest and Boldest.

Full of intimate narrative, hitherto unrelated, concerning practically all of the important figures having to do with the past and present manufacturing of motor cars, "Men, Money, and Motors," cannot fail to be of exceptional reading interest and historical worth.

Fisher Brothers, Chrysler, Ford, Durant, the Dodge Brothers, Sloan, Willys, Nash, White, Couzens, Franklin, Jewett, Metzger, Everitt, Brush, Hupp, Olds, Jordan, Winton, Selden, Graham, Chapin, Coffin, Chalmers, Haynes, Kettering, Collins, Brisco, Hawkins, Kingsmith, Chandler, Dunya, and so on—the list seems endless.

The book is the work of Theodore F. MacManus and Norman Beasley, the latter acting as chief scribe and amanuensis. Mr. MacManus has known intimately nearly all of the leaders in the great industry and has a national reputation in automobile advertising circles.

It was not so many years ago, we are told, that William C. Durant met Henry Ford and James Couzens and offered them $8,000,000 for the Ford

THEODORE F. MACMANUS
Co-Author with Norman Beasley, of "Men, Money and Motors," and author of "The Sword Arm of Business" and other books and essays.

Motor company. Ford and Couzens accepted but the deal fell through when Durant approached a group of bankers for a loan. They told him: "The Ford business isn't worth that much money." And it is a matter of record that less than 20 years later Ford refused one billion dollars for his company.

There is indeed room for considerable speculation as to what might have happened to the industry had Durant gained control of Ford's business and consolidated it with his own company—General Motors.

We learn of the spectacular rise of John N. Willys; the romance of Walter P. Chrysler; the real story of the origin of the much discussed Ford five-dollar a day minimum wage—but the book does not deal entirely with success; it tells also the stories of men who might have been those who had millions in their grasp but lost them with Fortune's frown.

In human appeal, fiction cannot equal the dramatic rise of the Dodge Brothers, their courage and vision and hard-fisted smashing away of barriers, their devotion to each other and their tragic deaths.

The last chapter in the book deals with the seven Fisher Brothers who, almost overnight, it seems, have become leaders in the world of manufacturing and finance. So much has been heard of them and so little is known that the chapter is doubly interesting because it appears to be the first time the story has been authoritatively told.

CLAIMANT OF "MARY'S LAMB" FAME IS 89

LLANGOLEN, Wales, May 18.—Henry Ford to the contrary, Mrs. Mary Hughes today was receiving birthday congratulations just as if it were certain that she wrote the original of the nursery rhyme, "Mary Had a Little Lamb." Mrs. Hughes is 89.

Here is her story and in the face of skepticism she sticks to it. Mary was born in the beautiful valley of the Dee, on Tykasa Farm at Llangolen on May 18, 1840. Her father had a number of sheep and as Mary grew up she liked to watch the flock grazing on grassy Welsh hills.

In the arduous winter a mother lamb occasionally would perish and the orphans would be taken to the farm house, there to be fed a bottle by the doting Mary.

The woolly creatures became attached to the girl and often followed her to school. The teacher became angry one day and sent little Mary home. This anecdote reached the ears of one Sarah Buell of London, who turned it into a nursery rhyme. Miss Buell later became the wife of Horatio Hall, American ethnologist, and thus the ditty became known in the United States.

He and many others hold the original "Mary" grew up to be Mary Sawyer of Sterling. They say that the nursery was written by an American, Routledge. And Ford has built at Sudbury, Mass., a stone Hill school which Myer attended as a girl.

Furthermore, declare the advocates of the ditty that Mrs. Mary could not have original because the verse appeared in print in 1829.

But Mrs. Hughes, nevertheless, doesn't believe neither do the villagers who consider her an oracle. "The young girls of today are very sporting and make the most of their gifts of brains and beauty," Mrs. Hughes said in a recent interview. "But if they would only wear their skirts a little longer, smoke less and leave their beautiful tresses uncut they would really be fascinating creatures."

