Parents Should Prepare For 'BIG DAY' Ahead As Schools Open Doors

It's going to be a momentous event for many Spearman kids. The first day of school. On that upcoming day, youngsters will travel a new path. They will be confronted with a "new way of life" and a challenge they heretofore have not fully realized. Parents can soften the tremendous impact of that first awesome day of school activity they also can guide their children in certain areas and hence forestall any "socialization" or school problems. Officials of the Texas State Teachers Association have provided a few guidelines for parents of first-graders for the first time. They suggest that parents: Teach children the safest ways to and from school. Team children to go directly home without loitering on the way. Remind him never to accept a ride with strangers. Give children definite duties at home and see that they perform them. Help them establish excellent listening habits. See that children get enough sleep each night and that they have a substantial breakfast each morning. See that he is happy before he leaves for school. Teach children that policemen are their friends, that they should always ask for help, when it is needed. Teach children to dress properly, and to have confidence in teachers. Provide opportunities for children to be away from their mothers for short periods of time before that first day of school. Teach children to respect the property rights of others. Allow children to do as much for themselves as possible. Help children see likenesses and differences in objects and forms and show an interest in what he has to tell you about his work and play. Help children learn habits of promptness, obedience, and respect for authority. Reach to your children and take him to points of interest such as zoos, parks, libraries; label his personal belongings with his name and address. Praise your children frequently; help them to feel successful. Too, parents should always remember they are welcome to visit schools and meet teachers and principals. TSTA officials suggest: "When it is necessary to bring a child's lunch or other supplies to school, they should be left with instructions at the school office. Classes should not be interrupted while in session. Arrangements should be made in advance for conferences with the child's teacher. "Parents are invited and urged to join the PTA, attend all meetings, take an active part in the work it does to support the school."

"Parents' attitude toward the school and teachers will be observed--often copied--by children. Parents therefore should avoid criticizing school or teach in the presence of children. Instead parents should do what they can do to solve such school-related problems as conflict with another child, a difficult activity, or a school rule children do not understand. "The school principal will want to know, in advance if possible, when a family moves to a new address. And a child with a cold, fever, sick stomach or other severe ailment is better off at home than at school; however, parents should encourage and require good school attendance by their children. A written excuse from parents may be needed following an absence. "When child-school problems arise, parents should discuss them immediately with teachers."

New Students Must Register Aug. 12-20

Registration for grades 5 thru 8 (junior high) and high school will be held August 21, but new students in the community (who did not attend school here last year) are urged to register between August 12-20.

Mr. Clemmons also stressed that girls who will be in grades 4 thru 8 should purchase their PE uniforms at the school on Thursday, August 20. The uniforms will be selling at the Junior High School for a cost of $5.35 per uniform. Boys should purchase their PE uniforms from local Spearman merchants.

Grade School Principal Eddie Clemmons issued a plea this week directed to all new students who have just moved into the community who will attend Spearman schools this year.

All these students are urged to register starting Wednesday, August 12 through August 20 at the school building where they will be students--Elementary, Junior High, or High School.

Registration for regular students for grades 1 thru 4 will be August 20, from 9 to 11 a. m.

NOTICE TO LYNX FOOTBALL PLAYERS

Physicals for High School Football players (grades 9 thru 12) will be Saturday, August 15th, at the High School Cafeteria.

Also, any boy who has not picked up his shoes should see Coach Anthony at the High School as soon as possible.

Coach Anthony.

FPC Offers Course

For the benefit of adults, high school dropouts, mothers, professional people and hobbyists, Frank Phillip College at Berger offers a complete evening school.

The courses, college officials say, give men and women--young and old--an opportunity to perform better on the job or to learn a new hobby or earn a college degree. "Four nights a week the modern facilities of the college plant do double duty," officials continue, "serving the needs of a second student body, opening the doors of education and cultural activity to the community. . . they offer an exceptional opportunity to those who are determined to continue their formal education or learn a skill which they have coveted through the years."

Five different programs are offered in the evening school, accommodating a wide range of interest. College credit courses which lead to an Associate of Arts Degree are offered.

Included are vocational courses, technical courses, those in trade and industrial courses and non-credit courses designed to teach new hobbies and "open avenues for more rewarding use of leisure time."

The faculty is composed of members of the college's regular staff. However, "outside experts"--businessmen and professional people--are brought in regularly to give instruction and provide a fresh insight into a wide range of subjects.

Object of the Frank Phillips evening program is to provide opportunity for obtaining a college education close to home and during non-working hours, and is open to all Spearman residents.

EASTERN STAR PLANS SOCIAL

Spearman Chapter #721 of OES held its regular meeting Friday evening at the Masonic Hall with Betty Uptergrove, Worthy Matron and Roy Lee Uptergrove, Worthy Patron presiding. 16 officers, 2 protems, 6 members were in attendance. Observance of Rob Morris will be held at the Hall Saturday August 15 at 7:30 p. m. with an ice cream social. All Eastern Stars and their families are invited, bring a cake or home made ice cream and enjoy an evening of fellowship. Ray Donahue was elected to receive the degree and a called meeting for initiation will be held Tuesday August 18. Wanda Brown and Lou Hawk served refreshments in the dining hall at the close of the meeting.

School Board Lower Tax Rate

The Spearman school board met in their regular session, at the school house, Monday evening, August 10. Present for the meeting: Marvin Jones, Bill Partridge, Ray Martin, Ira Harbour, Chalmers Porter, Joel Lackey. Absent, was Hershel Jones.

The board set the 1970 tax rate at 1.65, which will help the tax increase burden for the coming year, to some extent. The old rate was 1.83. This was brought about because of some extra money available from the state. The board is doing their very best to ease the tax burden on the tax-payers, for the coming year.

Plains Creamery was awarded the bid for milk. Swift and Company was awarded the bid for ice cream, and Cook book bread was awarded the bread contract.

Price, Bush Express Concern

Voicing "concern over the domestic natural gas shortage," Republican Cong. Bob Price of Pampa and George Rush of Houston have led a bi-partisan group of some 15 representatives introducing new national legislation.

Price said recently, "Today the United States faces a dangerous shortage of natural gas. For this reason I am afraid many homes, particularly in the northeastern section of the nation, will be denied adequate supplies of natural gas this coming winter."

Price observed the current situation has developed because gas reserves are being tapped at too low a rate to meet growing consumer needs. He said the Federal Power Commission has suppressed the price for natural gas for so long a time that it has seriously disrupted the system of supply and demand. The congressman said, tract. All of this is for the school lunchroom for the coming school year.

