Power Of Prayer In Troubled World

A FEW YEARS AGO A NEW York publisher was about to issue a book with the title "The Man Who Bought the Plaza..."

This is just one sidelight on the career of a remarkable hotel man named Conrad Hilton, who was thought to have capped his career of building one of the world's greatest hotel chains when he bought New York's famous and fashionable Plaza Hotel...

CONRAD HILTON'S SUCCESS has had its foundation in a strong faith in God and in the power of prayer. In the July issue of Guidepost magazine, published at Pawling, New York, he tells the story of how he came to publish an Independence Day prayer for peace under the title "America on its Knees..."

"Our Father in Heaven: We pray that You save us from ourselves."

"The world that you made for us, to live in peace, we have made into an armed camp. We live in fear of war to come."

"We are afraid of the terror that flies by night, and the arrow that flies by day, the pestilence that walks in darkness and the destruction that wastes at noon-day."

"We have turned from You to go our selfish way. We have broken Your commandments and denied Your truth. We have left Your altars to serve the false gods of money and pleasure and power. Forgive us and help us."

"Now, darkness gathers around us and we are confused in all our counsel. Losing faith in You, we lose faith in ourselves."

"Inspire us with wisdom, all of us, of every color, race and creed, to use our wealth, our strength, to help our brother, instead of destroying him."

"Help us to do Your will as it is done in heaven and to be worthy of Your promise of peace on earth."

"Fill us with new faith, new strength, and new courage, that we may win the battle for peace."

"Be swift to save us, dear God, before the darkness falls."

CONRAD HILTON WILL SEND you a copy of this prayer in a color reprint illustrated by a beautiful painting of Uncle Sam on his knees in prayer if you will write to him at 9970 Santa Monica Boulevard, Beverly Hills, Calif. Why not write to him and get your copy today? Let's show America knee deep in this moving prayer to the God of our fathers.

In a troubled world, all of us will do well to pray for peace. And for God's guidance for our beloved country. Whether you choose to use Conrad Hilton's prayer or words of your own, your faith in God and your prayers can help you make the world the peaceful and beautiful place God meant it to be.

Dulles Starts Home From Korean Junket

TOKYO —(AP)— U. S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles leaves Sunday for Washington after making two strategic moves to strengthen the free world's position in the Far East.

In South Korea Saturday he initiated with Foreign Minister Pyun Yung Tai a mutual security pact. President Syngman Rhee looked on.

It pleases U. S. troops will fight again in Korea if the Reds violate the armistice and strike south. The agreement also provides that both countries will walk out of the Korean political conference after 90 days if the Communists do not get down to brass tacks in discussions on a Korean truce.

Midland Trims Operating Budget

Current City Tax Rate Not To Be Raised

The City of Midland unveiled its proposed 1953-54 operating budget Saturday, calling for a five per cent reduction in expenditures—the first such reduction in at least 10 years—and maintaining the current $1.60 tax rate.

Copies of the summary of the budget were delivered to Mayor J. W. McMillen and members of the City Council, and the budget itself will be presented formally Tuesday night.

"The budget," said City Manager W. H. Oswalt, "reflects a general leveling off and a return to a more normal operation than we have had during the extraordinary growth of the last few years."

"The reduction in planned expenditures will not necessitate a reduction in services to our citizens."

"But our operation will require closer supervision and its success will depend on each city employee carrying out his duties to the very best of his ability."

Down Five Per Cent The budget calls for total expenditures in the general fund and water fund operating budgets of $2,382,375, a five per cent decrease from the estimated expenditures of $2,498,825 during the current fiscal year, which ends September 30.

The budget presentation came exactly one week after Midland County proposed its budget of $896,756 for 1953, an increase of approximately 15 per cent over the current budget.

And the budget was announced on the heels of a recommendation submitted by the City Financial Advisory Commission last Thursday.

Youth Asleep On Road Dies Beneath Auto

DENVER CITY—David Howard Moore, 16, of Kermit, was killed at 2 a.m. Saturday when an auto ran over him while he lay sleeping on State Highway 214 about two miles south of here.

Moore and a friend, C. A. Peacock, 18, apparently had been hitchhiking to their homes in Kermit, investigating officers said, and unable to flag another ride after one from Dumas, they went to sleep on the road.

Moore and Peacock had been working at the Fleur Corporation, Dumas.

Peacock was admitted to Youkum County Memorial Hospital at Denver City, suffering from shock and bruises and a mangled leg.

Police said the youths were struck by a car driven by Charles Frank Burns, Jr., 29, Odessa. Moore was dragged about 60 feet. Burns notified authorities and was not held.

The body was taken to the Hixson Funeral Home in Kermit and services, pending the arrival of relatives, probably will be held Monday or Tuesday. Interment will be in Kermit.

Survivors include the mother, two younger sisters and the grandparents.

U. S. MONOPOLY CHALLENGED—

Red Boss Claims Kremlin Now Owns H-Bomb Secret

MOSCOW —(AP)— Premier Georgi Malenkov said Saturday "the United States no longer has the monopoly of the hydrogen bomb" and the Soviet Union has mastered production of that super weapon.

He made the announcement in a surprise speech on Russian and world affairs—including the purge of Deputy Premier Lavrenty P. Beria—before a joint session of the Supreme Soviet (Parliament). The 1,300 legislators cheered.

Malenkov said the United States long ago lost its monopoly in the production of the atom bomb.

"The trans-Atlantic enemies of peace," he said, "have of late found a new solace: The United States are in possession of a still more powerful weapon than the atom bomb and have monopoly of the hydrogen bomb, if you please. This evidently policy also came up with this conclusion: that Malenkov's talk, including his H-bomb boast, was deliberately tough, contrasting sharply with the peaceful gestures with which Russia has been trying to impress the world since the death of Stalin five months ago.

These U. S. officials, who probably are as well informed on Soviet atomic progress as anyone outside Russia, expressed their doubts after studying Malenkov's speech to his Red Parliament.

Heat Wave Pocket Kills Two Texans; Mercury Hits 109

Midlanders suffered from low humidity heat Saturday but not to the extent of other Texans.

"Weak circulation"—lack of substantial winds—kept the state in a heat wave pocket. Two heat deaths were reported as a blazing sun stoked the mercury to record levels.

Midland is expected to record a higher reading than Saturday's 101 degrees. Both Dallas and Fort Worth had their hottest day of the year Saturday, Dallas with 108 and Fort Worth 106. The heat was worse in the Dallas-Fort Worth area than elsewhere in Texas but 100-plus temperatures reached to the Mexican border and west to San Angelo. Dallas and Houston each attributed one death to the oven-like heat.

The high Texas reading Saturday was a record 109 degrees at Llano. Presidio had 108. Elsewhere in West Texas, Abilene listed 102 and Big Spring 101.

Scattered thundershowers are predicted for Sunday in some parts of Texas but the Weather Bureau expects clear skies over the Permian Basin.

Wayne Jones, 19-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James Jones, 204 Walcott Street, was admitted to Western Clinic-Hospital with thermal burns and brush burns covering one-third of his body and a deep laceration of the face extending over the scalp. He also suffered slight concussion.

Wayne's seven-month-old brother, Johnny Lee, and his mother, were injured when the car which she was driving collided with a pick-up truck at the intersection of Farm-to-Market Road 117 and Cole Park Road.

The 17-year-old mother was driving north on the farm road and her car struck the right rear of a pick-up driven by B. W. Henderson, 25, of 1001 West Griffin Street, who was heading east on the Cole Park Road.

Experts Discount Malenkov's Boast

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Russia may have mastered the secret of the hydrogen bomb, as Premier Malenkov claimed Saturday, but American experts doubt that the Soviet Union actually has produced one of those terrible weapons.

Traffic Accidents Hurt Six Persons

Six Midlanders were injured in three separate automobile mishaps Saturday, with two children admitted to Western Clinic-Hospital in serious condition, one with burns and another with concussion and a possible fracture of the skull.

Four persons were injured in an automobile-pickup truck crash on the Cole Park Road at 3:30 p.m., while a boy was struck by a pick-up truck in downtown Midland at approximately the same time. A third accident Saturday night injured a driver whose car collided with a truck west of Midland.

UNDERPASS WORK STARTED—The dotted lines give some idea of what South Big Spring Street will look like one year from now, when the underpass is completed and the street widened from Wall Street to East Florida Street. Work started Friday.

Initial Underpass Excavations Start

The long-awaited construction of the Big Spring Street Underpass was launched here Friday afternoon.

Under the direction of General Superintendent R. L. Garrett, the crews started the initial work on the project which will provide a new major north-south traffic artery.

"We began excavations for a storm sewer in connection with the underpass itself," Garrett said Saturday, "and by next week, additional phases of the project will be started."

The tempo of the work will be increased gradually, he said, as a company office is opened on the site and the hiring of additional crews picks up.

The project is slated for completion in about one year, Garrett said. The storm sewers for the half-million-dollar project will prevent rain water from pouring from the streets into the underpass itself beneath the T&P Railway tracks and the busy North Front Street Highway 80 alternate route.

The contract for the project is held by Ernest Lloyd of Fort Worth. Garrett said excavation work for the underpass itself would be started on the south end with the north end slated the last, so there will be a minimum of traffic interruption on the highway route.

The project includes the improvement of Big Spring Street from West Wall to West Florida Streets. The city cleared the way last week for winding up utility line relocations by awarding a contract to Clyde Yarbrough for construction of a new 10-inch sewer line in the area.

East Germany's Foreign Minister Said Purge Victim

BERLIN —(AP)— East Germany's acting Foreign Minister Anton Ackermann has been fired for supporting a policy of appeasement for rebellious workers, the U. S. State Department's newspaper Neue Zeitung said Saturday night.

The paper said Education Minister Eise Zaiser, whose husband, Wilhelm, was dismissed as Red Cestapo chief last month, would be ousted in the near future.

Neue Zeitung said Ackermann's ouster was pushed through by his Communist enemy, Deputy Premier Walter Ulbricht, at a secret meeting of the East German Cabinet.

Communists Return 112 Americans In Fifth Day Of Exchanging Prisoners

PANMUNJOM —(AP)— The Communists shuttled truckloads of prisoners to the Communist northland in 11 Russian-built Molotov ambulances.

Tender hands lifted the South Koreans from the ambulances and carried them inside the Allied reception and hospital tents.

The South Koreans were dazed, some barely able to raise their heads. Few smiled.

American Marines were grim and unsmiling too as they carried the litters into the reception center. The Chinese drivers looked on stoically.

For the first time since the exchange began, there were no Chinese photographers on hand to record the scene. It was not the kind that made good propaganda.

Allied personnel rushed the South Koreans to helicopters for a swift ride to Munsan where expert hospital care awaited them.

As the Allied repatriates moved south, Communist prisoners were going north through the Red reception center. The latter group included 473 North Korean women and one Chinese woman—nurses, wives and camp followers.

And there were 23 Korean

Hollywoodites Label Richard Carlson 'Martian' For Many Outer Space Roles

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD—(AP)—A joke makes the Hollywood rounds: "How come that Richard Carlson appears in so many science fiction movies?"
"Oh, he's part Martian!"
The person who is most amused by the gag is Richard Carlson. He can afford to laugh—he's the busiest actor in Hollywood.
Carlson has been working like a beaver in such pseudo-science epics as "The Magnetic Monster," "It Came From Outer Space," "Riders to the Stars" and "The Maze" (although he classifies the latter as more of a horror story).

Why is he so much in demand for such films?
The Academic Type
"I guess it's because in every science fiction story there has to be a scientist," he theorized. "I'm one of the few actors who look the academic type. People believe that I might have just stepped out of a laboratory."
The actor's professional look comes naturally. He was a Phi Beta Kappa at the University of Minnesota, where he graduated Summa Cum Laude in English and European history. He also studied at Harvard a semester before he decided to follow the less bookish life of being an actor.
I asked him if he thought his educational background helped or hindered his career.
Something Of Oddity
"Of course, it has helped," he replied. "The more an actor knows, the better he is in his job."
"But I'll admit that some people have looked at me askance. I remember my first big stage job, a long run in the road company of 'Three Men On A Horse.' Hume Cronyn and I were the only ones in the cast who had even been to high school. The other actors viewed us as something of an oddity."
Carlson's career has not been limited to plotting space travel and combating invaders from other planets. He also keeps busy in other, not so breathless films. He does a number of TV dramatic shows when he has the time. He is now starring in a 39-part TV film series called "I Led Three Lives," based on the true adventures of a Communist spy for the FBI.

He Directs Too
"A lot of actors won't touch TV," he observed. "I think they are making a bad decision. When I do a show like Robert Montgomery's, I am seen by a huge audience. I figured it would take me 36 years of playing 'Mister Roberts' in Chicago to reach as big an audience. It would take a movie 13 years of playing four shows a day at the Radio City Music Hall."
Busy enough as an actor, Carlson has now branched out as a director.
He directed "Riders to the Stars" for the company which he, producer Ivan Tors and writer Curt Siodmak have together.

19-Year-Old Closing Out Sale Law Still Enforced

By COPE ROUTH
A lot of merchants probably never heard of Midland's "Closing Out Sale Ordinance" but the 19-year-old law is still very much on the books and, to a certain extent, being enforced.

Under the terms of this ordinance, the closing out of a store involves much more than having a final sale and locking up the store for the last time.

City Secretary J. C. Hudman had occasion to dig up the law a couple of times in the last year and pointed out its provisions to a jewelry store operator and a department store manager.

First, the ordinance requires a permit must be purchased for any sale, "which by representation or advertisement, intends to lead the public to believe the person conducting the sale is closing out or closing out wares or merchandise of any business."

The permit costs $100 for 30 days, $125 for 60 days and $150 for the maximum period of 90 days.

The city secretary can require an inventory of all wares on hand, together with the wholesale price thereof.

"It shall be unlawful," the ordinance continues, "to sell, offer or expose for sale at any such sale, or to list on such inventory any goods, wares or merchandise, which are not the regular stock of the store."

No replacements can be made once the sale is started and the city secretary can inspect the records of the store at any time.

If the sale is an auction sale, the regulations are even more stringent.

The ordinance forbids any false or misleading statements by the auctioneer. When the bidding is underway, he must point to every person submitting a bid. No person can make a false bid for the purpose of bolstering the price.

At an auction, too, every purchaser of an article selling for $2.50 or more shall be given an invoice, containing a full description of the article, the selling price, and a statement giving "each and every warranty under which the article is sold."

Within the next few days, the City of Midland is expected to start the ball rolling on a proposal to widen Florida Street east from Big Spring Street.

The State Highway Department already has indicated it will be receptive to a request to include the job as a State Highway Department project, under which the cost of the paving would be borne by the state.

A survey is now underway to determine whether or not any storm facilities will be necessary and City Manager W. H. Oswalt said last week this survey is nearing completion.

The project may be brought up for discussion at the Tuesday night session of the City Council.

Speaking of highways, Contractor Bryant Collins, head of the Collins Construction Company, said work probably will be started this week on the State Highway Department project to add six feet to the width of the Andrews Highway from Midland's city limits to the Ector County line.

Collins holds the contract with the highway department for this project as well as the one for widening North Big Spring Street from West Texas north to the Midland Draw.

Midland is going to make a bid for the 1954 convention of the Texas Division of the International Identification Association.

The association is composed of identification experts of law enforcement agencies throughout the United States and the Texas division will open this year's three-day session Monday in Austin.

Lt. Dewey Hockett, head of the identification bureau of the Midland police department, will attend the convention, along with Frosty Barnett, manager of the Hotel Scharbauer, to invite the group to hold their next meeting here.

City Traffic Engineer Jack Keese is ready to begin another one of his experiments in an attempt to settle another tough traffic problem.

Several weeks ago, Keese experimented with extra lanes at the intersection of Main and Wall Streets to facilitate left-hand turns. The experiment was a success as far as the traffic was concerned but was abandoned after protests by merchants that the extra lanes eliminated too many parking places.

HOUSTON—P—About 1,000 non-supervisory employees of Henke Pilot Supermarket stores in Houston, Beaumont, Port Arthur, Orange, Galveston and Velasco have voted not to organize.

Results of an election, supervised by Cliff Potter, head of the Houston office of the National Labor Relations Board, were announced Friday night.

Potter said the bid of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen of North America, AFL, to organize the 28 stores was rejected by a 3-1 vote.

Red Captors Censor Worship Ceremonies Of American Men

INCHON, KOREA.—(P)—Sgt. James W. Richardson looked down at his rosary.

"I spoke daily and frequently to the man upstairs," he said. "I guess you would call it praying."

Sgt. Richardson, of Philadelphia, is at Inchon awaiting shipment home. He came out of 27 miserable months of Red imprisonment Thursday in the Korean POW exchange at Panmunjom and told of Red controls on prisoners' religious services.

"I had the wife and kids in mind all the time," he said in an interview.

"I said some prayers up there naturally. But most of the time I just talked to him. I honestly believe that is how I pulled through."

Reds Censor Rites
Richardson, a Roman Catholic, said religious services were forbidden at first in the Red prison camps.

At Easter, 1952, the Chinese superintendent of Camp 3 allowed the Catholics to hold a service—but the Reds forbade them to use the names of the saints and struck the name of the Lord from many of the prayers they were going to use.

The men conducted the service themselves. There was no priest.

"Everything that was to be said had to be approved the Saturday night before," Richardson said. "There were a few things they cut out. They didn't like you to mention the Lord's name too much and they took out the names of all the saints.

Crucifix Confiscated
"They left the Lord's name in there a few times because the guys argued it had to be in there."

Later, Richardson said, the Reds allowed the Americans to hold religious services every Sunday. About last April they stopped the censorship.

Richardson had a rosary and a crucifix when he was captured. The Reds took them away, along with his other personal belongings.

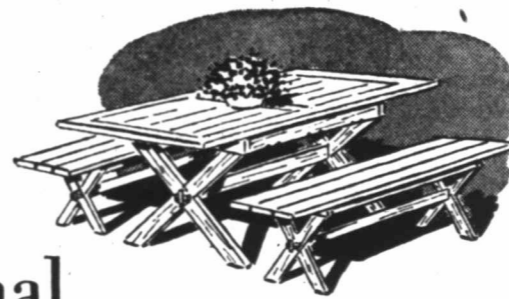

The rosary he had Saturday he bought here at the Inchon replacement depot.

Goodwill Versus Sirens

The City of Midland's so-called "anti-siren" order recently has come in for considerable comment over the territory, and it might be well for the home folk to consider the order from the standpoint of area relations.

Now, just what did Midland accomplish by enforcing its "anti-siren" order? Peace and quiet were maintained, but that is about all.

Think how much better the visitors would have felt about everything if they had been escorted into and through the city by patrolmen with sirens screaming to attract the attention of the home folk to the boosters.

Yes, it makes a difference. Ask any Midlander who has been on a booster trip to publicize the famed World Championship Midland Rodeo and he doubtless will tell you something definitely is missing when the sirens are not screaming.

It is true that Chamber of Commerce officials and members of the Midland Police Department meet boosters and escort them through the city—but the sirens are silent. The visitors are shown every courtesy—except the privilege of sounding their sirens, and sirens are important to trade trippers.

Actually, the sounding of sirens for booster trips is a safety factor—clearing the way for the visitors as they enter and tour the streets of a city.

Now, a practical anti-noise ordinance fundamentally is sound and we are for such a regulation, but there are exceptions to all rules. The privilege of siren-sounding by trade trippers visiting our city, we believe, is the exception in this case.

Certainly, the peace, quiet and dignity of a city normally should be maintained, and surely the unwarranted sounding of sirens and honking of horns by any and everybody is not to be desired—but an exception could and should be granted visiting boosters upon specific request in advance to the Chamber of Commerce or the City of Midland.

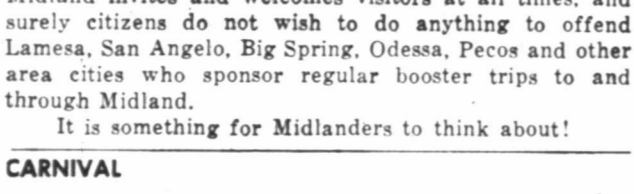

We definitely favor the city's anti-noise ordinance, but we believe it should be amended to provide for the sounding of sirens and horns by booster groups visiting our city.

The Chamber of Commerce, which hears most of the complaints and criticisms from neighboring cities along this line, perhaps should discuss this matter further with the City Council.

The friendly and hospitable headquarters city of Midland invites and welcomes visitors at all times, and surely citizens do not wish to do anything to offend Lamesa, San Angelo, Big Spring, Odessa, Pecos and other area cities who sponsor regular booster trips to and through Midland.

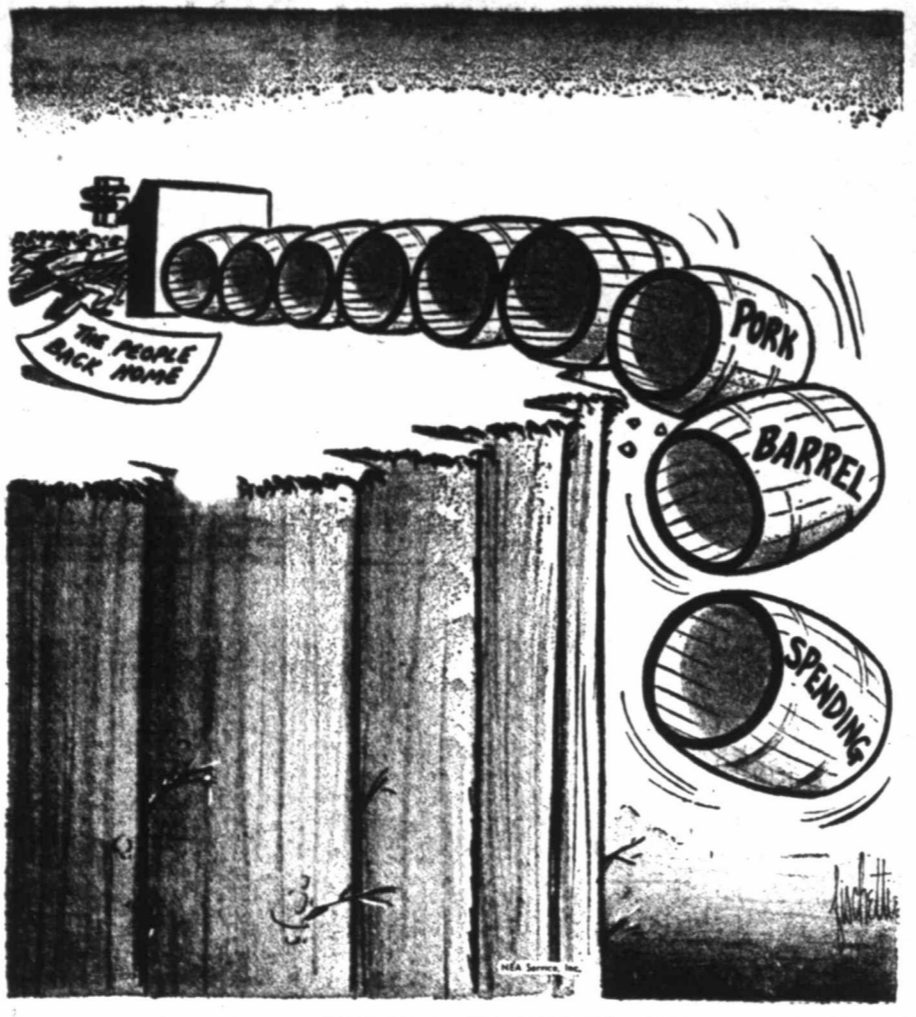

It is something for Midlanders to think about!

