In finding news leak

President offers help

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford today volunteered to House Speaker Carl Albert "all services and resources of the executive branch" to track down the source of leaked segments of the secret report of the House intelligence committee.

White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen announced Ford's offer and said the President is "confident it did not come out of the executive branch." Committee Chairman Otis Pike, D-N.Y., has suggested the leak may have been part of an administration effort to embarrass his committee.

Nessen acknowledged that Albert, an Oklahoma Democrat, had not asked for any help.

When the press secretary was asked if Ford would provide agents of the FBI and possibly the Internal Revenue Service, he replied: "You need to go ask Carl Albert."

Ford's offer apparently was very broad, inasmuch as Nessen at one point referred to the "full resources of the federal government."

Nessen's announcement came one day after the weekly Village Voice, a New York City newspaper, published what it said was a partial text of the committee's final report, which the House has barred from public release.

The document said U.S. military involvement in Angola was strongly opposed by a task force of high government experts on Africa.

Meanwhile, CIA Director George Bush announced he is halting the agency's long-established practice of using some employees of U.S. news organizations as undercover agents overseas.

In his first public act since he took over the agency two weeks ago, Bush also announced Wednesday that the CIA has "no secret paid or contractual relationship with any American clergyman or missionary" and that "this practice will be continued as a matter of policy."

At the same time, the CIA said it would welcome information volunteered by representatives of the news media and the clergy and promised not to reveal the names of any American who cooperates with the agency.

"Effective immediately," Bush said, "CIA will not enter into any paid or contractual relationship with any full-time or part-time news correspondents accredited by any U.S. news service, newspaper, periodical, radio or TV network or station."

Existing ties will be phased out "as soon as feasible," according to Bush's statement, released by the agency.

At the White House, Nessen was asked if Ford's apparent offer of the services of the FBI was because he felt there had been a violation of federal law in the publication of the partial committee report.

"I don't know that we're talking about legal violations at this point," Nessen said.

Asked if the President would order an investigation of the executive branch if it later appeared possible that the leak came from that branch of the government, Nessen said, "I think we'll have to wait and see."

ALL THAT'S LEFT — A plastic jug of water, a shred of tortilla and a hat are among the few items this Guatemalan boy from the village of San Martin has left following last week's devastating earthquake. More than a million Guatemalans also face hunger and desperation in the wake of the disaster.

MPLA drive gains HQ, 175 miles

By The Associated Press

The Soviet-backed forces in Angola today reported the capture of Silva Porto, their Western-supported military headquarters, and a spectacular 175-mile advance southward to take the southern towns of Mocamedes and Sa da Bandeira.

If confirmed, the advance would put the Angolan and Cuban forces of the Popular Movement (MPLA) less than 100 miles from a South African defensive line and about 125 miles north of the border between Angola and South-West Africa (Namibia), Nicholas Ashford of the Times of London reported from Johannesburg.

The MPLA's capture of Silva Porto, extending its hold on the Benguela railroad across central Angola, was confirmed by a spokesman for the rival Western-backed National Union (UNITA) in Kinshasa, Zaire. Some hours later, Radio Luanda announced the capture of the two southern towns. There was no confirmation from other sources.

Jane Bergerol of the London Financial Times reported from Luanda, the MPLA capital, that South Africa was estimated to have 20,000 troops in southern Angola, about four times previous estimates.

The South African government claims its forces are there to protect a dam on the border which supplies electricity to South-West Africa.

Miss Bergerol said Luanda Radio called on guerrillas around Mocamedes and N'Giva to make contact with MPLA officials. She said some of the tribes fought for the MPLA against the Portuguese colonial government in the 1960s and 1970s.

Jury to hear Patty, on tape and in person

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The jury in Patricia Hearst's trial will hear the taped voice of Miss Hearst boast that she took part in a bank robbery and then probably hear her — in person — repeat her dramatic story of being forced into the holdup.

Miss Hearst's defense lost a battle Wednesday to prevent the playing of a taped communique in which the newspaper heiress, using her underground name "Tania," said she willingly joined her terrorist kidnappers in the April 15, 1974, robbery with which she is charged.

U.S. District Court Judge Oliver J. Carter ruled that Miss Hearst's taped statement was made "voluntarily" and that the prosecutor could use the tape and the testimony of a Los Angeles teenager who said that Miss Hearst and two others held him hostage in May 1974.

Carter's ruling all but assured that the defendant will take the stand in her own defense and recount for the jury the story she has told out of its presence in the past two days, her version of life with her Symbionese Liberation Army kidnappers.

The prosecution in the case could wind up its case this week. U.S. Atty. James L. Browning Jr. said after Wednesday's court session that he has, in addition to playing the tape, "five or six more witnesses" to call.

They will testify on technical matters, detailing such things as the seizure of evidence and Miss Hearst's arrest last Sept. 18, he said.

Chief Defense Counsel F. Lee Bailey fought for two days at a special hearing outside the presence of the jury to suppress the taped communique and to prohibit testimony about a shooting and kidnapping incident in Los Angeles in which Miss Hearst also is charged.

She testified that she lived in constant fear of being killed by the SLA if she did not cooperate from the time she was kidnapped on Feb. 4, 1974, until shortly after her capture in San Francisco.

Guatemala treasures were damaged

GUATEMALA CITY, Guatemala (AP) — Some of Guatemala's ancient archeological treasures and colonial monuments were badly damaged by the earthquake last week, but the ruins of the Mayan city of Tikal were not affected, the director of the National Institute of Anthropology reports. "The cultural heritage of Guatemala suffered considerable losses in the earthquake," said Luis Lujan Munos after a preliminary survey of the pre-Columbian and Spanish Colonial treasures that bring thousands of tourists and scholars to Guatemala.

IRA faster dies in prison

LONDON, England (AP) — Frank Stagg, a member of the Irish Republican Army, died in Wakefield Jail today during the 61st day of a hunger strike, the British Home Office announced. IRA leaders in Northern Ireland had warned the underground Roman Catholic guerrillas would resume their bombing campaign in Britain if Stagg died. British authorities said Stagg, 34, who was serving a 10-year sentence for IRA activity in Britain, began fasting Dec. 13 in an attempt to make the government transfer him to a prison in Northern Ireland.

Nuclear protection may cost millions

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pentagon officials estimate it may cost $250 million to strengthen protection of U.S. nuclear weapons sites around the world against possible raids by terrorists. The storage sites, containing thousands of nuclear warheads, will be converted into virtual fortresses. Officials hope much of the cost will be borne by member nations of NATO because many of the sites are located in Western Europe for defense of that area.

Bush to halt CIA news covers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The new CIA director, George Bush, says he is halting the agency's long-established practice of using some employees of U.S. news organizations as undercover agents overseas. The CIA also said it has "no secret paid or contractual relationship with any American clergyman or missionary" and that "this practice will be continued as a matter of policy."

Park, bridge grants gain green signal

By MARJ CARPENTER

A number of grants that vitally affect Howard County, Big Spring and Coahoma were passed with favorable comment by the board of directors of the Permian Basin Regional Planning Commission Wednesday at a meeting at Terminal.

Included in the group was a supplemental grant for Roy Anderson Park, which the city of Big Spring is requesting to send to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission. The grant would be for $86,500 and would be matched by the city to place lights on the new park complex, if obtained.

A request for approval of seeking a grant with the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation was approved for Howard County. Commissioners are seeking federal-off system funds to build a bridge and straighten out the road near Moss Creek bridge.

The request is for $210,000 which will be matched with $90,000 from Howard County for the project.

The board also approved with favorable comment all eight Community Development preapplications for Housing and Urban Development funds. In towns under 50,000 preapplications are required. Last year, 11 cities preapproved with three selected including Big Spring, Fort Stockton and Grandfalls.

This year, Big Spring is asking $300,000, the maximum amount which they could obtain for the purpose of inadequate housing loans. Some $250,000 would be allocated for this project, with $25,000 for demolition of old houses and $25,000 for administration of the program.

This would allow persons with low income to borrow funds to connect to the sewer system which is presently being constructed in a low income area from funds obtained last year from HUD. It would also allow approved loans to bring homes up above poverty standards.

Coahoma is requesting $100,000 to annex additional property and develop it and to extend 7200 feet of a sanitary sewer system. Stanton is requesting $100,000 to update a sanitary sewer system constructed in 1926.

Martin County is requesting $100,000 to improve a rural water system constructed in 1927. Grandfalls is asking for $90,000 to improve their water system and continue improvements on their gas system.

Rankin is asking for $99,410 for a gas installation, with the town to add $101,900. Gas is leaking out of the present distribution system at an alarming rate.

Upton County is asking for $100,000 for the water systems in McCamey and Rankin.

Cities, such as Odessa, are under Community Development Entitlement Funds because they are over 50,000 in population and their request for $832,000 was approved. Wink falls in this category, not because of its size but because it was on the original Urban Renewal program and it requested $23,000. Wink will use its funds to help complete a city water well.

Odessa also had $50,000 approved in funds for a solid waste resource recovery project. Andrews County had $16,154 approved for a juvenile probation officer.

The low bid on Emergency Medical Service ambulance radios went to General Electric for $29,747.48. Two of these 14 radios will go to Big Spring and Howard County if they decide to accept the two free ambulances and sign up in the Emergency Medical System by April 1.

Commissioner Mason Coggin from Stanton asked the presiding chairman, Harold Hall of Big Spring, if the radios would be as big a problem as the Martin County sheriff's radio. One of the PBRPC staff told Coggin that the trouble in Stanton has been mainly that lightning struck the tower twice and "this was decided by the Good Lord."

The commissioner was assured that work was being done on improving the system there. The radios for the ambulances will be solid state, rather than the type used by law agencies. Later bids will be taken on base stations for the radios and EMS hospitals in West Texas.

The board also approved resolutions in connection with the 1976 Comprehensive Work Program. Hall and Ernie Crawford, executive director, took this program to Austin last week for approval by state and federal agencies.

Judge Barbara Culver of Midland presented proposed changes in the by-laws of the National Association of Regional Councils which were approved. She is national vice president.

Among the judges attending from this area were Judge Bill Tune, Howard County; Judge Leslie Pratt, Lamesa; Judge D.W. Parker, Garden City; and Judge Jim Burkett of Gail.

Sixteen of the 20 board members were present for the meeting with Hall presiding for the first time.

Administrative personnel of local schools approved

All administrative personnel of the Big Spring Independent School district were approved for extension of their current contracts when the school board met here Wednesday night.

The board also set the school calendar for next year. It also approved holding one combined service for graduation for both baccalaureate and commencement. This will be on Thursday, May 27.

This had been approved by the majority of local clergymen and also the majority of the members of the senior class, prior to going to the board.

Administrators whose contracts were extended until June 30, 1977, include Harold Bentley, director of personnel; Gene Adkins, director of special education; principals Tom Henry, Runnels Junior High; S.A. Walker, Goliad Junior High; George Archer, Park Hill Elementary; Marian Barber, Moss Elementary; James Beam, College Heights Elementary; Ernest Boyd, Kentwood Elementary.

Other principals are Cleo Carlile, Airport Elementary; J. B. Cushing, Washington Elementary; Jimmy Holmes, Marcy Elementary; H. H. Huijbregtse, Bauer Elementary; E. S. Morgan, Lakeview Elementary and Herman Smith, Boydston and Cedar Crest Elementaries.

Others include Craig Fischer, William Martin and Morris Mulpus, assistant principals at the high school; John Bagnall, vocational administrator; Donald Green, assistant business manager; Ray Lawlis, cafeteria director and J. O. Hagood, tax assessor-collector. Hagood requested his third retirement waiver, which was granted.

Lynn Hise, assistant superintendent of instruction; Don Crockett, assistant superintendent of business and John Smith, high school principal already have contracts that extend to June 30, 1977.

Keith Swim, director of federal programs, plans to retire at the conclusion of this school year.

There were three requests for waivers of retirement including Hagood, Mrs. Elizabeth Johnsen, high school, making her second request and Mrs. Agnes Mitchell at Bauer making a third request. These two teachers' requests will be considered at the meeting in March when teachers' contracts are discussed.

The school calendar adopted for the next school year shows teachers reporting on Aug. 16 and students on Aug. 23. School will dismiss for students on May 26 and for teachers on May 27.

Holidays will include Labor Day, inservice days on Nov. 5, Nov. 19 and Thanksgiving holidays on Nov. 25 and 26.

Christmas holidays will extend from Dec. 23 to Jan. 3. There will be inservice holidays on Jan. 14 and Feb. 25. March 18 and 21 will be holidays as well as April 8 and 11.

Dr. Emmett McKenzie was unable to attend the school board meeting, due to the death of his father.

The board also officially called the school trustee election for April 3 with two posts to be filled.

Board members present included Roy Watkins, Delnor Poss, Al Valdes, Thomas Fetters, Don Reynolds, and Jim Bill Little.

An hour-long executive session was held prior to approving all of the administrator contracts.

Attack claims Lee J. Cobb

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Lee J. Cobb, a character actor whose roles ranged from the pathetic traveling salesman in the classic American drama "Death of a Salesman" to the strong-minded Judge Garth of television's "The Virginian," is dead at 64.

An apparent heart attack claimed the burly, gray-haired actor's life Wednesday at his suburban Woodland Hills home, a coroner's spokesman said.

Born Leo Jacoby on Dec. 8, 1911, on New York's Lower East Side, Cobb ran away to Hollywood at age 17. He acted and directed at the Pasadena Playhouse in 1931, then returned to New York and joined the Group Theater, where he appeared in several plays by Clifford Odets and other writers of the Depression era.

Cobb went to school in New York and majored in aeronautical engineering. He took up flying and enlisted in the Air Force during World War II.

His film credits span two generations, beginning

Found guilty of murder

ODESSA — Henry Wade Clanton, 28, has been found guilty in 70th District Court here of the Dec. 22, 1973 murder of his wife, Stella Jean.

The jury deliberated about 70 minutes Wednesday before returning the verdict. The punishment phase of the trial was to be revealed today by Judge C. V. Milburn.

Clanton was convicted April 4, 1974, and sentenced to life imprisonment but the verdict was overturned by the Court of Criminal Appeals.

The shooting took place in a bar. Mrs. Clanton was hit once in the chest by a .22 caliber bullet. Her husband was arrested outside the bar following the shooting.

Young Love thwarted

The Howard County Sheriff's Office has returned Glenn Love, 18, from Mineral Wells to Big Spring. District Attorney Robert H. (Bob) Moore III is seeking to have probation for two counts of house burglary revoked.

Love was accused of car theft in Mineral Wells Jan. 23. His brother, Hershel Floyd Love, 21, recently escaped from jail in Johnson City and has not been apprehended.

Murderer seeks prison release

A man who pleaded guilty to two counts of murder and one of carrying a gun where alcoholic beverages are sold is seeking release from prison through a writ of habeas corpus.

Manuel M. Castro, 48, is serving three concurrent life sentences.

In the writ application, he relates a story of the shoot-out in the Big Boss Lounge Nov. 24, 1968. He was wounded and hospitalized, Castro claims. Evaristo Medina and Joe Solis were killed.

