WORKMAN OPENS WRONG VALVE-

Eight Engineers Risk Lives To Save Grand Coulee Dam

457 EL

of mighty Grand Coulee.

dam-Grand Coulee on the Columbia River-a sick worman threw the wrong switch.

Today eight engineers of the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation are wearing gold medals for risking their lives by drowning or electrocution to save the 550-foot-high dam from possible destruction.

The full story came out the other day when the medals were awarded to the engineers by the Department

During a routine inspecion of the dam the sick workman, whose name was not disclosed and who no longer is employed there, mistakenly pulled the switch that opened the upstream valve on a drain tube, eight eet in diameter, running through the dam. He meant to open the downstream valve.

To understand what happened from then on it should be understood that a dam is by no means a solid mass of concrete. It is honeycombed with passageways to let water throgh for workmen to walk in, for electrical conduits for skyscraper elevators. Ran From Scene

For instance, at Coulee there are 60 of the eight-foot-in-diameter drain tubes running through the dam at three different levels.

When the workman mistakenly opened the unstream valve in one of the tubes, water shot into the drain under tremendous pressure. So violent was its force that it flipped open a manhole cover on top of the drain, on the floor of a passageway above.

When the workman saw the water shoot up through the manhole he lost his head. Instead of flipping the switch which would have closed the valve and cut off the rushing torrent, he ran.

Something like this happening inside a big dam is like fire on a ship at sea or an airplane losing an engine. News of it spread fast from one end to the other.

Seconds after the workman fled, the inspection tunnel he was in was flooded with the lee-cold roaring waters of the Columbia River. In Icy Water

Subsidy May Be Answer

It was a totally new departure when Pan American World Airways announced it is buying three British jet airliners for delivery in 1956, and possibly may buy seven more for delivery in 1957. No. U. S. airline ever before has made important use of foreign aircraft.

It must do this for its own sake, to keep from losing business to BOAC, and to maintain the prestige of American flag aviation on the great air lanes of the world. As our biggest and most far-flung international darrier, Pan Am is the chief bearer of this responsibility.

The company chose British aircraft because American plane makers were just not in a position to offer a competitive type of plane by 1956. To wait longer might have proved too great a risk.

Like your travel with a JOYOUS THRILL?

WE have news for a lot of folks who want more fun from driving than they get from their present

There's a trim bundle of eager highpowered energy that's just the ticket for you-a spirited automobile that can give you thrill after joyous thrill, for mile after fleeting mile. Why not come in and try the Buick we have in mind?

The excitement starts with your first look at it, your first sitting in it, your first fingering of its slender wheel.

But wait till Dynaflow Drive* begins working its magic - and its constant and complete smoothness fills you with never-ending wonder.

Wait till you feel the bubbling exuberance of taking your first hill with a high-compression Fireball 8 Engine doing the honors. That's when you get a man-sized sampling of the tremendously able and instantly responsive power you command here.

Wait till you feel the serene satisfaction of skimming over rough roads, cobbles or ridged crossings. That's when you know, better than words can tell, what a million dollars' worth of ride engineering can do in the way of magnificent comfort.

Wait till you jockey into a real tight parking space and note the fun and ease that Power Steering brings to a once-tough job.

But.-why wait?

There's a Buick that can do all this -and more, far more-all ready for you to try it.

And listen: If you can afford a new car, you can afford a Buick.

How about coming in this week for a real sampling of this joyous travel?

HOW ADVERTISING AFFECTS YOUR JOB

Raises, Cuts, Promotions, Layoffs Often Depend on How Much the Firm Sells

MECHANIC+I like advertising. It sells goods. And when sales go wife and I can then have real peace of mind.

WAITRESS-Advertising my boss does means more tips in my pocket. Advertising other firms do means more business, steadier jobs for my customers and bigger tips in my pocket. So I'm all for plenty of advertising.

BOOKKEEPER-I know what a difference advertising made in my firm . . . made our volume Now instead of just being a clerk,

EXT time you hear or read adver- ticularly for friends and sons and tising, just stop and analyze how it affects you.

Its purpose is to sell goods or services. More sales mean more work to be done. That means more jobs in the firm that advertises . . . and more jobs in the hundred and one firms with which it does business. It's a neverending chain.

Now when more jobs open up, that means more security for everyone. It means promotion to many, with wage increases. It means opportunity-pardaughters of present employees.

Whether or not you work for a firm that advertises, remember that this modern method of mass personal selling affects your company's business and its future. Hence it affects your job and your future.

Advertising, by selling goods, starts businesses humming, makes them bigger. That's how advertising affects your job. For tomorrow, it creates opportunity . . . for today, it makes your job more secure.

Other Ways Advertising Helps You:

- 1. Brings you better goods for less money.
- 2. Makes shopping more pleasant and easier.
- 3. Has given us the world's highest standard of living:
