U. S. Navy Called On Flynnn During Their Honeymoon

By ERSKINE JOHNSON NEA Staff Correspondent HOLLYWOOD — I just latched onto the story of Errol Flynn, Patricia Wymore, the yacht Zaca and the peeping American sailors—it's a pip. Don't be surprised if it turns up in a Claudette Colbert-Fred MacMurray movie.

across the water. "Yo ho, Errol! At that Errol raised his eyebrows and said to me: "Isn't it lucky that we picked this quiet, secluded spot for our honeymoon?" I told him I didn't think it was so bad. After all, the ships were some distance away. Then Errol handed me his binoculars and suggested that I take a look.

Controls On Schools, Hospitals Removed
WASHINGTON —(AP)—The government Tuesday removed from price control the fees and other charges made for services by hospitals and educational institutions.

Price Director Michael V. DiSalle exempted the hospital charges for a period of six months, starting April 9.

DiSalle said general rate increases may be necessary to maintain adequate care and treatment for the sick and injured.

In exempting educational institutions from the general price freeze, he said rates charged by private schools have little direct effect upon the cost of living.

Pro-Truman Forces Rally For Showdown On 'Troops' Measure

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Senate administration leaders pulled their forces together Tuesday to beat off an attempt sponsored by Republicans to put legal teeth into the troops-for-Europe resolution.

Monday, by a 49 to 43 vote, the Senate changed the resolution by adding an amendment of Senator McClellan (D-Ark).

The change, bitterly fought by Administration leaders, simply would oppose the transfer to Europe of any more than four U. S. divisions "without further congressional approval."

Thirty-eight Republicans and 11 Democrats voted for the amendment; eight Republicans and 35 Democrats voted no.

So as the resolution stood, it merely would record the Senate's approval of President Truman's decision to send the four divisions—about 100,000 men—to join Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's Western European Defense Army; and would oppose future transfers without further approval from Congress.

Senator Wherry of Nebraska, the Republican floor leader, told reporters adoption of the McClellan proposal may have weakened the drive to convert the pending measure into a law—instead of an advisory opinion to the President.

He said some senators are satisfied the "moral force" behind the McClellan amendment is strong enough so the President can't ignore it.

On the other hand, one of Truman's strongest Capitol Hill supporters who didn't want to be quoted by name, predicted the President will do whatever he thinks is best for the country regardless of any advice Congress gives him.

Earlier, his daily communique said the Communist commanders near the front have "a potential strength of 63 divisions, the greatest of any period of the Korean campaign."

The communique pointed to two "compensating factors" in the Communist threat: the Reds' limited supply capacity and the vulnerability of their supply lines.

The big jet air battle was fought at altitudes from 37,000 feet down to 8,000—south of the Yalu River near the Manchurian border. Twenty-five American F-80 Shooting Stars tangled with 30 to 40 MIG's, marked on the wings with Red Stars. When the F-80's, low on fuel, headed for home, U. S. Sabres jets roared into battle and chased the Russian-type jets back into Manchuria. It was the F-86 Sabre jets that scored against the MIG's.

Other Allied warplanes hit road and rail traffic, tunnels and bridges of the Red Korean supply network. More than 280 sorties were flown by noon Tuesday. Fifty vehicles were reported knocked out.

Thirty-four B-29 bombers plastered Pyongyang, Red Korean capital and supply base, and the east coast port of Hamhung.

Lubbock Judge Charges Effort To Nullify Dry Laws

LUBBOCK — (AP) — Judge G. V. Pardue of 99th District Court here told a grand jury that the head of the State Liquor Control Board has made efforts to "break down law enforcement in this part of the country."

In his formal, written charge to the new session of the grand jury Monday, the judge charged that active deputies of the Liquor Control Board have been transferred in an effort to ease enforcement of liquor prohibition laws in the Lubbock area.

Bohn Hilliard, chief supervisor of the State Liquor Control Board, said in Austin Monday night he was not ready to answer the charges.

Accused Negro Was At Bank Shortly After Pair Slain

RIVERSIDE, CALIF. — (AP) — Little more than an hour after the slayings of which he is accused, Sgt. Walker was doing business at a bank 20 miles away.

So says Robert G. Moore, teller at a bank at March Air Force Base. Moore told a Los Angeles Times Reporter Monday his ledger shows Walker was at the bank not later than 12:30 p.m. March 26, and probably a few minutes before.

Evidence indicates Richard Cook, 18, was shot to death on a desert road near here between 11:10 and 11:30 a.m. that day. Officers believe Cook's wife, Doris, 18, was killed shortly afterward.

Walker admits his car sidestepped Cook's that morning but insists he knows nothing about the shootings.

Atlantic Is Combed For Plane Wreckage

SHANNON, IRELAND — (AP) — Search planes combed the Atlantic again Tuesday for stray wreckage that might help tell what happened to the U. S. Air Force Globemaster plane which disappeared 12 days ago with 53 American airmen aboard.

A U.S.A.F. officer at Shannon Airport, now being used as a refueling station for search planes, said there was no hope of finding survivors. However, he added that officials still sought fragments of the giant transport to add to charred bits of debris already recovered.

What was wanted, he said, was some evidence to indicate what happened when the plane suddenly dropped out of contact several hundred miles off the Irish coast.

It was enroute to England to deliver the Air Force men to various assignments at U. S. overseas bases. As for rumors of sabotage, the officer said that not enough evidence had been found yet to substantiate any such finding.

Two Women Face Murder Charge In Death Of Infant

EL PASO — (AP) — Mrs. Pearl Johnson and Mrs. Genevieve Bair, a practical nurse, have been charged with murder in the death of a baby found buried in the desert near here.

Mrs. Johnson was the mother of the baby. Mrs. Bair attended the recent birth of the child.

Officers also are investigating the finding of a body of another baby in a suitcase in Mrs. Johnson's apartment here. Police said Monday they had been unable to determine who was the mother of the second baby or how long it had been in Mrs. Johnson's apartment.

They said the baby found in the suitcase had been dead "at least six months."

Dallas Hoodlum Wounded In Holdup

BIRMINGHAM, ALA. — (AP) — G. W. (Jettie) Bass, well-known Dallas hoodlum, was critically wounded here Tuesday when police surprised him and two other men robbing an apartment house rental office.

In Dallas, Police Capt. M. W. Stevenson quoted Birmingham police as saying Bass had 12 machine-gun bullets in him.

Two other men, possibly wounded by police, were being sought. Detective Captain C. L. Pierce said officers had gathered across the street when the three men, holding a drawer from the safe of the locked Valley View Apartment office, walked out.

Pierce said the two missing men are armed. He broadcast an alarm for two men "armed and dangerous."

Murder Suspected In Death Of Baby Found In Creek At Garland

DALLAS — (AP) — Murder may have been involved in the death of an infant girl whose body was found in a creek near Garland Sunday, Assistant Deputy Sheriff Bill Binford said Tuesday.

A physician who conducted an autopsy said there was "some possibility" that the child had been strangled to death before the body was thrown into the creek, Binford disclosed.

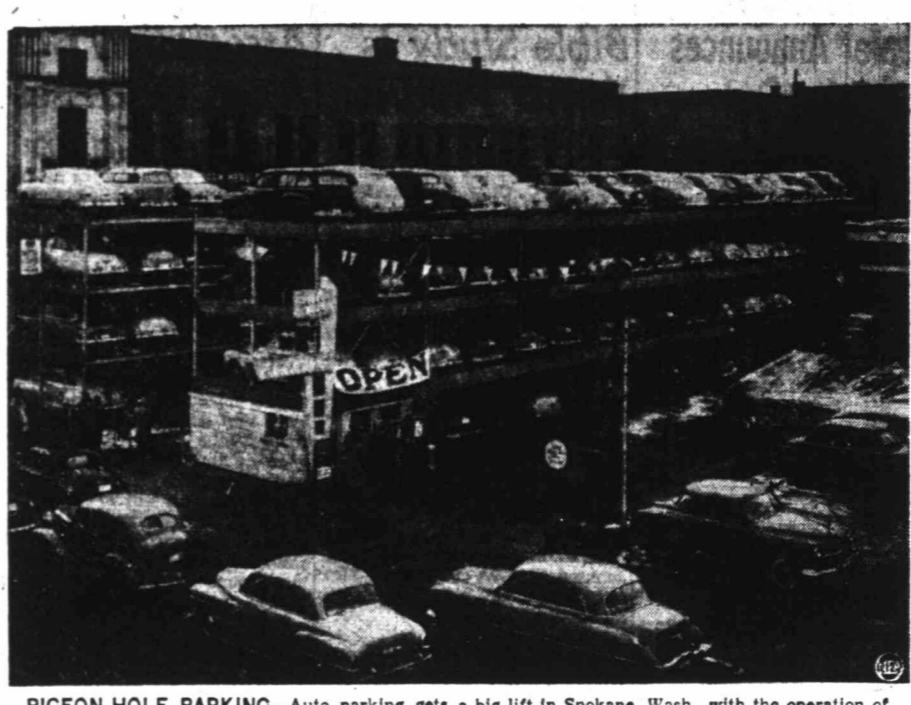

Justice of Peace J. W. O'Banion of Garland still withheld an inquest verdict until he had received a written report on the autopsy.

Deputy Binford quoted the physician as saying the child was fully developed and had been born alive. The examination indicated the child had not been attended by a physician, he said.

Bridges Demands MacArthur Be Heard

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Senator Bridges (R-NH) Tuesday demanded that Gen. Douglas MacArthur be brought to this country temporarily to tell Congress his "ideas about ending the Korean war."

"Apparently he is the only person in authority who has any positive ideas" about ending the conflict, Bridges said in a statement. He added that MacArthur "has been muzzled by the Truman Administration."

Officers and directors for 1951-52 will be elected and an address on X-ray services will be heard at the annual membership meeting of the Midland County Tuberculosis Association at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the county courthouse.

Dr. C. S. Britt, retiring president, said all officers, directors and members of the association, as well as other interested persons, are invited and urged to attend.

Mrs. Marie Piek of Austin, who is in charge of X-ray services for the Texas Tuberculosis Association, will be the guest speaker at the meeting. "X-ray Services in Your County" will be the subject of her address.

The importance of chest X-rays for food handlers in particular will be stressed by the speaker.

Mrs. Linnie H. Davidson is the executive secretary of the Midland County unit.

SPCA Is Flooded With Collar Takers

An offer to provide free collars to encourage inoculation and tagging of Midland's dogs was a little too successful.

"The offer was made to help those who felt they couldn't afford to buy collars," said a spokesman for the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

"But people sporting diamonds and driving up in fine cars are wanting free dog collars."

So the collars will be given only to those who can't buy them otherwise.

The drive itself was proving a success as almost 100 dogs were brought to the city's two veterinary hospitals Monday and Tuesday morning.

The two hospitals—Dr. Mills' and Dr. Shannon's—were offering to give rabies shots and throw in a city license tag for a total cost of $1.50 during this week.

After this week, according to an announcement by Col. Milan N. Plavsic, director of the department of public safety, unlicensed dogs will be picked up, held for a specified period of time and then "disposed of."

Two Labor Chiefs Freed Of Contempt Charges by Jurist

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Two leaders of the left-wing United Electrical Workers (UE), Thomas Fitzpatrick and Talmadge Raley, were acquitted Tuesday of contempt of Congress.

The acquittals were by Federal Judge James W. Morris, who heard the two cases without a jury.

Judge Morris ruled that Fitzpatrick and Raley were within their constitutional rights in refusing to answer questions of a House Un-American Activities subcommittee.

Other witnesses identified Fitzpatrick and Raley as Communists.

Both contended in their trials that answers to the questions might have been incriminating.

Judge Morris, in acquitting the pair, interrupted the trial of Philip Jaffe, former editor of the magazine Amerasia, who also is accused of contempt of Congress. Jaffe's trial began Monday.

Plavsic Talks On Traffic Problems

Col. Milan N. Plavsic, director of public safety for the City of Midland, discussed the downtown traffic problem in an address before the Optimist Club at its Tuesday luncheon in Hotel Scharbauer.

Plavsic listed several misconceptions about the duties of the traffic division of the safety department.

He pointed out the serious problem of the shortage of parking areas spaces and said attempts were being made to develop more space.

Ted Witte presided at the meeting.

Cliff Torgerson announced that plans are complete for the officer installation and party at 7 p.m. Friday in Hotel Scharbauer.

Guests were John Campbell and Frank Meeks.

GOP Solons Demand Additional Cut In Tax Boost Program

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Republican lawmakers Tuesday demanded a further cut in the Administration's 1951 tax increase program. Already it has been scaled down from $18,500,000,000 to $10,000,000,000.

Their estimates of the additional taxes Congress is likely to vote this year ranged from $5,000,000,000 to $7,000,000,000. They declared that with entirely feasible cuts in spending, this would be enough to keep the budget balanced in the next fiscal year which begins July 1.

Rep. Reed of New York, top ranking Republican on the House Ways and Means Committee, told a reporter "we'll be doing pretty well to raise an extra $7,000,000,000."

Rep. Kean (R-NJ) thought an increase of $5,000,000,000 to $6,000,000,000 would be ample. Reps. Thomas E. Martin (R-Iowa) and Jenkins (R-Ohio) set their sights on a maximum $7,500,000,000 increase.

Kean said that because actual paying out of money lags months behind the signature of defense contracts, the cash budget can be kept in balance with two or three billion dollars less revenue than the government's bookkeeping figures would indicate in balancing appropriations against tax receipts.

Two Committees Toss Competing Tax Bills To House

AUSTIN — (AP) — Two House committees with conflicting views on taxation tossed competing tax bills to the House Monday night and Tuesday.

Approval of a natural gas levy by the House Agriculture Committee came as no surprise.

But the House Revenue and Taxation Committee jolted some legislators by endorsing a bill to convert last year's temporary 10 percent omnibus tax increase to a permanent status.

Rep. Jim Sewell's plan to slap a tax of one cent per 1,000 cubic feet on gas entering pipe lines was given an 18-0 favorable vote after debate.

House Revenue and Taxation committeemen gave the omnibus tax bill a unanimous pat on the back by voice vote. The measure received no public hearing.

Rep. Jim Lindsey of Texas, committee chairman, asked for the sudden action in an apparent move to shove the Administration-backed bill to the House floor ahead of the natural gas tax measure.

