Guns Boom In Strife-Torn Prison

Officers Grab Western Hills Loot, Suspect

FORT WORTH—(P)—Fort Worth police and FBI agents sprang an elaborate trap early Monday, recovered $128,000 taken in the Western Hills robbery and arrested a Fort Worth ex-convict as he arrived to retrieve the loot.

The money was found buried in a paraffin-sealed thermos jug in an open field near Azle, 18 miles northwest of here in Tarrant County.

The money was in new $100 and $500 bills. The jug was one foot deep in the ground and approximately 150 yards from the Azle-Boyd Road.

About 3 a. m. three hours later, Floyd Hill, 40, Fort Worth ex-convict, was called as he appeared at the spot, garden hoe in hand. He offered no resistance.

Kilgore Bonds Found
Also in the jug, in a small glass jar, was $4,250 in U. S. defense bonds taken from Mr. and Mrs. Sam Andrews in an armed robbery at their home in Kilgore last August 9. Mr. and Mrs. Andrews were bound, gagged and robbed by three armed men who also obtained $1,700 in cash.

Police, acting on a tip, began stationing officers in various parts of the city frequented by Hill about 11:30 p. m. Sunday.

Hill was arrested one month, virtually to the minute, after two Cubans, Manuel F. Madariaga and Candido de la Torre, were robbed of $248,000 in cash at the swanky (Continued On Page 10)

PLEA TO 'VOTE EARLY' REPEATED— Monday Night Rally Ends Hard Vote Campaign Here

A bi-partisan political rally, featuring eight candidates for four contested Midland County offices, held the spotlight Monday as the weary campaign trail headed for its climax at Tuesday's general election.

The eight candidates for two county commissioner posts, county judge and county attorney will speak at the rally, scheduled to begin at 8 p. m. in the City-County Auditorium under auspices of the Midland League of Women Voters.

Rallies also were scheduled Monday night in the negro section of the city.

But for an estimated 10,000 voters, who will go to the polls in Midland County Tuesday, the principal interest centered around the presidential race and both Republicans and Democrats were waging furious last-minute drives Monday.

In the Midland County courthouse, officials of the seven county voting precincts began picking up their election supplies and last-minute details were being straightened out.

The balloting will begin at 8 a. m. and close at 7 p. m. With Big Spring Street and Wall Street as the dividing lines, the City of Midland, as usual, will vote four precincts.

Precinct 1 voters—those living east of Big Spring Street and north of Wall Street—will vote at the North Side Fire Station at Edwards Street and Golf Course Road.

Precinct 2 voters—those living east of Big Spring Street and south of Wall Street—will vote at the South Side Fire Station at Baird and New Jersey Streets.

Precinct 3 voters—those living west of Big Spring Street and south of Wall Street—will vote at the Girl Scout Little House in the 1100 block of West Washington Street.

Precinct 4 voters—those living west of Big Spring Street and north of Wall Street—will vote at Greenwood School.

Precinct 5 voters will ballot at the Amerada Camp.

Precinct 6 voters will ballot at the Terminal Fire Station.

Voters must present their poll tax receipt stamped "1951" or an exemption certificate. Those who have lost their receipts, can vote by signing an affidavit to that effect.

Non-regular servicemen of those who have been in the service within the last 18 months can vote without a receipt if they have lived in the county six months and in the state one year.

As election day neared, election officials again urged voters to cast their ballots as early as possible Tuesday to expedite the job of tallying the votes.

At the final rally Monday night, all the candidates for county posts will speak.

John Braue will serve as master of ceremonies and the public is invited to attend.

21 Men Face 1,600 Rebels In Cell Blocks

COLUMBUS, OHIO—(P)—Highway patrolmen shot and killed one of 1,600 rioting convicts in Ohio Penitentiary Monday and a few minutes later a National Guard company armed with rifles and machine guns marched inside the walls.

About 100 guardsmen in full field equipment entered the southwest truck gate to reinforce 21 state patrolmen who had been holding the convicts at bay with a criss-cross shotgun barrage down the corridors of four battered cell blocks.

Warden Ralph W. Alvis identified the dead man as Carlyle Noel, 30, serving two to 10 years for housebreaking.

He said Noel was shot in the head at 9:40 a. m. Three other convicts were wounded earlier Monday. A fourth was shot Sunday.

Outside the prison, the dull booming of the patrolmen's riot gun sounded like a bombardment over a distant hill. The guns sped their fire in a giant "X" down the corridors of Cell Blocks G, H, I and K.

Only this line of pelting lead kept 1,600 screaming convicts from charging 21 patrolmen locked inside the cell blocks with them.

Occasionally one of the mad-demon men tried to reach a stairway at the end of the hall. Then the criss-cross fire lowered and probed at the sneaking, running figure.

That's how the three men were wounded Monday. 21 Face 1,600

This tiny band of patrolmen, 21 facing 1,600, huddled in small shelters at the ends of the corridors in the riot-torn cell blocks and blasted away while convicts screamed and shouted.

Four convicts have been wounded by officers in less than 24 hours. There was no indication when prison guards, highway patrolmen and 400 Ohio National Guard soldiers will be able to bring an end to the 60-hour, million-dollar food riot that began Halloween afternoon.

The 1,600 convicts are rioting inside their cell blocks because locks on individual cells have been broken off.

Warden Alvis said the 1,600 had no spokesman. He said his officers had no chance to talk to the men because they couldn't get to them at the present time.

Outside, construction gangs already have begun tearing down the four buildings burned in the Halloween rebellion by 2,000 convicts who brandished all manner of makeshift weapons from meat cleavers to sharpened spoons.

Non-rioting prisoners are not working except in the power house, hospital and dining rooms.

Midwestern Draws Blast From NCAA

KANSAS CITY—(P)—The NCAA Council Monday recommended that University of Kentucky be placed on probation for the 1952-53 academic year for its violation of sublimation and eligibility rules during a period from 1947 through 1951.

Walt Byers, executive secretary of the NCAA, said the recommendation was made to the association's national convention to be held in Washington next January.

Two other schools also were cited for infractions. They are Bradley University and Midwestern University of Wichita Falls, Texas.

All three recommendations announced Monday grew out of the basketball scandals of last year.

The council recommended that Bradley be ruled ineligible for the 1953 NCAA basketball tournaments.

Midwestern was called on the carpet for one specific violation, but there was no recommendation that action be taken against the Wichita Falls school.

Midland Oil Man Heads Grand Jury

Niles B. Winter, Midland oil company executive, was named foreman of a new Midland County grand jury sworn in Monday before Judge R. W. (Bob) Hamilton in 70th District Court.

The grand jury immediately went into executive session with District Attorney W. O. Shafer and Warren Burnett, district attorney-elect, who was given court permission to sit in on the deliberations.

Other members of the grand jury, who will serve until the February term of court, include O. J. Hubbard, F. A. Crockett, Horace Rankin, Murray Fasken, T. S. Henderson, Glenn A. Howard, John Sewell, Jack B. Nobles, Raymond Leggett and J. H. Hodges.

Lubbock County is legally dry. Texas Rangers, sheriff's officers, police and liquor board agents are investigating the shooting.

It occurred about 9:30 p. m. investigators said. One shot thudded into a concrete siding of Baxter's home. A second entered a large picture window in the front room and skimmed inches above the head of Mrs. Baxter, who was rooking her son, Blaine, to sleep.

Bullets Crash Into Lubbock Home Of Liquor Control Man

LUBBOCK—(P)—Four forces of officers Monday began investigating a shooting in which three .45-caliber slugs were pumped into a Texas Liquor Control Board agent's Lubbock home.

One of the slugs fired Sunday night narrowly missed the wife and one-month-old baby of Inspector Charles Baxter. No one was injured, police said.

C. E. Stevenson, Jr., state liquor board administrator, said, "This looks like a clear-cut move to drive the Liquor Control Board office out of Lubbock."

"Factions of the underworld have been attempting to do this for some time now, but this is the first attempt in which violence was used," Stevenson told the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal by telephone from Austin.

The Texas House Crime Investigating Committee is scheduled to hold public hearings in Amarillo November 6-7 on charges a widespread bootleg ring exists in Texas. Stevenson is expected to be a witness.

Mrs. Baxter, holding her baby, threw herself to the floor. The slug which passed over her head buried itself in a kitchen wall.

"All I knew was that someone was shooting at us," Mrs. Baxter said. "I thought the floor would be the safest place."

Investigators recovered one .45-caliber slug from the kitchen and a second from the outside wall of the house. No other slugs were found, although neighbors said a car had been driving back and forth in front of the Baxter home immediately before the shooting.

Neighbors, including a Texas Tech student, Bill Waters, 18, son of Texas Ranger Capt. Raymond Waters, agreed that three shots were fired.

Members of several Lubbock law enforcement agencies who investigated the shooting surmised the incident was a threat at the Liquor Control Board and not directly aimed at Baxter.

Dollar Day Crowd Ignores Weather, Gathers Bargains

The cooler, cloudy weather Monday failed to chill the enthusiasm of Midland and area shoppers as they crowded downtown stores to take advantage of Midland's November Dollar Day specials.

It was the eve of election day, too, but the economy-minded shoppers put first things first—shopping Monday and voting Tuesday.

The Dollar Day specials were especially inviting, and many shoppers were on hand early to launch the popular sales event in a fast and furious manner.

In 1945, he received his medical degree from the University of Texas branch at Galveston.

In returning to New England, Eisenhower is completing a circle. Almost eight months ago, while he still was in Europe, his backers entered him in the nation's first primary election in New Hampshire, March 11. He won it, defeating his great rival, Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio.

Since then, he has criss-crossed the country, covering well over 50,000 miles. He delivered in the neighborhood of 300 speeches.

The climax of that long and increasingly bitter struggle comes in Boston Monday night.

Eisenhower To Wind Up Campaign With Korea As Over-Riding Issue

ENROUTE TO BOSTON WITH EISENHOWER—(P)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower comes to the end of the campaign trail Monday, making his last great bid for the most powerful elective office in the world, the presidency of the United States.

He chose Boston, a city rich in the traditions of early America, as the site for his final effort.

The approach of zero-hour found the Korean War—and the problem of war and survival generally—as the over-riding issue of the campaign.

Eisenhower has gone on record with the belief that South Korean soldiers can be trained in sufficient numbers to permit American divisions to be withdrawn to rear areas, and held in reserve. He says he would push such a program if he is elected.

Implementing this, the general promised to go to Korea himself, if he becomes President, to study the problem at first hand.

At the same time, he has fired some of his heaviest broadsides at President Truman's government, charging it with responsibility for conditions that permitted the Korean fighting to start, and with having failed to build a South Korean Army capable of taking over its front lines in the 29 months since the war started.

In returning to New England, Eisenhower is completing a circle. Almost eight months ago, while he still was in Europe, his backers entered him in the nation's first primary election in New Hampshire, March 11. He won it, defeating his great rival, Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio.

Since then, he has criss-crossed the country, covering well over 50,000 miles. He delivered in the neighborhood of 300 speeches.

The climax of that long and increasingly bitter struggle comes in Boston Monday night.

Eisenhower prepared to motorcade through the necklaces of cities ringing Boston during the day. At 8 p. m. (CST) he will make his last major address in a rally in the Boston Garden Auditorium. The speech will be televised and broadcast by radio (NBC and ABC).

At 10 p. m., he takes part in an hour-long TV and radio presentation. NBC, ABC, CBS and Dumont television; NBC, ABC, CBS and MBS radio.

He will leave for New York after the presentations, spending election day in his residence at Columbia University and election night at his headquarters in the Commodore Hotel.

His running mate, Senator Richard Nixon of California, planned to join him in Boston Monday.

Big Fish Catch Goes For Naught

EASTBOURNE, ENGLAND—(AP)—One fish story—about the man who flung a boat anchor into the sea and hooked a two-ton whale—has been cut down to size.

First, an expert from the British Museum came along and said the monster Vivian Gell and his friends dragged in wasn't a whale at all. It was a 14-foot basking shark.

Then, before Gell could collect 10 pounds ($28) that an animal dealer offered for the catch, hundreds of sightseers hacked the fish to pieces Sunday and carried it away for dog and cat food.

14 Are Victims Of Violence In Texas; Traffic Takes 10

By The Associated Press

Traffic accidents claimed at least 10 lives in Texas over the weekend to lead again as the chief cause for violent deaths in the state. Two multiple-death accidents accounted for seven of the traffic dead.

In all 14 persons were killed in the weekend violence with shootings claiming four lives.

No drownings and no deaths by fire were reported. Both categories of fatal accident usually rank high in the weekend toll.

Mrs. Ward C. Mayborn, wife of the publisher of the Sherman Democrat, was injured fatally Sunday night near Hearn when the car in which she was riding overturned.

Mrs. Mayborn was the step-mother of Frank Mayborn, president and publisher of the Temple Telegram and president of the Sherman Democrat. Her husband was reported to have received minor injuries in the mishap which occurred shortly before 9 p.m.