CARNIVAL

"Aw, heck! I was expecting an Indian—Sic said something about a wet blanket!"

Economy Begins At Home

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1953, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.) Drew Pearson says: GOP strategy thwarts filibuster on power give-aways; Ambassador Peurifoy threatened by State Department; McCarthy learns he's "just another senator."

WASHINGTON — The White House pulled plenty of bidders during the late-lamented congressional session, but it scored a neat, although unheralded, victory over 14 senators who planned to stage a last-minute demonstration against Eisenhower's alleged "give-aways."

About two weeks ago, the 14 senators were called together by alert Senators Magnuson and Jackson of Washington to protest against the giving away of Hell's Canyon to private industry. Located on the Snake River, Hell's Canyon is the biggest remaining power site in the nation and probably will go to the Idaho Power Company, if a recommendation by Secretary of Interior McKay is carried out.

Therefore, the 14 senators, all Democrats except for Independent Wayne Morse of Oregon, planned to review the Eisenhower power and utility "give-away" record. During the last hours of the Senate, they planned to highlight the power lobby's position as top Washington lobbying spender, and warn that if further give-aways took place while Congress was absent, they would come back in January to investigate.

The senatorial strategy was to deluge the closing hours of the Senate with about 14 speeches, keeping that august body in session part of the night as a warning to Republicans.

However, news leaks fast in Washington and the Republicans soon heard about the plot. Immediately the White House pulled one of the nearest moves of the session. President Eisenhower invited the two senators who had called the meeting—Magnuson and Jackson—to fly with him to Seattle to the governor's conference.

Magnuson and Jackson are among the two ablest younger members of the Senate and, incidentally, opposed to many of Eisenhower's domestic policies. But a flight with the President to their home state was too tempting to resist. They accepted, and left Washington at noon of the day they were scheduled to stage their final "anti-give-away" filibuster.

This pulled the plug on the filibuster. Some Democratic senators had legitimate out-of-town engagements. Others melted away rapidly. Finally, only Independent Morse of Oregon was left. He was determined to go through with the original strategy, but other senators urged him to desert. "You fellows hatched this plan," he replied, "not I. And I don't walk out when the power resources of the American people are about to be filched."

"King Lyndon" "You'll get in wrong with the other senators," argued his friends. "Lyndon Johnson won't like it," they pointed out.

"Lyndon Johnson is not running the Independent Party," replied Morse. "He's the leader of the Democratic Party and I'm not a Democrat. One trouble with the Democratic Party is that you bow and scrape before 'King Lyndon'."

Finally the Democrats brought in their most persuasive pleader, Senator Lehman of New York, a close friend of Morse's. "Wayne, you don't want to hurt yourself," he advised. "You're too valuable to the Senate. I wouldn't go ahead with this plan if I were you."

"Even if I'm the only guy who stands up to carry out this agreement," Morse replied, "I'm going ahead with it. I've never walked out on an agreement in my life."

So Morse made his speech. Republicans were afraid he would hold the Senate in session all night. And while he was quite capable of doing so, he relented—partly because of his good friend, 77-year-old Senator James Murray of Montana.

Murray and Olin Johnston (South Carolina) were the only two senators who stuck by Morse. And during the debate, Murray whispered that he was too tired to carry on much longer.

The Independent senator from Oregon put across a terrific defense of the nation's resources. But, thanks to the rush of news that night, little of it got in the papers.

Ambassadorial Squeeze Play Jack Peurifoy, U. S. ambassador to Greece, is being recalled by Secretary of State Dulles in a squeeze play to suit him from the diplomatic service.

Peurifoy, who helped get a new election law passed in Greece, whose best friend now is pro-American Premier Papagos, and who is generally considered to have done a superb job as ambassador, had the misfortune—in Dulles' eyes—of having been deputy undersecretary of State for Dean Acheson. So Dulles wants his scalp.

However, since Peurifoy is projected as a member of the career service, he can't be fired easily. Instead he's being offered the job of ambassador to Honduras, considered one of the lower rungs on the diplomatic ladder. Rather than take this,

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY Written for NEA Service

Today's hand is taken from the finals of last year's National Team Championships. The irrepressible Johnny Crawford thought it was a good time to open the bidding with a shutout bid. He knew that somebody had a good hand, and he wanted to plague that player.

He succeeded, but the plague player was his own partner—B. Jay Becker. Jay studied the hand for a full minute by the clock (it seemed like an hour at the time), and then bid six hearts.

West had to guess at the opening lead and happened to fish out the four of clubs. A diamond opening lead would have set the contract immediately, since East could have taken two diamond tricks.

With the actual club lead, however, South made his slam by drawing trumps and discarding two diamonds—one on the ace of clubs, and one on the dummy's last spade.

You might wonder how it is that two of the best players in the country happen to get a contract that can be defeated by the right opening lead. Don't sniff too hard at the slam contract, since after all it was actually fulfilled. Strangely enough it's a good contract.

If you took the 26 East-West cards, shuffled them, and dealt them out about a hundred times, South would make the slam in something like 60 to 70 cases. The slam would be a reasonable contract if South made it only about 50 times out of 100 cases.

Forget about the actual East-West holdings, and do some general reasoning. If the opening lead is a spade, you are a strong favorite to make four spade tricks—and therefore the slam.

If the opening lead is a club, you may set up dummy's jack by ruffing or you may develop four spade tricks. If the spades and clubs fall to develop, you can lead a diamond towards dummy in the hope that West has the ace.

If the opening lead is a diamond, you must play low from the dummy in the hope that West has led from the queen. (He would not be likely to underlead the ace.) You are set immediately if East has both ace and queen of diamonds—provided that West then leads the suit. The odds are against each of these possibilities, and very much against both taking place.

The situation would be very different if North bid the hand "scientifically." Then the chance of a diamond opening lead would be greatly increased, and the slam would not be a particularly good shot.

Committee Reform Is Key To Congressional Cleanup

By FETER EDSON NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Reform of congressional committee functioning is a first order of business in any plans for congressional reorganization. The reason is that committee structure is the bottleneck through which all congressional activities must flow.

In 1946 all congressional committees had 356 clerks and a total payroll of less than a million dollars. Today the House committees have 188 clerks and a payroll of $2,000,000. The Senate committees have 471 clerks and a payroll of more than $3,000,000. In addition, Senate committee expenses are $1,700,000, and for the House, $1,700,000.

In spite of the growth of congressional machinery since the end of the war, Congress doesn't seem to get any more work done. In the current session, for instance, 10,000 new measures have been introduced, but only 150 public and 100 private bills have been enacted into law to date.

The La Follette-Monroney Legislative Reorganization Act of 1946 reduced the number of Senate committees from 23 to 19. In the House the number was cut from 48 to 19. This was done to promote greater efficiency and split up the work on important committees.

Revolts Against Setup There have been several revolts against the present committee setup in Congress this year. Almost all of them center around the great power given to committee chairmen by custom and the seniority system. They indicate some need to break with outworn traditions.

Most notorious was Ways and Means Committee Chairman Dan Reed's refusal to bring out an excess profits tax extension bill wanted by President Eisenhower. Chairman Reed was forced to knuckle under only after the House Rules Committee decided to bypass the bill in spite of its being bottled up.

Two other cases involve government operations committees. In the House, Chairman Clare Hoffman of Michigan told his four subcommittees to stop initiating investigations on their own. He wanted this power reserved to himself.

In the Senate, Chairman Joe McCarthy's fight over hiring Dr. J. B. Matthews as chief of the committee staff led to a split. Dr. Matthews was forced to resign, but only after the Republican majority of the committee had voted to give Chairman McCarthy full power to fire and hire the staff. This led to the resignation of the three Democratic members, Senators McClellan, Symington and Jackson. It presages a fight over future committee control.

The great congressional reform that now holds the center of interest is how to treat witnesses appearing before committees. Senator Pat McCarran of Nevada has proposed getting around refusal of witnesses to testify, after

You, South, hold: Spades K-7-5, Hearts 8-3, Diamonds K-8-3, Clubs A-K-J-4-3. What do you do? A—Bid two no-trump. You must make a second try for game since you have a count of 14 points in high cards opposite an opening bid. You cannot afford to jump to game in no-trump since you have only one spade stopper.

Beside the Laughing Water

A Romance by LOUIS ARTHUR CUNNINGHAM

THE STORY: New Little Liz Gray's problem is how to tell Gavin Wayland that she is really Leley Gray, the London actress, who broke her heart in a fit of jealousy during the war. Little Liz loves Gavin, but she does not want to tell him that she is Leley's daughter, about her father.

her and Archer. To her it was sacred and she would always remember it and with it his gentleness, his quiet friendship and lasting loyalty.

"Odd chap, I met him during the war, in London. Oh, here and there. He wasn't much for fun—always seemed to be seeking the Holy Grail."

She didn't have to give Archer any sort of apology for Gavin Wayland. He had seen it coming, he told her and he hoped and was sure she would find happiness.

"I'll always regret," he said. "I'll always want you and I don't think there'll be another girl."

"Oh, Arch, how silly! You'll find some other girl."

"With eyes as wise but kinder— I'm not so sure. I'm cursed with the dreary faculty of knowing what I want from life, from love, and it's not so good, I tell you. There is no compromise for us, unfortunately, no second-best or alternative choice. It is this one or nothing—and you were the one for me."

"You—you make me feel as if I had your happiness in my hands."

"And you have, Little. But then, my happiness is yours, you see, and I'll not mind watching you, and you'll believe me, that Wayland's a good chap—lots of dash and go to him and fine stuff in his make-up."

"I'm glad to hear you say that, Archer. He said he'd met you overseas and that he didn't think you had too high an opinion of him."

"We all had a lot of puppy in us then, I'm not so sure. The good ones got it knocked out of them. We're old dogs now."

THEY were singing Christmas carols that night, the people clustered around the tall fir tree that had been erected in the middle of the city's largest square.

So They Say

A truce has been declared in Korea between the UN and the Reds. But I want it clearly understood there is no truce between any Reds in the police department and the commissioner.

—New York City Police Commissioner George Monaghan.

We have taught the Communists a bloody lesson in Korea. We must not trade away any benefits of that lesson at the conference table.

—Rep. John M. Vorys.

I'm glad God gave me a strong body, a good right arm, and a weak mind.

—Dizzy Dean, clown at his installation in baseball's Hall of Fame.

Boy, that's the only way I want to be shot at.

Q—Was Lafayette paid for his services in the American Revolution? A—No.

Q—Does the albatross live entirely at sea? A—They come to land only to breed.

Q—Why do we speak of our children as "offspring"? A—Offspring is from the Anglo-Saxon word offspring, meaning "to spring or descend from."

Q—What other European country was once joined with Belgium into a single nation? A—Holland.

POW's Tell New Tales Of Brutality, Propaganda, Dope Addiction

FREEDOM VILLAGE—(P)—A growing account of Communist brutality to the living and unmarked graves for about 1,700 or more American dead was unfolded Saturday by returning Allied prisoners.

There were fresh stories of segregation, forced propaganda and even dope addiction under Communist captivity, told by the latest contingent of Americans to return to freedom.

With tears in his eyes, Cpl. Fred W. Porter of Los Angeles told of the tragic hillside beside the Yalu River near Fyoktong prison camp where prisoners buried their dead.

Porter said there were 1,700 or 1,750 Americans buried there. Other estimates ran as high as 2,000, Porter said some of the graves have washed away because they were so close to the river. He said most of the graves—slit trenches three feet deep and 50 yards long—were unmarked. A few have markers with names chalked on them.

"My best buddy is over on that hill today," he said, brushing away the tears. "I think you ought to get those bodies back and take them to America."

Other returnees told of Americans serving jail terms, of some being held for trial, because they had been Koje Island guards before their capture. And they spoke with contempt of a handful of "stool pigeons" who were reported fearful of returning home because of possible retaliation from their fellow prisoners.

The fourth group of 90 Americans returned Saturday leveled shocking charges that Communist authorities permitted addiction to a weed-like narcotic called "marijuana" by the prisoners and even encouraged its use to win over some captives to communism.

Traffic Goes Unchecked

Pfc. Robert I. Brooks of Reidsville, N. C., said he felt the Chinese allowed the men to smoke the weed "because they figured if they could make a junkie (addict) out of you, you would be willing to do what they wanted."

Another repatriate, Pvt. Willis J. Ruid, of Los Angeles, said the Chinese put about 50 men in a special "narcotic ward" away from the others at one time.

"The Communists could have stopped it if they really wanted to," said Brooks.

He explained the work details of prisoners gathered the weed while outside the camp. But even when all the men were kept inside the camp for a two-month period, the narcotic continued to reach the prisoners.

The returnees also told of Communist "stool pigeons" in the large camp for American, British and other non-Korean prisoners at Fyoktong on the Yalu River frontier of Manchuria. The repatriates eyes flashed with hate as they told of three of these informers who stayed behind with the Communists. Other accounts mentioned seven Americans and one Britisher who remained behind.

Asked if the three prisoners who elected to stay behind were afraid of retaliation, Sgt. Louis Leach of Columbus, Ga., angrily replied: "You're damned right I think so. We told them we'd throw them over the side of the ship. There's guys up there who would give their life to get even."

Russians Claim Power Lawnmower Invention

The Soviet Russian News Agency "Tass" in an official announcement of merit, awarded the Grand Star of the Bolshevik, Russia's highest honor, to Joseph Stalin Doak-sinski for the invention of what is described as "a power operated device for the trimming and leveling of grass." It is to be presumed that this verbage must indicate that, at last, the USSR has discovered the joys of the power lawnmower. We imagine that this tool will not be popular in the East, as it evidently will smack of capitalism.

We would like to get "Tass" straight on the matter, however. It was not Comrade Doak-sinski who was first with the power mower. The first successful power mower was built in a backyard workshop, in the United States of America, by a Norwegian immigrant boy, Knud Jacobsen. Knud, even as you and I, thought that lawnmowing was too great a task, and set his mechanical skill to the perfection of an engine operated device to do the chore for him. As so often happens, those that saw his machine perform wanted one like it, and before Lenin could have said "Vodka," the Jacobsen Manufacturing Company was born and power lawnmowers have poured forth in a steady stream for more than thirty years.

We are proud to be associated with such a company and we invite you to try a Jacobsen Power Mower on your own lawns at our risk-inski!

Kerr Gives Credit For Ike's Successes To Democratic Party

WASHINGTON—(P)—A Democratic senator and the Democratic National Committee give their party credit for much of the legislation enacted by the Republican 83rd Congress.

Senator Kerr of Oklahoma said in an interview Friday Congress came through for President Eisenhower mostly "on a wing of the Republican Party and a prayer that he'd get enough Democratic votes to save him."

He predicted the Administration will press next year for continuation of taxes about to expire, or, if personal income taxes are reduced, for an offsetting increase somewhere else.

The committee compiled what it called "Ike's Box Score," saying Congress approved 21 of 34 presidential requests and that most of these carried on programs of the previous Democratic Administration.

INDIAN ROOTING-TOOTER—The newest addition to the Midland ball club is a musician of note—but no more than one note. He's Frank Casanova, infielder-catcher, who announces his whereabouts and when the Indians win with a blast on his ever-present cow's horn.

SPORTS PARLEY

By CHARLEY ESKEW

The Midland Indians returned home Friday no longer demoralized and now possessing a new energy. It followed that, with a visit to the clubhouse after they'd whipped San Angelo for an eighth victory in their last nine starts, you could write a volume about their quips and joviality Friday.

A couple of anecdotes should do, however: Their new good humor man, squat Frank Casanova, could hardly get into the conversations since he speaks little English but, as always, he was in on the act. He strolled over to Scooter Hughes, the usual target of his antics, and after first grunting up the attention of all, announced as he raised the shortstop's hand: "Thees is thee chopmen and, ah, thee weener of—eh, the game tonight."

He then trailed his tubby self off into a corner for a mock fist fight with Roger Dalla Betta.

Four Hits To Make Scooter Happy
Scooter's good-humored answer, incidentally, to his hitting three singles in five trips up Friday was that, "I just can't seem to have a good night." It must be assumed, at that rate, that the Scooter considers four hits a game a good night, for he's got as many as three licks in four of the last 12 Midland outings. That from a lightweight who was in the 260's three weeks ago.

As for Bill Brown's seemingly unbelievable catch of Rudy Briner's line drive in the eighth inning, the Pennsylvanian drew a pat on the back for just about every Indian except Pitcher Mike Rainey, who grinned, "Brownie, you would've had a fight on your hands if you'd missed it!"

Brown made the catch going full speed toward the infield, and by retrieving the low liner he gave Rainey a six-hitter instead of a seven.

Casanova—Old Man With A Horn
But back to Casanova, for he's the best morale-building in Midland for several moons. A father of two and a 33-year-old native of Mexico, Casanova came to the Tribe as relief catcher for Art Bowland—but turned out a relief for all.

On reporting from Big Spring, it is said, Casanova came into the clubhouse and announced his arrival with a blast on his ever-present cow's horn. Whereas earlier this season he'd shown a different season. He had 108 in 1951.

His first homer came in the first inning after the Brooks already had picked lefty Fred Baczewski for a run on walks to Junior Gilliam and set a new National League batting record for catchers.

Campy's twenty-eighth and twenty-ninth home runs enabled the Dodgers to keep their seven and one-half game lead over the runner-up Braves and shrug off Redleg homers by Ted Kluszewski, Gus Bell and Willard Marshall.

Young Billy Loes relieved veteran Preacher Roe in the sixth inning and gained credit for the victory, finishing in a blaze of glory by striking out three pinch hitters in the ninth.

Campanella now has driven in 104 runs this season to become the first National League catcher ever to have more than 100 RBIs in two

Oiler Lead Fades; Roswell Wins, 8-4

ROSSELL—(P)—Raul Dieppa hit the first pitch of the game out of the park for a homer, but the Odessa Oilers couldn't hold the lead and fell 8-4 to the Roswell Rockets here Saturday night.

Although Ricky Gonzalez didn't hit the first pitch to him, he too got a lead off homer in the first for Roswell to equal Dieppa's blast and Bill Wollett followed him to the plate and also had a homer the first of his four hits of the night.

The game then settled down a little, but was marked by such things as Rocket starting hurler Bob Weaver being beaned in the third inning and forced to retire from the game.

GRECIAN QUEEN WINS

MILWAUKEE—(P)—Eddie Mathews crashed his thirty-fifth home run of the season and Joe Adcock belted his twelfth Saturday as the Milwaukee Braves beat Pittsburgh, 7-4, before 17,163 fans, one of the smallest home crowds of the year.

Indians Drop Two One-Run Decisions

The Midland Indians, who played "go for broke" baseball through eight of their last nine games, and won, suddenly went busted Saturday night and San Angelo walked off with two one-run victories, 4-3 and 1-0, in a doubleheader here.

The twin setback left the Tribe five and one-half games out of first as Roswell moved in for a two-game series, starting with one game at 5 p.m. Sunday.

Ralph Atkinson will make his first start at home for Midland. As for Saturday night, the league-leading Colts first threw fast-ball pitcher Gil Guerra to the Indians and kept them off balance with Bill Winn, a slow, tantalizing "stut" hurler, in the second game.

Guerra was awarded his victory when Midland lost a 3-0 lead in the top of the seventh and the Colts pushed over a counter in the top of the first extra inning.

Winn, a former Indian, won his own game with a double in the fifth that led to the Colts only run. He gave up only four hits.

The last game was Midland's third reverse since July 29, their third shutout defeat of the season.

And Freddie Rodriguez, dropping his seventh game against six wins, was victim of all three white-washings. The only support he got against Winn were four well scattered singles, by Mickey Diaz in the first inning, by Julio de la Torre in the second, Glenn Selbo in fourth and pinch-hitter Art Bowland in the sixth. Double plays erased two of them and Midland consequently never got a man as far as second base.

Rodriguez was actually effective enough to win just about any ball game but this one for he fanned nine batters and gave up only two walks. The only extra base hit, however, set up his loss when it was followed by an error.

Winn slammed a double into left-center field with one out in the fifth and, after Charlie Gallina fled to center, Steve Follett popped a bouncer to short that got through Scooter Hughes' legs. Winn ran home with the game's only marker. In the first game Max Newcom stopped San Angelo cold on five hits through six innings while his mates pounded Guerra for a 3-0 lead.

Julio de la Torre plated the first two with a home run in the fourth after Art Bowland had lined a one-out triple down the left field line.

The Indians scored their last run as Lou Dawson doubled into left and Mickey Diaz followed with a short single punched over the third baseman. Midland loaded the bases in the sixth with none out but couldn't score.

Seemingly sure of defeat, San Angelo rallied to chase Newcom with three straight hits in the seventh, a double by Rudy Briner, a triple by John Malgarini and a single by Andy Morales.

Pinch-runner Bobby Gregg scored the tying run for Morales as Dick Stone singled off reliever Ralph Blair.

Jack Schaening took over for Blair in the eighth and sustained his third reverse this year when Rudy Briner followed John Tayoan's double with a decisive single into right field.

Among the outstanding plays of the games Glen Selbo made one great running against the wall in centerfield during the first game.

Four Pros Crowd Tam Front Ranks

CHICAGO—(P)—Four veteran pros Saturday slammed into a tie for the 54-hole lead of the $75,000 "world" golf championship to make Sunday's bunched dash for the $25,000 first prize the greatest splash finish ever seen in the Tam O'Shanter extravaganza.