Amarillo, Brady, Rated One-Two In Big Spring Relays

Thirteen high school teams are lined up for the eighth annual Big Spring Relays Saturday, and Midland High School is one of the teams.

Joining Midland is Amarillo, Plainview, Lubbock, Brady, New Deal, Lamesa, Coahoma, Cisco, Big Spring, Forsan, Stanton and Odessa—but Odessa will have a skeleton crew. The Broncho blue ribbon boys are slated to enter a meet in Austin. That means Sprinter Joe Childress and company will be missing from the Big Spring event.

Amateur Field For Masters Tournament Is Best In History

AUGUST, GA. —(P)—The 15th Masters Golf Tournament, interrupted by nothing short of war, starts Thursday with emotions mixed on who has the best chance of winning.

"An amateur this year, maybe," says Defending Champion Jimmy Demaret, the only three times Masters winner. "I'm not kidding either. I think this is the best overall field we ever had at a Masters and I've played in nine of them."

"The reason I think this is the strength of the amateurs. This could be an amateur's year."

An amateur never has won on the Augusta National Course, which winds 6,900 yards among hills and pines, but neither has any other Masters had such fine amateurs.

There are such excellent amateurs as Walker Cupper, Willie Turnesa, Bill Campbell, Dick Chapman, Charles Coe, Bobby Knowles, Jim McHale, Harold Paddek, Frank Stranahan, Sam Urzetta, Billy Goodloe and alternates Alfred A. Mengert, Don Finsteral and Frank Holscher.

Principal threats among amateurs are Urzetta, the national amateur champion, Stranahan and Turnesa.

Demaret goes into defense of his title on what he hopes is the end of a sour run of golf. For the first time since World War II Jimmy isn't among the top 25 money winners.

Since he began practicing Sunday, Jimmy has scored two 68's.

NBA Institutes Move To Strip Williams Of Crown

CHICAGO—(P)—The National Boxing Association began action Tuesday which may strip the world's lightweight boxing championships from Ike Williams for his failure to defend it.

Williams has not risked his 135-pound crown since Dec. 5, 1949, when he outpointed Freddie Dawson of Chicago in 15 rounds at Philadelphia.

Williams failed to abide by an NBA edict to sign for defense of his title by March 31. Dawson's manager, Harry Rudolph, asked that action be taken on the issue.

Executive committee of the NBA were being polled Tuesday for a decision on declaring Williams' title vacant. The poll was being taken at the direction of Arch Hindman, NBA president. Hindman acted on request from Fred Saddy of Milwaukee, chairman of the NBA Rating Committee.

"The decision is up to the 14 members of the Executive Committee—present officers and past presidents," Hindman said at his Hagerstown, Ind., home. "It will take several days to complete the poll." Says Vote Unnecessary

In Washington, D. C., Executive Secretary Col. Harvey L. Miller said Hindman had the legal right, if he wished, to unseat Williams by order instead of polling members.

Miller said Williams knew such action was being contemplated and had consented that his title be vacated if he did not defend it at the specified date, March 31.

Indications are that Williams is ready to forfeit the 135-pound title and enter the current series to decide the recognized successor of Sugar Ray Robinson as 147-pound king.

If the committee vacates the crown, Saddy said an elimination tournament probably would be held soon to pick a new lightweight king.

"That would include Freddie Dawson, Del Flanagan, Art Aragon, and Pierre Montane of France," he added.

'Why Stop Now?' Swatter Manager Harriman Asks

SWEETWATER—Earl Harriman, new manager of the Sweetwater Swatters, isn't letting any grass grow under the feet of his ball players.

The Swatters opened Spring workouts Sunday and went right into batting practice and other strenuous work.

Harriman has managed winners four of the last five seasons. "Why stop now?" he said as the Sweetwater club opened its initial drills.

Allie's Soupbone Is York's Big Worry

TUCSON, ARIZ.—(P)—The world champion New York Yankees are becoming worried about the ailing arm of Pitcher Allie Reynolds.

The New Yorkers' No. 2 hurler hasn't pitched an inning of exhibition ball this Spring. Instead, he has been giving it heat treatments and rest.

King's Row

by LARRY KING

★ That rumbling noise you hear in the background could be the cheers of seven Longhorn League managers who think they've found a way to beat Odessa.

The Oiler hurlers have found it particularly difficult to get the ball over the plate in Spring camp contests. At times it's gone over the plate, but usually boomeranged back into the outer confines of the outfield.

A 19-year-old rookie from Arkansas—"Arky" Vaughn—has promised Odessa manager Jackie Sullivan he'll win "at least 21 games." Thus far he's made a lot of talk and the opposition has made a lot of runs.

—KR— This isn't a pre-season obit for the Oilers, for we've learned already it isn't safe to count an Odessa team out in any sport from ping pong to polo.

But it is our humble opinion the Odessa ball club will have to strut some to maintain the pace set last year.

—Leo Eastham and mates still can clout the ball, true—but that pitching has to improve.

—KR— Since we've already edged out on a limb, let's go ahead until the darn thing breaks.

Big Spring will have Pat Stasey and a flood of Cubans. That means a winning team as sure as two and two are four. It could add to five or six if Potato (Perish the thought!) Pascual returns to the Cuban City nine this season.

That's very possible, too.

—KR— Over at Sweetwater, the Swatters have a fine manager in Earl Harrison, a fine catcher in Earl Pinley and a fine first sacker in Warren Sliker. They also probably will have a fine time trying to stay out of the cellar, since they seem to have little other than the aforementioned gentlemen.

San Angelo—according to press clippings from their batting practice camp—had a team that was certain to maintain a hitting average as high as Mickey Mantle's Grapefruit Circuit efforts. But the Colt team—in three exhibition appearances—has managed to score but eight runs. They have few more hits than that. After losing two of their three opening tilts, we can't see San Angelo's Colts as giant-killers this year.

—KR— Vernon isn't loaded in high-powered personnel, but the Dusters always manage to stay in the race. That's a tribute to foxy old Harry Puffiker, Duster business manager who just about runs the ball club. Don't count 'em out.

Artesia has Manager Stubby Greer, a bunch of Abilene Blue Sox castoffs, high hopes and little else. The Drillers recently defeated an El Paso semi-pro nine 18-0. That's probably the last time they'll come close to scoring that many runs all year.

—KR— Roswell may have it this year. Al Monchak—our choice as the best manager in these parts—is one great stride toward a loop flag. Of course the Rockets will miss the big bat of Tom Jordan, but they have a flock of lads who still can clout the ball.

Pitching should be pretty good—and with the hitting the Rockets expect, "pretty good" should be plenty good.

—KR— Midland? We HOPE for a spot in the playoffs. Too many players are tagged with the "maybe here, maybe Oklahoma City" tag to know for sure.

But Manager Harold Webb knows he must win or else this year. Brother, there's no getting around it. The Midland fans want a winner this year and they want it here.

We see the Indian pitching as possibly the best in the league. Eddie Jacobs, Leon Hayes and Glenn Patton seem like sure-fire hurlers.

Someone has to knock some runs in. If they do—then Midland has a winner.

—KR— Briefly, here's the way we see the finish right now: Big Spring, Roswell, Odessa, Midland, Vernon, San Angelo, Sweetwater and Artesia.

And if you bring around the final standings in September to show us this, we'll swear it's a forgery.

