

Scouters Seek Site For Construction Of Headquarters Home

The City Council took under advisement Tuesday night a proposal that it give or "sell at a nominal price" one of its downtown lots to the Boy Scouts of America.

Charles L. Klapproth, an official of the Buffalo Trail Council of Boy Scouts, headed a delegation of Scouters requesting the property, on which the council headquarters now is located under lease.

The property is located on the southeast corner of Colorado and West Ohio Streets.

Klapproth said the council desires the property for the building of permanent headquarters in Midland for the 17-county area.

"We feel that the city," he said, "which is composed of all its citizens will not miss it and at the same time will be rendering the boys of Midland a great service."

"We think the present site is an ideal one and we think it will benefit the entire community."

The council declined to take action immediately on the proposal.

Male Beauty Shop Resounds With, You Gussed It, Gossip

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD — If Professor Kinsey can make a report, so can Johnson!

I'm heading mine: "Gossip Behavior of the Hollywood Male."

You've heard about the female acid-drippers in the beauty parlors, but wait until you get an earful on the tattling, chattering, tale-bearing and babbling of movie kings when they're under the dryers.

It's enough to shake my faith in Gary Cooper as a strong, silent type.

My stool pigeon was Patricia Stenz, a lively, gusty lass who's Hollywood's champion operator of a hair-restoring beauty shop for men.

But while Pat's coaxing up the fuzz on a bald pate, her own hair stands on end at the things she hears in Booth No. 6.

Yes, indeed, Pat told me, the celluloid profile boys have the gals skinned a mile when it comes to the over-the-fence Monday wash act.

But her eyebrows went up like twin helicopters when I asked her to tell me all.

"Holy Toledo, not all," the hair genius open-mouthed it. "It couldn't be printed. It's just that men gossip more than women. They aren't as malicious, though. I'd rather listen to the fellows any time. Sometimes it gets a little rough. Sure my ears burn, I can tell you."

Did the heart-flutterers mention names like Lana, Hedy, Ava, Jean and Joy, I wanted to know?

Booth-Hoppers

"In a friendly way," Pat said. "They mention Errol Flynn, too. There's a lot of booth-hopping at my place. The fellows can take the plugs out of their own booths and plug them in all over the place. The plugs are for their steaming helmets."

Pat explained it.

Steaming helmets are what the fellows wear after she's smeared little fancy goo over their bald spots.

"They're cute as pie," Pat squealed. "When all the helmets go together, you can bet the gossip's starting. It's like a scene from 'Quo Vadis.'"

I choked and rasped it out that I'd like to know what movie stars were getting knifed the most these days in the Stens palace of chitchat.

"Well, there's a lot being said about Tony Curtis, Farley Granger and John Derek," Pat began. "The fellows just can't stand it that all those beautiful young boys with acres of hair are coming up so fast. It drives them crazy."

"I hear them saying, 'I'll bet you Tony's looks won't last. He'll get jowly in no time.' The fellow rip up all the gorgeous new actors. Then they come to me and ask if I can help them grow wavy eyelashes like Tony's or John's."

Pat said that while she's slaving over a million-dollar dome, the buzzing and whispering are going full blast.

Far be it from her to identify the victims, but the talk sounds like this:

"Hey, pipe the pretty boy from Paramount with those big, broad shoulders."

"Who's he trying to kid? They're falsies."

"What say we slip into his booth and feel the padding of that jacket?"

"I think I'll slip him my diet. He ought to reduce."

"What a fight I had with my wife last night. She makes more money at the studio than I do and she wants me to pay the bills. 'Get lost,' I told her, 'get lost.'"

"Don't Repeat It, But . . ."

"That MGM Barrymore dresses like a trade union organizer. Really!"

"Don't tell it to a soul, but he's carrying on with that cute stand-in and his wife is wise to it."

"No! How indiscreet."

"Hey, get that lady-killer from Fox. His shoes are built up six inches. One more inch and he can get a job in the Ballet Russe."

"I heard it from my valet, who's a first cousin of Jimmy's wardrobe man, that Jimmy beats his wife."

Pat sighed in the manner of a sorority house mother.

"Well, what else can a bunch of men do while they're waiting for their scalps to dry?" she asked.

"Everything's real clubby. The fellows look at each other's heads and count the new hairs. Funniest thing in the world to see. I make coffee and the fellows play gin rummy and poker. Dick Powell gave me the coffee grinder and the dishes."

Oh, yes, Pat had to tell me about her magazines.

She buys hundreds of them for the darling-I-am-growing-baldier gang to read.

"Fan magazines?" I asked.

"No," Pat blushed, "art magazines. You know, pictures of pretty girls with nothing much on. The fellows go for that kind of reading."

Movie Animals Can Be Thankful They're Not Humans As Income Tax Deadline Nears

HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — Been stewing and fretting, figuring and refiguring to compute your income tax by Thursday's deadline?

Then it will give you small satisfaction to learn that one group of wage earners—and they're in the upper brackets—haven't given taxes a thought.

They are Hollywood's acting animals—and you should have it so soft.

Lassie, for instance, which makes about $50,000 a year, complacently munched a filet of horse while his master huddled with an accountant in preparation for March 15.

How much does an individual animal have to pay?

That's a toughie.

Most trainers have scores of beasts. The biggest outfit, the World Jungle Compound, has more than 200, ranging from elephants to squirrels. Taxes are based on the owner's total income and are not broken down to show each animal's share.

Lassie, if he were human, male and single, would pay about $28,000 on his income. (That's right, Lassie's a "he").

Billy Cicharels, a co-owner of the jungle compound, estimates his more famous charges would be in at least the 20 per cent bracket. He said his biggest star, a chimpanzee named Tamba which died in a fire last week, was paid $1,000 a week while working and he got a lesser sum between pictures "just for eating bananas."

Here are some other examples of how highly the movie industry regards its four-footed performers: In the $600 a week class are Jackie the lion, Dynamite the black panther, Satan the tiger and Sherry the puma. A racing camel gets $100 a day. Lassie's stand-in, Laddie, draws $150 a week. A leading man's saddle horse gets up to $350, a trick horse $450. Frosty, a trained gull, is paid $30 a day.