Crash Kills Three

Three men were killed Sunday night in a triple crash of two cars and a motorcycle four miles east of McGregor on Highway 84. None of the three—apparently all soldiers—were identified immediately.

Officers said a car owned by Lawrence Ashley of Waco was passing a car in which Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Green of San Antonio were riding when the Ashley vehicle struck a motorcycle. Two bodies were taken to Waco, and the third was taken to Connally Air Force Base.

Mason Smith of Waco was injured critically. Ashley suffered minor injuries. Mr. and Mrs. Green escaped unhurt.

The McGregor accident was not the worst, however. All four passengers were killed west of Beaumont Friday night when their car and a refrigerator truck collided.

The identified dead were Frank Samuel Seitzer, 30, and Hampton Frank, both of Houston. An unidentified woman and a boy about two years old also were killed. They were believed to have been Frank's wife and child.

Pvt. Felix Bongiorno, 21, Detroit, Mich., was killed Friday night when the car he was driving overturned west of Belton.

William Lavon Taylor, 27, Fort Worth, was injured fatally Saturday night when his motorcycle collided with a car in Fort Worth.

Of the four persons killed by gunfire, two were servicemen.

A Lackland Air Force Base trainee, A 3c Robert Paul Butts, 26, was slain Sunday in a San Antonio woman's residence. Mrs. Kenneth Hernandez, 33, told a policeman and a newspaperman that she shot

Butts when she found him in her home after returning from taking her infant daughter to a babysitter.

Two of Mrs. Hernandez's neighbors told police they had seen her and Butts together before the shooting.

A Bergstrom Air Force Base serviceman, Airman Bernard Baker of Woodhead, N. Y., was found in a downtown Austin cafe Saturday with a bullet wound in his head and a pistol nearby on the floor of the cafe restroom.

The other two deaths by shooting occurred at Abilene. Sophy Jane Sedberry, 20, and her divorced husband, Albert Leon Sedberry, 18, were found dead in her car. Abilene Police Officer Warren Dodson said a gun was in Sedberry's hand, but a verdict in the case was not expected before Monday.

Spanish Ballet Gives Opening Concert For Music Association

A capacity crowd filled the Midland High School auditorium Sunday afternoon to see a program by Ana Maria's Spanish Ballet, opening the concert season for the Midland Civic Music Association.

Performing with the intense pride of the artist interpreting his home, the ballet company presented a picture of Spain, with its colorful costumes, warmly, emotional music and precise dances set to the staccato rhythm of clacking castanets, heels and fingers.

Present Carme

Highlight of the afternoon's concert was the second half, when the dancers presented a four-act production of Carmen, danced to the familiar music of Georges Bizet and told with a combination of Spanish regional dances and pantomime.

Featured in the cast were Ana Maria as the beautiful, thieving gypsy, Carmen; Rodolfo Del Villar as the dashing, jealous-hearted Don Jose; Antonio Ruiz as the proud, graceful bullfighter, Escamillo; and Juan de Leon as the prancing Captain Zuniga.

Forecasting the doom of Carmen and Done Jose, Alma Rosita, as the black garbed, bewitching figure of Fate, danced with the couple, leading them on as Don Jose allowed Carmen to escape from justice, as he killed the captain in a jealous rage and as he finally killed Carmen herself, when she deserted him for Escamillo.

Give Regional Dances

Included in the first half of the concert was a group of the Spanish regional and flamenco dances for which Ana Maria and her company are famous.

For several years, Ana Maria studied the regional dances in their native habitats before organizing the first independent Spanish ballet and she and her dancers spent two years perfecting their style and repertoire before their opening performance in 1941.

Climaxing the first half of the concert, and accompanied by the guitarist, Rolando Valdes Blain, Ana Maria danced a group of flamenco-gypsy—dances that brought her and the other entertainers back for encores and curtain calls.

Winning almost as much applause as its star was the troupe's musical director, Alfredo Munar, who played two selections, opening with his own composition, "Green Fantasy."

Costumes Add Color

Adding color and charm to the afternoon's performance were the gay Spanish costumes. Typical were the glittering white, silver and red costumes of Carmen's bullfighter and the variety of authentic costumes for the regional dances.

One bit of dramatic costuming—for the dance "Evocacion Gitana"—had Ana Maria in a beruffled red and white dress with the male dancers in white suits.

Midland's performance by the company marked its first tour through this section of Texas, although the entertainers have danced in Texas for two previous seasons.

Homemakers Slate Installation Service

The Future Homemakers of America as part of their observance of National FHA Week, will hold an installation of officers at 8 p. m. Monday in the high school auditorium.

Mrs. Massey led a panel discussion at the afternoon session and Cornelia Ramsey of Midland High School served as district song leader. Sixteen Midland girls made the trip.

Texas Is Entitled to Know

To the Hon. Sam Rayburn, the Hon. Lyndon Johnson, the Hon. William McCraw:

Sen. Joseph McCarthy has made documented charges against Adlai Stevenson. If these charges are true, Mr. Stevenson ought not to be President. Among these charges are:

1. That Americans for Democratic Action demands: (a) Repeal of the law under which Communists have been convicted of conspiring to overthrow the United States Government by force; (b) recognition of Red China as government of loyalty oaths for members of government, college or school staffs; (c) condemnation of FBI; (e) opposition to the House committee on un-American activities.
2. Adlai Stevenson says (Aug. 23, 1952): "As for the ADA, I have never been a member of it." Yet (a) Adlai Stevenson was a charter member of ADA" (ADA World for February, 1952, page 1 (b) Stevenson was the "spokesman for Americans for Democratic Action" (Daily Worker, New York, June 21, 1949); (c) photographic reproduction by ADA publication for April 20, 1949, shows Adlai Stevenson in the center of five, with underline, "Five Leading ADA Statesmen"; (d) Wilson Wyatt, personal representative of Stevenson, was former head of ADA; (e) Arthur Schlessinger Jr., head speech writer for Stevenson, was former vice-chairman of ADA; (f) ADA in general is now supporting Stevenson against Dwight Eisenhower.
3. Adlai Stevenson says that he was not intimate with Alger Hiss, convicted on proof of espionage against the United States. Yet (a) Stevenson swore to the good reputation of Hiss; (b) Alger Hiss and Frank Coe (alleged Communist) recommended Stevenson to a conference on foreign policy on Asia; (c) Adlai Stevenson included Alger Hiss on the list of lecturers brought to lecture-Stevenson's students in 1946 at Northwestern University; (d) the Hiss defense said to the court in its petition: "Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois was closely associated with the defendant (Alger Hiss) in the course of certain international diplomatic undertakings in which both men participated. . . . During the course of these associations, Governor Stevenson has had an opportunity to form an opinion concerning the reputation of Alger Hiss for veracity, loyalty and integrity."
4. Archibald MacLeish was responsible for bringing Adlai Stevenson into the State Department (Stevenson's official biography, page 77); MacLeish is cited in the 1948 California Report on un-American Activities at pp. 96, 181, 244, 248, 310, 331, 358, 389.
5. It is not charged that Governor Stevenson is a Communist. It is not charged that he prefers or supports Communism. It is charged that he has not shown in the past, and does not show now, a suitable awareness of the importance of looking into the record of those whom he selects for important service.

These charges are true—or they are untrue. If true, they are serious enough to warrant the withdrawal of Adlai Stevenson from the presidential race. If true, they demand that you gentlemen abandon further support of Stevenson and close up his headquarters under your direction and endorsement.

On that issue, the people of Texas must know the truth. The News suggests that you gentlemen proceed, by the shortest means of transportation, to confront Adlai Stevenson and demand documentary disproof of these charges which Senator McCarthy supports with date, page and physical evidence. If you fail to take this action, Texas must reluctantly draw its own conclusions as to the basis of your refusal.

THE DALLAS NEWS.

Texas Awaits the Answer

To the Hon. Sam Rayburn, the Hon. Lyndon Johnson, the Hon. William McCraw:

The News, Wednesday, Oct. 29, addressed to you the suggestion "that you gentlemen proceed, by the shortest means of transportation, to confront Adlai Stevenson and demand documentary disproof of these charges which Senator McCarthy supports with date, page and physical evidence." To date, the only reply has been a 750-word letter from the Hon. William McCraw saying: No.

Charge 1. Americans for Democratic Action demands the repeal of the Smith act (which makes it a crime to conspire to overthrow by violence the Government of the United States.) The News has printed the admission of ADA that this is true.

Charge 2. ADA urged recognition of Communist China. ADA admits this is true, but says it does not now so urge.

Charge 3. ADA opposed the application of loyalty oaths to governmental employees. The News possesses documentary proof that this was and is true.

Charge 4. ADA criticized FBI for its work in running down spies. ADA's admission: "We did criticize the use of wire tapping" (listening to telephone conversations of spies) "in the Coplon case."

Charge 5. ADA opposed House and Senate committees who exposed Hiss and other Communists in government employ. ADA admits that this is true.

Charge 6. ADA supports Stevenson. The News has a letter, signed by Robert R. Nathan, chairman of the ADA executive committee. It reads, in part:

"ADA has endorsed Governor Stevenson for President. His successful veto of the Broyles act" (imposing the loyalty oath on certain employees of the State of Illinois), "the Illinois version of the McCarran act, is a strong token of his stature as a Governor. . . . We need your financial help. The decisions on liberal issues for the next four years are being made now. ADA is organized and ready for chapters all over the country for registration drives, Senate and congressional fights and get-out-the-vote campaigns."

The letter was received by an East Texan who will have no dealings with ADA and who has forwarded the letter to The News.

Charge 7. Adlai Stevenson was a charter member of ADA, was photographed as an "ADA Statesman" and was proclaimed by the Communist Daily Worker of New York as the "spokesman" of ADA. To this no documented answer from Messrs. Rayburn, Johnson, and McCraw or from anybody else. In order to be perfectly fair to Governor Stevenson of Illinois, the following telegram has been sent:

ADLAI STEVENSON
GOVERNOR OF ILLINOIS
SPRINGFIELD, ILLINOIS

THE NEWS OF DALLAS HAS BEEN CRITICIZED FOR USING THE FULL TEXT OF SENATOR JOE MCCARTHY'S SPEECH. THE NEWS OF DALLAS WILL BE GLAD TO MAKE AVAILABLE TO YOU EQUIVALENT SPACE FOR A DOCUMENTED REPLY. PLEASE UNDERSTAND THAT THIS IS NOT AN OFFER FOR A PERFUNCTORY REPLY, BUT FOR A FULLY DOCUMENTED ONE.

THE DALLAS NEWS.

Texas awaits the answer. Texas is entitled to know.

Chicago ADA Wants Adlai For President

CHICAGO — The Independent Voters of Illinois, the Chicago affiliate of Americans for Democratic Action, has urged that Governor Adlai E. Stevenson be nominated for president by the Democratic party.

Richard A. Meyer, IVI-ADA Chairman, announced the unanimous decision of the IVI Executive Board.

Meyer explained that the Chicago group acted in response to the "rapidly mounting enthusiasm for Stevenson and a growing appreciation of his many outstanding qualifications." He added that the board's unanimous vote, which is contrary to ADA's policy of not endorsing national candidates except by action.

ADLAI E. STEVENSON

"Let's face it together. Let's talk sense to the American people. Let's tell them the truth, that there are no gains, without pains. This is the eve of great decisions, not easy decisions."

ON BUSINESS:

"... the greatest danger to free enterprise in this country died with the great depressions under Democratic blows."

ON DEMOCRACY:

"... the people are wiser than the Republicans think. And the Democratic Party is the people's party, not the labor party, not the farmer's party, not the employer's party - it is the party of no one because it is the party of everyone."

ON WAR AND PEACE:

"... and more important than winning the election is governing the nation. That is the test of a political party - the acid, final test. When the tumult and the shouting die, when the bands are gone and the lights are dimmed, there is the stark reality of responsibility in an hour of history haunted with those gaunt, grim specters of strife, dissension and materialism at home, and ruthless, inscrutable and hostile power abroad."

The ordeal of the Twentieth Century - the bloodiest, most turbulent age of the Christian Era - is far from over. Sacrifice, patience, understanding and implacable purpose may be our lot for years to come."

ON COMMUNISM:

"... with a firm confidence in justice, freedom and peace on earth that will raise the hearts and hopes of mankind for that distant day when no one rattles a sabre and no one drags a chain."

"... to assume public responsibility in these days is to accept the heavy burden of dealing with inevitable problems, fears and failures, and from these to chart the course of ultimate success. This requires penetration, tolerance, and, above all, honesty."

"It is imperative that the interest of the small businessman be protected. Just as a nation will surely fail if its land is owned by a few, so will a nation fail if its business is controlled by a handful of monopolies."

"... governments are not the masters but the servants of the people governed... to serve best the public good government must be responsive to the necessities of the people."

The Proof of Service...

The best evidence of the way any public official is doing his job is his record in office. Reagan H. Legg's record as County Attorney for the past two years is a record of hard work and unusual success in law enforcement—over 700 cases tried, no acquittals. He has proved his fairness and his devotion to duty. Reagan H. Legg has the ability and the courage to meet the challenge of genuine public service.

"The closer we can keep government to our county Courthouses, the better off our people will be. As long as we do our jobs well in local government, there will never be necessity or reason for state or federal interference in our affairs. For my part, I will tell you straight out, that so long as I am your County Attorney, that office will be used for no other purpose than to serve—in every possible way—the people of this county, and my efforts directed to fair, impartial and conscientious enforcement of the law. I can only promise to give you the best that I have, realizing that you will expect nothing less."

Congressmen, Senators, 29 Governors Also To Be Chosen In Tuesday Vote

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A new Congress which could have a more important role than the new President in shaping America's destiny in the critical years ahead will be elected Tuesday, along with 29 governors.

The 432 men and women who will be elected to the House of Representatives and the 34 men who will be elected to round out the Senate's membership of 96 largely will determine the success of the new administration. Maine elected a governor, a senator and three representatives on September 8.

Here is a quick summary of the side elections Tuesday:

House of Representatives—the entire membership of 435 must be elected every two years. For control of the House, a political party needs 218 seats. The present lineup is 232 Democrats, 202 Republicans and one Independent, including four vacancies. Seeking election are 811 candidates.

Senate—35 will be elected this year, including one already chosen in Maine. These include 33 seeking full six-year terms and two running for unexpired terms. For control, 19 are necessary. The present lineup is 49 Democrats, 46 Republicans and one Republican-Independent. Of the 34 seats at stake Tuesday, 20 are held by Republicans, 14 by Democrats. The 61 holdovers include 35 Democrats and 26 Republicans. The already elected senator from Maine will be elected this year. They are about equally divided now between Republicans and Democrats. Of the 18 governors not affected by Tuesday's voting, 10 are Republicans, eight are Democrats. Seeking the governorships to be filled are 70 candidates.

Historically, but not invariably, the political party that wins the presidency wins control of Congress.

The Democrats have a tactical edge in the Senate in that they hold 35 of the seats not at stake this year, and five of the 14 Democrats running this year are from Southern states and are almost certain to win. Four other Democrats are running in border states or states traditionally Democratic.

Counting their holdovers, Democrats figure they have a hard core of 44 seats to start with, and need only five victories in the remaining 26 contests to clinch control.

While Democrats privately admit they may lose several seats they now hold, they claim excellent chances to win seats now held by Republicans in Missouri, Washington, Montana, Indiana, Delaware, Utah and Massachusetts. They give themselves a fighting chance to take a GOP seat in Wisconsin. Republicans now holding these seats are:

Missouri—James P. Kem, opposed by Stuart Symington.

Washington—Harry P. Cain, opposed by Rep. Henry M. Jackson.

Montana—Zales N. Ecton, opposed by Rep. Mike Mansfield.

Indiana—William E. Jenner, opposed by Gov. Henry F. Schriker.

Delaware—John J. Williams, opposed by Lt. Gov. Alexis I. du Pont Bayard.

Utah—Arthur V. Watkins, opposed by Rep. Walter K. Granger.

Massachusetts—Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., opposed by Rep. John F. Kennedy.

Wisconsin—Joseph R. McCarthy, opposed by Thomas E. Fairchild.

Republicans are hopeful of picking up Democratic seats in Wyoming, New Mexico, Michigan, Connecticut, Maryland and Arizona.

Holding these seats now are these Democrats:

Wisconsin—Joseph C. Mahoney, opposed by Gov. Frank A. Barrett.

New Mexico—Dennis Chavez, opposed by former Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley.

Michigan—Blair Moody, opposed by Rep. Charles E. Potter.

Connecticut—William Benton, opposed by William A. Purtell.

In Maryland, the incumbent Democrat, Herbert O'Connor, is retiring. Democratic nominee George Mahoney is opposed by Rep. J. Glenn Beall.

Arizona—Majority Leader Ernest W. McFarland, opposed by Barry M. Goldwater.

Both Sides Claim Victory

In the House, Republicans are counting on an Eisenhower sweep to give them up to 246 seats, 28 more than a majority. Even with a Stevenson victory, GOP experts claim, Republicans expect at least 230 House seats, 12 more than a majority.

Democrats can't see it that way. They figure on retaining House control by a slim margin, even if Eisenhower wins. They are counting on up to 250 if Stevenson triumphs.

Two nationally prominent governors are among those seeking reelection.

They are Frank J. Lausche, Ohio Democrat, opposed by Charles P. Taft, brother of the senator; and Allan Shivers, Texas Democrat who has endorsed Eisenhower. Shivers has no opposition.

Gov. Paul A. Dever, who keynoteed the Democratic National convention, is seeking reelection in Massachusetts. His major opponent is Rep. Chris Hertz.

Other states electing governors are Arizona, Arkansas, Colorado, Delaware, Florida, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, New Hampshire, New Mexico, North Carolina, North Dakota, Rhode Island, South Dakota, Tennessee, Utah, Vermont, Washington, West Virginia and Wisconsin.

Lab Workers Hailed For Cancer Studies

ST. LOUIS—Nathan U. Wakefield, laboratory technician at Midland Memorial Hospital, and a graduate of Gradwohl School of Laboratory Technique here, recently heard the laboratory technician described as "the front line fighter in the war against cancer."

Dr. R. B. H. Gradwohl, pioneer developer of modern medical laboratory methods and founder of the school, told the first postwar reunion of the Gradwohl Alumni Association.

"The laboratory technician has a responsibility second only to that of the physician for early diagnosis of cancer. Today—thanks to recent discoveries—you have the tools to save lives of cancer victims through diagnosis before a malignant tumor is formed."

Mamie Joins Ike In Boston; Mrs. Ives 'Not Jittery Yet'

Mrs. Eisenhower Has Busy Schedule In Boston Program

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

ABOARD EISENHOWER TRAIN—(AP)—Mamie Eisenhower, refreshed and rested after a comparative vacation of four days, plunged back Monday in the rigors of campaigning for the windup Monday night in Boston.

After an overnight trip from New York on the 19-car campaign special, the general's lady faced almost as busy a day as her presidential candidate husband.

The morning will be filled, weather permitting, with an open-car tour of the Massachusetts capital and its suburbs.

Highlight of her day will be a reception sponsored by 74 number of Boston women's organizations. Then will follow the big rally at Boston Garden, where she'll be pushed to the crowd, and after that still another appearance on an eleven-hour network television and radio show which will formally bring the campaign to a close.

Since July, Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower literally has been the traveling woman in the public eye.

She's chalked up almost 60,000 miles across the country, ridden in endless motorcades, smiled from the rear platform of their train in countless towns.

Occasionally, particularly when her husband was on an air "whistle stop" swing, she's dropped out of the party for a few days. She was able to take a short breather the latter part of last week, when her husband was touring New York and environs and flying to and from Chicago.

Wycoff Rites Set Tuesday

Funeral services for Fred A. Wycoff, 64, manager of the Chicago Pneumatic Tool Company of Midland, will be held at 3:30 p.m. Tuesday in the First Methodist Church. The Rev. Vernon Yearby, pastor of the First Baptist Church, will officiate.

The body will be forwarded by Newlin W. Killa Chapel to Enid, Okla., for services and interment at 2:30 p.m. Thursday.

Wycoff was killed Saturday when his automobile collided head-on with a heavy transport truck near Artesta, N. M., while on a business trip.

A Midland resident the last 14 years, Wycoff came here from Tonkawa, Okla. He had been associated with Chicago Pneumatic Tool Company the last 19 years.

Survivors include the widow; two daughters, Frieda Wycoff of Midland and Mrs. Makine Smith of Enid; a brother, Roy P. Wycoff of Billings, Okla.; a sister, Mrs. Paul Booher of San Jose, Calif.; and a granddaughter, Patricia Smith of Enid.

Stevenson's Sister Awaits Vote Outcome In Bloomington Home

By BETTY PROSSER

BLOOMINGTON, ILL.—(AP)—A slim, aristocratic woman who may be the next first lady of the land coated her stockings feet before her hearth fire Monday and vowed she isn't nervous over the election.

She is Mrs. Elizabeth Stevenson Ives, known as "Buffy" to her brother, Adlai Stevenson, and to her family and friends.

Mrs. Ives has served as Stevenson's official hostess at the Governor's Mansion in Springfield since Ellen Borden Stevenson divorced him in Reno in 1949.

She would move with Stevenson to the White House to continue as his hostess should the Democratic nominee win.

"I'm not tense or excited," she said in an interview in the rambling, 55-year-old Stevenson family home in Bloomington. "I suppose we'll all get jittery when the returns start coming in election night. But right now I don't feel at all nervous."

What sort of first lady would Elizabeth Ives be?

She's tall—five feet, seven or eight, 55 years old, two and one-half years Gov. Stevenson's senior. She weighs 138 and wears a size 16 or 18 dress but gives the impression of slenderness and elegance. The wife of Ernest L. Ives, a retired foreign service officer, she's the mother of a 24-year old son now undergoing gunnery training as a jet pilot in the Air Force.

International Housewife

The job managing the White House wouldn't faze her because of her background. As Ives' wife she has traveled extensively, running households in such diverse places as Ireland and the Union of South Africa. In Ireland, she had a 36-room house to supervise with a staff of half a dozen servants. In Africa, her servants were native Zulus. In Bloomington, she keeps house in the three-story, 12-room stucco home inherited from her mother—with a cook, a chauffeur-butaner and a housekeeper to staff the place.

Mr. and Mrs. Ives spend their winters at their farm in Southern Pines, N. C., and it's there that Mrs. Ives is able to indulge one of her great enthusiasms—gardening and working out of doors. This she does in blue jeans, but she loves dressing up when the occasion demands it.

The ratio of male births does not increase during times of war.

KOREA, CORRUPTION, COMMUNISM, INFLATION—

Capsule Summary Reviews Remarks Of Both Candidates On Major Issues

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A capsule summary of views expressed by Dwight D. Eisenhower and Adlai E. Stevenson on major issues:

KOREA

EISENHOWER—Bumbling by Truman Administration led to Communist aggression; that made decision to intervene inescapable. South Koreans should be trained to man the front lines, reducing U. S. loss. The Democrats can't be counted on to find a solution. Eisenhower will go to Korea personally to see what should be done toward ending the war.

STEVENSON—The decisions to intervene may be a turning point in history, preventing a bigger war. Republicans have wavered between reckless calls to expand the Korean war and weak-kneed moves to quit. The U. S. for many months already has been doing all it can to train South Koreans and put them in battle lines. Stevenson will not make false promises of an easy way out even if it costs him the election.

CORRUPTION

STEVENSON—There has been corruption involving a minute fraction of federal employees, and many of the cases have been exposed by Democrats. Stevenson could do a better job fighting dishonesty because he has learned as governor of Illinois how to wield the axe on both parties.

EISENHOWER—Venality and outright theft of the people's money has been staggering. Much worse, the Administration consistently has condoned corruption. No man who owes his election in any degree to the Administration can clean up. He would rather be defeated than be elected by men who have lost their morals.

COMMUNISM

EISENHOWER—Communists have plundered the U. S. of highest diplomatic and military secrets. It is time to clean out a leadership that has failed to see Communists seeping into vital government offices, that has been complacent and has tolerated Russian spies.

STEVENSON—He would deal mercilessly with Communists. Eisenhower clamors loudly but what would he do? Would he fire FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover and other security officials, who have infiltrated the innermost ranks of the Communist Party and exposed one conspirator after another?

'SURRENDERS'

EISENHOWER—Stevenson has been taken over by body, boots and breeches by the Truman Administration and stands revealed today as a captive candidate. The Democrats offer not a change of heart but only a change of face.

STEVENSON—The biggest fact in the pre-election picture is that Eisenhower has surrendered to Senator Taft (R-Ohio) and the Republican Old Guard, a team of isolationists and reactionaries who have opposed progress at home and abroad for 20 years.

CIVIL RIGHTS

STEVENSON—He has been very much impressed by a bill in Congress to set up a federal commission to promote fair employment practices, to act only if states themselves do not take proper steps against discrimination. He would support a move to change congressional rules to stop ceaseless debate. Filibusters have been used to block civil rights bills in the past.

EISENHOWER—The gravest charge against the Truman Administration may be shoddy cheap politics in the field of human rights. Wrongs have been left uncorrected to win votes in election after election. He would end segregation in the District of Columbia, which the Truman Administration did not do. He would exert leadership to persuade the states to end job discrimination without federal compulsion, an impossible handicap.

ORGANIZED LABOR

EISENHOWER—He would not repeal but would favor amending the Taft-Hartley Act. The present law could be used to break unions, and that must be changed. Stevenson wants compulsory arbitration or seizure power. Eisenhower rejects compulsion on grounds the right of men to leave their jobs is a test of freedom.