Race shapes for county Demo Chairman post

By JOHN EDWARDS

The Howard County Democratic Executive Committee encountered some opposition from a veteran Democratic campaigner from Iowa Tuesday night.

Bob Hutte, now of 2303 Marshall Drive, offered himself as a candidate for temporary appointment as county chairman.

But Rafoed L. Dunagan, 1606 E. 17th St., was the only person nominated and was named county chairman.

Harvey C. Hooser Jr. vacated the position of county chairman because of his candidacy for county attorney.

Dunagan and Hutte will be listed on the Democratic ballot as candidates for county chairman.

The one elected at the Democratic Primary will serve after the primary runoff.

Dunagan is materials coordinator for the Cosden Oil & Chemical Co. maintenance department. Hutte is a real estate and insurance broker.

Hutte interrupted nominations proceedings to give his speech for nomination.

Hutte said he was the Democratic nominee for state auditor in Iowa in 1960. He was campaign manager for the late Steven Carter, a Congressional candidate who made it to a recount in 1966 and was elected in 1968.

Hutte was Democratic county chairman in Clark County, Iowa, 12 years. And the businessman was an alternate delegate to the national conventions in 1966, 1969, and 1974.

In 1964, Hutte said he headed the Iowans for Johnson.

The former Iowan called for Democrats here to try to bring more young and old voters into party activities.

Dunagan agreed with Hutte's proposals.

One man tried to nominate Hutte but was unable to nominate, because the man was not a member of the executive committee.

Of the 15 elected precinct chairmen, nine were present. Hutte questioned whether this was a quorum and asked why vacancies in the executive committee were not filled previously.

Margaret Ray was appointed to continue as county Democratic secretary.

VACANCIES FILLED

The executive committee appointed several precinct chairmen where none had been elected.

Delano Shaw will serve precinct 3; Dorothy Bennett, 17, John Gary, 18; Cecil Hamilton, 20, and James Baird, 22.

Also selected were two election judges. Don Conley will preside at voting box 3, and M. H. (Slick) Boatler, box 19.

Punch-card voting machines will be used for the Democratic Primary, the committee decided. County Judge Bill Tune said the county had purchased 114 machines and 20 demonstration models.

Joseph R. Turcotte, a computer expert, was named judge of the central counting station. He held this position at the constitutional election.

Karen Harris, an employee of the tax office, was selected tabulation supervisor. Dunagan will be counting station manager.

CONFUSION

Zirah L. Bednar, county tax assessor-collector, spoke to the committee about confusion caused by a federal injunction over voter registration.

The injunction prohibits what state law provides, Mrs. Bednar said.

According to Texas law, voters should be reregistered, which would be indicated by a new voter registration card. But she suggested precinct election judges allow anyone with an old plastic card to be allowed to vote in the Democratic Primary.

Those with only plastic cards should be listed and asked to reregister, Mrs. Bednar said.

No action was taken on this proposal, pending resolution of the legal issue in court.

The executive committee plans to consider the matter again at a meeting slated March 15. At this meeting, a drawing will decide which order candidates' names appear on the ballot.

Among the Democratic candidates present were Helen Eggleston, who is opposing Mrs. Bednar in the race for county tax assessor-collector; Oliver (Bud) Nichols Jr., a candidate for

New home building firm opens in Big Spring

A new home building firm, Spring Country Builders, has opened for business in Big Spring. Delbert Shirey, a familiar face to many Big Springers, will be in charge of operations, marketing, advertising and sales for the firm.

Spring Country Builders offer an opportunity for those interested in housing starting at the $20,000 level.

The firm provides frames constructed by Kingsberry Homes Inc. for its houses. Kingsberry offers over 170 different floor plans for a variety of dwellings, including leisure homes, apartments, duplexes and four-plexes.

Kingsberry Homes, a division of Boise Cascade, operates in 38 states. Home office for the company is in Atlanta, Ga., while its nearest manufacturing plant is in Holdenville, Okla.

Once the frame of the house is constructed, the rest of the interior and exterior work is subcontracted locally. Building upon a basic floor plan, Spring Country Builders are prepared to offer a vast variety of custom building features.

While some firms take three to four months to complete a dwelling, Spring Country Builders claim a construction time of less than six weeks.

Shirey is no stranger to the business of building homes. He brings 13 years of management experience, an accredited real estate license and a love for construction to the job.

Purse snatching leads to arrest of fugitives

A reported purse snatching led to the arrest of two men charged with an armed robbery in Pecos.

Two police officers, Raymond Hall and Ron Newby were called to the laundromat at 1200 block of Gregg around 2 p.m. Wednesday where a woman reported that a man took her purse, containing $83. She described both the man and the vehicle in which he drove away.

Officers later found the vehicle at 509 Nolan and held the two men for suspicion of theft over $20 and under $200. They are Raiford Dean Adams, 19, and Russell Earl Short, 31, both of Fort Stockton.

Czechoslovakian folk ballet scheduled tonight

What will be one of the most exciting theatrical events in the cultural history of Big Spring will take place during the 1975-76 season, it was announced by The Big Spring Concert Association. Appearing in City Auditorium today, 8:15 p.m., will be the internationally celebrated "Lucnica," the prize-winning Czechoslovakian folk ballet.

This large and handsome company representing the best among Czechoslovakia's folk dancers and virtuoso musicians, will be making its first American tour under the direction of Columbia Artists Management, a company noted for introducing many of the most theatrically exciting dance and music attractions from many countries of the world.

A cross section of international press acclaim underscores the brilliance of "Lucnica" (pronounced Looch-nit-sa). Moscow's Sovetskaya Kultura cited the "joyous youth and talent which are certainly characteristics which fully demonstrate the creative profile of this Slovak company."

Latin critics were equally enthusiastic: "Their cultural orientation easily explains the high degree of quality, discipline and perfect expression of the dance, as well as exciting and very musical communication." (Paesa Sera, Rome) ... "The movements are fascinating and musical. They are young enough to conquer the world with one accessible weapon — art." (Radio-Television, Rio de Janeiro) ...

From Scandinavia and Germany came the following: "They performed the most temperamental and complicated dances in fantastic tempos. Together with the dancers the audience lived through this whole whirl of life and joyous living." (Morgen Tindingen, Stockholm) ... "All the dances were contagious — full of temperament and strength. It was really a fantastic evening!" (Morgenbladet, Oslo).

Like a field of riotously-colored wild flowers, "Lucnica" has burst upon audiences of the world. The title is appropriate for "Lucnica" signifies a field or meadow, and it is in such places even today that the youth of Czechoslovakia assembles to celebrate their holidays and other festive occasions.

When such natural surroundings are transferred to a theatrical setting, the impact is a joy to behold. Glorious costumes representative of all the regions of Czechoslovakia accentuate the spirit of youth that dominates the program, and the production and stage lighting complete the canvas of one of Europe's most beautiful, intriguing and exciting countries.

The artists have already captured hearts on four continents and in many countries, and Americans will be equally captivated by the performances. Notable among the countries where "Lucnica" has been seen are Italy, Argentina, Norway, Austria, Denmark, Sweden, Poland, Germany, Romania, Brazil, Hungary, Yugoslavia, Tunisia, Belgium, Japan and the USSR.

And the company's artistry has been rewarded with top prizes in their own country — where audiences have cheered "the real thing" — they have won the Laureate State Prize and "Rad Prace." They took the gold medal at Brussels' World's Fair 'Expo and won competitions in Great Britain, Germany, Argentina, Tunisia, Romania and the USSR.

Small wonder the company is a winner. "Lucnica" is a cavalcade to anticipate eagerly and to remember always.

HIGH STEPPERS — Members of the Lucnica Dance Company of Czechoslovakia perform one of the exciting, colorful dances that have been acclaimed around the world. The company will perform tonight at 8:15 in City Auditorium under the sponsorship of the Big Spring Concert Association.

Jury indicts Steeler for possession of cocaine

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) — Pittsburgh Steeler defensive tackle Ernie Holmes has been indicted by the Potter County grand jury for possession of cocaine.

The indictment Wednesday was in connection with the arrest of Holmes Jan. 31 in the restroom of an Amarillo motel. He was charged two days later and released on $1,000 bond.

Holmes was here to attend the wedding of a friend.

Police said they went into the restroom and saw Holmes holding a vial of a white substance. Officers said a test showed the vial contained 250 milligrams of cocaine.

Jury convicts Alonzo

AUSTIN (AP) — A jury has convicted Benito Alonzo, 40, of furnishing guns for Fred Gomez Carrasco's fatal escape attempt. It returns today to decide Alonzo's punishment.

The state planned to ask the jury to send Alonzo, convicted of his third felony, to prison for life under the Texas habitual criminal law.

It took the jury of seven women and five men four hours and 25 minutes Wednesday night to bring in the guilty verdict.

Charles Burton, a court-appointed lawyer for Alonzo, said the conviction would be appealed.

Jurors had on the table before them as they deliberated the three pistols used by Carrasco and inmates Ignacio Cuevas and Rodolfo Dominguez in the Aug. 3, 1974 attempt to escape from Huntsville state prison.

Carrasco, Dominguez and hostages Julia Standley and Elizabeth Beseda died in the shootout that ensued as the convicts maneuvered a bulky shield down a series of prison ramps towards a waiting armored car.

Huntsville Dist. Atty. Jerry Sandel convinced jurors that Alonzo was a knowing link in the chain that started with the purchase of several pistols in San Antonio and ended with their delivery to Carrasco and his henchmen.

Alonzo's statement, introduced over defense objections, said he obtained a satchel from George "Skippy" Cisneros—also under indictment—and drove to Huntsville with it. Without indicating he knew its contents, Alonzo said he handed it to Lawrence Hall, a trusty working as "house boy" in the home of Alton Akins, an assistant director of the Texas Department of Corrections.

Hall, a middle-aged black man serving a life sentence, testified that after receiving

'Missing' Zale exec back home

DALLAS (AP) — A missing former Zale Corp. executive has been reported back in his Dallas home as the Dallas County District Attorney's office continues its probe of a possible misappropriation of corporate funds.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Jon Starling said his office began investigating the case Saturday at the request of Zale's executive vice president, Bruce Lipsky.

Last week Sal Shearn Rovinsky, Zale's treasurer and chief financial officer, was fired for what company president Donald Zale described as "violation of company policy."

Rovinsky was reported missing to the Dallas police Saturday. Police said Tuesday the missing persons report was cancelled after they were notified Rovinsky showed up at his home Monday.

Rovinsky had been with Zale's for 17 years. Neither company officials nor the district attorney's office would say if the possible misappropriation investigation is related to Rovinsky's dismissal.

The Dallas Morning News in its Tuesday editions quoted a source as saying the amount of money involved in the probe is between $500,000 and $2 million.

Lipsky said if any money is missing, it is covered by the Zale Corp.'s bonding company.

The firm operates jewelry stores, Skillern's Drugs, general merchandise stores and home furnishings outlets.

the weapons from Alonzo he delivered three of them and dozens of bullets to Fred Perales, an inmate who since has been released after serving his sentence.

He said Perales and two of Alonzo's brothers who also were in prison offered him $1,000 to smuggle the guns into the Walls unit.

Two .357-magnums were slipped past prison guards in hollowed out hams, Hall said, through the pretense that he was returning spoiled meat from the Akins home to the prison mess hall.

A snub nose .38 pistol and the ammunition were brought inside the Walls in one-gallon fruit cans, which had been cut open, emptied and then sealed and re-labeled after the contraband had been placed inside, Hall said.

Alonzo's case was transferred to Austin on a change of venue. He was indicted by a grand jury in Huntsville.

SURRENDERS — William Murray, 40, wounded in the face by shotgun pellets, walks through a cloud of tear gas to surrender to armed police after a shootout Wednesday at an Albuquerque business owned by Murray. William Bowser, 41, Arlington, Tex., lies mortally wounded at left and another man, John A. Schulz, 40, Albuquerque, died inside the building. The dead men were believed to be employees of Murray, but the cause of the shootings is still undetermined. Murray was charged with two counts of homicide in the deaths of the two men and seven counts of aggravated assault on police officers in connection with a gun battle with sheriff's deputies and state police.

Tax return is due March 1

DALLAS — Certain North Texas farmers have until Monday, March 1, to file their federal income tax return and pay any tax due, according to a Dallas official of the Internal Revenue Service (IRS).

A. W. McCannless, IRS district director for North Texas, said today that farmers who did not file a declaration of estimated federal income tax by Jan. 15 should file their 1975 tax return and pay all tax due by March 1 to avoid a possible penalty.

Farmers, for federal income tax purposes, are defined as those persons who earned at least two-thirds of their 1975 gross income from farming.

IRS Publication 225, "Farmer's Tax Guide," and Publication 505, "Tax Withholding and Declaration of Estimated Tax," provide additional information and are available by mail from the Dallas office of the IRS, 110 Commerce, Dallas, Tx. 75202.

Message not getting through

The executive vice-president of the American Bankers Association, Willis W. Alexander, said recently that the American people are sending some startling signals to the federal government — but the government isn't getting the message.

In a talk made before some 230 bank directors at the 24th Assembly of Bank Directors in Honolulu, Alexander said that almost every poll today shows that the people are torn by two conflicting impulses.

"The public believes that there are serious problems today that call for some substantial changes," Alexander said. "But at the same time, the people don't want those changes to threaten the values and ideals that have shaped the American experience."

"According to Cambridge Reports, fully 54 per cent of the public believes that the free market is an essential condition for personal freedom and democracy — and only 19 per cent disagree. Somehow, that message is not getting through to the federal government," Alexander added.

Polls show that the people think that the biggest thing wrong with America today is inflation. They're also concerned about employment but surveys indicate the public would oppose large deficits in the federal budget to curb unemployment if it meant a return to soaring inflation.

The message has been getting through loud and clear to congress for some time: Take action on inflation. The less Congress does to challenge the problem, the more confidence the people lose in Washington. Over the years, the people are convinced they've been lied to.

Alexander said that 61 per cent of the people are convinced that there is a conspiracy among big corporations to set profits as high as possible, which is fairly easy to do if there are no efforts by government to neutralize that power.

Government is great at planning but implements its plans poorly, if at all.

Because the government has made no headway in trying to protect or even heed the consumer, some of the candidates up for re-election this year may be in big trouble.

Food stamp ripoff

A Nebraska newspaper recently carried an advertisement which tells you how to qualify for food stamps even though you may be "earning up to $16,000 a year."

In St. Louis recently, members of the International Association of Machinists and Aerospace workers, who were earning an average of $7.43 an hour, walked off their jobs and used food stamps to help stretch out their union strike funds.

Just two more examples of how a huge Government program intended to help the poor and hungry is being ripped off by the well-to-do or used for purposes that have nothing to do with poverty, i.e., strikes by well-paid workers.

The idea behind the stamp program is sound. Stamps can be used to buy food only, and they are sold at a discount below their purchasing value. The Government subsidizes the difference.

In theory, this encourages a low income family to buy stamps and set aside at least a minimum amount of money for food.

In practice, in too many cases, it has become a subsidy for the middle class.

Too late for Jack

Around the rim
Marj Carpenter

It was December 1973. I had been in an accident in which I broke my wrist and back, and lay on 4th Street waiting for the ambulance. It was a cold day and Jack Page came up to me, took off his coat, rolled it up and placed it under my head. That is where I met Jack Page.