In Spite Of Coach Don Mouser's Moans, Pecos Eagles Look Like 5-A Track Champs

KERMIT — The Pecos Eagles are prohibitive favorites to cop the District 5-A Track and Field meet here next Saturday, but Pecos Coach Don Mouser wants to know why.

"Why we only scored one point in the West Texas Relays at Odessa last weekend," he moans. "Kermit, Wink, Semmore and Andrews all finished ahead of us."

But Mouser doesn't mention the fact that his star sprinter, George Christian, failed to place in the 100-yard dash only because he jumped the gun and the Pecos 440-yard relay team dropped the baton to be disqualified. And the 220-yard dash wasn't held at the Odessa meet.

Christian is favored to win both dashes easily, and the Pecos 440-yard relay team hasn't been defeated by a 5-A team this season. The Eagles also count on speedy Son Lamham for some points in the hurdle events.

Andrews, strong in the hurdles with Jack Smith and Don Floyd running, is rated next to Pecos. Smith also is a high jumper of note.

Wink's strength lies in Weightman Dale Dodd, shot put and discus specialist. Danny Villareal also could get in the upper bracket among the sprinters.

Distance For Lobos Monahan is good on the distance races, and has a fine mile relay team. It finished third at the Odessa meet.

Kermit will probably pick up some points in the field events, but isn't rated much on the track side.

McCamey, Wink, Denver City, Fort Stockton and Semmore are classed as also runs—though Semmore's Paul Sublett, a sophomore, could surprise in the dashes.

So in spite of Mouser's moans, it looks like Pecos all the way.

Pittsburgh Negro Blasts Texas Heavy

PITTSBURGH —(P)—Levi Bryant of Port Arthur, Texas, lost a heavyweight fight Monday night to Bob Baker at Pittsburgh. Baker, 10 pounds heavier at 224, scored a technical knockout in the third round of a scheduled 10-rounder. He is rated the fifth best heavyweight.

A crowd of 4,602 at the Gardens saw the Pittsburgh negro use Bryant for a punching bag. Bryant did little more than absorb punishment.

The victory was Baker's nineteenth in a row since he has turned professional.

'Blind Toms' Needed For Summer Baseball, Softball Programs

Umpires are needed for the Midland Summer baseball and softball programs.

The men-in-blue are needed for two softball leagues, American Legion, Lone Star, Little League and Shorthorn baseball loops.

Small fees will be paid for services rendered. Persons wanting to umpire in any of the leagues are asked to call Lloyd Campbell at telephone No. 2400 during the day and at No. 2706-J after 5 p.m.

In 1951, Yale's football team will meet Bates, Navy, Brown, Columbia, Cornell, Colgate, Dartmouth, Harvard and Princeton.

Managers Warned Of Softball Deadline

Chuck Heringer, athletic director of the Midland JayCees, Tuesday warned softball managers of the April 11 deadline to enter either the City Major or Church League.

Five teams have been entered in the Church loop, six in the City Major. It is hoped at least eight teams will enter in each league.

Heringer said the next softball meeting will be held at 7 p.m. April 11 in the American Legion Hall. Midland JayCees are sponsoring the softball loop this year.

Crane Council Okays Electric Rate Hike

CRANE—The Crane City Council has approved an increase in electric service rates requested by Texas Electric Service Company.

The new schedule represents an average increase of 10 per cent and will affect all service except power that is resold. To the average household it will mean a hike of about 40 cents a month.

The company cut the rates in 1946 by 11 per cent and the new schedule is less than the rates in 1946. It is the first increase asked in more than 25 years.

Longhorns To Open Round-Up Friday

AUSTIN—The University of Texas is getting ready this week for its annual Round-Up Parade, an event rivaling in the South only by New Orleans' Mardi Gras procession and San Antonio's Battle of Flowers.

The parade, which will wind down the central part of Austin Friday afternoon, will be the biggest since its start 22 years ago. Besides providing the Capital City's most colorful spectacle of the year, it will also signal the opening of a weekend of Round-Up festivities for ex-students and students alike.

At the front of the parade will be the two ex-students who last attended University classes a couple of decades ago—Governor Allan Shivers and UT Chancellor James P. Hart. The two will lead the parade down the city's Congress Avenue on horseback and wearing western regalia.

Following in automobiles will be other state and UT officials, including University President T. S. Painter, Vice President James C. Dooley, the deans of the various colleges, and the president of the Ex-Students' Association, Byron Skelton of Temple.

Two of the state's finest bands will also be in the procession—the Longhorn band and the University ROTC Band. Between the two organizations, several hundred musicians will take part that afternoon.

Visiting Sweethearts representing each Southwest Conference school will have places of honor in the parade. Missing Airplane
Found At Vernon;
Pilot Disappears

WICHITA FALLS —P— An air search by about 40 Civil Air Patrol planes was called off Monday after a plane missing from a Wichita Falls flying service was found undamaged at Vernon.

The Gilchrist Flying Service here rented a plane Sunday to a pilot who wanted to make a local flight. The service did not get the pilot's name. When the plane was not returned on schedule the search began. Sunday night the CAP was asked to help out.

While the CAP planes were searching out of Wichita Falls Monday, the plane was discovered at Vernon.

Vernon airport attendants said the pilot of the plane gave them instructions for refueling, then disappeared on foot. They did not get his name either.

Tollett Slated To Succeed McDowell
As WPRA President

SAN ANTONIO —P— The oil industry, "from the grass root level on up" was asked Tuesday to be alert against rumored regulations and taxes.

R. W. McDowell, Tulsa, Okla., oil executive, said too many government restrictions and too heavy a tax load could prevent the industry from meeting combined military and civilian requirements during the national emergency.

McDowell, the retiring president spoke before the thirty-ninth annual convention of the Western Petroleum Refiners Association.

The Mid-Continent Petroleum president said certain forces inherently unfriendly to business will use the threat of war to justify further inroads upon private enterprise.

"Because some of these can be ruinous," he said, "we must continue to be alert to guard against these restrictive and improper encroachments."

McDowell said federal, state and local governments have found the industry an "easy source" for additional tax revenues although it is already carrying far more than its just share.

The record shows that a greater percentage of the oil industry's gross income goes for taxes than the average for all American industry," he said.

New WPRA officers were to be elected Tuesday afternoon. R. L. Tollett, president of Cosden Petroleum Corporation, Big Spring, was scheduled to succeed McDowell. Tollett now is a vice president.

Canada Revamps Forces In U. S. Style For Unified Defense Of North America

TORONTO — (NEA) — Canada's armed forces are being restyled in the U. S. pattern for joint defense of the northern reaches of the North American continent.

In the new $5 billion defense spending program, the major share will go for expansion of the Royal Canadian Air Force. But the budget will boost the army and navy, too, build a radar warning network, create airborne units and help supply forces for Western Europe.

Last year, Canada's 14,000,000 people spent about a billion dollars on defense preparations, including $300 million in equipment for Atlantic Treaty nations. The new $5 billion program will be spread out over three years and amounts to 10 per cent of national income (the U. S. defense program is 14 per cent of income).

No Provision Made
No provision has been made for drafting men to meet the planned increase in the armed forces. The Tory opposition complained, before the new program was announced, that the government was moving too slow in the face of an emergency. But both sides skipped any form of conscription.