STEVENSON—The Taft-Hartley Act has not improved labor relations and must be repealed. A substitute law should not attempt a precise formula for all national emergency strikes but should give the President a choice of mediation, continued private negotiation, arbitration or seizure. The right to bargain does not include the right to stop the national economy.

FARM POLICY

STEVENSON—Farmers have been helped to their present prosperity by Democratic programs such as price supports, soil conservation, flood control, rural electrification, research. Democrats will keep price supports at 90 per cent of parity. Although Eisenhower also endorses 90 per cent supports, Senator Taft opposes them and Republicans have again and again voted against farm programs in the past.

EISENHOWER—He and the Republican Party will continue 90 per cent supports. Accusations to the contrary are false. Republicans will halt the trend toward regimentation of farmers by Washington and seek farmer participation and cooperation. Democratic politicians have used farm programs to win votes.

INFLATION

EISENHOWER—Inflation is a policy of the present Administration, designed to fool the people by giving them more money that is worth less. Controls over prices are weak stop-gaps. The Administration has ignored really effective inflation controls over money and credit.

STEVENSON—The Republican Old Guard is the best friend inflation ever had. It voted against price controls. We have inflation today because the Kremlin started the Korean war. Stevenson favors control by direct ceilings, when needed, credit and monetary policies, and a pay-as-we-go budget if possible.

TAXES—SPENDING

STEVENSON—The U. S. must press forward with religious fervor to try to reduce spending and taxes. But the budget should be reduced only as national security permits. Cuts of tens of billions would be like disbanding the Army, renouncing friends abroad and crawling in a cave to await destruction.

EISENHOWER—The present expenditure program is reckless and extravagant to the point of sheer folly. Democrats are stale and self-satisfied and complacently say nothing much can be done. Republicans say big savings are possible without reducing defensive power.

74 White, Negro Celebrants Nabbed In Raid On Tavern

DALLAS—(AP)—About 74 white and negro patrons of a negro night spot just outside Dallas' northwest city limits were jailed Sunday after a raid by constable's deputies.

Deputy Constable H. R. Rhoden said about 150 persons, including some teenaged white girls and "white big shots in Cadillacs and swank cars" got away. All arrested were booked for disturbing the peace.

The negro proprietor and his wife were booked for violation of the liquor curfew law. Rhoden quoted the negro as saying he "just couldn't keep the white people out of his place."

Lubbock Hearing Set On Farm Aid

MEMPHIS, TENN.—(AP)—A hearing to attempt to determine why some Texas farmers have not joined the government's cotton marketing plan is set for Lubbock, Texas, next Friday.

A House Agriculture subcommittee, headed by Rep. Tom Abernethy of Mississippi, will hold the hearing and has invited Congressmen from Texas, Oklahoma, Arizona and New Mexico to attend. Abernethy said the market plan aims at bolstering cotton prices.

WHO ARE THE REAL DEMOCRATS?

Thomas Jefferson, the founder of the Democratic Party, said: "Timid men prefer the calm of despotism to the boisterous sea of liberty." "I would rather be exposed to the inconveniences attending too much liberty than those attending too small a degree of it. Then it is important to strengthen the state governments . . ."

TEXAS DEMOCRATS FOR EISENHOWER

Led by Governor Shivers, Senator-elect Price Daniel and other state Democratic leaders, Texas Democrats for Eisenhower have rejected the nominees of the National Democratic Party.

Ken Regan, Congressman from the 16th District, says he will not vote for the National Democratic Party nominees.

Texas National Democratic Committeeman Wright Morrow says he will vote for Eisenhower.

TEXAS INDEPENDENCE

Our Speaker of the House calls Truman's Tidelands steal (Rights of the U. S. Government transcending those of a "mere property owner") a fake issue.

Our retiring U. S. Senator says he is a Jeffersonian Democrat and that revolting Texas Democrats will "come whining back at the next election."

Texans have never whined. There was no whining at the Alamo.

If we're rebels, then we're proud of it. Most of our fore-fathers were rebels at some time in history.

TIDELANDS OR—

Patrick Henry had a word for it. Sam Houston, Stephen F. Austin, Crockett, Travis, Bowie and many other fearless Texans had more than words for a just cause. We are continuing their fight for Texas independence.

Truman twice vetoed bills passed by Congress restoring the Tidelands to Texas. Stevenson says he agreed with Truman.

CONFUSION

Never has our country been in such a state of confusion. We need leadership—a great man to unify this great nation in the fight in which we are now engaged against Russian Communism.

DEPRESSION

If Hoover was responsible for the last depression, then by the same reasoning, who is responsible for the undeclared and unending Korean war?

Why would Dwight D. Eisenhower want a depression?

CORRUPTION—WASTE—INFLATION—TAXATION

Memory is short. The record stands.

Remember? Alger Hiss and leakage of our atomic secrets to Russia?

RFC scandals? Grain storage thefts? The 5 per centers, mink coats, deep freezes? Internal Revenue scandals?

Highest prices and highest taxes in history.

A $260,000,000,000 National debt.

LOYALTY

We, the Texas Democrats for Eisenhower, admire loyalty as one of the greatest virtues—but not the Alger Hiss kind.

We can no longer be loyal to a name that has lost its meaning.

REBUILD

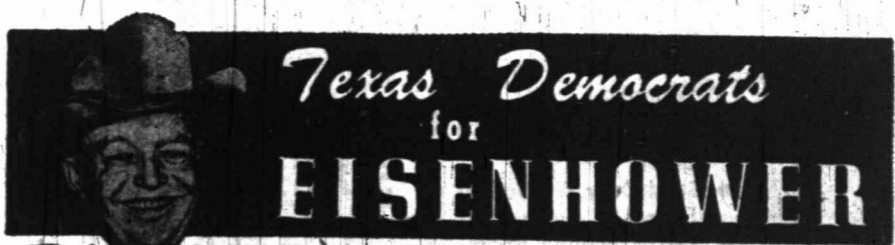

We believe the only way to rebuild the Democratic Party back into the party of the people and the party our fathers knew and loved is to kick out those groups whose aims and views are alien to ours in Texas and then to re-establish the Democratic Party on true Jeffersonian principles.

We can do that only by voting for and electing Dwight D. Eisenhower.

REMEMBER THE ALAMO

REMEMBER THE TIDELANDS

RE-WIN TEXAS' INDEPENDENCE

Bulldogs Take Rest; No Foe This Week

The twice-beaten Midland High School Bulldogs rested Monday after seven weeks of football warfare.

Coach Tubboat Jones found his charges bruised and battered from the great defensive stand made against the Abilene Eagles Friday night in Memorial Stadium. Twice the Midlanders held off the enemy in the shadow of their own goal line.

The Bulldogs have an open date this week before the improving Amarillo Sandies move into Midland the night of November 14. Midland will play Lubbock here the afternoon of November 22 and close out the season in Odessa November 27. All 1-AAAA teams are idle this week.

Schoolboy Champs May Be Repeaters

The Texas schoolboy football campaign could be a repeat in two classes but new faces are most likely in the finals of the other two.

Lubbock is projected as the northern finalist of the Class AAAA division, where it won the championship in 1931. The Westerners last week downed Pampa, 20-7, to become the only undefeated team in all the stretches of the state's top bracket.

Wichita Falls, Baytown and Ray of Corpus Christi are expected to furnish the other finalists, and it could be Baytown, which played Lubbock for the title last season. Baytown, loser only to mighty Temple of Class AAA, last week crushed Orange, 37-13, in its second straight district victory.

In Class AAA, the signs point to a return to the finals of Breckenridge and Temple. Breckenridge, which won the title last season, barked Grand Prairie, 34-6, last week and is one of two undefeated teams in the District 2 conference race. Brownwood is the other and is considered the only major threat to Breckenridge in its rush back to the finals.

Temple has breezed along undefeated except in its game with Baytown. Brownwood, Temple, Edison (San Antonio) and McAllen are undefeated and united in Class AAA.

Class AAA finalists last year were Arlington and LaVega. Arlington has been crushed by Terrell and beaten by Weatherford this season and while it probably will win its district title, isn't likely to go far in the state race. LaVega is in about the same boat as Arlington.

In Class A, the defending state champion is Oddings. But Oddings already has lost two district conference games and hardly will be back in the state race. The other finalist was Newcastle, which isn't expected to get outside its district this season.

Class AAAA Schedule
The week's schedule by districts in Class AAAA:

1-No games
2-Friday: Austin (El Paso) vs Bowie (El Paso) (c); El Paso at Lamesa
3-Thursday: Arlington Heights (Fort Worth) vs Amon Carter-Riverside (Fort Worth) (c); Friday: Paschal (Fort Worth) vs Poly (Fort Worth) (c)
4-Thursday: Crozier Tech (Dallas) vs Forest (Dallas) (c); Friday: Adams (Dallas) vs Sunset (Dallas) (c)
5-Friday: Woodrow Wilson (Dallas) at Waco; Gameville at Wichita Falls
6-Friday: San Antonio Tech at Laredo; Austin at Jefferson (San Antonio) (c); Breckenridge (San Antonio) at Miller (Corpus Christi) (c); Saturday: Sweetwater at Ray (Corpus Christi) (c)
7-Thursday: Austin (Houston) vs Lamar (Houston) (c); Friday: Reagan (Houston) vs San Jacinto (Houston) (c); Saturday: Davis (Houston) vs Milby (Houston) (c)
8-Friday: Port Arthur at Beaumont (c); Orange at Pasadena (c); Baytown at Galveston (c)

Bobcats, Lions Seen As Foes In Title Game

Southwest Texas State, in sole possession of first place in the Lone Star Conference, will try to set the stage for a championship match with the undefeated East Texas Lions when they invade Huntville Saturday afternoon to meet Sam Houston State in the Bearkat's homecoming game.

East Texas, meanwhile, will be seeking its 15th straight victory over two seasons in a feature contest with Stephen F. Austin at Nacogdoches.

Lamar Tech and Sul Ross meet non-conference foes, Tech entertaining McNeese of Louisiana and Sul Ross visiting Trinity at San Antonio.

Lamar Tech Beaten
Southwest Texas State won its third straight conference game last week by outscoring Lamar Tech, 22-26, and took over first place from the tide Lions. If the Bobcats can get by Sam Houston the stage probably will be set for a title game with East Texas next week in Commerce.

Stephen F. Austin won its first conference game last week by bouncing Sul Ross, 28-7, and should be in line for the Lions Saturday. Last year Austin narrowly missed upsetting East Texas with the Lions scoring in the final minutes to take a 31-19 win.

Mac Moore of Sam Houston padded his scoring lead with 12 points last week, pushing his season total to 92. He is 10 short of the conference record set last year by Marvin Brown of East Texas.

Lamar Tech's Sammy Carpenter scored twice while dashing off 197 yards in 20 carries to run his season total to 69 and a second place tie with East Texas' Lloyd Corder.

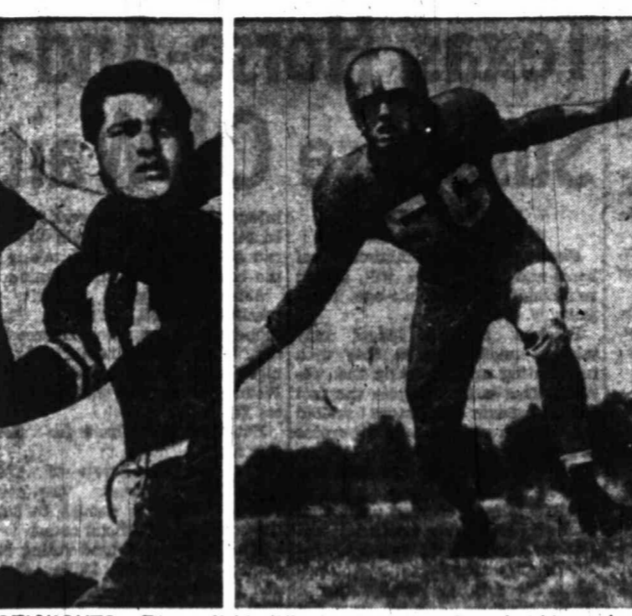

Dallas Bids For Coaching School

DALLAS—The Texas High School Coaches Association was to receive Dallas' bid for the 1933 Texas Coaching School.

L. W. McCormack, secretary of the association, came here to confer with Dallas Chamber of Commerce officials and hotel men regarding this city's bid for the clinic.

Dallas has been the leading city in the annual poll of the association membership the last three years but the school has gone to other cities because Dallas made only a token bid.

The 1933 poll will be conducted in December.

STICKOUTS—They call him Worth (A Million) Lutz, but his coaches say Duke's quarterback, left, is worth a billion. Ernie Stockert's stature is improving constantly and UCLA's pass-catching right end, center, stands six feet five and weighs 204 pounds. Rick Casares plays three different backfield positions and punts for Florida. (NEA)

Southwest Begins Cotton Bowl Quest

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF Associated Press Sports Editor

The Southwest Conference football race has progressed to that point where the Cotton Bowl can start looking for prospects.