Routine bills were also paid at the meeting. The board accepted the resignation of Mrs. A.R. Witches, who has been the Jr. High Librarian.

The 1970-71 budget was accepted. The board accepted asgoline bids from Gulf, at 13.74 per gallon. Continental Oil Company won their oil bid at 1.12 per gallon.

The motion was made and passed that no vehicle operated by an un-licensed driver be allowed to park on school property.

Supt. James Cunningham was appointed as representative of this school district to the Texas Education Agency regional service center, in Amarillo.

Hansford Implement To Hold Giant Grand Opening Aug. 17

On Monday, Aug. 17, officials of Hansford Implement Company will show off their new building in Spearman with a grand opening featuring coffee and refreshments for dealers, farmers and friends from throughout the Panhandle.

Gene Gudd, owner and manager of the firm, has extended many invitations for the affair, to be held between the hours of 8 a. m. and "until the traffic stops" on that day.

The employees already have moved into the building, and they have indicated they are ready to serve the John Deere tractor customers at any time.

Cudd has been in the John Deere business for the past 30 years. He has operated the Spearman facility for the past 17 years and is well-known among area farmers. His operation is the largest dealership in the Kansas City Branch.

The new building features a total of 15,000 square feet and well-lighted, air-conditioned working areas for all employees, including a shop area for at least 12 large tractors.

Officials said the parts department has been expanded "more than double" to provide a larger and more complete parts department.

Another highlight is an ample parking area for customers, with all machinery located on one lot. A special feature is a coffee bar and "relaxation area" for customers. The firm now has in operation a five-ton power-electric hoist, which makes tractor repair jobs quicker for the farmer and "easier and more convenient for the mechanic."

Contractor for the new facility here was Jack Dodson of Perryton. The facility offers a green rock front of Utah quartz and natural color, with additional green decor.

Employees at the John Deere dealership include: John Sutterfield, salesman; Neida Sheets, office manager; Kathy White, office clerk; Lenzie Anderson, parts manager; Teddy Pool, parts man; Odell Fanning, mechanic and diesel specialist; William Elmore, mechanic and combine specialist; Joe Cage, delivery; Raymond Flores, Charles Bartz, Vernon Witt and Alan Pool, mechanics; Freeland Bartz and Bill Whitson, set-up and delivery; Jay Holland, shop assistant. On grand opening day, officials concluded, many door prizes will be given away.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Rattliff of Canyon, and their children, visited with her mother Mrs. Carl Hull over the past weekend.

Lions Roar

The Spearman Lions enjoyed a delicious meal Tuesday, especially after hearing that they had defeated the champion Rotarians in the recent golf match.

Guests at the club included Bill Walker, Brent Connelly, Jerry Hays, and Tommy Messer. Jerry Hays is a new member, brought by Lion Ab Abston.

