YOU'RE GETTING MY GOAT — Little Chad Farris, 5, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Farris of Lamesa, gives the photographer a curious look as the camera suddenly appears above the goat pen. Chad was feeding his goat, an entry in the show at the annual Dawson County Fair today at the county show barns. The fair continues through Saturday.

Baby show is today

By MARJ CARPENTER
LAMESA — It's County Fair time in Dawson County and everybody seems to be enjoying it.
The baby show at 5 p.m. today will bring out all the fond parents and grandparents.
It is an event that is unusual at West Texas County Fairs and smacks of days long ago.
In Lamesa, it is held right inside the cattle pens where special artificial grass is spread down for the occasion. And by night they're going to know who has the prettiest babies in Lamesa.
Nobody but the judges and the winners are going to agree on that subject, but they are going to know.

The grand champion winner in the hog show was named on opening day. It's a Duroc that belongs to Mike Holcomb of the Klondike FFA.
The reserve champion was shown by Roxanne Airhart of the Dawson County 4-H. Her winner was a Hampshire.
The agriculture products exhibit is really unusual. The display features almost two dozen different vegetables and some fruits, some flowers, gourds and may other items. There is also a display of sorghum. However, cotton is still King in Dawson County and the most interest is shown in the stalks of cotton hanging above the display.

Commercial and club exhibits are also featured at the fair and in the far corner of the show grounds, the women's building is completely filled with items made by Dawson County housewives.
Across the street, the arts and crafts show is displayed and it too attracts a lot of interest.
The Dawson County Fair features such unusual items as a Ladies Slipper Kicking Contest, but it also is an expert at the tried and true Fair events.

There is a carnival. There is a hog show, steer show, goat show and rabbit show.
The Dawson County Fair is probably the oldest continuous county fair in West Texas. So many of the shows have been held a few years and then halted and then revised.

Living textbook conference near

The Big Spring Herald's Living Textbook Conference will begin in the Science Building at Howard College with registration at 8 a.m. Saturday.
Dr. J. Rodney Short of Denton heads the discussion along with Beverly Dickerson of Odessa.
The class will begin after registration and will continue until noon.
Objective of the conference is to introduce teachers to the many possibilities of enriching their instructional program through the use of the daily newspaper.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford is expected to sign the tax bill that continues some existing income tax cuts and makes major revisions in the nation's tax laws.
Congress approved the bill Thursday.
For the first time, many housewives could qualify for tax-deferred pension plans. And a family's tax bills would be cut by as much as $800 a year for parents who must hire a babysitter, so they can hold their jobs. A simpler, more generous tax-cutting credit would go to the elderly. Investors would discover their tax shelters are disappearing.

Tower says of Air Force

'Didn't make case'

(Below is an analysis of the meeting which the Big Spring delegation and five Texas congressmen and senators had with the Air Force Thursday following release of the environmental impact statement on Webb Air Force Base. Beginning Sunday in the Publisher's Corner, J. Tom Graham will write about the impact statement section-by-section with both Air Force and Big Spring comments on each.)

By J. TOM GRAHAM
WASHINGTON — After reading the environmental impact statement on Webb Air Force Base, Sen. John Tower told the Air Force that it had failed to make its case that Webb should be closed.

AND THE impact statement supports what some Air Force officials have privately admitted: that the decision to close Webb over four alternate bases is a "toss up."
The Air Force initially gave three reasons for selecting Webb as a candidate for closure:
1) Productivity was limited because of two runways.
2) The facilities at Webb were less adequate than at some other bases.
3) Urban encroachment caused problems for the base.

How did those three initial reasons stand up in the environmental impact statement released Wednesday by the Air Force?
The Big Spring delegation, which was in Washington to receive the impact statement and discuss it with Texas congressmen and senators and the Air Force, contends that the three reasons for selecting Webb did not stand up at all. This is what the impact statement says on the three points:

1) TWO RUNWAYS versus three runways is not a significant factor in student pilot productivity. Using the Air Force's calculations of "theoretical capacity" based on flying days, runways and other computerized factors, Webb has an annual capacity of 413 pilots.
This is far above Craig AFB (Alabama) which has 291, the other candidate for closure.
But it is also above Columbus (Mississippi) with its capacity of 368 pilots and Vance (Oklahoma) with 405

Won't deal in specifics

(Special to the Herald)
Betty Rainwater, assistant press secretary to Gov. Carter, told the Herald via telephone from Atlanta Thursday afternoon, after being alerted to the fact that the governor's son, Jack Carter, had said he thought his father would not close a military base "as efficient as Webb."
"Gov. Carter has gone on record as favoring a strong defensive posture, but we must remember that the governor is not the president. Hopefully, he will be. But I don't think he can afford to deal in specifics at this time."

Jack Carter, when queried by a Herald on a trip earlier in the week to Idaho and Lubbock, stated:
"Dad is for a strong defense. He's solid on that. The five per cent budget cut he supports would be accomplished by cutting out some of the administrative costs, not by closing efficient bases."

"I can't tell you he's going to keep it (Webb) open," Jack continued, "but Dad is one for efficiency. Since I understand Webb is one of the most efficient training bases, I can't see him closing it or any other efficient base."
Ms. Rainwater conceded Jack Carter may be privy to information about the governor's stand on the military posture not available to her "because he is a member of the family."
She plans to forward to The Herald copies of Jimmy Carter's exact quotes on military budgeting, she said.

Thanks to you it works...

pilots which are not primary candidates for closure.

WEBB ALSO ranks very close to the leaders of those being considered. Laughlin AFB (Del Rio) has a capacity of 427; Reese AFB (Lubbock) has a capacity of 421.

Of the six bases being considered for possible closure, only two have higher capacity than Webb.
The Big Spring delegation also noted that the Air Force has previously chosen to close a three-runway base (Laredo) over two runway bases.

Air Force officials admitted number of runways was not the most significant factor in pilot production.

2) THE Air Force's calculations on construction that is needed at the bases shows Webb's facilities in second-best shape.

The impact statement says both Webb and Craig need $13 million in future construction, while Reese needs $14, Columbus needs $14, and Laughlin needs $22 million.

Vance, which needs $10 million, is low because of its civilian contract arrangement.

Air Force officials, headed at the meeting by Dr. Billy Welch who is special assistant for environmental quality, said that facilities could not be considered a significant reason for closing Webb.

3) URBAN encroachment is identified in the impact statement as being "relatively significant" at Webb.
At other bases, this is rated as either minor or minimal.

The impact statement says that the T-38 program must swing an extra four miles around Big Spring because of the city being in the approach pattern.

However, the impact statement notes that there have been no noise complaints, and the Air Force officials said that there was no significant problem with urban encroachment at any of the ATC bases. They did contend that while it was not a significant problem, Webb did have the most encroachment.

THE BIG SPRING delegation pointed out that Webb and the City of Big Spring have been in the same position with each other for the 25 years that pilots have been trained at Webb, and that no construction has been done in the approach pattern.
Air Force officials again admitted this factor was a most insignificant one.

THEN WHAT factors are significant, the Big Spring delegation wanted to know?

The only one listed by the Air Force officials as being of certain significance was weather.

In that category, Webb and Laughlin rank best with only 22 per cent of sorties canceled due to weather.

Craig ranked at the bottom with 31 per cent sorties canceled by weather, and Columbus had 29 per cent. Reese and Vance showed 23 per cent.

The air space at all bases was considered adequate with Laughlin ranked best. Columbus was deemed to have the best mission flexibility because it was initially designed for heavy aircraft before being converted to lighter training planes, and in time of a crisis, it could be converted back.

The Air Force said that Secretary Reed will take all these factors, and the socio-economic impact factors, into consideration before making his final decision, expected to come in January.

Action/reaction: Look both ways

Q. Saturday morning, Sept. 11 between 1:30 and 2 a.m., my husband and I were going east on 4th St. We met a city policeman traveling west, going against the traffic, with his lights off. I am sure he was in the process of trying to catch someone in a crime, but this seems like an awful dangerous method to use. What reason would a policeman have traveling against the traffic with his lights off?

A. The Police activity sheet at that hour on that particular morning shows no major crime in that part of town. The burglar alarm did go off at Security State Bank but that is some distance away. One police official stated that from time to time, they do ease around the downtown buildings while checking them for security and sometimes go against the traffic. Your question did not say whether he was easing or going at full speed. But in answer to the question about danger, yes, we would say it would be extremely dangerous and we do not understand the reasoning.

Offbeat: She'd know him

A local woman filed an indecent exposure complaint Thursday night with the city police.
She saw a totally nude man standing by the sliding door on her back porch.
The woman screamed and the man ran, heading across a field toward the alley. The woman told police that he was only wearing a pair of white socks.
When asked if she knew the man, she said "No, but I think I'd recognize him if I saw him again."

TV's best: Muhammad Ali roast

Floating like butterflies and stinging like bees, a star-studded group gathers to roast heavyweight champ Muhammad Ali on the Dean Martin Celebrity Roast, airing at 9 p.m. on NBC. Among those throwing mud are Orson Welles, Gabe Kaplan, Rocky Graziano, Gene Kelly and Floyd Patterson.

Great Puzzle Contest

Identify this photograph and: WIN $100

Below is a puzzle piece from a picture of a Big Spring area object or place. To the first person or persons who can specifically identify the object, the Herald will pay $50 — plus another $50 bonus if the winner is a home delivery or mail subscriber of the Herald, or a grand total prize of $100.

HERE ARE THE RULES: Each day, a different puzzle piece will be run in the Herald. Save them, and try to piece together the identification of the place. Your answer must be specific to win. Opinions of the judges are final. At 5 p.m. each day, the judges will review guesses which arrive at the Herald on that day. Entries arriving after that time will go in the following day's judging. Winners will be announced only at this spot in the newspaper on the next day. If there is more than one winner on any day, the $100 prize will be divided evenly among them.

UP THE STREET — The Big Spring High School Steer Band took time out from its busy schedule to march up the street in the Dies y Seis parade

Thursday. Members play and perform at the football game in Snyder tonight and help officially open the Howard County Fair Monday night.

In Johannesburg again Arsonists busy

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Arsonists struck in downtown Johannesburg for the second day and unrest continued in Cape Town today in advance of a two-day visit by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger.

Heavily armed police here and in Cape Town patrolled black and mixed-race townships. Kissinger was due to arrive at Waterkloof air base outside Pretoria in midafternoon.

Arson attempts and stone-throwing incidents were also reported in Soweto, the huge black township outside Johannesburg, and sporadic violence continued in colored and black districts around Cape Town, where at least eight persons have been killed and 41 injured in a day and a night of disturbances.

In the Athlone colored township near Cape Town, a crowd halted a food truck, looted it and set it on fire. Attempts were also made to set shops and cars alight in the Manenberg and Athlone areas.

Bus service to Soweto, resumed earlier today for the first time this week, was interrupted again and buses were running only as far as the township's outskirts. Police erected road blocks on all roads leading to Soweto and whites have been banned from entering the township.

In downtown Johannesburg, two fires were started in the offices of the Star newspaper among reels of newsprint and in the staff canteen. The fires were quickly put out and little damage was done.

"This could be a protest from the left or a protest from the right," said editor Harvey Tyson. "At this stage we don't know."

A department store was firebombed in Johannesburg on Thursday. During the night attempts were made to start fires in two buildings at the University of the Witwatersrand, police said.

"We believe this type of attack may be the first of many planned to coincide with Kissinger's visit," a police spokesman said. "We are worried but we will take all necessary precautions."

Kissinger has scheduled talks with Prime Minister John Vorster on the future of Rhodesia and the South African-controlled territory of South-West Africa, where black nationalists have been fighting guerrilla wars against white minority regimes. But he also planned to meet with black and mixed race South African leaders.

Rhodesian Prime Minister Ian Smith was scheduled to fly to Johannesburg, about 40 miles from Pretoria, on Saturday to watch an international rugby match. There have been reports Kissinger and Smith would meet, but they have so far not been confirmed.

The looting and arson in the Cape Town area Thursday night was aggravated by a massive power failure that plunged much of the Cape peninsula into darkness.

One of those killed was a 15-year-old girl whose relatives said, was hit by a stray bullet as she watched the rioting from a third-floor window.

Although there were no official identifications, it was believed the dead were all nonwhites.

Band routine is announced

Traveling to Snyder tonight, the Big Spring High School Steer Band will march in its third show of the season.