The picture is clearer than usual for this time of the year. There is a definite championship favorite and only two other teams that have fair possibilities of winning the title.

Meanwhile, the Southwest Conference centers attention on Waco, 21-14, last week to become the undisputed leader with a 3-0 record. Texas Christian was tied by Baylor, 20-20, and dropped a full game back of Texas since it already had one tie on its record. Southern Methodist is the only other team with only one loss.

Fighting Chances
Texas A&M and Baylor have out-sided chances—each has won one, lost one and tied one. Arkansas, loser of three games, and Rice, loser of two, are considered out of the race.

This week the teams left with a chance at the title will submit preferential bids—the teams they would be willing to play in the Cotton Bowl. President Otto Eisenhour of the Cotton Bowl said each probably would list four teams.

Then the Cotton Bowl can start looking for the visiting school in the Dallas January 1 football classic. The Southwest Conference champion automatically becomes the host team.

Speculation Starts
Speculation lists Georgia Tech, Penn State, Villanova, Mississippi, Alabama and Tennessee as most likely Cotton Bowl prospects. Georgia Tech, however, appears pretty well committed to the Sugar Bowl. The Big Seven, Southern, Big Ten and Pacific Coast Conferences are not available to the Cotton Bowl. The Big Seven and Southern have bowl bans, ruling out Oklahoma, Maryland and Duke. The Big Ten and Pacific Coast Conference send their champions only to the Rose Bowl.

Southern Methodist plays Texas A&M at Dallas Saturday and the loser definitely will fall out of the conference race. Rice and Arkansas get together at Fayetteville in a battle for the bobby prize.

Five College Grid Powers Face Easy Going Saturday

Except for South Carolina's well-turned 21-14 victory over Virginia, most of Saturday's games followed the expected script. Michigan State nipped Purdue, 14-7; Maryland breezed past Boston University, 34-7; Oklahoma shut out Iowa State, 41-0; Georgia Tech defeated Duke 28-7; Kansas stopped Kansas State, 26-6; UCLA defeated California, 28-7; Tennessee swept past North Carolina, 41-14; Notre Dame halted Navy, 17-6; and Penn State nipped Penn, 14-7.

One thing is certain and that is barring the either UCLA's Red Sanders or Southern Cal's Jesse Hill is going to be disappointed before the season ends. Their teams meet head on two weeks from Saturday and on the result probably will go the Pacific Coast Conference title and a bid to the Rose Bowl.

Neither has a particularly tough task this week. UCLA meets Oregon State and Southern Cal goes against Stanford, the defending conference champion.

As for Biggie Munn and his Michigan State outfit, the No. 1 team in the weekly Associated Press poll, the Spartans' next three opponents—Indiana, Notre Dame and Marquette—are thinking up ways and means of keeping the score down. Of them all the Irish stand the best chance of getting through unscathed.

Jim Tatum's Maryland forces face the two toughest foes on their schedule when they get back into action two weeks hence—Mississippi and Alabama.

If Bobby Dodd and his Georgia Tech operatives can get by Alabama on November 15, they should be able to close the season's business with a perfect slate.

Graves Sets Pace In Total Offense

DALLAS—Ray Graves, the Texas Aggie quarterback who's always as busy as a bee, is the offensive leader in Southwest Conference football. Graves passed for 231 yards and ran for 19 against Arkansas last week to take over, first place in total offense.

Ray McKown of Texas Christian, who had held first place all season, gained only 25 yards against Baylor and fell down to third.

Graves has rolled up 1,046 yards in 203 plays, 803 of it in the air. T. Jones, Texas quarterback, is second with 940 yards on 153 plays and McKown has 859 yards on 200.

There were no changes in the ball-carrying and passing leadership. Dick Ochoa of Texas is first in rushing with 509 yards on 130 carries while Teammate Gib Dawson is second with 388 on 73.

Jones tops the passers with 51 completions in 99 attempts for 843 yards and six touchdowns. Graves is second with 78 of 134 for 803 yards and four touchdowns.

Bob St. Pierre of Arkansas leads the punters with an average of 39.4 yards on 18 kicks. Roy Dollar of Texas A&M is second with 38.9 on 32.

Joe Boring of Texas A&M has the distinction of leading the conference both in punt returns and in interception of passes—and his record in the latter department is phenomenal. He caught four against Arkansas last week to bring his total for the season to eight in seven games. No other player has intercepted more than three.

Boring has averaged 13.2 yards of nine punt returns. Jerry Coody of Baylor is second with 12.6 on 10. But the player who has rained the most yards with kick run-backs is Horton Newstra of Rice, who has carried 28 for 251 yards.

Tom Stohlmske of Texas is in a class by himself in pass-receiving. He has snared 24 for 438 yards and four touchdowns. Lewis Carpenter, Arkansas fullback, is second with 19 for 335 yards.

Texas leads in team offense with 353.9 yards a game with Baylor second with 335.3. Texas also is the defensive leader, giving up 217.7 yards a contest. Texas Christian is next with 223.3.

Joe Boring of Texas A&M has the distinction of leading the conference both in punt returns and in interception of passes—and his record in the latter department is phenomenal. He caught four against Arkansas last week to bring his total for the season to eight in seven games. No other player has intercepted more than three.

Grid Training Limit Studied

AUSTIN—The advisory council of the Texas Intercollegiate League was to act on a number of recommendations among them the request of the Texas High School Coaches Association for a limit to Spring football training to 18 days or total elimination with the regular season to start a week earlier.

The coaches want Spring training 18 days all told, not 18 calendar days, which would probably make it longer than now held since under the present rule any days in the 30 calendar days eliminated by bad weather are not made up.

The council also was considering elimination of the present 10-semester, 19-year age rule and substitution of an 18-year age limit and a limit of the basketball season, among other things, not however, originated by the coaches' association.

Entries by Walter H. Gant of Ardmore, Okla., won the weanling filly, weanling stud, weanling stake and three-year-old fine harness classes.

MENGERT WINS MEXICO TITLE

MEXICO CITY—Young Al Mengert, Spokane Wash., won the Twenty-Seventh Mexican National Amateur golf title Sunday, defeating Count Henry LaHaze, France, 1-up in the full 36-hole final.

Midlanders Plan Angelo Golf Trip

Five Midland women golfers may participate in informal matches at the San Angelo Country Club this week.

Included in the group, all from the Ranchland Hill Country Club here, are Mrs. Marie Rinker, Mrs. Lanty Fay Garrett, Mrs. Inez Cheatham, Mrs. Louise Glahn and Mrs. Lanna Cox.

The record for field-goal kicking at West Virginia U. is held by Ed Kenna who in a 1901 booted three for distances of 42, 45 and 50 yards in a single game.

Longhorns Seek To Regain Winning Ways Over Bears

AUSTIN—Losers to Baylor last Fall for the first time in 12 years, Texas seeks to regain its winning ways against the Bears in Waco Saturday.

The home den of the Bears has held both happiness and disappointment for the Longhorns in other years. In 1937, Texas brightened an otherwise dismal season record by upsetting unbeaten Baylor in Waco. But the situation was reversed in 1941, when the Steers, unbeaten and ranked among the nation's best, invaded the Baptist stronghold and were tied, 7-7. Still stunned by that deadlock, Texas was beaten by TCU, 14-7, the following week and knocked out of a shot at the Southwest Conference crown and a bowl bid.

Baylor last whipped Texas in Waco in 1939, which also was the last time the Bears had conquered the Longhorns until last Fall, when Larry Ibell and Company turned the trick in Memorial Stadium, 18-6.

Such 31 standouts as Ibell, Ends Stan Williams and Harold Riley and Center Gage Gallaway have departed from the Baptist campus but Coach

George Sauer has developed some toponotch sophomores and squadmen who have done much to pace the Bears to a better-than-expected showing this Fall.

There still are several veteran backs—such as Fullback Richard Parma and Halfbacks Don Carpenter and Jerry Coody—remaining from Baylor's classy '31 crew and, of course, there's Guard Bill Athey, the Bears' No. 1 lineman whose clash with Texas' Harley Sewell will add extra luster to the game.

Kelly And Cheatham First In Ranchland Mixed Foursome Play

Dean Kelly and Bill Cheatham finished first in Scotch foursome at the Ranchland Hill Country Club Sunday with a net score of 30.

Second came a husband-wife combination, Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Hall, with a net 31.

Hazel Trost and Roy Minner captured third place with a 34.

Others competing included Jo Myers and Arnold Brown, Elzie Seidoff and M. R. Proctor, Inez Cheatham and John Sherrod, Louise Glahn and Bob Doyle, Mary Doyle and Johnny Glahn, Lanty Fay Garrett and Bob Cox, and Lenna Cox and H. L. Garrett.

About 150 horses from Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana entered the show. The American Saddle Horse Breeders Futurity of Texas Associations sponsored the event.

Entries by Walter H. Gant of Ardmore, Okla., won the weanling filly, weanling stud, weanling stake and three-year-old fine harness classes.

Midlanders To View UT-Rice Grid Film

Motion pictures of the University of Texas-Rice football game will be shown the Longhorn Club in its weekly meeting Monday night. Rice exits are invited.

Fires Keep Alarms Ringing As Damages Hit High Figure

By The Associated Press
Alarms kept firemen on the run in Texas Sunday, destroyed three stores in Wichita Falls, a store in Hillsboro and damaged a ship in Galveston harbor.
In Dallas, where firemen had a busy day with minor blazes, police arrested three small boys before their fire-setting spree resulted in possible major damage.
The Wichita Falls blaze which started in a shoe store shortly after 8 a.m. spread to a dress shop and a furniture store. All three establishments were destroyed with the loss estimated by owner at around $540,000. Earlier, the fire chief had thought the loss would be close to a million dollars.
Fire Marshall George O'Steen collapsed during the Wichita Falls blaze and four other persons—including two firemen—were injured, some critically. It took Wichita Falls fire fighters and companies from neighboring communities about four hours to control the blaze.
At Hillsboro, an early-morning fire Sunday seriously damaged a grocery store and cleaning shop in the downtown business section.
Fire Marshall Edwin Fawcett, who estimated damages at about $20,000, said the Hillsboro fire started in the attic of the grocery store.
A fire broke out about 2 p.m. Sunday aboard the S. S. Tampa, a Norwegian freighter approaching the Port of Galveston. Radio reports said the fire was in the ship's forward hold where a cargo of peat was being carried. Five hours later the Coast Guard said the Tampa crew had put out the fire and that the damage was not large.
In Dallas, two 11-year-old boys and the seven-year-old brother of one, set five fires Sunday with one box of penny matches. Most of the fires were rubbish back of buildings in the Oak Cliff business district but the largest damaged a pile of roofing material at a theater.
Police caught the young trio red-handed, they admitted their deeds at the Crime Prevention Bureau, and were turned over to their parents along with a recommendation for trips to the woodshed... where police said their pants should be burned.

Tito Pledges Cooperation With West To Keep Peace

ZAGREB, YUGOSLAVIA—In fiery denials of Russian threats of domination, Premier Marshall Tito accused the Soviet Union Monday of promoting a third world war and pledged Yugoslav cooperation with the West in preserving peace.

He laid before the sixth Congress of the Yugoslav Communist 40,000-word review of his struggle to maintain his country's freedom against heavy military and economic odds since he broke with the Kremlin-led Cominform in 1948.
Tito addressed the 2,300 delegates as boss and secretary-general of this country's Red Party.
His speech Monday was one of cautious optimism, but he warned his party that "there is less and less prospect of finding a reasonable solution for burning international questions."
Tito cautioned that Russia "is arming itself and its satellites in order to achieve its aims by force; to hold enslaved countries in subjugation, to seize new territories enslaved other peoples."
Turning toward Yugoslavia's relations with the West, Tito said co-existence is not only possible between communistic and capitalistic countries but that experience has shown in concrete ways that such cooperation may prove mutually useful.

'Top Secret' Memo Ignites New Fire In Political Stove

INDEPENDENCE, MO.—President Truman's declassification of a "top secret" document added new emphasis to the Korean issue Monday while he waited for Tuesday's voting.
He said the release of a memorandum to show the Joint Chiefs of Staff, with Dwight D. Eisenhower as a member, recommended the withdrawal of U. S. troops in 1947 was made to "set this controversy at rest."

It was a reply to what he said were attempts by the GOP presidential nominee to "create a false impression" that civilian officials were "guilty of blundering, if not of something worse."
Republican Senator William F. Knowland of California took a different slant. He pointed out that Senator Wayne Morse of Oregon, who quit the Republican party to campaign for Democratic nominee Adlai Stevenson, first read the document at Minneapolis last Monday.
He said he had been informed earlier the document was classified and that he followed up this information with a telegram of Attorney General McGranery citing the law against disclosure of such documents and asking what McGranery and the FBI intended to do about it.

