MRS. HODNETT RECEIVES LATE SON'S POSTHUMOUS PRESIDENTIAL CITATION

Mrs. W. M. Hodnett this week received a scroll bearing the great seal of the United States at the top, and the signature of President Franklin D. Roosevelt at the bottom, with a message commemorating the recent death of one of her three service sons.

The citation read: "In grateful memory of R. J. Hodnett, who died in the service of his country at sea, Atlantic Area, attached to USS Plymouth, 5 August, 1943. He stands in the unbroken line of patriots who have dared to die that freedom lives, and through it, he lives—in a way that humbles the undertakings of most men."

Mrs. Hodnett brought the document to town Wednesday to have it framed.

RAYMOND HEFNER SURVIVES SHIP SINKING; THEROAT'S SORE AND HE HAS A BAD COLD

Raymond Hefner, 27, who has been on a ship and in several places in the Pacific since leaving Hawaii where he trained, phoned his parents in Hico, Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Hefner, that he was O. K. except for a bad cold from staying in the icy water following sinking of a ship on which he had started back to the States for reassignment.

Raymond joined the Navy a few days before Dec. 7, 1941, and was awaiting his call when the attack came. He was sent out the next week to the West Coast, then on to Hawaii where he trained, and was looking forward with pleasure to his first visit home in two and a half years when his ill-fated ship sank. At latest reports he didn't know just when he would get in or how long he could stay, for he has to report for further training at an early date. His many friends hope they'll get to see him soon. By this time he may be in town—we hope.

Daily newspaper accounts of the ship's sinking carried the following information:
SAN FRANCISCO, May 31.—The Liberty Ship SS Henry Bergh went aground on the Farrallon Islands early Wednesday with more than 1,000 passengers aboard, the 12th Naval District announced.
Hundreds took to the water in life jackets and others were put off on rafts. They were being rescued by destroyers and patrol boats Wednesday afternoon. There were no reports of casualties. Fog and rain were blamed for the mishap.
The Farrallons are 30 miles west of the Golden Gate.
Survivors said the "abandon ship" order was obeyed in "orderly fashion" just before dawn when the Bergh lost power, began taking on water, and listed toward the Farrallon rocks.

WE'D LIKE TO KNOW THE DATE OF THE NEXT HICO REUNION TOO, MR. HILL

Yuma, Arizona

Editor Hico Newspaper
Hico, Texas

Dear Sir:
Many years ago I lived in Hico, attended school and participated in athletics there. I have not had an opportunity of visiting friends and relatives in that vicinity for many years, but expect to do so this summer.

Will you please advise date of Confederate Reunion, or picnic, which is held in Hico each year, as I would like to visit with as many relatives and friends as possible within the short time at my disposal.

Thanking you and hoping for a reply at an early date, I am
ROBT. I. HILL.

• Evidently Mr. Hill didn't get a copy of our "No Reunion Till the War's Over" edition last year, so we are sending him one from the files. Until such time as the boys find up their chores and come home for that big Reunion, we take the opportunity to bid the inquirer and anyone else who seems so nice, welcome to our fair city anyhow, any time.

WE HOPE THE FIRST YEAR HAS BEEN THE HARDEST

'Lost Generation' Is Topic of Speeches Delivered by Hico School's Honor Graduates

Post-War Problems, A Possible Solution Discussed Jointly

Jimmie Ruth Thompson, Salutatorian of the 1944 graduating class of Hico High School, told a commencement audience of the problem that assails the modern generation of youth, and Carolyn Holford, Valedictorian, took up where her co-speaker left off and elaborated on the problem, presenting a possible solution for the consideration of their listeners.

The topic of their speeches, decided on jointly with their remarks worked out together, was selected from a suggestion offered in a pamphlet issued recently by the Veterans of Foreign Wars. It seemed very fitting for discussion by graduates of a school which has seen its enrollment diminished and its erstwhile scholars scattered all over the world by departure of so many of its sons for service in the Armed Forces.

"The Lost Generation" was the theme of the joint discussion, and it was divided into two parts, as follows:

The Crisis In Our Generation
In behalf of the graduating class and faculty of Hico High School, I am happy this evening to greet our parents, relatives and friends who have come to celebrate with us and to share our happiness. We are happy on this occasion, and yet our hearts are saddened because of the situation in which we find our present generation.

Since Pearl Harbor, our American communities have lost over fifty per cent of a generation of young men to the military services. Thousands of our young women have left their homes to serve their country in many parts of the world.

We realize fully when we think of the sixteen boys and girls who would be graduating with us tonight if it were not for the existing conditions. For months, perhaps years, others of us will be called upon to serve our country as we reach military age.

Here we have a basic part of the complex economic and social problems confronting each American community today. On the one hand is the serious problem presented by the departure of these young Americans from their homes, and on the other the far greater one of preparing them, and ourselves, for the day when their military obligations will have been discharged.

As our young men and women are removed from their homes under global war conditions every competitor for their future residence. Their suddenly extended horizon and exciting frontiers invite exploration. New geography dims the lights of Main Street back home. New faces and new friends cloud the memories of old.

Many of these Americans are leaving their homes for the first journey of any consequence. All of them will be exposed to world-wide diversions for weeks or months or years. Some of them will never return, while others will find no contentment in the community they once called home. This "lost generation" of young Americans constitutes the lifeblood of this and every community. In it are the farmers, the bankers,

Hico Takes the Invasion In Her Stride --- Just As Her Scattered Sons Are Doing

Bond Chairmen for Hamilton County and Communities Named

Ellis H. Randalls Jr. has been named to head the Fifth War Loan in Hico, according to an announcement released for publication by Geo. R. Goughly of Hamilton. The ex-Hicoan has accepted the chairmanship for the county in the drive which opens June 12 and closes July 8.

Goughly organized his committees at once and assigned quotas for each community based on the county's quota of $365,000. This indicates an increase of $21,000 over the quota for the county in the Fourth War Loan. Hico has been given a quota of $50,000, which is $25,000 more than its quota of $25,000 in the Fourth War Loan. Hico went over this sum with sales by nearly $6,500.00, according to records at hand.

Other chairmen and committees in this area, as announced by the county chairman, are:

Carlton: W. P. Barnett, Hobby Thompson, Dock Finley, Quota, $15,000.

Methodist Revival Is Attracting Fine Crowds This Week

The Methodist revival meeting is attracting fine crowds and much favorable comment from those in attendance. People from every church are in attendance. The singing is a fine feature of the services and is being enjoyed by all.

One of the special features of the services program is a series of services for men only at the picture show each morning at 10 o'clock, and for the women at the Methodist church at the same hour. Mrs. Flowers at the church said: "Woman's greatest contribution to the race has been in the home." She said that when we neglect our homes, our civilization is endangered. She lamented the fact that divorce is on such an alarming increase. Evangelist Flowers said at the picture show: "Crime in this country is costing the nation more money annually than we are putting into the upkeep of the government, for all churches and all schools combined." He said there are 176,000 people in the prisons of the nation and the average age of them is 22 years and nine months, and that one-third of them were under 19 years of age.

The services will continue through Sunday night. Sunday morning Evangelist Flowers will speak on "Gratitude" and Sunday night Mrs. Flowers will deliver the last message of the meetings.

Daily services for boys and girls are being held at 8 p. m., and a series of meetings for the older youth are being held. The morning service is held at 10 o'clock and the evening service at 8:45.

Rev. John P. Cundieff, pastor of the Iredell Baptist Church, was in Hico last Thursday.

Mill Representatives Praise Local People For Results In 'Food For Freedom' Efforts

Discuss Feeding On Visit to Hico for Store's Anniversary

Along with the entertainment last Saturday at the Anniversary Celebration of Keeney's Hatchery & Feed Store came some very inspiring remarks from representatives of the Burrus Feed Mills whose line of Texo Feeds is featured at the store.

Willey Akins, general manager of the Burrus company, sent his regrets at being unable to fulfill his place on the program, an opportunity he had anticipated with pleasure on account of previous visits here and mingling with the people. His two sons who are in service came home on unexpected leave, and he stayed at Dallas to be with them.

Representing the mills, however, were Grady Parkerson of Dallas, assistant general manager; W. G. Troutt of Fort Worth, special representative, and Walter Burton of Arlington, poultry specialist connected with the company. Also on hand for helping to entertain were Bill Boyd and his "Texo Ramblers", Harry Le Van, blackface comedian, and company, and two cowgirl singers, all of whom proved very popular with their listeners. They also were enthusiastically received by Carlton on a mid-afternoon visit to the Keeney store there.

The visitors were lavish in their praise of the enterprise displayed by the local store in the undertaking, and in the response evident on the part of the people. Mr. Parkerson, who was making his first visit to the city and immediate section, especially lauded the manner in which local people were cooperating with the "Food For Freedom" program urged by the government. Troutt and Burton, who have spent a lot of time working with the store and its customers, were as usual impressed by the interest local people display in making their undertakings successful.

Mrs. G. C. Keeney, manager of the store, tendered thanks to the visitors and the public on behalf of the store and its personnel, and promised a continuance of Keeney's efforts to do the best job possible at all times.

War-Minded People Solemn, Confident As D Day Dawns

With so many of her native sons fighting for freedom all over the world, and a fair proportion of them known to be in the European Theatre of Operations, local people found little to rejoice over in the early morning hours Tuesday, June 6, when they learned that D Day had arrived. But the news seemed to come as a sort of relief to the tension of the past few weeks since they realized that the time was imminent for the invasion of the continent of Europe. Taut nerves relaxed somewhat as they were conscious that the beginning of the glorious end might be near.

It was dead certain that there was no cause for rejoicing, however. There was very little hullabaloo and fanfare. A genuine interest in the occasion caused discussion throughout the day, which has continued as the main topic of conversation since.

A sleepy country editor was awakened by a loyal friend who thought he'd like to know about D Day, shortly after the first flash over the radio. Aware of the pandemonium that must be reigning in the newspaper offices of his city brethren, but with a sobering realization of his own limitations during a time when it is barely possible to get out regular issues, he had turned the button on the electric pot of the linotype and then resigned himself to the paltry fate of one so puny. He paced the floor for a while, and then burned up a portion of his precious gasoline allotment cruising over the streets of the town after hearing as much as could be told in the first meagre bulletins.

Through open windows and doors of scattered houses over the city could be seen the glow of lights where such was not usually the case. Over a score of radios could be heard the hushed, matter-of-fact bulletins as the story of the invasion unfolded. In his mind the editor could see this one and that one as the first shock wore off and frantic announcers pitifully tried to keep programs going without anything much to go on. They repeated and reiterated, retraced and improvised, from the original announcement from Eisenhower's headquarters that Allied troops had landed on the coast of France shortly after dawn; that 4,000 ships and numerous other smaller landing craft had unaded infantrymen in the vicinity of Caen, and that paratroopers had been dropped behind the German lines; that the umbrella of planes in the air numbered more than 11,000 — from that point to the later announcements that bitter fighting was in progress, and that one town had been taken. News commentators thought they had detected a preoccupied note in the President's talk on Monday night, a supposition which was later corroborated by Mr. Roosevelt's own statement. All this, with the statement that the invasion was getting along all right, came on the heels of Sunday's announcement that Rome had fallen to the Allies. "One down, two to go," was the way things were running. And the knowledge seeped out that Hitler's so-called "Atlantic Wall" constituted the biggest bluff of the war, because it simply did not exist.

When time came for the work day to start, there were still several who had not been advised of the impressive event. After a consultation with Mayor J. C. Barrow, Fire Chief Ollie Davis and others, the fire siren was sounded in a long blast for the benefit of those whose radios might have burned-out tubes, as so many of them have these days. In a short while there was scarcely a soul who had not learned of the event and talked things over.

Early in the morning a petition was passed among the business men calling for the closing of stores at 10 o'clock for 40 minutes. Practically the entire town closed at the appointed hour, the men going to the Palace Theatre and the women going to the Methodist church for prayer and meditation. This has been repeated on the two following days. In response to an invitation from Rev. Floyd W. Thrash and the Fetters Evangelists, who are currently holding a revival meeting here.

As D Day drew into W Week, plans were being made for the success of the Fifth War Loan, which opens next week. Hico has never fallen down in any phase of her war undertakings, and it's too late to start falling now.

Fairy

By Mrs. J. O. Richardson

Word was received here early Wednesday morning of the death of Mr. B. O. Bridges of Temple, who passed away on Tuesday. The funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon in Temple, with interment in a Temple cemetery. Mr. Bridges and his family resided in this community for some 35 or 40 years. He served as rural carrier on Fairy Route 1 for a number of years. He was a man who was loved by all, and our heartfelt sympathy is extended to all his family and other relatives who are bereaved at his passing. We hope to have a fuller account of his death for next week's news.

We have had almost a week of threatening weather, but no rain, up until Monday night, and farmers have been working early and late with the harvest. Most of the wheat will be combined.

Rev. Luther Norman, pastor of the Church of Christ at Hamilton, filled an appointment at the Church of Christ here Sunday afternoon.

V. H. Heyroth of Gatesville stopped here a while Sunday on his return from Walnut Springs, where he had visited his brother, Elmo Heyroth, and wife, over the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Noland and family of near Stephenville spent Sunday in the home of his brother, Floyd Noland, and family.

Mrs. W. L. Jones received the sad news Wednesday of last week that her brother, Mr. Jim Grogan of Hamilton, had suddenly passed away. He had been in ill health for several months, but was able to be up and had planned to visit his sister here on Thursday. Services for Mr. Grogan were held in Hamilton on Friday morning. Mr. Grogan formerly lived in the Agee community where he and his family resided. He has many friends in this and surrounding communities who were very sorry to learn of his death. We extend sympathy to those bereaved at his passing.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Moore of the Agee community visited Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Noland and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Hartgraves and daughter, Mary Lou, of Robstown have been visiting in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Allison Sr. Mr. Hartgraves returned the first of last week, while Mrs. Hartgraves and daughter remained for a longer visit.

Miss Patsy Ann Hoover went to Fort Worth Sunday to visit her sister, Miss Daphne Hoover.

Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Allison and children, Ruby Jean and Darrel, of League City are here visiting in the home of their parents and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Allison Sr. and Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Richardson. Mr. Allison has been helping Mr. Richardson some in the harvest while here. They will return home the last of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ryan Sitton spent one night last week in the home of his uncle, P. L. Cox. We did not learn where they reside.

We have just received a letter from one of our soldier "Pen Pals," Buster Blount, saying that he is O. K. He is somewhere in India. Mrs. W. C. Pendleton of Cranfill's Gap and her son, Petty Officer 2/c Curtis Pendleton of Camp Peary, Va., spent last Friday in the home of their daughter and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Prentiss Newman. This was his first visit home in seven years, and all were so glad to see him.

Little Jimmie Adams of Hico is spending a few days this week in the home of his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Richardson. Jimmie likes farm life and we look forward to his annual visit during harvest, as he likes to ride the combine and help in any way he can.

for next winter's gas heating equipment needs

Your gas company suggests this because OPA certificates for the purchase of gas room heaters are issued on a monthly quota basis to those who can qualify. There are fewer applications for these certificates during summer months. That's why you're more likely to secure one now. So attend to heating needs this summer when purchase certificates can be had and equipment is available.

Floor furnaces for homes and over-head salt heaters for commercial establishments are free of rationing restrictions.

"Lost Generation"

the merchants and doctors of tomorrow.

These are your sons and daughters—the fathers and mothers of our next generation.

Post-War Employment

In accepting their obligations of war, these young men and women have placed the grave responsibilities surrounding their return to civilian life squarely upon the shoulders of those they left behind.

It is the greatest responsibility ever faced by our civilian population. It is a personal and individual obligation each member of a community must assume, and it cannot be discharged by the saving of tin cans, the buying of bonds or the giving of blood. It is an obligation of stewardship. Stewardship of the economic and social welfare of the community, shared equally by each individual within its boundaries.

Always conspicuous in periods of readjustment has been the so-called problem of the returning soldier. In the past the problem was often dumped on the soldier's lap, and he was left to his own devices for its solution. Sometimes his methods were not orthodox—often he was criticized. Yet his efforts, whether they took the form of selling apples on Main street or of promoting a bonus march on our Capitol, were the direct result of a failure on the home front.

A failure that occurred before the soldier's return—failure on the part of those he left behind to fulfill their obligation of stewardship.

Population losses to the military services are from a community's basic population. Therefore, a community must recover a high percentage of its "lost generation" or it will lose not only the progeny of those who fall to return, but also the wives, sweethearts, sisters, brothers, parents and neighbors who may be persuaded to seek greener pastures elsewhere.