NEW NOTE IN TENNIS WEAR.
LONDON, May 18.—Miss Eileen Bennett, England's youthful Helen Wills, has started a new fashion in tennis frocks. In the series of matches she is now playing in preparation for Wimbledon in June when she will probably face Helen, Miss Bennett is wearing something a bit different. Her frock is crepe de chine with one inverted pleat on each side of the skirt which is quite low waisted. The dress is loosely cut, has no sleeves, and bears Miss Bennett's initials in the right hand side at the top.

During the war Mr. Seale was gassed and also had the sleeping fever while in Europe and his condition made it necessary for him to spend considerable time in a hospital in Paris. While in Paris he met a French girl whom he married and they came back to America. They made several trips back to France but owing to his health moved to New Mexico and later to El Paso where he was living when he died Tuesday evening. Mr. Seale won several citations both in the American and French armies.

He was well educated and had written numerous articles for newspapers and magazines. He was a charter member of Post No. 1 of the American Legion, Paris, France. A large number of legionnaires and ex-service men attended the funeral yesterday afternoon.

Seeks Method to Treat Sulphur Oil

COLEMAN, May 18. — Howard Samuel has completed a laboratory at his home in west Coleman at a cost of $2,000 in which he is experimenting with a process for desulfurization of West Texas crude petroleum.

As soon as the present term of district court adjourns, Mr. Samuel will be accompanied by J. B. Dabrell to Washington to make application for patents on apparatus that will be used.

The first plant, Mr. Samuel said, will perhaps be located at Midland and have a capacity sufficient to treat 50,000 barrels of oil daily.

Mr. Samuel is a geologist and has been operating in Coleman county fields for several years, and at this time has production near Santa Anna.

The Convertible Landaulet Sedan

Open to sunshine .. closed to the rain... smart in any weather

When the summer sun sends down its warm, health-giving rays . . . fold back the top . . . enjoy the freedom of an open car. If a sudden shower springs up . . . you can have shelter instantly. Simply raise the top . . . snap three catches . . . and you are snug and dry in closed car luxury.

On either the New Oakland All-American Six or the Pontiac Big Six chassis you can obtain the Convertible Landaulet body type . . . a Fisher body creation designed to combine the fair weather benefits of an open car with the protection of a smart, completely appointed sedan. Its rear quarter of durable fabric may be folded back or raised easily and quickly. It fits perfectly into either position . . . revealing the fine design and workmanship which you would expect in a Fisher-built body of any type.

The popularity of Oakland and Pontiac Convertible Landaulets was apparent in smart winter resorts during the past season. Mothers of growing children were especially interested in the opportunity they presented for keeping young folks exposed to the healthful rays of the sun. And they, themselves, enjoyed the airy comfort . . . the refreshing freedom . . . the smart, distinctive individuality.

A special demonstration of Convertible Landaulets has been arranged which we will be glad to make for you at any time. Let us show you how delightful one of these cars is when open . . . how comfortable when closed . . . and how easily it can be changed from one position to the other.

The New Oakland All-American Six, $1145 to $1375. The New Pontiac Big Six, $745 to $895 J. o. b. Pontiac, Michigan, plus delivery charges. General Motors Time Payment Plan available at minimum rate.

But no mere recital of features can give you any conception of Chevrolet's value leadership. So we urge you to come in and see for yourself why over 500,000 people have chosen the new Chevrolet Six since January 1st!

The Season Which Makes ICE a Necessity

ICE, that lump of health which guards your perishable foods against harmful bacteria that cannot multiply in its fresh coldness is a necessity at this season of the year.

