SPEARMAN FFA GREENHAND WINNER

Ted Harbour

City Woman's Mother Died

Mrs. Minnie Mae Davis, 76, mother of Mrs. Claude Crossland of Spearman, died Thursday April 20 in Tyler, Texas. Survivors include 2 daughters, 3 sons, 26 grandchildren, and 29 great-grandchildren. Attending the funeral from Spearman were Mr. and Mrs. Claude Crossland and Joy and Cindy Hansen. Funeral rites were held in Van, Texas.

Ted Harbour, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Harbour of Spearman, won the Freshman Greenhand award competing with 14 schools in the area. The Greenhand award goes to outstanding freshmen students in FFA. The award is based on the individual's projects with cattle, wheat, milo; plus, the fact that he must have leadership ability, and a good grade average. The 14 schools competing in the district include some AAAA schools, and this is quite an honor for the local FFA class. Ted will compete in the regional meet at Lubbock May 13th for the "Greenhand" regional award.

650 People Attend Little League Picnic

Welcome Rain

Jack Whitson, who lives on the Borger highway about 5 miles South of Spearman reported that tomodic winds demolished a pickup garage, and damaged a brick building at his farm Tuesday night. Jack stated that the garage was completely demolished, and that a brick building nearby was cracked from the storm. He reports about 1/2 inch of rain, and some hail. The storm hit his place about 8:30 p.m. This is the second tornado that Jack has had on his farm, and says that the damage definitely was done by a tornado type wind.

The "Tuggie" picnic and all the festivities Monday afternoon which kicked off the Little League baseball season here, were well attended. The Women's Auxiliary of the Little League served 650 people at the picnic. All the "fixins" for the sloppy joe burgers were furnished by Little League mothers. City Mgr. Darce Foshee and his crew brought out tables for the picnic, mowed down the weeds around the park and repaired the park restrooms. The public is urged to cooperate in helping keep the park facilities in good repair. Mayor D.E. Hackley and Pete Fisher at the Thriftway grocery store donated ball gloves which were given away. Lance Simpson and Rocky Randall won the ball gloves. Prior to the opening game at 5:30 p.m., the Boy Scouts conducted the flag ceremony, and Scoutmaster Harry Stumpf and his boy scout troop stayed after the games and cleaned up the entire park area. Baker-Taylor Drilling Company donated the printed tickets for the picnic. Tuggie, the well known personality of a KVVU-TV children's show, thrilled all the Little League players by endorsing their ball gloves and spent several hours visiting with the many fans at the park Monday afternoon. The opening day ceremonies were a great success, thanks to everyone who helped make it so, including all the Spearman coaches who assisted in the ball games. The large crowd on hand could not have witnessed more thrilling opening-day games. People saw the Braves beat the Sox 8 to 7 and the Yankees down the Astros 9 to 8. All members of the Little League Association wish to say "THANK YOU ALL" for helping make the event a great success!

Eddie Faye Miller is in Pilot Point, Texas spending several weeks with her sister Bessie Selz. The directors of the North State Bank of Amarillo have elected Danny Collins as an assistant cashier. Collins has been associated with the bank since 1968. A native of Spearman, he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E.L. Collins of this city. A graduate of Spearman high school, Danny attended Amarillo College and West Texas State University before joining the bank staff. Collins and his wife Linda have one son.

Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. Woody Beck, and Mr. and Mrs. Sam Patterson.

TO R: Bob Farr, Harry Stumpf, Harold Howerter, Earl Goodheart and Jim Evans relax and eat after preparing enough fried chicken, beans and cobbler pie to feed over 100 boy Scouts at the weekend camp out at Kirk's Canyon. These men are doing a great job working with the Boy Scouts of Troop 51 which is sponsored by the Spearman Lions Club. Stumpf is Scoutmaster.

Mayor and Reggie visited with the council concerning a meeting room for the Jaycees. And, the council authorized the Jaycees to use a room in the community building for their meeting place. They will use the room on the left as you enter the front of the community building. The council approved the purchase of a new siren for the southeast part of the town. The siren will be installed as soon as engineers can locate the place for the siren. It will be a part of our tornado siren system. The council passed a resolution stating approval of the Highway 51. The proposed highway comes in the form of Spearman at the intersection of Highway 51, from Sunray to Morse, and goes on into Morse, Oklahoma. The meeting dates for the council have been set for May 1 and May 29th, and the time will be changed from 7:30 to 8:00 p.m. The council discussed the need for everyone to put lights on their bicycles. With warm weather on the way, bicycle riding will increase, and everyone should put a light on their bicycles! The council approved a swimming pool in Spearman, and will be used to keep the pool extremely clean. The council re-appointed Ed Fuller, Irvin Davis and George Rook to the zoning commission. Also re-appointed to zoning board were Bob Hertz and George Rook.

It is a very rare thing for a politician to visit us here in Hansford County, but the past 10 days has been marked by visits from Congressman Bob Price, gubernatorial candidate Ben Barnes, and Senator John Tower. Dolph Briscoe, also a candidate for Governor, called in an ad and story to the paper office that he would be here, but after the newspaper was printed, his office called and cancelled the visit. We were disappointed, sorta, for I really think this man is probably the one I might vote for. He seems to have the qualifications I look for in any man seeking public office.

I don't know why these busy men waste their time on politics here in Hansford county where only 40% of the people even bother to register to vote.

Liquid Feed

LOOMIX INC., announces the availability of an exclusive franchise in this area.

This proven, patented liquid feed supplement, is unique in many ways, including natural protein, high energy, consumption control, and offers an unusual profit opportunity, involving limited capital investment.

Of this number just 25% actually turn out to vote. Which means that 75% of the population just do not care--one way or another! These voting facts seem to run about the same in other places too and this adds up to this fact--25% of the people are running the country! If you care at all what happens to our Nation, better express yourself at the polls.

WE DROVE out to Kirk's Canyon Saturday evening and visited the Boy Scouts at their camp-out party. Harry Stumpf, Scoutmaster of Troop 51 (sponsored by the Lions Club) took his boy scouts out for the night. He invited all the cub scouts and their parents out for supper and over 100 were fed fried chicken, chuck wagon beans, along with cherry or apple cobbler pie cooked over the campfire. Helping Harry with the various chores were Bob Farr, Harold Howerter, Earl Goodheart and Jim Evans. We sat around the camp, after filling up on good food, and visited with these men. Was a beautiful evening, and a perfect camp-site.