These salaries aren't as big as they sound when you consider overhead expenses for food, quarters, transportation and veterinarian's are deductible.

Lassie's trainer, Rud Weatherwax, wishes animals could claim exemptions for children. "Lassie has sired about 200 pups," he says. "Think how much that would knock off my tax bill."

Paving Program Is Given Council's Authorization

A paving program including 119 blocks of city streets and 14 alleys in the business district was authorized Tuesday night by the City Council.

While the council did not formally order the program, it authorized the advertising of bids on the program, which will cost an estimated $470,000.

The city's share of the program will be 30 per cent of the total amount.

City Manager W. H. Oswalt said the program will be at the contract-awarding stage in about a month.

In connection with this paving program, the council agreed to pay half the cost of paving the section of West Ohio Street, behind Midland Memorial Hospital, if the county will pay the other half.

The two governmental units cooperated in financing the present paving around the hospital.

money." He added that the city and county were spared the expense of operating a public city-county hospital by the operation of the Midland Memorial Hospital.

He said county commissioners had indicated they would approve the payment of half the paving cost by the county.

The HASTY HEART

Abundant Living

By E. STANLEY JONES

I Thess. 5:23; II Cor. 5:14, 17; Col. 3:12-14

THE WHOLE NATURE DISCIPLINED BY LOVE

We turn again to the "aim of the Christian discipline, which is love that springs from a pure heart, from a good conscience, and from a sincere faith." Note that it is a love that springs from the total personality—"a pure heart," the emotional nature; "from a good conscience," the volitional nature; "from a sincere faith," the intellectual nature.

The personality expresses itself in three phases: intellect, feeling, and will. So the Christian discipline produces a love that springs, not from a portion of the being, but from the total being. This is the echo of the words of Jesus, who said the highest commandment was to "love thy Lord thy God with all thy heart"—the affectional nature; "with all thy soul"—the volitional nature; "with all thy mind"—the intellectual nature; and "with all thy strength"—the physical nature. Man is to do the highest thing in the world—love—and he is to do it with every portion of his nature.

To love with every portion of one's nature is important, otherwise, one develops lopsided. The "strength" refers to the physical, but it could also refer to the rest of the personality. We are to love God with the strength of the emotion, the strength of the will. If you love Him with the strength of the mind and the weakness of the emotion, that lopsided love produces the intellectualist in religion, lacking emotional drive and appeal. To love Him with the strength of the emotion and the weakness of the mind makes the sentimentalist in religion. To love Him with the strength of the will and the weakness of the emotion makes the hard man of action, but lacking in loveliness. The only really strong Christian is the one who lets love get hold of his total nature—he loves with the strength of the mind, the strength of the will, the strength of the body, so that the whole being is caught up by a burning passion of love. Like the rays that are gathered into our focus by a burning glass, so he kindles love and devotion in others. He is contagious. The disciplined make disciples.

My consecration shall be the burning glass that gathers everything into one focus of love. Then and then alone can I kindle others. I would kindle others. For I know that the discipline of myself is to get me beyond myself, so that I can be freed to lift and inspire others. Then let me find release from all contradictions, all cross-purposes, and let me burn—burn for Thee, in Jesus' name. Amen.

Mrs. Henderson Is Circle Hostess

Mrs. John Henderson was hostess to the Willing Workers Circle of the Asbury Methodist Church when it met Tuesday night.

Mrs. Jewell Tanner opened the meeting with prayer and Mrs. C. W. Holman read the minutes.

Mrs. Bill Rutherford gave the devotional on "Grace." Mrs. C. W. Lawrence spoke on "Why Do We Worship?" and Mrs. John Henderson gave "Worshipping Together."

Mrs. Tanner spoke on "The New Birth." Shirley Bunt gave the closing prayer.

Others present were Mrs. Jim Horton and Mrs. Carmel Pirtle.

Hunting Is Fun Again

Construction business is hard work, says Maurice H. Runnells, of Mabelvale, Arkansas, but he likes it. He also likes hunting with his hounds, but for a while he didn't feel like doing much of anything.

M. H. Runnells said he heard about how HADACOL had helped many folks with troubles like his due to a deficiency of Vitamins B1, B2, Iron and Niacin and decided to give it a trial. He made a good decision, for HADACOL did help him. Soon, his aches and pains were relieved, he had a good appetite, really enjoyed his food, and he rested well.

Mr. Runnells says: "I am in the construction business, which everyone knows is mighty heavy work. I was working so hard, and just didn't seem to have any appetite at all. I started having aches and pains at about the same time. Then, about that time I decided to give HADACOL a trial. Right away, my aching was greatly relieved and my appetite picked up. I started eating regular meals, sleeping well and my general condition was greatly improved. I have since continued taking HADACOL regularly, and feel that it is a wonderful product. I freely recommend HADACOL as a good product."

HADACOL can help you if you suffer such deficiencies. Ask your druggist for HADACOL today.

Col. Plavsic Is Guest Speaker

Col. Milan Plavsic, director of public safety, was the guest speaker at the West Elementary Parent-Teacher Association meeting Tuesday in the school. Plavsic spoke on "Youth Program on the Community Level." He was introduced by Mrs. Harvey Herd.

Girl Scout Troop 12 gave the devotional and music.

During the business meeting a nominating committee was elected to present a slate of officers. Those on the committee are Mrs. Jack Moore, Leslie Hinds, principal, and Mrs. Bill Collins.

The city council reported West Elementary was first in P-TA membership. It was voted to send $25 to be used for building a national headquarters building.

Mrs. Grenade Peter's room was first in room count and Mrs. Wanda Lee Thomas' room was second.

Library Gift Includes Jap Translations

Five Japanese publications in English translation and six geological writings on Japan and China were presented to the Midland County Library recently by Harold Williams.

Translations included "The History of Nippon (Altiama);" "The Japanese Enthronement Ceremonies with an Account of the Imperial Regalia (Holton);" "The Japanese Game of Go (Mihori);" "Treasury of Japanese Literature (Watanabe);" and "Preservation of Natural Monuments in Japan (Japanese Department of Education)."