The adverse economic cycle thus threatened may soon undermine the entire structure of a community. Unless stopped at its beginning, it may eventually engulf each individual within its reach.

Every phase of community life may be affected—tax collections, retail trade, agriculture, educational and religious facilities—each will find a share of the common burden.

No community, regardless of its present condition or its natural advantages, has the right to leave the solution of that problem to blind chance.

Readjustment to peace must begin with the community. It must begin now if it is to be effective when peace arrives.

A plan for post-war employment has already been developed by the Committee for Economic Policy of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce and tried in Albert Lea, Minnesota.

A canvass was made to determine how many employees would be needed in industries and on the farms in the town after the war.

Housewives were asked what they intended to buy after the war, how much they intended paying for these things, and how they intended to pay. The survey resulted in a definite knowledge of what to expect in the future.

This is in line with a program outlined by the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States. Besides the survey to determine post-war employment opportunities and to determine the market on various products after the war, the program outlined by the V. F. W. includes three more principles of procedure. (1) A listing of servicemen and women by vocations. (2) A method of keeping the absent men and women informed about the affairs of a community and (3) a combination of these factors with benefit to the community and its service men and women.

Each community throughout the forty-eight States is invited to adapt the basic principles of the proposed program to local conditions.

To assure post-war employment in our community, we cannot wait until the end of the war. We must plan now for the re-adjustment in our social and economic lives. We will have to make a place in our post-war program for the returning service men and women whom we refer to as our "lost generation."

Any erroneous reflection upon the character of any person or firm appearing in these columns will be promptly corrected upon calling attention of the management to the article in question.

found that one did not have to be a jester or a buffoon to make other people happy.

Amusement is not happiness. A famous circus clown once said: "Nothing can happen to a cheerful man except a headache from a hangover."

There is nothing in this tanbark philosophy to make a man really happy. It is the cleverness of the clown, using the cynic's tools, to make you laugh. We witness the sinuous acrobats, the bareback riders, and gaze at the trapeze performers and laugh at the crude "cracks" of the funny men, but this is all childish amusement, peanut pleasure, red lemonade fun.

We all must have our amusements—our balls, shows, games, plays—but real happiness is a roadside flower that grows in our hearts when we have done to others what we want others to do to us.

PIONEERS AND THEIR FRIENDS

Railroad men, particularly engineers, have a way of making friends along their routes. A toot of the whistle at some boy or girl sitting on a fence, or the wave of a hand to a man in an automobile is the engineer's way of saying: "Hi, there. How's everything?"

Many friendships have been formed in this way by the man in the engine cab and those who live along the right of way.

In these modern days engineers have devised new methods of greeting people. Some render strange sounds on their whistles. Others greet their friends by sudden spurts of steam through gas jets, only half opened. Some still clang the engine bell as they did in earlier days.

The engineer of the New Haven express running from New York City to New Haven, Conn., recently placed a corsage of wild flowers on the front of his big, dirty engine and now he holds the record of being the friendliest train man in the United States.

His artistic act sent many people to work with the first early-morning smile on their faces in many months and at the same time he won for himself a score of new friends and he didn't toot his whistle a single time.

There are many unique ways of making friends—if we'd just take time to do those things!

LETTER FROM ENGLAND:

"The winter weather is breaking up and everyone is glad.

"There has been little fuel this year and we, along with thousands of others, have suffered. It's one thing to face a winter with a nice warm fire to greet you, but it's quite another thing to face it with an eternally cold house and hot water that is NOT hot because there is no heat to make it so. For five months past our gas and electricity has been on only three days a week and only at half strength then.

"Of course the winter was bad, as most all English winters are, but I feel rather 'reinforced' now that spring is with us and I hope that by the time another winter rolls 'round that things will be better.

"We have been hoping that for so long that it has become a regular game."

A little man on the shoulders of a big man can see farther, but the little man can travel no farther than the big man will carry him.

came out last week, but we must have been asleep—either that or he has been running around too much. The first news of the invasion came from him Tuesday morning, but we haven't learned yet just how he happened to be up that late, or whether he was on the scene or not.

Veteran of two Atlantic crossings on a cargo vessel with the United States Maritime Service, this Hico lad doesn't believe the enemy is whipped yet. He has kept up his studies, putting in lots of time on his latest rigorous course, but figured he had crammed enough and says he's ready to go to sea again. He is to report at New Orleans for assignment to a ship about the middle of this month.

Frank McClure, CM 2/c, who has been stationed at Camp Endicott, Davisville, R. I., has been transferred to Camp Rousseau, Port Hueneme, Calif.

Cpl. W. R. Lynch has written his mother that he has been transferred from Westover Field, Mass., to Chatham Field, Ga.

Pvt. T. B. Lively, running around considerably in the Pacific, has written his dad, Bryant Lively, that he hadn't read all the news in the Hico paper lately. He is out of the hospital and back in action. One of the recent landings at an undisclosed island in the Pacific was entirely successful, T. B. wrote. He said he knew—he had a hand in it to see that things went off all right.

Cpl. Rollie Forgy came down from Fort Worth with his wife Sunday, and visited the office Monday to have a slight change made in his mailing address. He now is in a section, instead of a squadron, at Temple Army Flying Field. Rollie said he made the trip up to Fort Worth in 50 minutes, but his mode of travel is a military secret. He also said he was sweatin' out a furlough for July or August. We suggest he make it in August, so he and Roberta can celebrate their wedding anniversary at home.

Mrs. T. E. Howerton has renewed the subscription of her son, Pvt. Chas. Russell Howerton, back at Camp Ritchie, Maryland. Mrs. Howerton says they hear regularly from "Squinchie" and he said his papers were coming through O. K.