Harold Howerter was responsible for making the desserts. It didn't take him long to decide what he would fix for this crowd. He mixed up 4 boxes of cake mixes, dumped these in a big iron pot, added 2 gallons of cherries, some sugar, and topped this with more cake mix. Baked it over charcoal. His apple cobbler were made with pancake mix for the batter, and these were just as good. The hungry scouts thought so for sure.

This is Harold's 18th year working with Boy Scouts. He goes along on all the camp-outs and helps cook. He loves the work. His own two sons were boy scouts, but they are grown and married now, and Harold just keeps on even though his obligations might have ceased. He loves boys and scout work. Their next big camp out will be May 11-13 when the men will take the troop of Oklahoma Kudos to these 5 fellows for taking time out of their busy life to work with boys.

Food prices have risen, but before condemning farmers and ranchers and threatening them with a wave of controls, a few facts better be considered if the nation wishes to continue eating in the style to which it has become accustomed.

Farm prices still remain at pre-inflation low levels. Food prices have risen because of increases in HANDLING costs (labor). The plight of the farmer is great. He is expected to stay on the land and produce rather than join the job seekers in the city. On the other hand, farmers & ranchers are not expected to make more money EVER because if they do the cost of food will go up. When beef prices rise to levels of 20 years ago, the protest is loud and clear. Bear in mind that farmers and ranchers are consumers too, and as consumers their expenses have gone up more than 100 percent during the same period that prices they receive for their products have remained stable.

The housewife may complain about spending a little more on her weekly trip to the store; then when she gets home, she takes panty hose, detergent, mouthwash, foil, paper towels, and other non-food items out of her shopping bag. They make the food bill seem higher.

Food prices at the store have increased 43% over 20 years but rent is 57% higher and medical care is 128% higher.

But total net farm income to the nation's farmers has stayed almost the same--a bare 3% increase in 20 years.

If you gotta blame somebody-blame labor. As much as 47% of the cost of food marketing goes for labor.

Mr. and Mrs. Danny Ray Robertson of Austin spent the weekend here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Robertson. Saturday night the Robertsons' daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Mosier, and Danny and his wife treated Ray and Sylvia to a dinner at the Oklahoma Club in Guymon. The occasion was their 25th wedding anniversary.

Mrs. M. D. McLaughlin is a surgical patient in the Northwest Texas hospital in Amarillo. Wilma Jo is recuperating nicely and will soon be home.

The Way of Life

The Good News of Jesus is more than the Gospel of salvation from sin, power through the Holy Spirit, and eternal life in heaven.

Jesus taught His disciples in the story about the good Samaritan (Luke 10) that every man is every other man's neighbor, regardless of differences in nationality, religion, or race. Furthermore, men are to love their neighbors--all of them--in the same way they love themselves. That's part of Jesus' Good News, too, and believers should testify to it loudly.

Here's more Good News: A man's wealth does not consist in the abundance of things that he possesses" (Luke 12), so "be on guard against every form of greed."

Don't Be Misled

Consumerism is not the way to real prosperity. In fact, the love of money and possessions is apt to buy you time on a plush psychiatrist's couch or in the office of a stomach specialist. It's time Christians challenged American commercialism and materialism with the Good News that "your Father knows that you need these things. But seek for His kingdom and these things shall be added to you."

Jesus' Gospel also concerns government. He taught the people about their leaders, "All that they tell you do and observe, but do not do according to their deeds. For they say, and do not do." (Matthew 23) The Credibility Gap is ancient.

Jesus commanded respect for law, but He also warned not to follow the example of hypocrites. They are "blind guides," Jesus said, "and if a blind man leads a blind man, both will fall into a pit."

Good News! The Bible is a lamp, and Jesus is the Light of the world. Who came to give sight to the blind. It's time for the Gospel of Jesus to be proclaimed in American politics, local and national.

The Whole Truth

The Good News of Jesus' way of life advises on war, poverty, pollution, education, business ethics, labor responsibilities, national priorities--all aspects of American life.

Jesus told His disciples, "You shall be witnesses to Me." He commanded that "repentance for forgiveness of sins" should be proclaimed in His name.

But His commission is still broader: Go, make disciples, baptize them, and teach them to perform "all that I commanded you."

A true witness must declare "the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth." The whole truth of Jesus' Good News must be proclaimed, all that He taught us.

All authority has been given Jesus, not only in heaven but also on earth. The whole Gospel, fully preached, teaches men and societies not only how to live spiritually, but how to submit to Jesus' authority in all human affairs.

Vehicle Testing Required

A likelihood that vehicle inspection testing will be required on privately-owned automobiles to ensure that they meet emissions safety standards exists within the near future, with car owners being required to have auto tune-ups on cars that don't meet the standards, said Mrs. Char White...

work in TB, anti-smoking education, and respiratory disease work. Six are residents were mentioned as receiving Laura E. Scott community health trophies from the association's awards chairman, Rip Underwood, at its March meeting.

Such inspection requirements will not be uncomplicated, she said, adding that inspection stations would have to install necessary testing equipment, and that cost of the inspection probably would rise from two to four dollars.

The Association is planning an area-wide physician and nurse symposium on diagnosis and treatment of respiratory diseases in September.

Ms. White said that New York City will ban parking in certain sections of the city in order that the public would be less dependent upon transit as other large cities.

The TB Association will be in Hansford County the first week of May administering free TB skin tests to everyone. It is hoped all Hansford citizens will take advantage of this service.

news from your HOME DEMONSTRATION AGENT

by Nelle Evans

Nearly 60 people attended the Hansford County 4-H Eliminations contest last Saturday. This was the first time in several years for this activity but participation was good. We were real pleased by the good job done by all contestants. In the senior Public Speaking Contest, Michele Mackie was first place winner and Barbara Farr was second. Michele will represent Hansford County in district competition. Michele and Barbara are both members of the Penny Pinchers 4-H club in Spearman. Winner in Junior Public Speaking was Teri Prentice of the 4-H Champs in Spearman while Kathy Beck of the Gruver Cloverettes placed second. Teri will enter the district contest in Canyon.

In Method Demonstrations all contestants were Juniors. Julian Farr of the Spearman Rock Flower Girls was first, Cheryl Batehost of the Gruver Cloverettes was second while the team of Sally, Berkelee, and Amy Brainerd placed third. None of these girls will compete in district.