To thrill the crowd, the Steer Band will perform "Steer Band Fanfare," written by band director Gene Currie exclusively for the band. Under the field direction of drum majors Debbie Shroyer and Blaine Hinton, the band will then perform the march "Klaxon."

The 1976-77 twirlers, Lisa Kelly, Anita Butler, Cindy Garrison, and Shonna Corran, will then be featured in an arrangement of the disco favorite, "That's The Way I Like It." The band will then form the letters S.W.A.T., which stand for the new motto: "Steers Will Attack Tonight." This drill is accompanied by the "Theme from S.W.A.T.," a rendition of the popular television program theme song.

In fine tradition of the Steer Band of Big Spring High School, the show will close with the forming of the letters B.S.H.S. and the fight song, "Steers Fight."

PROUD CABALLERO — Since the Spanish brought horses to America in the first place, it was fitting that somebody remembered to ride one in the Dies y Seis parade here Thursday. A cowpuncher named John Moreleon rides proudly down Main Street, reminiscent of Pancho Villa and the Cisco Kid.

Space flights in 10 years? Glimpse of orbiter

PALMDALE, Calif. (AP) — Future space travelers and earthbound taxpayers alike get their first glimpse today of a 122-foot-long Space Shuttle orbiter that may be carrying scientists and cargo on routine round-trip flights into space in less than 10 years.

the spaceship featured on the television series "Star Trek," is being unveiled at Rockwell International's facility here.

It cost the federal government $205 million to have this first shuttle designed and built, with the entire six-year development program for several additional shuttles tagged at $5.2 billion.

National Aeronautics and Space Administration officials say the shuttle can be used at least 100 times and will save hundreds of millions of dollars over the present one-time-only space shots.

Though it won't make its first space voyage until the early 1980s, testing begins early next year at nearby Edwards Air Force Base.

The shuttle is designed to take off vertically like present space shots, powered by two disposable solid rocket boosters, and soar into orbit around the earth. The stubby-winged orbiter craft will return to earth in a glide and land like an airplane on a runway.

The shuttle is the next stage of the U.S. manned space flight program. With its capability of carrying passengers, it will provide the first opportunity for nonastronaut civilians, such as scientists, to fly in space.

The shuttle can be used to carry satellites into orbit, saving the costs of expensive, nonreusable launch rockets. It also can be equipped to snare defective satellites, which can be taken into the shuttle's spacious cargo bay to be repaired and placed back in orbit.

And there are plans for the shuttle to carry Spacelab, a European space station, into orbit.

Also being considered are more ambitious projects, like hauling interplanetary spacecrafts into orbit and assembling and launching them outside the pull of earth's gravity.

The original name of the orbiter was the "Constitution," but after a heavy letter-writing campaign from "Star Trek" fans, President Ford supported a move to call the craft "Enterprise."

Delegation back from Washington

The Big Spring delegation which had been in Washington to receive and discuss the environmental impact statement on Webb Air Force Base returned home at midnight Thursday.

The delegation, headed by Big Spring Mayor Wade Choate, was to have briefed a meeting of community leaders at noon today in the Big Spring Country Club.

Attending were to have been members of the Century Club Executive Board, the Legislative Affairs Committee, directors of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce, and city and county officials.

The delegation had spent the last three days in the nation's capital working on a strategy with Texas congressmen and senators for saving Webb, which the Air Force has proposed to be closed.

Choate will meet with Webb officials to work out a date for the public hearing on the proposed closing.

Big decision for Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate, which has twice refused to accept a complete ban on the use of federal funds for abortions, must now decide whether a partial ban is more acceptable.

A House-passed measure that the Senate is considering today would prohibit federal funds from being spent for abortions through Medicaid except when the life of a woman is endangered by a full-term pregnancy.

The House approved the proposal Thursday by a 256-114 vote. It is attached to a $5.6 billion appropriations bill for the departments of labor and health education and welfare and may face a veto because the appropriations bill is $4 billion more than President Ford asked for.

The abortion amendment was agreed to Wednesday by House-Senate conferees trying to come up with a compromise between the original House bill that would have banned all federal funds for abortions and the Senate bill that had no limiting provisions.

The amendment permits federally funded abortions when they are considered medical necessities by physicians. Such abortions are not precluded when a woman's life is endangered by disease.

The amendment prohibits federal payment for abortions "as a method of family planning or for emotional or social convenience."

Rep. Silvio Conte, R-Mass., who had drafted the amendment, urged his House colleagues to adopt it quickly so that Congress would have time to try and override any presidential veto before the lawmakers adjourn Oct. 2.

Opponents of the amendment claim it is unconstitutional and invades a woman's right to privacy. They also say it discriminates against poor women who would not have access to such legal medical services except through federal programs.

At least one abortion rights group has already pledged to file a lawsuit seeking to overturn the compromise.

Funds contained in the appropriations bill are for fiscal year 1977 that begins Oct. 1.

Two Dallasites shot to death

DALLAS (AP) — A 62-year-old man was charged with two counts of murder Thursday night after surrendering to detectives for the slaying of his wife—secretary to Dallas Police Chief Don Byrd—and an off-duty policeman.

Theran Robie Ayers surrendered to Dallas detectives at his home within an hour after two bodies were found in a van along the Trinity River Thursday afternoon.

Police said a telephone call to headquarters tipped them where to find the bodies of Mrs. Pearl Ayers, 54, and police officer A.B. (AMRT) Hammitt, 48.

Judge George Orndorf set the bond at $25,000 on each murder charge.

Deputy Chief J. D. Bryant, commander of the criminal investigation division, said the victims were shot in the head with a shotgun as they sat in the front seat.

Chief Bryant said detectives reported the victims apparently were eating lunch when the blasts were fired through the window on the driver's side.

Fellow workers said the Ayers and Hammitt families had gone on camping trips together and had participated in school activities of their children.

Officer Dwaine Hall, an assistant to Chief Byrd, said Ayers called him 13 minutes after a man called the fire department requesting an ambulance and telling where the dead bodies could be found.

Hall said Ayers told him he had shot his wife and

Postal banquet set Saturday

Local postal employees will stage their annual banquet starting at 7 p.m., Saturday in the Howard College cafeteria.

Few speeches will be made. Postmaster Frank Hardesty has promised. Hardesty will emcee the program and see that everyone gets fed.

Among special guests will be David Holster, section center manager, Midland; Varner Stevens, Odessa; Eddie Engle, Coahoma; and Bill Brooks, Sterling City.

Families of postal employees, of course, have an open invitation to attend.

Students ousted

SPRINGLAKE — Sixteen Springlake students were expelled from school for three days here Wednesday after refusing to get their hair cut.

The expulsions were announced by Bob May, high school principal.

NOT SO SURE — Chuck Senter of Lamesa is lending a hand to Mrs. Don Holcomb of Klondike in getting ready for the Steer Show at the Dawson County Fair. However, Chuck says, Mrs. Holcomb's son Mike has already shown the grand champion hog, and he wasn't sure they really needed any help.

Mrs. Thornton

Mrs. Jesse (Dorothy) Thornton, 62, died at 12:30 p.m. Thursday in a local hospital.

The funeral will be at 11 a.m. Saturday in Wesley United Methodist Church with the Rev. Jene Greer officiating. Burial will be in Trinity Mausoleum with Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home in charge.

Born July 13, 1914 in Baird, Mrs. Thornton lived in Big Spring for 45 years. She married Jesse T. Thornton July 1, 1939 in Big Spring. He preceded her in death July 22, 1963.

She was active in youth work and worked with 4-H Clubs. She owned property in the 11th Place Shopping Center and was a member of the Methodist church. The family suggest memorials to the American Cancer Society.

Survivors include four daughters, Mrs. Jack Milam, Donaldsonville, La.; Mrs. Kay Walker, Big Spring; Mrs. Jimmie Schuelke, Houston and Mrs. Lucy Escamilla, Brady.

One sister, Mrs. Gertrude McMasters of Big Spring, also survives, as do eight grandchildren.

Pallbearers are to be Jimmy Taylor, W. L. Thompson, Herman McPherson, E. P. Driver, Charlie Wasson and E. C. Bell.

Pennies strewn all over road

KIT CARSON, Colo. (AP) — A truck carrying $57,500 in freshly minted pennies collided with a cattle truck Thursday, killing two persons and unknown number of livestock and scattering millions of pennies "all over the road," officials said.

Betty Higby, superintendent of the Denver Mint, said the pennies, in 50-pound bags, were being transported to the Federal Reserve Bank in San Antonio, Tex., at the time of the accident, about seven miles west of here.

Mrs. Higby said she didn't know how many of the 1,150 coin bags were split open in the collision, and no estimation was available on how many of the 5.7 million pennies were unrecovered by investigators at the scene.

Tax rebate is sizeable

Big Spring received a "pretty good size" sales tax rebate from Austin recently, according to city officials.

The check from State Comptroller Bob Bullock's office was in the amount of $139,977.98.

Allocations for area cities included $4,967.56 for Coahoma; $21,058.74 for Colorado City; $43,122.25 for Lamesa; and $4,662.86 for Stanton.

Total allocations for the state for the period ending Sept. 3 came to $56,653,368.40.

Balanced books seen for '80

WACO, Tex. (AP) — Sen. Lloyd Bentsen told Baylor University students today that under certain conditions "we can realistically hope for a balanced federal budget by 1980. That should be our goal."

Burleson says bases like Webb are needed

WASHINGTON — Sen. Lloyd Bentsen Thursday warned that if the Air Force proceeds with plans to close Webb Air Force Base in Big Spring and Craig Air Force Base in Alabama it won't be able to train all the pilots this country's defense system will need by 1981.

Bentsen, Congressman George Mahon, and other members of the Texas Congressional delegation, joined with a delegation from Big Spring Thursday at a meeting in Washington with top Air Force officials.

Those present from Big Spring included Mayor Wade Choate, Publisher J. Tom Graham, Big Spring Herald, attorney Ben Bancroft, and Winston Wrinkle. The Air Force representatives were headed by Dr. Billy E. Welch, special assistant to the Secretary of the Air Force.

"It makes no sense to close one base this year and have to turn around and build another base several years later," Senator Bentsen told the Air Force spokesman.

"By your own statistics, if you go ahead with plans to close Webb AFB and Craig AFB, the demand for pilots by fiscal year 1981 will exceed your capacity to train them."

Bentsen said he objects to the preliminary environmental impact statement submitted by the Air Force because it does not consider possible alternate missions.

The Senator pointed out that Webb is currently training foreign pilots under the Security Assistance Training Program and he noted that this program will expand substantially in the wake of projected sale to Iran of 160 F16 fighter planes.

"Where will this foreign pilot training program be located if you close?"

"Webb has so much going for it: the best weather, more than enough flying space, and outstanding community relations; and I believe it would be a serious mistake for the Air Force to close this excellent facility," Senator Bentsen said.

Candy shops change hands

DALLAS — The Southland Corporation has sold its Barricini-Loft Candy operations to B.L. Candy Co., Inc. Joseph S. Hardin, executive vice president of Southland and John E. McCullough, president of B.L. Candy jointly announced the transaction.

Hardin said the sale includes the manufacturing plant in Long Island City, N.Y., all Barricini and Loft trade names and trademarks and the remaining candy shops which have been operated by Southland in the New York area.

Jere W. Thompson, president of The Southland Corporation, and Thomas L. Tinsley, president of the privately held Quick Shop Markets Inc., headquartered in St. Louis, Mo., have jointly announced that Southland has agreed to purchase for cash substantially all of the operating assets of Quick Shop.

Quick Shop's operations include 45 franchised and 69 company-operated convenience stores principally in metropolitan St. Louis. Thompson said the purchase would enable Southland's North Central 7-Eleven Stores Division to expand into this new area.

Be careful when being interviewed

How do you talk to a reporter? Carefully, very carefully.

ESPECIALLY IF the television, radio, magazine or newspaper reporter is interviewing you on a difficult and sensitive subject — such as the proposed closing of Webb Air Force Base.

Since the Webb situation became statewide, and indeed nationwide, news last spring, a number of persons in Big Spring have had dealings with the news media, and not all of them have been what one might call moments of joy.

Letter from Paris

Art Buchwald

PARIS — There is not too much happening in France at the moment. The biggest controversy seems to be that a French bishop insists on saying the Catholic Mass in Latin instead of French, and the Pope is very mad at him. The country is now divided on the issue with the Gaullists supporting the bishop, the Independent Socialists the Pope, and the Communists demanding a television debate before they decide how to vote.