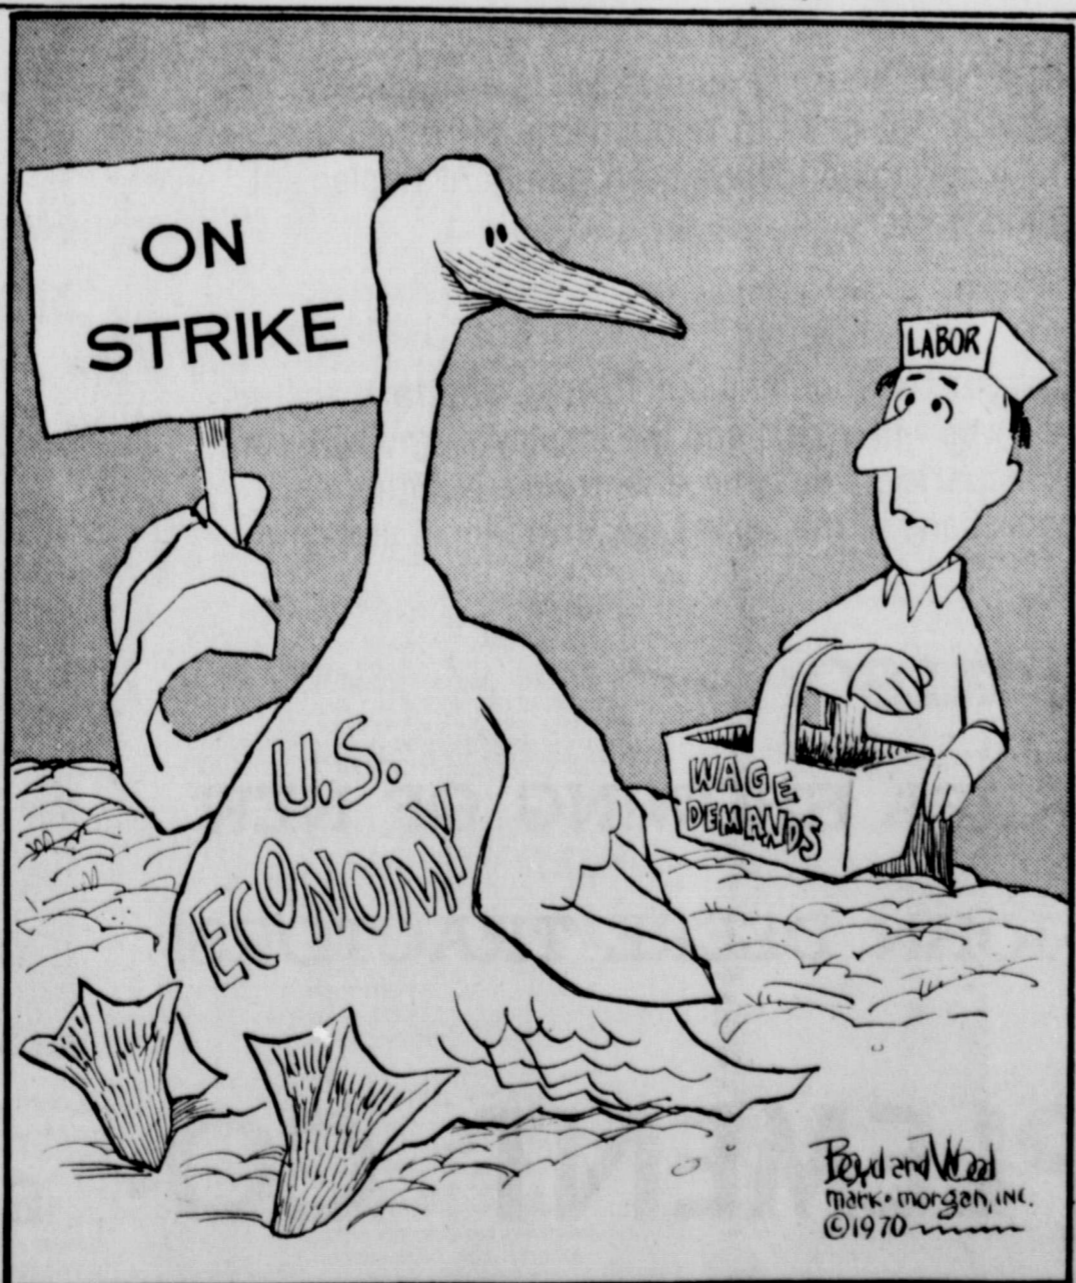

Thirty year service pin was finally presented to Lion J.B. Cooke. Also, Lion Cooke received a 4 year perfect attendance pin. Lion Bob English was presented with a 3 year perfect attendance pin.

Taitwiter Mickey Owens stated that a door prize will be given every Tuesday, to some lucky Lion. The Lions were reminded that the school-hospital chicken fry will be held Tuesday, Sept. 1st at 7 p. m.

The club voted to put glasses on a young Spearman girl, who was unable to buy glasses in time for school to start.

Lion Oscar Donnell will be presented a new golfing jacket at the next Tuesday meeting, for being outstanding golfer in the Lions-Rotarian tourney last week.

Guest Bill Walker of the Chamber of Commerce, urged everyone to attend the next chamber luncheon, as an outstanding program is planned.

BY BILLY ALLEN

I have never seen so much building go on in a community as we have here in this county. And, the buildings aren't just "boom town" construction, but nice permanent homes and businesses. It is true, we haven't made much progress downtown, but the residential and outskirts are building madly. It looks good.

This weather has been rather unusually warm. In fact, we have come close to having about as bad a hot-dry spell on our maize and corn as we have ever seen. But, a good 2 inch rain will fix the wheat farmer where he can plant wheat from fence to fence. This new Triticale might be worth looking into for pasture and cow feed.

The big Wheatheart celebration at Perryton is starting in the near future, and I am looking forward to visiting our neighbors to the East. They don't have much irrigation, but they are doing pretty good with their oil field. The big growth in the future will be from irrigation I think. I visited the Dalhart desert last Friday while attending the XIT celebration, and was amazed at what they are doing with their sprinkling systems. They are on a virtual boom, with their fine sprinklers bringing life to what I thought was pure desert. I enjoyed the XIT hospitality, and found out that they just couldn't run their show without the Spearman, Gruver and Morse cowboys. Alan McCloy was one of the judges, Barton Riley was an outstanding bull dogger, James Kenny roped, James Martin won first place in the bull riding, and several of the Gruver boys added class to the show. And, I enjoyed seeing Miss Ford Country at the rodeo.

Pam Wyson and Jyniece Callaway were just outstanding in the Miss Grain Sorghum contest over the weekend. Everyone in Spearman is so proud of these two girls. They didn't win the contest but they performed beautifully and they are two swell girls. The Lions Club has enjoyed Jyniece so much this year. She plays the piano, helps the club in every way, and we will miss her when she enrolls at Texas Tech. Both of these girls are a credit to our town and to the school.

Understand Wanda Greene is about to win the whole works in the state 4-H Western Pleasure. Of course we expected (as we said last week) her to win the "whole works."

I think Coach Anthony is real excited about his football prospects this year. The fine Spearman head coach is devoted to the game, and I feel that this might be the year for the Lynx. We have a good schedule of teams and lots of "heat" up front. I was visiting with Kim Brock the other day and he is as big as a bull. I expect a great deal of action from Kim this year. Kim's daddy was an outstanding football player, and Kim is twice as big as dad! So, watch out for Kim this year.

So many people enjoyed my last Aggie joke, I thought I might pass this one on to my readers. Claude Owens called up the zoo the other day, and told them a gorilla was on top of his TV antenna. They said we know just what to do, and will be right out with our expert. Sure enough in a few minutes, Burton Schubert came out with a net under one arm, a shotgun under the other, and he was leading a bulldog. Claude asked him what in the world he was going to do with all of that equipment. Well, Burton said, I am going to climb up on that antenna and shake it. When the gorilla falls down, that bulldog will grab him by the ankle, and I want you to throw that net over him. Claude said OK, but what is that shotgun for, Well, Burton said, if I fall down off that antenna ahead of that gorilla, you shoot the bulldog.

Let Me See
by Sybil

Kenneth L. Wilson, editor of the CHRISTIAN HERALD wrote an article in the Aug. issue on punctuation mark that go at the end of a sentence.

There are 3 of these, of which the simplest is a period. This (.) is a period. It takes very little effort to make one. Even if you can't write anything else, you can write a period. If your penmanship is good or poor, your period will look as good as anybody's. Hand-writing experts can do very little with periods, when it comes to analyzing the character of the writer, except when somebody makes his periods like small x's and it is my private opinion these are not really periods at all. All a period was ever intended to be was small and round.

The job of the period is to mark the end of what is called a declarative sentence, which is a sentence you simply declare, drop on somebody's doorstep so to speak, and they either like it or lump it. It takes a lot of courage to argue with a period. In England, a period is called a "full stop," which is a good name for it.

The second of the 3 punctuating indicators is the interrogation point, more popularly known as the question mark. It looks like (?) this. Like other major indicators, this comes at the end of the sentence, which some-times is too late to be of any help. You may be reading a sentence with a great deal of assurance, and then at the very end come a (?) and all your security goes down the drain. If you had just a little more time to get used to the idea there would have been no trouble at all. The Spanish speaking (and writing) peoples of the world are miles ahead of us on this, for they give fair warning at the beginning of the sentence that it's going to turn out to be a question. They do this by printing an upside-down question mark before the first word. As to why it is upside-down, you'll have to ask a Spaniard.

To use a question mark means confessing that there is something you don't know. That's why some people do not like them. A question mark even looks like a question mark.

So we come to the last of the trio of major punctuation marks. You are correct, it is the exclamation (!) point. Although possessing the same handicap of positioning as the question mark, the exclamation point makes you glad you saw the thing through, when you get there. If a period is placid, and a question mark is doubtful, an exclamation point is excited. Its job is to convey excitement, communicate it, make other people excited.