There is some feeling that Canada can do more by being an arsenal than by supplying manpower. Although the first Canadian troops—a 5000-man brigade group—will go to Germany this Spring to become part of Eisenhower's Atlantic Treaty forces, a bigger contribution will be made in training and equipment.

Already airmen of six Western European nations are being trained at Canadian airfields. Canada has equipped one Netherlands division for NATO duty, and will equip three other European divisions.

As the home army is swelled from its present 65,000 men to 115,000, all equipment will be standardized to match that used by the U. S., either bought in America or made in Canada. This will simplify supply details in a unified North American defense.

Although details of military establishments in the northland are secret, a radar network is being put in operation as fast as possible, using both ground and air support.

One phase of northland defense is a special airborne brigade, trained in Canada, which operates in conjunction with the U. S. 82nd Airborne Division.

The RCAF's program calls for 35,000 men and 40 squadrons of 25 jet aircraft each. Of these, 11 fighter squadrons and 6,000 men will be stationed in Europe.

Equipment will be F-86 Sabres, U. S.-designed and built in Canada, and CF-100 Canuck twin-engine jets, designed and built in Canada. Both planes are now coming off assembly lines near Montreal and Toronto.

The budget includes $20 million for new airfields and $64.5 million to train 3,000 aircrewmembers of various western nations.

Canada's navy, which now has 40 ships (some of them in Korea) and 10,000 men, will get 100 new or rebuilt ships, and new harbor defenses.

Canadian Soldiers: On parade at Fort Lewis, men like this form the nucleus of Canada's draftless expansion of its armed forces to 115,000 troops. Of them, 5,000 will go to Europe.

Canadian Jet: Flying over the wintry countryside near Ottawa, this is the CF-100 Canuck, one of two jet planes that will equip the expanding RCAF. The other is the U. S. F-86 Sabre.

Herr Boyle Recounts Tale Of Six Wives

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK — Once upon a time there were six men who worked for the same firm and lived in the same apartment building.

Their names were Wilch, Yilch, Bilch, Dilch, Tilch and Pilch. They ate lunch together and liked each other very much. So did their wives.

Their immediate boss was a fellow named Filch who lived up the street in a somewhat classier apartment.

Well, one day Mrs. Filch thought it would be nice to have in the wives of her husband's subordinates for a quiet afternoon of gin rummy. None of the guests was stupid, naturally, so Mrs. Filch came out $18.45 winner.

The next day the six unhappy musketeers all set off to work under orders to come home with a raise. Or else.

All day they tried to think up an excuse to bust into Filch's office and point out how valuable they were. But Filch looked fretful and worried and kept frowning and shouting. They stayed away. At the end of the day they all had the same idea—ambush him on the way out.

Boss Has Problem
There they stood—all six of them—looking uncomfortably at him as he started to get into the elevator. "Come on, boys," said Filch. "Let's go across the street and have one for the road."

During the course of the game they fell to talking about their husbands' salaries. Mrs. Filch knew the figures and gaily bandied them about. It turned out that there was a spread of $3.16 between the weekly incomes of the six who called Filch "mister."

Do you think a little discovery like that worried Mrs. Wilch, Mrs. Yilch, Mrs. Bilch, Mrs. Dilch, Mrs. Tilch and Mrs. Pilch? Well, hardly at all. No more than if they had just found out that their husbands had leprosy.

And as soon as he came home each took her spouse to task and gave him the old marital hammer-and-tongue treatment.

Russians Claim Device To Replace Amputated Limbs

MOSCOW — (AP) — The Soviet magazine Ogonek Monday claimed Russian inventors have perfected a device which soon will make it possible for surgeons to replace vital organs and restore accidentally amputated limbs.

The magazine described the device, invented by a group of Soviet scientists headed by V. F. Gudov, as an ingenious "sewing machine," making possible the almost instantaneous reuniting of blood vessels without interrupting the flow of blood.

Ogonek said the new machine is so small it can be held in the palm of one hand.

Bright With Promise

Six nations stand on the verge of an historic step toward European economic unity. Their representatives already have initiated the bold Schuman plan.

It is a treaty for the pooling of all coal and steel facilities in France, Western Germany, Italy, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg. Nothing like it ever before has been contemplated seriously in Europe.

If the Schuman plan works, barriers to the free flow of coal and steel will be knocked down in the six countries. Rigid national cartels—groupings to fix prices and production quotas—will be wiped out. A free market featuring free competition will replace them.

The coal and steel industries of the participating nations would be governed by new international institutions. The high hope is that this proposed integration would boost production, improve and enlarge productive facilities, raise living standards in these countries.

Not to be overlooked is the prospect that this economic integration could serve as a preliminary to broader unity in the European economy, and as a basis for ultimate military and political unification.

The old European habit of living within a national shell will not die easily. It would be foolhardy to expect too much of this beginning effort, or to ignore the practical difficulties of the treaty's application. But unquestionably it deserves to be hailed as a courageous and constructive act of statesmanship.

The original credit goes to Robert Schuman, who as French foreign minister conceived the plan last May. But the real spade work has been done by Jean Monnet, chairman of France's delegation to the treaty-drafting conference. He has toiled long and devotedly to achieve this momentous objective.

The Schuman plan, if ratified, will be in force for 50 years at least. It will provide, too, the first great postwar test of Western Germany's intentions. In this treaty the Germans have been invited to become peace-loving, respectable members of the European family. The world will watch closely to see how they perform in this somewhat unaccustomed role.

As we've noted, the French had to be brave to volunteer the shelving of their ancient feud with Germany. They are breaking with the past and projecting a future for Europe along wholly new lines. Federation is proposed as the real way to end feuding.

The Schuman plan is open to all comers, especially to Britain, which is strong in coal and steel. Thus far the British have held aloof, fearing to handicap their insulated Socialist economy by entanglements on the continent. The French example ought to embarrass them considerably.

But this is no time for carping criticism. The occasion calls for warm expressions of satisfaction that there are men in this troubled era with the courage and imagination to attempt so striking an advance toward solving Europe's economic ills. Every lover of freedom and peace should hope the Schuman plan is ratified—and that it works.

(Copyright, 1951, by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)
Drew Pearson says: Germany reduced taxes on higher brackets; Europeans do not pay anywhere near our taxes; Communism could be partly cured by readjusting tax burdens.

WASHINGTON — Benny Buttenwieser, U. S. deputy high commissioner for Germany, had a conversation with Chancellor Konrad Adenauer some time ago which illustrates one of the most important problems the United States faces in Europe.

The new German Parliament had scaled down taxes on wealthier taxpayers about a year ago, leaving proportionately heavy tax burden on labor and white collar workers. The United States, which has the right to intervene in certain affairs of the new German government, objected, and it was following this that Deputy Commissioner Buttenwieser had his talk with Adenauer.

California Seeks Change In Income Tax Laws To Put Bite On Criminals' Deductions

SAN FRANCISCO —(NEA)—California, the state which touched off the current nationwide "heat wave" that is melting profits of illegal slot machine operators, has a new plan to tax bookies, gamblers and racketeers out of business.

While the Kefauver Senate Crime Investigating Committee was playing a return engagement here, the California Legislature was considering a new anti-rackets formula. It takes note of a historic Supreme Court decision which stated "the power to tax is the power to destroy."