In Share-The-Fun all contestants were also Juniors. First place was a skit done by the 4-H Champs of Spearman. Members in the Skit are Sally, Amy and Berkelee Brainerd.

Crystal Carson, Leann Biles, Denise Ware and Sherisse Partidge. They will compete in the district eliminations. Second place was won by Halee Reed and Angela Lesley of the Rock Flower Girls 4-H Club in Spearman. They did a skit and a song.

Other entries include a clown dance by Anita Waller, Susan Hicke and Karla Bass of the Gruver Cloverettes; Sonny & Cher pantomime by Kelly Stewart and Vickie Owens of the Spearman 4-H Cloverettes; and a tap dance by Shelly Strawn of the Rock Flower Girls 4-H Club. We are proud of the fine work done by 4-H leaders and parents in helping the girls prepare for all county contests. We've got the dress revue to look forward to as the finale of our contests. It will be held in June.

LET'S TALK Repression can bring ulcers

By REV. LEE TRUMAN Copley News Service

Helen Baxter, 34, is the wife of a fellow pastor. She is a textbook example of repressed hostility and its effects. Helen feels she has an extremely fine husband, loves him deeply, and to support him in his vocation she feels she has to play a role. She always has to be sweet, loving, gracious and kind, even when she feels otherwise.

Thoughtless people make demands on her, her family and her husband, which she resents deeply. She feels there is no defense against the tight-lipped people who could so easily and inconsiderately invade every area of her life. Helen is also angry with their church's denominational leaders. Because her husband is not the kind of man who carries favor, makes the right impression with the right people, his professional future is modest, in spite of the hard work and good job he does.

The result of all this is an ulcerated colon. No amount of medicine helped Helen. For two years she could only eat soup, and not so much as a leaf of lettuce. In a prayer therapy group she faced just how angry she was and for three hours in my office poured out the river of her hate, hot with all of its emotional acid. For the first time instead of internalizing, and turning on herself all of her anger, it gushed out. In three weeks she was able to eat light solids, and in two months she ate normally.

Denial is the most common first line of defense. Helen denied her hostility so effectively that she could not admit it even to herself over the years.

Denial is learned by a 3-year-old who learns to say, "Not me, mummy," as he stands in the midst of the broken pieces of the cookie jar. The lady says, with conviction, "I do not talk about neighbors." As soon as she says such a thing I know that she gossips.

Lying to one's self ends in damage to ourselves when we believe the lie. The results of lying to yourself can be as devastating as it was to Helen's colon.

Often the first thing I have to help people to do when they pray is to be honest. Helen unconsciously lied about her feelings in her prayers as much as she did to everyone else. Self-honesty is the starting place for a person to discover who he is. Then he can start to be a whole person, and is on his way to being an emotionally and physically healed person.

If you would like a mimeographed check list of basic emotional needs, please send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Rev. Lee Truman, Copley News Service, in care of this newspaper.

Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. R.H. Gray were their son, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Gray and Ronnie of Perryton. Added supper guests were Mr. and Mrs. Rickie Howter and daughter who live at Caprock #1.

SENIOR CITIZENS VOICE NEEDS

COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 12-Almost 23,000 Texas senior citizens have voiced their needs in 800 "Community Forums Speak Out's" held recently across the state, according to Miss Minnie Bell, Extension specialist in family life education.

One need expressed by a majority of the oldsters was a greater income to meet new expenses and necessities in being an elder citizen. Many offered solutions to the problem, such as part-time employment, expanded Social Security benefits, or tax exemptions for those with limited income.

More lower rent housing for older persons was also suggested.

Transportation problems were discussed by the senior Texans. Not only would they just like to get out now and then, but they also mentioned needs for rides to visit the doctor, to go shopping for food and other supplies, and to get to church.

Suggestions were made to increase the number of Senior Citizens Centers available to provide more recreational activities. Many felt that older persons are not aware of this and various other services. More religious activities were also desired.

Medical help in the form of expanded Medicare and visiting nurse service would aid many, the participants said.

As a result of the "Forum county Committees on Aging are ready to assist with program development, based on the needs expressed by the senior citizens.

Mrs. J. L. Brock visited over the weekend in Austin with her daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Brown. While there she also visited her sister, Mrs. Don May and children.

No Charge For TB Test

TUBERCULOSIS... is a catching disease that spreads from the sick person to the well person. Usually a person does not know he has TB until he becomes very sick, and has spread his infection to others. TB can spread from a grandparent to grandchildren, from a parent to a child, and from friend to friend. You can't see TB germs, so you don't know when it happens. But it happens very often.

YOU... can protect yourself and your loved ones from TB by having everyone in your family, from age 3 months up, to take the tuberculin skin tests which will be given at the Home Demonstration clubroom on Wednesday, May 3 from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m.

THERE IS NO CHARGE. Those who receive the skin test on Wednesday, May 3 will return to the H.D. clubroom on Friday, May 5, during the same hours 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. ---to have a nurse look at the test and see whether you have ever been exposed to TB.

AND IF THE TEST SHOWS THAT YOU HAVE BREATHED IN SOMEBODY'S TB GERMS... there are pills that prevent the germs from making you sick. If you should happen to actually have TB, there are pills that can make you well. AND THEY DON'T COST YOU ANYTHING.

NOBODY has to be sick with TB any more, and NOBODY has to die of it anymore. But a lot of people still do. They wouldn't have, if they had taken the test while there was still time.

WON'T YOU PROTECT YOUR FAMILY FROM TB? The test does not hurt, and takes only a very short time.

PLEASE REMEMBER: a "positive" TB skin test does NOT mean that a person is sick. It only means that he has been infected by the germs. A lot of people can be infected with the germs and NEVER get sick. But if you should happen to have TB germs in your body, you ought to know it so that you can protect yourself.

This message comes to you through volunteers working with the Top of Texas TB Association, and the State Health Department. We are working to protect people from TB. We hope you will do your part to help us get the job done at Spearman.

FAMILY FITNESS

By Herbert C. Johnson, Jr. President Family Fitness Council

Every day we hear and read recommendations and advice about the necessity to exercise.

Just recently a medical research team reported that exercise circulates cholesterol in the body; this is beneficial to the heart.

In other words, fitness through exercise is a simple, precautionary and urgent health measure.