LAST THURSDAY, Jack went home to his mobile home in Hillside Trailer Park on the service road near Cosden. He commented to his wife, Sarah Jane, on a story about the discussion here of the need for an emergency medical system and improved ambulance service.

Jack commented on the fact that a recent article said, "We're trying to choose between tax dollars and human lives." Jack was in the communications business. He worked for KBYG. His wife, Sarah Jane and Jack often talked about articles in the news. They were careful readers of the paper.

Later that night, Jack had a heart attack. Sarah Jane looked in the phone book under emergency numbers and no ambulance was listed, so she called the fire department and asked them to get her an ambulance.

She ran for two neighbors to assist her. They kept Jack alive. They opened the door because he was gasping for air. They gave what resuscitation they knew how to apply. She dialed a second time for an ambulance, this time calling the police.

She then called a close friend who worked for the same radio station who arrived from the other side of Big Spring before the ambulance. Their claim is that it was 40 minutes while they finally resorted to using every method they knew to keep Jack breathing.

"Of course I know everybody always says it seems longer than it is," she added. The police blotter lists the time of what they understood was the second call at 11:27

p.m. They also list that at 11:35 p.m. the police were asked to go and assist and the time of arrival is listed at 11:40 p.m.

Sarah Jane says that she had a station wagon in which she and the neighbors could have placed Jack and gotten him there quicker, but they thought that there would be oxygen when the ambulance arrived.

"THERE WAS no oxygen," Sarah Jane stated. "Or, if there was, they didn't use it," she added. "I wonder now if I should make some kind of statement or something to help others get the emergency medical system that is needed."

Sarah Jane maintains that there must be a way to help people in this area obtain the equipment and training they need for better service. The demand for better emergency medical care has become an increasing problem to private ambulance services throughout the state and most have turned to partially or completely governmentally-operated.

"It seems strange that we were just reading and talking about it. It doesn't matter until it is 'you,'" Sarah Jane concluded.

She is now moving her trailer home back to South Texas to live near her family.

"It's too late for Jack," she said quietly. Jack was 47.

I've thought about it over and over. I keep seeing Jack kneel down and place that coat under my head.

I hope that "Up Yonder," somebody will place a coat down at the gate to make the way for Jack Page.

And I hope that here at home, officials who have already started to look into a better way for emergency medical service in Big Spring will keep trying to find a solution.

What was it Dr. Carl Marcum said... "When people arrive at the hospital dead on arrival, you don't know how they died."

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I am considering donating my eyes and kidneys to be used for transplants upon my death. Do you see anything wrong with this? — Mrs. L.K.H.

DEAR MRS. H: Personally, I do not. I have known people who have been spared blindness or death because of organ transplants, and I believe we should thank God for the abilities He has given to medical doctors.

The Bible teaches us that our bodies are given us by God. We therefore are to honor them and take care of them. The Christian, of all people, should follow this since he knows he belongs to God. In addition, the Bible commands us to do what we can to relieve suffering wherever it may be found.

Perhaps the best known passage along these lines is the story of the Good Samaritan (Luke 10:30-37). One of the most striking things about this story is the way the Good Samaritan does everything possible to help the man. Perhaps what you suggest could be a fitting extension of the meaning of this parable.

You would, of course, want to consider the feelings of other members of your family. These, as well as any legal requirements set by your state, would have to be weighed in any final decision.

Playing with figures

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — In this economy of statistics we are conditioned to believe that the cold, hard numbers really do depict reality, despite the questioning and even opposition of our own instincts.

Why the numbers have to be reality, don't they? Isn't it the numbers that determine economic policy, make the stock market go up and down, tell us if we are rich or poor, better or worse? Of course.

It is disquieting, therefore, to look into the numbers and fail to find reality, but instead a maze of equations and subjective assumptions, most of them seasonally and otherwise adjusted and revised.

We see 1.3 million people not counted as unemployed because they are too disheartened to look for work. We are almost prepared to accept as logical reasoning that, seasonally adjusted, nobody in America needs a furnace or an air conditioner, and Lake Erie never freezes.

Today there are new figures to contemplate, the retail sales figures for the first two months of the year. The "preliminary" December figure came out Tuesday, almost unobserved.

To obtain perspective, one must measure the November performance first. It wasn't a very good month. Sales were flat. The weekly retail sales figures released each Thursday demonstrated that.

However, on Dec. 10 the government came forth on schedule with its "advance" monthly report on November sales. This report, issued in the midst of the Christmas selling season, showed a surge in November sales.

You might recall how electrifying this news was. It was greeted by retailers and consumers and investors and government officials as evidence of renewed consumer confidence, as evidence that the economy was moving ahead.

Statistical confirmation of this came in the December weekly retail sales figures which indicated sales for the final month would indeed be strong.

On Jan. 10 we find that the November sales figures were revised downward to show very little gain at all over October. However, this set the stage for the December "advance" figures, announced simultaneously. The latter showed an enormous 3.4 per cent jump over November sales.

Once again the news was proclaimed as evidence of a much stronger economy than we had dared hope for. Meanwhile, the December weekly figures were being revised downward.

Irked by adolescent voice

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am a boy, 16 years old, with a voice problem. My mom tells me it's only a temporary thing having to do with puberty, but it really bugs me. My voice croaks and squeaks, especially when I get talking fast and when I yell.

Is there anything I can do to speed up things to get rid of this? — J.F.

Physical growth in adolescence is not limited to genitalia, beards, etc. Growths spurts occur throughout the body, including in the larynx where voice structures are located.

The problem is one of "catching up" with this structural change, rather like learning to play a trombone after having become good at playing a clarinet. It can take time, but I don't believe it calls for any special efforts. The change in instruments will come about naturally.

Girls go through this, too, but a bit earlier than boys. Some youngsters go through such changes so gradually that it is hardly noticeable. Your problem should be behind you a few months or a year from now.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I've

read somewhere that a thyroid deficiency can cause high cholesterol. I've had a toxic goiter and have taken pills, also radioactive oral treatment for this.

It seems my physical condition has never been too good since. Are there any after effects of this on cholesterol? Also, will you send me your booklet on cholesterol? I'm enclosing 25 cents care of the Big Spring Herald, and a stamped, self-addressed envelope. — Mrs. A.

You could be on the right track. The radioactive iodine treatment for a toxic goiter does correct the overactivity of the thyroid, but an underactivity can result. Blood cholesterol can be elevated with a low thyroid condition.

Your condition should be reevaluated by appropriate thyroid tests because you may now be exhibiting symptoms of low thyroid.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: For some time I have been having trouble with my legs. An active walker for over 80 years, I now find myself weak and wobbly on foot and a few blocks is my limit. I have a tendency to stumble and fall.

Could this be a circulation problem or simply old age trouble? Often sitting in a chair at night, my feet seem to go off to sleep and be lacking in circulation. Any suggestions would be welcomed. — Mrs. R.G.

Doubt if I can help much. "Old age trouble" is usually a matter of faulty circulation, and at 80 this is quite likely. One of the results is weakened muscles. You probably stumble because you don't lift your feet as you once did. You may have developed a shuffle.

I suggest you stay as active as you can to keep muscles toned and your circulation as brisk as possible. Wiggling your feet and tensing your calf muscles while resting in the chair should help.

Why not try a cane? You don't have to be ashamed of one, it's stylish.

How to get rid of leg cramps and foot pains? The answer may be simple — write to Dr. Thosteson, in care of the Big Spring Herald, for a copy of his booklet, "How to Stop Leg Cramps and Foot Pains." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents.

Hot wind

Rowland Evans

WASHINGTON — An inexcusably vicious attack on the U.S. by the Panamanian ambassador to the usually soporific Organization of American States (OAS) is adding to President Ford's grave problems in arranging a new Panama Canal treaty and further embarrassing the U.S. throughout Latin America.

WHAT MAKES this particularly significant is its coincidence with Washington's rising danger from the Communist political offensive in southern Africa, western Europe and Asia. Now, the hate-America campaign is exploding on Washington's back door.

The Jan. 23 attack accused the U.S. of a "policy of strangulation" of Panama, of "paternalism... colonialism... oppression..." Panama's delegate, Ambassador Nader Pitty, told the shocked assembly he regards his mission in the OAS as "one of destroying the (U.S.) policy of arrogance" toward Panama — and by implication, all of Latin America.

Robert E. White, deputy chief of the U.S. delegation, coldly informed Pitty the U.S. could not acquiesce to such a misuse of the OAS forum to attack the U.S. He reminded Pitty that the U.S. and Panama are "reaching the final stages" of a new treaty. But that further infuriated Pitty, who then accused White of "blackmail."

Behind this tirade lie decades of grievances building in Panama against the U.S.-imposed canal treaty that gives the U.S. control of the canal "in perpetuity." Pitty's brutal language particularly shocked members of the U.S. mission because of President Ford's effort to reach agreement on a new treaty more favorable to Panama.

INDEED, WITH elder statesman Ellsworth Bunker as his negotiator in Panama, Mr. Ford has provoked the outrage of the Republican right wing and endangered his nomination by tentatively agreeing to major treaty revisions.

With Secretary of State Henry Kissinger finally making his frequently postponed goodwill trip south of the border, the Panamanian attack seemed calculated to put this nation in the worst possible light at the worst possible time.

The possible explanation: a new U.S. demand for major changes in a proposed revision of the OAS charter, which Latin countries have been drafting the past three years with the U.S. sitting quietly on the sidelines. Pitty's explosion encapsulates anti-Washington emotions which more responsible OAS diplomats, also angered at the sudden U.S. demands, have expressed with far more restraint.

HUMPHREY'S DEFENSE

A PRIVATE letter from Sen. Hubert Humphrey to consumer advocate Ralph Nader not only emphasizes his sensitivity to charges of being old-hat but dispels any remaining doubt about Humphrey's eagerness for the Democratic presidential nomination should all contenders fail.

Nader, interviewed on NBC's "Today" program Jan. 19, gave a 43-word reply when asked his opinion of Humphrey. Describing him as "a fine, ebullient person" who "exudes compassion," Nader then expressed muted criticism. He doubted whether Humphrey has "had many new ideas recently" and added: "I think he's not close enough to the need for citizen action and citizen involvement in actual reality, but he's voted very well on labor and consumer issues."

That relatively innocuous criticism produced a 600-word letter from Humphrey on Jan. 21 — a massive, detailed self-defense.

Senate choice

Art Buchwald

"Rep. Bella Abzug said last week that the recent Supreme Court ruling on campaign expenditures would make it harder than ever for women to run for public office.

"The reason, she said, is that most women candidates simply do not have ties to multimillionaires who can put unlimited amounts of money into political advertising under the court's decision." — New York Times item.

WHAT MS. ABZUG says is probably true. But there is a certain type of woman who does have access to multimillionaires, and who might decide to run for public office.

The scene is an apartment on Park Avenue. Huddleston Threabody III has just arrived.

"Sara Lee. Where's my little cheesecake hiding?" he yells.

"Here I am, Tiger," says Sara Lee, running out in her black negligee and throwing her arms around him. "Did my Tiger have a tough day at the office?"

"Tiger had a marvelous day. The stock market went up 20 points. The reason I'm late is that I stopped by Tiffany's and bought my little Sara Lee a present." He hands her a box.

She opens it and takes out a diamond bracelet.

"It's very nice," she says.

"Nice? It cost me a bundle. Don't you like it?"

Sara Lee takes Huddleston over to the couch and cuddles up to him. "I don't want jewelry any more."

"A fur coat then? Go to Bergdorf's tomorrow and pick up a fur coat. Anything my little cheesecake wants."

"I DON'T want a fur coat. I have five already," she says, chewing on his ear.

"A trip? Would you like to go to Paris? I'll say I have to go to Europe for the firm."

"No, I don't want to go on a trip."

"Well, what do you want?"

Sara Lee, as she unbuttons Huddleston's shirt, says, "I want to run for the Senate from New York."

"You want to do what?"

"I want to run for the Senate. It would be a lot of fun, and it's something that would make me think of you all the time. Is my big strong Tiger going to let me run?"

"Now wait. Diamonds and fur coats are one thing, but financing a Senate campaign is another."

"I'll bet if that skeleton wife of yours wanted to run for the Senate you'd give her the money," Sara Lee pouts.

"That isn't true. I'm not sure I want to put up money for anyone running for public office. Look, how would you like a new Aston Martin to go with your Mercedes Benz 450?"

SARA LEE moves to the other end of the couch. "I don't want another car. I want to serve my country. If you really cared for me, you'd let me announce my candidacy."

"I love you," Huddleston protests. "I'd do anything for you. But if I give you the money to run for public office, I'm going to have to declare it. My wife is going to ask me why I'm supporting you. Where are you going?"

"I'm getting into something less comfortable."

"Little cheesecake," Huddleston jumps up, trying to grab her. "Would you like a town house instead of an apartment?"

"Unhand me, you brute." Sara Lee pushes him away. "I've never asked you for a thing, and finally when all I want for my tiny bitty self is a chance to run for the Senate you say I can't do it. Well, find someone else who is more interested in jewels than politics. I'm changing the lock on my apartment door."

"Baby, baby," Huddleston says in a lather. "Don't do this to me. I can't live without you. You don't know what these Wednesday evenings mean to me."

"If you feel that way, then I would think you'd like to prove it with something tangible. How are we women ever going to get elected if our gentlemen friends don't give us the money?"

"All right, all right. How to do I make out the check?"

Sara Lee throws her arms around him. "Just make it out to the 'Sara Lee For Senate Committee.' Oh, Tiger, you're a living doll. Let's go into the bedroom and talk about my campaign."

A devotion for today

"My presence will go with you, and I will give you rest."

(Exodus 33:14, RSV)

Winners in Optimist oratorical contest

Van Gaskins of Ackerly and Julie Davidson of Big Spring were top winners in the annual Optimist Oratorical contest this year.

These two students, along with Cappy Tatom and Michelle Cox, who placed second and third in the girls' division, were guests of honor Wednesday morning at the Morning Optimist Club.

All four students competed with five minute talks under the theme Tomorrow's Promise.

Judges in the contest held last Saturday were Mrs. Mary Joy Cowper, Mrs. Sue Smythe, and Capt. Dick Risk.

John Schiebel and Roger Goertz were chairman of the project for the club. Jim Gregg, Optimist Club president, commended all of the entrants at the breakfast here today. Julie was the winner for the third straight year in the girls' division.

Larry Willard, Lieutenant Governor for the zone, told the group that the zone competition will be the second Friday in April in Midland for the two winners.

Furr's net income up

Furr's Cafeterias Inc. again achieved record levels of net income and sales during the 33-week year which ended Jan. 3, 1976, Don Furr, chairman of the board, has announced.

Earnings in 1975 were $2.9 million, up $573,000 or 24.2 per cent over earnings of $2.4 million in fiscal 1974. Earnings per share in 1975 were $1.32 compared to $1.04 in 1974, an increase of 27 per cent. Sales increased 20.2 per cent from $45.0 million in 1974 to $54.0 million in 1975. Investment tax credit for 1975 was 17 cents per share compared with nine cents in the fiscal year 1974.