Gov. Earl Warren is asking quick action on the idea, which was devised by the California Commission on Organized Crime, headed by retired Admiral William H. Standley, wartime ambassador to Moscow. Both Warren and Standley regard growing concentrations of wealth in the hands of organized crime syndicates a major menace to democracy.

The crime commission was charged with devising a program to curb racketeering. Its answer—in addition to better law enforcement—was a proposal to deny criminals the right to claim income tax deductions for the so-called "legitimate" expenses of an illegitimate business.

Witness: When the Senate Crime Investigating Committee played a return engagement in California, on the stand was Arthur H. Samish, liquor lobbyist, here pondering a question. Meantime, California is seeking a new way to fight crime with taxes.

Under present regulations, Admiral Standley said, a murderer may legally deduct the cost of his sawed-off Tommy gun, his bullets, and the expenses of transportation to the scene of the crime and "taking it on the lam"—without fear of tax evasion prosecution, provided he reports his income from the job.

The Standley-Warren team has been cooking up trouble for the nation's crime syndicates for some time now. The crime commission found that slot machines were reaping a $2,000,000,000 annual harvest, of which some $400,000,000 went to corrupt law enforcement officials. The report resulted in more stringent bans on one-armed bandits—including a federal law making their inter-state transportation illegal.

Admiral Standley's theory is that the way to strangle the rackets is to make them unprofitable, and changing the tax laws is the best way to do it.

"Suppose racketeers decide to stay in business and cheat on their tax returns?"

"It would be easier to convict them of tax evasion than of gambling," is the governor's answer.

Singapore Ice Cream Worries Authorities

SINGAPORE —(P)—Health authorities have a new worry—racketeers in the ice cream trade. A lot of ice cream is sold in this hot, humid climate—but much of it isn't worth eating. So warns Dr. H. R. Morrison, senior assistant municipal health officer.

He said unlicensed vendors were selling ice cream produced under the most "unhygienic and abhorring conditions." He added they probably make the ice cream "in a back lane or somewhere." He asserted these ice cream makers are likely to make a lot of people "dangerously ill."

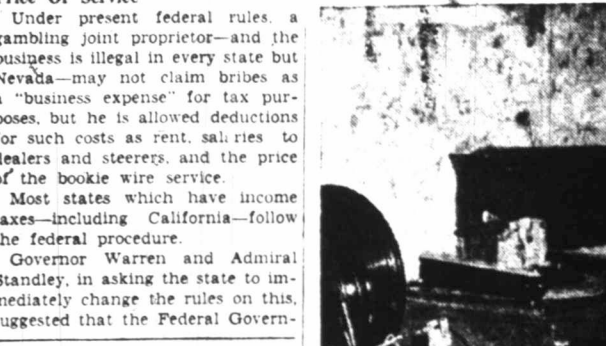

ment would fall in line, too, if the deductions for the so-called "legitimate" expenses of an illegitimate business.

Price Of Service

Under present federal rules, a gambling joint proprietor—and the business is illegal in every state but Nevada—may not claim bribes as a "business expense" for tax purposes, but he is allowed deductions for such costs as rent, salaries to dealers and steers, and the price of the bookie wire service.

Most states which have income taxes—including California—follow the federal procedure.

Governor Warren and Admiral Standley, in asking the state to immediately change the rules on this, suggested that the Federal Govern-

Jim Williams' Cowboys Rounded Up In New Book

By NEA SERVICE

NEW YORK —A panorama of the color and humor of the American West, as portrayed by one of the world's best-known and best-loved cartoonists—J. R. Williams—is on display in the just-published book, "Cowboys Out Our Way" (Charles Scribner's Sons, $2).

Readers, who have enjoyed Williams' "Out Our Way" cartoons on western authority and writer, and university professor, in the book's foreword: "The characters come out of two deeply seated realities in their creator: his own experience on the range and his dreams of a free life in the open. Over years of time Jim Williams has been living with these characters on their own spaces of mesa, mountain and canyon, with here and there a hole of alkalish water."

Tells Of Background

Dobie tells of the artist's background as a cowboy in the New Mexico and Arizona country. "He has cooked for cow outfits and put up with camp cooks in his own day. He has owned and operated a 45,000-acre ranch, doing his own part of the work. He was a cavalryman for three years in the days when cavalry meant horses."

Yes, says Dobie, "Jim Williams is a very different and humble man. He deprecates his own work with a modesty painful both to himself and his friends."

"Also, in his own words, he would rather have been a fairly successful cowboy out in the bright sunlight of the days than the most successful cartoonist that ever lived: If giving his own shirt to a cowpuncher who came along would make a cowboy successful, I imagine Jim Williams might have become the king of cattle kings."

Williams has a library well stocked with western books, but he also reads the best of literature, including poetry, Dobie reveals. "He likes to remember people and things that have appealed to him. That is one of the marks of a generous nature. I imagine that his continuing cartoons on 'The Worry Wart' and 'Why Mothers Get Gray' often trail back to the long, long thoughts, as well as to the devils of his own boyhood."

"The cartoons on the machine shop, dominated by 'The Bull of the Woods' go back to his work as

J. R. Williams: He'd rather be a successful cowboy.

Window Lighting Cools Off Tempers

TOLEDO —(P)—If mother is grouchy and down in the dumps most of the time, or if junior is on a continual rampage around the house, it may be because they need their windows adjusted. A study of the effects of home day-lighting shows a direct relationship between the amount of light entering the home and the dispositions of its occupants.

Families living in homes with big picture windows or floor-to-ceiling glass walls were found to enjoy happier and more tranquil relationships than those in homes where the out-of-doors was shut out by small and poorly located windows, according to Dr. James Bender, director of the Institute of Human Relations.

"In creating the new American style of home, the kind that makes for brighter, happier living, architects have been aided by such modern improvements as double-paned insulating windows," explained Frank Sohn, architectural consultant of Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass Company.

RISERS AND SINKERS

One expert says that Sweden, Norway and Finland are slowly rising higher and higher above sea level, while Germany and Denmark are sinking.

UN Food Group Sets Up Offices

ROME —(P)—The United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization (FAO) is establishing its permanent headquarters here in one of Europe's most modern office buildings. The new home of the specialized agency of the 60-nation world organization is a sprawling seven-story structure which originally was intended for housing Italy's Ministry for African Affairs.

The building is in the archaeological center of Rome, overlooking the Colosseum and only a few hundred yards from the old Roman Forum and the Aventine, one of the ancient city's seven hills.

Only 310 Samaritans Left From Old Race

TEL AVIV —(P)—The some 250 Samaritans in Hashemite Jordan administered Nablus (in Central Palestine) sent their high priest, Amram, for a week to Israel where he contacted the other 60 Samaritans living in the Jewish state. These 310 men and women and their children are all that is left from the more than 3,500-year-old Assyrian race.

Living in complete Moslem surroundings, the Nablus Samaritans still stuck to their old Jewish faith expressing themselves by many ancient customs no longer preserved in modern Judaism.

"My barber and I have opposing political views!"

Daddy Ringtail :: By WESLEY DAVIS

Daddy Ringtail And Poor Old Geronimo

Daddy Ringtail, your monkey friend, was trying to decide what to do. He was there by the Whiskey River with snow on the ground. Yes, and right there by the water's edge were the clothes that belong to Poor Old Geronimo.