Albert Grimes has ordered a News Review subscription to be sent to his son, Wendell Grimes. "Windmill" is now trying to complete boot camp at San Diego, Calif., after recuperating from a minor operation.

Renewing for her subscription so she can keep up with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Hargrove, and others in this section, Mrs. Lorene Robinson wrote this week from Fort Worth: "As D Day is here, we can only pray for our victory to soon be won, can't we? As you know, my only brother is overseas and am praying for all our boys' safe return. We are still building bombers. Will be looking for the paper."

Pvt. and Mrs. Bailey McQuinn came in Tuesday from Camp Berkeley to spend the week with relatives here.

Pfc. Leonard Lively is at home on a 3-day pass with his mother and family from his station at Sheppard Field, near Wichita Falls. If it's fair to tell, he ran into a job of shelling peas for canning as soon as he got home, but had to come to town right off and find out more about the invasion.

Pfc. Wylie E. Howerton has written his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bloof Howerton, that he has landed safely in Italy. He is with the heavy artillery and trained at Camp Buckner, N. C. He will receive the News Review for a year through an order placed by his dad Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Needham, former residents of Hico, who are making their home in Wharton for the present while Mr. Needham is employed as a carpenter in defense work, were here the first of the week visiting with friends and attending to business matters. They reported that their son, Cpl. DeWayne Needham, whom we haven't heard from in a long time, is still stationed at Camp Haan, Calif., and is still reading the N. R. even though he has forgotten to send us any word recently.

They remained with her until Sunday, when they went on to Norman, Okla., to be with Mrs. Pirtle's sister, Mrs. R. M. Powell, who is in the hospital there. Returning home Wednesday they stopped in Fort Worth to see Peggy again, and report that she was getting along as well as could be expected, and that barring complications, the doctors thought she would be able to regain her health gradually after the series of operations that have weakened her so.

Funeral Services for R. M. Bowles Held Monday Afternoon

Funeral services were held for R. M. Bowles Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the Barrow Funeral Chapel, conducted by Rev. Floyd W. Thrash, pastor of the Hico Methodist Church.

Pallbearers were T. A. Randals, Lee Rainwater, John Rusk, J. W. Richbourg, A. A. Fewell and John Simonton. Burial was in the Hico Cemetery.

Mr. Bowles had been in failing health for a number of years, although his customary disposition had hidden from even his closest friends the seriousness of his condition until the past several weeks. He passed away at his home here on Sunday, June 4, at 11:50 a. m.

R. M. Bowles was born in Tallahassee, Alabama, on September 10, 1865 and was married to Miss Emma Lou Wells on October 23, 1890 at Tuskegee, Ala. To this union five daughters were born. Mr. and Mrs. Bowles moved to Hico August 1, 1895 and have made their home here for nearly half a century.

The departed confessed his faith in Christ and united with the Baptist church at the age of 19, and was a faithful and devout Christian and member of the church until the day of his death.

Learning telegraphy when he was a "barefoot kid", Mr. Bowles was an operator for the Texas Central Railroad for many years in Alabama, and in 1895 transferred to the Hico office and held a position at the station here for a number of years. He also carried on an active career during his experience in business, having served as a cotton buyer and in various mercantile establishments at various times. He retained a lively interest in the town and its people until the last, and was well versed on state and national affairs. His integrity was such that he was repeatedly selected to serve at elections held locally.

He is survived by his wife and four daughters: Mrs. C. E. Rodgers, Tyler; Mrs. C. B. Boustead, Fort Worth; Mrs. W. E. Perry, Perryton; and Mrs. H. S. Benge of Corpus Christi, all of whom were present for the services. Also surviving are five granddaughters, two grandsons, and two great-granddaughters.

Other out-of-town relatives and friends here to attend the services were Mrs. Bill Rusk, Fort Worth; Mrs. Elizabeth Williams, Sherman; W. E. Perry and Mrs. Oscar Blank and daughter, Dixie, Perryton; Billy Rodgers, Tyler; Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Benge and Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Grogan, Weatherford, and W. T. James of Hamilton, C. E. Rodgers of Tyler came in Sunday, but was unable to remain for the services.

J. P. Rodgers, who was rushed to the Gorman Hospital Sunday morning by his wife and sister, Miss Thoma Rodgers, after becoming violently ill, was brought home Wednesday and is reported to be improving. His mail route is being served by L. J. Chaney, substitute carrier, during his absence. His children, Miss Priscilla Rodgers, a student at TSCW Denton, and Joseph Paul Rodgers and new bride of three weeks, from Durant, Okla., were here for the week end and to attend a birthday dinner for their father Sunday when he became ill. Joseph Paul and wife returned home the first of the week and Priscilla left Tuesday for Denton where she will attend summer school.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Lockhart of Clifton were here Saturday afternoon visiting friends. They were accompanied by their son, Johnny, and their daughter, Mary, who had portraits made at the Wiseman Studio. Mary was valedictorian of this year's graduating class at Clifton High School.

Fear of Cancer Is No Substitute for Intelligent Action

Austin, June 6.—Fear of cancer cannot help its victim and unreasonable fear should be replaced by intelligent action concerning this disease, is the opinion of Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

The doctor said in a statement this week that cancer can usually be cured in its earlier stages. This has been demonstrated by the fact that many persons have been treated successfully by surgery, radium, or x-ray and are living now, many years after a definite diagnosis of early cancer was made. Many people postpone diagnosis when they suspect cancer either because they dread to hear the truth or because they believe that cure is impossible.

"In the treatment of cancer, time is the most important factor," Dr. Cox said. "To produce satisfactory results, treatment must begin early in the course of the disease while the cancer is still confined to a small area. Persons suspecting cancer should consult their physicians as soon as they notice an unexplainable lump, unusual discharge, a persistent sore on any part of the body, or any change in the appearance of a mole or wart. It is often disastrous to wait for pain because this is a late symptom that usually doesn't occur until the malignant growth has made considerable advance."