"Furr's Cafeterias has been able to continue its steady growth trend because we have constantly maintained our policy of serving the highest quality foods at moderate prices," said Furr. During the quarter ended Jan. 3, 1976, net income was $863,000, or 39 cents per share, an increase of 34.2 per cent over the fourth quarter of 1974. Sales increased 28.4 per cent to $14.8 million in the fourth quarter of 1975 compared to $11.5 million in the same quarter of 1974.

Nine new cafeterias were opened in 1975 and two more have been opened in 1976.

'Round the clock service

To reinstall photocopying machines in Post Office

By JAMES WERRELL
Big Spring Postmaster Frank Hardesty is now awaiting word from officials at the section office in Midland about the reinstallation of Xerox photocopying machines here.

"We should hear from Midland in a couple of weeks and the machines will be reinstalled shortly thereafter," said Hardesty. When first installed in 1972 the coin-operated machines enabled people to copy such things as insurance papers, tax forms and Medicare claims before mailing the originals. Proceeds from the machines were split between the machines' manufacturers and the Postal Service.

In December, however, the Postal Service ordered the removal of the machines at the request of two House subcommittees. The subcommittees issued their recommendations after lobbying pressure was applied by a trade association representing office equipment stores.

The National Office Products Association organized a campaign among its 5,000 members to write congressmen complaining that copiers in post offices were taking away some of their business.

Only after the subcommittees asked the Postal Service to have the machines removed and the Postal Service agreed did consumers learn of the decision.

Cost per copy is 15 cents on the duplicating machine in the Big Spring Post Office. Of this, 10.5 cents go to the machine's manufacturers for expenses and maintenance. The post office keeps 4.5 cents per copy.

For the month of December the Big Spring machine produced 2,527 copies, netting a profit of $113.72 for the post office.

As of last June 30 there were nearly 2,400 of the machines in post offices across the country. The profit for the Postal Service in the last fiscal year was more than $1 million.

The Postal Service has now reversed its original plan, and will leave the decision of whether to install the copiers up to local postmasters.

The decision was made perhaps because copiers were one of the few services with which the Postal Service was making a profit. Consumer demand also entered into the decision.

Postmasters are now urged to avoid installing machines when there is another copier operating within 500 feet of the post office.

Postmaster Hardesty feels that a copier in the Big Spring Post Office will be a great convenience to the community.

"It will be centrally located for those wishing to mail copies. Also, this will be the only place in town where copies can be made 24 hours a day," he said.

Lions informed about programs at local YMCA

A discussion of the youth and adult programs at the local YMCA was presented at the Downtown Lions Club noon meeting Wednesday.

John Schiebel, Y physical director, gave the presentation. During the business session, Gary Bradbury, first vice president, told the club that the Lions Board recently renewed its three annual Friend of Youth memberships at the YMCA.

Dan Conley presented details on a membership drive to continue through March.

Chairmen were named for coming projects including Eddie Hodges, queen's contest; Dave Morrison, lightbulb sale; Jim Holmes, Kerrville Handicapped Children's Camp; and Dick Klein, blood donor program.

Jim Lemons reminded the group of an organizational meeting for a new Lions Club at Ackerly. The meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. today in the Ackerly High cafeteria.

Woman sold baby, steals to get it back

HOUSTON (AP) — A Houston woman sold her infant son for $1,600, then decided she wanted him again and went on a robbery spree in an effort to raise the money to buy him back.

Sherry Alton, 19, and her common law husband, Ray Martinez, 21, pleaded Wednesday for the return of their son in separate interviews with the Houston Post.

Both are being held in the city jail on charges of aggravated robbery after they were arrested Sunday, along with another couple in connection with several robberies in the Houston area.

Miss Alton said she sold her son, Ricky Martinez, 18 months, because she needed the money and did not tell her husband for about two weeks when she decided she wanted Ricky back.

"I needed the money for rent," she said in the interview with the Post. "I had a little bit of a habit (heroin) and I needed money to live on or I would have never done anything like this," she said.

Martinez said he was shocked by the news. "I love my baby more than anything in the world," he said. "I just want my baby back. I can't stand seeing somebody else with my baby."

He said the couple was separated when the sale was made.

Miss Alton said the manager of an apartment complex arranged for the sale prior to last Christmas. She said she was later told she could get Ricky back if she would give back the $1,600.

"That's why we were doing all these hijackings and robberies," she said in the interview. "I had never committed a crime before."

Lt. A.J. Contreras of the Juvenile Division said there is no law against the natural mother of a child selling her baby nor is there a law against buying one. Contreras said the location of the baby was unknown.

Not victim of 'mugging'

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Police Supt. Clarence Giarrusso says the investigation of the slaying of Donald L. Lord Jr. of Houston, Tex., indicates he was not the victim of a "mugging" as some have described it.

"It was not a robbery or attempted robbery," Giarrusso said in the preliminary investigation shows, and it was "not a mugging or a holdup."

Lord, a real estate broker in town for a national realtors convention, was punched on the back of the neck while he and his wife were window shopping in the French Quarter last Thursday.

Lorenzo Jordan, 34, of New Orleans was arrested moments later and booked for murder.

Giarrusso said Tuesday the man accused was involved in a "rhubarb" a short distance from Lord and "was quite angry. The perpetrator walked up to him (Lord) and punched him."

Your Daily HOROSCOPE
 from the CARROLL RIGTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 12, 1976

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Use more than average care to avoid reacting to adverse conditions, or you could get caught up in the vortex of some difficulties that keep you from achieving your finest goals. Refuse to become emotionally unhappy. Channel forces.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Use diplomacy with kin, or serious arguments could result. Quietly get rid of causes of friction. Don't say things you may regret.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You could ruin carefully laid plans if you speak out of turn with those who count. Quickly dispel discord. Use tact.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You want to spend beyond your means but should save more right now. Make the evening a delightful, social one.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Keep promises and so avoid trouble, get benefits. Steer clear of the social where troublesome individuals may be.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Handle only truly important matters and don't get bogged down with trivia that could waste your day. An adviser gives good ideas.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Be understanding and helpful with one who is acting most emotionally. Don't take advantage of others because you can't get your way.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Higher-ups could be demanding as they're under pressure, so don't lose your temper. Keep poised, even at home, and all in fine.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Don't make any changes as yet in regular routines, but study into something that is more lucrative and interesting.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Forget some tangent and carry out promises speedily. Mate is not in a good mood, so take it easy. Don't lose temper.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You could be wrong in thinking partner isn't doing right; say nothing. Avoid opposing one, or dangerous confrontation could result.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Although routines may not go so well because of planets, keep plugging along and you get enough accomplished.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Encourage those who feel upset today and who mean a good deal to you. Avoid one who could lead you into trouble.

Are You A Winner?

You will be if we hire you. We know what it takes to be successful in our business.

THERE ARE ALL KINDS OF SALESPERSONS, ALL KINDS OF PRODUCTS TO SELL. We've taken a lot of the guesswork out of the process of matching the right person to the sales job for our product; which, incidentally, happens to be the best-selling, most widely accepted product of its kind anywhere.

THIS MUCH WE CAN PROMISE YOU:

- We won't sell you on coming to work for us, in fact we won't hire you, UNLESS you have specific traits (which you may not even be aware of) that indicate you will be happy and successful in the position we offer.
- No gimmicks. Not just another Sales Aptitude Test.
- Plus, all the advantages of a good selling job, an opportunity for top earnings, growth, excellent training and support, fringe benefits, etc.

No mistake this time Tar Heels thump Terps

By The Associated Press

After North Carolina beat Maryland at Chapel Hill on Jan. 25, Lefty Driesell knew things would be different when he got the Tar Heels back at his place in College Park.

Things WERE different. The second game didn't go into overtime.

The third-ranked Tar Heels, who beat No. 4 Maryland with some strain the last time they met, left no doubt as to their superiority by belittling the Terps 81-69 in their own town Wednesday night.

"There is no doubt that Carolina is the best team in the Atlantic Coast Conference now," said Driesell. "I don't think they beat us in Chapel Hill, but they beat the devil out of us tonight."

And they did it with a one-eye ballplayer — Mitch Kupchak, who played in Carolina's 95-93 overtime thriller last month. Kupchak injured his eye in a game against Georgia Tech last week and has suffered from double vision since, but still managed to score a game-high 21 points.

"I had a little difficulty seeing on my left side," said the 6-foot-10 center who is the apple of the pro scout's eyes. "I also had a problem seeing across the court, but it was no big thing. It might have been bad had I got poked in the eye again."

North Carolina Coach Dean Smith, informed that Driesell had just about raised the flag of surrender in the ACC race, was hesitant to pick up the spoils just yet.

"We're extremely pleased to be where we are right now," he said, referring to the Tar Heels' league-leading 8-1 mark and 19-2 record overall. "But I hope Lefty didn't put the whammy on us. We have to go to Tulane now and there's still the ACC tournament."

Elsewhere, No. 10 Notre Dame crushed Villanova 84-57; 12th-ranked North Carolina State outscored North Carolina-Charlotte 67-64; No. 14 Missouri nipped Oklahoma State 72-71; 15th-ranked Western Michigan lashed Eastern Michigan 85-73 and No. 18 Virginia Tech trimmed William and Mary 50-48.

Notre Dame's Bill Paterno scored 14 points and anchored a crisp defense that led the Irish over Villanova. Kenny Carr's 22 points powered North Carolina State's victory over North Carolina-Charlotte. Willie Smith hit a layup with 11 seconds remaining as Missouri beat Oklahoma State and took sole possession of the Big Eight lead.

Jimmie Harvey scored 21 points to pace unbeaten Western Michigan past Eastern Michigan. Ernest Wansley's layup with 2:36 left put Virginia Tech ahead for good and the Gobblers went on to beat William and Mary.

The only catch is that the Finnish team could upset those plans if they defeat the Soviet Union, the gold medal favorites, today. If the Finns do not win — and they are not expected to — the Americans will win the bronze medal if they can win their final two games.

The Americans are not expected to win anything in women's cross-country skiing.

In addition to the hockey game, coverage will center on attempts by two young Wisconsin men for medals in the 1,000-meter speed skating race and on the 20-kilometer (12.4 miles) cross-country ski race for women.

Speed skating, in which the U.S. has won five of its eight medals, will center today on Dan Immerfall of Madison, Wis., and his buddy, Peter Mueller, of nearby Mequon.

Immerfall won the bronze medal in Tuesday's 500 meters; Mueller is the top U.S. hope in today's race.

If the U.S. hockey team is to win the bronze medal in its round-robin tournament, it must defeat Poland today. If that happens, the Americans can win the bronze by defeating West Germany on Saturday.

U.S. hockey action tonight's TV highlight

By The Associated Press

The continuing effort of the underdog United States' hockey team for a bronze medal will highlight tonight's coverage of the Winter Olympic Games.

ABC will show Olympic coverage from 9 p.m.-10:30 p.m. EST tonight, reflecting one of the Winter Games' lightest days.

In addition to the hockey game, coverage will center on attempts by two young Wisconsin men for medals in the 1,000-meter speed skating race and on the 20-kilometer (12.4 miles) cross-country ski race for women.

Immerfall won the bronze medal in Tuesday's 500 meters; Mueller is the top U.S. hope in today's race.

If the U.S. hockey team is to win the bronze medal in its round-robin tournament, it must defeat Poland today. If that happens, the Americans can win the bronze by defeating West Germany on Saturday.

The only catch is that the Finnish team could upset those plans if they defeat the Soviet Union, the gold medal favorites, today. If the Finns do not win — and they are not expected to — the Americans will win the bronze medal if they can win their final two games.

The Americans are not expected to win anything in women's cross-country skiing.

In addition to the hockey game, coverage will center on attempts by two young Wisconsin men for medals in the 1,000-meter speed skating race and on the 20-kilometer (12.4 miles) cross-country ski race for women.

Speed skating, in which the U.S. has won five of its eight medals, will center today on Dan Immerfall of Madison, Wis., and his buddy, Peter Mueller, of nearby Mequon.

UCLA opts aide Gung-ho Bruins

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Terry Donahue, like Dick Vermeil, is young, personable, and more than a little gung-ho about football.

If Donahue, named UCLA's new football coach Wednesday, can emulate Vermeil in another way — success on the football field — the Bruin job may be locked up for a long time.

An assistant under Vermeil the past two seasons, Donahue is just 31 years old, and, if he likes the job and UCLA likes him, he could be around for awhile.

Donahue becomes the 14th head coach in UCLA's 57 years of football after Vermeil's announcement Sunday that he was going to coach the Philadelphia Eagles.

A defensive tackle for the Bruins in 1965-66, Donahue got a quick start on his coaching career, joining Pepper Rodgers' Kansas staff immediately after leaving UCLA.

At 23, he became one of the youngest major college assistant coaches in the country. And his appointment to the UCLA post makes him one of the youngest head coaches in major college ranks.

Donahue inherits a UCLA team that was 9-2-1 last season, a campaign capped by the Bruins' 23-10 upset of top-ranked Ohio State in the Rose Bowl. But a number of stars from that fourth-ranked team, including All-American quarterback John Sciarra, are seniors.

It may be a difficult act to follow, but Donahue said he was happy for the chance after UCLA Athletic Director J.D. Morgan announced his selection.

"I am of course honored and thrilled Mr. Morgan has given me the opportunity to head up the UCLA football program," Donahue said. "UCLA is one of the great academic institutions in the country and its athletic program is second to none."

Donahue played high school football at Notre Dame in the Los Angeles suburb of Sherman Oaks and was a member of the San Jose State freshman team before eventually transferring to UCLA.

He played under Tommy Prothro at UCLA, and was a starter on the 1966 Bruin team that upset top-ranked Michigan State, 14-12, in the Rose Bowl.

Donahue returned to UCLA as a coach in 1971, when Rodgers moved from Kansas to coach the Bruins. Donahue and Jerry Long were in charge of the Bruins' offensive line under Vermeil.

SWC fears riots from rowdy action

By The Associated Press

What we got here basketball fans is a classic case of a riot about to happen.

Southwest Conference basketball coaches and players are going to have to lay off the rough stuff or there's going to be more than tennis balls, paper cups, ice and pennies on the floor.

There's going to be incited fans—wide-eyed and nostrils aflame with every intention of punching out the closest visiting basketballer.

It might take more than the National Anthem to stop it.

Tuesday night's SWC circus sideshows rank as the most pyrotechnical of the season.

Texas Aggie Coach Shelby Metcalf went into a rampage that measured a near 9 on the Richter Scale. It's to the credit of the Moody Coliseum crowd jammed right up to the very out-of-bounds markers that the only damage done was to the scorer's table (Metcalf's swift kick) and the chair Metcalf hurled on the floor.

Aggie assistant Norman Reuther got a wadded paper cup on the noggin but it's a wonder some hot head—other than Metcalf—didn't want to get more physical.

And down in Houston, Texas Christian's Thomas Bledsoe was kicked out of the game against the Cougars in a fistfight with Houston's Allan Winder.

There have been other examples this year of what we say poor sportsmanship by coaches and players. That obscene gesture Texas Tech's Rick Bullock presented the Arkansas crowd after fouling out not only was a lack of class but also an open invitation for somebody to do something about it.