Geological material represented in the gift included: "Petroleum Resources and Production in Japan (General Headquarters, Allied Powers);" "On the Geotectonic of the Japanese Islands (Ogawa);" "The Oil Shale Deposit of Fushun, Manchuria (Uwatoko);" "Fossil Primates From China (Schlosser);" "Productidae of China (Chao);" and "Atlas for the Geology of the Tsinglingshan and Szechuan (Chao and Huang)."

Club Observes Texas Day

The Twentieth Century Study Club observed Texas Day at its meeting Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Harlan Howell.

Mrs. C. E. Nelson was in charge of the program. Duke Jimerson sang "Texas, Our Texas" and "Midland." He was accompanied by Mrs. Joe Mims.

Mrs. G. C. Hughes of the Modern Study Club reviewed the book, "The Homeplace," by Fred Gibson.

A social hour was held. Guests at the meeting were Mrs. James Kendrick, Mrs. Richard Storey and Mrs. Mims.

Other members present were Mrs. J. B. Bain, Mrs. Robert Cox, Mrs. James L. Daugherty, Mrs. Robert Donnell, Mrs. Edwin C. Hall, Mrs. Ray Howard, Mrs. Carl O. Hyde, Mrs. D. E. Jimerson, Mrs. Raymond Leggett, Mrs. B. R. Mathews, Mrs. H. H. Redding, Mrs. Charles Snure, Mrs. W. H. Rhodes and Mrs. J. M. Speed.

Winona Reynolds, Stacy Hodges Wed

CRANE—Winona Faye Reynolds and Stacy Albert Hodges were married Sunday in the Church of Christ. Dan Clark, minister officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Berlene Reynolds of McCamey. Hodges is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Hodges of Crane.

Dorothy Reynolds, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Jimmy King was best man.

After the wedding a reception was held in the home of the groom's parents.

Mrs. Hodges is a junior in the McCamey High School. Hodges is in the U. S. Navy.

THE REPORTER-TELEGRAM, MIDLAND, TEXAS, MARCH 14, 1951-5

'The Hasty Heart' To Open Wednesday

The first performance of "The Hasty Heart" will be given at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday in the City-County Auditorium as a presentation of the Community Theater. Performances will be given each night through Saturday.

Described by one New York critic as "a tough, tense and tender play," "The Hasty Heart" has been produced successfully in both New York and London and toured by the Theater Guild throughout the country.

Based upon the author's firsthand experiences, the play is both profoundly moving and hilariously comic in its story of a Scottish soldier who is painfully homesick for the companionship of his fellow-patients in a British hospital in Burma, but who is too proud to accept their persistent bids for his friendship. There is a poignant love story, too, between a hospital nurse and the Scotsman, complicated by the stubborn soldier's belief that it is not love, but pity, that the nurse offers him, since he is expected to live only a few weeks.

Charles Dixon will be seen as Sgt. Lachlan MacLachlan, the soldier who finally opens his heart to love and friendship. Howard Davis will play the role of Yank, the easy-going American. Other soldiers, with accents ranging from cockney to Australian, will be played by Jim Newman, Lew Hoey, John R. Davis, C. G. Cooper and Wally Jackson. As Margaret, the nurse who falls in love with the dour Scot, Virginia Dunagan will be portraying the play's only feminine character.

Studied Japanese

Two members of the cast have something in common with the play. Howard Davis studied Japanese during the war at Harvard under special assignment by the Army.

Jim Newman is well acquainted with the locale and conditions of the play. At the beginning of the war Newman was with an Australian outfit defending Singapore when it fell to the Japanese. Being on an isolated spot of beach as yet not overrun by the enemy, he and six others decided not to wait around. Newman along with two New Zealanders, two Australians and three Durians appropriated a canoe and started paddling for the island of Sumatra. They dodged aerial patrols and sought help from natives along the way.

The group reached Sumatra after about a week's trip and hiked to the south side of the island to a free Dutch port. When a British destroyer put in Newman got aboard and eventually reached Colombo where he was given a place on a troopship to Australia.

Tickets for the play are on sale at Tailorline and may be purchased at the box office. During this show will be the last time Community Theater memberships may be bought. Anyone interested in buying a membership may do so at the City-County Auditorium.

Mrs. Poole Talks To Naomi Circle

Mrs. Charles I. Poole talked on "Our Responsibility Toward the Giver of all Gifts" when the Naomi Circle of the St. Mark's Methodist Church met Monday. The meeting was held in the home of Mrs. J. B. Sharp, with Mrs. Jimmy Allison serving as hostess.

Mrs. Sharp gave the devotional. Others present were Mrs. W. D. Gill, Mrs. C. L. Rawe, Mrs. J. M. LeMasters, Mrs. R. R. Frantz, Mrs. H. B. Curry, Mrs. G. C. Merket, Mrs. Clarence Borland, Mrs. Alma Dawkins, Mrs. W. M. Johnson and Mrs. William M. Sandeen.

Church Group Hears Hughston

John Hughston of Trinity University in San Antonio was the guest speaker at the Monday board meeting of the Women of the Church of the First Presbyterian Church. He told the group gathered in the church of the development of the university.

His talk was followed by reports from the general officers, circle chairman and committee chairman. A budget for the year was adopted and announcement was made of the Presbyterian meeting for the women of the church, to be held April 12-13 in Fort Stockton. Delegates are to be elected early in April. The meeting was opened with a prayer by Mrs. Paul Laverty.

Council Plans Part In Livestock Show

The Midland County Home Demonstration Council devoted a recent meeting to plans for its part in the livestock show which opened Wednesday. The planning meeting was held in the assembly room of the county court house.

Mrs. I. J. Howard reported on the foods which are to be served at the stock show. The following schedule was announced for serving: West Side and Valley View Home Demonstration Clubs, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Thursday; Prairie Lee and Garden Addition Clubs and the 4-H Girls Club from 4-7 p.m. Thursday. The 4-H girls also were to serve from 4 to 6 p.m. Wednesday.