Locked at 209, seven strokes under par, after a third round of blow-ups were Al Besselin, Chandler Harper, Dave Douglas and Doug Ford.

Greatest choke-up in the pressure-laden scramble for the game's richest prize was by Porky Oliver, the halfway leader with a 135.

Oliver drifted to a 37-42-79 Saturday, winding up with a seven on the 410-yard last hole.

Ford, consistent 31-year-old money winner from Harrison, N. Y., had the smoothest sailing of the lot. He came in with a steady 33-34-67 to go with his previous 70-72.

Besselin finished with 34-36-70, Douglas with 34-38-72 and Harper with 35-36-71 to elbow into the 209 bracket with Ford.

Only one shot away at 210 was Lew Worsham, who shared second place with Douglas and Bob Toak at the halfway point with 137.

Clustered at 211 were Julius Boros, the defending champion, with a solid 35-36-71, and Freddie Haas, the new Ryder Cup team member, with a matched pair of 36-36-72.

Four were jammed at 212, including two former national intercollegiate champions, Wally Ulrich, Austin, Minn., and Earl Stewart, Jr., Dallas, Jim Ferrier, Jimmy Demaret and Jack Burke.

The other world championship divisions shaped up this way: Men's amateur: Frank Stranahan with 77 for 215 and a two-stroke margin over Joe Conrad, San Antonio, who bagged a 74.

Women's pros: Louise Suggs with a 75 for 224 and a two-stroke lead over Patty Berg and Babe Zaharias. Women's amateur: "Wiffi" Smith, Guadalajara, Mexico, with 82 for 243 and a whopping 13-stroke lead on Martha Baker, La Orange, Ill.

Surprises Mark Ranchland Hill Tourney

Leaders Play Sub-Par Golf

A pair of surprises marked first round play of the Ranchland Hill Country Club member golf tournament Saturday when Choc Broome and Randy Brown turned in sub-par golf for championship fight victories.

Broome turned back M. R. Proctor, 5 and 4, when he posted a counter count through 14 holes of play while Brown's triumph was even more surprising in that he was low man in championship qualifying with a 77 last Sunday.

Brown this time toured the first 15 holes of the 6,100-yard, par-71 Ranchland layout in one-under-par to sideline W. H. (Slick) Hall, whose 74 last week was among the qualifying leaders.

The Ranchland tourney will continue into its second round Sunday when the same 128 players start cutting the field in half for next weekend's last two matches.

Third fliethers Marshall Cruise vs. T. P. Withrow and B. J. Terrell vs. Ed Zihlman have honors at 9 a.m. Sunday as they start their consolation matches. The complete third flight will tee off at 10-minute intervals with the second, first, championship, fourth, fifth, sixth and seventh flights following in order.

Meanwhile, most of the favorites for the title advanced with one slight upset seeing Kilt Carson, a former crown-holder, slipping into the consolation bracket. He bowed to Bill Hitchcock, 1-up, when the former Odessa Country Club assistant manager holed a 10-foot putt to close the match on No. 18.

The other championship flight results went more to form as medalist Red Watkins, who claimed he wasn't hitting any too well, downed Odory Nelson, 1-up, Carl Peay beat Doyle Patton, Jr., 2 and 1 and former champion Bob Wortman ousted Johnny Sherrod, 4 and 3.

Buddy Branum, also competing in the Lubbock Invitational, had earlier whipped Jim Hogan, 3 and 1, while young Pearl Ward gained a second round spot on default from J. J. Conry.

Bowlers Schedule Ragtime Doubles
More than 50 bowlers are expected to enter a Ragtime Doubles bowling tournament Sunday being sponsored by and held at the Plamor Lanes, 111 North Weatherford Street.

Competing for approximately $300 in prize money will be bowlers from Midland, Big Spring, San Angelo, Abilene, Lamesa, Lubbock, Odessa, Monahans, Kermit, and Hobbs.

Two Campanella Homers Net Six RBI's As Bums Win, 7-4

CINCINNATI—(P)—Burlly Roy Campanella of Brooklyn socked in six runs on two homers Saturday night to grease the skids for Cincinnati's fifth straight defeat, 7-4, and set a new National League batting record for catchers.

Campy's twenty-eighth and twenty-ninth home runs enabled the Dodgers to keep their seven and one-half game lead over the runner-up Braves and shrug off Redleg homers by Ted Kluszewski, Gus Bell and Willard Marshall.

Young Billy Loes relieved veteran Preacher Roe in the sixth inning and gained credit for the victory, finishing in a blaze of glory by striking out three pinch hitters in the ninth.

Campanella now has driven in 104 runs this season to become the first National League catcher ever to have more than 100 RBIs in two different seasons. He had 108 in 1951.

His first homer came in the first inning after the Brooks already had picked lefty Fred Baczewski for a run on walks to Junior Gilliam and set a new National League batting record for catchers.

Campy's twenty-eighth and twenty-ninth home runs enabled the Dodgers to keep their seven and one-half game lead over the runner-up Braves and shrug off Redleg homers by Ted Kluszewski, Gus Bell and Willard Marshall.

Pros Chosen Over College Grid Stars

CHICAGO—(AP)—A pass-expert, speedy collegiate squad will be gunning for an upset against the powerful Detroit Lions in the twentieth annual all-star football game at Soldier Field Friday night.

The game will be telecast nationally at 7:30 p.m. (CST).

The underdog collegians, coached for the second straight year by Bobby Dodd of Georgia Tech, will be quarterbacked by a trio of extraordinary passers, Jack Scarbath of Maryland, Tommy O'Connell of Illinois and Dale Samuels of Purdue.

Their aerial shots to such receivers as Bernie Flowers of Purdue, Paul Dekker of Michigan State and Harry Babcock of Georgia, plus a rugged, mobile defense, could produce the first collegiate triumph since 1929's 17-7 decision over the Philadelphia Eagles.

Pros Lead, 11-6

The series between the cream of the collegiate crop and the champions in the National Football League now stands 11-6 in favor of the pros with two ties.

As usual, Dodd has rounded up the best available performers from the 1952 collegiate season. A notable absentee is halfback Billy Vessels of Oklahoma, who is committed to start Canadian play the same night of the all-star game.

Dodd's elite "half-hundred" lists eight players from the All-America squad of last fall.

Although offensive tactics will catch the eyes of the nation's TV fans, this contest may resolve into a superb defensive battle.

Defensive Speed

All-star success against the behemoth pros always has hinged on defensive finesse and this collegiate team may offer surprising resistance to the pro champion Lions.

The collegians aren't heavy as pro weights go, but they have fine defensive speed, especially at the halfback positions where Lion pressure will be applied by Bobby Layne's passing to 230-pound Leon Hart, Cloyce Box and the other fine Detroit receivers.

Midland Little League Stars, San Angelo Foes In Sectional

CRANE—The announcement of a New Mexico state champion was awaited here Saturday in order to complete the four-team Little League sectional tournament this week.

Already Midland's South Little League All-Stars, San Angelo's East club and McCamey are on line for the opening games Tuesday, with Midland scheduled to pair off against San Angelo for the first one at 6 p.m. It probably will be sometime Sunday before the Rev.

R. O. Tomlinson, Section IV tourney director, is notified of the New Mexico district winner. The finals to decide who would represent New Mexico here were set for Saturday night in Roswell.

Whichever wins at Roswell will play McCamey, the district winner at Odessa last week, at 8 p.m. Tuesday. Finals in the single-elimination meet here. Mr. Tomlinson announced, will be held at 8 p.m. Wednesday.

On the McCamey club are Bubba Jordan, Jimmy Bone, Glen Williamson, Robert Marquez, Gerald Scott, W. L. Thomas, Gene Rowell, Manuel Caraco, Mike Pirkle, Jimmy Bowden, George Henry MacMarion, Jerry Pullian, Nelson Huffman, along with Managers Joe Conger and Ed Thorp.

Softball Star Game Booked By JayCees

Softball for the two JayCee 1953 leagues, the American and National, draws to a climax Thursday when the members of both circuits tangle at 8 p.m. on Wadley Field in their all-star classic.

The two champions, Western Inspection of the National and Tide Water of the American, will spend Monday until the time of the stars' clash in completing their best-of-five game championship series. They renew their match at 8 p.m. Monday all deadlocked, 1-1, after last week's games.

Martin Allday, co-chairman of the leagues, said Saturday that the two managers for clubs will be from the regular season winners. Henry Shaw of Tide Water will direct the Americans and Joe Dicus will manage the Nationals.

Pitching assignments for both all-star clubs already have been passed out with Milt Montgomery of Western Inspection scheduled to work the first three innings for the Nationals. He will be followed by Jack Dunlap of Rotary and Barney Higower of Humble, both to toss two innings.

Johnny Atwood of Southwestern Bell will open for three innings and Charles (Bo) Wise of Tide Water and teammate Bobby Tremble to follow.

The JayCees will give awards to both teams players and present the overall city trophy during pregame ceremonies, Allday said.

NEGRO TOURNAMENT SET FOR KATY PARK

WACO—(AP)—The ninth annual State negro Semi-pro Baseball Tournament will be held at Katy Park here August 14 to September 7.

Sixteen teams will participate and play for $3,500 in prizes.

It will be the first baseball at Katy Park since it was leveled by a tornado May 11.

The Waco club of the Big State League was forced to move to Longview because of the damage to the park.

Yanks Sink Soxers With Two Shutouts

NEW YORK—(AP)—Rookie Bob Boyd's double ruined lefty Bob Kuzava's no-hit bid after eight and a third hitless innings Saturday as the New York Yankees left-hander pitched a 1-hit shutout to complete a doubleheader sweep over the Chicago White Sox, 1-0 and 2-0. The double victory, before the season's largest Yankee Stadium crowd, 56,787 paid, boosted the Yankees' American League lead to eight full games.

Kuzava needed only two more outs for a no-hit, no-run game when Boyd doubled to right center. The next two White Sox went down quietly.

Although the big crowd, that actually numbered 66,529 counting ladies, press and servicemen, had its fill of thrills in the opener, Kuzava topped it as he marched steadily toward that no-hitter in the second.

The 30-year-old veteran from Wyandotte, Mich., who has pitched for Cleveland, Chicago, Washington and New York in a big league career dating back to 1947, walked three and struck out four.

Kuzava lost all chances of a perfect game on the very first batter when he walked leadoff man Boyd in the first inning, but the negro first baseman was cut down trying to steal second. Bob Wilson walked with two out in the fifth and was left. Minoso also was walked with one gone in the seventh but was forced by Rocky Krsnich on a bounce to Phil Rizuto.

Bosox Rally To Nip Tribe

BOSTON—(AP)—After spotting the Cleveland Indians four runs in the first inning, the Boston Red Sox settled down behind Relief Pitcher Sid Hudson Saturday to pull out a 5-4 victory. Rookie outfielder Tom Umphlett drove in three of the Boston tallies with a double and a single in the first and third frames.

The Indians gave starter Bill Henry harsh treatment, scoring all of their runs on four hits in the first inning.

The score: R H E Cleveland 400 000 0-4 10 0 Boston 302 000 0x-5 7 0 Wynn and Hegan, Tipton; Henry, Hudson and White.

Two Big Innings Beat Tigers, 9-5

PHILADELPHIA—(AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics erupted with two big innings—a four-run fifth and a five-run seventh—to beat the Detroit Tigers and an old jinx, right-hander Steve Gromek, 9-5, Saturday.

Joe DeMaestri, with a double and his fifth home run, featured the Philadelphia attack. Catcher Matt Batts, with a double and two homers before he was injured by a foul tip and replaced by John Bucha, was the big punch for the losers.

The score: R H E Detroit 001 002 101-5 9 1 Philadelphia 000 040 50x-9 14 0 Gromek, Herbert and Batts, Bucha; Martin and Murray.

George Wilson, outfielder for the Minneapolis Millers in the American Association, recently hit three home runs in three successive innings against Kansas City. The innings were the sixth, seventh and eighth.

The only no-hitter pitched in the majors this season was thrown by Alva (Bob) Holloman of the St. Louis Browns against the Philadelphia A's, May 6. Holloman later flopped and now is pitching for Toronto in the International League.

First game: R H E Chicago 000 000 000-0 5 1 New York 000 000 001-1 9 0 Conesera and Wilson; Ford and Berra.

Second game: R H E Chicago 000 000 000-0 1 0 New York 110 000 01x-3 7 0 Trucks and Wilson; Kuzava and Berra.

City To Sponsor Tennis Tourney

The City of Midland takes over tennis for two tournaments this month when it stages the Second Annual City Championships August 18-23 and the Midland Invitational, tentatively arranged for August 28-30.

Assistant City Manager Morris Howard announced the dates for the two tourneys Saturday after a meeting of tennis enthusiasts was held last week to organize, under city direction, the championships which the Midland JayCees initiated in 1952.

The group elected J. Bryan Elder as chairman for the city tourney and named Myrt Baker as the secretary to receive entries.

The city will back this second local tournament after "The JayCees did an excellent job of inaugurating the first meet last year," Morris said.

He said that a number of winners and players from the earlier event would be back to compete in 1953. A large field competed in the inaugural.

Howard said that 12 courts are available for this year's action, at the high school, at both Cowden and San Jacinto Junior High's and at Permian Estates and Johnson and Carter Streets.

Eight events will be on the program, men's veterans singles and doubles, women's singles, men's singles and doubles, junior boys' singles and doubles, junior girls' singles and doubles and mixed doubles. There will be no women's doubles division.

Under the city rules any player 17 and under before January 1 will be eligible for the junior play while those men over 35 are eligible for the veterans division.

The tourney officials said a good number of last year's titlists would return. The winners were Winston Farquar, men's singles and Paul Hurley and Bob Patterson in men's doubles; Bob Barnes in veterans singles and Leo Brady and Arch McCool in veterans; Barbara Miller in women's singles; Pat Bowles in junior girls' singles and John Lawhorn in junior boys singles.

Plans for the Invitational tourney will be announced in the near future.

As for the Midland entry, it will be seeking a second trip to the regionals in three years. The 1951 club won before being eliminated at Houston and the 1952 team lost in the finals of the sectional.

The South starts edged by Lubbock, 4-2, Wednesday in the district finals at Plainview for a third successive spot at the sectional crown.

McCamey beat El Paso, 1-0, in the district meet at Odessa Wednesday and San Angelo won over Brownwood, 4-1, at Abilene Friday.

Mr. Tomlinson, who is pastor of the First Methodist Church of Crane, said that the city is expecting a capacity crowd of more than 800 to attend each session of this week's tournament at Little League Park. He said that no admission is being charged for the games but that a collection will be made in order to defray some of the winners' expenses to Austin's Region VII meet.

He listed these officials as part of the staff conducting the tourney: J. B. Roach, C. E. Liles and J. W. Teague as umpires and Lee Borden as official scorer.

It is Crane's first sectional tourney after three years of Little League activity in West Texas.

Frogs Is Frogs

ALBUQUERQUE—(AP)—New Mexico statutes call the bullfrog an animal but the State Game Commission says bullfrogs are fish.

Season on bullfrogs: September 1-15. Says the game commission: They must be hunted with fishing equipment and eight is the daily limit.

Late South Spree Nips North, 13-6; Friday Shows Well

By ABE WEINER
Reporter-Telegram Staff

HOUSTON—Following the strategy of a Confederate soldier—Nathan Bedford Forrest—proved disastrous for the North.

The Yankees got there "hustled with the mostest," but the South All-Stars' reserve wasn't used fully until the second half. It then proved fruitful enough for the South's ninth victory in the 19-game series, 13-6, Friday night.

Respect for Doyle Traylor's passing eventually determined the outcome, for it enabled the South to exploit its running possibilities. Three rapier-like thrusts in the third period netted the Rebels 72 yards and the winning touchdown.

Thereafter, the North's prowess quickly deteriorated while the South continued to grow bolder and bolder.

Three lads stood out like a sparkling diamond on a new bride's finger. They were Traylor, Jack Webb of North Side (Port Worth) and Norman Hamilton of Vanderbilt Industrial.

Webb, the North's main threat—he carried 19 times and netted 113 yards for a 5.8 average—was chosen the most valuable back. Hamilton, whose defensive play netted the North constantly, was named the most valuable lineman.

Midland's Larry Friday, who was on the spot because of his selection to the North team, acquitted himself well. His blocking provided the North with many gains it could not have otherwise made.

He shared the blocking job back chores with all-starter Neal Williams of Gladewater, although he carried the heaviest burden. Williams played almost the entire game defensively and was undoubtedly the best defensive back on the field.

Statistically, the game was as even as the score indicated. The North gained 167 yards rushing and 19 passing while the South netted 98 rushing and 91 passing.

The North's right defensive line was below par, and it was this weakness that Traylor exploited in the winning touchdown march.

He initiated the 72-yard drive himself with a 21-yard dash inside left end while the other three backs headed in the opposite direction. Then he sent Jack Throckmorton of LaMarque scrambling over left tackle for 14 yards to the North 25, and culminated his excellent play selection handing over to Jackie Flacks of Giddings, who scampered between left guard and left tackle for 10 yards, cut to the sidelines and found running room to paydirt.

Gerald Orton converted, giving the South the winning points.

The North scored first on an 11-play, 77-yard drive in the second quarter. After Orton kicked out on the North 23, Webb got a key block by Friday at the line of scrimmage and went through right tackle for 41 yards to the South 36, evading everyone but Orton in the process.

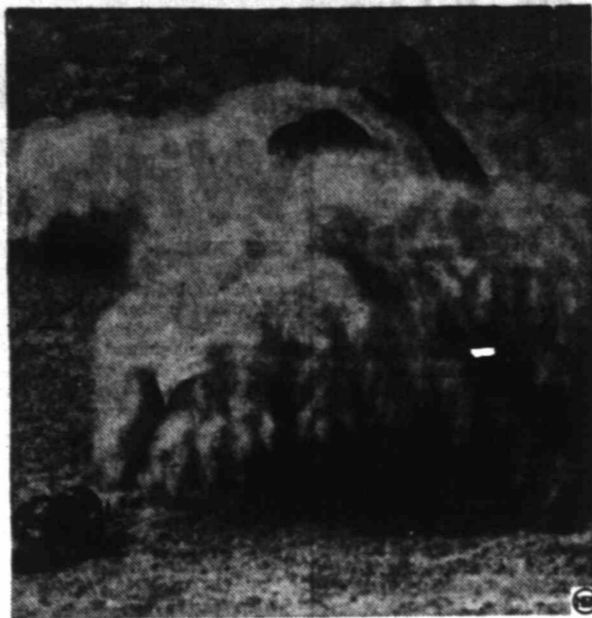

Leonius Fry of Brownwood picked up five yards, and Fred Kris of Austin (El Paso) added a like number. The North drew an offside penalty then, but Fry gained 10 to the South 20. Webb gained three, and then on a quick opener at right tackle, nine more to the eight.

Friday jumped offside, but then laid a fine block to help Webb gain the 10-yard marker. Webb plunged to the five and then to the four from where Fry cut back over right tackle for the North's touchdown. Friday's kick was low, and the score remained, 6-0.

The South drove right back with the tying TD. Starting from the 34, Traylor passed to Everett Sallee for 13 yards and to James Peters for nine more to the 46. Traylor kept and made three, and then tossed to Flacks for 10 to the North 34.

Throckmorton gained four to the 30 and five more to the 28, and then came the freak play of the game. Traylor faded, was chased by three defenders, but lofted a throw intended for Left End Norman Caruthers of Edison (San Antonio). The throw was five yards short of the goal line where Caruthers and a blue-shirted defender were waiting, but Reuben Stage of Bellville came out of a pack to get under the throw and romp untouched through the surprised defenders.

HIYO, SILVER—You'd never know it, but this is Harvey Kuenn sliding home in a cloud of dust. The Detroit shortstop was safe. The camouflage would fool any catcher. (NEA)

LONGHORN STATISTICS— Trio Wages Batting Dogfight

A couple of long-range bombers—Joe Bauman of Artesia and Ike Jackson of Carlsbad—are in pursuit of lightweight Elias Osorio of Carlsbad this week for a dogfight over the Longhorn League batting championship.

Osorio continues as the top hitter with a .389 average on 125 hits in 321 trips but Bauman, who went for a month of the season with an under-300 mark, presses him just three points back. Jackson, the first negro to play regularly in the circuit and the first to participate in its all-star game, also bids well, with a current .385 mark, to become its first negro batting leader.

A couple of Midland hitters, Art Bowland and Julio de la Torre, rank as the next two in line with .372 and .371 averages.

Bauman, the homer leader in 1952, at last caught Glen Burns of San Angelo in the four-bagger department after his slow start. Both now have 30. Merv Connors of Carlsbad and Les Mulcahy, league's biggest batting threat, trail at 29.

Mulcahy, Artesia, owns the most runs batted in with 118, the most hits with 128 and the most doubles with 35. Bauman scored 94 times, Roman Loyko of Odessa and John Jeandron of San Angelo tripled 11 times and Leo Eastham of Odessa stole 34 bases as other blue ribbon leaders.

Gene Wolf of Carlsbad at 16-4 and Len Ruyle of Artesia at 16-7 are the biggest winners among the pitchers. And Marshall Epperson of Carlsbad is the whiff king after 158 strikeouts.

BRITON MILER UPSETS SANTEE

LONDON —P— Gordon Pirie of Great Britain, six-mile world record breaker, edged out Wes Santee of Kansas, in the ballyhooed "Mile of the Century" race at White City Stadium Saturday before a wildly roaring crowd of 46,000. The time was 4:06.3.

Pirie, never known as a runner with a strong finishing kick, actually outran Santee down the stretch of the race which track fans had hoped would produce the long-awaited four-minute mile.

Church League Nines Slate Playoff Start For August 24

Midland JayCees, softball sponsors for the city, Saturday announced a tentative schedule for the Church League playoffs.

At present, First Methodist and St. Luke's, in a top place tie, and St. Andrews appear shoo-ins for the playoffs.

Martin Alday, co-chairman of the leagues, said the tentative starting date for the playoffs is August 24 when the second and third place clubs square off in a sudden death game.

The regular season titlist and the sudden-death winner then will meet in a best-of-three game series.

St. Andrews Presbyterian needed only three innings Friday night to become the third six-game winner in the Church League.

St. Andrews ran up a 19-11 margin over hapless St. Marks and moved

Grand Slam By Bowland Sinks Colts

A fifth Midland pitcher within a week indicated that the Indians mound staff was whipping into shape after a season of trial and error when Mike Rainey went the route Friday to whip San Angelo, 11-4.