Furthermore, a daily personal exercise plan produces a vitality, a joy and a more full participation in life. The feeling of "aliveness" that accompanies a supple, energetic and trim body has been called "a quality that enhances all other human qualities." It provides that extra "oomph" to partake fully of daily, 20th Century activities.

Exercising need not be a big production. A 10 to 15 minute daily program is all we're talking about for both women and men. And, do it in your own home, for convenience and ease.

Once your mind and body become accustomed to the benefits of a daily exercise routine, you'll be amazed how much better you feel and how much you'll miss the regime on the occasional day you pass it up.

MRS. PEARL (DUNAWAY)MCANARNEY TO REIGN AS PIONEER DAY QUEEN

Mrs. Pearl McAnarney of Goodwell, Oklahoma has been chosen to reign as Pioneer Queen for the 42nd Pioneer Days of No-Man's Land celebration to be held in Guymon May 5 and 6, 1972. The selection of Mrs. McAnarney was announced today by Mr. Preston Calvert, Chairman of the Pioneer Committee for the 1972 celebration.

As 1972 Pioneer Queen, Mrs. McAnarney will ride in the place of honor in the Pioneer Days Parade scheduled to begin at 11:00 a. m. on Saturday, May 6, 1972. She will also reign over the old-timers' reunion which is one of the highlights of the annual celebration.

Mrs. Pearl (Dunaway) McAnarney of Goodwell, Oklahoma resident of the Oklahoma Panhandle for 68 years has been named 1972 Pioneer Days Queen and will reign over activities of the annual four-day celebration May 3-6 in Guymon.

Mrs. McAnarney was born January 11, 1892 at Blair, Okla. to Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Dunaway.

She moved with her parents, Foster and Clemmie Dunaway and two sisters from Blair to Lebanon, Texas at the age of one year. Her sisters are Mrs. Birdie McDonald of Monrovia, Calif. formerly of Tyrone and Mrs. Esther Strain who resided in Goodwell until her death July 5, 1971.

In 1903, her father, came to the Oklahoma Panhandle and filed on a claim; and in 1904, the entire family came by covered wagon and homesteaded five miles south and one mile west of Hooker.

Mrs. McAnarney attended school at the old Buffalo School which was located one-half mile west and one mile south of the present Buffalo School.

Later, as a school teacher, she taught school for one year south and east of Hooker from 1912-13 and one year at Point Rock, which was eight miles northwest of Elkhart, Kansas from 1913-14. She had been home about a week when the Perry Brite Ranch home, where school was held, was washed away and two of their children drowned.

She was married to Tom McAnarney on Nov. 25, 1914 at Optima. The McAnarneys then moved to a farm seven miles east and one mile north of Hooker. They farmed and raised cattle for a number of years. The farm is the present home of Marvin Lunford.

Three children were born to the McAnarneys. Born at the home site near Hooker were Mrs. Zela (McAnarney) McDonald who now lives at Goodwell and James McAnarney, also born at the home site, who was killed in an accident while trying to stop a run-away team of horses in 1929. After moving to Optima in 1920 their third child, Robert McAnarney, who now lives in Guymon, was born.

The McAnarneys moved to Guymon in 1937 and in 1952 they moved to Goodwell to take care of Mrs. McAnarney's mother, Mrs. Dunaway.

They have five grandchildren, Chuch McAnarney, Robert McDonald of the U.S. Army in Vietnam, Patricia Prince of Oklahoma City, Betty Barnes of Gruver, Texas, and Rita Valquit of Oklahoma City.

In 1964 Tom and Pearl McAnarney celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary.

Color Schemes Require Planning

COLLEGE STATION--Color is one of the most exciting and least expensive mediums in interior designing, reports Jan Slabaugh, Extension housing and home furnishings specialist at Texas A&M University.

Colors create moods that provide atmosphere and tone for your home, she explains. And they can reduce or enhance scale.

Before selecting a color scheme for your home, the specialist says to first plan carefully. Determine the colors which are suitable for you and your family. You may have to confine your favorite colors to more private quarters, such as the bedroom or den.

Consider degree of exposure when planning a color scheme. Where there is not adequate light or warmth in a southern room, cool colors aren't necessary. The same rule can apply for northern exposures. Cool colors should be used only if there is strong exposure.

Remember scale in the use of color. Darker shades tend to reduce scale. If you have a large, overwhelming area, for example, use darker, warmer shades to give warmth and reduce scale. A small room can also gain spaciousness by using lighter, cooler shades.

Next, consider use of the room. Rooms with limited use can be brighter and bolder in color, but could be very tiring with an all-day living pattern. Neutral backgrounds are the safest and most successful approach for furnishing.

Texas Having Epidemic

Texas is in the midst of an epidemic, say State Health officials. Folio? Rubella? Diphtheria? No, it's an epidemic about which little is said because the public holds the disease itself to be taboo--a silent epidemic called "venereal disease."

Nationwide, more than two million Americans had VD last year--either gonorrhea or syphilis. Gonorrhea is the nation's number one reportable communicable disease. Syphilis trails not far behind as number three. More Americans are affected by gonorrhea than by measles, whooping cough, encephalitis, and tuberculosis combined. Only the common cold occurs more frequently.

Texas last year reported 6,527 cases of syphilis. That's 7.2 percent of the 90,495 cases reported in the United States. Yet, Texas actually showed a decrease in syphilis this year, compared to the 18 states that had increases.

There were 43,601 cases of gonorrhea in Texas in 1970, or 7.2 percent of the 600,072 cases officially reported nationwide. Texas' high ranking in the occurrence of both diseases is due primarily to the State Health Department's intensive case-finding efforts.

These figures do not represent the extent of the epidemic nationwide, for public health officials say less than one-half some authorities say no more than one in ten--of all VD cases are reported. In many instances, the social taboo of the disease keeps individuals from mentioning suspicious symptoms to their doctor.

The overt symptoms eventually clear up, but the disease never goes away without treatment. It continues to wreak its damage on the body's vital centers--the heart and central nervous system, as well as the reproductive tract.

Syphilis, if untreated, can cause mental illness, paralysis, blindness, deafness, heart disease and death. Untreated, gonorrhea leads to the development of scar tissue in the fallopian tube of the woman and in the seminal ducts of the male, leading to damage of the sex organs, and if severe enough, even to sterility. Gonorrhea, too, can cause paralysis, blindness, and death.