The value of early diagnosis cannot be stressed too strongly, according to Dr. Cox, and that is one reason why regular periodic examinations are recommended particularly for those of old age.

Mrs. J. G. Barbee Died Last Saturday After Long Illness

After a lingering illness of more than a year, one of the best-known citizens of the Millerville community, Mrs. J. G. Barbee, passed away at her home Saturday, June 3, at 8 a. m. She received every medical attention and care the family could give. In April of last year she had a stroke of paralysis, having been bedfast since. Her death was sudden.

Services were conducted Sunday afternoon at the Church of Christ in Hico, of which she was a member for many years. Interment was in the local cemetery. A concourse of relatives and friends overflowed the building as they assembled to pay their last respects to her memory. Arrangements were in charge of Barrow's.

Eld. Stanley Giesecke officiated at the last rites, assisted by Rev. Floyd W. Thrash.

Born August 15, 1893, Miss Dovie Saylor was married to J. G. Barbee Feb. 6, 1910. To this union six children were born, two dying in infancy. Surviving are one son, J. G. Jr. of the home, and three daughters: Mrs. Juanita Roberts, Stephenville; Mrs. Dorothy Carpenter, and Mrs. Oleta Roberson, both of Hico, besides her husband and nine grandchildren. Three brothers and two sisters survive and were present at the last services. They are Chas. Saylor of Seguin, Jim Saylor of Milford, Henry Saylor of Texas City, Mrs. Della Copeland, and Mrs. Ethel Underwood of Hillsboro.

Other out-of-town relatives and friends here to attend the services were Dan Copeland, R. B. Underwood and children, Mr. and Mrs. Hal Wright and Mr. and Mrs. Jess Powers, Hillsboro; Mrs. Jim Saylor and children, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Saylor and children, Milford; Mrs. J. J. Harvey, Hamilton; Mrs. Henry Saylor and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Abel, Texas City, and Mr. and Mrs. Billy Thomason, Brownwood.

The beautiful floral offering was a tribute to this good woman who had made so many friends during her earthly existence. They join in extending sympathy to the bereaved relatives.

Mrs. Killebrew Called to Eternal Rest Last Monday

In the passing of Mother Killebrew on June 5, 1944, a good, sincere Christian mother has ceased the walks of this life and gone to her reward, where she will rest from all her labors and bask in the sunlight of God's wonderful love and fully realize what it means to live a life trusting completely in a Savior who is able to, not only walk with us here on earth, but go all the way and give us a home. He said He would go and prepare for all who love and trust in Him as Sister Killebrew did at the age of 25 years when she was converted and united with the Missionary Baptist Church, Hico, later uniting with the Pentecostal Church. She lived a devoted Christian life, always having a kind word for those she knew.

Patsy Ann Methis was born in Alabama on July 7, 1870, later moving to Hico with her parents. She was united in marriage to J. T. Killebrew of Hico, where they made their home. He preceded her in death in 1939. To this union were born five children, one daughter who died in infancy, and four sons who survive: Earl Killebrew, Sumerton, Ariz.; Ed Killebrew, Glendale, Ariz.; Moses Killebrew, DeLeon, and Herman Killebrew of Hico. She is also survived by two step-daughters, Mrs. Lizzie Loyd and Mrs. Bertha Spaulding of Hico, and 19 grandchildren, 26 great-grandchildren, besides a host of friends.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at the Pentecostal Church, conducted by Rev. J. C. Blackburn, assisted by Sister Dolly Lynch. Burial was in the Hico Cemetery.

Invasion Hour Brings Added Responsibilities

In consideration of the solemn thoughts and the necessity for united, sincere cooperation in these invasion hours, Keeney's Hatchery and Feed Store and Burrus Feed Mills are contributing the adjoining space in lieu of the advertising message that had been planned for this week.

Permit us, in passing, to thank our many friends for their attendance at our Anniversary Celebration last Saturday. Their response to our daily efforts has been most gratifying, and we hope everyone derived as much enjoyment from our humble efforts at entertaining them as we did from being privileged to play the part of hosts.

We also wish to thank each and every one who contributed in any way to the success of the occasion. We shall always be grateful to our friends, so many of whom by word or deed took notice of our store's birthday.

Until a happier day, when we shall have brought this war to a successful conclusion, our hope and prayers are for the safety of our loved ones. And our pledge is for a continuing effort to do what we can to help make secure that freedom for which the civilized people of the entire world are fighting today.

Sincerely,
KEENEY'S HATCHERY & FEED STORE

... "THEY" are our boys in fighting clothes, Mr. Farmer. Their implements of war are the ack-ack and tommy guns they man, the bayonets they plunge and rifles they aim at the enemy. And you are one of them, Mr. Farmer. Your overalls, your denim shirt, your tough shoes and sun-shading hat are your fighting clothes. Your field implements, poultry and dairy equipment are your implements of war, aimed just as directly at the enemy! We know... the whole nation knows how many problems you have to face; but you can cope with them with steadfastness of spirit when you compare them with the sacrifice, obstacles and vicious challengers with which our sons of invasion have to grapple! Together, they and you are fighting for our land. The fighting men on foreign soil: you on the very land those stalwarts are embattled to protect from fascism and tyranny. In wartime, food is ammunition. In wartime, food is the wherewithal every soldier, sailor, flier—and producing civilian must have, in order to be able to carry on the fight at all! The nation looks to you... in fact the United Nations and the liberty loving people of occupied lands join your sons in looking to you—to do your part in "Our Land" they are fighting for!