Freddie Rodriguez, Jack Schaenling and Max Newcom and Romario Soto spun complete games earlier as part of the best pitching string for Midland since the first of the season.

Rainey, who yielded six hits in all, started shakily to give up two walks, a single, a hit batsman and a triple to Charlie Galina as San Angelo scored four runs in the first inning. But once Midland tallied once in the same inning, Art Bowland thereafter made it easy for Rainey to coast to victory.

Bowland came to bat in the bottom of the second inning after Colt Starter Bobby Gregg gave up a run to Scooter Hughes and Roger Dalla Betta single and an error and another walk filled the bases. Bowland then swatted a grooved Gregg toss over the left field fence, Midland's first grand slam home run of the season. It put the Tribe up front, 6-4, a lead it never relinquished even as Lew Lozano relieved Gregg in the third frame and pitched creditably.

Following a single Colt run in the third, Rainey blanked San Angelo by seven-strikeout pitching for his third win this season.

Hughes paced the hitters with three singles.

Prisoners Murder Federal Marshal

ADAIRSVILLE, GA. —(AP)— A deputy U. S. marshal was killed Saturday, apparently by two prisoners, and his body thrown from his car.

The car was found five miles west of Adayrsville less than three hours after the shooting. FBI agents, state patrolmen and county officers used bloodhounds to search the hilly area nearby.

Marshal Sam E. Vaughn, 54, of Murfreesboro, Tenn., was shot five times. The slaying occurred two miles south of Adayrsville on U. S. Highway 41. The prisoners fled with the son of a Nashville, Tenn., jailer, whose fate remains a mystery.

After Vaughn's body was thrown out, the car continued south. Sam Holcomb, a Barstow County farmer, told the Georgia State Patrol three men remained in it.

Vaughn left Nashville earlier Saturday to take Eugene Juellich, alias Paul Cordo, 25, of Montana, and Woodard Larson, 31, of St. Paul, Minn., to the federal prison in Atlanta. They were sentenced in Federal Court at Nashville Thursday to five years each for transporting a stolen car across a state line.

Steps For Help

In Nashville, Vaughn asked for help and George Hightower, 24, son of Lester Hightower, turnkey at the Davidson County jail, was deputized and departed with Vaughn and the prisoners.

Aubrey Cook, Murfreesboro service station owner, said Vaughn stopped at his place and told him, "These two guys are the toughest prisoners I have ever transported."

The Georgia State Patrol office in Cartersville said the shooting witness reported the car went out of control and into a ditch. But after Vaughn's body was thrown out, it pulled back on the highway and continued south. The witness said three men remained in it, but he was not close enough to report any other details.

FOR LOOKING AND RUNNING

WICHITA FALLS —(AP)— The age of the consumer is coming back. A Wichita Falls television dealer is announcing in the Sunday Times that he will give clear title to a licensed automobile with each new television set purchased at regular price from his next week.

Automobiles are in running condition—that's all he promises.

Southwestern Bell Studies New Demand For Wage Increases

ST. LOUIS —(AP)— The Southwestern Bell Telephone Company is studying a new union wage proposal, submitted Friday after CIO workers rejected the last company offer.

The company spokesman didn't say what was in the union counterproposal but said it appeared "generally unacceptable."

Frank P. Lonergan, vice president of the union's District 6, who announced the union rejection, said the last company offer averaged only three and one-half cents an hour, or $1.40 a week.

He said any offer less than seven and one-half cents an hour would not be acceptable since some other Bell system units have granted that much. The $3,000,000 union employees new contract between 1953 and 1956 would depend on classification.

The union negotiating committee has authority to call a strike at any time but Lonergan said every effort will be made to reach an agreement without a walkout.

Atom Spies May Have Tipped Kremlin On H-Bomb During World War II Days

WASHINGTON —(AP)— There's a possibility that Russia was at least tipped off to begin thinking about a city-wrecking hydrogen bomb as far back as World War II days when Americans were working on an A-bomb but dreaming of a hydrogen weapon.

The tip-off may have come from Klaus Fuchs, German-born scientist and worker on both the American and British atom projects, who confessed to feeding atomic information to the Russians. He worked on the American project between 1943 and 1946 and was working on the British project when arrested in 1950.

The Soviet may have gotten even more specific information to help them in the H-bomb quest in the Fall of 1950 from an atomic scientist familiar with American and British projects who reportedly fled at that time behind the Iron Curtain.

He is Dr. Bruno Pontecorvo, Italian-born physicist. The U. S. Joint Congressional Atom Energy Committee once said Pontecorvo, along with Fuchs and other persons, "advanced the Soviet atomic energy program" at least 18 months ahead of where it otherwise might have been.

The committee, in a document published in April of 1951, said Fuchs "took part in making the earliest atomic bomb; he was privy to ideas and plans for improved atomic weapons; and he possessed insights into the thinking of the period as regards the hydrogen bomb."

The same document said of Pontecorvo that his more recent studies prior to his disappearance "included work upon tritium, a substance intimately related to the hydrogen bomb."

Tritium is one of the two forms "heavy" hydrogen which top scientists have said would be used as materials in an H-bomb—a weapon theoretically capable of causing total destruction of buildings in a circle 20 miles in diameter, and burning many people to death in a 40-mile circle. The bomb conceivably could spread deadly radioactivity over wide areas.

Such a weapon, in a single strike, scientists estimate, would be capable of destroying much of greater New York, or city areas of similar size.

Eisenhowers Start Colorado Vacation

DENVER —(AP)— A plane bringing President Eisenhower and his wife, Mamie, to Denver for a three or four-week holiday, set down late Saturday at Lowry Air Force Base.

The four-engine Constellation Columbine broke through an overcast sky to the cheers of an assembled crowd of Lowry Air Force personnel and their families.

Smiling, Dwight D. Eisenhower stepped from the plane wearing a 10-gallon hat and flanked by his 21-man honor guard and passed through a contingent of Lowry airmen and WAF's. The honor guard substituting for the traditional 21-gun artillery salute.

The President addressed the crowd briefly.

"I can't tell you how glad we are to be here," he said. "We have been looking forward to this moment every hour we have been away."

"I especially want to thank this grand honor guard."

The President and his wife were then hustled into a bright Red convertible. Flanked by many Secret Service men, the parade moved down the runway and into a gate massed with cheering spectators.

Following in the procession were Gov. Dan Thornton and Mrs. Thornton, Maj. Gen. G. O. Parcus, Acting Denver Mayor Thomas P. Campbell and Mrs. Campbell.

The procession moved directly toward the house of Mrs. Eisenhower's mother, Mrs. John S. Doud. Eisenhower will have office headquarters here at Lowry base and plans to leave the city for some fishing after spending most of next week cleaning up official business.

Among other things, the President is expected to sign several score bills which came to his White House desk with the adjournment of Congress last week.

No other details of the President's Colorado jaunt have been announced.

Knowland Suggests Red H-Bomb Claim 'Fishing Expedition'

OAKLAND, CALIF. —(AP)— Senator William F. Knowland, a member of the Atomic Energy Committee, suggested Saturday the possibility of a "fishing expedition" by the Russians in their announcement they have the hydrogen bomb.

Knowland, the new Republican floor leader, arrived Home Saturday but declined comment on Premier Georgi Malenkov's statement to the Russian parliament.

He pointed out to a news conference that he has avoided comment on atomic questions ever since he became a member of the Joint Atomic Energy Committee.

He explained that any comment coming from him, in view of the information he has, might give the Russians an opportunity to learn something.

Then he suggested the Russians might be seeking information by reaction to Malenkov's announcement.

Gasoline Truck-Car Crash Fatal To Two

VICTORIA —(AP)— Flaming gasoline from a wrecked truck burned two people to death near here Saturday.

Killed were Mrs. Winnie Faye Denman, 38, Placedo, and George H. Eller, 64, Victoria.

Eller was driving a gasoline truck and Mrs. Denman a car when the two vehicles collided.

As they crawled from the wrecked vehicles, the gasoline truck exploded and the flaming liquid engulfed the two.

Mrs. Willie Mae Landa, 41, sister of Mrs. Denman and a passenger in the car, was seriously injured.

Higher Water Revenues

There will be no general wage increases, Oswald said, although a few are included.

"These," he said, "are in individual cases where we feel rates are due on a merit basis."

In the water fund, revenues from the sale of water are expected to increase from $685,000 to $760,000, the major item in the total $616,100 in anticipated revenues.

Of the $616,230 proposed expenditures in the water fund, the largest item is the $561,000 needed for servicing bonded indebtedness.

Other water fund expenditures, with the current expenditures listed first:

Accounting and collecting, $54,365 and $54,325; water production, $94,015 and $90,705; water distribution, $225,895 and $142,405; sanitary sewer, $81,805 and $48,925; sewage disposal plant, $11,010 and $19,390; sewer farm, $2,500 and $1,500.

Re-Sale Of Drouth Relief Feed By Ranchmen Charged

PORT WORTH —(AP)— Petitions for a national investigation were being prepared Saturday night into charges that ranchers buying drouth relief cottonseed meal at $35 a ton are re-selling it at $45 a ton.

W. Floyd Deacon, Grapevine, former president of the Texas Feed Manufacturers Association, told the Star-Telegram he had been informed that offers of meal at $45 had been made to Middle West brokers by Texas ranchers.

The Star-Telegram in its Sunday editions also quotes Deacon as saying many ranchers have acquired at the government's bargain price as much as two years' supply of meal, although the Production and Marketing Administration had instructed local committees to allow only 30 days' supply at a time.

Deacon said he would try to contact U. S. Representative Lucas (D-Texas) over the weekend to see if an investigation either by a congressional committee or national headquarters of PMA could not be initiated.

D. R. Crowley, president of the Texas Feed Manufacturers Association, told the Star-Telegram from San Antonio there had been numerous abuses of the drouth aid program.

He cited a case of a man who, although he has no basic herd, had arranged to get the best carload of steer corn that comes into Beza County. He also asserted the first applicant for relief in Beza County drove up in a 1953 Cadillac, and now is back hunting in Alaska.

Feed Dealers Face Charge Of Wool Men

SAN ANGELO —(AP)— The president of the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers Association Saturday night asked that officials of Texas feed associations "put up or shut up" on their charges of drouth feed allotments.

"Those voicing these grave rumors of profiteering re-sale of feed and hoarding of the feed should be prepared to back up their charges under oath," Penrose B. Metcalfe, San Angelo, the Sheep and Goat Raisers Association president, declared.

"I know the association would welcome an investigation," Metcalfe said. "If even isolated reports should prove true it would be regrettable. But I don't believe it's true."

"I don't know of any ranchman who has obtained even a full 30-day supply of feed," Metcalfe declared. "Because there are millions of heads of drouth-stricken livestock and the need is so great, the feed has been received in dribbles by the growers."

Metcalfe said he was one of the first to order feed under the program and "so far I haven't got a grain of it." Metcalfe continued, "But I believe the county committees are responsible people and are doing well under difficult circumstances. The program is just now getting under way, and without full cooperation in some quarters."

Metcalfe added that the growers repeatedly have been receiving rumors that the feed processors were fighting the government drouth relief program.

Drouth Area Stockmen Feel Effects Of Beef Purchases

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The government's beef-purchasing program is bringing increased returns to livestock growers in drouth-stricken areas of the Southwest, Representative Brooks (D-Texas) said Saturday.

After a conference with Agriculture Department officials, Brooks told a reporter approximately 25 million pounds of lower-grade beef has been bought by the Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC). A total of 300 million pounds is scheduled for purchase under the price-support program.

Purchases have been filled primarily from cutter and canner grades, originating from grass-fed animals, Brooks said. Cattle, once selling at 10 cents a pound on the hoof, now are bringing 12 1/2 cents, he added.

Brooks said John Davis, assistant secretary of Agriculture, indicated the purchase program may be carried beyond the presently authorized 200-million-pound mark to keep prices at the present level.

CCC purchases of beef last week totaled 11,300,000 pounds, he said. The previous week's purchases totaled 8,500,000 pounds, and the preceding week's 5,500,000 pounds, he reported.

Brooks quoted Davis as expressing hope that the buying can be stepped up to 25 million pounds a week, with this week's purchases near 15 million pounds.

He said Agriculture Department officials told him some big chain food stores soon will launch an advertising drive to encourage increased consumption of hamburger, wieners and other meats utilizing lower grade beef.

Refugee Says Poles Await War, Chance To Fight Reds

BAYREITH, GERMANY —(AP)— Three refugees from Red-ruled Poland said Saturday if Russia and the United States ever go to war the Polish people will take to the woods and fight underground against the Russians.

"They are just waiting for that war to start," said Stefan Kaszor, 28-year-old watchmaker from Pleszcyce, Poland, who was a fighter in the anti-Communist Polish underground.

Kaszor, his wife Janina, 28, and her brother, Michal Bandurski, 27, escaped into West Germany August 1 after a daring 300-mile flight on foot through Poland, Czechoslovakia and East Germany.

They told the story of their adventurous escape at a news conference.

But the American authorities restrained the fugitives from telling very much about the operation of the Polish underground, apparently desiring to keep secret whatever intelligence material may have been gleaned from their stories.

Midland's Public School Activities Start August 24

Week Set Aside For Registration

A full week of registration for Midland School students which begins August 24, will mark the beginning of Fall school activities here.

In preparation for the coming year, two workshop programs are being conducted this Summer for teachers and parents and members of the cafeteria staffs.

Frank Monroe, school superintendent, announced that senior high school students will begin registering August 24 and end August 31 whereas junior high school students will start on the same date but end on August 28.

Two Special Workshops

Elementary school students will register on Monday, August 31 and Tuesday, September 1. Expected to register on those dates are all first grade pupils, all other elementary pupils who were not enrolled in the Midland Schools at the close of the 1952-53 school year, and all pupils who now live in a different school attendance area from the one they were in last year.

The special workshop programs are being conducted this Summer including the Summer workshop for teachers and parents and the cafeteria workshop.

The teacher and parent workshop, which is due to open Monday, at 8 a.m. in the Sam Houston Elementary School, 3000 West Louisiana Street, is to study problems of real concern related to the enrichment of the learning experiences of boys and girls in Midland.

Activities To Speak

The activities of the workshop will include discussions, reading, lectures, field trips, and films, said Monroe. All parents wishing to attend may enroll Monday, August 10 at the Sam Houston Elementary School. A small tuition fee of $10 will be charged for full time participation.

The general sessions of the teacher-parent workshop will feature speeches by leaders in various fields. Frank Monroe will talk on "School Services in Midland." Dr. James Knight, University of Texas, "Remarks of Value in Classroom Activities." Jack Keese, city traffic engineer, "Traffic Safety in the School."

Jim Lindsay, Reporter-Telegram managing editor, "When Schools are News," and Mrs. J. B. Elder, leader of the City-Council P-TA, will speak on "Mothers Look at the Schools."

New Courses Added
Midland High School is endeavoring to keep pace with the needs of its students by adding courses that will be the most beneficial to them.

In the field of industrial arts, a course in diversified occupation is being offered. This course allows students to work in various type of work organizations for one half day and go to school one half day. By this means, a student gets actual on the job training and credit for school work at the same time.

To the shop, metal work has been added; to the foreign language, third year Spanish and French; in the commercial department, second year shorthand has been added and a special room has been provided for transcription and office practice.

The choral and speech departments are being expanded by the addition of more teachers and equipment.

Agriculture Emphasis
Bids will be received within a few days for the construction of four new barns for the Vocational Agriculture Department, Monroe said.

Classes in Industrial Cooperative Training (formerly called Diversified Occupations) are the most recent additions to the Midland High School curriculum.

These classes afford students of junior and senior standing practical and theoretical training in a variety of industrial trades.

Practical work experiences are provided the student through part time employment each afternoon at some cooperating business.

The course which is set up for two years of training and carries affiliated credits, provides technical instruction on a supervised basis.

Occupation Vs. Education
Typically acceptable occupations include auto mechanics, auto body repairing, electrical work, building trades, meat cutting, machine shop work, radio servicing, refrigeration servicing and welding.

The program will operate under the direction of N. R. Vaughn, coordinator, who will be responsible for the selection and placement of students and will correlate their practical and technical training. An advisory committee of local business men will be set up by the school to assist Vaughn in organizing and operating the new program.

In commenting upon the new program, Supt. Frank Monroe said: "We feel that the inclusion of this type of program will do much to provide the youth of Midland a well rounded educational program that will fulfill the need for down to earth training. It will enable that portion of our students who desire to become occupationally competent to enter fulltime employment upon graduating from high school."

Cafeteria Workshop
The three-week long cafeteria workshop will begin Monday, August 10 and will end August 28, being held in the Sam Houston School cafeteria for the purpose of training cafeteria personnel in such things as job instruction, food storage, use of equipment, sanitation, and food preparation.

Gun-Totin' Pair Save Cab Expense In Police Car Ride

CHICAGO—(P)—Heavily armed police closed in as the big plane arrived at Midway Airport from New York Friday.

The pilot had radioed ahead. The hostess saw two male passengers packing guns.

Detective Lt. William Walsh spied the men. He politely asked them if they'd like a "lift" downtown. They accepted, and Lieutenant Walsh and his men sped the pair to police headquarters.

At headquarters, the pair readily produced their guns. They also showed their identity cards. One was a captain, the other a lieutenant on the New York police force.

Red-faced Chicago police drove the two to their Loop hotel.

"We saved cab fare," said the New Yorkers.

Three Major Crop Control Indications Due This Week

WASHINGTON—(P)—This week may show how far the Eisenhower Administration will have to go next year in applying crop controls it has pledged to hold to a minimum.

On Monday, the Agriculture Department will release the first official estimate of the size of this year's cotton crop. Should it exceed 12 million bales, controls on the 1954 crop would appear unavoidable.

Another report, to be issued Tuesday, will give the latest forecast of the corn crop. Should it exceed 2,400,000,000 bushels, controls would be considered for this crop next year. A forecast last month put corn at 2,350,000,000 bushels.

On Friday growers will vote in a nation-wide referendum on rigid marketing quotas for next year's wheat crop. Proclaimed recently by Secretary of Agriculture Benson, the quotas must be approved by at least two-thirds of the growers voting before they become effective.

Benson will not be required to make an immediate decision on cotton and corn controls. The law gives him until October 15 to decide about cotton and until November 15 on corn. It would be possible for the crop outlook to change enough in the meantime to avoid the rigid penalty-involving marketing quotas.

But chances appeared slim that use of the less-restrictive acreage planting allotments could be avoided.

Seymour Tot Drowns
SEYMOUR—(P)—William Bradford Halloway, seven, drowned Friday below Lake Kemp Dam. He was the son of B. W. Halloway, Crowell.

Eisenhower Refuses To Permit Exceptions To VA Benefit Laws

WASHINGTON—(P)—President Eisenhower says the federal programs for veterans and beneficiaries, "if they are to be successful, require unwavering uniformity of rule and equality of treatment."

With that comment, he refused Friday to sign two private relief bills which would have relaxed rigid legal requirements in two hardship cases.

One would have authorized a widow's pension for Mary Thalia Worrack Webb of Oklahoma City, Okla., who was unable to prove that Jim Henry Webb, a World War I veteran, had obtained a legal divorce before she married him 18 years before his death.

The other would have permitted Ethel Hudson Morrison of Concord, Richmond County, N. C., aunt of the late Peter B. Bost whom she reared, to collect remaining payments on his National Service Life Insurance. Bost died before the law was changed to permit naming of an aunt as principal or contingent beneficiary. Bost's mother died after collecting 62 monthly payments of $76.70 each, and the aunt sought the remainder.

Freight Hops Tracks

CORONA—(P)—Four freight cars were derailed Friday in the Southern Pacific yards. They snapped several telephone poles. Thirty-five long distance lines were interrupted.

Veterinary Board Includes Angloan

AUSTIN—(P)—Appointment of a six-man state board of veterinary medical examiners was announced by Governor Allan Shivers Saturday.

The board was named under provisions of the veterinary licensing act passed by the Legislature this year.

Dr. Raymond Hander of Windthorst, Archer county, and Dr. G. D. Stallworth of Austin were appointed to six-year terms; Dr. Druce S. Ward of Fort Worth and Dr. Henry K. Maier of Beaumont, four-year terms; and Dr. Charles Koberg of San Angelo and Dr. Charles A. Thompson of Dalhart two-year terms.

Drouth Area Study Shows Strain Eases

FORT WORTH—(AP)—Things are looking up in the Texas and Oklahoma drouth areas, the Southwest soil conservation chief said Saturday.

Two-thirds of the great drouth area still is bone dry. But Louis P. Merrill, regional director of the Soil Conservation Service, said 43 counties in West Texas and 10 in Oklahoma show "greatly improving" soil moisture because of rains the last month.

He reported adequate soil moisture and cover in all of Louisiana, 30 counties of Arkansas, 75 counties of East Texas and the eastern half of Oklahoma.

Returning from a trip into the Western Plains, Merrill said farmers are racing to get cover crops on their land to prevent Winter and Spring wind erosion—and their chances look fairly good.

He added, "General rains are still needed before the extreme drouth is relieved."

Merrill said the rush to get cover crops planted is "one of the most determined" in recent years.

"Hundreds of thousands of acres" in the Plains "already have gone into grain sorghums, sweet sorghums, sudan grass and other cover-producing crops," he said. "Most of the plantings are up to good stands and with a good rain or two would make needed cover or even a crop of grain, barring early frost."

In the Panhandle of Texas and in Northwestern Oklahoma, sizable areas have accumulated moisture for wheat planting next fall, but too many farmers are turning under effective stubble mulch before sufficient moisture has been trapped to sustain a stand of wheat."

He said range grasses are growing rapidly in the rain-blessed counties, but there is a temptation to turn too many cows loose on pastures that still are in only poor to fair condition.

MEET THE MAN WITH THE ANSWERS—

Dr. Kinsey Undertakes Sex Research With Scientist's Zeal To Aid Mankind

Editor's note: For this report on Dr. Kinsey, the man whose report on male sex behavior made headlines five years ago and now is stirring up new headlines with his report on female sex behavior, Wade Jones went to Bloomington, Ind., and stood up the man, his work, and what his fellow townsfolk think. This is the first of three dispatches.