Discovered early, syphilis and gonorrhea can be cured or controlled by antibiotics. There already exists a positive blood test to detect syphilis. Research scientists believe they are close to the development of a more effective diagnostic test for gonorrhea in females.

Is the work ethic a '72 vote issue?

By JEFFREY ST. JOHN Copley News Service

NEW YORK — "The idea of success was a force that drove men on to build America," observes Richard Humber in his book, "The American Idea of Success." ... At the center was the individual. Self-confidence in his God-given rights, he entered a free world of expanding opportunities.

A large segment of working Americans still believes in this uniquely American credo called "the work-success ethic." And signs are beginning to multiply as the results emerge in various state primaries that the idea of work is going to become as powerful a political issue as busing.

For there are roughly 50 million working-class Americans — called ethnic voters — who are beginning to voice their frustration and anger at both political parties for policies of subsidies with their money to minority groups.

The mixed ethnic working class, observes Msgr. Gene C. Baroni, director of the Center for Urban Ethnic Affairs in Washington, D.C., "feels trapped between the blacks on one side and middle-class suburbia on the other. A lot of votes are up for grabs in 1972. Who gets them depends on whoever is going to respond, whoever doesn't take them for granted, whoever is fair with them."

George Wallace demonstrated in the Florida primary that his appeal went beyond his tough antibusing stand. He successfully articulated issues that trouble working Americans: big government, high taxes, crime, and the progressive running down of the nation by liberals and militant leftists.

Wallace is, in a word, the "champion" of those values that workingmen and women still cherish and which Msgr. Baroni defines as "thrift, love of country, respect for hard work and the law. ... There is a silent majority out there," he adds, "but they aren't silent willingly."

"Give them a candidate who recognizes them as a growing and unified force, and he'll get the votes."

Ironically, it has been the movement to the left of both the Democrats and the Nixon administration that has permitted George Wallace to move decisively and champion the cause of working Americans. Belatedly, both parties and a liberal-oriented labor leadership are awakening to the political reality that there is a broad-based workers' revolt.

In the wake of the Florida primary, moreover, a public opinion poll taken by a leading polling organization for the New York Times disclosed that if George Wallace ran as a third-party candidate, he would hurt Nixon more than he would hurt the Democrats.

The growing disaffection with the Nixon administration by the Republican conservatives spells real political trouble for the President, no matter how well he did among GOP voters in the early primaries.

Both political parties in the months ahead will more and more speak to such issues that Wallace has articulated in an effort to sidetrack the growing anger of working Americans who are fed up with the same-ness of the Democratic and Republican parties, and with what they believe is the pandering to blacks, big business and other groups who don't appear to want to earn their own way as the workingman has.

The movement of Hubert Humphrey to the right on economic and social issues during the Florida primary is a clear indication that the Democrats hope to cut into Wallace's appeal with workingmen and women while also hoping that he will run a third-party race to drain off Nixon votes.

The time, however, when both parties could play the game of appeasement politics with promises may be at an end, especially since Lyndon Johnson and now Richard Nixon have failed to keep their political promises.

This bad faith of both major parties may be the strongest argument Wallace can advance if he runs a third-party campaign. In fact, he could do what was feared he would do in 1968: deadlock the presidential election process by throwing the 1972 race into the House of Representatives.

When any objective analysis is made of the issues that concern a broad cross section of the working classes, one can discern the common uniting thread: the average American works hard, pays his own way and his taxes and obeys the law. But he is fed up with both the Democratic and the Republican politicians who ask that he subsidize those who don't seem interested in earning their way.

The long overdue public trial of the liberal welfare state may have begun.

WOMEN ASK Nutrition studied in pregnancy

By ELEANOR B. RODGERSON, M.D. Copley News Service

Q. My daughter is pregnant and has recently become a vegetarian. If she does not get enough protein will there be danger for her baby?

A. Extensive inquiry is being made as to the most desirable nutrition for pregnant mothers. In some other countries and in some parts of our own country, undernourished mothers have had more complications of pregnancy and more dead babies, or sickly babies, than those mothers on well-balanced diets. Fatness does not mean good nourishment. Calories must have protein and vitamins to go along with them. There is controversy as to how much of what is best.

A current study from Canada illustrates the observations being carried on. The Canadian requirements for pregnant mothers depend upon the original weights, the ages, the activities of the women. As pregnancies advance, the calories and proteins are increased. These women, the authors feel, are experiencing fewer complications, and delivering larger, healthier babies.

Proteins are required for growth and development of the baby in the uterus, to form new tissues in the mother, and to improve the production of breast milk. A vegetarian has to give special attention to her diet to be sure she gets enough of the protein from vegetables and cereals. There are necessary minerals and vitamins also. Pregnant women usually supplement their diets with prenatal pills which contain calcium, iron and vitamins.

Q. Why is a pelvic examination important and what do you look for?

A. This question is asked over and over. If a woman has no complaints referable to her pelvic (female) organs, the reason for the examination is prophylactic, to be sure everything is normal and to correct anything found to be abnormal.

Certain conditions will develop silently for a time, and, if neglected, complete cure or correction may be unsatisfactory.

The female organs are examined for tone, infection, tumors, cancer changes. A woman is fortunate in that her organs are easy to get at, her cervix easy to see. The aim of the practice of medicine is to promote good health and the simplest way to do this is to look ahead and prevent future difficulty whenever possible. Some women hesitate to spend the money when they feel perfectly well, but it is probably the cheapest way to protect health.

Q. My doctor told me my vulvar itching was due to the "seven-year-itch." He gave me medicine that helped, but will the itch come back?

A. Scabies has commonly been called the "seven-year-itch." It is caused by a mite that burrows under the skin almost anywhere on the body except the face. It seems to prefer folds of skin. Typically, it leaves little tracks beneath the skin surface and can be found often between the fingers. In people who bathe frequently, a scabies infection, or maybe I should say infestation, may not show the typical tracks, but be more like small mosquito bites. Without treatment, scabies persists because dozens of new mites are continually being hatched. Invariably it itches severely.

This pest can be picked up from others affected, from sheets and clothing, from toilets. Communal-living dwellers suffer epidemics of them. Robert Louis Stevenson, when writing about his trip to this country by boat across the Atlantic and then by train across the United States, complained of excruciating itching, especially at night. The affliction he described was characteristic of scabies. Those responsible for editing his writings deleted the references to his personal discomfort before publishing — itching and scratching were too demeaning. One didn't mention such things in public.