THE AMERICAN tourist, long the symbol of U.S. imperialism in France, has virtually disappeared and has been replaced in all the first-class hotels by large families of Arab sheiks, their wives and children. The lobby of the Hotel George V is now full of little Saudi Arabian princes and princesses playing soccer between the chairs while their parents are out trying to figure out how to spend millions of dollars' worth of oil royalties in Paris shops. The employees of the hotel have strict orders not to remonstrate the children for anything they do because an average Arab kid in a Paris hotel spends $100 a day ordering from room service.

There has been a drought in northern France, and this has given the French merchants an excuse to raise their prices not only on food products in the drought zone, but on other things that ordinarily would not be affected by water.

A handbag I priced on the Faubourg St. Honore cost $450. The lady in the store explained to me it was "because of the drought."

A man's shirt in a window near the Place de l'Opera had been marked up from $40 to $50 "because of the drought."

EVEN A Louis V table in an antique shop had increased by $8,000 because of the dry weather in Normandy. The antique merchant explained that because of the lack of water the dealers had to slaughter all their Louis V tables, since they couldn't afford to fee them any more.

The big question I was constantly asked in Paris by the French was, "What do the Americans think of Giscard d'Estaing and France?"

I had to be honest and explain that Giscard was probably as well known in the United States as Richard Schweiker, and the last time France was mentioned in the United States was when some Croatians hijacked an airplane flying from New York to Chicago.

"But it isn't our fault," I explained to my French friends: "Most Americans are only interested in the countries Henry Kissinger is interested in. At the moment Henry has decided he prefers Africa to France, and we have to go along with him."

"Why?" a Frenchman asked me.

"BECAUSE HENRY knows best," I replied. "The national interests of the United States are inexorably tied to Namibia, Rhodesia and South Africa. It came as a surprise to most of us, but if Henry says, 'That's where it's happening,' we have no choice but to put our prestige and money on the line. Henry doesn't fly around the world for nothing."

My French friend said, "He's making a big mistake getting into that stew."

"Ordinarily I would agree with you, but as an American I cannot question Henry's reasons for taking such a big interest in southern Africa. Besides, he may have something going for him in Capetown that none of us knows about."

My French friend said, "Do you think Kissinger will stay on if Ford is elected President?"

"He'll have to," I said. "He can't quit until Namibia is a free nation."

"Where is Namibia?"

"If we Americans knew," I replied testily, "do you think we'd tell you?"

Some really strange things have appeared in newscasts and in print from the words of Big Spring people. Though most of the reporting of the Webb situation has been good, there have been some Scenic Mountain high bloopers.

The Herald has been in the unusual position of running clarifications of statements that came from out-of-town news media, and a couple of them as late as only this week.

We have done so to help local people straighten out misunderstandings which have come from outside reports.

ONE LESSON that has been learned is to be especially careful when talking to a reporter who breezes through town to do a Webb impact story.

Such a two-hour expert on the Big Spring situation may not have any background knowledge, and that can lead to misunderstandings.

Communication between people is tough enough when there are hours to talk with all persons knowledgeable on the subject.

The communication problem is compounded when the reporter has to condense what has been learned into a hopefully fair and accurate story. It is difficult enough in a newspaper article, and it is almost impossible to be fair in a 45-second, highly generalized television report.

For those who will no doubt be interviewed many times again before the Webb AFB decision is resolved, let me make a few suggestions on how to talk to a reporter:

—First, talk slowly and clearly, and make certain the reporter is understanding what you say.

—Most of us don't think out what we are going to say before we say it, but when talking to a reporter, this is necessary. The old saying goes, "Make sure brain is engaged before mouth is placed in gear."

—Don't answer a question that you don't want to be quoted on. Most reporters don't mind a hedge, such as, "I am not really the one who should field that question," or, "I am not at a point where I can comment on that right now," providing the hedge is a true and honest one.

—Make sure the reporter understands very clearly the point or points you feel are most important. The reporter may not include them always, but your chances are better if the emphasis is unmistakable.

—Say fewer words and make them to the point. That will increase the chances that the reporter will be forced to use the quote you want.

EVE IF you do these things, there is no absolute guarantee that your part of the story will read exactly as you would have it. Everything is subjective, the reading as well as the writing.

But the public officials I have known who received the best press followed this approach. They thought carefully before answering. They spoke slowly, and if necessary, repeated their statement. They didn't try to fool the reporter, but they would not answer a question if it was loaded or if it dealt with a subject on which they were not ready to comment.

Then the responsibility is on the reporter to be fair, and I believe most news organizations sincerely want their reports to be as accurate and fair as possible within the limits of human communication.

Contortionist has advice on 'splits'

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: May I add some advice to your answer to Miss J.D., who pulled a ligament after doing splits?

Limping up before doing such tricks is of the utmost importance to avoid injury. At least 15 to 20 minutes should be spent in warm-up exercises such as pikes and high kicks — forward and backward in a pendulum motion.

Another helpful exercise is to sit on the floor with the back straight against the wall. Place the feet sole-to-sole against the body and have someone else apply gentle pressure to the knees to bring them toward each other. Stop applying pressure when it pulls.

In my 18 years as a professional contortionist and circus aerialist, I only had one torn ligament. It's sheer agony, especially when the show must go on.

I am always horrified to see kids doing acrobatics without proper preparation or under supervision of someone who does not know the first thing about acrobatics or the human body.

Please tell Miss J.D. that some people are naturally limber while others must work awfully hard (every day) or at least six days a week for many months to reach the same results. —L.P.J.

Excellent advice. Glad to add your personal experience to my general warning about this.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I had a hemorrhoid operation three years ago and now I find it difficult to control my bowel movements. I try to have a movement before leaving home in the morning for work. I find it necessary to use suppositories about four times a week. I was wondering if this is harmful. I usually have another movement in the afternoon or evening.

The reason I like to have one in the morning is so I won't get the urge while driving to work — Mrs. F.N.

What happens the other days or on days when you don't work or are on vacation? Perhaps your anxiety about the timing is adding to your problem. You should be able to get into more regular bowel habits unless, of course, there is a basic bowel problem. More on this later. Try adjusting your morning routine, perhaps getting up and having breakfast a bit earlier, or taking a soothing shower or bath to relax you.

So-called "rush movements" suggest such problems as faulty rectal muscle (sphincter) control. That could be caused by adhesions (scars) from your hemorrhoid surgery. Anal sphincter muscle control can be helped by Kegel exercises, which consist of voluntarily contracting (tightening) the anal area as at the end of a movement. It should be done several times a day.

Laxative foods can be a factor. Analyze your eating habits. Generally speaking, I would rather see you attain control without use of suppositories, but if you need them I see nothing wrong with bland suppositories such as glycerine. Given your history of hemorrhoids, I suggest a rectal examination and, while you're at it, a check of the lower digestive tract.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have never used hair coloring. But I am thinking of using a semi-permanent coloring to cover up some gray. Is this dangerous to the health? I have heard that it can get into the bladder and blood. Would it affect a person's head and cause one to act strangely? —Mrs. A.J.

Most hair dyes are quite safe nowadays, but a patch test is always in order to determine if you are sensitive to any of the ingredients. You can conduct a patch test. To do this, put a bit of the dye on your arm or back and cover the area for two days with a clean dressing. Note any reaction such as redness or bleb formation.

Unless accidentally ingested such dyes would not affect your blood, bladder or your behavior.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is it all right to use duck or turkey eggs in baking cookies or pound cakes and pastries? —G.M.C.

Both are acceptable.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: You have made reference to a book called "A Grief Observed," which C.S. Lewis wrote under a pseudonym. Can you give me his pen name? I have been unable to find it. —G.R.

DEAR G.R.: "A Grief Observed" was first published in London in 1961, and the name of the author was given as N. W. Clerk. Since then, the book has been republished under the author's real name, and it is under "C.S. Lewis" that you are most likely to find a copy in the bookstores today.

I would recommend that the book be read in conjunction with a previous publication by C.S. Lewis called "The Problem of Pain," first published in 1940. In this volume Prof. Lewis deals with the subject of suffering in the world and gives sound Christian teaching on the reason for the existence of pain, suffering and evil. He published this book before he had experienced deep suffering himself, and after he did, during the illness and death of his wife, he wrote "A Grief Observed." He was now writing from experience, and because the two books seemed in some ways to contradict each other, he decided to write his later volume under a pseudonym. This has now been corrected and the two books go well together.

It is important, no matter what aspect of Christian thought we are dealing with, to have the correct doctrinal position clearly in our minds before we go through the experience to which it relates. It is interesting to see how Lewis's theories on suffering paralleled his actual experiences when he went through the agony of seeing his wife's suffering and death at the age of 45. It is also worth noting that his wife was an atheist, until she read some of Lewis's books and found Christ through them.

Around the rim

John Edwards

As we wade through life, some of us, who didn't do too well in Philosophy 301, try to find basic principles which can be stated in a sentence or a few sentences.

THESE APHORISMS may be original, borrowed from literature, stolen from friends or born from crossbreeding others' thoughts: "Everything is always so beautiful in the beginning" — divorced friend in her early thirties.

"That's life. Life's hell." — famous world traveler in her early twenties.

"The Sun Also Rises" by Hemingway, offers a lot of philosophy with the story.

"Ought not to daunt you. Never be daunted. Secret of my success. Never been daunted. Never been daunted in public."

"Where were you drinking?" "Stopped at the Crillon. George made me a couple of Jack Roses. George's a great man. Know the secret of his success? Never been daunted."

"You'll be daunted after about three more periods." "Not in public. If I begin to feel daunted, I go off by myself. I'm like a cat that way."

These are later passages:

"I THOUGHT I had paid for everything. Not like the woman pays and pays and pays. No idea of retribution or punishment. Just exchange of values. You gave up something and got something else. Or you worked for something. You paid some way for everything that was any good. I paid my way into enough things that I liked, so that I had a good time. Either you paid by learning about them, or by experience, or by taking chances, or by money. Enjoying living was learning to get your money's worth and knowing when you had it. You could get your money's worth. The world was a good place to buy in . . ."

"That was morality; things that made you disgusted afterward. No, that must be immorality. That was a large statement. What a lot of bilge I could think up at night."

"Semi-Tough" by Dan Jenkins contains this one— "Uncle Kenneth always told me, 'If you like sports and know how to gamble, then you'll always be interested in something and never come to no real harm.'"

That true. Local tennis competitors are looking for something in which to be interested Sunday nights and Mondays when the local center is closed.

Accused of buildup

Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — In blunt, blistering language, Saudi Arabian officials have accused the United States of building up the Shah of Iran for an armed invasion of Arabian oil fields.

The respected Saudi oil minister, Ahmed Zaki Yamani, warned that the shah was "highly unstable mentally." If the U.S. authorities failed to recognize this, added Yamani, they must be losing their "powers of observation."

THE SAUDIS confided their fears last year to James E. Akins, then the U.S. ambassador, who relayed the message to Washington in startling secret letters and memos.

One "memorandum for the file," dated Aug. 28, 1975, describes the explosive conversation with Yamani. The oil minister, according to the secret memo, said "the conclusion the Saudis were reaching was that we had an agreement with Iran to let it take over the entire Arabian littoral of the Persian Gulf."

Yamani believed the United States "had urged the shah to make peace with Iraq." Akins added, "so Iran would have a freer hand in the lower Gulf."

The Saudi oil minister was convinced that the United States was deliberately bolstering that shah's extraordinary military buildup was quite clearly aimed at occupying the Arab states across the Gulf, the Emirates, Qatar, Bahrain, Kuwait and even Saudi Arabia itself.

The secret memo quotes Yamani as saying tersely "that the talk of eternal friendship between Iran and the United States was nauseating to him and other Saudis. They knew the Shah was a megalomaniac, that he was highly unstable mentally and if he didn't recognize this, there must be something wrong with our powers of observation."

The Saudis had become persuaded, Akins noted, that "in the next Arab-Israeli war, Israel . . . would be encouraged to occupy Tobuk in northern Saudi Arabia and Iran would be told to occupy the Arabian littoral."

If such a situation developed, Yamani warned Akins: "Iraq could be involved immediately and so would be the Soviet Union. But if Iran should succeed in occupying part of the Arabian coast, it would find only smoking ruins; and the Western oil consumers would face catastrophe."