Knowland said the State and Defense Departments were not notified (at the time he inquired) of the declassification of the document and asked whether Truman acted in the light of his subsequent wire "to protect Senator Morse from a violation of the law."
Knowland challenged the President to permit a bipartisan group of senators to examine all such documents to determine which should be made public.
The general has said the political decision to withdraw troops from Korea came two years after the military estimate and that if the opposition was claiming the military estimate was responsible for the decision, then "they are saying, 'We abdicated our civilian responsibility.'"

Last Of British Missionaries Now Out Of Red China

HONG KONG—The last foreign member of the 144-year-old London Mission Society to leave Red China arrived Sunday night from Shanghai.
The missionary, Dr. John S. Barr, of Great Britain, had with him his Texas-born wife.
The predominantly congregational society was founded in 1807 by Robert Morrison, believed to be the first Protestant missionary to enter China. It suspended operation of its schools and hospitals in 1950 when a clash with the Communists appeared inevitable.

Uneasy Precinct Workers Turn On Heat In Final Frenzy To Corral More Votes

BY DAVE CHLAVES
Associated Press Staff
Jittery political managers sent out word Monday to their district units and precinct workers to stay on the job and not let up for a minute on election eve.
Frantic final efforts to add a vote here and there but go after them everywhere reflected the private uncertainty of the professionals despite their public claims of certain victory.
It was the same story in both the Republican and Democratic camps. Unvarnished doubt about the outcome was obvious everywhere.
Last-minute instructions were relayed to keep those doorbells and phones ringing: "Vote for Ike, Vote for Adlai."
Big Vote Seen
Partisan and non-partisan plans to encourage a big turnout by offers of free rides to the polls and bonus baby sitters were ready to help Texas register its biggest general election vote in history.
Headquarters for Gov. Adlai Stevenson at Dallas was a busy spot Sunday with workers contacting their key people in all parts of the state. The Stevenson speaking campaign came to a standstill but the person-to-person drive was scheduled to hit a new peak.
The Democrats-for-Eisenhower organization still had some oratory in its system. Its instructions to campaign workers to stay on the ball Monday and Monday night were as emphatic as those from Stevenson headquarters, but the Ike people also were going on the air.
Radio Blanket
They planned to blanket the state at 7:30 p.m. Monday with short speeches on a program presided over by Lloyd Gregory of Houston. It will feature Claud Gilmer, chairman of the Democrats-for-Eisenhower; former State Senator Margie Neal of Carthage; rancher George T. Walker of Center Point, and others.
Gov. Allan Shivers will speak at a regional rally in Beaumont on election eve.
The Stevenson stump effort came to a climax Saturday with a series of appeals to folk in the small cities and country towns. They want to make sure these traditionally Dem-

MIDLAND, TEXAS, MONDAY, NOVEMBER 3, 1952

SECTION TWO

IT TAKES MORE THAN A SHOVEL AND LUCK— Recipe For Digging Wells Includes Many Ingredients

HOUSTON—(AP)—Remember when you were a kid you used to "dig a hole to get to China?" Or maybe you've sometimes wished you had a piece of ground and shovel and you'd "dig me an oil well."

Drilling an oil well isn't that simple.

To begin with, you've got to have some money. Lots of money. A well 5,840 feet will cost around $80,000 to drill. Deeper wells cost more.

How come it costs so much? Well, you need 76 persons to do the job. That's what Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association figures it takes. This includes petroleum engineer, geologist, four surveyors, an electric logging crew, a mud logging crew, a cementing crew, 18 workmen, 10 truck drivers and helpers, four drillers, 17 drilling helpers, a tool pusher, five rig builders, a sidewall crew, a casing perforation crew, a caliper logging crew and a gamma ray logging crew.

Fancy jobs for just drilling a hole? They're all necessary.

Then you'll need equipment. A dragline, bulldozer, 23 trucks, six cars, 6,500 feet of drill pipe, 200 feet of conductor casing, 1,500 feet of string casing, a power drilling rig, four to 50 drilling bits, 19,900 barrels of water, 23,880 gallons of butane, 35 tons of cement, 3.5 tons of chemicals for mud, 15 tons of drilling clay, 45 tons of weighing material.

You'll probably drill the rotary method. That's the most popular type today. It consists of a bit, something like an augur used for drilling wood, rotated at the end of a string of pipe. Down through the pipe is pumped a stream of mud—a special kind of chemical compound—which picks up cuttings and washes them to the surface. The mud holds back any water encountered. It also tends to support the walls of the hole.

Cable tool drilling uses a string of tools weighing more than a ton suspended from a cable. The string is lifted and dropped in much the same manner as a pile driver punching through layers of earth, rock and sand. Lengths of steel casing are lowered into the hole as drilling progresses so that water, sand and drill cuttings may be removed. The casing also helps prevent cave-ins.

Techniques have been perfected so that wells can now be drilled directionally. Many of the oil wells in California's Tidelands—offshore—have been drilled directionally from the shore.

Offshore drilling is probably the most expensive. It takes a platform to contain all drilling and production equipment and materials as well as housing for personnel. The biggest such platform cost more than a million dollars. But from it as many as seven wells can be drilled.

Odds Against You

Despite all of this, you may not get a well. Of the 1,298,965 wells drilled in the U. S. through 1949, the American Petroleum Institute reported 822,970 were oil wells, 90,831 gas wells, 360,281 dry holes and 24,883 service wells—these to inject

Freight Car Goes On Exhibition Tour

NEW YORK—(AP)—The 100,000th freight car built for Eastern railroads since the end of World War II will go on exhibition at terminals in 19 of the major cities served by the East's 37 railroads.

The 19,000-pound freight car has been built in sections so that it can be moved through normal-sized doors. A crew of six men who had a part in its construction will spend an average of four days putting the car together at each of the exhibiting terminals.

FURIOUS KINGBIRD

The kingbird owes its name to the fury with which the cock will attack any bird that approaches his nest, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

water or gas to increase the underground pressure which forces oil toward the producing wells. Just about one out of every five exploratory wells produce oil. And only three out of every four wells in a proven field hit oil.

But once you get an oil well, it probably will last you a long, long time. More than half the oil wells drilled in the U. S. still are producing although some of them are more than 50 years old.

Independent operators still drill the majority of the oil wells. About 60 per cent is one estimate.

OUT OF DOORS with Field & Stream

By WARREN PAGE
Shooting Editor

One of my best friends is keeping the local out-of-doors out of the poor-house because he got too ambitious a few years ago. He'd knocked down a fat white-tail a mile or so in from the tote road, smack in the middle of a hurricane blow-down, and tried to get it out himself.

Result, one skewered sacroiliac that ever since perpetually is popping out of place. This is plumb foolishness, because there were two other members of his party within either hailing or signalling distance, and the three of 'em would have made of the buck an easy haul. "Why be a back-sprung hero?"

The primary rule in getting your deer out of the woods is to get somebody else to help you whenever possible. A two-man haul isn't so tough; with three or four it's comparatively a cinch. That means you've got to stay in some kind of contact with the other members of your crowd.

Most smart whitetail operators travel in pairs or threes anyway, so that they can work out the swamps and ridges in a planned fashion, each bird-dogging for the other, and that usually means staying within reach of a good lusty bellow. The chaps I hunt with also set up some sort of "kill" signal, perhaps two very fast shots at least a minute after the single or the cannonade that brought down the buck.

It's a toss-up as far as dragging case is concerned, how you should attach your drag line. A length of that nylon cord they use in making parachutes is ideal; just wrap it around your waist before starting out. Some bind it to the base of the buck's antlers, and let the forelegs hang free; some lash the front feet up over the antlers.

For a one- or two-man haul of a freshly killed deer that's still limber, I just let the forelegs dangle. If you have to leave the buck so long he has stiffened or frozen, then by all means take your belt or some heavy twine and lash the forefeet up over the main beam of each antler, straightening out of the hind legs so he'll "set" that way.

The feet-up rig is also the best for a multiple man pull. Then you should use two drag lines, one rigged long for a pair of pullers up front, one very short, of course with a stout piece of green sapling for a crosspiece, so that the rear haulers lift the head and shoulders off the ground.

On snow, the drag is almost always the easiest scheme for getting in your meat. On dry ground and in country that is all uphill you may have to carry the buck. This is a spectacularly unwise stunt in the hard-hunted sections, where there may be some trigger-happy character behind any tree. You may end up with a slug in your own anatomy. And unless you're in really good shape, don't try to carry a buck dressing out over 125 very far—take him apart and make two trips. That saves a lot of doctor's bills.

Bed Rest Is Only Cold 'Cure' To Stand The Test Of Time

By EDWIN F. JORDAN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

Nothing would make this column more popular than to announce that the writer had the answer to the common cold, and that by following some simple directions, or taking some easy remedy, readers could count on avoiding this annoying affliction in the future.

Perhaps the time to make such a happy statement will come, but at present I shall have to remain in the doghouse.

Scarcely a year goes by without the announcement of at least one new "wonder" cure for colds. Naturally, we are all so eager to find some way of getting rid of this miserable disorder that we are eager to believe the claims made for practically anything.

In spite of the enormous number of "cold cures" on the market, the statement that "no substance or combination of substances available at the present can be relied on to prevent or cure the common cold" still holds true.

In the face of this "scientific" view, nose drops, inhalants, liquid and solid medicines, gargles, special diets, lemon cures, and a thousand and one other treatments will be used all winter.

Perhaps something really good will be found at any time. Anyone, however, who has lived through the last few years will be somewhat skeptical about any new "discovery" until it has been tried and tried again.

The supply of moisture to the nose and throat by means of steam inhalations probably is of some help during the early—and I mean early—stage of a cold.

Alcohol (taken internally) remains a favorite with some, but there is considerable doubt as to whether it really helps the cold or merely makes it easier to forget. Cathartics or laxatives are hardly desirable unless needed for other reasons, and if used to extremes these may cause too much loss of fluids from the body.

Vaccines Come Up Again

In the last year or so vaccines for colds—given either by injection or by mouth—have been suggested again. But the fact remains that careful studies of such methods of cold prevention have been far from convincing.

The only thing which really has stood the test of time so far is rest in bed. In all probability if everyone went to bed at the first sign of a cold and used steam inhalations, their colds would not last so long. Such action also would cease to expose others to their colds and therefore cut down on the numbers of them going around.

This is easy to say, but few people try it.

He Even Hates to Stop for Lunch!

Put a man behind the wheel of a Golden Anniversary Cadillac—point it to a destination some hundreds of miles away—and try to stop him!

And small wonder!

In all the world, there is no finer relaxation for a work-weary man than a day's drive at the wheel of a Cadillac.

Try it sometime, and see for yourself.

The moment you slip into the driver's seat, you'll sense that something extraordinary is about to happen to you.

The car has a "feel" to it—even when it isn't in motion. You sit right. The wheel falls naturally into your hands. You look out through the big curved windshield—over the beautiful hood and into the distance—and you know that "this is it!"

And then you turn the key and the great engine whispers into action—and the day's fun begins.

First, there's the silence—only the soft sound of the wind slipping by—and the occasional tick-tick of the electric clock.

And then there's the comfort—the easy, soft, steady ride over almost any type of road.

And next, the handling ease! The steering wheel moves with the weight of the hand. There is remarkable steadiness on both straightaway and curves. And the big, easy-acting brakes give you added confidence every time you touch the pedal.

The great engine is a constant delight. You only know it's there when you nudge the throttle.

So the miles go by and the miles go by. Towns and villages appear and disappear.

"What's that? It's time for lunch?"

"Okay—but let's make it something quick and easy. We'll have a big dinner tonight."

Don't you think you'd like to own the car that can make a journey such a great delight?

If so—come in and see us. We'd be happy to see you any time.

Like Socialism?

Remember, you ain't seen nothing yet! Just a little more New Deal and Fair Deal and just a little more legislation against working long hours or making a million bucks and we'll show the world socialism with a capital S.

The good old U.S.A. that became the greatest nation in the world riding on a program of free enterprise and capitalism is strictly for the birds. Get up-to-date with a sharp ration program like England's, or a sweet Siberia program like the good old U.S.S.R.

These fat Democratic pay checks go better all the time. Why, at the rate we're going, we will soon be able to carry our pay home in bomb baskets.

Notice how our Harry figured out how to raise wages with rationing? Some hard-headed named Wilson didn't like it, but what does a dirty capitalist know about money anyway?

And look at this bun Eisenhower. Flights in a lousy little school, is president of some lousy little school, and has the guts to run for president of the United States of America? Everybody knows a military man makes a lousy politician. Look at that bun who started this Free Enterprise business, that croony capitalist George Washington.

Policy Of Presence

Careful students of Communist doings believe Moscow now intends to focus most attention on Asia and cut down efforts in Europe...

Maybe the stepped-up fighting in Korea and Indochina reflects such a choice. In any event, the Western powers have to be ready for challenges the Reds may pose in Asia.

But there is another side to this matter, suggested recently by George W. Herald, roving European editor of the magazine, United Nations World...

The fact is, Allied defense officials and other trained observers already are thinking of ways to exploit what really is a tremendous Western victory in the Cold War.