Fortunately, now, treatment with a cream or lotion produces remarkable cures in two or three days. Such remedies can be toxic if taken by mouth and should be kept out of the reach of children. In addition, linen must be washed and clothing cleaned.

When this type of itching affects the vulvar area, generalized treatment is necessary, not just one spot at a time. The skin must be covered from the chin down to the soles of the feet. No immunity is established and, if there is reexposure, there will be reinfection.

REMINISCENCE Signs of spring vanishing

By HELEN M. PAGEL Copley News Service

Everyone, of course, knows the conventional signs of spring which appear each year with unfailing regularity — the first robin, grass turning green, little fat leaf buds bursting out on trees and bushes. But some of the other signs which were so familiar 50 or 60 years ago are either rapidly disappearing or have already gone forever.

On the first warm day, all the children who were lucky enough to have roller skates brought them out. If you were extra lucky you might have a pair with ball bearings, but they were pretty scarce. And still more scarce were places to skate.

There weren't sidewalks lining the streets in those days, but some families did have a cement walk leading from the front door to the street, and this was always swarming with skaters.

City parks were always popular places in spring. In those days many people had nursemaids, who took their small charges to the park to play. The babies slept contentedly in wicker buggies while the bigger children played on the grass or skated on the walks, for there were cement walks in most parks.

Another frequent visitor to the parks was the balloon man. He carried a huge bunch of brightly colored balloons which were fastened to long sticks, and on one arm he had a market basket filled with pinwheels. Each cost a nickel, and since very few children ever had more than one nickel at a time, it was quite a problem to decide which to buy. The balloons were beautiful, but it was such fun to go whizzing along on your skates holding a pinwheel in front of you and watching it spin madly around.

Life is full of difficult decisions.

Presently there would be the sound of tinkling music in the distance, and then along came the hurdy-gurdy. This was a barrel organ, usually encased in a wooden box with bright colored pictures painted on it. It was mounted on two wheels and had a pair of shafts by which the hurdy-gurdy man pulled it along and produced the fascinating music. On a little seat in front sat a monkey dressed in a red jacket and cap, who did tricks and then held out his hat for the children to drop pennies into. And the monkey's name was always Jocko.

Sometimes the hurdy-gurdy man's wife walked along with him. She was always a fat, jolly person, wearing a gaily flowered dress and with a bright kerchief tied around her head. She played the tambourine and danced a little, and this made the children dance, too, while her husband, grinning broadly beneath his black moustache, kept the music going.

Then the woman held out her tambourine and the children dropped pennies into that, too. And then away down the street went the hurdy-gurdy, moving slowly along with crowds of children following, perfectly enchanted by the music, the like of which is never heard anymore.

Then there was the organ grinder with his little hand organ which played about three tunes when he turned the crank, while his monkey, who was also named Jocko and wore a red jacket and cap, performed tricks and helped collect pennies for his master.

Well, they've gone away into the misty past — the balloon man, the hurdy-gurdy and the organ-grinder, but the roller skaters at least are still with us.

Bright borders are spring touch

By BETH MOHR Copley News Service

Spring borders cultivated by fashion go beyond the garden variety of flowering perennials.

Following formal arrangements in keeping with print motifs, dress borders have a pattern range that includes florals, abstracts, geometrics, stripes and polka dots. They also are of sharply contrasting solid colors or provide tone-on-tone accents by changing textures.

Hemlines seldom carry the border accents alone. Motifs often are repeated in waistbands or belts, button tabs or front panels, necklines or cuffs.

In one of their most dominant roles, borders outline the sides

Hiway Meet

'Buck' Buchanan Named to State & Region Boards

J.W. Buchanan, manager of the North Plains Water District, was elected President of the Texas Water Conservation Association recently at a meeting held in Fort Worth.

Another title recently given to this hard-working water conservationist came about at a meeting in St. Louis, Mo. He was named to the Board of Directors and Chairman of Region 7 of the Water Resources Congress. This meeting in St. Louis was the first one held since the uniting of The National Rivers and Harbors Congress and The Mississippi Valley Association into the Water Resources Congress.

"Buck" and his wife Millie reside in Dumas, Texas. They are former Spearman citizens.

A Tuesday night meeting of the counties striving to make Farm to Market road 281 into State highway 51 was held in Spearman.

Representatives from the following counties were present: Lipscomb, Hemphill, Ochiltree, Hansford, Hutchinson, Moore, Hartley and Dallam.

The group will go to Austin for a meeting with State Highway officials on May 1, at which time the proposal will be presented.

The northern Panhandle group known as the Panhandle Committee for Highway Improvement, is headed by O.C. Holt, a rural Spearman agriculturist. Johnnie Lee is vice-chairman.

This trans-Panhandle highway would begin in Dallam county at Dalhart, traverse the Panhandle to the Oklahoma line where it would connect with Oklahoma Highway 51 and 60, to give area ranchers, feedlot operators and industries direct access to the new deep water port which will be functioning at Tulsa.

There is a real need for a road that will serve this area.

the oven, saucepan or skillet fit her lifestyle, and allow her more time to spend on other personal and family needs. The wide variety of package sizes helps make shopping more pleasant and are much easier to store in freezer or pantry. These conveniences, as desirable as they are, do increase labor costs. In fact, perhaps as much as 47 percent of the cost of food marketing goes for labor," Kunkel pointed out.

"Another 13 percent goes to packaging," he continued. "Put in round figures, that could mean $13 out of every $100 the homemaker spends on food items that require special packaging. Nationally, it amounted to $8.8 billion out of a $101.6 billion food bill paid by consumers in 1971," he explained.

"Unfortunately these costs are often viewed by the consumer as being 'food costs' and not viewed as costs quite separate from costs of the food as produced on the farm or ranch," Kunkel emphasized.

Kunkel agrees that food prices are somewhat higher today. "To do otherwise would completely avoid the economic facts of life in an economy that has experienced inflation, as well as increased costs for taxes, labor, transportation and raw materials the farmer must buy to see to it that we have an abundance of high quality food at the market place. But even with all these built-in increases, food is still the best buy the consumer can make," he said.