Several committee reports were heard and Mrs. B. L. Mason, Texas Home Demonstration Association chairman, asked each club member to send in her plan of work and a list of what she has done. The council voted to pay the expenses of the THDA delegates to the district meeting April 12 in Andrews.

Delegates, elected at a later meeting of the THDA are Mrs. Bennie Bizzell, Mrs. L. H. Moncrief and Mrs. Mason. First, second and third alternates are Mrs. Paul Floyd, Mrs. M. E. Benton and Mrs. Sherman North.

Those attending the council meeting were Mrs. North, Mrs. Benton, Mrs. J. E. Cassidy, Mrs. Joe Heidelberg, Mrs. Moncrief, Mrs. H. A. Palmer, Mrs. Verne Dawkins, Pauline McWilliams, Mrs. Howard Mason, and Mrs. O. R. Phillips, council chairman.

SUB DEBS GIVE DANCE

ANDREWS—The Andrews Sub Debs entertained recently with a buffet supper and dance in the Community Building. Twenty-five persons attended.

Perennial Club Has Discussion

A roundtable discussion of roses, dahlias, peonies and other perennials was held by the Perennial Garden Club Tuesday night in the home of Mrs. J. E. Sanders. Members who are growing perennials told the group of methods used to produce better plants and blooms. The flower arrangement was brought by Mrs. George Christy. Tentative plans were made for a progressive dinner scheduled for April.

Those present were Mrs. Earl Bird, Mrs. J. B. Branham, Mrs. A. L. Gill, Mrs. Russell Holster, Mrs. Joe Beane, Mrs. C. D. Johnson, Mrs. Christy, Mrs. Lucille Johnson, Mrs. J. T. Klingler and Mrs. C. W. Murray. The next meeting will be held at 8 p.m. April 10, in the home of Mrs. J. B. Branham on East Highway 80.

DADDY RINGTAIL

Daddy Ringtail And Little Mister Fixit

Little Mister Fixit is the name of a very little man who lives far away in the Great Forest. Fixing things is his business, although few people ever heard of him, because he goes about his business of fixing things so very quietly. He never causes trouble.

Mugwump Monkey, the monkey boy, saw Mister Fixit one fine day as the little old gentleman was leaving Daddy Ringtail's monkey house. "Happy day, Mugwump!" Mister Fixit said, and then he was gone before Mugwump could even ask who he was.

"Daddy Ringtail," said Mugwump, "who was that?"

Daddy Ringtail said that Mister Fixit was Mister Fixit, and that Mister Fixit could fix anything. "He can fix back the leaves on the trees of the forest," said Daddy Ringtail, "and he can put back feathers on birds. He just now fixed the window that a certain somebody broke yesterday."

Ah, me, but Mugwump knew about the window. Mugwump himself had broken it. Mugwump was always getting into trouble, you see, but now he was thinking of Mister Fixit. "Daddy Ringtail," said Mugwump, "he knew my name. And I had never heard of him."

By Wesley Davis

Daddy Ringtail smiled. He said, "That's right, Mister Fixit did know your name."

And how do you suppose the little old gentleman knew who Mugwump was, when Mugwump had never heard of him? Daddy Ringtail knew, but he didn't want to say it. Mugwump might have his feelings hurt to hear it. But Mugwump said he wanted to know. Why, why oh why had he never heard of little Mister Fixit? Daddy Ringtail told him.

Daddy Ringtail said: "Little Mister Fixit never gets into trouble. That is why so many people don't know about him, and that is why you never heard his name."

"But Daddy Ringtail," said Mugwump, "everybody has heard about me. How does everybody know my name?"

"You know," said Daddy Ringtail, "why they know about you." And Mugwump knew indeed. He knew he gets into more trouble than anyone, but he tries not to do it. He tries and tries to stay out of mischief and if he didn't try at all—mercy me! Think of all the mischief he would get into! Happy day!

Poundmaster's Refrain— Oh, Why Does Spring Have To Usher In Puppy Love?

By COPE ROUTH
There's something about the warm rays of a Spring sun that sends cold shivers down the spine of E. M. Stewart.
It's love—that's what it is—pure, genuine grade-A puppy love.
And Stewart, who is the dog-catcher, would just as soon Cupid stayed at home, broke his arrows into a thousand little pieces and tossed them into a roaring winter fire.
For the peculiar kind of Cupid that is worshiped in the realm of Dogdom delights in making life miserable for the kind little man who likes his pets just as much as the next person.

Breases Stir Hearts
Just as sure as the sap starts to rise in the trees, the soft breezes of Spring seem to stir the hearts of the Romeos and Julietts of dogdom.
And the quest of dogdom's unrequited lovers inevitably leads across Midland's tenderest flower gardens, its cleanest front porches and its most carefully tended lawns.
That's when life's miseries begin for Stewart, who not only has to pick up the city's stray dogs and tend the city's animal pound but also has to find time to serve as superintendent of parks.
Irate housewives and maddened householders begin ringing the phone off the hook at the police station, to complain about roving packs of dogs and they want something done about it.
"And all I can do is chase them," shrugs Stewart.
"Not even a dogcatcher is able to stand in the path of love."
Law On Their Side
"The little lovers just run away when I come around. I can't catch them on foot and the law won't let me shoot them."
"And when I do pick up some unhappy female dog, the males just start looking for another one."
The city, incidentally has an ordinance restricting the fulfillment of a dog's courtship to the privacy of the home and imposes a penalty upon the owner of such females who are allowed to roam at large and thus disturb the tranquility of Fido's existence.
"But when I do happen to pick up a female," added Stewart, "I can never find her owner. No one will admit she belongs to them."
"It goes on the whole year around but in the Spring it seems to be worse and there's not much I can do."
So Midland's dogs continue to scurry along lover's lane.
Midland residents continued to complain about trampled flower beds and littered yards.
And Stewart continue his fruitless chase, jumping at the sound of the telephone and cursing the day that dogdom's Romeo discovered the secrets of puppy love.

