Harold E. Stassen

The adjourning, this month, of the Minnesota legislature brings to a temporary close the civilian career of that state's youthful (35) governor, Harold E. Stassen, who has been accepted by the navy for active duty with the rank of lieutenant commander.

Elected governor of Minnesota in 1938, he was re-elected in 1940 for his present term, which expires this year. Whether or not he will be, next year, the Republican candidate for president remains to be seen. In his favor are his remarkable record as governor, his high favor with the Republican party, the fact that he was temporary chairman and keynoter of the Republican national convention in 1940, and his preoccupation with postwar planning.

He has, in recent months, talked extensively on the subject of a postwar family of nations, thereby endearing himself to those who advocate a change of administration without a violent shift in foreign policy. His age, too, is no longer a barrier. In 1940 he was just under the minimum age of 35 years required by the constitution of presidential candidates.

He's traded his "hot stick" for a rifle

Jim was a lineman and a good one. But Uncle Sam needed men of his calibre in the Army, so now he's in North Africa.

Jim is only one of 100 employees of this company who are serving in the armed forces. Their departure leaves a gap in our ranks that is hard to fill. Men who have spent years learning the know-how of the electric business aren't easy to replace in times like these.

Already the pinch of the manpower shortage is making itself felt in certain phases of our operations. Despite the fact that we are constantly training new men, we are being forced to operate short-handed in some localities. Wartime restrictions on the use of automotive equipment and shortages of materials, repair parts and supplies are also complicating the problem of rendering first-class service, but like other concerns in all lines of business, we're doing the best we can with what we have.

While things may not be quite the same with so many of our men away—and more going all the time—we intend to safeguard the adequacy of your electric supply and see that you get the best service possible under the prevailing conditions. You can help by keeping your electrical equipment in good condition, by learning to replace your own fuses and by avoiding rush calls and requests for special trips except in cases of genuine emergency.

Your cooperation will help conserve manpower, materials and rubber and will enable us to serve you better.

THIS AND THAT

By JOE SMITH DYER

LETTER FROM A SOLDIER:

On the Field,
February 24, 1943.

Dear Mother & Dad:

This letter may never reach you. Tomorrow it will go to Corregidor and there it will await transportation. Perhaps I will be able to send you a cable before it arrives.

About the war I can say nothing. You back home know more about it than we do. All we see is our own theatre of operations. I am very proud to be a part of the fight that is being waged here. Even if I could I would not leave here until it is all over and we have won as we will win eventually. I have seen some horrible things happen and I have had my share of narrow escapes and I also have seen some wonderful acts of courage, loyalty and self-sacrifice, and I have found the one thing that I have searched for all my life—a cause and a job in which I can lose myself completely and to which I can give every ounce of my strength and my mind. I have spiritually conquered my fear of death. This fear can not be entirely subdued but it can be controlled.

My prayer each night is that God will send you, who are suffering so much more than I am, His strength and His peace. During the first few days of actual fighting I prayed for personal protection but I soon found that it did not matter and now I know that, whatever happens, will be for the right. Life has always been very good to me and should anything happen to me here it will not be like closing a book in the middle as it would have been had I been killed in the first days of the war. In the past two months I have done a lifetime of living and have been a part of something big and fine and something that made me unafraid.

Mistakes have been made—but that has nothing to do with the way my comrades on this island have reacted to their trial by fire. If the same spirit was devoted to world betterment in times of peace what a good world it would be.

The purpose of this letter is to send you my love and to give you my thanks for just being my family. It is written with no pretensions because, all in all, my chances are better than most of the fine officers of my grade and age. Being in a war is not as bad as reading about it. A man can always do what he must do. You taught me that and I have never forgotten it.

Hope all is well on the home front, and "Keep 'Em Flying."
Your son,

HAROLD.

BREVITIES:

Mr. Duffie doesn't mind riding the street car as it gives him more time to read the morning paper—if the man in the seat next to him has one.

Something that is decidedly out-of-date these days is the old fashioned cook book that said something like this:

"Take a quart of pure, rich cream, add a dozen eggs and a whole pound of fresh butter."

A Highland Park housewife has for sale a pitcher believed to be 100 years old. She ran an ad in the paper but thus far none of the major league ball clubs have made her an offer.

The 2nd War Loan Starts April 12

13 billion dollars must be raised!

THE GOVERNMENT of the United States is asking us to lend it 13 billion dollars in the next few weeks. We can do it. And we must do it. Every American must realize the truth:

In this, our toughest war, we've made a good start. We've trained a lot of men—made a lot of weapons—built a lot of ships.