Herald expresses this new thinking by the phrase "rollback without war." The words "without war" are particularly important, since Europeans looked coldly on General Eisenhower's proposal last August for liberation of Iron Curtain peoples...

The West's experts believe they must find some way to exploit the national feelings of Iron Curtain people which are left unsatisfied by the Russian Reds.

By this fancy language they mean limited but realistic dealings with satellite nations on the trade and diplomatic level, to make those countries continually conscious—in friendly ways—of Western people and ideas and goods.

They cite as an example the ties France developed with Yugoslavia, Rumania and Czechoslovakia between the two world wars. Despite the Iron Curtain, those links still persist effectively today.

It wouldn't be so easy for America to practice this policy, since the Russians have made the U. S. the symbol and target of all that the Reds hate.

Yet the idea has been proved in practice, and even this country might well give it a try. The alternatives— heavier propaganda, outright invasion of Iron Curtain territory, or support for internal uprisings—appear either of doubtful value or impossible to attempt because of the risk of setting off World War III.

This much can be said: The Russian let-up in Europe should be exploited, and all the West should welcome the fresh, original thinking now being done toward that end.

How well we know that war is a gamble—and gambling debts are hard to collect.

The chances are you would be popular with more people if they were more popular with you.

There's A Certain Difference, What?

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1952, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)
Drew Pearson says: Palace guard already forming around Adlai; MacArthur didn't think much of Ike's "go to Korea" promise; Nixon's Swedish maid has her diplomatic passport lifted.

WASHINGTON—The Democrats have tried to keep it inside the family, but hickering and backbiting have broken out among Stevenson's top lieutenants.

Chief source of trouble has been the governor's administrative assistant, ex-professor Carl McGowan, who has planted himself as a road-block in the way of anyone wanting to see Stevenson.

Even Democratic National Chairman Steve Mitchell discovered that, in at least three cases, important messages to the governor never got past McGowan's desk.

The two White House assistants attached to Stevenson's headquarters, Dave Bell and Clayton Fritchey, also have had trouble getting past McGowan. In fact, the situation has become so heated that Wyatt fumes at the mention of McGowan's name.

Among other things, McGowan kept the details of Stevenson's whistle-stop tour from the governor, because McGowan was opposed to Stevenson's taking that kind of trip. Even though already overruled, and although Stevenson had agreed to make a whistle-stop swing through the East, McGowan stubbornly sat on the train schedules which Mitchell sent for Stevenson's OK.

In case Stevenson is elected, it looks as if McGowan is trying to set himself up as another Matt Connelly, self-appointed head of a palace guard to protect the President from any ideas except his own.

General Eisenhower's "I will go to Korea" statement unquestionably won votes for the GOP, although it did just the opposite with a certain top-ranking general who has spent some time in Korea himself—namely General MacArthur.

When MacArthur heard the Eisenhower promise, he grumbled: "Why doesn't he come see me? I can tell him all about Korea without taking a trip over there."

MacArthur's reaction didn't help the efforts made by Herbert Hoover and other mutual friends of the two generals to bring them together.

American newspapers haven't said anything about it, but Swedish papers have been playing up the story of Senator Nixon's Swedish maid who entered the United States on a diplomatic passport and now is working in his Washington home.

She is Ruth Anna Elisabeth Johnson, who came to this country to work for the assistant military attache of the Swedish Embassy, on a stipulation that she not work for

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written For NEA Service

For the next few weeks Monday will be bridge lesson day, and I'll discuss bidding according to the point-count method so that beginners and average players can learn how the experts bid. On the other days of the week I'll follow my usual practice of trying to mix entertainment with instruction.

Just in case you're not familiar with the point-count, here is a count: 4 points for each ace in your hand; 3 for each king; 2 for each queen; 1 for each jack.

There are 10 points in each suit, and 40 points in the entire deck. You and your partner usually need 26 points to make a game; 33 points for a small slam; 37 for a grand slam.

In today's hand South opens the bidding properly enough with a bid of one heart. He counts 13 points in high cards and 1 point for distribution. It doesn't matter too much whether this 1 point for distribution is added because South has a long heart suit or because he has a doubleton. Either way, the value of his hand remains 14 points.

Bridge hand diagram showing North, West, East, and South cards and their point counts.

North raises to three hearts, showing 13 to 16 points. North has 12 points in high cards and counts 1 point for the doubleton.

South naturally goes on to game, but he does not even consider a slam. After North's raise, South is entitled to add 1 point to the value of his hand for his fifth heart. His count is now 15 points, and he knows that North has a maximum of 16 points for the double raise to three hearts. The partnership total cannot be more than 31 points, which is not enough for a slam.

South makes his contract by careful play. West opens the queen of spades and continues the suit until South ruffs the third round. Declarer draws the top three rounds of trumps, cashes the top diamonds and ruffs a diamond in dummy. He then returns to his hand by ruffing a spade, thus leaving East with only three clubs.

South now leads a low club from his own hand and fineses dummy's nine. East is able to win the trick with the ten of clubs but must then return a club up to dummy's ace-queen.

Note that South would lose his game if he finessed the queen of clubs instead of the nine. East would win with the king of clubs and return the suit, whereupon the defenders would get a second club trick.

CARD Sense

Q—The bidding has been: North East South West 1 N T. Pass ? You, South, hold: Spades A-Q-J-7-5, Hearts 5-4-3, Diamonds Q-J-8, Clubs, 8-2. What do you do?

Teenage Boys Hold Expensive Contest

CLEVELAND—Two 14-year-old boys had an afternoon of expensive amusement playing polo with coal trucks inside the yard of the Fairland Fuel Company in Brookside Park.

Police were called by a witness who saw the boys colliding with each other in separate trucks. Authorities said a total of seven trucks had been damaged. Most of the vehicles' fronts had been bashed in. One truck was saved by two oak trees from going into a creek. Another was driven halfway up a huge pile of coal. Damage was estimated at more than $500.

Largest recorded hailstone was one that fell at Potter, Neb., July 6, 1923, and weighed one and one-half pounds.

WASHINGTON COLUMN

Political Slogans Are Used To Spout Fury Signifying Nothing

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Evidence piles up that a bumper crop of political catchwords, trick phrases, tag lines, abbreviations, slogans and other over-simplifications of complex issues had influence in the election campaign.

Among the idea labels you were bound to hear bandied about in almost any street-corner or cocktail-parlor political argument, were such names as Taft-Hartley, Brannan plan, socialized medicine, Tidelands, PAC, GOP, Old Guard, New Deal, free enterprise, socialism, tax burden, social security, Communist, liberal, reactionary, Nixon fund, Alger Hiss, McCarthyism, Yalta, Acheson foreign policy, civil rights, states rights, mink coats, Solid South, Dixiecrat, Commiecrat, Dixie-gop, isolationist, internationalist, super government, general in the White House, captive candidate, farm vote, labor vote, independent vote, time for a change, Hoover depression, Truman gang, phony prosperity, controlled economy, cost of living, me too, bureaucrat, inflation, crushing debt, never had it so good, world leadership and let's get out of Korea.

Many of these catch phrases got kicked around without any real meaning or understanding of what they stood for. To go into any detailed analysis takes too much time. Nobody ever convinced anybody else in a political argument. Prejudice is stronger than reasoning, so why bother.

Mud-Slinging Level
When a political campaign gets down to this level it is much easier to throw mud at one's opponents than to try to debate an issue intelligently. That was the status of the last days of the presidential campaign.

Being able to personify an issue seems to make it easier to get mad at. Take the Taft-Hartley Law and the Brannan plan as examples. The names have become the equivalent of fighting words in political arguments.

Nobody can talk about these matters intelligently, although there is obviously a need for some kind of regulation and restraint on labor-management negotiations just as there is a need for something to be done about stabilizing the market for perishable commodities.

The Taft-Hartley Law and the Brannan plan may provide the starting points for any solution of the problems they present. But there isn't any use trying to talk sense about them now.

This is what the political slogan was invented for. It is the empty symbol of an idea, the name of an idea, rather than the idea itself. Yet if enough of these names can be learned to spout about in political conversations, the user of the words is regarded as an expert stating his principles. As an example, one of the latest slogans to be heard in the campaign was "Repudiate the Yalta agreement." This cry went up without the sayer saying—perhaps without knowing—just what is in the Yalta agreement.

Yalta Provisions
It probably would come as a shock to some of these advocates to know that the Yalta agreement called for the San Francisco conference at which the United Nations charter was drafted. It outlined the trusteeship system by which the U. S. now holds control over former Japanese mandated islands in the Pacific.

The Yalta agreement paved the way for the restoration of France as a major power. It pledged all these major powers to build "World order under law, dedicated to peace, security, freedom and general well-being of all mankind."

It called for reorganization of the Polish government on broader democratic lines. It set up Marshal Tito's government in Yugoslavia.

In the light of history and hindsight, not everything in the Yalta agreement was good. The dismantlement of Germany was a mistake. The provisions on German reparations were bad. But the main faults of the Yalta agreement were that its principal provisions were not kept by the Russians.

These are the points that don't get explained in the hurry and hubbub of hit-and-run campaigns. When there is no time to do an argument on logic, the easy thing to do is to call your opponent a name. Yalta, McCarthyism, Acheson, Hoover, Truman and all the others have become the new swear-words in the political vocabulary.

A MESSAGE for AMERICANS

from General Eisenhower

ONCE before I had the honor and duty of leading a crusade for human freedom and dignity—in Europe during World War II.

That crusade was won not by Generals and Admirals but by the blood and effort of American G.I.'s and all the other forces fighting for freedom. Now in 1952 a different call to duty has honored me—as Republican nominee for President of the United States.

This time the effort is civilian—not military. But again, the crusade will not be won by me nor by the political leaders, but by everyday Americans who value their National heritage and are willing to go to the polls and vote to protect it.

THIS IS A CRUSADE TO:

- ★ Sweep Out of Government the corruption and the scandal which have brought us dishonor at home and disrespect abroad.
- ★ Banish the Subversives and incompetents who have crucified both good public service and good public servants.
- ★ Build a Strong Economy not based on war.
- ★ Save Our Great, Free Nation from the reckless policies which are leading America down the road to bankruptcy—Socialism—and possibly even World War III.

AMERICA NEEDS YOU . . . in this Civilian Crusade. I hope that you, too, believe the time has come for a complete change in our National leadership—a change which will restore courage, integrity and faith in American Government.

I INVITE YOUR SUPPORT NOVEMBER 4TH.

Daddy Ringtail

Daddy Ringtail Rough And Ready

Mugwump Monkey, the monkey boy, was going out in the Great Forest, down along the Elephant Path. He was going out and down to play.

"Mugwump," said Daddy Ringtail, talk your monkey friend.

"Yes!" said Mugwump, and he stopped to listen.

Daddy Ringtail explained how Mugwump ought to be very careful not to have any trouble. And why should he be so careful? Because two boys had come to live in the Great Forest. They were monkey boys, and folks said they liked to fight.

"Oh, that's all right," said Mugwump. "They can fight if they want to. I'll stand by and watch."

"But they will want to fight with you," said Daddy Ringtail, and he meant that he wouldn't worry if—and I said "if"—if Mugwump please would be very careful.

"Mugwump said he would, and down he slid to the ground, kerpump. "Uh-oh," said Mugwump, because standing there with a stick in his hand was a stranger.

The stranger was a monkey boy, and beside him stood another stranger who was also a monkey boy exactly like the first one. Each had a great big stick in his hand. They were brothers, it seemed. Mugwump knew at a glance that the brothers' names were Rough and Ready.

"I'm Rough," said the first brother.

"I'm Ready," said the second brother.

But was there going to be trouble? Did Rough and Ready want to fight? Oh no. Rough explained that he wasn't ready, and so he didn't want to fight. Yes, and Ready explained that he wasn't ready, and so he never liked to fight. And so they were peaceful, gentle fellows after all, and they very much wanted to be friends.

"Sure," said Mugwump, and so friends they were, which is a happy thing to be. Happy day!

WILL THE PEOPLE VOTE FOR 40c Gasoline AND 2-Bit Politics?

Somebody in Washington is Betting that You Will!

The issue is very simple, very clear.

Will the American people vote for 40¢ gasoline and two-bit politics?

The Administration in Washington is betting that they will. Or, so it seems.

That is the only way to account for the Administration's deliberate and elaborate maneuvers to associate its election-year fortunes with an all-out attack on the private ownership of America's oil industry.

On August 21, the Administration allowed its candidate for Vice-President to release a report from the Mutual Security Agency alleging that certain American oil companies operating in the Middle East had over-charged the Government.

On August 22, the Administration's Department of Justice conveniently followed up by announcing a $67,000,000 suit against these American oil companies.

On August 25, the Administration's Federal Trade Commission added its bit by allowing the same Vice-Presidential candidate to release a three-year-old report—which security officials had insisted should be kept "secret" for the safety of the nation—implying that these companies were part of an "International oil cartel."