Man Found Dead Of Monoxide Fumes

SHERMAN —(P)— Officers believe Lawrence A. Lewis, 43, of Texarkana, Ark., who crawled in the back seat of a car for a nap, died from the vehicle's exhaust fumes.
Lewis was found dead in the back seat of a car at Whitewright, Texas, Tuesday. Two companions of his told Grayson County officers Lewis got in the back seat to sleep and they did not know he was dead until they arrived at Whitewright.
Justice of the Peace Ed Martin returned an inquest verdict of death by carbon monoxide poisoning.
The three started out from Camden, Ark., Tuesday looking for work.

Crusading Pastor To Name Galveston County Gambling Dens

LA MARQUE, TEXAS. —(P)— The Rev. Harry H. Burch, crusader against gambling, planned Wednesday to "name" places where open gambling is being practiced in Galveston County.
The 46-year-old pastor of Paul's Union Church has been invited to appear before the Senate State Affairs Committee Wednesday when it holds a public hearing in Austin on a resolution calling for an investigation of crime in Texas.
Burch told reporters Tuesday night he would name gambling places on Galveston Island and on the "mainland" of the county as well.
Two years ago Burch spearheaded an anti-gambling crusade that caused slot machine operators to remove their equipment from LaMarque.

Doctor Says Children Have More Fractures

LOS ANGELES —(P)— In this age of free wheeling youth, says Dr. Harold B. Boyd, broken arms and legs are far more frequent among youngsters than they were a generation ago.
"Childhood has become mechanized," said Boyd, of Memphis, Tenn., here for the convention of the College of Medical Evangelists. "Even the tricycle riders seem to be getting younger every year."
Their fractures, however, heal just as rapidly as they ever did, added Boyd, an orthopedic specialist.

Atom Thefts Easy, Says Confessed Spy

NEW YORK —(P)— A confessed spy for Russia says it was easy to take American secrets from the Los Alamos, N. M., atomic bomb project during wartime.
This is the opinion of David Greenglass, 29, who as an Army sergeant was stationed at Los Alamos in 1944.
Greenglass testified Tuesday in federal court at the trial of his sister, Mrs. Ethel Rosenberg, 33, her electrical engineer husband, Julius, 33, and radar expert Morton Sobell, 33.
He returned to the witness stand for further cross-examination Wednesday.
The Rosenbergs and Sobell are charged with conspiring to spy for Russia in wartime—an offense for which they could be sentenced to death.
Greenglass has confessed to taking secrets from Los Alamos and giving them to a Soviet spy ring. He now is awaiting sentence on a guilty plea.
Just Wandering Around
Often smiling, Greenglass told Federal Judge Irving R. Kaufman and a jury that he obtained information at Los Alamos just by wandering around the super-secret project and asking seemingly innocuous questions.
He also said he occasionally eavesdropped on scientists' conversations.
During one such occasion, he said, he heard a discussion of "implosion," a vital factor in atomic bomb construction. Implosion is a bursting inward in contrast to the outward burst of an explosion.
Another time, Greenglass said, he just walked into a laboratory and picked up a piece of material from a table. The man working with it, the witness continued, wore a "white badge" to indicate he had access to top-secret information.
Greenglass said he asked the man:
"Oh, that's an interesting piece of material, interestingly machined. What's the idea?"
"Tricky-like, huh?" interrupted Defense Attorney Emanuel Bloch. The witness said his question was intended to be tricky, and added:
"The white badge man told me that was a source of neutrons."
Greenglass said he never was "frisked" in coming and going from the plant but that "security police checked packages."
"I didn't take any blueprints or sketches out of Los Alamos because I relied on my memory," Greenglass said. "I got information outside of my official duties as a machinist from various people."
This data, he testified, he passed to the Rosenbergs.
Earlier, Greenglass testified about an escape route through Mexico for harrassed Soviet spies in the United States.
He also declared he still felt affection for his sister and her husband (the Rosenbergs) although he was testifying for the prosecution.

Six Men Charged In Night Beating Of Farmer, Nephew

CONWAY, S. C. —(P)— Six men were under indictment here Wednesday on a charge of conspiracy in the beating of a partially crippled farmer and his nephew.
Sam Gore, 49-year-old farmer, and his nephew, J. C. Gore, 25, said they were dragged from their home in the county by nightriders January 17.
They said they were told the beating was for neglecting their families.
Among the six men indicted is Clyde Creel, identified by Sheriff C. E. Sasser as secretary of the county Ku Klux Klan.
Last summer the county and other Klansmen saw one of their number, a policeman wearing a Klan robe over his uniform, shot to death during a Klan demonstration in front of a negro dance hall at Myrtle Beach.
The younger Gore is a World War II Purple Heart veteran.

Deformed Child Must Have Will To Overcome Handicap

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

It is entirely possible for a child born with a club foot, a harelip, a cleft palate or some other inborn malformation to rise to heights of fame and indeed to receive national and international acclaim. This has been done in many fields of human endeavor and speaks well for the ability of man to rise in the face of adversity.

The conditions mentioned and several other physical variations from normal are present at birth and naturally come as a great shock to the parents. All or most of them, are the result of incomplete development inside the womb of the mother and are not really inherited.

What causes them has been quite mysterious and still is not entirely clear although it now seems that infection of the mother with German measles while she is carrying the child and possible other things greatly increase the likelihood of this sort of trouble. Anyway, it's a mighty good idea for prospective mothers to dodge exposure to infections and particularly German measles just as carefully as possible.

A new-born baby with a harelip or club foot almost certainly does not suffer any pain. But the parents are acutely distressed. A whole lot of questions come up at once:

Is it their fault, what can be done for it, will it interfere with the child's physical or mental development, how likely is it to happen again with other children?

No, it is not the fault of the parents. There is nothing they could have done to prevent it. What can be done later is something else. A lot can be done for harelip, cleft palate, club foot and some of the other congenital malformations, especially if they are attacked early enough.

For this reason it is wise to consult someone who knows about them even if manipulation, casts, or operation, is put off for a few months or so. The more that can be done, of course, the less will be the interference with the child's normal development.

Odds Are Weighty

As to the chances of having a later child with a congenital defect one has to deal with figures. The parents of one malformed child have about seven chances in eight that the next child will be normal. Taking all births, a congenital defect occurs only about once in 213.