The clothes were neatly folded on the ground. The shoes were there with the holes in the bottom. The pants were there with the raggedy patch. The old black coat was there, too. And so were the walking stick and the tall black hat—all the clothes that Poor Old Geronimo ever had.

"Teh! Teh! Teh!" Mugwump said again. "Poor Old Geronimo."

"Uhh," answered the Hufen. "Poor Old Geronimo was such a nice fellow, he was." Daddy Ringtail still didn't say a word. He was still busy with trying to think of the something that ought to be done. Why, Poor Old Geronimo had left his clothes right there on the ground in the snow by the river. He had left a piece of paper in the snow by the river. The paper had some writing on it. The writing was from Poor Old Geronimo. It told how he was going to jump in the river to swim on down and away to the ocean where people would never see him again. Oh my yes! Poor Old Geronimo was doing it so all the world would be very sorry. Poor Old Geronimo liked for people to be very sorry.

"Poor Old Geronimo," said Mugwump. "Poor Old Geronimo," said the Hufen. "Geronimo!" said Daddy Ringtail. "Come out of those bushes!" As yes, because Daddy Ringtail at last had decided what to do, and now he had done it. He called for Poor Old Geronimo to stop his hiding in the bushes. He called for Geronimo now to stop his trying to make people think he had jumped in the river to swim on away forever.

And how did Daddy Ringtail know that Poor Old Geronimo was playing the trick of hiding there? Because his clothes were neatly folded for him to wear them again. Ah yes, but Poor Old Geronimo was really sorry for him now. He had caught a bad cold, you know, from hiding there in the bushes with nothing on but his bathing suit with snow on the ground. The silly rascal. Poor Old Geronimo. Happy day!

Her Rag Mop Is Artist's Brush

Art In Daytime for Bertha Splittberger is done at her easel in the alcove of her tiny quarters in a bomb-damaged building.

BERLIN —(NEA)—Bertha Splittberger paints with a mop by night so she can live to paint with a brush by day.

A 42-year-old former window decorator, Fraulein Splittberger refused to get as discouraged as a lot of others in Berlin's art colony because Berliners are too busy rebuilding homes to collect art.

She found a job cleaning offices and scrubbing floors at night. It gives her the luxury of having her days free to paint—and also pays her 35 West Marks a week, just enough to finance rent, food, canvas and paints.

Most Of Time

Having outwitted the "poor starving artist" tradition, she works at her easel from mid-morning until it's time to pick up her scrub pad.

again in the evening. Occasionally she paints Berlin's ruins, but just for "exercise;" tropical fish and colorful animals take up most of her painting time.

But even when she's scrubbing to mark time until more people buy, she doesn't stop painting. At night, other scrub women are her gallery when she pauses to sketch a fish with her mop on the floor she's cleaning.

"Why should Berliners want to be reminded of the ruins within their family walls?" she asks.

From time to time, Fraulein Splittberger puts on a "one woman" show at an open air exhibition on Berlin's streets. Critics have shown a lot of interest in her work. And sometimes people even buy one of her oils or pastels.

Drunk Driver Freed Because Car Stalled

VANCOUVER —(AP)—A charge of being drunk in charge of a motorcar was dismissed in court here when defense counsel argued the crown had failed to prove the car was able to move. The crown admitted it had been towed to headquarters without having been tested.

Art After Dark for Fraulein Splittberger is an occasional fish she paints on floor with a mop during scrubbing duties.

★ THE DOCTOR SAYS ★

Don't Get Into A Big Stew Over Threats To Your Health

By EDWIN F. JORDAN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

By the time we have lived 30 or 40 years most of us have had at least one serious illness, accident or operation and yet most of us are in pretty good health. This testifies to the fact that the human body is more rugged than we sometimes think and possesses an amazing ability to restore its functions and keep them in good running order.

Almost everyone, for example, is exposed at one time or another to the germ which causes tuberculosis, yet few of us get an active form of the disease and even most of those who do get over it. We have on our skins a germ called the staphylococcus, but this does not often break through our defenses.

Any number of other germs are present in the air we breathe, the food we eat, the objects we touch and yet they are successfully thrown off most of the time. When they do break through our defenses we usually beat them and later our health is as good as before.

Aside from germs we are exposed to accidents and injuries of many kinds. Again we escape most of the time, but if a bone is broken or a deep gash is made in the body, healing usually takes place without too much difficulty—particularly with the help of modern surgery and such germ fighters as penicillin.

All this is worth remembering because it is too easy to think of all the possible diseases or injuries to which we are exposed. There isn't any use getting ourselves into a state of chronic fright because something may happen to our health sometime. Most of the things of this sort we fear never take place, and if they do, recovery is often much better than could be expected.

Hard To Predict

One of the hardest things for members of my profession is to try to predict what will happen to a person after an illness or accident. It is impossible to be right all the time.

Not long ago I saw a man in his seventies who looked 10 years younger, rode horseback every day and walked without an apparent limp. Twenty years ago after an automobile accident he was told he would never be able to walk again without crutches. If one must be wrong this is the way we like it.

Breakdown In Morality Is Our Greatest Problem, Says Braden, Who Sees U. S. Losing The Respect Of Other Nations

By SPRUILLE BRADEN
Chairman, New York City Anti-Crime Committee

NEW YORK—(NEA)—The greatest single problem confronting humanity today is the breakdown in morality everywhere, but especially in government.

Basically, it is precisely this lack of morality which is responsible for communism, aggression, and Russian expansionism along with all the other political ills that afflict us in domestic as well as in world affairs.

Unless our citizenry, and in particular every one of those who govern and who are charged with law enforcement get back to morality and common honesty, our other efforts and struggles will be sterile. We will be attacking symptoms, rather than the disease itself.

I have watched the Senate Crime Investigating Committee bit by bit extract from witnesses in New York City. We plain citizens have resented the arrogance and impertinence shown before this committee.

We have been shocked to hear a city commissioner admit to hobnobbing with gangsters and receiving in his office such loathsome creatures as the so-called "policy king."

Draw Implications
We have drawn the only implications that can be drawn from these evil associations between the hoodlums and high officials of a great city. We know that crime cannot exist on a major scale or on organized or syndicated bases unless there is something rotten in city hall.

But on another aspect of the crime and corruption situation there has been—so far as I know—little or no comment. I refer to its repercussions on our foreign relations.

Irrespective of whether we want it or not the mantle of world leadership rests on our shoulders. On how well we wear it depend not merely the fate of these United States, but of civilization itself.

Need Self Respect
We can only exercise that leadership successfully if we have self-respect and are respected by and enjoy the confidence of other peoples. I regret to say that we have been losing that respect and confidence of other nations, which we formerly held.

Through the years I have been proud when repeatedly my foreign friends have remarked: "Of course you have some crime and corruption in the United States, but you keep it at a minimum because the punishment is swift and sure."

In contrast to these statements, of late years, these same friends, pointing to the revolting conditions disclosed by the Senate Investigating Committee and other investigations, have commented sadly on our "moral deterioration."

Ex-Ambassador
One of the outstanding statesmen of this hemisphere, a former ambassador and president of his country, in effect told me only a few weeks ago:

"The scandalous connivance of the police disclosed by the Brooklyn Grand Jury is known throughout Latin America. It destroys your efforts to win the minds and hearts of our people. If dishonesty among your officials continues, you might as well forget about the Voice of America and other efforts to keep us on your side. The millions of dollars you are spending for these purposes will go down the drain unless you get back to your old system of integrity in public life."