This time-table was not accidental. The backstage coordination, the stage-managed theatrics, make it clear that the Administration—and the agencies of Big Government—wanted to "manufacture an issue" for the benefit of its anointed advocates.

All the allegations made by the Administration's agencies (the truth or falsity of which will be determined only in part by the legal processes of the courts) deal with old events—some dating back as far as 1928. Is it only coincidence that these charges have been saved back for so long to be unloosed in the midst of a political campaign? Or is it a display of two-bit politics?

We feel that if the people understand the true nature of the issue being "manufactured" so eagerly by the Administration the people can supply the correct answer as to whether this is "good government" or "cheap politics."

FTC ATTACK ON OIL INDUSTRY DESIGNED TO OPEN DOOR FOR ULTIMATE NATIONALIZATION

Big Government Grows Fat Feeding On Hypothetical "Maybe's"

One characteristic of Big Government—as we have come to know it—is that it so often "governs by hypothesis."

A "hypothesis" is a conclusion "assumed without proof."

Big Government asks for more control, more authority, more money, more power, not always on the basis of proof that it is needed today but on the hypothesis that it may be needed tomorrow.

Price controls, for one example, have never been sought on the basis that prices were already too high—that would be admitting Big Government had been lax. Instead, price controls have been asked on the assumption that prices might go higher if Big Government did not have the power to control them. On that assumption, Congress has granted controls. Ironically, under Big Government "control" prices have—both during World War II and the Korean War—continued to go higher. When it comes time to renew the powers, Big Government doesn't talk about its failure to prevent price increases—it begins to shout alarms about what might happen if the control powers were taken away.

Thus, Big Government grows fat feeding on the public fear of hypothetical "maybe's."

FTC Report Is Aimed At Discrediting Private Ownership

The Federal Trade Commission report attacking the American oil companies operating in the Middle East is—in its entirety—a propaganda document, aimed at discrediting private ownership, and based on the hypothesis that bigness is bad.

No evidence is shown that the American oil companies are members of a "cartel," but the report suggests that the bigness of the companies "provides opportunity, and even necessity, for joint control."

No evidence is shown that the American oil companies controlled market prices, but the report says that it was to "nobody's advantage to undercut [on prices] unless the undercutter was willing to risk a price war—a war which the dominant American companies, because of their size and location, would probably win." In other words, because of their bigness, the criticized companies could sell more cheaply, but it is—in the FTC view—wrong to be big enough to compete more effectively.

No evidence is shown that the American oil companies have worked hardships upon the nations they have supplied, but it is charged that because of their combined bigness the companies have made a "substantial net profit." Is the profit from efficiency bad?

Maybe The People Should Not Wait For Proof Of Intentions

"Governing by hypothesis" is a two-way street. If Big Government can expand its control over the people on the basis of hypothetical threats, then, perhaps, it would be wise for the people not to wait for proof of what Big Government is up to and use a hypothesis of their own now and then to keep control of their own Government.

One hypothesis about Big Government is safe: nearly everything it does is aimed at making Big Government bigger.

The Pattern Is Designed For Government Control

On that assumption, then, it is good to explore the pattern of the FTC attack. By charging (by inference) that the American oil companies are part of a cartel, the FTC discredits—or seeks to discredit—the private management of those companies. By the inference that the American oil companies are dominating the other segments of the oil industry, the FTC opens the door to a demand for regulating competition, restricting the operations of these companies. By the thesis that no one would want to undercut these companies' prices, FTC opens the way for the Government to subsidize competition. By the implication that a "substantial net profit" may be bad, FTC throws the door wide open to invite the advocates of nationalization to step in and eliminate that net profit for private industry.

Thus, step by step, the pattern is laid out—a pattern designed to make Big Government bigger by putting it into the oil business.

The necessity for the Big Government in Washington to take over the oil industry is not shown. But by "threats," by "if's," "maybe's," and "could be's" the agents of Bigger Big Government would entice us through the opening doors into the dungeons of ultimate Total Control.

What Would Total Control Of Oil Industry Mean?

What would Total Control of the oil industry mean?

It would mean a heavier burden upon the taxpayers to pay for operating an industry which now pays its own way. It would mean a new bonanza of political patronage—Federal appointees manning every neighborhood service station in the land. It would mean permanent rationing of gasoline, oil, heating fuels for you. It would mean writing your Congressman for help in getting a permit to buy gasoline. It would mean a flourishing boom for the influence peddlers and favor-seekers. It would mean that your gasoline would more likely cost 40¢ or 50¢ or 60¢ a gallon—because overhead would go up, efficiency would decline, and a new source of income for Big Government's "pork-barrel" projects would be open.

Unfair? Not at all—not by Big Government's standards. Big Government relies upon "assumptions without proof" to guide its requests for power over the people. The people—with plenty of evidence from other nations as to what nationalization can mean—can make better assumptions with more proof as to where the course of Big Government is leading us.

This, then, is the issue being "manufactured" by the two-bit politics in Washington this year.

If This Is Not The Goal, Let Them Break Their Silence

Somebody in Big Government thinks enough of this issue—or, perhaps, we should say, wants this goal badly enough—to feel that the Administration's candidate for Vice-President should identify himself with it, lock, stock, and barrel. Somebody wants the people to vote approval of the Government's projected plans, although, with so many other issues facing them, the people might not realize that they were voting for or against ultimate nationalization of the oil industry. That's the way changes in our system are slipped in while nobody is looking.

If this is not the intent and purpose of Big Government, then let its spokesmen speak up and say it is not. Let them say that they are, under all circumstances, opposed to nationalization of the oil industry. They have not said it, thus far.

Meanwhile, if it is the hypothesis of Big Government that bigness is bad, then maybe the people should agree, because on that hypothesis, Big Government is Bad Government.

Cardinal Chemical Co.
Dallas, Texas

THE CARDINAL CHEMICAL COMPANY

2103 Mercantile Bank Building
Dallas, Texas

The Cardinal Chemical Company, organized only two years ago, is already providing an important service to the oil industry in the Permian Basin of West Texas. The Company has offices in Dallas, Odessa and Levelland, Texas, and Hobbs, New Mexico. A complete laboratory is maintained in Odessa, where a continuing program of research is carried on in acidizing and mud treatment.

Cardinal Chemical is the result of a combination of Texas capital, knowhow and initiative. The financing was provided by A. W. Cherry and Barron Kidd of Dallas, and J. P. Gibbins of Lubbock. All are native Texans. Cherry, president of the Company and an independent oil producer, was born in Kerens, Kidd, also an independent oil producer, is a native of Brownwood. Gibbins, in the drilling and well servicing business, was born in Ringold. Kidd and Gibbins are vice-presidents.

The knowhow in the business is being provided by two chemical engineers formerly of the Dow Chemical Company. They are Jack Sallee and A. A. Townsend, who are vice-presidents.

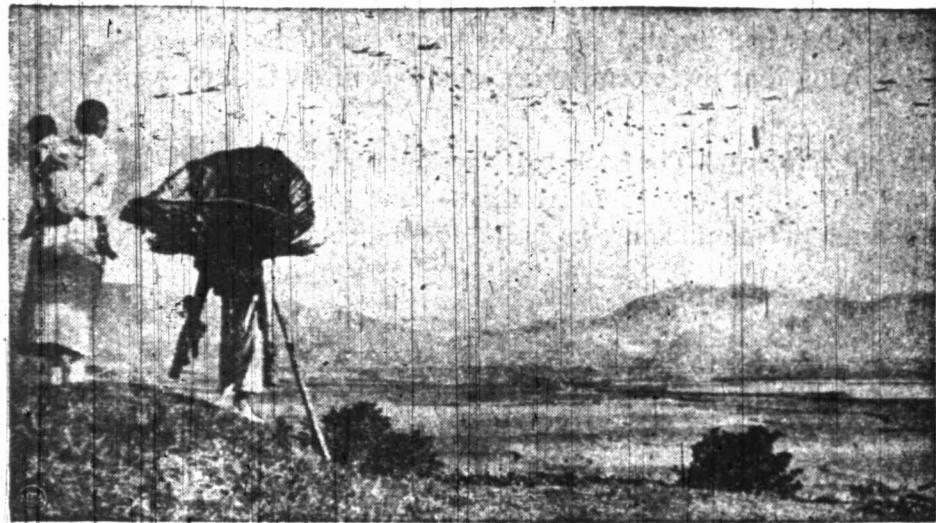

"The major oil companies are responsible for the establishment of hundreds of independent service organizations, large and small, such as our own Company," President Cherry points out.

"We feel the attack on these companies is wholly unjustified and we are taking this opportunity to get this message to our friends, the people of Texas and the USA."

The Attack on the Oil Industry is an Attack on Your Freedom, Too!

YOU WOULDN'T KNOW A WAR IS GOING ON—As bitter fighting rages in the bloody hills of Korea, the "Main Street" in Parnunjom, above, bears a sleepy, peaceful look. Only a few guards and liaison officers come and go at the site where the long-drawn-out truce talks, now indefinitely suspended, were held. Below, a Korean family calmly watches from a peaceful Korean hillside, as U. S. paratroopers float to earth from C-46 troop carriers, and land behind a protective smoke screen.

Plastic Landing Craft Put Invading Marines On Beach

BREMERTON, Wash.—(AP)—Take several hundred pounds of resin, add a little pine oil, some glycol, and a dash of Xylene. Bake in a hot mold. Forty hours later remove one plastic LCPV (Landing Craft Vehicle Personnel) for the U. S. Navy.

The process used in building the Navy's new plastic landing boats at the Bremerton Navy Yard is more complex than the above recipe indicates, but the formula is basically correct. The Navy yard is turning out the boats in batches like cookies.

The 436-man plastic ships will replace wood and steel models that carried thousands of soldiers and Marines on assault landings on beaches throughout the world during World War II.

The Navy decided to build the heavy landing boats after it had built 150 12-foot, four-man plastic wherries which have earned a reputation for durability and economy.

One doubtful Navy officer made his own personal test of one of the small boats by beating on it with a 12-pound sledge hammer. He wore himself out, but the little lifeboat remained intact.

Stryfoam, a synthetic compound, was selected for its buoyancy and strength. A block of Stryfoam twice the size of an apple box can be carried easily by a three-year-old child.

Other materials include glass cloth, glass mat, resin, and various catalytic chemicals. Heavy steel plates are used to construct the molds.

Workmen first spread thin sheets of glass-cloth over an inner mold which has been covered with resin colored in traditional Navy gray. More glass matting is laid on the mold. Next, the Stryfoam buoyancy blocks are put in place and more glass matting placed over the whole mold.

For eight hours, almost 3200 pounds of resin are pumped into the mold. Forty hours later the outer mold is removed, and a completed hull is ready to receive its engine.

As a test, one fully loaded plastic boat was beached at top speed—both on sand and gravel beaches. The only damage consisted of a few minor scratches which were easily patched.

In addition to lower maintenance costs, the new plastic boat, economies on construction costs. Very little steel is needed. The boats can be built with semiskilled labor instead of expensive mechanics.

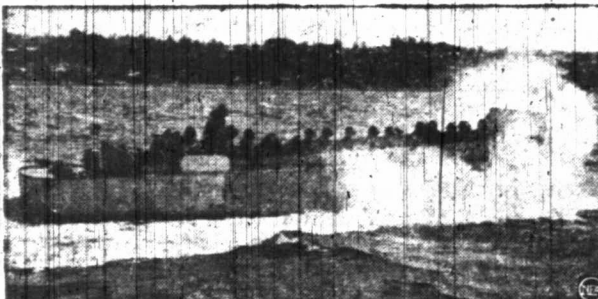

The solid plastic hull has no seams to caulk and is non-sinkable. The hull is stronger than wood, will not splinter from gunfire like steel or wood.

One puzzled sailor who operated the boat during a test commented: "First it's wooden ships and iron men; then it was iron ships and wooden men—now it's plastic ships—does that make me a synthetic sailor?"

ROME'S RESIDENTS

It is believed that Rome, in the time of Julius Caesar, contained about 1,200,000 inhabitants. The present population has again reached this figure.

When mined, both iron and aluminum are combined with other metals and oxygen.

Down Puget sound roars a plastic landing craft, loaded with troops, on a test run after launching at Bremerton Navy Yard.

LARGEST CANAL LOCK

The world's largest canal lock, 1,312 feet long and 164 feet wide, capable of raising the largest ship afloat, is located in The Netherlands.

Nevada was the first in the world to use gas for capital punishment.

RAPID GROWER

The fastest-growing tree known is the balsa. The seed is little larger than a pinhead, yet the tree often sprouts to a height of 75 feet and a diameter of 25 inches within five years.

10-Cent Horse Bets Permitted In Saigon

SAIGON, INDOCHINA — (AP) — There are few, if any places in the world where you can wager as low as 10 cents on a horse race, but it's being done here.

That's the minimum bet allowed at a race track in the suburbs where racing is held every Sunday.

And there's no bar against minors. There are hundreds of children on hand for every race meeting. For them the 10-cent pari-mutuel window is a bee-line objective.