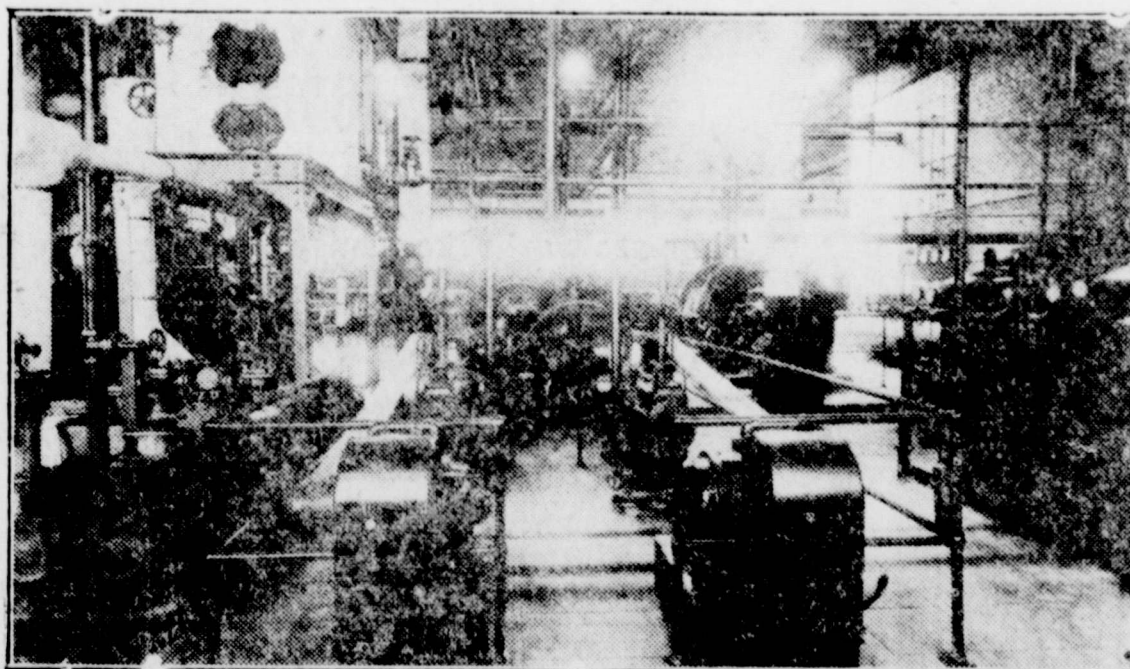

AN ice plant modern in every respect, one glance at the interior reveals nothing but the newest of ice making equipment. Its efficiency and economical operation is as low as any plant. Its 60-ton capacity gives our customers the benefit of quantity production. No purer ice can be manufactured than that which come from this plant. It is made from Cisco's purest water, the product is something to be proud of and is indeed immaculate. It is here to protect your health and happiness.

FOR many years this plant has stood by serving faithfully and well; protecting Cisco's ice supply. During the hectic days of the oil boom and in the hot summers of 1919 and 1920 particularly, there was quite an ice famine in this section. Thousands suffered from this ice shortage, but, never at any time during this famine did Cisco experience a material shortage. This company protected its customers by providing them with sufficient ice for all their needs, ALL OF THE TIME!

AND, in the future we will continue to serve our customers in the same efficient way as we have in the past, always selling crystal clear ice at the same fair prices.

YOU will find improved facilities at the plant dock and at our ice stations for hastening deliveries, making it possible for our customers to obtain ice easily and quickly.

WE appreciate the patronage of our customers. It is our purpose to give you the highest quality product in the most courteous manner. Let us know your requirements and we shall be glad to help you "SAVE WITH ICE!"

tion and the business houses of the county will be closed on that day, it is estimated that fully 25,000 people will be in Eastland to witness the program.

The finance committee handling the funds being contributed by the people with which to pay the expenses of the occasion, is headed by John M. Mouser, head of the Prairie Oil & Gas company in Texas, a man of splendid ability and unquestioned integrity. Funds contributed by the towns outside of Eastland will be turned over to the Finance committee, just as the funds contributed by Eastland business institutions and individuals will be turned into this committee.

The committees in charge of the celebration wish to call attention to the fact that the time is very short for organization work and urge every committeeman to get to work and put in every moment possible on the duties assigned him or her.

FIRST CHRISTIAN

Sunday, May 19, is the anniversary of Pentecost. May this be a high day in the history of the church. It was on this day that the events recorded in the second chapter of Acts of Apostles took place. Let this be a day when every member of the church shall attend the morning worship and the Lord's Supper. A special sermon by the pastor, E. L. Miley on "Pentecost and the Lord's Table" should be especially interesting to every Christian. In the evening at 8 o'clock we shall have a great song service led by Randolph college orchestra and a sermon by E. D. Hageman. May this day find every member of the church boosting the

Loboes Show Improvement in Spring Grid Training

PRACTICE IS CONCLUDED ON FRIDAY, MAY 10

Three Games Played During Period of Workouts.