Conference coaches put a gag rule on themselves but lambast the officiating at will. They aren't supposed to leave their chair to complain about the officiating. Several coaches in the league spend as much time on their feet barking at the referees as they do seated.

The behavior of the coaches and the players turns up the adrenalin dial of fans.

So what's the answer? First of all, the referees are going to have to start calling technical fouls on the coaches who protest calls. Three technicals and you get a quick shower, according to the rules.

"A coach can get up from his chair to coach and talk to the players but he can't get up to contest a decision by the officials," says SWC executive secretary Cliff Speegle. "He (the coach) is supposed to get a technical if the rule is strictly enforced. He (the coach) can't use gestures or do anything to incite crowd reaction."

And why should an official have to wait until a coach has three technicals to get the gate anyway?

Shouldn't Metcalf have been given the thumb after kicking the scorer's table?

Speegle says of Metcalf

XII Winter Olympic Games

U.S. skater sets record on slow ice

INNSBRUCK (AP) — The United States, with speed skater Peter Mueller winning a gold medal and the young hockey team taking a giant step toward a bronze, charged toward its greatest medal total ever today at the 12th Winter Olympics.

Mueller, the 21-year-old from Mequon, Wis., flashed through the 1,000 meters in course record time to earn the U.S. its second gold of these Games. The hockey team whipped Poland 7-2 and could wrap up a bronze in this six-team round-robin competition with a victory against West Germany Saturday.

"Right now, while it's over I'm pretty happy," said Mueller. "When I was skating, I thought it was too slow, but I gave it everything I had in the last 200 meters. I didn't think I would win but when I saw that the track was so slow I had new hope."

Meanwhile, the Soviet Union won the women's 20-kilometer (12.4-mile) cross-country ski relay, with the Americans finishing dead last. And, for the second time in these Games, a doping charge surfaced. The Czechoslovakian hockey team saw its victory over Poland erased when team captain Frantisek Pospisil failed a urine test.

With three days of competition remaining in this 12-day international festival of ice and snow, the Russians continue to lead the medal standings with 11 golds and 24 total medals out of 27 events. East Germany, with six golds and 14 total, is second, and Mueller's victory boosted the United States back into third place with two golds, three silvers and four bronze. Speed skaters have accounted for six of the nine U.S. medals, including the only other gold—Sheila Young's victory in the 500 meters.

The U.S. has now passed the eight medals it won four years ago at Sapporo and needs only three more to equal its best all-time total of 12 collected at Lake Placid, N.Y., in 1932.

Prospects look good. In addition to the hockey team, U.S. figure-skating queen Dorothy Hamill of Riverside, Conn., appears to have a lock on the gold in her specialty, to be decided Friday. Mueller leads the strong U.S. speed-skating contingent back into action Friday in the 1,500-meter event. Skier Cindy Nelson, a bronze medalist in the downhill, has a shot for a medal in the giant slalom Friday and Bill Koch, a surprise silver medalist in the 30-kilometer cross-country ski last Thursday, is entered in the 50-kilometer event Saturday. Mueller barreled around the icy speedway in 1 minute 19.32 seconds to beat out Jorn Didriksen of Norway and Valery Muratov of the Soviet Union. Didriksen was timed in 1:20.45, Muratov in 1:20.45. Dan Immerfall of Madison, Wis., who took a bronze in the 500 Tuesday, was 12th today in 1:21.74 and Dan Carroll of St. Louis was 28th in 1:27.37.

Dope checks Czechs giving Soviets edge

INNSBRUCK (AP) — The Czechoslovak Olympic ice hockey team had its victory over Poland struck from the records today after its captain, Frantisek Pospisil, failed a doping test.

Pospisil was found to have taken codeine, one of the drugs banned by the International Olympic Committee, for a cold. Pospisil will be allowed to play in remaining games in these 12th Winter Olympics—but the Czech team physician, Dr. Otto Trefny, was banned from all future participation in the Games.

The Czechs beat Poland 7-1 and were challenging the Soviet Union for the gold medal until the doping test. Now they have lost two points in the tournament.

The Russians have six points from three games and the Czechs are now reduced to four points from three games.

Hundreds of athletes have been taking medicine for a flu epidemic sweeping through the Olympic Village. But Prince Alexandre de Merode of Belgium, president of the IOC's Medical Commission, said this was no excuse for taking forbidden drugs.

"This flu epidemic cannot be an excuse for breaking the rules," Prince Merode told a news conference. "There are plenty of other drugs which can be used for treatment. If the rules were relaxed, it would open the door to misuse of drugs in the future and would destroy the whole principle of doping control."

Pospisil, 31-year-old Czech Master of Sports, is the second athlete found guilty of taking drugs in the games. Galina Kulakova, a Soviet cross-country skier, had a bronze medal taken away because she took nasal drops for a cold without consulting her team doctor. The drops contained Ephedrine, another one of the forbidden drugs.

INNSBRUCK (AP) — Steve Jensen and Bob Dobek scored two goals each today and the United States crushed Poland 7-2 for its second straight victory in the American drive for a medal at the Olympic ice hockey tournament.

LOOKING FOR GOLD — Peter Mueller of Mequon, Wis., speeds around the track at Innsbruck, Austria, Thursday to win the gold medal in the men's 1,000-meter speed skating event at the 12th Winter Olympics. His time was 1:19.32. It was the second gold medal for the U.S.

Rockets scuttle Boston while Celtics scuffle with fans

The Boston Celtics played in Houston and their center Dave Cowens really made a hit with the fans. In fact, he made several.

Cowens not only took on the Rockets but their backers as well when a fan climbed out of his seat and exchanged punches with the player Wednesday night.

Cowens' teammate Charlie Scott also got into the action and before it was over, the ruffian was double-teamed and thrown out of the arena. After that, the Celtics simply weren't themselves and dropped a 115-103 National Basketball Association decision to the Rockets.

"I'm not going to stand there and watch him beat up a teammate," Scott said, explaining why he jumped into the fray. "The officials didn't get there quick enough . . . they weren't going to do anything."

The fans apparently didn't appreciate Scott's noble gesture, razzing the Celtics the rest of the way.

"I don't understand it," Scott said. "After that we were the ruffians, the bad guys, and they were the good guys."

The rest of the NBA was relatively tame as the Philadelphia 76ers whipped the Portland Trail Blazers 118-106; the Milwaukee Bucks stopped the New York Nets 109-95; the Seattle SuperSonics trimmed the New Orleans Jazz 93-90 and the Phoenix Suns blasted the Detroit Pistons 123-94.

Calvin Murphy led a fourth-quarter Houston surge that helped the Rockets beat Boston. The Rockets led 101-97 with 1:58 left when the fan rushed out of the stands and pushed Cowens. Cowens traded punches with the fan, but remained in the game.

Murphy scored 31 points and Rudy Tomjanovich added 25 as the Rockets erased a three-point lead in the fourth quarter to win going away.

76ers 118, Trail Blazers 106

George McGinnis scored 23 points to help Philadelphia overcome a 35-point performance by Portland's Sidney Wicks and beat the Trail Blazers. The Trail Blazers, playing without injured center Bill Walton, trailed the entire game.

Bucks 109, Knicks 95

Brian Winters and Junior Bridgeman combined for 53 points in leading Milwaukee over New York. Bridgeman helped the Bucks reel off 12 straight points at the end to put the game away.

SuperSonics 93, Jazz 90

Tom Burleson converted six of 10 free throw attempts in the closing minutes to help Seattle withstand a furious New Orleans rally.

Suns 123, Pistons 94

Alvan Adams' 22 points and Curtis Perry's 20 led Phoenix out of the Pacific Division cellar as the Suns crushed Detroit.

Steelers over Dallas, Reds and BoSox tied

HONOLULU (AP) — The fun and games in the 1976 Superteams competition shifted from the track to the sand today with volleyball, a tug-of-war and an outrigger canoe race at Waikiki Beach on the schedule.

Going into the final day of preliminary contests, the National Football League champion Pittsburgh Steelers were leading the runner-up Dallas Cowboys 3-1 in the initial four events.

The World Series Champion Cincinnati Reds, however, were tied 2-2 with the Boston Red Sox after the obstacle relay, running relay and tandem bike race on Tuesday and Monday's swimming event.

The winning football team from the preliminary competition and the winning baseball team will meet Friday and Saturday in the finals for the Superteam title.

Hawks host NMJC tonight at 8:00

Howard College goes up against the Western Conference spoilers tonight in the Hawk gym tipoff 8:00 when it faces the New Mexico JC Thunderbirds.

Last week the Thunderbirds knocked off Western Texas 80-71 and Tuesday they upset NMJC's conference championship hopes 88-84.

Howard's loss Tuesday to Clarendon put the Hawks out of title contention, but they are still tied with Frank Phillips and South Plains for the fourth and final playoff spot.

Howard's Marvin Johnson returned to the top of the nation in scoring according to latest data from the NJCAA. The Hawks also are leading the nation in scoring.

but the Lawson State CC of Birmingham, Ala., is closing in 102.4 to 101.3. NMJC ranks eighth in defense surrendering 62.6 a game. (before the NMJC 88-84 upset).

BOWLING
TOWSON, Md. — John Wilcox led Mark Roth by 67 pins after two rounds of the $70,000 Fair Lanes Open Bowling Tournament.

LAST LEG OF RELAY — The Soviet's Galina Kulakova strides toward the finish line and a gold medal as she completes the last leg of the women's 20-kilometer cross-country relay ski race Thursday at Seefeld, Austria.

Dr. J plays defense and scores 39 points

Twenty-five points, 15 rebounds and six assists. Julius Erving of the New York Nets accomplished all of this in 39 minutes—and he wasn't even trying to be an offensive threat.

"I tried to get more involved in the defense," said Erving after leading the Nets to a 120-110 American Basketball Association victory over the Spirits of St. Louis Wednesday night. Erving also blocked five shots and made a steal, just to keep his hand in the action at both ends of the court.

"The Spirits slowed down the pace," Erving said, "and they put the crowd to sleep. But they weren't going to do the same thing to me. I didn't want to be flat, so I played a lot of roving defense—you know, tried to block shots and anticipate passes."

The Spirits not only had trouble chasing Erving around the court, but got dizzy watching Kim Hughes' heroics. He scored 21 points and had 19 rebounds in one of his brightest moments as a Net.

Coaches' pacts renewed 1-year

COLORADO CITY — The contract of Mike Farda, head football coach and athletic director, has been renewed for one year by the Colorado school board. Only three of the five board members voted for Farda, however.

A ballot cast by Tom Rees was needed to get Farda the extension of his pact. The new contract carries with it a $14,200 annual salary, which represents an increase of $400 over his present pact.

STANTON — Stanton High School football coach and athletic director Bobby Richardson has had his contract extended for one year by the Stanton school board.

Lamesa coach nod expected shortly

LAMESA — Fifty-eight men have applied for the head coach job at Lamesa High School, with indications that the position will be filled sometime this week. Three coaches now in 4-A ball have made inquiries about the position, along with four 3-A mentors, five in Class A and one in Class B.

In addition, a college assistant is in the running for the position, along with 26 currently employed as coaching assistants.

Abilene aide gets Lakeview head nod

ABILENE — Tommy Shields, offensive coordinator for the Abilene High School football team, has accepted an assistant's coaching job at the new Lakeview Centennial High School in Garland. Head coach at the Garland school is Max Boydston. He and Shields were finalists in competing for the position. When Boydston was hired, he asked that Shields join his staff.

Shields moved to Abilene from Lewisville with Bill Shipman. He had previously coached at Sherman, El Paso Prosper and Rockwall.

DOWN, BUT ONLY FOR A SECOND — Richard Lamby of Auburn, Mass., is only down for a second as he skirmishes for the puck with members of the Polish hockey team Thursday at Innsbruck, when the U.S. won its second straight victory in Olympic ice hockey action. The 7-2 win keeps the Americans' hopes for a medal alive as they prepare to meet West Germany on Saturday.

Snyder football coach since 1971 resigns

SNYDER — Maurice Hodges submitted his resignation Tuesday as head football coach at Snyder High School. He has been here since 1971.

Hodges' resignation becomes effective June 30. School Supt. Bill Hood said applications for the coaching job are now being accepted and the job of athletic director and head football coach likely will be separate in the future.

Hodges has not revealed his future plans. He guided the Tigers to a 6-4 record last season, including a win over Big Spring. In his five years at the helm, Snyder has won 28, lost 21 and tied two. Snyder is now a Class AAA school.

Court blocks Giants sale to Canadians

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The sale of the San Francisco Giants to Toronto, Canada, has been blocked by Superior Court Judge John E. Benson, who heard Mayor George Moscone save the day for Frisco.

The judge's order Wednesday for a preliminary injunction against sale of the club to Canadian interests provoked lively applause in the courtroom. It all came down when the mayor marched triumphantly into court and said an $8 million offer for the club had been made by San Francisco financier Robert Lurie and Minneapolis trucking mogul Robert Short.

"Bobby Thomson still lives!" said the mayor, laughing out loud when asked how he felt about saving the Giants for San Francisco. Thomson saved the Giants for World Series competition in 1951 with a timely homer.

The courtroom hosted a jubilant, standing-room-only crowd of about 200 when Moscone, flanked by the two businessmen, said terms were agreed to in his City Hall office an hour earlier.

Said the mayor, with a pardonable touch of pride: "They have authorized me to tell the court they will pay $8 million cash for the rights to the Giants' franchise with $500,000 down right now as a sign of good faith."

"Do you have the money?" asked Giants' lawyer Richard Murray.

Moscone answered up, "They told me they did." All the while, Lurie and Short stood smiling as the words were made part of the record.

City Atty. Thomas O'Connor called both men to the witness stand and heard them say they were prepared to put the half-million down "right today and pay the $7.5 million balance in cash upon signing a purchase contract."

Murray asked Short if the $8 million offer might suddenly find tough sledding should Labatt's Brewery of Toronto withdraw its offer for the Giants, and Short responded that nothing would change, even "if Labatt's wasn't in the picture."

One Democrat, other Republican

Brothers seek same office

GREENVILLE, Tex. (AP) — When Johnny Richards, 36, read that his kid brother Benny had filed as a GOP candidate for sheriff he was, quite frankly, "dumb-founded."

"It's not that he thinks Benny, 33, would make a lousy sheriff. In fact, it's just the contrary."

The problem is that Johnny himself had jumped into the same sheriff's race a few days earlier as a Democrat.

"I don't think either one thought the other was serious, but they both were," said an acquaintance of the two Hunt County candidates. Since Benny is unopposed in the Republican primary, the two would clash head-on in the general election if Johnny is chosen as the Democratic nominee.

He's got six opponents, including the incumbent.

"We got our wire crossed," grumbled Johnny, "and it really shocked me. To tell you the truth, I didn't think Benny would run on a Republican ticket."

"I sure wouldn't."

Responded Benny, "Most of the time I do vote Republican, but I vote for the individual, the man I think can do the best job. And that's the way it should be."

Both are launching maiden runs for elective office and while disclaiming any animosity, they both say they are deadly serious about winning.

"We just came up wanting the same job," said Benny, who for the last 12 years has worked for an international electronics firm in Greenville, although living in Wolfe City.