But it's only a start. No man or woman among us would contend for a single instant that we're doing enough now to win this war!

We've Got to Build More!

We broke all records building 8 million tons of shipping last year. But grim-faced Army and Navy men will tell you that the 18 MILLION tons we're building this year still won't be enough!

We've Got to Fight More!

From now till this war is won, America must be on the offensive. In ever-increasing numbers, your sons, brothers, husbands must go into actual battle. Our losses have already begun to mount—and they will not grow less.

And We've Got to Buy More War Bonds!

Sure we're all buying War Bonds now. But we've got to help pay for our increased fighting and building... We've got to match, as best we can, the sacrifice of those Americans who are toiling and sweating on a dozen battlefronts—with the bloodiest yet to come. The blunt fact is this: to keep our war machine going, we've got to dig up 13 billion extra dollars this month. 13 billion dollars over and above our regular War Bond buying!

In the next few weeks you may be visited by one of the thousands of volunteers who are contributing their time and effort to this Drive. But don't wait for him. Make up your mind now that before this drive is over, you're going to march right down to your nearest bank, Post Office, or place where they sell War Bonds, and do your duty. And don't ever forget this: in doing your duty, you're doing yourself one of the biggest favors of your life!

For United States War Bonds are the greatest investment in the world—bar none. They're investments tailored to fit your particular situation. And they give you the chance of a lifetime to order and get the kind of world you want to live in after this war. Every cent you put in War Bonds now will help to guarantee plenty of peacetime jobs making peace-living for every one of us.

For your Country's sake—for your own sake—invest all you can!

There Are 7 Different Types of U. S. Government Securities—Choose The Ones Best Suited For You:

United States War Savings Bonds—Series E: The perfect investment for individual and family savings. Gives you back $4 for every $3 when the Bond matures. Designed especially for the smaller investor. Dated 1st day of month in which payment is received. Interest: 2.9% a year if held to maturity. Denominations: $25, $50, $100, $500, $1000. Redemption: any time 60 days after issue date. Price: 75% of maturity value.

2½% Treasury Bonds of 1964-1969: Readily marketable, acceptable as bank collateral, these Bonds are ideal investments for trust funds, estates and individuals. A special feature provides that they may be redeemed at par and accrued interest for the purpose of satisfying Federal estate taxes. Dated April 15, 1943; due June 15, 1969. Denominations: $500, $1000, $5000, $10,000, $100,000—also $1,000,000 if registered. Redemption: Not callable till June 15, 1964; thereafter at par and accrued interest on any interest date at 4 months' notice. Subject to Federal taxes only. Price: par and accrued interest.

Other Securities: Series "C" Tax Notes; ¾% Certificates of Indebtedness; 2% Treasury Bonds of 1950-1952; United States Savings Bonds Series "F"; United States Savings Bonds Series "G."

THE BUTCHER'S HEADACHES

Housewives may get their worries about getting enough meat to keep the family happy under the new rationing program, but their headaches are minor compared with those of the meat dealer.

The butcher is required by law to keep prices down to the level he charged last March even though he has to pay more than that price himself to get meat.

Many meats are still scarce. The butcher cannot get enough of them to send to everyone. If he took care of all your needs, others would accuse him of favoritism.

Under rationing we all want to get all the edible meat we can. But if the butcher cuts off more than a normal amount of fat and gristle, he won't have coupons to get his allotted supply of meat.

BOO TOWNS

Hollywood interpretations of the gold rush days in this country have nothing on conditions which exist today in hundreds of war boom towns.

Little places of 1,000 or 2,000 population have suddenly been invaded by a production army many times the size of the total population.

Off to Battle Zone U. S. navy aircraft carrier is shown as it transports army planes to battle zones. Mechanics can be seen as they give the planes a final check-up on leaving their destination.

13 Billion Fighting Dollars are needed for Our Fighting Men!

TODAY and TOMORROW By DON ROBINSON

$13,000,000,000 bonds This month the treasury department is making a mighty effort to collect $13,000,000,000 extra from the sale of war bonds.

LOAN taxes The government, of course, bases its figures on national averages. There are plenty of people today who are earning less than they did before the war.

APRIL test Financing this war is a problem that is apt to stump the experts. But with the national debt increasing by many billions each month, it is apparent that money must and will be collected from the people at a faster and faster rate.

The next three weeks will be the final test.

MAKE YOUR JOB INTERESTING In 1924 a young widow had to get some kind of a job to support her two children.