Now, when some people discover the exclamation points, which gets a little tiring. When every sentence is punctuated with excitement, you soon don't get excited about anything.

There is a church in Pittsburgh, whose major deviation from conservatism is not theological but punctuational. In this church's bulletin, every head is in capitals followed by not one but four exclamation points!!!! (the last one is mine.) With the same degree of excitement the preparer of the bulletin calls attention to THE END OF THE WORLD!!!! and POT LUCK SUPPER!!!! All of which proves that an exclamation point does not necessarily enthusiasm make, nor four of them an emotional crisis.

Take the exclamation point away from some utterances and you wouldn't have much left. Try stripping it from Merry Christmas, or Happy New Year or Happy Birthday. None of these look happy at all. They're just sort of waiting for something to happen. A question mark wouldn't do them any good either. HAPPY NEW YEAR? With that sort of punctuation you feel terrible, just seeing it in print. All the hope and excitement is gone and you're left holding a bag of uncertainties.

All of us, daily, punctuate our life-styles for better or for worse. There is a time and place for dogmatic, self assured periods. A period affirms. It says quietly, "I believe." It says without fanfare, "For me, this is the way it is."

Somewhere, sometime we will wind up with a question mark that somebody has sneaked in at the end of one of our favorite beliefs. It doesn't have to upset or dismay us if we admit ahead of time this is the way life is. There WILL be question marks. And some of them ought to be our own. Yet questions only, as a total way of life, produce cynicism, bitterness, sourness. How to keep the affirmations and the doubts in proper balance is a skill we must always be learning but which we shall never completely master.

And the exclamation points! What seasoning they give to faith and life. Faith is affirming. It is questioning. It is celebration, too, and this is so easy to neglect. What a grace it is to be enthusiastic, daring, adventuresome, excited, alive. And how much more whole, how much more real, how much more alive we can be if we punctuate our life-style properly.

Alive. Just Barely.

Alive? Surely we can do better than that.

Alive! That's what a Christian was meant to be!

Lometa Sparks, who entered several paintings in a "sidewalk art show" in Hobart Oklahoma received a blue ribbon for her painting of "Deer and Buffalo". The painting was a miniature. Anne (Vaughn) Sparks also won a prize for a 4' by 7 1/2' painting. Approximately 3,000 attended the festivities Saturday. The sidewalk art show, a bank performance and several other activities were enjoyed by the large crowd. In the local paper there, the two ladies received recognition for the smallest and largest paintings entered in the showing.

New Law Aids Home Purchasers

A new law will "materially aid the large number of middle income Texans who have not been able to purchase homes because of the tight money market," according to statements by Tom Yager, president of the Lumbermen's Association of Texas.

The Emergency Mortgage Credit Act, recently signed by President Nixon, authorizes appropriations of $250 million to be used by the Federal Home Loan Bank to reduce interest charges to savings and loan associations.

The effect, say businessmen, "will be to enable the lending institutions to utilize a larger amount of funds obtained from the Home Loan Bank. Other provisions of the act establish a secondary market for conventional mortgages and provide assistance to middle-income families so that their mortgage interest rate would not exceed 7 per cent.

Yager said, "The administration is to be commended in designing provisions specifically planned to aid conventional mortgages, as these were most seriously affected by tight money."

Story Of A Funeral Remains A Memory For Hansford Judge

Some memories remain to haunt us.

County Judge Johnnie C. Lee remembers one of those. Once about six years ago, a man died, "and we had a little funeral," said Judge Lee.

Taxpayers had to pay for that funeral. For this was the one and only county burial in Hansford records.

Judge Lee doesn't remember the Man's name. But he does remember that the man had no relatives. "He didn't have any friend either."

Other than those members of county government and the clergy who conducted the brief ceremonies.

"He was an old man who died of cancer," Judge Lee recalled, adding, "a guy can't realize how lucky he is until he sees something like that. To think that he had no one. To me, it was much sadder than a regular funeral."

Here was the story of a man who died virtually unnoticed by the world, without a will, who left nothing. "He was a kind of distant fellow," the judge said.

Celia Victims Need Assistance

Hurricanes leave heartache and disaster behind.

Many remember last Monday when residents of Corpus Christi and other Texas coastal cities fled the wrath of Celia--only to return home to find houses and businesses in shambles.

And now those residents need help.

From Texans everywhere, the Red Cross has issued an appeal across the state and nation for donations to be used in the stricken coastal areas.

Small Business Administration and Farm Loan Administration both are helping with loans to those storm victims able to borrow.

But many residents are not covered under such financial programs, and it is they who need help.

That help must come from Texans "in the majority of cases", authorities at the disaster scene reported Monday.

It has been estimated that a fund of $6 million is needed to aid stricken families in South Texas.

Several cities--large and small--are aiding in disaster relief. And state authorities have issued appeals to all Texas citizens for further aid.

Residents of Spearman who wish to aid victims of Celia may contribute a valuable public service by sending donations direct to the American Red Cross, Box 784, Austin, Texas.

To give Spearman citizens an idea of what has happened downstate, here are a few facts.

Celia substantially damaged Corpus Christi, Port Aransas, Aransas Pass, Taft, Sinton, Orange Grove, Mathis, Portland, Robstown and Ingleside.

Damages also were high in Cotulla, Odem, Edroy, Rockport, George West, Three Rivers, Pearsall, Crystal City, Carrizo Springs, Dilley, Eagle Pass, Del Rio and Alpine.

The storm covered a large territory and brought countless personal tragedies.

Only the citizens of Texas can help many of those whose homes were ravaged, authorities said, "through good will as expressed in financial assistance".

And it is well to remember that people in both large and small communities throughout Texas before Celia had aided residents of tornado-ripped Lubbock.

It's a matter of "everybody helping those who need it when they need it", authorities pointed out.

Mrs. Jack Moran and children Jody and Jonell of Spearman have returned home from a 3 week vacation trip into southern Texas. Their objective was Brownsville, Texas where Mrs. Moran's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Hynal live. On the way down they visited the Dinosaur Valley State Park at Glenrose, Texas and viewed the footprints of the huge animals. From there they toured the Longhorn Caverns at Burnet, then on to Brownsville, where they visited the A & M training ship which docked in the Gulf of Mexico, went to Padre Island and saw the jetties and visited Matamoros, Mexico before returning home.