By WADE JONES
NEA Staff Correspondent

BLOOMINGTON, IND.—Dr. Alfred Charles Kinsey's most notable features, perhaps, are his hazel eyes, which can turn from sun to ice in a flash, and his voice, which is unusually warm and expressive. He can turn on the charm. And he can turn it off.

He also looks tired at the moment, but if you mention it to him, he snags:

"The only thing I'm tired of is a lot of damn fool questions."

Answers Are Coming

This is the man who got into the limelight by asking a lot of questions himself—about sex. And these days he is up to his ears in questions about his new book, "Sexual Behavior in the Human Female," the details of which will be aired to the world on August 20.

Five years ago he and his associates at the University of Indiana's Institute for Sex Research produced the now famous work on the sex behavior of men.

What's he going to say this time? What's he like, this former zoologist who was the world's No. 1 authority on the gall wasp before he tackled the study of sex in 1938?

Researcher's Domain

You'll find him ensconced in his air-conditioned offices in the basement of an old brick building on the university campus, wearing a rumpled white shirt and bow tie, dark trousers and moccasin-type oxfords, and surrounded by a noticeable aura of secrecy.

His oddity tan-colored hair is too long to be called a crew cut and too short to be down, so it just bristles straight up in all directions. His face is deeply-lined and he has a square, rugged jaw in keeping with his husky physique.

Some of the writers and researchers here to study his book for the advance notices seem to think the secrecy is carried too far. He doesn't although sometimes his caution appears a little on the incoherent side.

People, Not The Book

"The only way to write this story," he said after he unlocked his office door and ushered me in to sign the contract and read the book and then write about the book. I've spent 15 years on that book."

I told him I did not want to be bound by the terms of the contract, a three-page document which newspapers and magazine writers have had to sign in order to get material for their August 20 stories and which requires their articles be submitted to Dr. Kinsey for checking.

What I was there for, I explained, was to talk to him and his townfolk in Bloomington and to look at clippings of some of his recent speeches.

Wife Won't Talk

At first he said I couldn't look at the clippings. A moment later, without seeming to realize he had changed his mind, he said I could.

"They're public property," he said, "but I'm not going to talk about the book, and I'm not going to answer any questions like what I had for breakfast."

I asked if I could talk to his wife. "She won't talk to you," he snapped.

As we headed for the clipping room, I made the mistake of mentioning that he looked tired. He gave me his abrupt retort, and that was the last I saw of Dr. Kinsey.

Christine's Story

His secretary told me later he had been working 90 hours a week even after a four-day hospital stay in early July for exhaustion—the day after the variable Christine Jorgensen flew to Bloomington to be interviewed.

For years Dr. Kinsey, now 59, has worked day and night all week long except on Sunday evenings when he likes to have friends in to listen to recorded music. The only day he takes off is Christmas. His last vacation was 13 years ago.

Wasp Came First

He joined the faculty here as a zoologist in 1926, married a year later, and has raised three children. A book he wrote about the gall wasp, before he switched his scientific interest 15 years ago, sold more copies than the one on men's sex life, which his current publishers refer to as "the male volume."

His wife who used to help some in his work but now spends a good deal of her time leading hiking groups, has been quoted as saying wistfully, "I don't see as much of him now that he's gotten so interested in sex."

Importance To Mankind

This interest has led him to record sex information on more than 16,000 persons, whose interviews are locked in code on 500,000 cards in burglar-proof vaults. Dr. Kinsey has said that if the cards are ever tampered with, he'll destroy them all, despite the fact the code takes a year to memorize and has defied even a professional cryptographer.

Dr. Kinsey considers his work of the greatest importance to mankind. But he doesn't want anyone to get access to the material and distort or misrepresent his findings.

Next: What Bloomington thinks of Dr. Kinsey.

Foreign Ministers Of Western Europe To Press For Unity

BADEN BADEN, GERMANY—(AP)—The foreign ministers of six Western European countries Saturday night called for the quick formation of a United States of Europe. They announced plans to complete the blueprint for this community of 150 million people this Autumn.

In a policy message to their people following a two-day conference in this old German resort city, the six ministers unanimously pledged to work "unerringly and without hesitation" to weld their nations into one powerful state.

They announced that their governments, "in order to guarantee quick progress toward this goal," will send experts to a special conference in Rome September 23 to complete a study of a constitution for the projected union.

The foreign ministers will meet again in The Hague October 20 to review—and possibly approve—this historic document.

West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, a strong advocate of European unity, promptly declared that the conference here "gives no room for any doubt that all the participating countries wish to create a European community with all the force at their disposal and as quickly as possible."

Sam Rayburn Says U. S. Must Remain Strongest Nation

BONHAM—(AP)—Rep. Sam Rayburn said Saturday we must keep our nation strong whether Russia has the hydrogen bomb or not.

When a newsmen told him that Soviet Premier Malenkov had announced Saturday that the U. S. doesn't enjoy a monopoly on the bomb any more, Rayburn answered: "We can't afford to let down. We must keep ourselves strong at all times whether they have it or not. We must remember that other nations also have scientific men, engineers and builders."

Rayburn, a Democratic congressman of many years from Texas and former Speaker of the House, arrived Friday in Bonham, where he lives with his sister, Lu Rayburn.

He said he was just going to relax for a while, visit with friends, go fishing. He has a ranch about 15 miles from here, where he often goes to rest. The ranch has no telephone.

Will Of Queen Mary Recorded For Probate

LONDON—(AP)—Queen Mary left an estate of 406,407 pounds ($1,137,282) it was announced Saturday when her will was probated. The old queen, widow of King George V, died last March at the age of 85.

The will did not disclose the names of any of the beneficiaries. The net value of the estate after taxes was announced as $79,864 ($1,061,588). This sum was smaller than many had anticipated.

Generally the details of royal family wills are not made public.

Brownwood Telephone Pay Increase Granted

BROWNWOOD—(AP)—Employees of Southwestern States Telephone Company will get wage increases.

The company and the Communications Workers of America (CIO) Friday signed a new 12-month contract retroactive to July 31 granting approximately $185,000 in salary increases.

The company, headquartered here, operates in Texas, Arkansas, Oklahoma and Louisiana.

Conroe Man Killed

HOUSTON—(AP)—William N. Fletcher, about 25, Conroe, was killed Friday night when his motorcycle and an automobile collided about 17 miles north of here.

Separate Crashes Kill Two Airmen In Howard County

BIG SPRING—(AP)—Alonso Cash, 25, Alpine, died in Big Spring Hospital Saturday from injuries received in the crash of a private plane near here Friday.

He was the second person to die as a result of plane crashes over the weekend, the first being a Webb AFB cadet, who was killed about 10 a.m. Friday when his burning jet training plane crashed on the W. D. Anderson ranch about 20 miles northeast of Big Spring.

Name of the dead cadet will not be released until notification of next of kin.

The second plane mishap occurred when a light plane in which Cash was a passenger attempted to land on a farm strip at Coahoma, 13 miles east of here.

The engine failed and the plane lunged into a mesquite grove.

Ray Echols, 23, Coahoma, pilot of the plane, is in Big Spring Hospital, having a badly injured left ankle and a broken jaw. His condition however was reported as good Saturday night.

Cash, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Cash of Alpine, was a dairy products distributor. Funeral services were to be held Sunday at El Paso.

Echols is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Echols of Coahoma.

C. of C. Directors Will Meet Monday

The August meeting of directors of the Midland Chamber of Commerce will be held at 4 p.m. Monday in the Shell conference room in the Petroleum Building, President Joe T. Dickerson announced Saturday.

A number of reports will be heard, Dickerson said, with action scheduled on several matters of importance.

He urged a large attendance of board members.

Texas Leads Dixie In Building Stride

DALLAS—(AP)—The Bureau of Labor Statistics says there was more construction in Texas during the first five months of 1953 than in 13 other Southern states.

A BLS survey released Friday reported total building permits in Texas totaled $97,477,000 during the period. The runner-up was Florida with $159,616,000.

France Flounders Through Extended Workers' Walkout

PARIS—(AP)—France Saturday floundered through a continued strike in government-owned public services which stranded hundreds of Americans, British and other foreign tourists in Paris and other vacation spots.

Many of the workers who walked out Friday were back on the job, but the biggest headache was in the railroads, where operations still were spasmodic.

"Uncertainty was so great that sleeping car reservations were refused, and the railway ticket offices frankly said they had no idea whether any given train would move."

"We just can't find out which trains will run or how far they'll get," one travel agent said. "It's still up in the air."

Demo Governors Hint Adlai Not Their Best Bet For 1956

SEATTLE—(AP)—Democratic governors believe their party is bursting its traditional seams and its victory-hungry members may nominate a middle-of-the-road candidate for President in 1956.

That is the impression this reporter brings away from the forty-fifth annual Governors Conference here, where 15 of the 18 Democratic governors could agree as a whole on only one major political development—that President Eisenhower is just as popular with the voters as he ever was. Five Democrats didn't attend.

A cross-section of opinion, as gathered by this reporter, seemed to add up to bed news for former Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois.

Dallas Taxes Zoom For Teachers' Pay

DALLAS—(AP)—Dallas is going to pay higher taxes but is going to have better-paid school teachers, a board of education official has revealed.

Mrs. Tracy E. Rutherford, vice president of the school board, said Friday the unofficial tax rate raised from $1.25 to $1.51—means at least a $100 extra boost in salary for classroom teachers.

With the raises, teachers' salaries in Dallas are expected to range from about $2,100 to $5,000 yearly.

the 1952 nominee, if he wants to run again for President.

Hope He Won't Run

The shrewdest politicians among the Democratic governors don't believe that another Eisenhower-Stevenson campaign would land their nominees in the White House.

Some of them hope fervently that Eisenhower will not run again, giving them a chance to match what they call a "liberal" against a Republican "reactionary."

The majority apparently believe the only way to beat Eisenhower, if he seeks a second term, is to match what the President calls his middle-way philosophy and try to outbid the Republicans at the polling places with personal appeals to the younger folk who grew up under Democratic Administrations.

Williams 'Available'

This theory has strong support from Southern Democrats who want no more of Stevenson and his espousal of the civil rights program which split four Dixie states off their column in last year's vote battle.

Gov. James F. Byrnes of South Carolina made this crystal clear with an assertion that he would not go as a delegate to a Democratic convention which required an advance pledge of support for the nominee.

Gov. C. Mennen Williams of Michigan carried the torch for the so-called "liberal" wing of the party. While he said he would be happy to have Stevenson for the nominee again, there were some signs that Williams regards himself as available.

The other Democratic governors didn't talk much publicly about the political situation, but their privately expressed opinions indicated that they are not too optimistic about 1956.

All of this could change if the truce in Korea, which admittedly has boosted Eisenhower's popularity, goes sour before the 1956 nominating conventions.

But the general feeling among the Democratic governors seemed to be that if they can find a party candidate who satisfies the South without infuriating Northern Democrats they will come close to a winning combination.

Where they are going to find such a Democrat, however, is a question that practically none was prepared to answer.

Byington Sentiment

Senator Byington (D-Mo) was mentioned by some as a possibility. Byington has the attraction to the Southerners of having been opposed by former President Truman when he ran for the senatorial nomination.

But the Missouri senator has the liability of not being able to shake off entirely his long-term connection with the Truman

Guyton Is Given Humble Award For 30 Years Of Work

In honor of his completing 30 years of service with Humble Oil & Refining Company, B. F. Guyton recently was presented a wrist watch and a 30-year service emblem.

J. W. House, division superintendent, made the presentation at a recent district superintendents meeting.

Guyton, who is now assistant division chief clerk, began his service with Humble as a timekeeper in the Powell field at Mildred, Texas, in the old Corsicana division on Aug. 28, 1923.

He first came to West Texas on April 12, 1927, where he worked as district chief clerk at Pyote, until 1934, at which time he went to Andrews as district chief clerk. He remained at Andrews until the middle of 1943 at which time he went to Hobbs, N. M., as district chief clerk.

He transferred to the West Texas as division office as an assistant division chief clerk in the production department on Dec. 7, 1944.

Service Pipe Line Opens New Office In Mineral Wells

MINERAL WELLS—Service Pipe Line Company's steadily expanding operations in West-Central Texas have resulted in a new district being established here, according to F. M. Willenburg, Fort Worth, division manager.

Completions Trail 1952 Drilling Mark

AUSTIN —(AP)— Oil well completions last week numbered 195 and sent the year's total to 6,370 compared with 6,830 a year ago.

Forty-five gas wells were brought in, the Railroad Commission reported in its weekly summary of drilling activity.

Operators reported 140 dry holes. Wildcat drilling brought in 14 oil wells, four gasers, and 35 dry holes.

The total average calendar day allowables as of Saturday was 3,119,286 barrels, down 21,533 barrels from a week ago.

Five New Wildcats Spotted In Counties Of West Texas

Permian Basin operators have announced plans for five more wildcat operations in West Texas, one each in Kent, Martin, Andrews, Culberson and Loving Counties.

The Kent exploration will be drilled as Lomax Brothers Drilling Company of Midland and W. H. Hunt of Tyler No. 1 Mays in the central-south portion of the county.

The prospector is scheduled for a 7,200-foot bottom. That depth will allow for tests of the Pennsylvanian reef lime.

Drillsite is 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of the northeast quarter of section 38, block 4, H&GN survey and one and one-half miles north of Pennsylvanian production in the Cogdell (Mullipay) field.

It is being drilled as a result of a deal worked up by John H. Healey, Midland independent oil operator. He secured a farmout on the tract on which the test is to be drilled and on some other acreage in that region for the drilling of a well. He turned the deal and the well obligation to Lomax and Hunt to drill and he retained an interest.

The wildcat site is 10 miles south and slightly west of the town of Claiborne.

New Spraberry Gas Outlet Line Ducks Highway Block

By BOB GALLAWAY Reporter-Telegram Staff

There's no road hopping here. . . But there's some slipping under going on.

Permian Basin Pipeline Company, moving at top speed on its 285-mile gas outlet project, whizzed along fine until Highway 80 sliced across the right-of-way about seven miles east of Midland.

Let's see now, the highway was there already, there's a railroad line running alongside — and, someday in the future, the highway will grow to a four-lane artery. We can't cut through the road, the pipeline masters said, so there's only one way out (or through, as it were).

Under the road we go. . . And under the railroad. . . And under the highway that's yet to come.

Sounds simple, doesn't it? But the solid rock foundations under the highway and surrounding area caused trouble. In fact, more than two days were spent grinding, pounding and shearing the 36-inch hole under railroad, highway and prospective highway.

But, Saturday the heavily reinforced pipe slipped into its hard-won slot.

All this brought the total of 30-inch artery already underground to about 18 miles. The entire line of big pipe will be 96 miles long—and stretch from the Spraberry compressor station, now under construction about 18 miles southeast of Midland, to the Wesson field near Denver City.

Construction continues to run smoothly at the Spraberry station (one of three such stations placed along the Spraberry Area line).

Joining the three stations—Plymouth, Pembroke and Spraberry—is about 34 miles of 24-inch pipeline, at present awaiting little more than valves and cleaning before taking its load of Spraberry residue gas.

Back along the Midland-to-Denver City line, the picture shapes up in figures and miles like this:

At least 34 miles of pipe has been strung.

About 20 more miles of ditch awaits its burden of pipe.

And the 263 R. H. Fulton Company crewmen and 23 welders still are meeting rock troubles, although they are losing little time or speed in the fight.

Compressor Job Starts

Moving from the Hobbs, N. M. area to a rendezvous with the Midland line will be another gathering line, the condition of which is thus:

On the New Mexico side, 100 per cent of the pipe has been strung along the 15.32-mile right-of-way, and 96 per cent of the ditch ready for pipe.

The Texas picture, a slow development at first has begun to take shape. At least 16 miles of pipe have been strung, 14 miles of ditch cut through rock and dust and four miles shoved underground.

Permian officials here received word that construction has started on their compressor station near Hobbs.

This station, one of several gas processing units destined for this area, will house three 1,250 h.p. engines for compression initially, with other engines to be added next year.

Other units in the Hobbs area will include a gasoline plant, dehydration station and sulphur removal plant.

Finally, the other big project under Permian reins is taking place near Fort Stockton. It's a $2,000,000 carbon dioxide removal station due (Continued On Page Four)

Yarbrough, Veteran OCC Inspector At Hobbs Dismissed

HOBBS, N. M.—(Special)—Roy Yarbrough, 61, veteran inspector for the New Mexico Oil Conservation Commission at Hobbs was dismissed from that position on August 1.

R. F. Spurrier, executive director of the commission was quoted as saying, "the commission felt Yarbrough's work had been unsatisfactory."

Spurrier said the inspector's work formerly handled by Yarbrough would be taken over by Stanley J. Smith, engineer at Hobbs and Bob Hanson, inspector at Artesia.

Long Service

Yarbrough worked for the conservation commission for 14 years and seven months. He started in 1939 as a state oil and gas inspector and manager of the OCC's Hobbs office.

In 1948 the state of New Mexico was divided into four districts by the conservation commission and Yarbrough was made inspector for the district which embraces Lea, Chaves, Roosevelt, DeBaca and Curry Counties.

The position of manager of the Hobbs OCC office were transferred several months ago to A. L. (Pete) Porter and Yarbrough was continued as an inspector for the district.

Was Toolpusher

Yarbrough came to Hobbs in 1929 as a toolpusher for Alamo Drilling Company, a contracting concern which drilled many of the early wells in the Hobbs field for Mid-West Oil & Refining Company, which later became Stanolind Oil & Gas Company.

After leaving Alamo Yarbrough operated a drilling mud concern in Hobbs for a time.

He plans to continue to live in Hobbs and says he, "may do some trading in leases and royalties."

Phillips Wins Top Industrial Award Of NSC For 1952

Phillips Petroleum Company has received the top industrial safety award of the National Safety Council, its award of honor, for significant achievements reflected in the company's 1952 safety record of accident reduction. For the previous year, 1951, no petroleum company and relatively few large companies of any type won the award for company-wide operations.

For the seventh consecutive year, Phillips employes during 1952 set a new company safety record. The company's disabling injury rate was only one fifth of the rate seven years earlier, and was less than half of that for the entire petroleum industry in 1952. Phillips safety record for 1953 shows continued improvement.

WASHINGTON OIL — Petroleum Was Popular Conversation Topic In Eighty-Third Congress

WASHINGTON—The first three-way Republican government in 22 years took momentous actions affecting petroleum and natural gas during the first session of the 83rd Congress.

The session, which has just closed, saw Congress complete a Tidelands oil bill after 15 years of stalemate by the Democrats, and President Eisenhower approve it.

The passage of legislation to sell the government's 28 synthetic rubber plants, which cost $700 million, also marked the end of years of stalemate. Petroleum companies expected to be among bidders include Phillips, Humble, Esso Standard, Cities Service, Sinclair, Shell and Standard of California.

The biggest battle over increasing petroleum imports since the close of the last war came up in the Administration and in Congress. It was closed temporarily on July 23 when the House refused to enact legislation setting a quota ceiling on imports.

The session saw the end of price controls, a truce in the Korean war, a shift from planners to businessmen in government, and a new advance to the highest levels of prosperity in the history of America.

The Congress enacted a natural gas bill to remove some federal controls over the distribution of natural gas, another to provide that gas lines crossing public lands need not be common carriers failed in the Senate. El Paso Natural Gas Company, after victories in two court actions, appealed for the common carrier bill. Ohio Fuel Gas Company, loser in the U. S. Supreme Court, asked the distribution bill.

Lots of Discussion

In all, the Congress, if not the White House, devoted more time to oil and gas matters than to any other single subject. About half the Senate debate was on oil and gas, a record chalked up because of the marathon talk on Tidelands, handled, finally, in two bills rather than one.

The session represented the first time since 1931 that the Republican Party has been in control of the House, the Senate and the White House of Representatives at the same time. Since 1923, the Senate or the House, or both have been under the leadership of Republicans on rare occasions, but Democratic Presidents Roosevelt and Truman held down the executive mansion. During the last two years of the Hoover era, ending in 1933, the House was under control of the Democrats.

This shift in control attracted particular attention to the doings of the Republicans.

To most industry executives, the Republicans did a good job, but some had hoped for a better one. While generally pleased, they could point to things they did not approve. The Tidelands bill did not give enough title and revenue to the states to suit coastal states and the petroleum industry. The legislation finally enacted provides that the states shall have title and revenues out to historic boundaries and the federal government beyond that. The boundary is three miles for most states, 10.5 miles for Texas.

items for use by the military, but said the rest, including price, wage and general materials controls (over oil country tubular goods, for instance) could be allowed to expire. The Congress so acted in extending the Defense Production Act.

PAD Staff Cuts

The Petroleum Administration for Defense, which opened this year with a staff of 300, was cut to 98 for the fiscal year ahead, and its power curbed with the new defense production bill. A total of less than $500,000 was given the agency, less than a third of the appropriation of a year ago. A new deputy head of the agency, Joseph A. LaFortune, executive vice president of the Warren Petroleum Company, Tulsa, took over the reins at mid-year to succeed a Texan, J. Ed Warren. The agency enters its fourth year (this Autumn, although it was set up as a temporary, post-Korean emergency unit).

The most annoying feature of the session was the oil price investigation launched on July 1 by the House Commerce committee under Charles A. Wolverton (R-N.D.). This probably won't result in legislation, but it is sponsoring criticism of the petroleum industry and of, specifically, proration, and the depletion allowance. Suggestions for utility-type control over the industry, and divorcement of production from refining are being heard. The industry, which is to continue, is one of the major events ahead for oil on the Washington calendar.

A Look Ahead

As the session ended, other matters affecting oil and gas also were in motion with prospects they would take the spotlight in a special session this year, or in the regular session next year.

The Congress, armed with a veto power over any sales of the government's rubber plants, is expected to devote much time to this, too. A new inquiry into crude oil and products is in the offing in an upcoming inquiry being launched by a Senate Interior subcommittee under Senator George W. Malone (R-Nev.). The depletion allowance for oil and gas is up for study by the Treasury as it prepares recommendations to Congress next year on income taxes. A decision on more or less funds for synthetic fuel is due next year. A revision of the anti-trust laws is expected to be asked by Attorney General Herbert Brownell, Jr. A new battle over petroleum imports, that may be a highlight of the session, is promised. A bill to transfer oil and gas authority to the Commerce Department is in the hopper.

The list will grow as time goes on. Petroleum, like the weather, is always a topic of conversation in the chambers of Congress. Unlike the weather, however, many in Congress feel they can change petroleum by passing laws.