Her name was Mrs. Sophie Baikusis. She had been born in Schenectady, New York, of Polish immigrant parentage. Her education had been limited.

One of the smallest parts that went into the insulators was a copper-plated screw. She was surprised to find how expensive it was. The other workers had seen that screw a thousand times, but they hadn't given it a second thought.

ABC-VE the HULLABA-LOO By LYTLE HULL Inflation and Starvation

It seems almost impossible to understand why the low-income people of this country are taking the trouble to tell their congressmen that they want this creeping inflation stopped—right in its tracks—and no feeling.

The New York Post, of recent date, tells the story of a wife and mother whose husband's income is $44 per week. She has five children ranging in years from 1 1/2 to 7.

These price advances represent the beginning of inflation. If they rise any higher the mother we have been talking about will probably starve herself when the children begin to whimper from hunger.

This Week IN WASHINGTON

Washington, D. C. (NWNS)—Although the demands of the food industry for the appointment of a food administrator to control food production and distribution were partially met by the appointment of Chester C. Davis to that post, there is little optimism here about his having the power to do an entirely effective job.

Food manufacturers, meat packers and farmers had urged the establishment of food administrator as a cabinet post. They point out now that even if Mr. Davis is elevated to the job of secretary of agriculture this would not take the place of having a new post in the cabinet concerned specifically with food distribution.

Meanwhile the food and farming situation continues to be alarming and public demand is growing for an immediate program to assure a steady supply of rationed food to the public.

One of the most bitter fights which has taken place in congress for a long time has been the debate over taxation, with the congressmen choosing sides largely according to party affiliation.

Because of the dangers of stoppage in the production of war supplies threatened by John L. Lewis in his demand for a wage increase of $2 a day for miners, coupled with other evidence of unrest in labor circles, congress is expected to demand a labor stabilization plan which will last for the duration of the war.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON Peter and John Witness Christ's Glory.

Lesson for April 11: Mark 9:23; II Peter 1:16-18. Golden Text: Mark 9:7. Unlike 'hermit souls,' Jesus loved the companionship of his disciples; three of them often chose to be with him in the greatest hours of his ministry.

After Peter proposed the building of three tabernacles, a bright cloud overshadowed them, a Voice was heard, saying, 'This is my beloved Son; hear ye him, and then the disciples saw only Jesus.'

FSA Registering Farmers For Jobs In Other Areas

Aboard a nine-car train, 470 members of unemployed farm families pulled out of Eastern Oklahoma Sunday, bound for year-round jobs on farms in Washington and Oregon.

Whitmore S. Goodlett Jr., FSA supervisor for Erath county, in telling about the departure of the 117 families from eight Oklahoma counties, said this week that the FSA in this region is renewing its invitation for farm operators needing workers and farm laborers desiring year-round employment to register at his office in the City Hall at Stephenville.

Under the labor program FSA will recruit, transport, train if necessary, and place farm workers, where there are orders for such workers and the workers want to go. At present there are more farm jobs than there are requests for workers listed in the FSA offices.

In the case of the Oklahoma families which left Sunday, each farmer has a guarantee of $80 a month, a cow, a garden plot and a place to live. FSA pays for transporting the farmer and his family to the location of the new job.

It is estimated that there are two and a half million small-scale farmers, with such limited facilities that they are working only about a third of the time.

Clairette By Mrs. H. Alexander

A large crowd attended the patriotic service held here last Sunday in honor of the boys in service. Several people from other towns and communities attended.

Dinner guests Sunday in the home of Mrs. and Mrs. J. G. Goughly were Dr. D. K. Porter, the presiding elder, from Gatesville, and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Porter of Stephenville.

Miss Lila Sherrard of Mineral Wells spent Saturday night in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Sherrard. She also attended the service Sunday.

Guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Weaver Sunday were Mr. Lester Allen of Lingville and Miss Lavern Weaver of Stephenville.

Mrs. H. P. Lee and baby of Colorado City, who have been visiting in the home of Mrs. Homer Lee, returned to their home Tuesday.

The Clairette H. D. Club gave a very impressive program at the school auditorium last Friday night, with a large crowd attending. After the program, several were played and enjoyed in the gym.

Mr. John Salmon, who is in Stephenville Hospital, is reported to be getting along nicely.

Mr. R. M. Alexander received word recently that a granddaughter, Zelma Fennie, of Fort Worth, had undergone an operation for acute appendicitis, but last report was that she was improving satisfactorily.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Mayfield and children and Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Mayfield and son of Fort Worth were week-end guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Mayfield.