DRIVE IT HOME!

"That's the way I like to see them," said Gen. MacArthur when he saw the rows of dead Japs in the Admiralty Islands. In this war—the costliest, cruelest war of all time—our boys must fight with savage fury. Kill or be killed! And on how well each plays his part depends the lives of many of his buddies. Here on the home front, too, just cheering the attack on isn't enough.

That's why there's a Fifth War Bond drive on now, a drive in which you're needed to support the men on the fighting fronts who are facing the most treacherous forces Americans have ever met in combat. We on the home front can't let them down—and we won't. So resolve now to at least double your Bond buying in the 5th War Loan drive. This is the time to do better than your best.

WITH THE COLORS

in the Pacific, has written his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Roberson, that he is getting the home paper.

"I don't hear from anyone but a few of the relatives," he wrote. "I get the Hico paper when it is about 3 weeks old but it's all news to me and I certainly enjoy it. That's the only way I can keep up with the boys I know that are in the service.

"After a lot of work I finally got promoted to Gunner's Mate, Second Class. It isn't very much, but every little bit helps out. Just that much more I can send home for after the war. There isn't anything to spend money on out here.

"I was just figuring up how long it has been since I was in Hico. It has been 14 months. I hope to be back before 14 months more, but you can't tell."

ANYBODY WHO COULD MAKE A "FOX-HOLE RADIO" OUGHT TO BUILD A FOUNTAIN PEN

Somehow in Italy
May 25, 1944

Dear Mr. Holford:
Thanks for the memories! Your kind remembrance was greatly appreciated.

Yes, the Anzio Beachhead still flimsily holds, and as we sweat it out we are even entertained by the now-famous "Foxhole Network." It all started when some G. I. had the bright idea of taking the music right out of the air, so to speak. Hence the foxhole radio—a very simple combination of a razor blade, a block of wood, some copper wire and a bit of good old American ingenuity. The amazing thing about it is—it works! So, when the 170's and 280's start screaming over, some of the boys might be found in their foxholes calmly listening to the propaganda program of George and Sally.

I do not wish to convey the idea that it's all play and no work here. Both armies are poised facing No Man's Land, and ready to strike a side-winding blow at the drop of your hat. 'Tain't funny, McGee!

This was the situation when I was evacuated from there a few days ago—supposedly with malaria. I am now back in a base hospital, and to me it is nothing short of a little bit of heaven. For once in two years I have an honest to goodness bed to sleep on.

Mr. Holford, it has never been my pleasure to meet you, except through the pages of the H. N. R., which I have enjoyed immensely since being over here. I do expect to return to Hico, at least for a visit when, as you said, "The shootin' over," I may drop in to say hello.

Well, this is getting rather lengthy, but before closing I wish to make a request. In case you have an old "beat-up" fountain pen lying around the office I wish you would attach a tag to the same and send it over. I only have this one pen and staff to write with, and it scratches. Evidence inclosed!

Greetings and best wishes to all my friends in and around Hico.

Respectfully yours,
CPL. W. R. JOHNSON.

THE MAIL MUST GO THROUGH—ESPECIALLY IF IT'S THE HICO PAPER (HOPE, HOPE)

Mrs. W. A. Barbee,
Hico, Texas

Dear Mother:
Will drop you a few lines to let you know I am O. K., but I can't understand why you don't write me. I can't hear from anyone.

Well, I received a Hico paper today—that is the only news I have had from home. Tell the editor that his paper is really on the ball, for it comes through O. K. even when the letters fail.

Sure wish I could see you. Tell everyone hello for me, and if you could find me a 15c file there at Leeth's I wish you would send it to me. I just want to make some souvenirs.

If you take a notion to write, just let me know. Ha! With love to all always.

A son,
CLAUDE W. BARBEE, S 2/c.

ONE COAST GUARDMEN STILL TRUSTS HIS OLD HOME PAPER, ANYHOW

When Jack Hooker sent a check in payment of subscription recently, we had to inform him that his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Will F. Hooker of Stephenville, had already sent one perfectly good check. We had our sixty-word-a-minute stenographer write him at St. Augustine, Florida, where he gets his mail in the U. S. Coast Guard, Quartermaster, Monson Hotel, and ask him what we should do about the double payment. He was also requested to "spill a little news"—and did. Witness:

St. Augustine, Fla.
June 1, 1944

Dear Mr. Holford:
Have been receiving the H. N. R. second-hand each week since I arrived here. Mother sends it to me each week, along with the Stephenville paper. My family, who still resides at 700 Virginia St. in Amarillo, provide the Globe News. Lewis T. Nordyke, whom you will remember, is now assistant editor of "The Country Gentleman." He moved to Philadelphia from Amarillo the first of May.

As for the refund on an overpaid subscription, let's just both take a chance and extend it that much more.

You might think that a Texan this far from home would have trouble finding other native sons, but such is not the case. At least 60 per cent of my first company were Texas boys. For a while we had trouble convincing the Yanks who accidentally got down here that they would need passports when they visited Texas in the future.

For the first four months I was here I stayed at the Ponce de Leon Hotel. Then I was assigned as quartermaster here at the Monson Hotel, which houses the Gunner School. I've been very lucky to date in having a swell place to stay. The room I live in rented for $125 a week in normal times to tourists. There are now six or eight people to a room, where there normally was one bed, so you can see we have plenty of personnel in these places.

There's very little to write from here. This is a tourist town and they have lots of sucker bait out, but after you have been here a while it's easy to keep out of the traps. It's surprising how many visitors are passing through.

Here's hoping that dear season will find us at home before too long. Maybe this year, but probably next year.

My regards,
JACK H. HOOKER.

