Government Thrift Drive On, But Big Spending Continues

By PETER EDSON NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON-It's the little, insignificant things that count. There was a popular song with that refrain some years back. It had to do with the little insignificant things in love. But the U.S. Congress has discovered they're also important in government spending.

Three Fines Levied For Drunken Driving

Three motorists arrested by Midland police on July Fourth were assessed fines in County Court Thursday on separate charges of drunken driving.

One driver, who led officers of a fast chase through two red lights after sideswiping a car on U. S. Highway 80 in the west part of the city, was fined $250.

Police reported that during the chase he emtied a beer bottle out the window into the police car.

A second motorist booked for drunken driving was fined $100. He was arrested by Police Capt. Jim Wilkerson, who had answered a disturbance call at a Latin American cafe. As Wilkerson was leaving, the named head of the tax lawyers man drove up to the place in a group. George Ray of Dallas was reckless manner and was apprehended

A drunken driver who was caught after a 75-mile-an-hour chase be-fore the Fourth was five hour old also was fined $100. He was nabbed as it sank an hour and a half after March Of Time Films after police here received a radio message from Odessa officers that the driver had out-distanced them and was heading toward Midland. Two companions with him were booked for being drunk.

County Judge Clifford C. Keith set a $500 bond for a fourth defendant who pleaded not guilty to a charge of driving while intoxicated. He was being held in county jail Thursday afternoon. The motorist was arrested shortly after 11 p.m. Tuesday following a pursuit that ended at Wall and F. Streets. Officers said he was involved in a hit and run accident with a pickup truck.