Mailbag Big Spring Herald

Dear Editor: I question your integrity in publishing the compromising and contradictory statement by Jack Carter that Jimmy Carter would cut the budget but avoid closing "efficient" bases such as Webb. I fear Jack Carter, like Jimmy Carter, has omitted a vital detail. Carter's proposed five per cent budget cut through administrative cost-cuts inevitably forces base closures. This political ploy fails to emphasize the "efficient" bases are run by capable, well-staffed administrative offices — and these offices cost more than peanuts.

Kren Phaneuf

Dear Editor: How unfortunate that the citizens of Big Spring and others who subscribe to your Herald must suffer the abominable coverage that you give sports. This past weekend, the South-west Conference opened the football season. And what did you have to report on it all?

A meager two columns about three-fourths the length of the page on the fourth page of the section were all that you expounded to. I looked further for greater details of the conference games and some possible statistics but found none. I did find vast listings and stats of area high school games. I am not knocking the high schools, but how about some equal space? My chagrin was not too great as I expected you would report the statistics and stories in Monday's Herald. Obviously, the hopes for stories were not there nor in the Tuesday paper.

I really question your subscription with the Associated Press. What would be your reaction if they sent you the rubbish you send us and called it Sports?

No doubt the costs of printed copy are high and getting higher. When a newspaper stops printing the news and regresses to a collection of advertisements just to pay for itself, I doubt seriously that it could be titled a newspaper.

Get with the program and start reporting the Sports. Should it not improve you will be less one subscription!

Events at Webb keep Iranians entertained

By MIKE COCHRAN
Associated Press Writer
BIG SPRING, Tex. (AP)

The jet fighter banked lazily on one wing, its plexiglass canopy reflecting the dying sun like a diamond. The young Iranian at the controls peered through his visor at the blowing dust below and perhaps thought of the exotic feast awaiting him. Ah, yes: sear, serkeh, seeb. Maybe some samarnoo or sanjad. And a belly dancer, of course.

Webb, including 138 from Iran, 13 from Kuwait and three from Kenya. Perhaps two dozen countries have sent representatives at different times. All of which creates an interesting situation for U.S. personnel at Webb and the citizenry of Big Spring, a lively community of 30,000 on Interstate 20 between Abilene and Midland.

students also participate in a special informational program. It includes, among other things, exposure to U.S. governmental institutions, the judicial system, political parties, the press, the diversities of American life, the minorities, agriculture, economy, labor-management relations, education and public and social welfare. "I think it's a real sound program a benefit to all participating countries, including the United States," Spannaus said. "I'm sure when they go back to their countries they have a much deeper appreciation of this country. And they must like it or they wouldn't keep coming back."

IN SHRINE CIRCUS HERE MONDAY — Steve Baker and Gary Ray, better known as Checkers and Patches, will offer their clown act in Monday's Shrine Circus in the Rodeo Bowl, a highlight of the 1976 Howard County Fair. Two performances are scheduled, one at 3:15 p.m., the other at 8 p.m.

THE PERFECT ingredients for a New Year's fete. In March, no less, and at the Webb Air Force Base Officer's Club.

If you can't visualize a New Year's bash in March, in Big Spring, Tex., then how about the fall extravaganza commemorating the Shah of Iran's birthday?

Those are among the events at Webb, the temporary home away from home for an elite group of young foreign pilot trainees. And if they want Sabzi and Seeb and so forth, so be it.

At a cost to their respective countries of roughly $235,000 apiece, the select trainees are brought to this West Texas city for high level flight training. There are only a handful of American trainees.

Called the Security Assistance Training Program, Webb is one of several U.S. bases in which American technical skills and knowledge are shared with military trainees from foreign countries.

"The main objective is to assist other nations in establishing their own ability to defend their shores and their land," said Col. Harry Spannaus, wing commander.

"We insure that they get quality training. In turn, they insure us quality people. It has been a benefit for both sides."

The training of allied students at Webb began in late 1973 and involves 170 hours in the Cessna T37, a twin-seat primary trainer nicknamed the "tweet" for its small frame and piercing engine sound.

Upon completion of the nine-month program, students receive their wings and return home, many to help train their fellow countrymen.

In some cases, and depending on the separate countries' own requirements, selected students remain at Webb for advanced training in the supersonic Northrup T38.

CURRENTLY THERE are 154 allied students at

Good guys outnumber bad apples

Airwaves' misuse can be deadly

By The Associated Press
Good neighbors outnumber bad apples on the CB channels, but police say misuse of citizen band airwaves can be annoying — and sometimes deadly.

An Associated Press national survey of state and local police indicates that for the most part the estimated 6 million CBers in this country have been helpful. And the police say this even though CBers are fond of reporting highway patrol cars trying to catch speeders. Police say that practice results in traffic slowing down.

But there have been grim incidents:
—A woman kidnap victim was killed by her abductors after CBers interfered with a ransom drop.

—A vigilante posse of citizens band operators chased the wrong truck for 75 miles thinking it had sideswiped another vehicle.

—A Pennsylvania man shot another CB enthusiast after an argument on the air over use of a channel.

—In California, officers monitoring the CB network found that during a civil disturbance those involved were using CB radios to protect their flanks.

Florida Highway Patrol Sgt. Paul Gracey said citizens band operators are becoming an increasing influence on law enforcement operations — both good and bad.

"Like every other part of life, some people abuse CB radio," he said. Mostly, "They report traffic congestion, disabled vehicles, accidents and extent of injuries. It can save three minutes getting to the scene. It doesn't necessarily save anyone's life, but it does get help sooner, and you don't know what might have happened."

But he added, "There are some sick ones who make false accident reports."

"The big problem with CBers is overreaction," said David Arnold, a New York State trooper. "They overreact and get all excited in an emergency situation. But I don't think they are a nuisance."

Other law enforcement agencies reported that the CB operators have helped foil burglaries and car break-ins, made reports that resulted in the arrest of a man wanted for the slaying of a police officer, the capture of another sought for killing his wife, and helped gather clues in the Cowchilla, Calif., kidnaping of 26 children and their school bus driver.

One parent of a child aboard the bus said he first learned the children were safe from a citizens band operator.

But CBers can also be an annoyance.

"Sometimes they feel that having a CB unit makes them nearly a policeman," said Sgt. Robert Marshall of the Little Rock, Ark., police department. "Their intentions are good, but mostly they are a nuisance, being in the way."

An example given by Marshall was the woman who thought she heard a robbery plan being discussed on CB, called police and detectives went to a motel where they found two persons, searched them and found no evidence of wrongdoing.

"We were lucky they were understanding," said Marshall. "We left red-faced."

In Ohio, Richland County Sheriff's Capt. Gene Hart said that his department has had good experiences with CB operators.

"When a Mansfield policeman was killed last February, a CB spotted the getaway car," Hart said. "We've gotten tremendous cooperation from them."

"It's an absolute asset to law enforcement," said Sheriff Bernard Gysen of Ottawa County, Mich. Gysen said the deputies monitor the CB channels, and there have been numerous cases where citizen band operators have helped in recovering stolen cars and catching traffic violators.

"It's been tremendously successful," said Lt. Roderick Moore of the Michigan State Police. "I've got to believe many of those possibly intoxicated drivers would have gotten away if it had not been for the CB reports."

In Alabama, Capt. John Henderson of the state patrol said, "They have helped us solve several crimes and capture several armed robbers."

Henderson said the only interference by CBers with law enforcement are the "Smokey reports" — "Smokey" being CB slang for a highway patrolman. But even the reports on the location of the patrol cars have helped to slow traffic in the area, he said.

Henderson said a robber escaping from a service station holdup recently was bottled up by CB-operating truckers until the highway patrol could arrive and pull the getaway car over.

But in Livingston County, Ill., Sammie J. Graham was ticketed on a charge of interfering with a police officer after being stopped for speeding. The state police said Graham got back in his car after getting the speeding citation and broadcast the location of the police cruiser.

"I have a very positive feeling toward the ability of the officer to communicate with the citizen," said Lt. Col. Alton Crystal, assistant chief of the Iowa Highway Patrol. But he said troopers have to be wary of CB reports and make their own cases.

"The day we start making arrests on the basis of CB transmissions is the day we'll be in court for false arrests."

In Idaho recently, a CB operator whose camper-pickup broadcast a description. The result was a 75-mile high speed chase which ended when police intervened. The CB chasers were chagrined to find they had been pursuing the wrong truck. The pickup driver was charitable enough not to press charges, police said.

"We've had a few isolated incidents where they were playing vigilante," said Al Brockway, assistant police chief in Helena, Mont. "One involved a person allegedly using foul language on the air, and some CBers took it on themselves to find this person. A fight ensued and it turned out it was the wrong man."

As for the use of CB radios directly in criminal activity, police differ on their effectiveness.

"There are just too many people on the air for criminals to use CB radios to coordinate activities," said Lt. Don Moore of the Colorado Highway Patrol. "I would think that would be virtually impossible. There are just too many ears out there."

But Little Rock's Marshall said that in one instance, thieves using CB radios to coordinate their operation stole more than $10,000 in cash from an office in the Little Rock stockyards. He also said police broke up a burglary of a liquor store when they monitored the thieves who were using the CB radio to keep in contact with their lookouts.

Police generally agree that many CB operators do provide useful information to law enforcement agencies.

The California Highway Patrol said that of 36 reports on drunk drivers from CB operators, there were 35 arrests.

Better jobs will require higher skills

If you think that education and training are important now, just wait. Demand for them will escalate during the next decade, predicts Harold

K. Dudley, chairman of the Texas Employment Commission, headquartered in Austin. "The better jobs will require increasingly higher skill levels," Dudley said, "and people will need to invest more time and effort in training."

"Thus, career preparations will become more important in the future, a fact to be noted by parents, educators, planners, and many others," the TEC chairman observed.

"We are pleased to see a realistic approach to career — or vocational — training at the secondary level for those people who are not college-bound," Dudley said, "and we hope that this trend will proceed. But we should not de-emphasize the need for college and other higher level training as well as continuing education, for these will be prize commodities in the future job market."

"Employment growth," Dudley continued, "will be fastest in the vocations which require the most education and training, namely the clerical, professional, and technical occupations."

"The increasing demand for education and training largely results from two factors — advanced technology and a complex society, the TEC chairman believes.

"Organizations tend to become more complex while at the same time, the job requirements within these organizations increase — jobs become more specialized," Dudley explained. "One example is the increasing use of automated equipment which, in turn, is generating a need for many skilled workers. Plumbers, electricians, farmers and many other workers are also finding increasing complexity in their work."

"Also producing the demand for high-level skills are such factors as new trends, changing priorities in people's lives, and even new laws and government regulations," Dudley said.

"Trends and personal priorities play a major role in job requirements," Dudley noted. "For example, the current interest in energy is revolutionizing both industries and jobs, affecting such fields as architecture, construction, sales, law, real estate, and appraisal."

"Widespread interest in environmental control is another example," the TEC chairman said. "This trend has already made an impact on jobs in mining, agriculture, and forestry."

"Similar effects are seen in the field of human resources, where needs will be developing for more professional workers such as psychologists, rehabilitation counselors, social workers, and recreation workers," Dudley continued.

"Employers in these fields and many others will be seeking workers who have the higher levels of education and training," Dudley said.

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Post said today it has learned a report on the autopsy of Howard Hughes is consistent with earlier reports the billionaire recluse died of kidney failure.

According to a pathologist who interpreted the report for the newspaper the report showed many of the autopsy's findings were normal for a man of Hughes' age.

Hughes, 70 died April 5 en route to Houston from Acapulco.

The Post did not identify the pathologist who interpreted the report for the newspaper.

A private autopsy was conducted one day after Hughes died and Houston Probate Judge Pat Gregory recently overruled objections from relatives and released the report to attorneys connected with the $2.5 billion estate case.

Socialists to push suit against FBI

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Socialist Workers party still intends to continue its $40 million suit against the FBI, even though the Justice Department has decided after 38 years to drop its fruitless investigation of the group.

The Justice Department announced Tuesday that the FBI was ending its long probe, which had failed to produce any criminal charges. Department spokesman Robert Havel said Atty. Gen. Edward H. Levi had determined in a routine review that the party was not a serious and immediate threat to the country.

Justice Department standards set last spring permit intelligence-gathering investigations of domestic organizations only when the FBI has determined that the group presents a serious and immediate threat of harm to the country.

Party officials say they oppose violence and are working for a socialist system by running candidates for office and other peaceful means.

In New York, Cathy Perkus, a spokeswoman for the Political Rights Defense Fund, which is financing the party's suit, said, "We don't believe that this was done routinely. It's no coincidence that they picked the one organization that has been laying bare all the FBI's abuses and illegalities. We think they did it in hopes that we would end the suit."