Sprint football training was completed at the Cisco high school Friday, May 10. The training season was started in January and through the majority of the squad were green in football ways and all the end of the period revealed that much improvement had taken place and that Cisco can look forward conservatively to a good team next fall.

Three practice games were played and in each of these the boys revealed the old fighting spirit that has been the major factor in the success of Cisco high school in the athletic field.

The first game with Anson, while not a hard one, was loosely played and resulted in a 14 to 2 count for the Loboes. In their second contest the Cisco boys met team out of their class, McMurry college of Abilene, and in spite of the hard battle which the boys put up they met a 32 to 0 defeat.

The third game, with Stamford as the opposition, however, saw a new team on the field. Cisco defeated the visitors by the exact score by which the Loboes fell before McMurry—32 to 0. The brilliant forward passing attack of the Loboes was the feature of the game, although a high wind interfered with the execution.

BRUSHING UP SPORTS

By Laufer

One of the men upon whom Joe McCarthy is placing a hope that his Chicago Cubs will win the pennant is Charley Grimm, who is regarded by the ball players as the best fielding first baseman since the days of Hal Chase.

Grimm always has been a fine fielder. In fact, it was his skill on the defensive that kept him with the Pittsburgh Pirates when his hitting wasn't the size of his hat. But in recent years he has become a hitter. He hasn't led the league or anything like that, but he is respected by all the opposing pitchers as a dangerous batter in a pinch.

Early in his career Grimm was light-hearted and gay. He was a clown and he didn't take his baseball seriously. It has been said that he and Rabbitt Maranville laughed the Pittsburgh Pirates out of the National League pennant in 1924, and Barney Dreyfuss, the Pirate chief, sent him on to the Cubs.

Grimm is still somewhat of a clown on the ball field, but he has learned when to do his clowning. Off the field he is the life of the Cub family. He has a $400 banjo and he can play it. He also plays the harmonica, the trombone, the mandolin, the guitar, the piano and the xylophone. He is a swell tenor singer in a quartet and an amateur magician of ability. He carries a magician's outfit around with him and can pull rabbits out of a hat or eggs from under the lapel of your coat. He talks German fluently and knows all the German folk songs and dances. And he can tear off a wicket soft shoe tap dance.

HOOKS AND SLIDES
Henry L. Farrell

Yanks First and Always

TAD, the late cartoonist, was the original Yankee rooter. New York always had been and was, until recent years, strictly a Giant town and the Yankees were looked upon as intruders.

But Tad strung along from the start with the Yankees when they were known as the Highlanders and when they were a very poor ball club. He was one of the few regulars in the stands and his support meant a lot to the players.

When Colonel Ruppert and Huston bought the Yankees his loyalty became almost a mania and when Babe Ruth came along to the Yankees and started hitting all those home runs he went through a daily period of hysterics.

Crazy About the Babe

HE was what you might say absolutely mad about the Babe and he used to roar from the press box like a school boy. He didn't hesitate to shoot his biting sarcasm at the umpires in a loud voice and it is quite certain that if the critical voice had belonged to anyone but Tad the umpires would have bounced him out of the ball park.

Some of the younger sport writers, who had taken on an air of sophistication and bored indifference in a few years' time, used to wonder that Tad, after all his years in the business, could maintain the spirit of a rooter. They say the same thing now about Grant Rice. The fact that they kept the heart of a rooter in them through all the years may explain why they were successes.

Writers Not Immune

IT was mentioned above that Tad would have been bounced from the press box by the umpires if he had not been the famous Tad. You might be of the opinion that an umpire wouldn't give the gate to a writer as well as to a player.

The late Bill Phelon, who for years covered the Cincinnati Reds, was fired out of the Polo Grounds one afternoon by Bill Klem. Phelon was, perhaps the wildest rooter of all times and he had a voice like a drum.