The loss of moral prestige by the United States and its repercussions on others was vividly demonstrated last October, when a report issued by an official of a friendly government stated that the "bankruptcy and corruption" existing in this country "have an intimate relation to the American example in racketeering . . ."

One of the phenomena accompanying the breakdown in morality may be stated practically as a law of nature: Just as dictatorships almost always become corrupt, so conversely corruption often leads to dictatorship.

This happens because either the crooks and dishonest officials become dictators in order to continue stealing, or there is an armed revolution to throw them out. In the latter case the resultant chaos and exercise of force in turn lead to dictatorship. This vicious circle has destroyed the Roman and other civilizations and could do the same to ours, if we do not take preventive measures.

In other words, either we must wipe out these mobsters and their political partners or we will lose our way of life.

Joe Stalin, if he had planned it that way, could not find a speedier and surer way to defeat the democracies than by subsidizing these gangsters and foul politicians.

Actually, as I have seen in other countries how closely the gangsters and Communists work together, I sometimes wonder if the Soviet is not, at least in some measure, inciting these vermin to defile our system of law and order.

But whether or not this be so, one thing we can be sure: The Costellos, Adonises, and the rest of this scum, and still more the miserably corrupted law enforcement officers, are among the Kremlin's best allies.

More Dangerous
Perhaps, in a sense, they are even more dangerous than the spies convicted of stealing our atomic and military secrets. After all, by scientific ingenuity and hard work we can compensate for these thefts, but the loss of morality in government will cause us to lose our self-respect and confidence of other peoples.

From such a catastrophe no nation has ever recovered.

A most important result of the Senate Crime Investigating Committee's work is that it is demonstrating to the entire world that our democracy is essentially sound and honest, because a bi-partisan group of legislators without fear or hesitation, free from political bias, is exposing to the purifying light of public opinion the crime, graft, and bribery which has existed in this and other communities.

Our citizens are aroused, and an aroused citizenry is irresistible. They will relentlessly demand honest and competent officials, who will drive the criminals into prison, out of the country, or into the electric chair.

Stefanik No Hero To Czech Commies

PRAGUE—(AP)—The likeness of General Milan Rastislav Stefanik, Czechoslovakia's first minister of national defense, is gradually being removed from public view in Czechoslovakia. Old 50-crown (one dollar) notes had his picture on them, but new ones introduced this year show a Slovak miner instead.

Postage stamps bearing his image are to be taken off the market. Neither measure has been explained officially. But Stefanik's connections were not such as to make him a hero to the Communists who now lead the Czechoslovak government.

Stefanik won support in western countries for the ideas of Thomas G. Masaryk, founder and first president of the first Czechoslovak republic, and served in the first government till his death in 1919, the year after the republic was established.

Maybe The Prices Made Robbers Mad

Hungarians Sell Hard-To-Get Food

FRANKFURT, GERMANY—(AP)—Nobody at the big Frankfurt Spring fair would have guessed that Communist Hungary is on strict food rationing. After a two-year absence the Hungarians re-entered Germany's biggest Spring fair with a lush food display to attract export dollars.

Since last fall, Hungary has suffered from severe shortages of meat, sugar and potatoes. The government has imposed harsh rationing regulations. But a buyer at the fair could order unlimited quantities of ham, bacon, chocolate, candies, canned fruit and canned vegetables from Hungarian stalls.

British Increase Troops In Malay

LONDON—(AP)—Festival of Britain visitors in grimy London will be safe from smoke and soot from Thames tugs and steamers. The Ministry of Fuel has arranged to allocate 8,000 tons of Welsh anthracite, which is almost smokeless, for use by river tugs during the festival period.

It has also asked factories on the riverside or in districts close to the South Bank of the Thames, where the festival site is, to keep the air clean.

HE'S A PERFECT CUT-UP—What's so unusual about a man cutting out paper dolls? You ask, the state of the world being what it is. Well, nothing, except that Giuseppe Baggi of Faenza, Italy, makes his paper and wire characters so artistic that he's able to make a living at it. Baggi has drawn crowds on three continents producing astonishing masterpieces from the simplest materials. He discovered his ability to "cut up" when he was a child.

Honesty, After All, Is Best Policy

KANSAS CITY—(AP)—Honesty leads as the top virtue in a poll taken among 5,000 Americans. This word comes from Dr. Russell V. DeLong, Dean of the Nazarene Theological Seminary here. He set out three years ago to find out what Americans in all age and class groups regarded as the leading character traits.

Honesty led the list. Then followed in this order: Dependability, courage, sincerity, unselfishness, humility and forgiveness. The next seven were purity, reverence, faithfulness, self-control, loyalty, patience and ambition.

His questionnaires listing 61 character traits, were sent to educators, prominent businessmen, congressmen, athletic coaches, service and civic club leaders, ministers, students, judges, actors, scientists and columnists. Dr. DeLong said he had totaled the groups separately as well as collectively and "the surprising thing is that all groups are almost in complete agreement with a very little shift in traits and surprisingly little change in position."

While the population of the United States increased about 14 1/2 per cent between 1940 and 1950, the number of non-farm households increased 32 per cent, from 27,748,000 to 36,626,000.

Mrs. Douglas A. Catrett, P. O. Box 384, Rt. 3, Mobile, Ala. "I have a good word to say about HADACOL for it certainly seems a miracle to me. My son, Wayne, who is eight years old, was considerably underweight—in fact, he wore a size four shirt. Someone suggested that I give him HADACOL. After taking four large bottles Wayne is no longer underweight. Now he gets up early and he has a good appetite. He eats lettuce, cabbage, carrots and greens. He hasn't missed a day from school. Thanks to HADACOL."

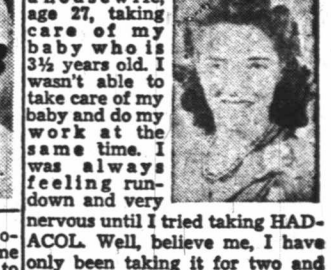

Richard Krell, 3118 Marfield Road, Toledo 14, Ohio: "I am an apprentice pharmacist and I go to the University of Toledo. My daily schedule is very rigid. Going to school full time and working after school until 9:30 gets pretty tiresome. I was getting tired and run-down keeping pace with all I had to do. Being married and having a family, I am compelled to work after school. I work in a pharmacy here in Toledo. After selling HADACOL here in the store I decided I'd try it. You have no idea how much it has picked me up. I'm telling you truthfully, HADACOL is the answer to all my tiredness."

Mrs. L. A. Stubbs, R. N., Route 3, Box 204, Mendonhall, Mississippi: "I have been giving HADACOL to my two children, ages five and seven. They did not eat as they should. Since giving them HADACOL they feel better and eat more than they have in a long time."

Mrs. Frank P. Martino, 5524 Wickfield Drive, Apt. B, New Orleans, La. "I am a housewife, age 27, taking care of my baby who is 3 1/2 years old. I wasn't able to take care of my baby and do my work at the same time. I was always feeling run-down and very nervous until I tried taking HADACOL. Well, believe me, I have only been taking it for two and a half months and have experienced a wonderful change for the better. I don't feel nervous or run-down any more. I feel and eat a lot better. Thanks to HADACOL."