From the physical standpoint the disadvantages often can be largely overcome by modern methods. It is just as important to battle the mental effects, and in this the sympathetic understanding of parents, teachers and the rest of us help greatly. But the will to overcome obstacles on the part of the youngster himself is the most important.

Veterans Of 25th Division Write Out New Chapter In Korean War's History

By JIM BECKER

WESTERN FRONT, KOREA—(AP)—The tough veteran troops of the 25th Infantry Division, who had written so many winning chapters of the American Army in Korea, have achieved perhaps their greatest success in the last seven days.

How they went about it is a story that can be told now.

When this nippy, sunny Wednesday dawned they were firmly established north of the Han River. They hold 80 square miles of rugged real estate taken away from Chinese Communists, who vastly outnumbered them a week ago and almost have vanished now.

The politically important City of Seoul lies 10 miles to the west. The dirty water of the Han are eight to the south.

"Lightning Division" troops are stretched across a 10-mile front. All over the jagged peaks which troops laboriously climbed, men are burying Chinese bodies.

A mortar crashed into the ranks on the right and a man fell. Another man knelt beside him, felt for his heart beat, then shook his head and moved on. Rifle shots began to whine past, stirring rocks on the beach with a sharp ping.

Behind the safety of the dike, the men paused for breath and then pushed on to the hills beyond.

There, they met Chinese and the fight started in earnest. Bullets sipped overhead. Artillery boomed from both sides.

Mortars crashed among several men. Medics rushed to their aid.

Then, 16 frightened little men in padded brown uniforms, shaking from the pounding, were herded behind the banks by GI's.

They crouched to avoid the in-who was the first American victory in Korea many months ago.

tense fire their own comrades were throwing.

A company commander reported later, "My boys jumped right in the holes with them, shot a couple and the rest quit."

The 27th Regiment troops pushed on; so did the other 25th Division regiment—to the left the veteran 35th, one of the greatest fighting units in Korea, and to the right negro troops of the 24th Regiment.

All units buttoned up for the night and then pushed on in the morning. On the fourth day, they linked forces and pushed on.

Now the Chinese are in full flight before them.

Thousands of Reds are dead. No one ever will know exactly how many more thousands are wounded. More than 300 Chinese gave up.

And the grimy, dusty, unshaven, fantastically brave foot soldiers of the 25th Division still are looking north.

Cigarette Test For Robot Pilot

MINNEAPOLIS—(AP)—A cigarette standing on end in a plane was used to demonstrate the sensitivity of a new improved automatic pilot here recently.

As the automatic pilot put a Navy transport through its paces, the cigarette remained upright, and never toppled, say aero research engineers for the Minneapolis Honeywell Regulator Co. The plane went through landing approaches, turns, and finally an automatic instrument approach.

Services Are Held For H. N. McKellar

PECOS—Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon for Hector Neal McKellar, veteran former county official and postmaster, who died Sunday.

Services were held in the First Methodist Church and interment was in Fairview Cemetery.

He had served as county clerk, county judge and postmaster, followed by entry into the insurance business.

Survivors include the widow, two daughters and three sisters, and a nephew, Van Camp of Midland.

One Unbelievable Rear

Here's how the men of the 25th got there:

It began in the black and cold early morning hours of last Wednesday. Junior officers and platoon sergeants of the 27th (Wolfhound) Regiment's Third Battalion filed out into the silence from a dimly lighted room where they had been briefed—in minute detail—by Lt. Col. Richard W. Keyes of Houston, Texas.

They carried back to their men Keys' words—"I want vigorous, aggressive action."

Suddenly it no longer was quiet. With one unbelievable roar, 148 artillery pieces, 100 tanks, hundreds of mortars and machine guns let loose.

"Good morning, Mister Chinaman," smiled a staff officer.

Burning tracers snarled across the stream from machine guns into the hills across the water and then skidded crazily into the skies as they struck obstacles and targets.

Like Blinking Marquee

Tanks rocked back on their heels as they hurled their high-speed projectiles.

Then the big gun shells began to burst. There were so many dumped so fast into such a small area that the land across the river looked like a blinking movie marquee. The projectiles twinkled as they burst.

Twenty minutes of this—the greatest artillery barrage of the Korean war—and then the troops moved slowly down to the river's edge, carrying the green assault boats upside down. As they righted the tiny craft and started to climb in, the Reds started answering the barrage.

Shells whined overhead almost incessantly with a "Whoosh, whoosh, whoosh."

Tanks boomed away over our heads and we could smell the burning powder and see flames envelop the tanks with each burst of fire.

There were 10 men in each boat and two engineers who were to bring the boats back to pick up more men.

At 8:15 a.m., 20 tiny boats moved out from the south shore, each man paddling with a long wooden oar.

Surprisingly Quiet

The boats seemed to move very slowly.

Shells plunged into the water, some only 50 feet from the boats.

It was quiet on the north shore—surprisingly quiet.

The first objective was an earthen dike about 900 yards from the shore. We made for it.

Republicans Ask More Carefully Prepared Foreign Policy Program To Help Avert War

PHILADELPHIA — (AP) — Two Republican senators, Robert A. Taft of Ohio and James H. Duff of Pennsylvania, Tuesday night asked that Congress be given fuller details on Administration plans and policies. Taft, chairman of the GOP Policy Committee, declared the first essential in gaining a sound foreign policy is to have a plan "for now, next year and five years from now."

As it is now, he said, no one knows what this country's plan is to be. Duff said President Truman should take Congress more fully into his confidence to unite the nation and renew confidence abroad in American leadership.

Both Taft and Duff made their pleas as participants in the fifth annual forum of the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin.

Although they agreed on a fuller role for Congress in foreign policy, they have not seen eye-to-eye on the troops-for-Europe plan. Duff, youngest member of the Senate in point of service, has taken a stand against Taft and Senate Republican Leader Wherry of Nebraska by backing the Administration's plan. Democrats disagree.