The press box at the Polo Grounds is located on the playing field very close to the plate and comments made therein can be heard easily on the field.

That's a Marsh Name
ON this particular afternoon Klem was having a lot of trouble. At least the Cincinnati players thought he was missing them and Phelon roared that he was robbing them. He pestered Klem for five innings and finally committed the unforgivable offense. He roared at Klem: "You big catfish."

Klem stopped the game and walked back to the screen in front of the press box.

"Mr. Phelon," he said, "You aren't going to see any more of this ball game. Out of the park for you and I don't care where you go."

"Well, you're a cat-fish anyway if I never get back in this park," Bill said. And picking up his notes he departed.

VAN DUSEN IS 55TH KENTUCKY DERBY WINNER

Poncho, Texas Entry, Places Third in Running.

LOUISVILLE, May 19.—Clyde Van Dusen, owned by H. P. Garrison, with Jockey L. McAtee up, came in ahead of the largest field in the history of the Kentucky derby today to win the 55th running of America's greatest turf classic. Van Dusen's time was two minutes, 10 seconds and a fraction. The stout hearted little winner was aided by a wet track.

Naishapur, of the Wildure stables, ridden by C. E. Allen, came in second.

Poncho, a Three-Ds stable horse, furnished surprise by placing third though having been considered merely a pace-setter for Cal-Roper, another Three-D entry. These are Texas horses.

A light rain which began falling early in the morning continued intermittently throughout the most of the day.

No Hits, No Runs

Here's the latest photograph of Carl Hubbell, young left-hander with the New York Giants, who recently pitched a no-hit, no-run game against Pittsburgh. It was the first such performance in the big league since Aug. 1, 1926 when Ted Lyons of the White Sox pitched one.

A. & M. Protest Is Allowed by Penick

AUSTIN, May 18.—Protest of A. & M. college over a decision in their first game with S. M. U. at College Station has been allowed by Dr. D. A. Penick, head of the conference. He ruled that the game which was won by S. M. U. must be replayed either Saturday or beginning with "point" in the sixth inning at which the disputed decision occurred.

Dr. Penick's statement of the disputed ruling follows:

"An S. M. U. player hit a ground ball to right field, and the runner on first base scored, with the hitter going to second. The umpire advanced the runner to third according to rule 54. This runner later went home on a squeeze play, his run winning the game. Fielder made clear attempt to hit ball with glove, but umpire does not know whether he did hit it or not. The ball went on past fielder. He did not stop it."

Wales and Hagen Prove Winning Team

LONDON, May 18.—Edward, Prince of Wales, and Walter Hagen, prince of golfers, proved a winning combination today when they defeated Sir Phillip Sassoon and Aubrey Boomer, British professional, 1 up in 18 holes at Swinley Forest.

The match was played in private, arrangements being kept secret until after it was completed. Only a small gallery composed mostly of members of the club, followed it.

GLOBE TROTTER AT 2

GOTHENBURG, May 18.—Among the youngest globe trotters in the world is Karl-Henrik Osterman, the 3-year-old son of a Swedish American couple, who has just completed a trip all by himself from New York to Gothenburg on board the motor ship "Kungsholm." Far from having a lonely crossing, the lad became immensely popular with the passengers and enjoyed every minute of the journey. The children's nurse of the "Kungsholm" acted as his "governess."

MORE TROUBLE BREWING FOR GANG LEADER

CHICAGO, May 18.—Plans to keep "Scarface" Al Capone in jail even after his term expires in Philadelphia were made public today by Dan Anderson, assistant United States attorney.

Anderson asked Philadelphia authorities to send him a transcript of the story Capone told them about his rackets, payrolls and underworld connections with a view to citing him for perjury.

Before a federal grand jury here in March Capone is said to have denied that he was in any racket, that he owned a home in Florida or that he maintained a body-guard.

DALLAS GROCER IS DEAD FROM EIGHT BULLETS

DALLAS, May 18.—Riddled with eight bullets from three unknown assailants, the body of Frank Bosso, 47, Italian groceryman of Oak Cliff, was found last night in the front room of his home.