"I just don't jump into things hurriedly," he said. "I've thought about it. I want it. I'm after it. I've got the desire and I'll get it."

"I'll do everything I can to win."

Johnny is just as adamant, just as confident, although his campaign efforts are presently hampered by the finishing touches on a law enforcement degree he's getting at East Texas State University.

He drives daily to classes at Commerce, six miles from his home in Campbell, just north of here, and also operates a beer parlor there.

"It's the only way I could finish school, and it was either that or welfare," he quipped.

As a former patrolman, deputy sheriff, security guard and military policeman, Johnny is the candidate of experience. He is married and has four children.

Benny, father of two young teen-agers, claims his long suit is his longtime friendship with the people of the East Texas county: "They know me and they'll vote for me."

The candidates' father, Johnny Richards Sr., an assistant manager of a Greenville western wear shop, first said he'd flip a coin before casting his vote.

But he later concluded that Johnny, as the elder, would get his vote, although "to me, either one would be a do-right sheriff for this county."

He said Benny understood. The candidates' mother lives in Houston and may be unaware of the situation.

"I don't know whether mom knows what's going on or not and I'm damn sure not going to be the one who tells her," Johnny laughed.

"If I had two boys running for sheriff I don't know how I'd vote."

Referring to his father, he said:

"His reaction was...well, like me, dumbfounded. He just looked at me and said, 'Benny's running against you.' I said, 'Yeah, that's what the paper says.'"

Johnny noted that without an opponent, Benny has an advantage, but he added: "I'm really going to try to beat him."

Said Benny: "It's going to be head-to-head if Johnny wins if the primary. There'll be no quitting. It won't be a picnic for anyone."

Producing rigs sag

The number of Texas oil rigs actually producing has dropped within the last month but is still 26 over the number this time last year.

Producing rigs in the state totaled 623 as of Feb. 9, down from 651 a week earlier. The total as of Jan. 5 was 696.

Despite the drop off, producing rigs are up from 597, the total for Feb. 10 a year ago.

The Texas drop off is also reflected in the national figures. The total for the United States is 1,580 producing rigs, down from 1,640 as of Feb. 2, 1,744 for Jan. 5, and 1,588 for Feb. 10 a year ago.

Texas continues to maintain about 40 per cent of the rigs making holes in the country.

Seven 'rounded up'

Duval Grand Jury indicts

SAN DIEGO, Tex. (AP) — Seven persons, including members of the politically powerful Carrillo family, former and current county officials and a bank president have been arrested here following a barrage of indictments issued by a grand jury investigating official corruption.

The seven were rounded up Wednesday by Texas Rangers who fanned out in this South Texas county armed with arrest warrants issued by District Court Judge Darrell Hester of Brownsville. All seven were booked and then released after posting a total of $242,500 in bonds.

One person named in the 35 indictments as not immediately arrested and the ninth person named, former Duval County Judge Archer Parr, is currently serving a ten-year prison term in the federal penitentiary at Marion, Ill., on a perjury conviction.

The arrests were the culmination of more than a year of work in this county by a special task force sent by the Texas Attorney General's office. Most of the cases had been prepared last year, but were held back by the investigators waiting for the expiration of the term of a grand jury which had been appointed by a judge who was one of those indicted. The cases were taken to a new grand jury last week.

Those indicted were:

—B. O. Goldthorn, president of the First State Bank of San Diego, named in five indictments accusing him of felony thefts of more than $10,000, and in one indictment for perjury. He was released after posting a $70,000 bond.

—Duval County Commissioner Ramiro Carrillo, named in four indictments for felony theft and in four for official misconduct. He posted $60,000 bond and was released.

—Former Judge Parr, named in four indictments for official misconduct and one for theft.

—Former Duval County Judge Dan Tobin Jr., named in three indictments for official misconduct. He posted a $22,500 bond.

—Former District Court Judge O. P. Carrillo, named in four felony theft indictments. He was released after posting a $30,000 bond.

—D. C. Chapa, father of the Carrillo brothers, named in two felony theft indictments. He was released on a $15,000 bond.

—Former Duval County School Supt. Emede Garcia, named in one indictment for official misconduct and in two for felony theft. He posted a $22,500 bond.

—Mrs. Alicia Rodriguez, daughter of Duval County Welfare Director Mrs. Elvira De Leon, named in three felony theft indictments. She was released after posting a $22,500 bond.

Former State Rep. Oscar Carrillo, bitterly complained about the handcuffing of his 80-year-old father, D.C. Chapa. He said his father, his brother Ramiro, and the former judge came to the Duval County sheriff's office here from their homes in Brownsville and notified the Rangers where they were.

"He is an 80-year-old man and they tied him down like an ordinary criminal," Carrillo said.

Texas Rangers Capt. John Wood said it is normal procedure for Rangers to handcuff a person arrested on a felony charge.

The grand jury returned the indictments after working for four days with members of the Texas Attorney General's staff, several Texas Rangers and Department of Public Safety intelligence officers.

Texas Atty. Gen. John Hill personally presented some of the cases to the grand jury here Feb. 2. Hill sent a task force to Duval County about a year ago at the request of Dist. Atty. Arnulfo Guerra after Guerra said he was starting an investigation to "clean up" Duval County.

The task force was led by Assistant Atty. Gen. John Blanchard.

Trying to land new industry

STANTON — Members of the Martin County Industrial Foundation are seeking to promote a new industry for the county.

Promo-Wear Company, a Canadian-based firm which manufactures caps and jackets and other sports wear, recently sent two men here to interview prospective workers for a new plant, should it be located in Stanton.

Reportedly, the firm has decided to locate either in Stanton or San Marcos and looking for prospective sites in other Texas communities.

President of the Martin County Industrial Foundation is County Judge Jimmy Mathis while Page Eiland heads the industrial team.

Furlough plan is abandoned

WASHINGTON (AP) — A proposal to furlough 18,000 Kelly AFB employees of the Air Force Logistics Command has been dropped, U.S. Rep. Abraham Kazen Jr. said Friday.

The congressman said he believed the order was consistent with assurances he had previously received from Air Force Secretary Thomas Reed that a six-day furlough plan would not be used.

Remains of missing daughter found

HOUSTON (AP) — Bill Heath stared at the floor of the Harris County Morgue as he waited to identify personal effects that once belonged to his brown-haired 6-year-old daughter.

Heath, 37, a former Houston Astros catcher, identified an ear ring which he had purchased for his daughter in Honduras. He also confirmed a white gown and a robe with the name "Courtney" embroidered on it.

"I've prepared myself for it," he said. "It's better to know even if it is bad."

Medical authorities said Wednesday the skeletal remains found in a logging camp south of Palestine were positively identified as those of Courtney Lea Heath, who had been missing since Nov. 14, the day her mother was found strangled in their Houston apartment.

The items identified by Heath were found when the remains were discovered Thursday in Anderson County in the East Texas logging country. "Courtney disappeared" the day her mother, Mrs. Patty Lou Heath, 32, was found strangled in the apartment where she and the daughter resided since her divorce from Heath.

Investigators have theorized Courtney was abducted by her mother's slayer. They also believe that Mrs. Heath knew her assailant in that there was no evidence of forced entry to the apartment.

Dr. Joseph Jachimczyk, Harris County medical examiner, positively identified the bones found in the six-inch deep grave as those of the missing child.

He said the girl died from a blow to the head with a blunt instrument.

He said the condition of the bones indicated she could have been killed the same day as her mother or perhaps a few days later.

Anderson County Sheriff Roy Herrington said a logger cutting timber discovered the skull, apparently dragged from the grave by animals.

The logger also found the robe and notified the sheriff's office. Sheriff's officers found the shallow grave about 50 feet from where the skull was discovered.

The Harris County sheriff's office said no arrests were pending.

However, Sheriff Jack Heard said "in all probability we will be questioning an individual about this." He did not elaborate.

Hunters learn from their fathers

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Most Texas hunters learned from their fathers.

This is one of the findings of Michael Berger who, in a dissertation for Texas A&M University, tried to answer the question—"Who is the hunter?"

Berger's dissertation was completed in 1974, and its contents were summarized recently by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department. The dissertation was based on 4,000 questionnaires that were mailed to persons who had brought resident Texas hunting licenses in 1971-72.

Berger's "profile" of a hunter shows him to be a man who started hunting before he was 15 and has hunted for approximately 26 years.

"His father introduced him to hunting and he hunted frequently in his youth," Berger wrote. The hunter also likes company, usually going out with one to three companions.

Most "typical" Texas hunters are 30 to 39, and some 35 per cent have gone to college or technical school.

Since one-half of Texas' hunters live in either Harris, Dallas, Bexar or Tarrant Counties, the picture emerges, according to Berger, of a "hunter" earning his living in the city as part of the American middle class.

Compared with hunters in other states, Berger said, "Texas hunters achieved higher educational levels, more were employed in professional and white collar jobs and were paid higher salaries."

Also, he said, "Texans had accumulated more years of hunting experience, spent more money for their hunting recreation, and fewer were members of sportsmen's or conservation groups than hunters in other states."

The Texas hunter, he added, "sought deer and dove in preference to other game animals. He hunted small game animals close to home, but overall utilized the South Texas Plains and the Edwards Plateau as hunting areas."

Asked in the questionnaire whether they favored stronger gun control laws, 83 per cent said "no."

Economist claims

Savings Bonds — 'big ripoff'

PITTSBURGH (AP) — "Take Stock in America, 200 years at the same location," boasts the government in promoting U.S. savings bonds. "Greatest ripoff in modern history," charges Milton Friedman, a widely known economist.

Buying savings bonds is a way of life for millions of Americans. They hold $68 billion worth of them, or about one-fifth of the national debt. Last year, 9.5 million persons paid an average of $33 per month for bonds through payroll deduction plans at 40,000 businesses.

Friedman, a University of Chicago professor, says the interest is consistently eaten up by inflation caused by the same government which pushes bond sales.

Current interest is 6 per cent if the bond is held for five years. A bank savings account pays about 5.5 per cent. A $1,000 savings certificate will pay 7.25 per cent if held four years.

"Businessmen and bankers serve as heads of prominent committees urging people to buy savings bonds for the future," Friedman said in a recent lecture here. "If they tried to sell their own bonds on that basis, the Securities and Exchange Commission would be after them like a shot."

"Every one of these people knows that anyone who has bought savings bonds in the past 10 years has been taken to the cleaners."

'Turn mustangs into dog food'

Ford wants horse legislation

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Ford administration is pushing legislation to make it easier to round up and get rid of wild horses. But opponents say the measure would turn the animals into dog food.

The legislation is a response to ranchers and federal land managers who say the wild herds are growing fast under federal protection and are taking public grass out of the mouths of cattle and sheep.

In the heat of the issue, friends of the horses say the administration's plan amounts to "mechanized massacre" and a return to the evils of the days of the old mustangers.

Wild burros also would be affected by the legislation.

The issue pits ranchers who run their stock on public lands against a widening ring of conservation groups who think the 20 per cent of the nation's land owned by the public should be used for other purposes, such as recreation, wilderness and horses.

The nation's wild horse herd has grown to 50,000 head and is growing at a rate of 20 per cent annually, ranchers say.

A rancher can run cattle on open federal range for $1 per head per month. In Nevada, for example, federal land accounts for 96 per cent of the seventh largest state.

A 1971 law bans aircraft and motor vehicles in hunting wild horses and requires the Bureau of Land Management to find a good home for any animals that are caught. They cannot be slaughtered.

The bureau, the chief agency for the public lands, has led about a half-dozen roundups in the 10 Western states under the 1971 law in response to complaints from ranchers. About 700 wild horses were captured.

In the old days, hunters for the wild horses would use pickup trucks and aircraft to herd the animals. Once caught, most were shipped off to be made into dog food.

In the West, mustanging was a quick way to earn a few extra dollars on a weekend.

Under the administration-backed legislation, the use of vehicles and aircraft would be resumed and the bureau would be allowed to transfer ownership of the horses with no questions asked.

That means dog food, the conservationists say.

The administration claims the current law is cumbersome and expensive. It says it costs an average of $550 to catch each horse. Besides, two men were hurt in a high-speed mounted chase, and vehicles would be safer, the administration says.

Horse groups say the administration estimate is exaggerated. They say the number of grazing permits should be cut back to protect public land while the wild horses there are estimated, the government allows 600,000 cattle and sheep on at only 1,500 head.

Okay $900,000 bond election

COLORADO CITY — The Colorado City council approved March 6 as a date for $900,000 bond issue election.

The bond election will be divided into five parts and each will be voted upon separately. Largest is $400,000 for street repairs.

A $75,000 issue for park improvements and $25,000 for cemetery improvements, along with the street bonds, would be paid for through taxation.

Two other issues involve $250,000 for water works improvements and $150,000 in sewer improvement. The debt for them would be retired through a ten-cent increase per thousand-gallon water rate increase and a boost of 75 cents in basic sewer charges.

The council has also set April 3 as the date to elect three councilmen for two-year terms.

Members whose term expire are Larry Hamner, J. Lee Jones and Mrs. Marion Bassham.

"THOSE CRAZY EPISCOPALIANS" ever see one of their funerals? brrrr!

Some say an Episcopal funeral is cold. It's short, simple, and taken straight from the Prayer Book. Never maudlin. The casket remains unopened. It's covered with a pall, so you don't know if it cost a hundred dollars or a thousand. And there is no eulogy for the dead.

Episcopalians, though, say the funeral service affords one of the strong reasons for their faith in the Church, because it's conducted as much for the living as for the dead.

In such a context, eulogies seem hardly apropos. After all, we're all children of God and equal in His sight. How important, really, is the fact that the departed was highly regarded by his fellow man? It seems pretty insignificant compared to God's loving promise of eternal salvation.

Like its funeral service, the Episcopal Church is conducted for living people. Afterwards, it's between you and God. Your nearest Episcopal minister would be delighted to talk with you about this "living theology."

Confirmation and Inquirer's Classes begin Sunday February 15, at 8:30 p.m. in the Parish Hall. You are invited ment has relied on weekly reports from physicians to tell it of communicable diseases.

"The new influenza surveillance program... places another finger on the pulse of the disease," the department said in its February health bulletin.

"Influenza is being monitored through 19 school systems, 12 industries and 13 large hospitals," the department said. "These monitoring units are distributed in such a way as to detect illness in any part of the state at any time."

School children, for example, seem particularly susceptible to the flu, and high absentee rates often indicate an epidemic-type situation, the department said.

Dr. M. S. Dickerson of the department said there have been no outbreaks of the flu this year, but "A-Victoria strain" of influenza has been isolated in Hawaii, and "it can be expected to be brought in" to the mainland by travelers.

You gotta sue to win

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Maryland lottery agency's promotional jingle "You Gotta Play To Win" has taken on a new shade as the former wife of a 1974 million-dollar winner has sued to win half her former husband's winnings.

Betty E. Bronson of Greenville, Tex., asked the court to honor a Texas divorce decree which declared half of 25-year-old Robert S. Bronson's Maryland lottery winnings belonged to her under a state "community property" law. The decree, issued last month in Hunt County, Tex., said Mrs. Bronson should receive $450,000 of the remaining $900,000 owed Bronson by the state. The money is paid to him in yearly installments of $50,000.