"Relative to other consumer goods, food prices have not increased nearly as much. In fact, the average consuming family in 1952 spent about 23 percent of their take-home pay on food. In 1971, food costs accounted for only 16 percent. Of course, some families would spend a higher percentage, while others spent less depending upon the family income level. It is important to note, however, that some food items, particularly poultry and milk products are presently in a seasonal downturn and are exceptionally good buys in most market areas."

Kunkel explained that as with other consumer goods, the buyers have developed solid preferences, and the trend is toward the deluxe standard.

"We're delighted that the consumer values high quality food and food products. The fact that we seem to prefer steaks to the lower-priced cuts, the perfectly shaped apple without blemishes, and crisp, well colored vegetable products is justifiable. To put this type of product on the market, the producer must follow the best production and marketing procedure. This, too, leads to increased costs just as the deluxe model of the last car you bought costs more than the compact you looked at," he said.

"Defending agriculture comes easy to me, and perhaps it should," Kunkel declared, "for I know of no other industry that has developed the output per man hour that agriculture has achieved to date. The data would indicate that our achieved efficiency is twice that of industry as a whole. In my opinion that's efficiency, and I would hate to think what the price of food would be today if the American agricultural sector had failed to meet this tremendous record of efficiency."

"Unfortunately the farmer appears not to have been very well rewarded for achieving this high level of efficiency, as increased production costs plus inflation have nearly outrun his efficiency advantage during the last 20 years," he said.

"To say food prices are either too high or too low is not a simple matter. Apparently the same things that make them higher also make them lower, and of course, consumers have stated their preference for the latter," he concluded.

Kay Kennedy of Flagler, Colo. was a weekend guest of Dalynn Brummett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Brummett. Dalynn brought Kay home with her from Southwest State College in Weatherford, Okla. where both are pharmacy majors.

FUN WITH FIGURES

Goods & Services Count Toward High Food Costs

COLLEGE STATION--"The price of panty hose, pampers, paper towels, plants, toothpaste and a whole host of non-food items are all too often figured in the monthly food bill in most households," says Dr. H.O. Kunkel, Dean, College of Agriculture at Texas A&M University.

"In fact, recent surveys of the homemaker's grocery cart revealed that $2.80 out of every $10 spent at the supermarket goes for these non-food items," the dean continued.

"But that's only one of the many items that may inflate food costs at the market place. The modern, busy and sometimes working homemaker needs many built-in labor savers in the foods she buys. A wide selection of top quality food items ready to pop into

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE VOTERS OF THIS DISTRICT ABOUT MY APPOINTMENT AS DISTRICT ATTORNEY

I am trying to conduct my campaign for District Attorney on the issue vital to you as residents of this District - namely, which of the candidates has the experience and ability to try the complex cases that must be handled. However, you are entitled to know that certain statements made about the appointment of the District Attorney are erroneous and misleading. The appointment was necessary, and I was appointed, for the following reasons.

1. An immediate appointment was necessary because there is no provision in Texas law for the handling of felony criminal cases when the office of the District Attorney is vacant. Article 2.02 of the Texas Code of Criminal Procedure, quoted recently in advertising by my opponent, does not cover the situation where a vacancy exists in the office of the District Attorney. The District Court and many members of the Bar studied Article 2.02 very carefully and concluded that there was no legal authority for anyone to act when the office was vacant. For that reason, pending Grand Jury sessions were cancelled and no contested felony cases were set for trial. However, crime did not take a vacation during this time. A large backlog of cases began to develop after the death of the District Attorney and there was the possibility that persons awaiting trial were being denied their Constitutional right to a speedy trial. It was essential that the office of District Attorney be filled as soon as possible.

2. I was appointed because a large cross section of the people, in this District requested my appointment. The Governor is, by law, given the authority to fill the office when it is vacant. He acts on the requests and recommendations of the citizens of the District in cases like this. In my case, he responded to requests and recommendations from the judiciary, the heads and members of the various law enforcement agencies, the Commissioner's Courts, various City Councils and School Boards, many private individuals and every attorney in Borger and Hansford and Ochiltree Counties except those involved in political races.

I took the appointment knowing that my opponent had said he would make a campaign issue out of it and knowing that it would seriously limit my time to campaign for the office. However, if I want you to elect me as District Attorney, I must take the bad with the good. There are four capital cases and numerous other serious felony cases that must be tried during the next few months. It would have been nice if some other lawyer in the District had been willing to take the appointment, try those difficult cases and turn over the office on January 1, 1973 with no backlog and no difficult cases to try. However, (1) I am not aware of any other lawyer who wanted to do that and (2) if I want to be District Attorney, I should be willing to go to work right now if asked to do so. I was asked to do so, I have gone to work and I want the job. This District has had outstanding District attorneys for over 40 years. I will make every effort to maintain the standards they have set for the office and to strictly enforce the law. I hope you will vote for me on May 6.

Sincerely,
RICHARD N. (Dick) COUNTISS

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Too Old to Drive?

As auto accidents go, Mrs. Martin's collision with another car was nothing special. But soon afterward, bad news arrived in the mail.

"Your driver's license has been revoked," said a notice from the Traffic Bureau.

Mrs. Martin, an ardent motorist, decided to put up a fight. Challenging the Traffic Bureau in court, she pointed out that the collision was in no way her fault.

"Even so," countered a Bureau spokesman, "this woman has already passed her 77th birthday. That alone is enough basis for us to revoke her license."

But the court disagreed. Ordering the license restored, the court said advanced years alone are not enough reason to take away a person's right to drive.

Most traffic laws say that officials may revoke the license of anyone unfit to handle a car. But they may not classify a person as unfit without good grounds. Even a physical disability may not be enough to disqualify a driver if the disability can be kept under adequate control.

For example: A man had diabetes. But his condition was such that the possibility of insulin shock was slight. And if shock did occur, it would give him enough warning to allow him to pull over to the curb. A court held that his license could not be revoked.

Another man occasionally suffered from double vision. But he could clear it up instantly just by shutting one eye. His license, too, was held not subject to revocation.

However, a court refused similar help to a woman afflicted by heart trouble, high blood pressure, and partial paralysis on one side. Seeking to have her license restored, she recalled that she had driven for 30 years without an accident.

But the court, noting the very real possibility of sudden trouble, said her good driving in the past was no guarantee against bad driving in the future. As one judge put it: "The purpose is not punishment of the driver but the protection of the public."