She said the SWP has no intention of dropping the suit, which was filed in 1973 and seeks $40 million in damages and a permanent injunction against future harassment.

The lawsuit uncovered evidence which prompted the Justice Department to conduct an inquiry into allegations that the FBI carried out at least 92 illegal burglaries against suspected "extremists" during the past five years. Some of these break-ins were directed against SWP offices, the FBI acknowledges.

Levi's action was disclosed to the judge hearing that case, Thomas Griesa, in a letter Monday from Asst. U.S. Atty. William Brandt.

The party's presidential candidate, Peter Camejo, said Levi's order "is an historic victory for the democratic rights of all Americans. It's the first step in bringing to a halt the government's program of political spying and harassment."

Ms. Perkus said, "We think this is a tremendous concession they have made, an admission that the FBI has been wrong for 40 years."

"We're making no such admission," responded Havel, the Justice Department spokesman. "Levi is saying that under the guidelines it should be discontinued. This is not saying it was illegal over all these years."

Used book sale set Sept. 24

MIDLAND — The 9th annual used book sale of The Midland Friends of the Library will be held Sept. 24-25 at the Midland County Exhibit Building located on East Highway 80.

In addition to hardback and paperback books, magazines, art prints, puzzles, records and encyclopedias will be offered. Most books and magazines are priced from 5 cents to 25 cents.

Hours are from 7:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. on Friday the 24th, with a $1.00 charge per adult for that night only. Saturday, September 25th from 10:00 a.m.-6:00 p.m. and Sunday the 26th from 1:00 p.m.-6:00 p.m.

All funds raised by the sale will be used to assist the Midland County Library.

Different figures

HOUSTON (AP) — Port of Houston officials and the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers show different figures for the amount of cargo the port handled in 1975.

The Corps showed the port handled 3.6 million tons, 2.8 million tons less than port officials claim.

C.A. Rousser, director of trade development for the Port, said Tuesday he cannot explain the discrepancy.

A spokesman for the Corps in Galveston said its figures are compiled from reports from operators of vessels. Rousser said the port's statistics are derived from reports from the various terminals on the ship channel and cargo statements supplied by ships.

Dear Abby

High School Reunion Sparks Old Flame

DEAR ABBY: Last June, when my husband went back to his hometown for his 50th high school reunion, he started up with an old sweetheart he hadn't seen since graduation. Ernie is 68 and retired, and she's a 67-year-old widow with 11 grandchildren!

Ernie took 60 Polaroid pictures at the reunion, and this woman is in 50 of them. She's skinny, has orange hair and wore a tight knit dress with a plunging neckline. He's called her long distance several times (she lives in San Diego), and I'm sure they're corresponding the way he breaks his neck to get the mail first.

Ernie's told our children all about her, and they've been teasing me. He says it's all in fun, but I'm not sure. Maybe I'm handling it all wrong, but I told Ernie he could have his freedom if he'll give me 50 per cent of everything he has.

I need some expert advice, Abby. What should I do?
JEALOUS AT 65

DEAR JEALOUS: Don't make Ernie any offers you don't intend to honor. He just may call your bluff.

DEAR ABBY: How do you deal with next-door neighbors who have a swimming pool and hold noisy pool parties well into the night? Our bedrooms are on the side of the house near their pool and it's impossible to get any rest while they're partying. Their parties don't start until 10 p.m.—just when we're turning in. They are nice people and we like them, but their nocturnal pool parties are a problem for us. Can anyone offer a solution? I can't very well sell my lovely home and move away.

PERPLEXED IN BINGHAMPTON

DEAR PERPLEXED: The best approach is to pay your neighbors a visit (during the day) and tell them frankly what you've told me. Much depends on the kind of noise they make, and for how long. Loud music can be turned down. Boisterous guests can be asked to tone down. Do they party every night or once a week? There are laws against disturbing the peace, you know, but "nice" people shouldn't be forced by law to consider their neighbors.

DEAR ABBY: The letter in your column signed J.M. just floored me! It was from a woman who had given birth to twins 34 years ago, and was told by her doctor that one twin had died, but never saw a birth certificate or a death certificate for the "dead" baby.

Abby, I had a similar experience. My doctor told me I was carrying twins, and I was thrilled. I entered the hospital on June 19, 1941, and was examined by several interns and nurses, who told me that I would deliver twins. I had a long difficult labor, so when only one baby girl was presented to me, I was so relieved to have it over with I didn't fuss because I didn't get the twins I had expected.

Well, 34 years later while standing in the checkout line at the supermarket, I nearly fainted when I noticed that the woman ahead of me was the image of my daughter who lives in California! She could have been her identical twin sister. A sick feeling came over me, but I was so numb and speechless, I couldn't bring myself to speak to her.

That incident has haunted me for several months. I have no idea how to start searching for this woman, but if I ever see her again, you can bet I will think of something to say to her.

Crisis treatment discussed

Crisis treatment was discussed by Elaine Armond head nurse, ICU-CCU, Malone-Hogan Hospital, Monday afternoon at the general meeting of the Malone-Hogan Volunteers.

Recently named winner of the MHH Dr. Frist Humanitarian Award, Mrs. Armond instigated the formation of a "Code-Arrest" team.

Mrs. Armond stressed the importance of isolating the patient with only the Code-Arrest team attending and expressed appreciation of the volunteers vigilance in keeping the elevators and corridors clear during the Code-arrest period. She told the story of a Swiss doctor who developed the original heart resuscitation dummy after the death of his 15-year-old daughter as a result of no one's knowing how to revive

Briscoe declares HD Week

The president of T.H.D.A., Mrs. Clinton Wright of Breckenridge, Texas, announced yesterday that Governor Dolph Briscoe has signed an official proclamation declaring the week of September 20, 1976 as Texas Home Demonstration Association Week. T.H.D.A. will be observing the organization's fiftieth anniversary at the State Meeting September 20-25, 1976.

The Association was created to serve as a cooperative and coordinating agency for the statewide activities of all Home Demonstration Clubs. The membership is comprised of H.D. Clubs over the state. Their functions are carried on by County Extension Agents of the Agricultural Extension Agency of Texas A&M University.

Howard County rests in District 6 along with 21 other counties. Mrs. W.N. Norred will be installed as director of District 6. Her duties will include organizing all T.H.D.A. activities, watching them in action and their results. The State Board feels that she is very capable of holding this position as she has served as T.H.D.A. chairman for two years, Council Chairman for two years, and in all other offices in council. She was director of District 2 1968-70. This year she completes her third term as president of the City H.D. Club.

Members will attend informative workshops on cultural art, citizenship, safety, health, 4-H programs, family life and a historical revue of T.H.D.A. beginnings, progress, and present stature. The state officers will be elected by the delegates from each county and installed in the ballroom of the Memorial Student Center.

They wanted to savor his successes—the medals, the awards and the trophies. Again they were not disappointed. They wanted him to be a leader, at the top of his class. He was.

Now he is a convicted West Point cheater, and Ken and Ann Curley say it is the worst thing that's happened since they lost one of their five children to crib death syndrome.

The cheating charge has created what Mrs. Curley calls a "living nightmare" of recriminations from their family, pointed comments from friends and telephone calls from cranks.

The plaques on the walls of their modest Long Island home are a testament to the hopes they had—still have—for Kenneth Jr., a strapping lacrosse and football player whom all four service academies courted.

He was once among the most promising leaders at West Point and in line to become fourth-ranking cadet in the entire corps. Now he has a clouded future. His stripes are gone and his pride bruised. He was convicted in August by an officer board in West Point's cheating scandal.

He stood tearfully back among the plebes in the year's first parade, filled with the indignity of carrying a rifle. He said he should have been out front carrying the command, for unstinting praise and the top positions of responsibility had been his.

"It really hurts," Cadet Curley, 20, says. "It really destroyed me—all this for one damn writ."

The "writ," cadet slang for a test, was the homework assignment administered early last March to 823 members of the Class of 1977. Roughly a quarter of the class was accused of collaborating on it, and those accused say the number is but a tip of the iceberg.

They are scapegoats and should be punished less lightly than what amounts to a year's suspension, they say. The honor system, they contend, isn't working.

"I love the place, but you look at it now, there are so many problems up there and the institution won't face it," young Curley said, ex-

Aftermath of cheating 'nightmare' for family

WEST ISLIP, N.Y. (AP)—From the time their only son was born, Kenneth and Ann Curley wanted him to be a West Pointer. They were not disappointed.

While still hospitalized after her son's premature birth—he weighed three pounds then, compared with 156 now—Mrs. Curley happened to watch "The Long Gray Line" on television. Then and there, she said, she decided: "This is where he was going to go."

The film was on several nights, and mother and father watched it at home. So it seemed natural enough that toy soldiers and tanks would grace his first Christmas. When the boy turned nine, the movie came on again. And his father let him stay up for it.

They wanted to savor his successes—the medals, the awards and the trophies. Again they were not disappointed. They wanted him to be a leader, at the top of his class. He was.

He stood tearfully back among the plebes in the year's first parade, filled with the indignity of carrying a rifle. He said he should have been out front carrying the command, for unstinting praise and the top positions of responsibility had been his.

"It really hurts," Cadet Curley, 20, says. "It really destroyed me—all this for one damn writ."

The "writ," cadet slang for a test, was the homework assignment administered early last March to 823 members of the Class of 1977. Roughly a quarter of the class was accused of collaborating on it, and those accused say the number is but a tip of the iceberg.

They are scapegoats and should be punished less lightly than what amounts to a year's suspension, they say. The honor system, they contend, isn't working.

"I love the place, but you look at it now, there are so many problems up there and the institution won't face it," young Curley said, ex-

Party in big trouble

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — A liberal move to seize party control looms as the major issue confronting delegates assembling here today for the Texas Democratic Convention.

The two-day session kicks off this evening and the battle over the party chairmanship perhaps overshadows even presidential politics and the candidacy of Democratic nominee Jimmy Carter.

"This election is damned important," said one Democrat. "But I'm not sure people realize just how important."

The interparty skirmish involves an effort by Lufkin attorney John Henry Tatum, backed by Billie Carr's liberal "Texas Democrats," to wrest the chair from Calvin Guest of Bryan, Gov. Dolph Briscoe's hand-picked chairman.

"The Democratic Party is in real trouble in Texas. It is trying to find itself," said a Democratic legislator who, because he is seeking reelection, asked anonymity. "There is great pressure on the conservative wing of the Democratic Party from the national level ... and you've got the Connally thing—John Connally trying to make Republicans out of people who traditionally call themselves conservative Democrats."

"If Guest is kicked out, and liberals take over, I think you're going to see wholesale desertion of the Democratic Party conservatives."

Guest who has held the post since 1972, is supported by a medley of conservatives and liberals, including the Texas AFL-CIO and the United Auto Workers.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Carr, Democratic national committeewoman from Houston, said she wants a change because "Guest's methods are marked by favoritism, ineptitude and general incompetence."

Although Guest is co-chairman of the Texas campaign for Jimmy Carter, Mrs. Carr insists Guest is insincere and that Tatum would work harder to carry Texas for the Democratic ticket.

Tatum and Guest have campaigned hard for the post, and the 3,400 delegates will determine Saturday which one will lead the conduct of party affairs for the next two years.

(AP WIREPHOTO)

VIE FOR LEADERSHIP — Lufkin Attorney John Henry Tatum, left, will challenge Texas Democratic Chairman Calvin Guest, right, for leadership of the State Democratic Party at the state convention in Fort Worth Saturday. Guest is from Bryan and was originally tapped for the job by Gov. Dolph Briscoe.

"I estimate I'm going to win by 100 votes," Tatum declared.

Said Guest: "We have checked very carefully, and we have a sufficient number of votes to win."

Guest told newsmen after a brief meeting of the State Democratic Executive Committee Thursday that the party is in the "healing process" and added:

"The most important thing is to come out of this convention with a unified party

Death sentence given Hughes

BAY CITY, Tex. (AP) — Billy George Hughes, convicted of capital murder in the shooting death of a Texas Department of Public Safety officer, has been assessed the death penalty.

The seven-man, five woman jury deliberated about three hours Thursday before convicting Hughes. It then spent a little more than an hour deciding the sentence.

Hughes was charged with killing Mark Frederick, 25, near Sealy April 4 when Frederick and his partner, James Reichert, stopped Hughes' car in a check for a man reported using a stolen credit card.