WHAT WOULD YOU THINK IF YOU HEARD SOMEONE TELL YOU TO VOTE FOR WILLKIE?

Ever since Lt. L. H. Hudson came home on leave last week, we've been trying to get him to tell us a story about his experiences as an officer of the Armed Guard in charge on a Navy crew on a cargo vessel operating in the Pacific. But these Navy men don't trust us, it seems. So in deference to a couple of ships—censorship and friendship—we won't go probing around too much. We'll just content ourselves with telling a humorous incident Harry related in an off-guard moment.

It seems the Americans have been teaching tricks to the natives of some of the tropical islands in the Pacific. One of the phonies the boys pulled on the Polynesians was to run forward at each ship landing, stick out their paw, and deliver the only greeting that had been drilled in to them. Of all things, they'd say, "Vote for Willkie."

"Do you think there is any basis of truth in that story?" the editor inquired.

"Think? I know," he declared. "I had it happen to me."

To get that story, the editor had to rustle around and locate some strawberries the lieutenant had been craving all the way from New Caledonia to Jack Hollow. C. A. Crouch, who declared he was 100 orders behind, was wangled out of a box of the luscious locally-grown product Monday. But Harry had to pay for them.

Since he's been home, Harry's wife and family have kept him so close at home that he hasn't even been able to slip off for a little game of—er—pool. Now Pnd has her ears stuck up to go back with her husband to the West Coast, on his way to ship over on his old vessel, which he describes as a "happy ship." Maybe she wants to try to get a look at the ship which seems to be a close rival for Harry's affections.

OLD DUFFAU BOY SEEING TROPICAL ISLANDS, BUT SAYS "ONE TRIP WILL DO"

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Elkins
Duffau, Erath Co., Texas

Dear Folks:
I have a little time tonight, so will drop you a few lines. Hope this finds you well. I am getting along O. K.

We can now tell you a few things about New Caledonia. It doesn't seem right after being unable to mention the place for so long. The people of the island are mostly natives, French, Javanese, and Tonkinese. There are several different tribes of natives on the island, and each one has its own language. Before the war they had very little. They lived mostly from hunting and fishing, being very good at both.

They like the American soldiers and we have learned a lot about their habits, etc. The island is nothing but mountains, and the climate is warm all the time. It rains about five months out of each year, and the mosquitoes are something to be dreaded. I never want to go through anything like the first year we were here.

Troumea is the best place on the island, by far, but the buildings are old and it has a very displeasing smell. I hope I never see the place again. The natives sure did hate to see us leave. We had some very good friends among them.

I have been in the Fiji Islands twice. It was the first land we saw when we came overseas. The place looked good after seeing nothing but water for weeks. We stopped at Suru, Fiji, for several days, and I got to have a good look at the place. It is really tropical there and the rainfall is heavy. The island is noted for its bananas and of course—coconuts. The pictures I sent you were from there. Besides the Fiji natives, there are a lot of Hindu Indians and also a few Chinese. The people there drive on the left side of the street and it seems very strange. The natives on the islands wear very little clothing and they all go bare-footed. I ate 15 bananas the first night we were there. The natives threw them on the ship to us. They really did taste good after eating on a ship so long. I picked up a few souvenirs at most of the places I've been, which include seashells, beads, different coins, and a few other things. Suru Fiji has a funny smell to it. It smells of fish and coconuts. There are a lot of fish markets there. I was at that island again this year, but didn't stay long.

I think I can tell you something of the other places I've been some time later on. I have seen my part of them and guess I will see more before this over with.

I spent last Christmas and New Year's on the island. I think it is the most isolated place I've been so far—absolutely nothing but coconuts there. It is worth nothing except to help hold the world together.

A person sees some very strange things down here at times. But you never heard of bananas with seeds. I got a bunch of them off of the island. They taste very well, but you have to spit out seeds after every bite, and that slows up your eating procedure a lot.

New Caledonia is the only place in the world where Naoli trees grow. They are very plentiful there. It is a white looking tree with bark that is in layers like paper. On a large tree the bark will pull off in strips several inches deep and the natives make their huts and other things from it.

I could keep on writing this sort of thing all night, but better close and get some sleep.

Love to you,
PESTEL Q. ELKINS.

P. S.: If anyone tries to tell you that these tropical islands are paradise, just tell them that they are still wet behind the ears. One trip will do me.—F. E.

IF EVERYONE WOULD HELP LIKE THIS, WE COULD PUT OUT A BETTER PAPER EASIER

Mrs. Rubye Hudson, who is living at Weatherford with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Lowe, has written the following interesting news to the home paper:

"My husband, J. W. Hudson, has been moved to England and also has had his address changed. He was fine when I last heard from him, which was May 15. He enjoys the paper so much, and I don't ever want him to miss it."

"Ruth's husband, Bob Jameson, is receiving his papers regularly and says he enjoys them a lot. He has made T/5 since he's been in Kodiak, Alaska. He likes the climate there and has very good equipment to work with."

"We look forward to Saturdays when our H. N. R. comes. We like to keep up with all our friends in Hico, and the boys we know in service."

Cpl. Eugene Lane got that 15-day furlough from Independence Army Air Field in Kansas, and came in this week for a visit with his parents, after having stopped in Fort Worth to induce his sister, Pauline, to bring him the rest of the way. The cooperative corporal hasn't given us a full report yet, stating only that he was now in a processing outfit. He ran the machines in the field's picture show for the past six months, and said that was about his limit for holding a job—even in the Army.

Pvt. Willard Leach was recently transferred from Camp Wolters, Mineral Wells, to Camp Abbott, Oregon, according to his wife, who has ordered a subscription to the News Review sent to that address.