Senator Sparkman (D-Ala.) disputed Taft's statement, made during a panel discussion between the two, by declaring:

"We do have a plan—to build a peaceful world and to contain communism while we build that work."

He added that, militarily speaking, the goal calls for 3,500,000 men in the armed services.

But Taft argued that without a carefully prepared program there is no guarantee of any limitation of the number of men who would be called into the armed services. Nor, he added, does any one know what it is going to cost.

The opening address of the forum, presided over by Robert McLean, president of The Bulletin and of the Board of Directors of The Associated Press, was made by President James B. Conant of Harvard University, who said he believes "the probability is that there will be no global war in 1951 or 1952."

Inflation Slowed Down

He said he had "high hopes" that the last half of this century "will yet prove to be the age of disarmament and peace."

"Worlds in Conflict" is the theme of the forum which ends Wednesday with afternoon and evening sessions.

Michael V. DiSalle, director of the Office of Price Stabilization, declared:

"We have flagged the inflation price express, and slowed down its speed from 75 miles an hour to 15 miles an hour."

The result of the slowdown, he said, is a prospect of stable prices "a great deal sooner than we originally expected."

Mrs. Anna M. Rosenberg, assistant defense secretary, asserted the Universal Military Training and Service bill which the Senate has adopted by a 78 to 19 vote "represents a historic forward step toward an effective and Democratic national security system of the type we need so urgently."

She described it as "our first solid step toward bringing the Soviets to the conference table in a serious mood to make peace."

C. I. Wall Succeeds R. F. Hinchey As President Of West Texas Gas Company

LUBBOCK — R. F. Hinchey, West Texas Gas Company president, was named chairman of the board of directors at a meeting in Kansas City Tuesday. C. I. (Stony) Wall was named to succeed Hinchey as president.

Simultaneous announcements also were made of four other promotions within the company: T. S. Whittis was named vice president, transmission; H. F. Heath, vice president, distribution; J. J. Wiley, vice president, accounting and budget control; and R. M. Curry, assistant to the president.

These six men have a total of more than 100 years service with West Texas Gas Company, which serves Midland and other area cities. Bob Lewis is manager of the Midland district.

Hinchey came to West Texas Gas Company from Okmulgee, Okla., June 1, 1927, as vice president and general manager. His first task was to supervise construction of a gas transmission line from the Panhandle Gas Field down into the South Plains and of distribution plants in the various cities and towns which were to be served. He has spent his entire working life in the natural gas business.

Stony Wall, new company president, has a background in the industry which almost parallels that of Hinchey except that practically all his working life has been spent with West Texas Gas Company.

Except for a "slow arm," Stony might today be with one of the major league baseball teams. Failing to get the nod from Branch Rickey of the St. Louis Cardinals during a Summer training school—Stony was told he might obtain a job with West Texas Gas Company which had just been organized.

This job he soon found out was that of checking pipe for the line being laid from the Panhandle Gas Field to the South Plains. His rapid rise from pipe checker to more responsible positions with the company followed, including such jobs as assistant purchasing agent, purchasing agent, Plainview local manager, superintendent of city plants and vice president in charge of operations.

T. S. (Thurman) Whittis, new vice president, transmission, began his career with West Texas Gas Company in 1930 as rod man and instrument man on construction of the Littlefield city distribution plant.

H. F. (Herman) Heath, new vice president, distribution, started to work for the company in 1928 as clerk in Lubbock city office. In 1930 he was appointed Brownfield district manager and remained in Brownfield until 1945, at which time he transferred to Midland as Midland district manager. He returned to Lubbock as superintendent of city plants in 1948. He was made general superintendent distribution in 1950, the job he held at the time of his recent promotion.

J. J. Wiley, new vice president, accounting and budget control, started to work for the company in 1937, as clerk in Lubbock City office. He was transferred to the company's general offices in 1940 to assume more responsible positions.

R. M. (Rod) Curry, assistant to the president, began his career with the company in 1927 as draftsman. He was with the company about a month when he was made chief draftsman. In 1932 he was appointed resident engineer and in 1950 he was made chief engineer distribution. He will continue to serve as chief engineer distribution.

All six men will continue to make their headquarters in Lubbock.

Five Negro Children Die In Crossing Crash

FARMVILLE, VA. — (AP) — Five negro children were killed and 10 others injured Tuesday when a school bus and a passenger train collided during a rainstorm at a crossing 14 miles west of here.

State police said the bus driver, John Oscar Robinson, 61-year-old negro, would face a hearing on March 27 in connection with the accident. Robinson told state police he "never saw a train at that crossing at that time of day."

The train was running some 50 minutes late, railway officials said. It was enroute to Norfolk, Va., from Columbus, Ohio.

The bus was loaded with 45 children. One-fourth of the bus was sheared off and shattered into pieces.

General Riley Plans U. S. Return To Get Medical Treatment

JERUSALEM — (AP) — The top UN peacekeeper in Palestine, U. S. Gen. William Riley, is coming home for further treatment to his feet, burned in a Jerusalem hospital.

Last month the general, chief of staff for the United Nations Truce Commission, underwent a successful kidney operation in Hadassah Hospital. The day after the surgery, it was found both his feet had been burned seriously, apparently by hot water bottles.

The burning apparently occurred while Riley still was under anesthesia. Hospital authorities who investigated said they could not account for the occurrence.

The hospital is operated by the American women's Zionist organization, Hadassah.

Crude Nominations Up 57,000 Barrels

AUSTIN — (AP) — Buyers of Texas crude oil want 57,000 barrels more per day next month, the Railroad Commission reported Wednesday.

Buyers have advised the commission they could use 2,883,432 barrels daily in April. March nominations totaled 2,796,421.

The commission will decide whether or not to give the go-ahead to increased production at its state-wide prorotation hearing here Thursday.

April nominations show increases in all Railroad Commission districts except North Texas. West Texas led with 22,026 barrels daily. The Gulf Coast followed in requested increase with 17,424, and Southwest Texas was next with 12,532.

North Texas had a 14,052 decrease in demand.

Indications are that purchasers and operators will ask the commission to put most of the state on a 23 or 24-day production schedule next month. East Texas would have an 18-day schedule.