Mrs. Ruth Smith of Odem, Texas visited in the home of her sister Mrs. Edd Wilbanks last week. Also visiting with her was Mrs. Smith's daughter-in-law Mrs. Horace Smith of Raymondville. While they were here Mrs. Horace Smith's home was hit and badly damaged by hurricane Celia and they returned home to take care of things. Opal Compton of Odem returned home with them, she has been visiting the past weeks in Spearman with her sister, Mrs. Wilbanks.

HPRF Begin 14th Annual Field Day

Activities are beginning to jell for the 14th Annual Field Day and Farm Equipment Show to be conducted at the High Plains Research Foundation, September 10-12, 1970.

As usual area residents are cooperating in efforts to present one of the best research farm showings ever.

Presenting exhibits of agricultural information and ideas will include members of Women's Cotton Promotion Clubs with a display of some of the latest styles in cotton clothing. Other exhibits will include sewing and cooking hints from the Hale County Home Demonstration Council and special displays sponsored by the Hale County Noxious Weed Control District, Hale County Farmers Home Administration Service and the Hale County Soil and Water Conservation District.

Water, Inc. also has been invited to exhibit its program on supplemental water plans. The Field Day activities will feature guided tours through research plots and a guest speaker on opening day.

Highlighting the event will be a three-day farm equipment show featuring the latest farming equipment by some of the top agricultural equipment manufacturers in the nation.

According to Dr. Tom Longnecker, director, the Field Day is shaping up as a top attraction. "We feel confident that our cooperation with the Plainview Chamber of Commerce on this Farm Equipment Show will promote one of this year's leading attractions," he said.

Observers of Field Day activities annually come from all over the area. Longnecker pointed out that many of those attending are "flying farmers". "As in the past, the Hale County Farm Bureau has volunteered its services to make sure that farmers and other persons flying in to attend Field Day activities have transportation to the Research farm at Halfway," he added.

Soil Conservation Districts furnish effective local leadership in the form of a properly constituted governing body.

The Soil Conservation Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture is one of the principal sources of federal government assistance to Soil Conservation Districts. By will of the Congress and direction of the Secretary of Agriculture, the primary function of SCS is to give technical help-through districts-to individuals, groups, and units of government which influence and make decisions about the conservation, development, and use of natural resources.

VERSATILE COTTAGE CHEESE

Cottage cheese is one of the foods that's good in everything from salads to desserts. It's a palate pleaser at breakfast, dinner or supper. The cheese is low in calories, yet a four-ounce serving supplies about the same amount of protein as a medium serving of fish, poultry, lean meat, three slices of cheddar cheese. Cottage cheese is especially delicious with peaches, bananas, grapes, apples, plums and pears.

Significant News--And Views For Busy Christians by Rev. Donald P. Rusch

Facts and figures can be very fascinating. And today, living in the age of computers, we can come up with some statistics that will stagger the imagination.

But there is one statistic that makes us pause and reflect. It is stated that about 10% of our population--or about 20 million people in our country--are over 65 years of age. It is further stated that by the time the year 2,000 arrives, this figure is expected to reach 28 million.

This is a considerable portion of our population. Far-seeing men in government and in Church groups have done much for these good people in providing for the golden years of life. There is social security, medicare, Medicaid. There are homes and hospitals sponsored by various Christian and Jewish groups. And this is all to the good. It should be done.

But we might ask ourselves some pertinent questions. For example, was determining the age of 65 for retirement too arbitrary? Is it not true that the maturity and experience that comes with age could be used to great advantage? Again, why should those, who are still able-bodied and able-minded and forced to retire at 65, be forced to suffer penalties and even, in some instances, have a standard of living lower than what they have been accustomed in the past? Why should they scrimp and scrape their pennies together just to get along?

Another statistic that concerns us is that malnutrition appears to be a major cause of mental illness among the elderly. A study of 1,500 medicare patients bears this out.

What a sad commentary on this country of ours--a country that is so abundantly blessed. So many of our citizens who, at this stage of their lives, should be reaping the harvest in the autumn of their lives are suffering mental illness because they do not have enough to eat!

Another reflection on this subject is the loneliness suffered by so many of our elderly people. Nursing homes are filled to overflowing with aged folks who rarely have a visitor. Only God knows how many of our elderly people live alone for the most part, abandoned by their own children. We can become so busy about our own affairs and occupations that we just do not have time for those who are no longer useful to us. If we are too busy to care, we are much too busy.

I would like to take a moment to address myself directly to any elderly folks who may be reading this. Many of you are suffering. In many instances, you are confined to home; you are afflicted with some physical illness; you may even be discouraged. Certainly, many of you are heart-broken and disappointed. Here is where your faith must give you the support that you need. The good Lord will never give you more than you can handle. Perhaps he is asking you to join with him in carrying the cross today. And for the same reason that he carried his cross to Calvary...to save the world. Some time ago, a couple in our area here in Texas celebrated their 70th wedding anniversary. Now, as remarkable as this is, even more remarkable was the formula they gave for growing old gracefully. First, they said, you must keep active and keep an interest in the goings-on about you. Secondly, be temperate--don't overdo. I guess a good way of putting this is to say: act your age. Next, take a nap every day. And finally, put your complete trust in God. Try it!

Agriculture Chemicals Program

A two-year course offered this fall at the Liberal Area Vo-Tech School makes it possible for young men to earn a $8,000.00 to $10,000.00 annual salary without further training. It is the Ag Chemical Course, under the instruction of Kenneth Schuster, assisted by an instructor added this year, Dennis Zahn.

The business of agricultural chemicals is in its infancy, and competent, trained technicians in the field are much in demand. (Schuster says that all graduates from the course last spring have been offered jobs in the managerial bracket of large companies.) One chemical company has asked the local school to supply them with twenty-five men annually, trained in this field for management and sales. In a recent survey of agricultural chemical industries, 94% reported that they needed competent, trained personnel in management; 44% said they needed help in sales; and 43% of the companies surveyed reported the need for additional service technicians.

The course offers training for the following jobs: product sales, store supply managers, farm managers, consultants and specialists, chemical applicators, chemical equipment servicemen, chemical production, control technicians, and research assistants. It will equip its graduates to hold these jobs without further college or technical training. The school operates a placement service with a current listing of job opportunities in the field.

Schuster pointed out that these jobs provide both inside and outdoor careers, according to personal preference.

Making the course especially timely, he said, is a law passed during the last session of the legislature requiring all distributors and applicators and anyone handling pesticides commercially to pass a test and hold a license. This course, he says, will enable its graduates to hold such licenses.