Houston Production Firm Reveals Deal For Vast Holdings

HOUSTON—(P)—Western Production Company of Houston has paid $1,200,000 for oil and gas rights on 11,288.06 acres in Arkansas, Louisiana and Mississippi. A company announcement said the purchase was made from Alcon Drilling Company and Alcon Oil Company of Tyler.

Western Production is headed by Karl Glastad, New York City, but E. E. Townes, Sr., chairman of the board, and J. A. Clements, executive vice president, reside in Houston.

Bulk of the property, 6,261.06 acres, is in Calhoun County, Ark. Other tracts are in Ouachita County, Arkansas, La Salle, Union and La Fourche parishes in Louisiana and in Madison and Yazoo counties in Mississippi.

In 1978, a huge iron chain, 1,500 feet long, was stretched across the Hudson River at West Point to prevent British gunboats from going up the river.

RESULTS SHOWN—Magnolia Petroleum Company's Field Research Laboratory scientists Carl S. Kuhn, left, and Robert L. Koch examine two core samples cut during experimental work that led to the development of a new process of heavy crude oil recovery called "In-situ Combustion." Effect of the recovery method can be seen by comparing the light core sample, which has had its heavy oil removed, and the dark core, which still holds its crude. Kuhn and Koch led the research work on In-situ Combustion, a joint development of the "Flying Red Horse" companies, Socony-Vacuum, Magnolia and the General Petroleum Corporation.

Magnolia's Scientists Are Developing New Process For Heavy Oil Recovery

After six years of study, a group of scientists and engineers at Magnolia Petroleum Company's Field Research Laboratories in Dallas—one of Socony-Vacuum Oil Company's research laboratories—have developed a new method of heavy crude oil recovery.

The new method, a joint project of Socony-Vacuum and its affiliates, Magnolia and the General Petroleum Corporation, may lead to recovery of at least a part of America's vast unrecoverable heavy crude oils. Research scientists Carl S. Kuhn and Robert L. Koch, who led the experimental work, call the system "oil recovery by in-situ combustion."

Kuhn and Koch of Magnolia and their team of in-situ combustion scientists describe the technical details of the process in the Oil and Gas Journal of August 10. In-situ (a Latin term meaning, "in place") combustion is a process of producing heavy viscous crude oils by thinning or melting them with an underground fire.

So that non-scientists can understand what the new process may mean to the petroleum industry.

Gas Outlet—

to clean gas from the Puckett (Eilenburger) Field.

Surveying of the 76 miles between the Pecos County removal plant and the Plymouth station should be finished by Monday of Tuesday. Work on this line has not gone past the planning stage. No starting date has been set.

Unmatched Progress
Rounding out the gas outlet scene, El Paso Natural Gas Company reports good progress on its 1,056-mile line from the Permian and San Juan Basins to California.

This plan will include 793 miles of 30-inch transmission line, about 108 miles of 24-inch main transmission line, about 155 miles of related gathering lines, purification plants, gasoline plants, compressor stations and other necessary components of a successful natural gas line.

Three of the compressor stations, Midkiff, Driver and Pembroke, will be in the Midland area, and carry some 77,750 in compression horsepower, together with dehydration facilities.

Starting date on these Midland-area stations has not been announced.

So, the report this week from the pipeline side of Permian Basin life was short—but, as usual, filled with progress unmatched in recent basin annals.

Mexico Expects Record Output Of Crude In '53

By LAURANCE F. STUNTZ

MEXICO CITY—(AP)—Mexico expects to produce next year for the first time more than 100 million barrels of oil.

The government hopes to increase the possible output even more in later years. A prime goal of the Administration is greater oil production and establishment of a heavy chemicals industry, partly based on oil.

Figures on production were given recently by Antonio Bermudez, head of Pemex, the government oil company. Plans were outlined by Gilberto Loyola, minister of national economy.

Loyola said President Adolfo Ruiz Cortines has as his main economic aim to increase electric power, minerals, iron, steel, oil and chemicals.

Bermudez said the 1952 oil production was 78 million barrels and could have been 84 million if the foreign market had been high enough to warrant greater production. Mexico exports about one third of her oil. He said a higher world price would encourage Mexico to increase her production; a low price induces her to leave in the ground oil she does not need to meet home consumption.

Output Not Falling
Bermudez said the present producing capacity, not the production itself, is about 94 million barrels a year and that the average capacity for the year may be around 97 million. The increase will be due to new wells as they come into production later in the year. Of the total production, he said, Mexico will need about 66 million barrels to meet her own needs.

The productive capacity by January 1, after drilling is finished in the Santa Agueda and other new fields, was estimated at 283,000 barrels a day on 102 million a year. He said Mexico is now producing 22 million barrels a year less than capacity because the foreign market does not make export sales attractive.

Bermudez denied a report that Mexico's production is falling and that the nation will have to import oil by 1956. He said Mexico will be able to export more than 50 million barrels of oil that year.

In ancient times honey was used as an embalming material.

Humble No. 1 Irvin is a granite failure in Northwest Crosby County. It was drilled to total depth of 9,947 feet.

Location was 660 feet from south and west lines of section 888, block C-3, EL&RR survey and nine miles north of Lorenzo.

Honolulu Grants Pay Increase

Honolulu Oil Corporation has granted a four per cent increase in wages and salaries of all employees. The increase is effective as of July 1.

Announcement of the increase was made by Alden S. Donnelly, Midland, vice president of the concern's Mid-Continent division, which operates from headquarters in this city.

Seventy five per cent of the people killed in bicycle accidents in the United States are between the ages of five and 19.

A drillstem test was taken from 4,593 to 4,626 feet previous plugged back depth, with tool open 90 minutes. Recovery was 90 feet of drilling mud and 90 feet of mud with a slight show of oil.

It is located 960 feet from south and west lines of section 10, block 8, TW&NG survey and 25 miles northeast of Eldorado.

Depletion Allowance Meet Set Friday By Congressmen

By TEX EASLEY
WASHINGTON—Once again the question of reducing the present 27 1/2 per cent oil depletion allowance for income tax purposes comes up before the House Ways and Means Committee.

Although Congress has adjourned, its tax-writing committee is still at work and has set next Friday to review the depletion rate allowed for oil income.

With President Eisenhower planning to send to Congress early next year his recommendations for an overhauling of the general tax structure, the committee hearing next week takes on particular significance.

Among those expected to testify before the committee is Gen. Ernest O. Thompson, chairman of the Texas Railroad Commission, who is recognized as a top authority on petroleum industry problems.

He likely will defend the present 27 1/2 per cent rate which has been in effect since 1926. The Eisenhower Administration has not suggested any change be made in the allowance. The preceding Truman Administration had recommended a reduction to 15 per cent to pull oil on a par with other minerals in that respect.

BEST COLOR PRINTING AWARD—Roland W. Baird, Sr., left, presents to C. E. Johnson, press foreman for The Midland Reporter-Telegram, an engraved plaque awarded to the newspaper for "the consistently best reproduction of Mrs. Baird's bread color ads in 1952." Baird is vice president of Mrs. Baird's Bakeries, Inc. The Reporter-Telegram received the first place honor after a study of more than 200 bread color ads from Texas newspapers, which included metropolitan dailies. Baird congratulated Johnson on his "superb craftsmanship."

Johnson Wins Color Printing Honor For Reporter-Telegram

The Midland Reporter-Telegram possesses a coveted printing award after a surprise presentation by Mrs. Baird's Bakeries, Inc. A high official of the largest bread baking concern in the world came here from Dallas by private plane Thursday to present the engraved plaque "for the consistently best reproduction of Mrs. Baird's bread color ads in 1952."

The first place award went to The Reporter-Telegram following a study of more than 200 color ads from 15 Texas newspapers, including those in the metropolitan centers of Dallas, Fort Worth and Houston.

Professional Judging
Final selection was made by C. B. Larabee, president of the printing trade publication, "Printer's Ink." A sifting committee had narrowed the field to three before Larabee declared The Midland Reporter-Telegram the award winner. The committee included advertising, engraving and bakery representatives.

The Texas newspapers did not know of the open competition until last week, when Mrs. Baird's Bakeries disclosed the results of its color ad study. The Reporter-Telegram first learned of its honor Wednesday when Baird officials announced they were flying to Midland for the award presentation to C. E. Johnson, press foreman for the newspaper. Tear sheets of the color ads printed in The Reporter-Telegram and other newspapers were obtained from newspaper checking agencies, without knowledge of the newspapers.

Roland W. Baird, Sr., of Dallas, vice president and director of advertising for Mrs. Baird's Bakeries, presented the plaque to Midland to pilot the plaque. He was accompanied by Bill James of Tracy-Locke Company of Dallas, advertising agency for Baird's, and Joe James, advertising manager for the bakeries which serve half the population in Texas. A warehouse is maintained in Midland, distribution center in this area for Mrs. Baird's Bakeries.
"It is with a great deal of pleasure that Mrs. Baird's Bakeries presents to you and The Reporter-Telegram this plaque as a symbol of superb craftsmanship" Baird said in congratulating Johnson. Presentation took place in The Reporter-Telegram's pressroom with executives of the newspaper joining the officials of Mrs. Baird's Bakeries for the ceremony.

MRS. BAIRD'S BOY GROWS UP—

Airplane Replaces Wagon For Bakery Firm Chieftain

By COPE ROUTH

Mrs. Ninnie Baird's little boy Roland has grown up now.

In fact, he's a 34-year-old vice president.

Instead of half a dozen loaves of hot home-made bread in a basket, he now helps peddle several million loaves a week throughout Texas.

And instead of the little wagon he used to pull around his neighborhood in Fort Worth, he now . . .

Well, Roland W. Baird, vice president and advertising director of Mrs. Baird's Bakeries, Inc., came rearing into Midland Thursday at the controls of his own plane.

The trip took little more than two hours—about the same amount of time it used to take him to deliver a day's baking of a forerunner of the famed Mrs. Baird's bread which feeds one out of every five people in Texas.

"There were eight of us," he explained, "four boys and four girls and the folks came out here from Tennessee back in 1901.

Fine, For A While
"My father was always buying a cafe or a sandwich stand or something and building it up and selling it.

"Somebody'd offer him $500 or $1,000 and he'd grab it and we'd be off to Galveston or somewhere. It was fine till the money ran out."

"That didn't particularly satisfy Mama Baird, however, who would just as soon stay put in one place and be sure of having a good living for the eight growing youngsters.

"Well, it happened back in those days," Baird continued, "most people baked their own bread and most women, when they took the hot bread from the oven, would send a loaf or two to a next door neighbor.

"Well, that was the way mama did. The neighbors liked the bread fine but pretty soon they started feeling it was an imposition on mama.

"So, on the days she baked, they come around and say 'Mrs. Baird, would you bake some for us, too? We'll pay you, of course.'"

Homes Oven Grows
And so was born Mrs. Baird's bread, 2,850,000 pounds of which are produced every week in the bakeries at Fort Worth, Dallas, Houston and Abilene.

Soon, Roland and his brothers were kept busy delivering the bread around the neighborhood. The little oven at home quickly grew into a big commercial oven.

"I'm a baker, myself," explained Baird, "and I'm proud of it. When I was going to school back at Central High in Fort Worth I used to work over the oven until 1 or 2 o'clock in the morning."

The little family business prospered but it still was just a retail bakery.

"I used to try to talk them into going into the wholesale business and forget about this peanut stuff," Baird continued. "We didn't get started as wholesalers, though, until World War I came along."

One of his brothers, Hoyt, went off to war and the family decided to begin making their bread available at the neighborhood grocery stores.

"That was in 1918 and the one plant in Fort Worth turned out between 1,000 and 1,500 loaves a day.

"We had a truck then," he continued, "and I used to deliver the freshly-baked bread. I remember the customers used to be waiting at the store, too, for the arrival of the hot bread."

Phenomenal Growth
The growth of the baking company was almost phenomenal.

"In 1928, I went to Dallas and early in 1928 opened the plant there," he related. "Ten years later we opened the plant in Houston and in 1948 we opened the one in Abilene."

The Houston plant is now the biggest one, turning out 1,000,000 pounds of bread a week to supply 52 per cent of Houston residents with bread. In Fort Worth, where 800,000 pounds are turned out weekly, 70 per cent of the bread sold is Mrs. Baird's bread.

His company turns out cakes and other such goodies but Roland Baird is strictly a bread man.

"That's our big item," he explained. "You can sell bread, you can make people want your bread and you can make them want it every day."

"You can sell a cake or a pie for a day or two, but nobody wants it everyday."

And, how does he sell it?
"Our principal medium, of course, is the newspaper," he explained. "Our success, I believe, is due to a steady, consistent program of newspaper advertising."

The baking company is spending about $600,000 a year to sell its product and half of the amount is in newspaper advertising.

The balance between radio and television, Baird explained, is shifting but it has nothing to do with the newspaper advertising budget item.

Next to bread and the baking business, Baird's big love is his airplane.

"I didn't start flying until about six and half years ago," he explained. "Oh, I'd taken barnstorming rides before that, but I didn't go into it seriously."

"Then, finally I figured that if anything did happen the family would be taken care of and the business could run without me.

"Since then I've logged 1,300 hours and now have my fourth airplane—a four-place Cessna 180."

He stopped to consider that a minute.

"Quite a change," he grinned, "from that little wagon I used to deliver the bread in, isn't it?"

He propels the boat by his strong breast stroke. When he reaches the victim, who in this case is a fellow lifeguard, Sheehan slips off the board in such a manner that the board makes a complete revolution in the water and comes up under his victim in a crossways position. From there it's easy to turn the victim so he's full length on the board and float him back to shore.

A CHANGE IN VIEW

There's nothing like a new perspective to change your attitude toward life.

When Junior is bored, he simply stands on his head for a new slant at things. The floor flips to the ceiling, with tables and chairs hanging from it, and people walk upside-down. At least that's the way it looks to him.

It is a good idea to gain a different perspective—to step back and get a new slant on things around you. But you don't have to stand on your head to do it.

Instead identify yourself with a church. Take your family and go regularly to worship. You will find a new perspective. Genuine values will keep their importance; unimportant things will diminish.

Today's life will be happier; tomorrow's full of hope. Nothing is upside-down, but everything claims its rightful place when you view life with the faith of a Christian.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

FARM, DAIRY AND RANCH NEWS

The market was weaker on all classes other than good stocker calves and yearlings at last Thursday's Midland Livestock Auction. Cows going to packers were $1 to $2 lower.

No choice fat calves and yearlings were offered. Medium to good ones brought $15 to $17, and cull to common, $10 to $15.

Cows, good and choice, cashed at $10 to $12; medium, $8 to $10; cull and cutters, $5.50 to $8. Bulls sold for $9.50 to $12.75.

Stocker steer calves brought $12.50 to $16.50. Mixed breed stocker calves and yearlings brought $9 to $14.

Boys, that moisture from heaven surely looked good early last week—rainfall light and heavy; water standing in the pasture; runoff water flooding downtown streets; lawns soaked; borrow pits standing in water in certain sections—a beautiful picture indeed (where the moisture fell).

Of course the recent showers didn't cover too much territory, but they were appreciated where they did hit.

Still showering around over the country, too, Podner, so let's don't give up yet. It even rained some more during the week up Amarillo way. And believe it or not, it showered in the Tahoka-Lamesa area recently. The weatherman still is optimistic!

A few days ago, DSG talked to a feller who was complaining about his rheumatism... SO, better keep that slicker handy, Podner!

A pair of trim Hereford steers walked away with both grand and reserve championship honors at the first major competition between breeds during the Fall fair season.

They were named to the top spots in the open class competition last week at the North Montana State Fair at Great Falls.

Grand champion honors went to a junior yearling Hereford shown by the Bayers Hereford Ranch of Twin Bridges, Mont. The reserve ribbon was won by a steer shown by L. Hanson of Whitehall, Mont., who earlier won a purple ribbon in the junior competition.

The second in a series of moisture storage and irrigation studies sponsored by the Martin-Howard Soil Conservation District, will start at 9 a.m. Tuesday at the J. T. Flowers farm near the Valley View community.

The tour, designed to give farmers a chance to study ways of improving efficiency of irrigation in the Midland area, will move from the Flowers farm to those operated by Gene Jones and Emil Teinert, both in the same vicinity.

Purpose of the study is to point out how soils affect the storage of moisture in a field and the frequency with which irrigation is needed.

Moisture conditions in parts of the Midland area now are favorable for planting blue panic grass or drilling to protect range grass seedlings next Spring, a check by the Soil Conservation Service late last week showed.

Ben Osborn, Midland work unit conservationist, found moisture had penetrated to a depth of 30 inches or more at several locations east and south of Midland.

This is enough moisture to start blue panic grass, or to make a good protective growth of cans, sudan, or sorghum, if planted promptly on sandy or mixed land, he said.

The showers were very spotted, he pointed out, and moisture conditions in each field should be checked before planting.

Blue panic grass can be planted with good results up to the middle of August. It is a perennial grass, and once established will live through the winter.

Sorghum may be planted for protective cover up to the first of September. Dryland grasses, other than blue panic in rows, will have little chance of survival if planted on barren fields late in summer.

Yes, J. O. Nobles got another good rain on his ranch northwest of the city last Tuesday.

He tried to drive out there Tuesday night but the mud and water scared him off. It must be wonderful.

Butler Hurley, back from a vacation trip to Colorado Springs, Colo., says it rained every day while he, Mrs. Hurley and the A. B. McCains were in the resort country. That must be wonderful, too.

Little George McEntire came through with another good story last week, but we can't print this one.

It rains most every day up in Rudoso, N. M., too, according to Harvey Conger, who was in the resort city with his family last weekend.

But rain in the Goldsmith country is what Harvey really is interested in.

William E. Cowan Jr., of College Station has been appointed head of the new Agriculture Department of the Daniel Baker College of Useful Arts of Howard Payne College, Brownwood.

With the combined facilities of Daniel Baker College and the Brown County Vocational School, an extensive agricultural program is being developed through the junior college level. Plans are underway for the development of a college farm to be located in the old Camp Bowie area.

Howard Payne College recently took over the operation of both Daniel Baker College and the Brown County Vocational School.

Harvesting this year's drought stunted cotton may be a problem, says Fred C. Elliott, cotton specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. The acre yield will be low and pickers or pullers will pass it up for the better yielding fields.

Elliott believes the answer to the problem is defoliation and mechanical harvesting. Knocking the leaves off the stunted plants will require the use of a defoliate, he says, such as endosulf or pentachlorophenol. Under some conditions, he adds, liquid chlorates used as sprays may be used. This would be true on cotton which was not severely stunted and on which the leaves still were fairly tender.

Look like the annual field day trip to Martin County farms will be an extra good one this year. The tour is scheduled Wednesday under the sponsorship of the Martin County Chamber of Commerce.

The route for the trippers has been charted by Ray Hastings, Martin County agent, and Martin Vavra, soil conservationist. The group will be fed at the Courtney school at noon.

Chamber officials said everyone is invited, and it is likely a large and representative group will make the tour.

Report Says Drouth Relief Hay Goes Begging In Texas

COLLEGE STATION—(AP)—Much hay available in Texas' seared drouth disaster, is going begging, surveys made by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service revealed Saturday.

Ranchers questioned by the Extension Service said they stopped feeding hay when the government's drouth relief program began offering grains and concentrates at reduced prices.

The government feed is cheaper than hay, the cattlemen said. Names and addresses of suppliers in Texas with more than 100,000 tons of hay for sale and out-of-state suppliers with more than 250,000 tons on hand have been furnished drouth disaster counties.

The Extension Service said it made a telephone check of eight

WEEDS WON'T EVEN GROW—This was once a so-called "improved" pasture in Marshall, Mo., but now it's only slim pickings for the cattle shown above. The field was fertilized and seeded according to the latest methods, but it was to no avail. It has been so dry that even weeds will not grow. As a result cattle are losing weight and the market in the area is disintegrating.

special danger periods for anthrax because close grazing on sparse pastures more readily exposes livestock to the anthrax germs which live in the soil.

The Foundation said 1,844 outbreaks were reported in 23 states last year, killing almost 3,500 head of livestock. The 1953 epidemic was marked by the occurrence of the disease in many new areas.

"This 'seeding' of new areas with anthrax germs had increased the danger," the Foundation said. "All livestock raisers must be constantly alert for new outbreaks."

Vaccination of livestock in the danger zones was recommended, because anthrax can be controlled effectively by vaccines.

Since anthrax can strike with deadly speed, killing apparently healthy animals overnight, the Foundation recommends that all "mystery" livestock deaths be reported immediately to a veterinarian or to state and federal authorities.

A relatively new development in the egg production field, housing the hens in individual cages, is receiving an increasing amount of attention in Texas. According to W. J. Moore, poultry husbandman for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, this system of producing commercial eggs has both advantages and disadvantages when compared with the more commonly used method of production—the laying house.

The cage system is an intensive method and requires a different management program for the laying flock, says Moore. The human element is an even greater factor than in the older and more standardized floor system, and, he adds, precision is the key to successful laying cage management. The system must be operated with clock-like precision if the hens are to do their work, says the specialist. The failure of one operation can throw the assembly line out of production.

Feeding, ventilation, cleaning, culling, and replacements all must be handled with precision.

Funeral services for Raymond Eugene (Jim) Toland, 56, Greyhound Bus Lines ticket agent here for six years, will be held Sunday or Monday in Anna, Ohio.

Toland died at 8:30 a.m. Friday in a Midland hospital, where he had been hospitalized with a heart ailment.

He came to Midland from Mineral Wells, where he also was a ticket agent for Greyhound. He was a member of the First Christian Church here and the Fraternal Order of Eagles.

Survivors include the parents and a sister, Dorothy, all of Anna, Ohio. His sister is postmistress there.

Toland's body has been forwarded to Anna by the Newbie W. Ellis Chapel.

"typical" drouth counties and found little hay was being bought. It said 68 stockmen were asked how much hay they had bought in the last three months, what kind, how much they paid, and their sources. Ranchmen questioned were scattered through Hutchinson, Howard, Reagan, Val Verde, Kimble, Crockett, Uvalde and Frio Counties. Only Hutchinson County is outside the most critical drouth area, the Extension Service said.

Seven Val Verde County ranchers said hay feeding stopped when the government concentrate program began. Others said they were using government concentrates to supplement roughage remaining on the range, including prickly pear (cactus) and brush.

Ten Reagan County ranchers said unless rains come by October the livestock population in their area will drop to 10 per cent of normal. Now, they said, it is about 20 per cent of normal.

