Two Fliers Escape As Private Airplane Crashes At Terminal

Two San Diego, Calif., men escaped injury when a five-passenger private airplane crashed and burned Thursday afternoon at Midland

Air Terminal. The men were identified as R. D.

Clyde Sharrer, city aviation director, said the fuselage of the plane was a total loss but that the men were able to save their luggage before flames from a broken gasoline tank swept over the craft. Also saved was a painting, described as valuable. Both men left an hour later for California aboard an American Airlines plane.

Landing Gear Retracted Sharrer said the crash took place when the plane came in with its landing gear retracted. "The plane," he said, "made the pattern once with its landing gear down. But another plane was getting ready to land so this one circled again, pulling up its landing gear. "When it finally came in, the pilot apparently forgot to lower his gear again."

The craft, with landing flans down, was traveling about 50 miles an hour when it hit the north-south runway in front of the Air Terminal Administration building. It skidded to a halt without overturning but the impact broke the center section gasoline tank and sparks quickly ignited the fuel. As the two men scrambled from the plane, the Terminal Fire De-

Let's Talk Back

When the sound and the fury of hot war have died away in Korea and, with truce at hand, voices are raised in the arguments over terms of peace-we hope no one will forget there still is a war going on. The temperature merely will have shifted from hot back to the cold war which has engulfed us just about from the moment the shooting of World War II ended.

Along with that cold war, we have taken a long time in formalizing the end of World War II. One major peace treaty-with Italy-has been signed. We finally have called for an end to the state of war with Germany. The treaty with Japan is in the making.

As long as there is reasonable assurance that the shooting will not start up again suddenly in Korea, there seems to be no good reason to rush headlong into a settlement of political factors. We have at the very least as much right to be as tough as the North Koreans, the Chinese Reds, and the Russians who direct them off-stage.

The firm tone set by Admiral Joy, chief UN negotiator, serving notice that we were going to talk about firm peace in Korea and nothing else, is a hopeful start. But the North Koreans and Chinese Reds still are crowing should like to write about Andrew about victory, and are using the fact that we let them pick Older, listed recently by an FBI the meeting place as propaganda to indicate that the West undercover agent as a member of came to the East begging peace.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY Written for NEA Service The perfect bridge player never crows about his fine plays. The rest of us poor human beings do lots of crowing, but it's only good sense pat yourself on the back. West learned this lesson the hard way in today's hand.

West opened the five of spades, and that suit was continued until South had to take his ace on the third round. South then led the three of clubs, intending to finesse dummy's nine.

If South had been permitted to make this play everything would have been fine for him. The finesse would lose, of course, but dummy would be ready to win four club game when added to South's five top cards in the other suits.

As it happened. South was not allowed to finesse the nine of clubs. West very correctly put up his jack of clubs as soon as South Now South was on the horns of dilemma. If he let West hold the trick, the rest of the spades would be taken to set the contract If he won the first club trick in dummy, the low clubs would be worthless unless the suit luckily happened to break 3-3.

Declarer thoughtfully won the trick in dummy with the queen of clubs and cashed the ace of clubs to see if the ten would fall. He was about to cash the king of clubs also when West spoke up.

"Wotta play, wotta man," chord West. "If I'd played the low club first you'd have had four club tricks. Now you've got only three. "You don't say," South comment ed quietly. He instantly changed his mind about leading the king of top cards in the red suits. When West dropped the lack of hearts, South guessed the distribution. He led a third round of hearts giving the lead to East. At this point East could cash his remaining heart but then had lead a club up to dummy' king-nine. Hence declarer man-

Will Japanese Peace Treaty Help End Aggression In Asia?

WASHINGTON-Completion of a cease-fire arrangement in Korea will have no effect whatever on conclusion of the peace treaty with Japan.

On the contrary, the fact that there is an armistice in Korea may in part be due to American determination to go ahead with the Japanese peace treaty. Reasons for this belief are simple.

STRIKE THREE! PLAYER OUT!

Could you play baseball without rules? No, in any game there are rules that must be followed.

And it's because of these rules that the game is orderly and interesting. Without them a ball game would result in complete confusion, and neither the players nor the spectators would enjoy it at all.

So it is with society. Through the ages the greatest civilisations have been those with the best rules and laws. Our own United States Constitution, a masterpiece in law, has proved that good government produces a great nation.

Life must also have rules if we are to live happily. And to guide us toward this end God has given us a set of rules, which is known the world over as the Ten Commandments.

Open your Bible and learn them today-and tomorrow and always ·you'll be a better, happier person.