The course outline consists of the study of herbicides, insecticides, animal insects, diseases of plants and animals, plant foods, soils and soil analysis, animal nutrition, irrigation practice, and business and sales management related to the field. Half of the course is designed for classroom instruction and half for practical application in the field.

Cost of the program for instate students is $700.00 annually, with this cost paid by the school district in which the student lives. However, application for the funds from the separate school districts must be made at the time of enrollment. Out of state students must pay $800.00 and this cost is not absorbed by their school district.

Limited to 24 students, there is still room for enrollment at present. Anyone interested in enrolling should contact Mr. Schuster immediately at the Vo-Tech school between 8:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m. daily, phone Area Code 316, 624-2551.

It's just a matter of viewpoint, we suppose--

"Guess what?" exclaimed the white rat upon returning from the laboratory. "I've got the Doc conditioned!"

"How's that?" asked his friend.

"Well, everytime I run through the maze, he gives me something to eat!"

The small boy faced his sister's boy friend and challenged: "Why do you come to see my sister all the time? Don't you have one of your own?"

Wife: "I'm absolutely ashamed of the way we live. Mother pays our rent, my aunt buys our clothes, and my sister sends money for food. I don't like to complain, but I'm ashamed that we can't do better than this."

Husband: "You should be ashamed. You have two uncles who don't send us a dime."

Heredity is something you believe in when your child's report card is straight "A".

A man called the weather bureau to report: "I thought you would be interested to know that I just shoveled four inches of 'partly cloudy' from my front walk."

CONSERVATION district in the United States derive their powers and responsibilities from the enabling acts of the 50 states, Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands.

The conservation districts have challenging and ever-widening responsibilities for conservation and development of the nation's soil, water and related resources.

Re-Districting Discussed

Re-districting of the county came under discussion at this week's regular session of Hansford County Commissioners, but "no conclusions" concerning it were reached. County Judge Johnnie Lee reported.

A Spearman resident earlier sent a letter to Commissioners demanding re-districting.

Judge Lee said commissioners discussed "how to do it," adding "We don't know yet."

Earlier the judge and commissioners had agreed that re-districting would require more taxes and a complete re-vamping job dubbed "extensive" in planning and implementation.

The commission this week also received the quarterly financial report, and okayed purchase of two hospital bonds of $1,700. Judge Lee said the bonds were obtained at a discount and were worth a total of $2,000.

Your Hansford Soil Conservation District cooperates with other district and governmental units in multi-district resource activities, such as comprehensive and functional planning, watershed development, stream basin programs, and other resource development projects.

The Soil Conservation Service gathers and provides soil survey, water management, and other resource data and interpretations for use by the Soil Conservation District and others in making plans and decisions.

The Soil Conservation Service helps the district meet demands from local governments and others seeking technical help on land use and related resource needs and opportunities.

Exports Are Growing Segment Of Market

"Exports have been the most rapidly-growing segment of the U. S. farmer's market--and there is tremendous possibility for growth in these exports as incomes rise all around the world."

But we are going to have to compete for them.

Farmers around the world are getting more productive, more efficient, and more interested in export markets. Australia, for instance, has doubled her wheat acreage in the past ten years, and is just beginning to become a factor in the grain sorghum market.

Thailand has increased her corn crop from 200,000 tons to 1-1/2 million tons. Mexican farmers doubled their wheat production in the 1960's and have become a strong factor in the U. S. fruit and vegetable markets.

Common Market producers are busily turning out more grain and dairy products than their consumers will eat.

Some of the developing countries are beginning to fix their farming muscles, too. There's no question that overseas competition will be increasing in the 1970's.

"I can't stress too strongly the importance of these export markets. They currently take the production from 58 million acres of U. S. farmland. If we lost these export markets, we'd have to retire the equivalent of all the cropland in Nebraska, Iowa, and Wisconsin!"

A woman was being con-

both her son and daughter were married within a month of each other.

"What kind of boy did your daughter marry?" asked the neighbor.

"Oh, he's wonderful," gushed the mother. "He makes her sleep late, wants her to go to the beauty parlor every day, won't let her cook--and insists on taking her out to dinner every night."

"That's nice," said the neighbor. "And your son?
What kind of girl did he marry?"

The mother sighed. "Oh
I'm not so happy there. She's lazy, sleeps late every morning, spends all her time at the beauty parlor, won't cook, and makes them take all their

The Lingerie Course
formerly planned for August 13 and 14 in the Homemaking
Department of the local high until a future date. There just was not enough interest not been completely can-when more interest is shown the course will be offered again to residents of the area.

MRS. J. E. JAMES
nee Vickie Grant

Miss Vickie Grant and Mr. J. E. James exchanged wedding vows August 1 in a double-ring ceremony performed at 8 p. m. in the Calvary Baptist Church, Borger. The Reverend Charles Broadhurst and Reverend Marcus Adair were officiating ministers.

yon; Miss Diane Hughes, Le-for; Miss Nova Bryant, San Angelo and Miss Sandra Pace of Borger. Their dresses were floor length gowns of candy pink shattique designed with an empire bodice, victorian neckline and no sleeves. Skirts swept to fullness from released pleats. They wore sweep-length veils of matching candy pink sheer and carried cascading bouquets of daisy type mums with pink net and satin leaves.

Her softly gathered skirt fell to a scalloped lace hemline and swept to back fullness. A satin ribbon bow and streamers completed the back of her gown. The chapel length veil was edged in lace and secured by a camelot coil of lace petals and pearls. She carried a cascading bouquet of white daisy type mums, pink sweetheart roses and stephanotis.

The bride's aunt wore an imperial design dress of light blue dacron knit, hand detailed with bronze lace insets outlined with bronze beads on the neck and cuffs of her long, full sleeves. The groom's mother wore a medium blue shift with eyellet lace coat and black patent accessories. Both wore orchid corsages.

At the reception which followed the ceremony, the serving table was draped in white and centered with a four tiered cake surrounded with hearts and topped with a miniature bridal couple. Mrs. Phyllis Howard served coffee. Mrs. LeCinda Grant served cake and Mrs. Linda Pelb poured the punch.

Report Submitted To City Council

Spearman City Councilmen this week received various reports pertaining to activity during the month of July of this year.

Spokesman for the city, Robert Ragsdale, said a total of 34 Corporation Court cases were filed during that month. Most were traffic violations.