Officers arrested Hughes two days later in a field 12 miles south of Sealy.

to elect Jimmy Carter and all other Democratic candidates."

Other party business will be election of the 62-member SDEC and adoption of a platform for candidates for state office. A new vice chairman also will be chosen.

Decrease noted in illnesses

HOUSTON (AP) — Two more confirmed and two more suspected cases of St. Louis encephalitis have been reported in the Houston area but health officials said the 1976 outbreak "appear to be on the downward swing."

Health authorities told about the latest cases Thursday, a few hours after an announcement that Houston fire fighters will conduct a second assault on the disease-carrying mosquito breeding sites.

There now have been 19 verified and 10 suspected cases of the illness in Harris County since the first confirmed case was reported Aug. 13. There have been no deaths.

Mama spared the sight on son toting standard

By WALT FINLEY
FORT WORTH — The hassle some members of the press are having during the Texas Democratic convention here reminds me of the first state political convention I attended.

I've been to seven of them — four in Oklahoma, two in Texas (counting this one) and one in Missouri. My first one was in Missouri BTW (before television). Believe you me, it made a difference. A lot of the delegates wanted to have a good time in a "wild" section of Kansas City and they didn't bother going to most of the sessions.

Nobody back home would know, they reasoned, and they were right. As a result, seats, except for the voting sessions, were fairly easy to get. It sounds unbelievably even to me but at my first convention, the press VIPs sat on the front rows on the platform.

I was there too. I worked for a wire service and some of the executives and my "boss" were having too much fun partying to concern themselves with the convention and I got one of their platform tickets.

Do you think I was properly grateful? I was not. I was only 23, just married and the finer points of politics kinda bored me. I was there to see all the "famous" people I mingled with while covering the state legislature at Jefferson City.

The process of choosing a state chairman and chairlady meant very little. At succeeding conventions, the press was ousted from the platform (except at the June Demo convention in Houston) and floor tickets were in short supply.

I wanted to hear and boo U.S. Sen. Henry Bellmon. (I was a lot older and a little smarter).

So I went to the Oklahoma delegation, identified myself as a native of Durant and sure enough, one of their delegates was feeling poorly and I got his ticket.

On the floor, I found a seat on the aisle and somebody handed me a standard. By this time, television was there in all its shining glory and it wasn't until later that I thought about the terrible risk I took.

My mother is an ardent Democrat and if she had seen me on TV waving a standard that said "Vote Republican," there could have been only one result.

She would have had a heart attack.

NOTICE OF FINDING OF NO SIGNIFICANT EFFECT ON THE ENVIRONMENT
September 17, 1976

IN CONNECTION WITH DEPARTMENT OF HOUSING AND URBAN DEVELOPMENT (HUD) COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT BLOCK GRANT FUNDS FOR THE CITY OF BIG SPRING, TEXAS: AN ENVIRONMENTAL ASSESSMENT HAS BEEN MADE. Two projects are proposed by the City of Big Spring using Community Development Block Grant Funds.

PROJECT NO. 1: Rehabilitation Loan Program. Low income homeowners living within the project area will become eligible to apply for low interest rate loans for certain rehabilitation activities to their home. The loans will be used to improve living conditions and to eliminate potential threats to health and safety. The project area includes Enumeration Districts 7, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 19, 20, 22, and 23 of the City of Big Spring.

PROJECT NO. 2: Demolition and removal of dilapidated unoccupied houses. Old buildings, of a structural condition that would preclude rehabilitation, will be razed for owners unable to pay but willing to have the structures removed. Lots will be cleaned and all debris hauled away. Demolition locations will be in the project area which includes Enumeration Districts 7, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 19, 20, 22, and 23 of the City of Big Spring.

These proposed project areas are presently developed and the two projects will not open any new areas.

The City of Big Spring has found that these projects have no significant effect on the environment.

The reason there will be no significant effect on the environment within the area of these projects is that the scope of the work and the methods used will not have any harmful or long-lasting effect on any of the following:

- Air Quality
- Water Quality
- Fish and Wildlife
- Health and Safety
- Energy Supply
- Historic and Archeological Preservation
- Land Use
- Soil
- Vegetation
- Outdoor recreation
- Socio-economic factors

These projects will not cause any permanent negative impacts on any existing services provided to the area such as streets, garbage collection, schools, or fire and police protection. The completed project will only benefit and improve the environment of the areas.

The City of Big Spring has made Environmental Review Records respecting each project and these Review Records may be examined and copied by any interested citizens during business hours at the Office of Housing and Community Development, City Hall, 4th and Nolan, Big Spring, Texas.

It is the intent of the City of Big Spring that no further environmental review of these projects are proposed to be conducted and the City of Big Spring intends to request HUD to release funds for these projects.

Any Citizen or interested parties may submit any comments concerning these projects through October 4, 1976, to the Chief Executive Officer:

Gospel singers slated

The Bolton Trio from Paris will be appearing one night only, Friday, September 24 at 7:30 p.m., at Big Spring's municipal auditorium.

The First Pentecostal Church of Big Spring will host this gospel singing feast that promises to be inspiring to all who attend, according to local Pentecostal leaders.

Regionally known and respected in the gospel music field, the Boltons have sung in auditoriums, churches, convention centers, and camp grounds across the Southwest.

THE BOLTON TRIO

Their versatile style and sincerity have endeared them to the hearts of gospel music lovers," the local church officials pointed out.

College Baptist hosts special team

Southern Baptists claim a unique entertainment team which is the combination of a housewife and a seminary professor.

Rosemary Hoover and Phil Briggs are a versatile performing duo who can shake a crowd with laughter, thrill them with music and inspire them with a message.

They don't claim to be professionals. After the banquet is over and the show is done, Rosemary heads back to her husband and children in Kansas City, Mo. Briggs returns to his duties as associate professor of youth education at Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary in Fort Worth.

But together they have performed at banquets, led retreats and revivals, spoken at Baptist student conventions and served on the faculty at both Glorieta and Ridgecrest Baptist Conference Centers. Their travels have taken them into 16 states.

The two teamed up in 1967 when Briggs sang at Rosemary's church. She played the piano for him. They soon met again and once again she played and he sang. Acting upon the advice of a friend, who thought they had an entertainment potential, they formed a "showbiz" partnership.

Their uniqueness lies not only in the fact of their professions but also in that they are a "package deal." Whatever the situation, whatever the occasion, Rosemary and Phil can handle it. Briggs provides jokes, stories, sermons and songs. Rosemary accompanies him on the guitar and piano and arranges their music, composes and sings solos as well.

Last year the team performed 58 programs for various organizations. In one four-day period they did seven banquets and services.

Nazarene singers scheduled

The Jubilee Quartet will appear at the First Church of the Nazarene, 1400 Lancaster at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday. The group is a full time gospel quartet with headquarters in Topeka, Kansas.

They are in constant demand for concerts, church services and evangelistic crusades all over America. Their work has taken them into almost all of the 50 states and several countries overseas.

Whitey Gleason, manager, pianist, and emcee for the group, organized the quartet in 1959. Many of Whitey's compositions are being sung by choirs, quartets, and soloists throughout the nation. Some of his best-known songs include "Walk Talk and Sing," "At The Altar," "Nobody," "Thank You Lord," "Let The Church Roll On" and "Where Will You Be". For several years Whitey was pianist for the world-famous Blackwood Brothers Quartet.

Harlan Elkins, a native of Kentucky, is the top tenor for the quartet. Chuck Hardt, from Wisconsin, sings the lead part. Danny Klinger, from Gary, Indiana is the bass singer.

The public is cordially invited to hear the JUBILEE QUARTET.

Presbyterian women hold annual event

The First Presbyterian women of the church held their annual installation luncheon at noon Monday in Fellowship Hall with the Ella Barrick Circle as hosts.

Mrs. Lee Porter serves as president and presided at the business session after Mrs. Allen Holley brought a Bible study on "The Liberating Power of God."

The Rev. William Henning installed new officers for 1976-77 including Mrs. E. B. Compton, vice president; Mrs. C. M. Harwell, secretary; Mrs. A. B. Brown, treasurer; Mrs. C. H. McDaniel, historian and Mrs. Albert Davis, CWU representative.

Program chairmen include Mrs. Tommy Hart on Personal Faith and Family Life; Mrs. Davis on Leadership and Resources and Mrs. C. D. Read, Christian Community Action.

The circle chairmen include Mrs. Calvin Daniels, Ella Barrick Circle; Mrs. Hart, Margaret Currie Circle; Mrs. Earl Stovall, Ella Neill Circle; Mrs. Marj Carpenter, Friendship Circle; and Mrs. G. T. Guthrie, Home Circle.

Grant continues

NEW YORK (AP) — A $50,000 Ford Foundation grant has been made to the communications office of the United Church of Christ to continue its eight-year-old program to combat racial discrimination in broadcasting.

Ackerly Church sets revival

The first United Methodist Church in Ackerly will begin revival services Sunday morning, Sept. 19 with the morning worship service.

Dr. R. Luther Kirk from Lubbock will be the evangelist. Dr. Kirk has served over 38 years in the Northwest Texas conference. He has been on numerous conference and statewide boards and has been involved in extensive evangelism work through his ministry.

Weekday services are scheduled at 7 a.m. daily with coffee and doughnuts followed by a worship service from 7:15-7:45 a.m. Each evening at 7 p.m. there will be prayer groups with evening worship at 7:30 p.m.

The Rev. Ray Forbes, who will lead the music at the service, urges the public to attend the services this week.

Your adversary the devil prowls around like a roaring lion, seeking some one to devour. Resist him, firm in your faith, knowing that the same experience of suffering is required of your brotherhood throughout the world. As time for sentencing nears

Patty Hearst 'apprehensive but hopeful'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — She sits in her cell, crocheting, reading away the hours and, according to her attorney, apprehensively pondering her future at the hands of the court. Soon she will know.

A federal judge in San Francisco ordered Thursday that Patricia Hearst be brought here from her San Diego prison for sentencing a week from today on bank robbery charges. The announcement came two days before the anniversary of her capture on Sept. 18, 1975.

Miss Hearst was convicted March 20 of armed bank robbery and use of a firearm in a felony. The months since the end of her trial have brought changes in her, and in the persons whose lives she touched.

"She's apprehensive about her sentencing," attorney Albert Johnson said recently from the federal prison in San Diego. "She is very hopeful, as we are, that the judge will understand the fact that the whole thing was caused by a violent and brutal kidnapping. We will urge credit for time served and probation."

Judge William H. Orrick Jr.'s choice ranges between that minimum and the maximum of 35 years' imprisonment. Since her conviction, Miss Hearst, 22, has been in San Diego undergoing psychiatric testing that Orrick will use in reaching his decision.

Miss Hearst's celebrated eight-week trial disclosed details of her 19 months with the terrorist Symbionese Liberation Army that kidnapped her 2½ years ago. Now, there are signs that she is looking ahead to a more normal existence.

"She'll be able to have a normal, useful life, although there are some individuals who'd like to do her harm," her attorney said, noting that Miss Hearst was listening as he spoke on the phone. "There would be problems with the security situation.

But she has indicated she'd like to return to school and finish her education.

"She'd like to participate in magazine enterprises of her father and probably do writing. She's tending toward journalism and probably business. She has in the past indicated an interest in law but has to expose herself more to it."

Meanwhile, Miss Hearst reads and crochets scarves and caps for her parents and other family members who visit her weekly. She often talks to Johnson, her most frequent visitor, about personal and legal matters such as the appeal being prepared.

"I hope no one has to ever go through what I've had to go through," Johnson quoted her as saying.

There are signs that her parents too, anticipate more tranquil times.

During the trial, Miss Hearst's father, San Francisco Examiner President Randolph A. Hearst, spent little time at the newspaper.

"Randy is returning to more daily concerns at the newspaper," says Tom Eastham, former Examiner executive editor and currently Hearst correspondent in Washington. "Increasingly, he's at the paper. He's returning to a routine, supervisory corporate role. He has a healthy, constant interest in the paper now."

The day fugitive Patricia Hearst was arrested, her mother was attending a University of California Board of Regents meeting. She has not been to one since.

Attorney William Coblenz, a family friend and UC regent, said: "Randy's adjustment is better than Catherine's. When you talk to Catherine, she goes well, she's still preoccupied with the case. I don't know what kind of routine she's in, but she ain't in the routine of going to regents meetings."

Two of the petite heiress' former loves — one from the underground and one from her college days — also are rebuilding their lives.