Jesse L. James, the only near witness to the murder, said he heard the shots and saw three men escape in a roadster parked in front of the house.

Mrs. Bosso and a daughter were away from the home at the time of the shooting. They declared they knew of no enemies of Mr. Bosso.

In order that mothers may attend a revival at Greenville, a nursery has been provided where they may check their babies during services.

Lone Star Gas Is Twenty Years Old

The Lone Star Gas Company celebrates its twentieth anniversary this June with a large expansion program. During the two decades of its history the company has devoted its energy to the industrial and commercial development of the territory it serves.

Twenty years ago the company was organized in Fort Worth. Here it had an office force composed of about 30 people and one pipe line 100 miles long. Three men of that original force are still with the company, L. E. Henning, president; D. L. Cobb, treasurer, and Grover C. Reed of Bowie, head of the telephone department.

At that time the company's territory was still raw. Few industries had located in Texas, particularly Eastern and Northern capitalists had not been interested in the state, but chiefly because it was understood there was no fuel supply. The development of natural gas facilities by the Lone Star Gas Company has corrected this situation and today no states in the union surpass Texas and Oklahoma in offering an adequate fuel supply to prospective industries.

From its small beginning 20 years ago, the company has expanded into a system with 3400 miles of pipe line serving more than 200 towns and cities in Texas and Oklahoma. It draws gas from more than 21 large fields in these two states.

Its plans for this summer include more than 200 miles of new pipe line, construction of a large compressor station at Groesville, rebuilding of gasoline plant at Gordon, construction of a 24 mile private telephone line to tie in with its present telephone system of 1200 miles, and numerous other improvement projects.

BELLAIRE O., May 18.—When the two sons and two daughters of Peter H. Schramm, a truck gardener, are graduated from the local high school in June, they will have completed a combined school attendance of 45 years without missing a single day.

TEAR BOMB SET OFF

COLEMAN, May 18.—At 10 o'clock Thursday morning a tear bomb was set off in or near the Western Union office in the Coleman hotel building by O. B. Jackson, Messenger boy. All and sundry in or near the hotel noticed a smarting of their eyes and began waving the lobby and shops in the Coleman hotel barber shop. Mr. Renfro was giving a shave to Howard Nowson and came very near giving up the job before it was finished because of tears the gas was causing. They were forced to wait for an hour before resuming business.

It seems that Messenger Jackson had picked up the bomb near the home and brought it to the office not knowing what it was and set it off with the above results. Some said the bomb might have been taken home by one of the National Guard boys, one of whom is Jackson's brother.

Merchants at Wills Point decreased their show windows with hen fruit as a feature of the egg week observance prize being awarded for the best displays.

High Winds Sweep Path of Damage Through North Texas Cities; Four People Hurt When Buildings Collapse

WICHITA FALLS, May 12.—A path of collapsed buildings and uprooted trees, telephone poles and oil derricks marked the path today of a high wind which struck north and west of here late yesterday. Property damage estimated at more than $100,000 was the toll at Electra, Dundee, Clara, Petrolia, Byars and Burkburnett, the towns where the wind struck the hardest. Four persons were injured, including three at Dundee and one at Clara. William Sanders, Dundee groceryman, was seriously hurt when his store collapsed on him. Mrs. C. H. McDaniel was on the front porch of her home when it collapsed, and Bill Miller was struck by flying debris. At Clara, Miss Agnes Howard, 15, was struck by flying debris when she attempted to reach her home from the high school building during the storm's height. The wind struck the hardest at Dundee where eight business houses and about a dozen residences were destroyed. At Electra, the heaviest loss was estimated at $20,000 in destruction of the Dale Oil & Refining company's plant. About 60 oil derricks in the Burkburnett field were overturned. At nearby places tank cars and box cars were blown from the track. The school building, business houses, and a baseball grandstand were wrecked at Byars. Another school building was unroofed at Clara, where shortly before the storm broke, the pupils were sent to the basement of a nearby building for protection. Petrolia reported homes destroyed. Heavy rain followed the wind in most places. The rain here flooded portions of the residential section.