The statewide schedule now is 23 days, with East Texas producing 19 days.

Commission approval of such requests would push April allowances from 70,000 to 180,000 barrels a day above last Saturday's statewide 2,802,153.

DR. LEKISCH ATTENDS TUMOR SHORT COURSE

The short course is conducted by the post-graduate division of the University of Texas Medical School.

Life Holds Plenty Of Trouble For Tot

SAN ANTONIO — (AP) — No troubles in the life of a three-year-old? Look what happened to David Hopkins in the last few months: Last November he developed infected tonsils and had to have them removed.

In January he suffered an abscess in one ear, then fell 10 feet from the back steps to a concrete sidewalk and suffered minor bruises and abrasions. Later in January David developed an allergy to a medicine he was taking for chronic asthma.

On March 5 he developed a case of measles. He had barely recovered last Saturday when he contracted a case of mumps. The mumps was just well under way when Monday he also acquired a case of chicken pox.

David's looking hopefully ahead to getting out of the three-year-old stage shortly. His birthday falls — on April 1.

After his death hour of agony in Gethsemane, Jesus walks his agonizing way to the cross. He is led by soldiers, and the crowd follows. He is led to the cross by the chief priests and soldiers.

Judas had arranged a signal whereby they would know Jesus—He would be the one Jesus would kiss. The betrayer advanced, greeted Jesus with "Hail, Master!" and kissed Him.

The crowd held hands on Jesus. Peter, awestruck, cut off an ear of one of the high priest's servants. The Master held the ear and uttered the words, "All they that take the sword shall perish by the sword."

The MATURE PARENT
Cries Of Self-Sacrifice Humiliate Youngsters

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Inevitably the day comes to most of us when we suddenly and resentfully think: "My, how I sacrifice myself for my children!"

Don't let the idea come and go without doing something about it. Face the probability that you have been neglecting your own needs and over-indulging your children's wants. Then take steps. Deny the dancing lessons, the new formal dress, or the bicycle—and go out and buy yourself the spurge, the new hat, the time to yourself—or whatever else it is you want.

Whatever it costs will be cheap at the price of your recovery from your attack of pity for your sad lot. Over and over again the cry from the parents of bitter and resentful problem children is:

"Why do they feel this way when I have sacrificed so much for them?"

They feel that way because their parents' constant talk of self-sacrifice is a direct frontal attack upon children's self-respect.

Children are humiliated when they have to take what is begrudged to them.

Take Off Martyr's Halo

Gratitude is the coin by which our dependent young pay us back for the time, care and money we expend upon them. Since it is quite impossible for them to feel grateful for gifts which are begrudged, our groans of self-denial freeze their emotional assets of appreciation and gratitude.

In the position of the taker who despairs of ever being able to return the favors given him, they become irritable with frustration. Unless we wake up to the inroads we are making on their self-respect, they can become so discouraged by the prospect of a future that promises no hope of discharging their debt, that they turn upon us in anger and hate.

When we do not take as much joy in giving as our young people take in receiving, steps should be taken to restore our joy in giving.

If your youngster has been unaccountably moody lately; if he has been given to sudden and mysterious flashes of temper and impudence, check back. Maybe you have been wearing parenthood's most unpopular headgear—the martyr's halo.

Crusading Dale Is Acquitted On Obscenity Charge

HOUSTON —(AP)— Dale Richardson, former slot machine-smashing constable of La Porte, continued his Spring plowing Wednesday, free of a federal charge of sending obscene matter through the mails.

A federal court jury Tuesday found him innocent of mailing Nat Terrence, publisher of a tabloid weekly newspaper, a copy of the paper liberally marked with obscene phrases.

Richardson had been "doing a little farming and working a few cattle" since he staged an unsuccessful race for sheriff of Harris County last year.

The first accordions were made, it is believed, by Friedrich Buschmann in Berlin in 1822.

YOU PAY MORE TAXES—
because Congress continues to allow a "favored few" big businesses to pay little or nothing!

CONGRESS is playing favorites with federal income taxes. Congress recently RAISED your income tax... collects it in advance... out of your paycheck. But, while Congress was quick to boost your tax, it did NOTHING about taxing thousands of BIG BUSINESSES on their huge profits. These TAX PETS of Congress are co-operative corporations and many mutual companies. Congress lets them escape nearly a billion dollars a year in income taxes by granting them special exemptions. But the government has to have the equivalent of that billion dollars, so Congress adds it on to YOUR tax bill. You will pay MORE because Congress allows co-ops and many mutuals to pay little or nothing.

It is time for you to protest this injustice!

Write your Congressman and Senators TODAY. Protest the failure of Congress to tax the business profits of co-ops and mutuals, while raising YOUR taxes higher and higher.

TEXAS TAX EQUALITY ASSOCIATION, Inc.

Clip, Sign and MAIL this to your Congressman NOW!

No business should be permitted to make a tax-free profit. Urge you to FULLY tax the untaxed, now, by repealing the pertinent paragraphs of the Internal Revenue Law by which co-ops and many mutuals escape income taxes and by declaring the income of these business concerns to be taxable income of the corporate level before distribution in any manner.

"I got the story on 50,000 Miles-No Wear and changed to New Conoco Super Motor Oil"

says J. W. Ramsey
Chief of Police
De Kalb, Illinois

"MY CAR HAS 248,000 MILES ON IT, but when I changed to new Conoco Super, that old car seemed to get a spark of new life," writes Harry B. Crew, Independent Oil Operator, Shawnee, Oklahoma. "Today, it's as smooth operating as a new car and even leaves these new cars standing at the stop light."

"50,000 MILES-NO WEAR!"—PROVED HERE:

After a punishing 50,000-mile road test, with proper crankcase drains and regular care, engines lubricated with new Conoco Super Motor Oil showed no wear of any consequence... in fact, an average of less than one one-thousandth inch on cylinders and crankshafts.

AND gasoline mileage for the last 5,000 miles was actually 99.77% as good as for the first 5,000! This test proved that new Conoco Super, with OIL-PLATING, can make your car last longer, perform better, use less gasoline and oil.