Steven Soliah, the house painter who was her lover in her last months underground, is free after acquittal in a trial for a fatal Carmichael, Calif., bank robbery.

"He's now trying to get his own life in order, as Patricia Hearst probably is trying to get hers together," says his attorney, Sheldon Otis. "He's painting houses, spending time with his parents, traveling, camping, getting together physically and reviewing the past few years."

Steven Weed, Miss Hearst's jilted former fiance, is now a published author. The publisher says Weed's account of his romance and life with her, "My Search for Patty Hearst," has sold more than 85,000 hardbound copies and is continuing to do well.

"Steve is not married as some people speculated, but he has a great girl and is planning to go back to school," says his friend and coauthor, Scott Swanton. "I think someday he'll be a philosophy professor of some repute."

The past year has changed the lives of some trial participants, too.

Farm Milk production booms

By BRIAN B. KING
 WASHINGTON (AP) — Milk production this year shows signs of increasing at the sharpest rate in more than 25 years, Agriculture Department analysts say, causing them to hedge week-old predictions about the price outlook for both farmers and consumers.

Retail prices still are forecast to climb through the coming winter, but farm prices may not quite make it to the record-breaking level expected earlier, they say.

Wholesale butter and cheese prices dropped markedly in late August, the Outlook and Situation Board reported this week. Butter prices had lost 14 cents of the 18 cents per pound they gained in June and July, and cheese prices have fallen back 7 to 9 cents, after a 13-cent rise.

Just last week, the Economic Research Service had written that growing consumer demand for dairy products could push the farm price of milk to record-high levels later this year.

Milk prices at the farm in November and December could average near the December 1975 record "blend" price of $10.30 per 100 pounds "if current wholesale butter and cheese prices hold until year's end," the ERS's James J. Miller said.

At that point, wholesale butter prices in Chicago were only 2 cents a pound below the $1.09 record and wholesale cheese in Wisconsin was selling just a penny below the record of about $1.04. The board said this week that "fairly strong dairy sales (still) are expected during the rest of the year."

But it qualified the forecast. "The whole market will remain unsettled until supply-demand prospects for milk and dairy products in late 1976 become somewhat clearer."

although early fall price increases could be quite small, average milk prices might again reach the $10 level later this year.

Production accelerated in August to a level 5.7 per cent above the year before with average output per cow up 6.5 per cent — despite a decline in number and drought conditions in pockets of major producing states.

Consumer demand helps keep the products moving, despite the price increases, the board said.

With that opening statement, Adolph Supak, assistant superintendent of Big Spring State Hospital, praised volunteer workers who attended the all-day orientation held recently in the conference room of the Tollett All-Faith Chapel.

Supak pointed out a number of important changes which have affected mental health delivery, noting that legislation, public laws, accreditation agencies and even litigation law suits have all played a part in upgrading the quality of care available to patients.

He cited the administration of Dr. Kenneth D. Caver, Commissioner, Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation, as being progressive and innovative in the field of mental health.

After tours and an informal luncheon, the workshop reconvened to hear Mrs. Ruth Payne, R.N., tell of techniques used when "reality orientation" is prescribed as part of a patient's treatment plan.

The final speaker, A.L. Gatewood, director of Rehabilitation Services, distributed detailed charts which he used to point out numerous areas in which volunteers are allowed to assist with the different therapies.

Concluding the orientation, participants directed questions to a panel composed of Mrs. Condray, Glickman, Jack Stovall, Outreach director, Phil Christensen, psychologist, and Joe Bright, assistant coordinator of Volunteer Services.

Other Volunteer Services personnel assisting with the orientation were Mrs. Genie Crooks, Mrs. Norma Tinley and Mrs. Sonya Swindell. Mrs. Barbara Supak and Mrs. Carol Hunter served as hostesses.

Tremendous improvement noted in patient care

"Staff members learn a great deal from volunteers; not only about dedication and concern, but how to give of themselves to patients. Volunteers were leaders in implementing one-to-one care; they really started the movement."

Pine beetle's appetite big

HOUSTON (AP) — A bug about the size of a rice grain is causing an estimated $8.5 million damage a month to Texas forests, according to Texas Forest Service officials.

They're talking about the southern pine bark beetle.

Dave Cleaves, a forest service official, estimates the beetle does about $500,000 a month actual damage to the trees in the forest, but projects the number of $8 million in terms of what it costs in lost products and related generated services.

He said the only effective way to control the beetles in forests is to "salvage" trees by cutting down the infected specimens plus a "buffer" of green uninfected ones adjacent to them.

Energy Utility rates may double by 1985

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — The executive vice president of Houston Lighting and Power told an energy conference at Texas A&M Thursday that his firm anticipates its current rates to double by 1985.

G.W. Oprea, Jr., made the statement at a question and answer session that followed several other speakers.

Texas House Speaker Bill Clayton told the assembly that he believes regulation of energy prices is a problem and not a solution.

"Deregulation would encourage development of our remaining resources," Clayton said. "In North Texas alone, the unregulated market has caused a 300 per cent increase in drilling activity and has brought about a 1,500 per cent increase in gas deliveries."

Clayton said deregulation would provide impetus for large businesses and industries to switch from natural gas to other sources of energy.

The speaker said the country will be at the brink of economic and political disaster unless it adopts an energy program based on self-preservation.

Arthur Barbeck, chief engineer for the Texas Railroad Commission, said his agency would proceed "in our regulation to protect the general public from catastrophes...and continue our environmental protection procedures in a reasonable and responsible manner."

Barbeck also said the nation's universities are producing "economic illiterates." He said Russian children know more about the U.S. economy than American children.

Dr. William Fulkerson of Oak Ridge National Laboratories said if increased use of coal is to become acceptable, the environmental disadvantages of the fuel must be avoided.

Delays hurt, says executive

HOUSTON (AP) — An oil executive says delays built into legislation now before Congress will tend to discourage future energy development.

C. P. Loucks said Thursday the pending legislation could cause a 40 per cent curtailment of offshore oil and gas exploration within two years after enactment.

Loucks, president of Imco Service, a division of the Halliburton Co., also said the current five to seven years in time between offshore leasing and actual production could be increased to nine years.

"At a time this nation needs to encourage further development of our energy resources, it appears the enactment of this legislation would seriously delay and possibly even halt the development of much needed offshore oil and gas reserves," Loucks said.

He said the current 1953 CCS Lands Act prescribes 70 procedural steps that must be taken between the leasing and the actual production of any offshore tracts.

"These steps, together with the actual work that must be performed usually means a wait of from five to seven years before any oil begins arriving onshore," he said.

WHO'S BLIND? — Manager John McNamara tries to protest call by umpire Jerry Dale in Wednesday night's 2-1 victory by San Francisco over McNamara's Padres in San Diego. But the managerial cap has slipped, sparing McNamara from watching loss.

Three UC players arrested in Dallas

DALLAS (AP) — The University of California football was in Norman, Okla., today preparing for Saturday's contest with Oklahoma after three UC players were arrested Thursday in a Dallas lounge where a woman said she was harassed and fondled by several men.

The three players posted cash bond and left later in the day with the team on its bus trip from Dallas to Norman Okla. for Saturday's game with Oklahoma.

The team came to Dallas earlier this week to work out for the game.

Police records identified those arrested as:
 —Peter Anthony Sitta 21 from San Diego who was booked for disorderly conduct and posted a $200 cash bond.

—Wade Allan Johnson 22 from San Jose who was booked with disorderly conduct theft and escape posted $200 cash bond and obtained a writ of habeas corpus allowing him to be freed.

—Paul Kent Jones 19 from San Jose who was booked for disorderly conduct and posted $200 bond.

The team roster lists Sitta as a senior linebacker Johnson as a junior-defensive back and Jones as a sophomore fullback.

Two others were also arrested in the incident. The Associated Press erroneously reported earlier that John Williams a member of the team had been arrested. However the John Williams who was arrested was not a team member.

Dave Maggard California athletic director confirmed the arrested and said upon his arrival with the team in Oklahoma that White would take some sort of disciplinary action but that he did not know what it would be.

"There is no question about it that poor judgement was shown by some of our people as well as in my opinion the people who were at the discotheque patrons as well as others. But I believe the incident has been blown out of perspective."

"The entire incident is unfortunate," Maggard said.

"I think at this point the matter is closed and we are preparing to play Oklahoma," he said.

Police said the 25-year-old woman who made the complaint told them she was coming out of the ladies' room at a northwest Dallas lounge when confronted by a large group of men.

She told police she went back in the rest room for a few minutes. When she came out one of the men grabbed at her. She hit him in the face. A second man grabbed at her and tore her blouse open she told police.

All three then fell to the floor and scuffled. Numerous others then began grabbing at her she said.

The three players were arrested at the lounge.

The woman was treated by a private doctor for a bruise on her face.

Police Capt. Don Millikin said the arrests resulted from trouble police had once they reached to scene to investigate the woman's complaint. More serious charges concerning the assault on the woman could result after his office investigates Millikin said.

Robinson to leave Cleveland Indians

CLEVELAND (AP) — Contract negotiations between Cleveland Indians Manager Frank Robinson and the club's front office are under way, but they haven't shed any light on whether Robinson will be back next season.

Robinson and his agent, Ed Keating, met Thursday with Indians President Ted Bonda and General Manager Phil Seghi, but Bonda said "nothing definitive was decided."

Bonda added, "We met and talked, that's all. A decision (about Robinson) has not been made either way, and it's still our desire to wait until the season is over, unless circumstances force us to do so sooner."

Bonda, Seghi and Robinson offered no other comment.

Keating said, "It is up to the Indians to make a decision. When that'll be, I don't know because Phil (Seghi) keeps saying it's his policy to wait until the end of the season."

"I would like to think Frank will be rehired, but that's a decision they must make," Keating continued.

Robinson's status as a player appears to be in even greater doubt, as the front office seems unwilling to carry the burden of his large salary as a part-time player.

In his book, "Frank, the First Year," Robinson said he is being paid $80,000 for his managing duties, and an additional $120,000 to be a player.

Keating said, "They haven't made it clear whether they want him to play or not. They haven't made anything clear because, apparently, they haven't decided themselves."

Robinson says he would be willing to take a cut in his playing salary — "but not an amputation" — but he has also indicated that he feels his managerial showing merits a raise in that part of his wage.

Robinson guided the Indians to a fourth place finish in 1975, with a 79-80 record.

He had high hopes of overcoming the Orioles to land a second-place finish behind the runaway Yankees this season, but his hopes have been all but dashed as the Indians are buried seven games behind the Orioles.

The Indians haven't finished as high as second place since 1959, and they haven't finished third since 1968.

THROUGH the fieldglasses

A number of Steer fans will be following their pride and joy up to Snyder tonight, hoping to see the second victory in a row.

But the fire that was lit by last Friday night's stamping of Hobbs didn't seem to burn very long in the sport-minds of many people around here. The Quarterback Club experienced hardly any increase at all in its attendance.

When you get off work tonight and take your shoes off and grab the paper, by the time you reach what you are reading now, you will still have plenty of time to grab the kids and your mate and scoot up to Snyder. It's only a 45-minute drive, and the game doesn't start until 8 p.m.

There are still tickets left for the contest, and the battlin' Bovines need your support. This is the last game they play until October 1 against Abilene High in Big Spring. All the 5-A teams will be taking off next week except Permian.

Jack Cowan, assistant Sports Editor at the San Angelo Standard Times, and once head sports pilot at the Herald, echoes the sentiments of most observers of the hectic SWC action last week.

In SWC action

Bears, Tigers and Toads

AUBURN, Ala. (AP) — Auburn Football Coach Doug Barfield says there will be a "lot of changes" made when the Tigers meet Baylor in their home opener here Saturday.

Barfield, who succeeded Ralph Jordan as coach this year, is hoping to make up for the Tigers' 31-19 loss to Arizona in their season opener last Saturday.

The Bears picked up a challenge for the Southwest Conference title in preseason polls, dropped their first game to Houston 23-5.

Bears, Tigers and Toads

Barfield kept the Veer offense when he became coach, but changed the defense from a four-man front to a 5-2 alignment. With only four defensive starters returning this year, it may take a while for the defense to catch up.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Tennessee and Texas Christian, both coming away from season openers with weeks away from game action.

of Starbuck will be up at the big shoot-out in Lubbock between Tech and Texas to see who the eventual winner of the conference is.