Most cattlemen questioned said they were buying hay in small quantities, just enough to hold their cattle while they hoped for range improvement. Those using most concentrates said they would have to quit unless it rains before winter.

Charges For Freight

The survey showed that good quality hay was being delivered for $35 to $45 per ton. The only out-of-state purchases were from bordering states by stockmen near the state lines.

The Extension Service said its survey showed good quality alfalfa available in Texas at from $22 to $38 per ton, before delivery. South Dakota suppliers have 141,000 tons of alfalfa at from $18 to $24 per ton, but freight charges to common Texas points would average $24 per ton, making the delivered price from $42 to $48 per ton.

When the Extension Service surveys started in June, there were more than 70,000 tons available. Since then supplies have increased rapidly, the service said, both from regular harvests and from second and third cuttings, made possible by rain in some areas.

Benson said his department had tried hard "in a completely unbiased way" to see that every farmer has a chance to know exactly what is involved in the referendum.

"The decision," he added, "is now up to wheat farmers themselves."

Secretary of Agriculture Benson said Saturday the government is making no attempt to influence farmer votes on the question of marketing quotas for the 1954 wheat crop to be decided at a national referendum August 14.

The quotas, which require approval of at least two-thirds of the farmers voting, are designed to help restrict production in the face of a record supply and a surplus far above needs.

Benson said his department had tried hard "in a completely unbiased way" to see that every farmer has a chance to know exactly what is involved in the referendum.

A competent committee, composed of men high in the Graphic Arts industry, was elected to select the newspaper which consistently did the best reproduction of Mrs. Baird's ads during the year. The Midland Reporter-Telegram was awarded FIRST, competing with such newspapers as the dailies in Dallas, Fort Worth, Houston, Wichita Falls, Abilene, San Angelo, Waco, Odessa, Big Spring, and those of other Texas cities.

"Consistently best reproduction" reads the engraved plaque presented to The Midland Reporter-Telegram as the first place award in the 1952 color ad competition conducted by Mrs. Baird's Bakeries, Inc. The Reporter-Telegram emerged winner over the largest newspapers in Texas.

Roland W. Baird, Sr., of Dallas, vice president of Mrs. Baird's Bakeries, Inc., congratulates C. E. Johnson, Reporter-Telegram press foreman. # Perplexed Parent Speaks Out Against Free Gems Of Wisdom

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON—(AP)—What this country needs is a "Let Parents Alone" week.

We have all sorts of special weeks now, including those which urge us to have sweet thoughts about donkeys (Be Kind to Animals Week) or canaries (Cage Bird Week).

But what we really need is a week devoted to practicing parents.

Sure, I know we've had Mother's Day and Father's Day. It's coming up. But these always have seemed to me to be designed primarily for parents emeritus, fathers and mothers honored for jobs presumably well done.

But I am talking for the millions of people who are slugging away at the task of raising the little rascals, hoping (a) the kids somehow will turn out to be decent citizens, or (b) failing that, they at least don't wind up in the reform school.

You will note I have not gone as far with the parent as others have with the donkey. I do not ask for kindness; I ask merely to be let alone.

As a three-time parent, it seems to me I am over-advised and over-blamed.

Siblings, So What?

I am not speaking so much of the professional advice, of the articles and books on child raising. Many of these are excellent, although I do draw the line at the psychologist who persists in calling brother or sister a sibling. He has no business worrying about my problems. He has problems of his own.

But the amateur advice is worse because it is, unfortunately, endless and, regrettably, delivered in person. I doubt whether there's an adult in the world who isn't an authority on other people's children.

Which leads us to the over-blaming. Be authorities, they know where the blame lies all right. And they don't mind pointing the accusing finger either.

The Real Fault, Etc. . . .

Scarcely a day goes by without a news story of a meeting—whether it's on the alarming growth of arson or the way kids listen and watch television atrocities—which doesn't include this quote from the main speaker:

"The real fault here lies in the home."

The worst of it is that this is true. For the trouble with parents is that they are human beings.

Insurance Agents Vote In Stephens As New President

Edwin L. Stephens

Edwin L. Stephens was elected president of the Midland Association of Insurance Agents for 1953-54 at its regular meeting Friday afternoon. He succeeds Roy McKee, who has served as president during the last year.

Harlan Howell was named vice president and Jimmy Wilson, secretary-treasurer, succeeding James Mims.

The new officers will take office September 1.

John Grimland, CPA, was the guest speaker at the Friday meeting, speaking on "The Social Security Program."

Frank Paup was named to membership in the association.

Chinese Medical Student Executed At 'Own Expense'

HONG KONG—(AP)—A 28-year-old medical student who refused a Chinese government post was forced to march more than 15 miles to his execution spot. Then his relatives had to pay for the bullet that killed him.

Huang Lucy, a niece of the victim, now is in Hong Kong. She says Huang Chuen, a third-year medical student at Shanghai University, decided in 1950 to spend his Summer holidays in the village of Tai Shing in Kiangshu Province.

While there, Huang was called upon to take over the post of village chieftain. He declined because he wanted to return to school. For refusing, he was thrown into prison and later executed.

New Ellenburger Facts Available In UT Publication

AUSTIN—New facts about the Ellenburger formations—geological strata which play important parts in Texas production—are available in a University of Texas publication.

The Bureau of Economic Geology bulletin gives many details about the relations of surface and subsurface sections of the formations, which extend through major portions of more than 100 Texas counties, Bureau Director John T. Landale announced.

'Big Name' Speakers To Appear At U. of T. Geological Seminar

AUSTIN—Some of the nation's outstanding geologists and petroleum industry leaders will be guest lecturers at the University of Texas seminar.

They will discuss technical and ethical aspects of careers in geology during a special graduate seminar, Dr. S. P. Ellison, Jr., geology department chairman, announced.

Edgar W. Owen, San Antonio geologist and former president of the American Association of Petroleum Geologists, will direct the seminar, which will meet each Tuesday and Thursday of the first semester.

Speakers will include L. F. McCollum, Continental Oil Company president, and L. T. Barrow, Humble Oil and Refining Company board chairman, both of Houston; E. L. De Golyer, geologist, and F. H. Lahee, former chief geologist, Sun Oil Company, both of Dallas; Wallace E. Pratt of Frijoles, retired vice president of Standard Oil Company of New Jersey; George G. Simpson of New York City, American Museum of Natural History, executive.

H. H. Bannerman, chief geologist, and Earl Ingerson, senior geologist, both with the U. S. Geological Survey, Princeton University history professor; and Cary Cronis, now president of Beloit College, Beloit, Wis.

University of Texas faculty and staff members scheduled to speak during the seminar include: S. E. Clabaugh, R. L. Folk, J. A. Wilson, R. K. DeFord, John T. Landale, and Ellison.

The University will record the lectures, which will be edited by the speakers and by Owen and published in book form.

Financier Says Women Invest As If Betting On Horse Races

By DOROTHY ROE

Today's women are world-beaters, says New York financier Charles A. Wyman, at practically everything except investing money. They can be crack career women or tops in any field, but they invest their personal nesteggs, he asserts, as if they were betting on a horse race. He says: "I'm not referring to widows only, who often are bewildered at the sudden necessity of handling their own money. Housewives and smart business women who are brilliant at their jobs, but become 'bes-in-the-woods' when they start to invest their personal funds." Wyman says most women buy stocks on either the "hunch" or the bargain-hunting system. They may choose a certain stock because its name appeals to them, or another because it is cheap. This, he points out, is a good way to lose your shirt in the stock market. Wyman offers a few suggestions to women who want to invest their money but don't quite know how to go about it:

1. Hold a part of your savings in cash, waiting for a favorite time to invest. A bit of extra cash earmarked for investment often permits you to take advantage of opportunities that otherwise would be lost.
2. Don't fall in love with a stock. If it lets you down, get rid of it. No wise investor ever puts his securities away and forgets about them. Intelligent investing involves a knowledge of when to sell as well as when to buy.
3. Two methods are used by experienced investors in buying and selling stocks. The first uses a formula based on the cyclical nature of prices. The other is analytical—the investor follows closely the progress of the company through its financial reports and figures out for himself when is the best time to buy or sell.

4. Forget the idea that you can make a million in the stock market by some fool-proof trick. It just doesn't happen that way. No formula automatically piles up a fortune.
5. Do not buy a security until you have investigated it thoroughly. Inquire into the financial status of the company, read its stockholder reports, inquire into possible future plans for expansion.
6. Review your holdings frequently, jotting down the reasons why you want to hold or sell each stock.
7. Don't depend on tips, hunches or feminine intuition. Remember that facts are the only sound basis for buying or selling.
8. Don't be afraid to read the annual report of a company. Any woman who can figure out a household budget should be able to understand whether or not a company is solvent. 9. Don't go on a stock-buying spree the way you go shopping—to lift your spirits or collect bargains. 10. Apply the same native shrewdness to buying stocks that you do to finding the best buy in the grocery store. Once they get over their timidity about entering the masculine domain of the stock market, women will become good investors.

If Grass Is Greener On Neighbor's Side, Proper Fertilizer Is Probably The Reason

(One of a series of articles on gardening in Midland, prepared and submitted by the Midland Council of Garden Clubs.)
Every man has his own idea as to the proper fertilizer for a lawn. This idea may change from year to year due to his own experience or to the frustrating discovery that in spite of his labors his neighbor's lawn is considerably greener than his own. Some husbands want to try every new product and some have to try out the wife's latest idea. This leads one authoritative garden writer to suggest using different fertilizers each year, and that is really a sound idea.

Nobody can fertilize a lawn properly without first understanding the needs of the grass plant and the composition of the soil in which it is growing. The three basic elements required by plants are phosphorus, nitrogen and potash. Phosphorus produces blooms and stem, nitrogen produces leaves, and potash aids in seed setting and fruit production. Obviously, the one most necessary element for grass production is nitrogen.

Nitrogen is produced in unfertilized soil by decaying vegetation; there is little of that in Midland soils so nitrogen must be added for a good lawn. Midland soils contain sufficient potash. It is a good idea to test the soil with a kit (have it done professionally) or to send samples to Austin through the county agent in the courthouse. This will establish exactly what the soil needs. The Austin reports show the amounts of the major elements, the trace elements, and give the fertility of the soil and will prescribe the necessary treatment for whatever a person wishes to grow.

Must Read Recipes
In order to know what to feed the lawn one must be able to read the recipes. In buying commercial fertilizer the recipe usually is printed on the sack. The three main elements are listed, with the percentages which the sack contains in this order, phosphorus, nitrogen and potash. Thus 5-10-5 has five per cent phosphorus, ten per cent nitrogen and five per cent potash; the remainder of the one hundred per cent is filler or carrier. 16-20-0 which is especially prepared for lawns is sixteen per cent phosphorus, twenty per cent nitrogen (leaf developing) and contains no potash. Manure varies in composition but has all the essential elements, is high in nitrogen, and supplies organic matter. The only objection to its use is that it may contain weed seeds. Sheep manure and cottonseed meal are both high in nitrogen. Compost will supply all elements and humus.

Believes In Organic Fertilizer
There is one school of gardening which believes firmly that organic fertilizers such as manure, compost and sewage sludge are superior to inorganic fertilizer. Others believe that chemical fertilizers are satisfactory. Since there is so little humus and organic matter in Midland soil, the organic fertilizers can be used to accomplish two purposes. Otherwise both chemical fertilizer and some type of humus such as peatmoss or cottonseed hulls are needed.

Fertilizing should begin when the lawn starts turning green in the Spring, can continue except in very hot weather and should stop with the end of the growing season. Chemical fertilizers are fast acting and consequently must be applied more frequently than organic fertilizers which are slow acting. A mixture of the two will turn the lawn green in a hurry and keep it that way. Nutrients wash through our porous soil so must be continually replenished.

Application should be on a dry lawn and should be followed by thorough watering to prevent burning. Applying in two directions will make an even color. Some soil acidifier should be used to avoid chlorine.

Mrs. Gilbert Joe Sevier, Jr.

Couple Reads Vows In Home Ceremony

In a home ceremony at 8 p.m. Saturday in Palmer, Texas, Marion Sue McBurnett of Palmer became the bride of Gilbert Joe Sevier, Jr. of Orangeburg, S. C.

Double-ring vows were read in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. McBurnett, with the Rev. Patrick Gallagher officiating. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Sevier, 1202 West Tennessee Street, Midland.

The couple exchanged vows before a large fireplace which served as an improvised altar. Centering the mantle was an arrangement of asters and stock backed by a large mirror. White blossoms framed the entrance to the altar.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a dress of imported white medallion lace over taffeta, fashioned with a rounded neckline embellished with seed pearls and rhinestones, and a full skirt dotted with tiny rhinestones. Her veil was caught to a tiny lace hat embroidered with pearls and rhinestones, and she carried a white Bible topped with a white orchid and streamers of ribbon in which were tied tiny white blossoms. Her only jewelry was a strand of pearls.

Mrs. J. B. Higgins of Beaumont, aunt of the bride, was the matron of honor. She wore a dress of pale pink organza over taffeta with a matching hat fashioned of net. Her flowers were orchids.

A reception was held following the wedding. Mrs. C. H. McBurnett, Mrs. J. B. Higgins and Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Sevier, Sr. assisted the couple in receiving the guests.

Marion Sevier of Midland served the cake, and Topsy Robertson of Nacona presided at the punch bowl. Guests were registered by Mrs. Roy F. Carlson of Dallas.

White Blossoms Center Table
A chain of tiny white blossoms formed the centerpiece on the bride's table which was covered with a grey organdy cloth over darker grey. The three-tiered wedding cake stood at one end of the table, and the crystal punch bowl at the other. The buffet was centered with an arrangement of white flowers.

For a wedding trip to New Orleans, La., the bride wore a mauve silk shantung suit with rhinestone buttons. She wore a black velvet hat and matching shoes, and carried a black hand-bag and gloves with rhinestone jewelry.

Mrs. Sevier attended North Texas State College in Denton. She is a member of Phi Sigma Alpha Sorority. Before her marriage she was employed by the Midland Public School system.

Sevier attended St. Edwards University, Sul Ross State College and the University of Texas. His fraternity is Sigma Alpha Epsilon. He formerly was associated with W. L. Simmons and Ellis Conner, Midland oil operators.

Mr. and Mrs. Sevier will be at home in Orangeburg, S. C., where the bridegroom is employed as a land man for Ebasco Services, Inc. of New York, N. Y.

Peggy Whitson Weds Rev. Albert Lindley

Mrs. Albert Franklin Lindley

Peggy Lou Whitson of Midland and the Rev. Albert Franklin Lindley of Seminole exchanged vows Saturday in a double-ring ceremony in the First Methodist Church.

Dr. T. Foster Lindley of Storms, Conn., brother of the bridegroom, officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Whitson, 408 North Big Spring Street. Mr. Lindley's parents are Mr. and Mrs. T. Foster Lindley of Seminole.

Mrs. Alex Oates, organist, played a program of nuptial selections, including "O Promise Me," DeKoven; "Liebesträume," Liszt; "Ave Maria," Schubert; "Devotion," Schreiner; "Pastorale," Purvis, and "I Love Thee," Grieg. Alex Oates, soloist, sang "O Love That Came Out Fear," Bach, and "O Perfect Love," Barnby.

Decorations Described

An altar centered with a large, fan-shaped arrangement of white gladioli and backed by lighted candelabra formed the background for the ceremony. Other arrangements of white gladioli and candelabra flanked the central decoration, and white satin bows marked the pews reserved for the families of the bride and bridegroom.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a dress of white Chantilly lace over satin, with a chapel length lace train. The dress was designed with a fitted bodice, accented by a scalloped, stand-up collar, and a full skirt. Long, fitted sleeves, which tapered to a point at the bride's wrists, were fastened with tiny, covered buttons. Her fingertip length veil of imported illusion was attached to a crown of white satin dotted with seed pearls and sequins.

She wore a single strand of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom, and carried a bouquet of white roses and stephanotis tied in lovers knots and arranged on a white satin ribbon. Showers of white satin streamers completed the bouquet.

She also wore the traditional "something old, something new, something borrowed, something blue, and a sixpence in her shoe." Representing the first-named was a diamond brooch belonging to her grandmother.

Barbara Ruth Whitson of Midland, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor, and Mae Margaret Whitson of Midland, also a sister of the bride, served as bridesmaid.

They were identically attired in waists length dresses of coronation blue nylon tulle over taffeta, fashioned with full, gathered skirts and shirred, strapless bodices under stoles. They wore ruffled half-hats and shoes to match their dresses, and carried arm bouquets of American beauty roses.

Mrs. Whitson chose for her daughter's wedding a teal blue shantung dress with navy accessories and a corsage of white carnations. Mrs. Lindley wore a dusty rose taffeta ensemble with matching accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

Brother Is Best Man

Bill Lindley of Seminole served as his brother's best man. Ushers were D. Rust of Shreveport, La., and Oil Adams of Burkitt. Charles Hayden Wilmoth of Crane and Robert Edmond Furman of Midland, cousins of the bride, lighted the candles.

Following the wedding a reception was held in the church parlor. The parents of the bride and bridegroom and the bridal attendants assisted the couple in receiving the guests.

Members of the houseparty included Mrs. B. B. Baker, Mrs. Oall W. Henning, Mrs. G. H. Wilmoth, Nancy Wilmoth, Mrs. Susie, Mrs. Davis, Mrs. Felix Stonehocker, Anna Adams, Myria Holcomb, Mrs. Lloyd Rucker and Mrs. Joe Mabes.

The bride's table was covered with a lace cloth and centered with an arrangement of white gladioli flanked by silver candle-holders. A four-tiered wedding cake and a silver punch bowl were placed at opposite ends of the table. Baskets of white gladioli were used throughout the reception room.

Out-of-city wedding guests included Mr. and Mrs. T. Foster Lindley, Seminole; Mr. and Mrs. D. Rust and Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Peeler and family, Shreveport, La.; Dr. and Mrs. T. E. Lindley, Jr., Storms, Conn.; Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Lindley, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Belcher, Mr. Stanley Wilmoth, Mrs. Gladys Belcher and Mr. and Mrs. Doak Hearns, Seagraves; Mrs. J. T. Franklin, Fort Worth.

Mrs. Oall W. Henning, Anthony, N. M.; Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Wilmoth and Nancy and Charles, Crane; Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Rucker, Abilene; Anna Adams, Weimert, and Myria Holcomb, Childress.

For traveling the bride chose a light blue French wool suit with a matching velour hat and brown accessories. She wore a corsage of white rosebuds.

After a wedding trip to New Mexico the couple will be at home in Dallas.

Mrs. Lindley was graduated from McMurry College where she received her degree in English. Mr. Lindley also was graduated from McMurry and now is attending Perkins School of Theology in Dallas. He served three years in the U. S. Navy.

When you hear a complimentary remark about a friend or acquaintance, file it away in your mind and when you get the opportunity tell it to the person concerned. ## Sul Ross Offers Low Cost; Bracing 'College Weather'

ALPINE—Mid-September will find many West Texans, some for the first time, starting the trip to Sul Ross State College, situated high in the Davis Mountains and flanked by the Big Bend National Park.

The college, located in Alpine, offers "ideal weather for study and play," mild winters and cool summers.

And it offers a chance at education at low expense. A round-figure look at Sul Ross costs shows the student using $500 per nine-month session for room and board, tuition, fees and textbook rental. Broken down, the costs run like this: room and board, $390 to $430 for nine months; and tuition, fees and textbook rental, $93.

Departments of study include range animal husbandry, business administration, geology, music, art, dramatics, social science, health and physical education, languages, teacher education and vocational and industrial arts.

Small classes and individual aid are boons to the Sul Ross student. The well-rounded faculty is trained to handle aptly the many college specialties.

"The demand for Sul Ross graduates," say school officials, exceeds the supply. Departments feeling the greatest call are business administration, geology, range animal husbandry and teacher education. We are trying to increase enrollments in these specialties.

Recreation is not neglected at this mountain school. Carlsbad Caverns, Old Mexico, McDonald Observatory and Big Bend National Park are but a few of the nearby features of this location.

Top Campus Facilities

Alpine itself opens its doors to Sul Ross students. This city of 5,900 West Texans helps in making a student's stay enjoyable. It's churches and homes make room for any and every member of the college group.

On campus, Sul Ross students find up-to-date classrooms, libraries, a museum, dormitories, dining hall, gymnasium, stadiums, student union, bowling alleys, swimming pool and a host of other educational and recreational facilities.

All work at Sul Ross is fully accredited by the Association of Texas Colleges, American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education, Southern Association of Colleges and Association of American Colleges.

The Fall Semester at this "college in the clouds" begins Sept. 12, 1953.

San Marcos Baptist School Has 45-Year Service Record

San Marcos Baptist Academy will begin its forty-sixth year on September 8.

The school is owned and operated by the Baptist General Convention of Texas. It is co-educational, has grades one through 12, and is non-sectarian.

In the last five years the school has spent approximately $1,000,000 on improving its physical plant. It is accredited with all accrediting agencies, including the Texas Education Agency and the Southern Association of Secondary Schools and Colleges; and its graduates have made excellent records in the colleges and universities which they have attended.

Military training is required of all boys, and the school enjoys the highest rating to be given by the government under ROTC. The annual Federated Formal Inspection under the jurisdiction of the Fourth Army is held toward the close of the school year, and both the grade boys and the high school boys participate.

For the last several years, there has been a waiting list for boys and girls at the opening of the school year in September; and to help meet the demand for enrollment, two new dormitories have been built within the last three years. Alexander Hall for boys from the first through the eighth grades and Abney Hall for high school boys. Abney was completed in September, 1952.

North Texas State Assumes Greater Stature Each Year

DENTON—North Texas State College, a school which has grown from a small normal college to one of the largest state colleges in Texas, will begin its sixty-third school year on September 21.

From that small normal college established in 1896, NTSC has grown into an institution with a university-type curricula and one of the finest physical plants in Texas.

In 1952, eight new buildings worth five and a half million dollars were completed at NTSC. Constructed under the building program were a 20,000-seat football stadium, a science building, education building, women's dormitory, men's gymnasium, women's gymnasium, library annex, and a quadrangle composed of four dormitory units and a dining hall for men.

NTSC is divided into the College of Arts and Sciences, and the Schools of Education, Business Administration, Home Economics, Music and Graduates. Dr. J. C. Matthews is president of the college.

Deans include Dr. Arthur Sampson of the College of Arts and Sciences; Dr. Witt Blair, School of Education; Dr. O. J. Curry, School of Business Administration; Dr. Florence Scouler, School of Home Economics; Dr. Walter H. Hodgson, School of Music; and Dr. Jack Johnson, Graduate School.