Total amount of fines assessed during July was $696.50; total suspended fines, $66; total worked out, $395; total being worked out, $225; and total paid, $274.50.

City police issued a total of 30 traffic citations, and recorded five accidents, with five miscellaneous arrests.

The animal control report showed 17 animals picked up, with two held over from June. Three animals were paid out; 16 were destroyed.

Ambulance runs for July totaled six, including three local runs and three transfer runs to Amarillo, Ragsdale reported.

Regular fire drill activity is set for Thursday evening, he added. At that time, a slate of new Fire Dept. officers will be elected, and plans are to be drawn up for the annual Firemen's Ball--to feature this year a swim party with food catered by Sutphen's Barbecue.

Two regular fire drills were held during July, and one fire in the city was reported during July--that minor one at a garage at 620 S. Bernice St.

In other action, the council decided to spray the Elm trees in Womble and Swimming Pool parks, in an attempt to eradicate a heavy infestation of leaf-destroying beetles.

Ragsdale reported street repairs for this fiscal year have been completed for the most part. "We plan some work next year," he said, "but we're not sure how much."

Farmers Learn Of 'Triticale'

Some 13 Hansford County farmers gathered here Monday to learn about a new, improved, winter-hardy variety of feed grain known as triticale.

Representatives from International Grain Corp., Dallas, and Distributors Dorman & Co. of Lubbock, were on hand to present a filmed program and explain the potential of the new winter-hardy feed grain that one day "might take the place of grain sorghum".

Ocie DeVoll of Amarillo, a spokesman for Dorman & Co., said this: "We may in time see people turning to triticale rather than to grain sorghum, but this depends on circumstance and market."

He declared triticale "has 1700 calories per pound of green matter--and that's just nearly pure sugar--and the protein value ranges from 18 to 20. It's winter-hardy."

The new variety--both the spring variety and the winter-hardy variety--holds much promise, local grain dealers indicated Monday.

Ralph Blodgett told the group: "We think we'd be glad to get it anytime. The price would be the same as corn--more than for grain sorghum. If we had triticale, we'd use it today in our feed lots."

The Dorman and International Grain Corp. spokesmen said their mission in Spearman was to better acquaint farmers with potentialities of these new varieties.

It was explained that triticale is a "man-made cross between wheat and rye". And some farmers present at Monday's meeting seemed to think, "Triticale has much capability".

It was also explained that "triticale is a crop, just like cotton, and that farmers here on the High Plains should be familiar with the new varieties.

DeVoll said in his travels on the High Plains, he has found "very much interest" among farmers seeking a hardy winter feed grain comparable to or better than grain sorghum.

Winter planting date for triticale, said DeVoll, would be between Sept. 15 and Oct. 15, that date having been suggested for ideal grazing purposes.

He said the new triticale varieties have been developed in test plots at Tulia. He said one test in cold Idaho showed the hardy variety "wintered in 20-degree-below zero temperatures."

That test was conducted over a 7-day period, he noted.

He explained that researchers--primarily Dr. Earl Collier, former director of the High Plains Research Foundation at Halfway and now a member of the International Grain Corp. staff--have tested the new varieties for some seven years, in hopes of bringing wheat farmers better crops and better yields in the colder winter climates.

DeVoll urged Hansford farmers who desire further information about triticale to contact: Dorman & Co. offices in Lubbock, Box 303.

Farmers were urged to study any triticale planting program closely, to avoid trouble. The International Grain Corp. spokesmen pointed out that some farmers in the South Plains now have much triticale they can't find a market for.

The representatives urged that farmers get the right variety for their individual situations and purposes to avoid such dilemmas.

They said also that at the moment triticale is classified as a feed grain, but that as yet it is not covered under federal feed grain programs.

Message of the meeting, generally, was that this new improved feed grain may hold much potential, and that other nations such as Canada and Japan are experimenting to "find out how it is to fit in the world agricultural market."

Civilian-soldier Howard S. Perry of Texas A&M displays the John J. Pershing Award he received for finishing first in a class of 360 at Fort Leavenworth, Kan. Perry is civilian student director at Texas A&M.

Howard S. Perry, civilian student activities director at Texas A&M, has been honored as the top graduate in a five-year course of the Command and General Staff College at Fort Leavenworth, Kan.

Perry, a Reserve Army Lieutenant Colonel with almost 29 years of service, was presented the John J. Pershing Award, given annually since 1962 to the top man in each course.

The 1944 graduate's name also will appear on a permanent plaque displayed in Bell Hall at Fort Leavenworth.

Perry won the award by ranking at the top of a class of 360 in the command and general staff residence non-residence course. It involved two weeks instruction at Leavenworth for the last five summers and study at home the remainder of the year.

The award was inaugurated eight years ago in honor of the former Gen. of the Army, John J. Pershing, who first formalized non-residence instruction for reserve officers.

A 1944 Texas A&M graduate, Perry studied logistics, tactics and major unit employment commensurate with duties of officers at division and higher level.

He was commissioned through officer candidate school, served as an infantry platoon leader through battalion commander in the Pacific during World War II, Perry completed his Pacific tour as troop movement officer for the Okinawa base command.

He was sixth out of a class of 200 in an advanced engineer officers course and has participated in several field grade armor and engineer officers refresher courses. He currently instructs the USAR advanced officer's course at the U. S. Army Reserve Armory, Bryan. The officer also commanded a local engineering National Guard unit.

Perry became civilian student activities director last September. The reserve officer who received the master's degree at A&M in 1955 has been affiliated with the university since he enrolled in 1940. After several years teaching in Brenham, he joined the A&M staff in 1950 as a military counselor and became residence hall program advisor in 1968.

The Perry's are former residents of Spearman. Howard attended Spearman schools. His mother, Mrs. Lee M. Perry also lives in Bryan.

SELECTIVE SERVICE QUESTIONS

Editor's note: Below are questions now being asked at draft boards. The answers are by Colonel Morris S. Schwartz, State Selective Service Director, 209 W. Ninth Street, Austin, Texas 78701. He will welcome your questions.

Q--I'm an alien registered with a draft board and I'm leaving the United States. How will I be classified?
A--In class IV-C as an alien who has departed from the United States.

Q--I've been ordered to report for induction by my board. Would this have anything to do with it?
A--Yes. You will probably be reported to the U. S. Attorney if you fail to report even though the board must classify you in class IV-C.

Q--Does this relieve me from liability for prosecution for violation of the Selective Service law?
A--No. Your classification in IV-C after failing to report for induction does not in any way relieve you from liability for prosecution for that violation.