The state lottery agency has refused to honor the Texas decree without an order from a Maryland court.

Mrs. Bronson claimed that her husband intends to live out of the country to avoid taxes on his winnings.

Squirrel tale applicable to oil, gas business

OMAR BURLESON
17th District

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Last week the House of Representatives debated the deregulation of natural gas. It finally wound up authorizing more regulation than we have at the present time.

Presumably, it exempts small producers from price controls. The fact is that it places more controls and restraints on all producers, including those delivering gas within a state. Intrastate gas has never been controlled by the federal government. Only interstate or that which goes across state lines is controlled by prices set at the wellhead by the Federal Power Commission.

The matter has yet to be resolved in a conference with the Senate which has passed a bill to phase out controls over a period of seven years.

This action calls to mind an ad by an oil company but which can apply to most any industry.

It seems there was once a squirrel who collected nuts and stored them. In this way, he was able to see himself safely through the long, hard cold winters.

Other squirrels soon noticed how good he was at finding nuts and bringing them home. So they asked if he would do the same for them. They, in turn, agreed to pay him for his services.

Soon, he was finding and delivering nuts to other squirrels far and near. In fact, the demand was so great that, in his range, nuts became harder to find. Because the search became more difficult, it cost much more. So he had to raise the price he charged the other squirrels.

This, of course, caused some concern, particularly among those squirrels who were not familiar with all the problems involved. A group of them filed a suit, appealing to the High Squirrel Court. They got a favorable decision.

The enterprising squirrel asked the question, "Why should I knock myself out? This is tough work and it's risky business to contract for delivery and risk being sued if I don't come through." Besides that, he had other squirrels working for him and had an investment.

So — his incentive being greatly reduced by controls and lower profits, he stopped searching for nuts in hard-to-find places. Pretty soon, they began to run out of supplies. Naturally, the enterprising squirrel began to cut back on deliveries to other squirrels who lived some distance. His customers were upset. They could not understand why there were not enough nuts to go around.

The business squirrel patiently explained to his customers that if they wanted nuts they simply could not have them as cheap as when they were plentiful and supply and demand governed the price. He tried to show them how much more expensive it had become to discover new sources of supply and how his cost of operation had increased.

Not all his customers were convinced. In fact, the greater number thought his position was one of exaggeration and called on the governing squirrel body to impose more controls and more restraints. It was all enough to drive the enterprising squirrel up a tree.

Moral: Unless the entire economy is placed under government control, which would mean changing our entire economic system, a few controls just have not worked and throw a lot of other things out of kilter.

In this instance, the fable is applicable to the oil and gas business but could be applied to any other part of our economy.

Oil firm bats four for four

Amco Energy Corporation has successfully completed the first four wells in its projected 40-well drilling program for 1976, according to the company's president, Frank W. Cole.

Opening the year's drilling schedule, the Dallas-based production company found both oil and gas in its primary operational area of Texas and Oklahoma.

Oil wells are the Robertson No. 1 in Midland County, Tex., currently producing 75 barrels a day from 9,200 feet, and the O'Daniel No. 1, Pottawatomie County, Okla., flowing at the present rate of 50 barrels per day at 4,200 feet.

New supplies of natural gas will come from the Wallace No. 1, Seminole County, Okla., with an initial flow test of 3.9 million cubic feet per day from 3,200 feet, and the Huhines No. 1, Jack County, Tex., testing 2 1/2 million cubic feet per day from 5,600 feet.

The Company owns a 50 per cent interest in these four wells.

Amco Energy Corporation stock is traded over-the-counter and is quoted on the NASDAQ system under the symbol AMCE.

Illicit sexual relations

Evangelist says it was genes not devil that made him do it

NEW YORK (AP) — Billy James Hargis, the fundamentalist evangelist, says "genes and chromosomes" drove him to illicit sexual relations with four of his male students and one coed, Time magazine reports.

The magazine said Hargis, married and the father of three daughters and a son, admitted his behavior in a meeting with officials of the college he founded. Several weeks later he severed ties with the Crusade for Christian Morality and the American Christian College in Tulsa, Okla., the magazine said.

Time quoted David Noebel, former vice president of the college and a Hargis aide for 12 years, as saying the sexual activities surfaced in October 1974, shortly after Hargis had performed a wedding ceremony.

On the honeymoon, Noebel said, the groom and his bride discovered they both had had sex with Hargis.

Noebel said that later three more male students told him they had had sexual relations with Hargis over a period of three years in his office, at his farm in the Ozarks and during tours with the college choir, "The All-American Kids."

Noebel was told that Hargis justified his homosexual acts by citing the Old Testament friendship between David and Jonathan, the magazine said.

Hargis, 50, has long rallied against sexual sin and has spoken out as a defender of traditional virtues in a lax society. Time said that last month he mailed an appeal from the Crusade for Christian Morality, which he has rejoined, saying in part:

"Can you believe it: complete color films of sexual acts between women and men, including homosexual acts, using your children."

In Tulsa, Hargis was reportedly out of town and unavailable for comment. Craig Blackstock, an attorney who said he was authorized to speak for Hargis, said: "This attack is considered by him and us to be a legal matter. Dr. Hargis will not discuss the charges made at this time as improper publicity which could jeopardize possible future legal action to be taken by him."

Court agrees to major test of open records act

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Supreme Court agreed Wednesday to review whether a state agency had the right to close its records on workmen's compensation claims because it feared they would be used to blacklist persons looking for jobs.

A hearing was set for March 10 in the suit brought by the Industrial Foundation of the South against the Texas Industrial Accident Board.

In other cases, the Supreme Court:

—Ruled that a trial court erred in dismissing a $60,000 suit by Albert Mokry Sr., whose left eyeball rolled down a drain at the University of Texas Health Science Center at Dallas where it had been delivered for lab tests. The case was returned to the court.

—Set a March 10 hearing on whether $2.5 million in Panasonic television sets and Honda motorcycle parts held in "surplus storage" in Farmers Branch warehouses are subject to property taxes.

In the foundation-accident board test of the Open Records Act, the Supreme Court conceivably could rule on whether any state agency may ask what information is to be used for prior to releasing it.

Industrial, purportedly a nonprofit organization with 282 employer members, wanted to tie into the board's computer system and check out information on prospective employees.

When the board refused to release the information, the foundation sued it. The trial court ordered the board to provide the following information: file number, claim, name, Social Security number, employer, date of injury, nature of injury and the name of the workman's attorney.

The board appealed to the Beaumont Court of Civil Appeals, which reversed the trial court's summary judgment, stating that it had erred in suppressing questions about how the foundation intended to use the information.

The appeals court noted that the law prohibits "blacklisting" or discriminating against employees who have filed "good faith" claims for workmen's compensation.

Harte-Hanks lists earnings

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Harte-Hanks Newspapers, Inc. reported Tuesday net income of $8.02 million for 1975, compared to $6.52 million for the preceding year, an increase of 23 per cent.

Robert G. Marbut, president of the company, said 1975 earnings amounted to $1.84 per share, an increase of 34 cents over 1974.

Marbut said, "We have had another very successful year financially. Earnings per share have doubled from the 92 cents reported in 1971... The lowest annual growth rate during that four-year period has been 10 per cent."

Harte-Hanks owns and operates 22 daily and 32 nondaily publications in eight states, advertising publications in Orange and Los Angeles counties in California, KENS-TV, the CBS affiliate in San Antonio, and WTLV-TV, the NBC affiliate in Jacksonville, Fla.

Mrs. Boehmer hosts Mu Zeta meeting

Mrs. Darlene Boehmer hosted the Monday evening meeting of the Texas Mu Zeta sorority.

During a business meeting members voted to bring cookies to the next meeting to be donated to the Big Spring State Hospital. The project was adopted on a request by the BSSH Volunteer Council to donate 12 dozen cookies once or twice a year.

Members approved plans to sponsor a new charity, the Canadian Arthritis Foundation. The donations will be made through the International Endowment Fund.

Mrs. Judy Klampfer read an article from the "Heritage Heartbeat" of Beta Sigma Phi.

Mrs. Janie Smith summarized the history of the Valentine contest.

Mrs. Suzanne Haney reported on the recent BSP City Council meeting. She informed members that the Dora Roberts Community Center would be decorated for the Valentine Ball at 9 a.m. Saturday. Mrs. Haney reported that council members slated Founder's Day on April 29.

Members presented Mrs. Haney with a charm to commemorate being chosen as Valentine sweetheart for 1976.

Mrs. Haney lectured on the five degrees of Beta Sigma Phi and the one honorary degree.

Mrs. Debbie Wegman gave the program, "Never Underestimate the Power of the Woman."

Mrs. JoAnne Little won the door prize furnished by Paulette Shafer. Mrs. Shafer passed the food basket to Mrs. Smith.

The next meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Nancy Harrington, 1904 E. 25th, at 7 p.m., Feb. 23.

KISS FOR CHRIS — Mrs. Christopher Wall, of Camden, N. J., kisses the hand of her tiny son, Chris, Jr., as he reaches for her in Children's Hospital of Philadelphia Tuesday. Youngster was born last August with his heart outside his body. He was six months old Tuesday. Series of operations, beginning with the one just after his birth, may eventually make him nearly normal. Child is the first known to have lived this long with this birth defect.

Beauceants practice for initiation ceremony

Members of the Social Order of the Beauceant met Monday evening at the Masonic Temple.

Mrs. Alden Ryan presided. Initiatory work was exemplified in practice.

Mrs. Ryan set another initiatory practice 7 p.m. Thursday. All officers are urged to attend the practice in the Masonic Temple.

Mrs. Wright Vickers reported that books donated by the family of Mrs. Ilene Barnett had been delivered to the Big Spring State Hospital.

Members discussed plans to cater a dinner on Feb. 21 for the AF & AM Lodges 598 and 1340. The dinner will begin at 6:30 p.m. in the Masonic Temple.

Mrs. Odell La Londe was installed as treasurer by Mrs. Albert Davis.

Plans were completed to attend the meeting of the Midland Beauceant Order on Feb. 16 in the Midland Masonic Temple. Mrs. Glenn W. Foster, supreme worthy president of the Supreme Assembly of the Beauceant will make her official visit to the chapters during that meeting. A dinner will begin at 6:30 p.m. with the meeting starting at 7:30 p.m.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Tom Helton and Mrs. R. V. Middleton.

The next meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. Feb. 23, in the Masonic Temple.

Auxiliary will send students to Girls' State

The American Legion Auxiliary will sponsor three local girls at the Bluebonnet Girls' State meeting.

Members voted to provide funds for the girls at the Thursday evening meeting held in the post home.

Mrs. Ernest Grubaugh presided at the meeting.

Members approved a donation to the Howard County Association for Retarded Citizens.

They discussed plans to celebrate the legion birthday on March 20.

Mrs. Jane Mooney resigned as chaplain.

The next meeting will be at 8 p.m., Feb. 19 at the post home.

Foust speaks at noon luncheon

Jerry Foust spoke to the Big Spring Credit Women about credit life insurance during the Thursday noon luncheon.

Guest at the meeting was Barzile Fletcher of Dunlap's.

Members of the club agreed to sponsor a "Friend of Youth" scholarship to the YMCA.

The Credit Women will sponsor an essay contest on credit for high school students in home and family living classes.

Mrs. Ruth Apple won the capsule fund.

The next meeting will be a noon luncheon on Feb. 19 at the Settles Hotel.

Son should be told who is real father

DEAR ABBY: My ex-husband's parents who live far away insist upon sending my son Christmas and birthday gifts, and I wish they wouldn't.

Jimmy is 6 now and old enough to question where these gifts come from. So far I've been saying, "they're from some friends of Mommy's," but I don't know how much longer that will suffice.

I divorced Jimmy's father and married again when Jimmy was 2. My husband adopted Jimmy, so he's the only father the boy has ever known, but I would rather not tell him about his "real" father until he's older and better able to handle it.

I suppose I'm not being realistic because so many people know about my first marriage that someone is sure to tell him. However, I don't want Jimmy to know just yet.

When the time comes, should I tell Jimmy, or should my husband? I want it to be an O.K. experience, not a traumatic one. Can you or your readers who have been through this help me?

A MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: The time to tell Jimmy is right now! Say, "Before I married your father, I was married to another man, and HE is your natural Daddy. We decided it would be better for both of us if we ended our marriage, so we got a divorce. Then I fell in love with your father and he adopted you, making you his LEGAL son."

Then tell him about the set of grandparents you've been unfairly hiding all these years. The sooner you tell Jimmy, the easier it will be. Good luck!

DEAR ABBY: I have a relative who cannot make a statement without using vulgar or profane language. He says he has the right to use any kind of language he feels like using. I am sick and tired of it. What should I do? And how do you feel about vulgar language, Abby?

OFFENDED

DEAR OFFENDED: If you have told his person that his language offends you and he makes no effort to clean up his act, you have the right to absent yourself from his company. I don't appreciate vulgar language, either, but the more I like the person, the less I'm offended by his language.

DEAR ABBY: Several years ago, a guy I went with gave me a gold charm bracelet. (I'll call him "Pete.") Pete and I broke up, and I married a good friend of his. My husband and I see Pete about once a week. I haven't worn the bracelet for two years, and I probably won't ever wear it again. It's very pretty, but it doesn't mean anything to me now.

I was wondering if it would be tacky of me to pawn the bracelet. We could use the money. What would you do?

UNDECIDED

DEAR UN: I'd return the bracelet to Pete.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped (25¢) envelope.

Mary Dudley tells women's contributions to Revolutionary War

Mrs. Mary Dudley gave a summary of women's contributions during the Revolutionary War at the Monday meeting of the Potpourri Club.

Club members met in the home of Mrs. Gerald Harris.

Mrs. Dudley entitled the program "Her Story." She featured the heroic and often little-known deeds of women which contributed to the success of the fight for freedom. Mrs. Dudley told of boycotts enforced by women who refused to purchase cloth or tea shipped from England, thereby inflicting economic pressure.

Mrs. Dudley told the events surrounding the formation of the Daughters of Liberty. One of their duties was to melt the statue of King George to make bullets for American soldiers.

The history of camp followers was summarized by the speaker. The camp followers performed many supporting functions for the soldiers by nursing, cooking and sewing for them. Mrs. Dudley said that Martha Washington spent eight winters at various battlefields.

Mrs. Dudley told the history of war heroines. Sybil Ludington warned the revolutionary forces about a British attack. Lydia Darrow was a spy for the Americans. Deborah Sampson served as a soldier for two years.

During a business meeting members voted to bring cookies to the March meeting for donation to the Big Spring State Hospital. The meeting will be on March 8 in the home of Mrs. Earl Lusk.

Mrs. Joe Horton announced that a garage sale will be held on May 1 to raise funds for club projects.

Center Point dinner set

The Center Point community supper will begin at 6:30 p.m. Friday at the community center.

All residents, ex-residents and visitors are welcome to attend. Each family should bring a covered dish to share during the meal.

Woman Air Force cadet entered military competition by accident

HOUSTON (AP) — Lisa Pena says it was just an accident that she entered the competition that led to her being one of the first six women to be appointed to the Air Force Academy.