SUMMER CALLS FOR VITAMIN A

College Station--Lacking--that's the nutritional state of vitamin A, especially during the summer months, says Sally Springer, Extension foods and nutrition specialist.

Studies have shown this to be a fact, Miss Springer explains. Many people do not get enough vitamin A, an essential element for body growth, during the summer season.

Vitamin A helps eyes adjust to nighttime dim light. It is also necessary for health in the linings of nasal and digestive passages and provides for the maintenance of smooth skin.

In food, the vitamin is found as a natural element or as a precursor, carotene, which aids in its formation, the specialist says.

Natural vitamin A is available only in animal sources including meat fat, milk, fat and butter. Vitamin A is fat soluble, she adds.

Several vegetables are also good sources of vitamin A--the dark green leafy and deep yellow vegetables. Summer squash and cantaloupe are two vegetables common in season supplying carotene. Other good sources include spinach, sweet potato and dark green leafy vegetables.

For well balanced diet plan menus to include vitamin A every day, suggests Miss Springer.

Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Mason and daughter visited Sunday and Sunday with their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Vanderburg and family at Hereford. Enroute they stopped in Dumas and visited Mr. and Mrs. L.D. Mason and daughters.

Brenda Wheeler, a senior student at Texas Tech, the wife of her husband, Mr. Ed Wheeler, is now doing her pre-vice teaching at Dimmitt.

LAND JUDGING TEAM WINS SECOND

Shown are Kirby Brillhart, Jimmy Redwine, Pete Vera and Jeff Platt with Charles Brillhart, Chairman of the Hansford SWCD. This is an annual contest where the boys judge 4 plots of land to determine problems, land capability and treatment needed. That gives the boys valuable training in evaluating land. The Soil Conservation Service furnished technical assistance in setting up the contest. Clifford Hill Western Pipe Company furnished a back-hoe to dig the holes at the sites. Booker FFA took the first place banner.

AREA MEN LOOK OVER TRINDLE FARM

State Resource Conservationist C.A. Rechenhain, Area Conservationist Doug Cunningham, Biologists James Henson and Allen Vaughan discuss the merits of farmstead windbreaks on the John Trindle farm. This group was in Spearman recently to help Soil Conservation Service in providing assistance to landowners for wildlife habitat improvement.

he continued. Some of the things that can be done are to plant windbreaks around the edges of fields, leave weeds in fence rows, fence off waterways from grazing and leave stubble in fields as long as possible. Pheasants need a year-round source of cover and food. Any break in this period will limit the number of pheasants in the area.

Windbreaks also will help many other songbirds and other birds that must have trees to nest. Contact the local Soil Conservation Service office in Spearman for more information.

Common Cancer The "cancer nobody talks about," bowel cancer, is very common. The American Cancer Society says that it is highly curable if diagnosed early and treated promptly.

WAGO--Farmers and ranchers of Texas "are vitally concerned" about legislation now being considered in Congress, according to Texas Farm Bureau President J.T. Woodson.

Hearings are being held on farm labor relations bills by the Farm Labor Subcommittee on Education and Labor. Woodson sent letters to all members of the Texas delegation in Washington expressing the concern of farmers and ranchers for sound legislation in the field of farm labor.

The reason for this concern is activities of the United Farm Workers Organizing Committee in Delano, Cal. in Florida, and in the Rio Grande Valley of Texas, Woodson stated.

Heart of the issue is whether or not agriculture is to come under the jurisdiction of the National Labor Relations Act, the TFB president said. He quoted from Farm Bureau policies which state, "We vigorously oppose the inclusion of agriculture under the National Labor Relations Act since this Act was developed to deal with industrial labor problems."

FB policies state that the differences between farmer-worker relationship and industrial relationships are "substantial" and the application of this Act to agriculture would be "Undesirable". The rules and procedures of the National Labor Relations Board "are not designed to meet the special needs of farmers," the policies state. "Farmers need protection against strikes and boycotts at critical periods. A strike or boycott at harvest time can cause farmers to lose a full year's income as well as a substantial investment in producing a crop," the policies continue.

Farm Bureau policy calls for enactment of legislation regarding farm labor within certain major guidelines. These are: (1) Administration by an independent farm-labor relations board; (2) secret balloting by workers; (3) prohibition of secondary boycotts; (4) a requirement that a union file notice of intention to strike and an option to farmers in such cases to defer this strike by calling for arbitration of the dispute; (5) exemption of small farms; (6) preservation of state laws relating to compulsory unionism and the right of states to enact legislation in this area; (7) authorization for farmers to obtain damages for unlawful strikes or boycotts; and (8) provision that the election and bargaining unit shall be the employees of a farmer or particular categories of employees.

Woodson pointed out to the Legislators that the National Labor Relations Board is overloaded, and the average period required to handle cases filed with NLRB is "excessive". Such a time lag would be "intolerable" for both farmers and workers, he said.

Imperative essentials for satisfactory handling of representation and unfair practice cases in agriculture are expeditious procedures, special handling, and an understanding of the character of agricultural production and marketing operations. This is going to require a separate agency, people with specialized experience, and readiness to use innovative and shortcut procedures to deal effectively with problems as they arise," the TFB leader continued. Any hope that the overloaded NLRB could accomplish this would be "illusory" he declared.

Woodson said Farm Bureau is particularly interested in one bill that is under consideration by the Subcommittee. It is H. R. 13981 (Leggett, California;

State Farm Leader Says 'Issue Critical'

Quie, Minnesota; Ullman, Oregon; and Teague, Calif.) He asked for the legislators' support of the measure "or similar legislation which incorporates principles of Farm Bureau policy."

"The issue is critical," the state farm leader pointed out. "Without remedial legislation, farmers and ranchers will continue to mechanize, or will change over to production of commodities which require very little labor. Commodities requiring a great deal of hand labor will be produced in Mexico or other countries outside the continental United States. Both farm labor and farmer employers will be hurt," he explained.

The Art and Craft Guild met Friday April 21 with Mrs. Bruce Sheets. The afternoon was spent in painting and handwork. The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Joe Traylor.

Present were Mmes. Sada Hoskins, Bill Russell, Pope Gibner, Clay Gibner, Mildred Daily, P.A. Lyon, Guy Fuller, Bill Gandy, Ned Turner, and Joe Traylor.