Q--Would I be reclassified if I returned?
A--Not necessarily. If you have been reported to the U. S. Attorney for failing to report for induction your local board would have to secure his permission before taking any further action. Your reclassification would depend upon the action taken by the U. S. Attorney.

Q--Are aliens illegally within the United States liable for induction into the armed forces of the United States to the same extent as aliens legally within the country?
A--Yes.

A workman was perched on top of a ladder cleaning the clock on the city hall tower when a nosy little old lady called up to him: "What are you doing up there, young man? Is something wrong with the clock?"
"No, no," he yelled down, "I'm just nearsighted."

Examining physician: "You have a slight case of Dunlop's disease."
Patient: "Is it serious?"
Physician: "Not very. Your stomach's done lopped over your belt."

The ultimate frustration is being unable to fire that incompetent sales manager because he is your brother-in-law, and being unable to complain to the chairman of the board because he's your father-in-law.

More men are known by their mortgages than their deeds.

"How was the applause after your speech?" asked the fond wife when her husband returned home after an evening engagement.
"Terrible," he moaned.
"It sounded like a caterpillar in sneakers stomping across a Persian rug."

The nation's building construction costs are climbing at a rate only slightly slower than women's hemlines.

"Clara," the young, vain man said over the telephone, "I'm getting so forgetful, I proposed to you last night, but I've forgotten whether you said 'yes' or 'no'."
"Sorry, Jack," she answered. "I knew I said 'no' to someone last night, but I had forgotten who it was."

"I'll have to have a raise, sir. There are three companies after me."
"What three?" the employer asked.
"Light, telephone, and water."

The younger generation will soon find out that the Man from Uncle is the tax collector.

First Mother: "How's your son doing in the army?"
Second Mother: "Just wonderful. They just made him 'Court Marshal'."

Then there was the computer that refused to work until it was promised at least two circuit breaks a day.

Jimmy D. Snider of Spearman was admitted to Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo August 8.

Mrs. Red James of Spearman underwent surgery in Perryton at the Ochiltree General Hospital this week. She is reported to be doing fine and will soon be home.

Visiting Saturday night in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Cypert was their son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Cypert of Borger.

Delivery of the information on the Hansford County Shelter Plan was to begin Wednesday and Judge Johnnie Lee has asked the public to be on the lookout for it.

"The information developed in the Hansford County Shelter Plan could save the lives of thousands of people in the event of attack. This information has been the result of careful analysis and professional planning. I hope the people of Hansford County will read the information carefully and then put it with their other valuable papers," the Judge said. Delivery will be mailed and is expected to be completed by the 22nd of August, 1970.

AT WORK ALREADY--New Hansford County Deputy Tom Messer feels right at home behind his desk at the county courthouse. He comes to Spearman from the Amarillo Police Department.

Former Resident Is New Deputy

"It's good to be back again," he said. Tom Messer says lots of his old friends in Spearman are still here, and he's glad of it.

Tom is the new Hansford County Deputy Sheriff, appointed by Sheriff J.B. Cooke to assume duties this week.

Monday, he was already at work behind his desk at the county courthouse, and his wife, Shirley, and son, Mike, 8, were settling into their new home above the sheriff's offices.

He returns to Spearman from the post of police patrolman at Amarillo P.D. He had served with the Amarillo force for some two years.

A native of Clarendon, Tom's no stranger to Spearman. Before assuming the patrolman post in Amarillo, he worked with the old Thompson Flying Service in Spearman.

Mrs. Garland Head and Delinda, Mrs. Kiff White and Denise Janzen were in Amarillo Thursday.

Election Committee To Hold Hearing Soon

AUSTIN--Rep. Malouf Abraham of Canadian announced this week the interim Texas Election Code Committee will hold a public hearing at Amarillo Aug. 21--the third in a series of hearings to find needed changes in the election code for submission to the next session of the legislature.

Among items receiving considerable support, said a release from Rep. Abraham, are "setting the dates for the primary elections closer to the November general election, changes in registration and better ballot security".

All election officials, office holders, candidates, party officials and members of the general public are urged to attend the meeting to present their views on the election code.

The committee is at work under the chairmanship of Rep. James W. Stroud of Dallas. Other members besides Abraham include Russell Cummings of Houston, Bob Salter of Gatesville and Jems Cole of Greenville.

Abraham said he was very pleased that the committee has accepted his invitation to meet in Amarillo at 10 a.m. at the Quality Motel on IH-40 East.

At that time, he said, "The people of the Panhandle will have a chance to express their views to the committee." Spearman party officials and office holders may attend.

Boy to mother: "Mommy, look at that funny man across the street. He's sitting on the sidewalk talking to an empty banana."

There's a new wig for ladies to wear while shopping in the supermarket--it has curlers in it.

Man showing doctor his wife's hand: "She did it preparing dinner," he said. "It's frostbite."

She: "You deceived me before our marriage. You said you were well off." He: "I was, but didn't know it."

Two small boys were standing together when a very pretty little girl walked by. One of the boys said fervently to his pal: "When I stop hating girls, she's the one I'll stop hating first."

Man to florist: "Suppose a man goes home with a rather poor excuse. What would you recommend to close the credibility gap?"

Census Taker (to woman): "How many in your family?" Woman: "Five. Me, my husband, the kid, our cow, and the cat."

Census Taker: "What are the politics of your family?" Woman: "Mixed. I'm a Republican, my husband's a Democrat, the kid's wet, the cow's dry, and the cat's on the fence."

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Brown and children of Showlow, Ariz. visited this week in the home of his brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. John Brown.

HOW TO KEEP YOUR COOL AND SAVE MONEY

Your electric air conditioning equipment will operate more efficiently and provide cool comfort more economically this summer if you follow these suggestions:

1. Have your equipment checked by a qualified serviceman. It may need adjustment, lubrication or additional refrigerant to operate at top efficiency.
2. Keep filters clean. Clogged filters cause the unit to work harder and use more electricity. Clean or replace them as necessary.
3. Keep your thermostat setting at the 76 to 78 degree comfort level. Each degree lower increases the consumption of electricity.
4. Keep out direct sunlight by closing blinds and drapes.
5. Insulation is important, particularly in the ceiling. Weatherstripping around doors and windows also will help keep hot air out, cool air in.
6. Turn off your air conditioning when you expect to be away for an extended period of time. You can quickly lower the temperature when you return.