All this week, something or other has been working overtime in the "Breakdown of machinery" department. I think it's those Gremlins again. Monday and Tuesday, the Photo laser machine went on the blink, because of a "discombobulated framatz" or whatever.

Wednesday, some material was lost between here and there, and Thursday, the AP wire machine choked up, completely destroying all the copy from the previous night, including all the sports news.

The Post had been scooped by the El Paso Herald Post, Walt Finley was interviewing Leo Durocher in the dug-out during a game between Leo's Giants and the Cleveland Indians.

The University of Texas (my least favorite team, next to the Washington Redskins) went up to "Bah-stun" last week and came back with their horns between their legs 14-13.

Finley was a great fan of the Cleveland Indians, and at one point during the game, third-baseman Minnie Minosa made a fantastic play from his field position. Walt jumped up and applauded the play.

Later in that period, a five-yard TD strike from Gilbert Rubio to Mike Domino capped off a 50-yard drive. That made the score at half, 26-0.

The M&M team (Morrison and Marquez) continued their antics in the third stanza. Morrison returned a punt 35 yards down to the Monahans eight-yard line.

BSHS 9th grade, Goliad, Runnels, Forsan Young teams continue to improve

By DANNY REAGAN Sports Editor

A bright outlook for future Steer varsity teams continues to radiate through the ranks of the younger grid-ders.

The High School ninth grade team known as the Brahmas last year, beat a Monahans team 38-0 last night at Memorial Stadium.

The Goliad teams play Sweetwater next Thursday on Blankenship field at 5:30. To date, the eighth grade has rolled up 59 points, while only allowing 16.

On offense, Zellers commended Abreo, Carrillo, James, and Doss, and on doing so.

Coach Wade Burroughs seventh graders came out on the bottom of a 16-12 score, but came close. Halfback Richard Evans took the opening kickoff 75 yards for the first Runnels TD.

In eighth grade action, Bobby Zellers' charges came very close to knotting the final score, but wound up losing 22-14.

Runnels gained more first downs than Andrews and was dead even on total yards gained, but could not get uncorked in the late game.

Goliad Jr. High swept a pigskin double-header from nearby Coahoma, 12-0 in the seventh grade contest, and 31-8 in the eighth grade battle.

After a blocked punt on the locals 23, Andrews scored right before half, and took an 8-6 half-time lead.

GOING DOWN PASSING — Goliad Jr. High quarterback Ben Watson (14) is on the verge of being brought down in his own backfield, but not before he completes a pass. Watson scored four touchdowns against a Coahoma squad, and threw for another score.

scoring from 12 yards out. The extra point tied the game with 2:59 left in the contest.

Track meet for patients

The first track meet held exclusively for patients of Big Spring State Hospital will be held here Saturday at Memorial Stadium under the auspices of the YMCA.

Beginning at 9 a.m. and continuing approximately two hours, the event will feature a 50-yard dash, 100-yard dash, 440-yard walk, high jump, running long jump, standing broad jump, shot put and discus.

"This is going to be a fun-type event without too much emphasis on the competitiveness," said Jim Potter, recreational therapist at BSHS.

Serving as officials for the special track meet will be Bill Etchison, YMCA director, and John Schiebel, athletic director.

SPORTS BRIEFS GOLF MASON, Ohio — Danny Edwards and Don Pooley fashioned four-under-par 66s to share the first-round lead in the $150,000 Ohio Kings Island Open.

THE WOODLANDS, Tex. — Raul Ramirez of Mexico and Brian Gottfried of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., blanked Ross Rose and Geoff Masters of Australia 6-0, 6-0 in the first round of the U.S. Professional Doubles Championship.

As the worm turns Area fishing news

By Danny Reagan

The lakes are still producing fish, probably more now per fisherman than in the peak weeks during the summer.

LAKE THOMAS The lake experienced its slowest weekend all season last week, but the weekday traffic is as good as ever.

LAKE WHITNEY Fishing is still somewhat slow on Lake Whitney. A variety of fish are being caught at various spots on the lake.

DALLAS COWBOYS

COWBOYS FACT SHEET This Week — The Dallas Cowboys (1-0) get their first look at Louisiana's Superdome as they travel to New Orleans to engage the Saints (0-1) Sunday. The Cowboys won their 12th straight season opener last Sunday with a 27-7 romp over Philadelphia while New Orleans' debut was spoiled by Minnesota, 40-9.

Series Standing — Dallas and New Orleans have met in championship play six times since 1967. The Cowboys hold a 5-1 edge, with the Saints winning, 24-14, in 1971 in New Orleans. It was the last time the two teams met in regular season play.

Kickoff — 1 p.m. CDT Sunday in the Superdome.

Television — Telecast regionally by CBS (Channel 4 in Dallas) with Frank Gieber and Emerson Boover.

The Coaches — Tom Landry won his 127th game opening his 17th season against Philadelphia. As the only head coach in the Cowboys' history, he has a 127-90-6 record.

The Saints' Hank Stram, who coached the Kansas City Chiefs to two Super Bowl appearances and one world championship, picked up his career this year in New Orleans after being out of coaching in 1975.

How It Shapes Up — The Dallas team will invade the Bayou Country with all of its 43 players ready for action.

A shoulder injury to defensive tackle Jethro Pugh was the only ache of significance to come out of the Eagles' game. Cliff Harris, All-Pro free safety, and fullback Robert Newhouse, both injured early in the pre-season, got a taste of game action in the late stages of the contest last Sunday.

Preston Pearson was in pads and working this week, meaning he could be called upon in an emergency but otherwise is two or three

Look for upsets

NFL's second week

NEW YORK (AP)—Psst. Hey, buddy. Yeah, you. Looking for an upset in the National Football League this week?

And this is a team that neglected to score any points in its first one. So why should it win? Well, for one thing, despite last week's victory, San Diego is no powerhouse.

Tampa Bay. The picks: Tampa Bay 14, San Diego 10. How will the Bucs score 14 points this week when they couldn't score any last week? Have faith. The Chargers aren't as good as they looked against Kansas City.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 18, 1976

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A good day to take care of annoying chores requiring attention. Do them in an unobtrusive manner so that you do not have others around you feeling you are martyr. Evening can bring family joys.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Study your foundational security and know what should be done to make it better and more efficient. Wait until evening to entertain.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Use more care in motion and avoid trouble. Avoid making unkind or unwise remarks. You wind up being hurt if you do.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Get financial matters in good order and do not get into any agreements where you have to spend large sums of money. Improve budget and be happier. Avoid one who tears you down.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Do not look to friends for help today since they have problems of their own. Rely on your own efforts. Evening is best time for social gatherings.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Take care of chores that are hard to do during the working week. You have a credit affair that needs handling immediately.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Some new plan you have in mind needs more study before you can put it in operation. A new acquaintance can get you into trouble if you permit it now. Use care and caution in all you do and say.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Ideal day to do whatever improves your position in the community. Come to a better understanding with bigwigs who can be helpful.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Take time out today to review some plan you have for the future. Evening could bring a new contact who can be of real help to you.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You have responsibilities that need tending. Use the most efficient means to dispose of them quickly. A loved one is in a bad mood.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Avoid arguments with associates during day when they are apt to be in an irritable mood brought on by atmospheric conditions.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Try to achieve more harmony with those you come in daily contact with, otherwise you could lose a valued associate. Be more efficient in performing regular work.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Budget your money when it comes to entertainment. Do not argue with others. Show more affection for a loved one and improve relations.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will have to be taught early to deal with others in a more objective way. Otherwise your child could easily be hurt and resort to emotionalism that could lead to big trouble and little success. Slant education along lines that are commercial in nature.

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) - Three former Wheatcraft, Inc.,

Old refrigerator kills two Bovina children

BOVINA — Two brothers, David Morales, 7, and Jessie Sevallos Jr., 3, were discovered dead in an abandoned refrigerator here by a third brother here Wednesday.

The boys were pronounced dead on arrival at the Parmer County Hospital about 5 p.m.

Parmer County Sheriff Charles Loveless said it was a case of children playing. The family had been in Bovina only about a week and previously lived in Anson.

Parents of the victims are Mr. and Mrs. Jessie Sevallos Sr.

Friona Peace Justice Frances Euler ruled death due to suffocation and said the deaths were accidental.

Quite a week

with Marj Carpenter

It's been quite a week. Among the things I attended was the tasting luncheon at the NCO Club at Webb Air Force Base, held in honor of Hispanic Week.

Tony Ortiz from Howard College made a great talk about the influence of the Latin American race on the United States.

The personable Tony pointed out how early the race came to the United States back in the 16th century. The Spanish were out in the Southwest building missions and hunting gold by the time the Pilgrims landed in the Mayflower.

He pointed out that the Pilgrims brought their families, but the Spaniards did not, so there was a lot of intermarrying with the first Americans — the Indians.

He pointed out that the Mexican race, as such, was formed in those years and then went on to outline the years when Mexico owned the entire Southwest.

He also pointed out contributions to culture and named such things as the lariat, the chaps, saddle, branding, lasso, bronco and the horse itself, which was brought by the Spanish.

It was really an interesting talk and I was certainly trying to learn informed, but

PART OF THE GROUP — Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Pribyla of Grady, Ulen North, Stanton; Alfred J. Schwartz, St. Lawrence and James Eiland, Cap Rock Co-op manager, are shown visiting prior to the big barbeque held in Stanton Saturday night. Incidentally, Cap Rock called over this week to mention that Sammy Buchanan is a director, rather than Glenn Cantrell as they listed in their news release.

the line was long and we were at the end of the long chow line, smelling the good enchiladas and tamales and literally starving.

Somebody off behind us, looked at the slow-moving line and looked toward the speaker and muttered, "Don't forget they also brought manana."

But the food was worth waiting for. It was really good. In fact, Debbie Volkman from Vermont and Bill Werrell from Cincinnati were waiting patiently along with everyone else. They are the sister of Gretchen Werrell and the brother of Jamie Werrell here at the office.

Debbie showed her Vermont knowledge of Mexican food, however. I heard this strange sound beside me and looked over to discover the Vermonter trying to eat her tamale, shuck and all. "It's tough," she whispered. I was about to fall out of the chair laughing as I unwrapped her tamale. I hope the speaker didn't think we were laughing at his excellent talk.

On Saturday night over in Stanton, I was lucky enough to get to attend the Cap Rock Electric annual meeting. It is really something else and over 2000 people came to the event.

Somebody over there told me about a man named Skeeter Something-or-Other here in Big Spring, whose father owned a store across the road from the now much-talked-about Fairview Store, that was even older than that store. Whoever gave me that information — or Skeeter Whats-his-name himself, I would appreciate a call. I've lost my notes.

On Friday, I thoroughly enjoyed talking at the Steer pep rally. The Steers looked so very grim that I am really thrilled that they jumped up and beat Hobbs. It would be absolutely hilarious to put it on old Snyder tonight. Hold that Tiger, Steers.

Also on Friday, I dropped by the Big Spring Country Club where Harold Hall was hosting the staff and board of the Permian Basin Regional Planning Council. Willie Taylor efficient manpower coordinator, carried on so exceedingly loud about wanting in the paper as a winner that we now list Willie the Winner. Of what, I don't know.

I would mention Susan

Cobb, only when she's busy with her clipping scissors, she always misses this column anyway. I won't even expect her to catch this. The PBRPC is becoming known nationally as one of the best planning councils in the nation. The fact that Judge Barbara Culver is the national president of the organization is going to do nothing but help West Texas. Did you get that, Susan?

Finally, I enjoyed the Forsan football game last week. The Forsan Schools are great hosts and I appreciate it. Come on Buffs — it really looks like you're going to have a great season.

And that's the way it was this week out there — busy, hopping and skipping around all kinds of fences.

Tower aide resigns post

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Elwin Skiles Jr., formerly of Abilene, has announced plans to resign as an aide to Sen. John Tower (R-Tex.) and return to Texas.

Skiles, son of the son of the president of Hardin-Simmons University, plans to join the legal staff of Texas Instruments Inc., in Dallas in November.

At one time, young Skiles was an attorney for Hunt Oil Company and taught at El Centro College in Dallas. Skiles graduated from Abilene High School in 1959 and earned his undergraduate degree from Baylor University in 1965.

Thornton's opens eighth

MIDLAND — Thornton's is opening its eighth department store in Midland today. The Midland store is managed by John Bishop, formerly of Abilene.

Company plans are to open another Thornton's store in Odessa next month.

Thornton's opened a store in Big Spring the past spring. The firm also has four stores in Abilene and one each in Brownwood and Sweetwater.