When college representatives appeared at Bellaire High school last fall, Lisa was unable to talk with them because of a conflict with her swimming schedule. She asked her mother, Mrs. Charles D. Pena, to talk with the representatives.

"A friend told my mother to go into the room with the Air Force representatives," Lisa said Tuesday. "One thing led to another. It was kind of an accident."

Lisa, 18, later was nominated to the academy by former U.S. Rep. Bob Casey and her appointment was announced Monday.

She is top-ranked in her Bellaire senior class and captain of the swimming team, specializing in distance events.

"In my swimming, I'm training for the appointment," she said. "They are looking for people with athletic ability, for women who can go through the physical strain of basic training. I guess they thought I could. I know I can."

She said training for such distance events as the 1,500-meter free style will help her at the academy.

"And the people I train with are mostly men," she said. "I'm used to working in a male atmosphere."

Lisa is to report to the academy June 28. Air Force spokesmen say her class of about 1,500 members will include about 150 women.

CALLING ALL HOMEMAKERS
Brought to you by Ted Hatfield

LIGHT IS RIGHT in many home decorating situations, including the choice of a carpet. It used to be that careful homeowners steered clear of light carpets for fear of showing soil and staining too soon. Not so today.

For one thing, today's miracle fibers resist soiling and staining. The fibers do not absorb moisture or alien chemicals, so they can be sponged up easily. Some carpet fibers are now treated with a stain-shedding process like that used on furniture fabrics. Spills bead up on the surface instead of penetrating. Result: easy care in any color.

In fact, light colors show less dirt of many kinds than darker colors. Dust and lint stand out more on deep colors than on light.

Light colored carpeting enlarges a room, since the pale hues recede visually instead of jumping at you. They also provide a perfect foil for the bold colors and patterns so popular today in furniture fabrics, draperies, art and accessories.

You'll find a rich array of light colors in lovely carpets of many fibers displayed in our carpet showroom... along with a host of bold, bright and deep colors, too. Look for your carpet where you always find more... at

Eastern breakfast favorites lead the way to nutrition

Ah, the East, the historic center of the United States where many a battle was fought! One is still being waged, though — the battle of breakfast.

These time-honored '76 Corn Sticks will win over the breakfast skipper, you'll see. Apple butter covers these made-from-scratch corn bread goodies, deliciously moist from ground pork sausage and diced apple. By the way, did you know corn meal is enriched today, a benefit unknown to our forefathers?

Entertain in grand Eastern style at a brunch! No one will turn up his nose at Philadelphia Spiral Buns. These oatmeal yeast rolls, frosted with a spicy confectioners sugar icing, are "decended" from ones served at the finest gatherings in days past. They've just been updated for convenience and economy. The "taste" is still there!

For the Easterners who don't have time for nostalgia, New York Commuter Bars come through on schedule. These nutritious cookie-like bars are good travelers in plastic wrap. They go to work quickly — in the bodies of busy persons!

'76 Corn Sticks

1 lb. bulk pork sausage
1 c. corn meal
1 c. sifted all-purpose flour
¼ c. sugar
4 tsp. baking powder
½ tsp. salt
1 c. diced, cooked apples
1 egg, beaten
¾ c. milk
¼ c. butter or margarine, melted

Fry sausage until browned and crumbly; drain well. Set aside. Sift together corn meal, flour, sugar, baking powder and salt into mixing bowl. Stir in browned pork sausage and diced-cooked apples. Add egg, milk and butter; mix well. Spoon corn meal mixture into greased large corn stick pans, filling level full.

Bake in preheated hot oven (400 degrees F.) 20 to 25 minutes. Remove from oven; let corn sticks rest in pan 10 minutes before removing. Serve warm with apple butter, if desired. Makes 14 corn sticks.

New York Commuter Bars

2 oz. (2 sq.) unsweetened chocolate
1-3rd c. shortening
1 c. sugar
2 eggs
1 tsp. vanilla
½ c. sifted all-purpose flour
1 tsp. baking powder
½ tsp. salt
½ c. milk
½ 1-3rd c. Life cereal, crushed
1-3rd c. chopped nuts

Grease and flour 9-inch square baking pan. In large saucepan, melt chocolate and shortening over low heat. Remove from heat; mix in sugar, eggs and vanilla. Stir in remaining ingredients. Spread in prepared pan. Bake in preheated moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 25 to 30 minutes; cool. Cut into 16 bars. For each serving, wrap two bars in plastic wrap. Store overnight in a cool dry place. Makes 8 servings.

'76 CORN STICKS — These delicious cornbread sticks are fortified with sausage and apples. Dipped in apple butter, they wake up any sleepy breakfast eater.

Philadelphia Spiral Buns

ROLLS:
6 to 6 1-3rd c. sifted all-purpose flour
2 pkg. dry yeast
½ c. granulated sugar
1 ½ tsp. salt
½ c. butter or margarine
1 ½ c. very hot tap water
2 eggs, at room temperature
1 1-3rd c. oats (quick or old fashioned, uncooked)

FROSTING:
1 ½ c. sifted confectioners sugar
½ tsp. cinnamon (optional)
1 tsp. vanilla
4 tsp. milk

Combine 2 cups of the flour, yeast, sugar and salt in large bowl; mix well. Add butter and hot water. Beat at medium speed of electric mixer for 2 minutes, scraping sides of bowl occasionally. Add eggs and 1 cup of the flour. Beat at high speed of electric mixer for 1 minute, scraping sides of bowl occasionally. Stir in oats and enough additional flour to make a soft dough.

Turn out dough onto a floured board or canvas. Knead 5 to 10 minutes or until smooth and elastic. Cover with a plastic wrap and a towel. Let rest on board 20 minutes. Punch dough down. Divide into 2 ½ dozen equal parts. Roll each part to form a 9-inch "rope." Holding one end of "rope" on board, coil to form a spiral, tucking end under. Place on greased cookie sheets. Brush with oil and cover loosely with plastic wrap. Refrigerate 2 to 48 hours.

To bake, let stand at room temperature 10 minutes. Remove plastic wrap. Bake in preheated moderate oven (375 degrees F.) about 20 minutes. Remove from cookie sheet and cool on wire rack. Drizzle with frosting made by combining all ingredients. Makes 2 ½ dozen.

Cookie sale wraps up

Dessert recipes use shortbreads

Girl Scout cookie sales will come to a close this weekend.

Cookie booths will be located in various stores in Big Spring. Girl Scouts will make the final door-to-door rounds Friday and Saturday.

Customers will have to choose between Shortbreads, Sandwich Cremes and Peanut Butter Cookies. The West Texas Council has sold out of Thin Mints and Peanut Butter Patties.

Following are some delicious dessert recipes using Shortbreads and one recipe using any Girl Scout cookies. Try some with the last of the Girl Scout cookies.

ORANGE BALLS
1 lb. Girl Scout Shortbread cookies (rolled fine)
1 stick margarine (melted)
1 (6-oz.) can orange concentrate
1 box powdered sugar
Grated rind of 1 lemon
1 can coconut or toasted slivered almonds.

Put all ingredients in mixing bowl, except coconut. Mix and knead until smooth. Roll into small balls, then roll in coconut or almonds. Place in refrigerator to keep. Makes six dozen.

COOKIE SOUFFLE
1 cup scalded milk
12 Shortbread cookies — broken
4 eggs yolks
½ tsp. vanilla
4 egg whites
Pinch of salt

Pour milk over cookies, add well beaten yolks and cook in a double boiler until thick, cool. Add vanilla and stiffly beaten whites and salt. Put in pudding dish, set in pan of warm water. Bake 325 degrees for 35 minutes. Good served with chocolate sauce.

BANANA-COOKIE PUDDING
Place layer Shortbread cookies in dish, add layer pudding, layer of sliced bananas. Repeat layers, chill before serving.

STRAWBERRY WHIPPED CREAM COOKIE-COMPOTE
Layer Shortbread cookies in dessert-dish, add layer of chilled strawberries and top with whipped cream.

APRICOT WHIP
(Using stewed dried fruit sweetened to taste)
½ tsp. plain gelatin
3 tbsps. cold water
1 cup hot apricot syrup
¾ cup crumbled Shortbread cookies

1 cup whipping cream
12 stewed apricot halves

Soften gelatin in cold water; add to hot syrup and stir until dissolved. Cool and chill. When slightly jellied and beginning to set, whip until light and fluffy. Fold in crumbled cookies and whipped cream. Place the apricot halves in bottom of mold and stand Shortbread cookies around the edge. Pour in gelatin mixture and chill until firm.

DATE AND NUT ROLL
1 dozen Shortbread or other Girl Scout cookies — broken but not too fine
¾ cup chopped dates
14 marshmallows, cut up
1 cup chopped nuts
½ cup whipped cream

Combine the above, saving ½ cup crumbs. Mix well and roll up with ½ cup crumbs on the outside. Wrap in waxed paper and put in refrigerator at least 5 hours. Cut in slices and top with whipped cream.

Royal daughter challenges ban

LONDON (AP) — Eleanor Dixie, daughter of an eccentric British baronet, is going to invoke Britain's new Sex Discrimination Act to challenge a ban on inheriting her father's title.

Sir Wolstan Dixie, who once lost a beer-drinking contest to a pony, was the 13th Baronet of Dixie. He died on Dec. 28, the day before the equal rights act became effective, leaving two daughters — 23-year-old Eleanor and 16-year-old Caroline — and no male relatives in Britain.

Britain's ancient laws of heraldry limit the inheritance of titles to males except in certain special cases, and the Dixie baronetcy isn't one of them. In fact, it's the first time a woman descendant of a baronet has challenged the laws, said Sedley Andrus of the Royal College of Arms.

"I'm not sure how the Sex Discrimination Act will affect her claim," Andrus added.

The act bans discrimination against women because of their sex in most fields of endeavor. The Home Office said it does not apply to claims of succession, but that does not deter Eleanor.

Her mother, Lady Dixie, said "several people in the United States — down South, I believe — have claimed the title. But one can't consider them serious claimants, can one? They're not even English, are they?"

However, the Royal College of Arms, whose scholars usually have the final say in heraldic squabbles, said any American male who could prove he is a direct descendant of the Dixie family would have a good chance of taking the title.

The title dates back to 1650, when Charles I bestowed it on the first Wolstan Dixie for "zealousness in the royal cause" against Oliver Cromwell's Roundheads.

"There's no money involved, just the title," said Eleanor, who helps her mother run a restaurant near their ancestral home at Bosworth Park, 100 miles north of London.

"It's ridiculous that a girl can't inherit the title. I suppose I could have a sex-change operation and do it that way, but I'm happy the way I am."

"Since there are no male heirs, the title will just die out if I cannot claim it. I don't want the title particularly. I just want to have it so I can pass it on to my son when I get married and have one."

Eleanor said she's been deluged with supporting telephone calls since she announced her claim, including one from a young man interested in getting married to keep the Dixie line going.

"He's coming round to tea," she said.

'HIT MAN' HIT — A "known Mafia killer", Joe "The Baron" Barboza, center, wearing dark glasses, is flanked by four security agents as he testifies May 24, 1972, on organized crime in New England before the House Crime Commission. Wednesday, Barboza, who was living in San Francisco under a new identity, was gunned down in what police called an apparent gangland slaying.

'Hit man' who testified apparently slain by mob

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The quiet but uneasy life of a "known Mafia killer," living under a new identity granted by a government grateful for his testimony, has been cut short in a gangland-style shotgun slaying.

Joe "The Baron" Barboza, 42, was killed by a burst of shotgun blasts fired from a passing white van Wednesday while preparing to enter his car, said police Lt. Charles Ellis.

Barboza, who was leaving a friend's home, died on the spot. His killers escaped.

Barboza was a former "enforcer" who admitted committing a number of murders for organized crime. His testimony in 1968 helped send New England crime boss Raymond Patriarca to prison on charges stemming from gambling and murder conspiracy. It was reported last November that there was a $250,000 contract out for Barboza's death.

Ted Sharliss, a friend Barboza had visited and had lunched with, told police he found the victim propped against the driver's side of his light blue Thunderbird, blood gushing from his right side, after hearing a volley of gunshots. He said Barboza had left to pick up a drug prescription.

Witnesses said that as Barboza placed his keys in the lock of his car, a white van approached. A burst of shots then rang out, cutting Barboza down.

"He was gunned down in what appears to have been a gangland slaying," Ellis said. "It definitely seems like an execution-type killing."

Barboza, wearing a sport jacket and slacks, was carrying a hand gun and $300, the coroner said.

After Barboza testified against the New England crime boss, he took the first of three identities and moved to Santa Rosa in Sonoma County, Calif., as Joseph Bentley.

He was arrested under that identity there, however, and convicted of second-degree murder in 1971. He had served nearly four years of a five years-to-life sentence in state prison when released last Oct. 30.

Barboza then took up residence somewhere in the San Francisco Bay area, still

Homemade jet kills builder

NEWTON, Kan. (AP) — A Houston, Tex. man was killed Wednesday in the crash of a small build-it-yourself jet making its maiden flight.

Authorities identified the pilot as W. I. "Steve" Lansing, 51.

It was the first time Lansing had flown the BD5J, a one-occupant craft sold in kit form by Bede Aircraft Inc. of Newton, according to a Federal Aviation Administration spokesman.

Bede's chief test pilot, Lester Berven, told the FAA he had flown the plane several times and Lansing had gone through the required ground training and simulated flights.

A company spokesman said the kit sells for $27,000 and Lansing had spent most of the past two months at the company plant assembling the craft.

The FAA quoted Berven, who was following in another plane, as saying Lansing apparently tilted the nose of his craft too high shortly after takeoff and the plane went into a snap roll and flipped over onto the runway.

The Future Homemakers of America hosted a bicentennial party at the Veteran's Administration Hospital Monday night.

Guests of honor were patients in the hospital who were able to come up to the recreation room. Around 75 attended.

A group of six students from the Big Spring High School band presented mini-numbers from Campus Revue '76.

Members of the Future Homemakers of America group served cupcakes and punch, using red, white and blue in the decorations.

In charge of the event were Jackie Foresyth, Crystal Dean and Linda Holland. Denise Crenwelge is president of the chapter. Thirty girls assisted with the event.

Mrs. Johnnie Lou Avery, one of the co-chairmen of the bicentennial commission, also attended as a special guest.

Sponsors of the chapter are Mrs. Virginia Martin and Mrs. Elma Wrightsil.

Norris gets out of race at Lamesa

LAMESA — Jim Norris, Lamesa City Councilman for several years, has withdrawn unexpectedly from the race for re-election.

Norris refused comment on his reasons for removing himself from the race. He called for "more open, more progressive" operation of the city council.

Norris had filed about two weeks ago for re-election. Also filing for a spot on the council was Mayor Lloyd Cline, who has been on the council 10 years.

In the Lamesa School trustee race, candidates who have filed include Derrell Foreman, former Lamesa High football coach, now a farmer; and Fred Daffern, a farmer and part-owner of the Barton Gin in the Grandview Community.

Other school board candidates include Dr. David Smiley, an incumbent; Dr. Pat Allen, a veterinarian; and Richard Gentry, owner and operator of Bruton Manufacturing Co.

March 3 is the deadline for filing for school board posts. The election is April 3.