Fields are varied. NTSC's College of Arts and Sciences, consisting of 14 departments, is divided into three divisions: humanities, science, and social science.

A thorough liberal education with specific, concentrated training in the student's chosen field is the goal of the College of Arts and Sciences.

Departments offering majors include art, English, foreign languages, journalism, library service, speech, biology, chemistry, mathematics, physics, economics and sociology, geography, government, and history. Courses in philosophy and Bible also are offered under the College of Arts and Sciences.

Embracing the departments of health, physical education and recreation for both men and women; education and psychology; industrial arts; and the NTSC Laboratory School, the School of Education at NTSC is ranked as one of the most outstanding in the Southwest.

Proper education for children receives emphasis at NTSC, and the Laboratory School provides a training ground for student teachers enrolled in college.

Rated as one of the top 35 schools of business administration, the NTSC school offers a diversified program of instruction. Courses are offered leading to the degrees of bachelor of business administration, master of business administration and master of business education.

NTSC's School of Home Economics trains teachers to provide the knowledge young women need to claim their positions as wives and mothers; as lunchroom, hospital and cafeteria managers and dietitians; nursery school teachers; demonstration agents; and designers in clothing and related areas.

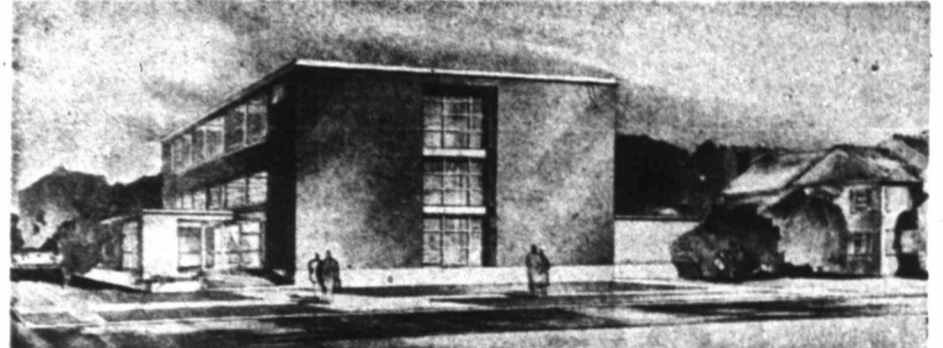

One of the most outstanding schools of music in the Southwest, NTSC's music school offers a varied program for the prospective teacher or professional artist. One of the most popular phases of the music program is the Opera Workshop, whose personnel is presented each year in opera productions which attract audiences from throughout Texas.

In addition to bachelors and masters degrees, NTSC offers the doctorate degree in the fields of education and music.

A program of Air Force ROTC training was added at NTSC three years ago.

NEW DEAN—Bryan Robinson, Oil City, La., Baptist minister, will become dean of students at Wayland College in Plainview with the Fall semester.

Sears Announces Scholarship Fund

RIO DE JANEIRO—Sears, Roebuck and Company of Brazil has announced an annual scholarship fund of $20,000 for deserving Brazilian students.

The fund, according to President Walter P. Flynn, will be used to finance university education for some 20 students annually.

Recipients will be selected through the scholarship committee of the Brazil-United States Institute. It is expected the bulk of the scholarships will be for the University of Brazil.

St. Thomas Expects Double Enrollment In Fall Semester

The University of St. Thomas, Houston, will begin its Fall term September 17, with an increase in enrollment of 45 per cent above that of last year.

Registration of freshmen has been set for September 15.

Construction on the first of the new units in the building expansion program will start in the late Fall. This unit, to cost $350,000, will house a library and six classrooms, and will have a total floor space of more than 24,000 square feet. It will be constructed of reinforced concrete and masonry, with built up tar and gravel roof. The exterior finish will be of face brick and stone, the interior finish of exposed masonry. Floorings throughout will be of asphalt tile, while acoustic tile will be used for ceilings.

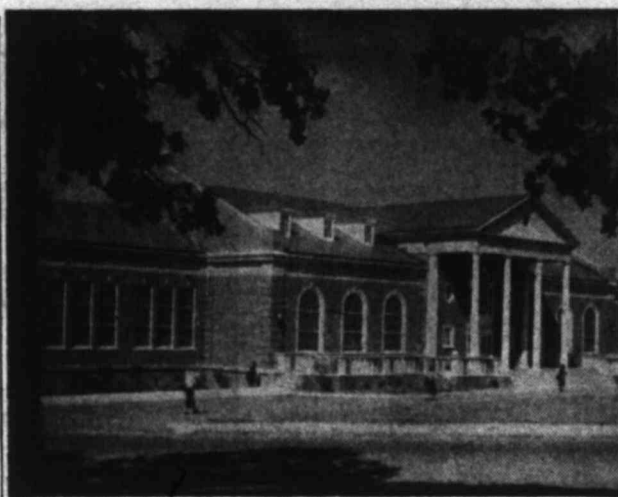

The building will be air conditioned and will be equipped with an elevator and incandescent lighting.

While the initial capacity of the library will be 50,000 volumes in addition to 16,500 bound periodicals, the structure will be so designed that any desired areas may be converted to book-stack areas without waste of space. Two hundred students may be seated in reading room of library, while the classrooms will accommodate 30 students each.

The university also has acquired a building immediately adjoining that of proposed library. This building, with five classrooms on second floor and accommodations on ground floor for meetings and social affairs, will be used by classes in social sciences.

The university, under the direction of the Basilian Fathers, offers courses in the liberal arts and sciences, with pre-professional courses in law, medicine and dentistry. It enjoys the highest rating with the State Department of Education and is affiliated with the Association of Texas Colleges and the Catholic University of America.

The school also sponsors the annual Mardi Gras festival, a highlight in the social life of Houston.

TSCW DINING HALL—This new $2,000,000, block-square dining hall on the Denton campus contains four large dining rooms which will seat more than 2,400 at one time and is designed to serve the entire dormitory population of the college.

TSCW Provides Fitting Background For Modern Living

DENTON—The Texas State College for Women, the university for women, will open its fifty-first registration September 15 with full emphasis on courses of study that fit the Texas girl for a career and home and a tip-top program that stresses character, scholarship, friendship and fun. Classes start September 17.

Students wishing information concerning admission and room reservation at TSCW should write him, Francis W. Emerson, dean of admissions, said.

Any girls uncertain about college should examine the TSCW offerings. Dr. John A. Guinn, president, emphasized.

All courses are organized along women's interests, enabling the college to develop programs that are outstanding and often unduplicated.

For example, TSCW has provided more graduates in home economics than any other college or university in Texas, and now invites high school and junior college girl graduates to an even more extensive study and research program that has brought the college national and international acclaim.

The high-quality and versatile courses in its College of Household Arts and Sciences provide training in homemaking as well as for teaching, extension service, food products and processing, nutrition and dietetics; design, manufacture and distribution of textiles and clothing; design and distribution of housing and household equipment; various areas of family living and child development; and radio, television and newspapers.

Occupational Therapy The TSCW occupational therapy department provides another fast-growing field that offers unlimited opportunities for service and satisfaction in one's work. TSCW has one of the few such majors in the entire United States and girls from as far away as California and New York enroll in Denton for training. The course is approved fully by the American Medical Association.

Many girls also attend TSCW because of its outstanding courses in art, where a student can select studies suited for her needs, whether professional or non-professional, in advertising design, art education, ceramics, costume design and fashion illustration, history of art, interior design, jewelry and metalwork, painting and sculpture.

TSCW places much emphasis on courses in selling, vital factory in today's economy, particularly in the big department of business and merchandising. Under a recent change in curriculum, TSCW also offers one-year and two-year secretarial courses, thus giving technical skills plus a college background.

Growth Of TCU Based On Principles Set Forth By Two Pioneer Founders In 1873

FORT WORTH—Texas Christian University, West Texas' oldest institution of higher learning and the fifth oldest in the State, opens its eighty-first annual session September 14.

On that first day in 1873, when 13 students registered for classes on the campus at old Thorp's Spring (28 miles southwest of Fort Worth), certain basic principles were set up by the pioneer founders, Addison and Randolph Clark. They have been followed down through the years.

The objectives included, briefly, "the support and promotion of literary and scientific education" for both male and female students (a revolutionary idea when the charter was issued on Dec. 2, 1871); that pure religion is basic to well-rounded preparation for life; that quality should be stressed above quantity; that democracy and the free enterprise system are most in harmony with the basic facts of life and offer the greatest possible opportunities for achievement and development.

Although TCU still has no ambition to become "big," the school has grown remarkably in its 80 years. It was moved to Waco in 1895 and the name changed from Addison College to Texas Christian in 1902. After a bad fire in 1910, it returned to Fort Worth and opened on its present site in 1911.

Once located out on the prairie southwest of the city, its big campus now is surrounded completely by business and residential areas. Last winter, 5,970 students were registered. Indications are the enrollment will be even larger this coming year.

There are now eight schools and colleges: AddRan College of Arts and Sciences; School of Business; Aris College of Nursing; Evening College; Bible College of the Bible; Graduate School; School of Fine Arts and School of Education. Graduate and undergraduate work is offered in more than 80 fields and degrees awarded up through the Masters'.

Expansion Program

A $10,000,000 building program is nearing completion. In recent years, six handsome new buildings have been added including the $2,200,000 science building, the $2,000,000 fine arts building and the $1,200,000 religion center which will be opened this Fall.

"Our objective is still to do an outstanding job in the areas in which we work," said Dr. M. E. Sadler who became president in 1941 who organized the university into its present schools and colleges and launched the huge building program.

"Our aim is to prepare our boys and girls for living—happily and successfully in our democracy. To do that, we believe our work must be based on pure religion—not denominationalism. We seek to train their heads and hearts and to do it well with personal attention which our smaller classes and student organizations permit."

Recent emphasis is expected to be continued in Technical Training in all fields. Engineering Training is receiving special concern as well as courses in nursing and a large number of trades.

Added in 1952-53 were courses in Commercial Cooking, Cosmetology, Remodeling of Home Furnishings, Audio-Visual Training, and Automotive Mechanics.

Because the Tower of Piss began to tilt while it was under construction, the south side of the tower is two stories taller than the north side.

Prairie View Lists Courses To Remain Apace With Times

PRAIRIE VIEW—Increasing employment opportunities for Prairie View A&M College graduates is constantly bringing about a shift in curriculum emphasis, President E. B. Evans expressed in a report released here Saturday.

Several new courses and departments were established during the last term to meet expressed needs. Others will be added and some perhaps dropped in the future depending upon employment opportunities and community needs, the dean said.

GROWING WITH TEXAS

Examples of some of the more recent additions to the growing skyline of the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Texas at College Station, part of the more than ten-million-dollar expansion of the past decade, are shown above. At the top is the present A. & M. skyline as seen from State Highway 6 (Dallas to Houston), which passes along the eastern edge of the campus. In the second row, left to right, are shown the newly completed Engineering Building, housing offices of the Dean of Engineering, the Engineering Experiment Station and some of the engineering classrooms and laboratories; the modern air-conditioned Memorial Student Center, social center of the campus; the new college administration building, near the center of the campus, housing the offices of the president, dean of the college, registrar and fiscal department; third row: the new Beef Cattle Center, located in a pasture area where animals are always available for inspection and study; front of the new Biological Sciences Building; the Texas Engineers' Library, which makes available to students and staff as well as professional engineers, the important technical collection of the professional engineers of the state.

Texas, during the past ten years, has been growing at a tremendous pace, coming into its own as an industrial state and intensifying its agriculture with increased irrigation, mechanization and the application of modern science to this basic Texas industry.

Keeping pace with this spectacular development has been the growth in size and stature of Texas' land grant college, the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Texas. During this decade of Texas growth, its A. & M. College campus has blossomed under the spell of the most spectacular building program in its three quarters of a century. Not only has the college made necessary expansion in order to take care of the education of more Texas boys, but it has devoted much of its development during this period to preparing to take better care of all of the boys who come to it for their education.

Improvements in the physical facilities necessary for modern technical education have been made at a rate of more than a million dollars a year at Texas A. & M. during this period, with by far the greatest part of this expansion of facilities being made within the past five years.

Notable additions to the college's facilities have included the two-million-dollar Memorial Student Center, a gracious social and recreation center for the campus, which also furnishes accommodations for visitors from over the state who come here regularly to see their sons, to attend meetings or to seek the aid of specialists on the college staff. The impact of this one building has made a tremendous change in student life and the general atmosphere of the campus.

Development of the Easterwood Airport, with its engine testing laboratories, wind tunnel and shops into the Southwest's only Personal Aircraft Research Center has added much to the effectiveness of educational facilities in Aeronautical Engineering.

The new and modernly equipped Biological Sciences Building, the new wing for nuclear studies on the Physics Building, the new wing for Business Administration, a new Engineering Building and a permanent home for the Texas Engineers' Library on the campus have made real contributions to facilities for technical training.

Development of the modern agricultural centers west of the railroads has provided organized facilities for teaching, research and extension in agricultural fields, with modern classroom and laboratory buildings located on ground areas where livestock and poultry can be pastured and housed around the study centers. This addition to the campus, covering 3,909 acres, has received nearly two million dollars' worth of improvements in the past two years. Centers for dairy cattle, horses, swine, sheep, goats, poultry, horticulture, agronomy, beef cattle, entomology and range and forestry have been completed and work is under way on a modern veterinary medicine center at this time.

Paralleling the building program was the installation of new equipment in many departments, making the latest teaching and research aids available for staff and students. Notable recent additions to such equipment have included the network analyzer and complete television laboratory equipment in Electrical Engineering, an electron microscope for work in the biological sciences, new powerful X-ray equipment for soil analysis and radiation equipment for studies of the effects of radiation upon poultry. Development of a new type of laboratory for pre-testing lighting and ventilation characteristics of proposed buildings through use of scale models has been a major advance in the architectural field.

Throughout all schools of the college the curricula have been kept up to date, with courses being planned to meet the special needs of Texas boys and Texas industries. With the increased demand for men with advanced degrees for the specialized jobs of modern industry, the graduate school has grown particularly fast in recent years.

An example of this move to keep step with needs of a growing state has been the creation of a special three-week course for selected executives of Southwestern industries, staffed with outstanding business and professional leaders of the nation. The first such course was successfully completed in February of this year and another has been announced for 1954.

Detailed information on courses and facilities of the A. & M. College may be secured from the Registrar at College Station.

Texas Tax Savings Cited After Truman Budget Cut

ABILENE—The West Texas Chamber of Commerce has estimated that Texas taxpayers will save $38,000,000 in federal taxes that they will not have to pay because of the $12.6 billion in appropriations cut by the Administration and Congress from the Truman budget.

Calculating that Texas taxpayers bear 4.27 per cent of all federal taxes, the regional chamber applied this percentage to the $12.6 billion figure to derive its estimate.

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce said, "In cutting $12.6 billion of appropriations from the Truman budget for 1954, the Administration and the Congress paved the way to substantial tax savings in the next few years."

VILLAIN FOILED AGAIN—Midland First Nighters Laugh As Temperance Triumphs

"Dirty Work at the Crossroads," a new Summer Mummer melodrama, played in true villain style, timidity and hilarious good fun Friday night in its opening performance in the American Legion Hall.

The plot featured the efforts of Abilene scoundrel, Munro Murgatroyd, played in true villain style by Richard Cappel, to separate a couple of star-crossed lovers, Nellie Lovelace and Adam Oakhart.

Nellie, played by Mrs. Neil E. Salsich, Jr., remained as true as she was tender, but Adam, the bashful hero played by A. Weller Cole, found solace in drink when his love went awry. Cole is convincingly melodramatic as the fallen hero who repents and gets a second chance.

High spot in the comedy line, though, is John Scott Alcorn's portrayal of Mookie Maguggins, the rube but rustic farm boy.

Stage Good Show

First night forgetfulness resulted in a few muffed lines, but that only seemed to add to the general hilarity.

In short, the Mummies put on a fine show with plenty of laughs from the opening curtain until the hero's final triumph over time and the T. & P.

Others in the cast were Nancy Armstrong as the Widow Lovelace; Mrs. Robert A. Estes as Ida Rhinegold; Mrs. J. Henry Wilkinson, Jr. Mrs. Upson Asterbilt; Jane Wilcox, Leonie Asterbilt, and Mrs. Robert N. Conkling, Fleurette, the French maid.

Walter C. Beardsley was the director, and William A. Heck, the stage manager. Bob Baugh, pianist, played the musical accompaniment.

A lively olio in old-fashioned music hall style followed the play. Acts included a barber shop quartet, a magic show, a tap dance, two skits on Hoot Jukes and family, a dance by "the sheik," and the inevitable can-can. William Adam is the olio director.

Those participating were Mrs. James G. Noland, Mrs. R. A. Estes, Nancy Armstrong, Marc Masotti, Malcolm Gibson, Dolores Franklin, Mrs. Henry Shaw, Jr., Mrs. Neil E. Salsich, Jr., Mrs. W. C. Montgomery, Dea Collins, Buck Kirksey, Imogene Rindsig, Clifford Wilcox, Jane Ann Marshall, John Alcorn, William Adam, Cay Reigle, Mary Lo Mason, Bruce Shade.

Members of the Summer Mummer advisory committee are W. F. Pennebaker, chairman; W. H. Pomeroy, Jr., Dr. Dorothy Weyell, E. J. Elliott, Arthur W. Allen, Jr. and Mrs. J. Harvey Herd.

Committee chairmen are Mrs. J. E. Beakey, publicity; Art Cole, technical advisor; Mrs. J. S. Roden, advertising; Dolores Franklin, treasurer; Imogene Rindsig, program; Charles A. Texas A&M, oldest state-owned institution of higher learning, has graduated 25,000 students in its 76-year history. Many of them went to Aggie land from other states and foreign countries to share in the knowledge assembled through study and research at the College Station campus and other branches across the state.

Scholastic interests are given first consideration as evidenced by the outstanding staff and facilities of the college, and the place these things have won among the nation's colleges and universities.

First year students are placed in the Basic Division. This is a new and effective idea in higher education which provides counsel and help in preparation for degree-granting schools and in choosing the course of study that will be most useful to the student.

Junction Adjunct

Remedial work and counseling is offered during the Summer in the atmosphere of a restful camp. If the student feels high school has not prepared him completely for college work, he may enter the Basic Division's Junction Adjunct for that particular counseling and remedial program.

The school of Arts and Sciences, in addition to regular courses of study in that field, annually presents many premedical and pre-dental students for more advanced work. It is one of the five top colleges in the United States offering instruction in oceanography. The business administration department is one of the largest in the South. Every phase of business learning is available to the student.

One of the most complete facets of learning is provided in the School of Engineering, whose research projects are gaining national and world attention. This is the only school in this part of the nation offering a degree in geophysics, and has access to the Personal Aircraft Research Center; the only agency of its kind in the world.

The School of Military Science offers one of the most comprehensive programs for military training and air science. It enrolls the largest corps of cadets in the country and is the nation's greatest source for trained officer reserves for the Army and Air Force.

The School of Veterinary Medicine is one of the 17 accredited in the nation and present enlargements and improvements make it one of the best-equipped in the nation.

Outside of its purely academic pursuits, the Big Texas School has earned a world-wide name for itself through the undying spirit of Aggie land instilled in its students—"Once an Aggie, always an Aggie."

The Twelfth Man

The Aggie Spirit is typified in a tradition born at a football game 30 years ago:

Each student gets on his feet at the opening kickoff and remains standing through the final whistle or gun as a symbol of readiness for duty should the 11 men on the gridiron need assistance and replacement.

That's exactly what happened one day in 1922, and the Twelfth Man tradition was born.

All Are On Team

The Aggies were playing the famed Praying Colonels of Centre College. As the game entered the fourth quarter the Aggie coach, Dana Z. Bible, now athletic director at Texas University, saw his light but fast backs one by one being carried off the field. With some time left to play, his last substitute was injured too badly to play further.

Bible sent a yell leader into the stands to find an Aggie to suit up and join the squad on the field.

Since that date Aggie coaches have called upon the Corps for a Twelfth Man several times, especially during war years. This is why the students stand throughout a football game in which Texas A&M is playing. They stand ready to help the team at all times.

Hardin-Simmons Maintains Founders' Christian Ideals

ABILENE—Bible and Boots. These are the major influences in life at Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene.

A consciousness of the great traditions of the Texas cattle country and a program of training in the fine and liberal arts join together in West Texas' oldest university.

The university, a coeducational, liberal arts school, was founded in Abilene in 1891 by West Texas Cattlemen who belonged to the Sweetwater Baptist Association. From a modest beginning with $5,000 capital and 16 acres of land, the school has grown into one of the top three Baptist colleges in the nation in enrollment, and now boasts one of the most modern educational plants in the Southwest with more than $6,000,000 resources.

Its athletic teams sport the nickname "Cowboys." It is the home of the world famous Cowboy Band, a unique organization of collegiate musicians which has travelled throughout the 48 states and into seven foreign countries.

More than 30,000 students from 48 states, nine foreign countries, and from every county in Texas have been trained in the three schools at Hardin-Simmons. The School of Music and Allied Arts, the School of Business Administration, and the College of Arts and Sciences offer 550 courses in 33 fields which are instructed by a faculty trained in both America and Europe. The four-fold program of instruction is designed to develop the student intellectually, socially, physically, and spiritually.

The Abilene school offers the bachelor's degree and the master's degree in the fields of music, business, the sciences, Bible, English, journalism, art, and related subjects. It holds membership in four organizations: the National Association of Schools of Music, to which Hardin-Simmons was the first Texas school to be admitted, the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, the American Association of Colleges, and the Texas Association of Colleges.

Throughout its history H-SU has emphasized religious education. Its foundation agreement reads in part, "to bring young men and women to Christ." In its first 61 years the school awarded degrees to more than 1,700 preachers and to 114 missionaries.

Texas Tech Looks Forward To Brightest Year With New Faces, Courses, Activity

LUBBOCK—Texas Technological College (Tech) faces one of its brightest years in its history in 1953-54.

The technical college of Texas will start September 17 with prospects of increased enrollment, a covey of new activities, and a revised curriculum in several departments that keeps the college abreast of the times.

High school seniors pulled a pleasant—but unexpected—trick on Tech in 1952-53 when the extra class in the Texas high school 12-year program graduated. Tech expected a decrease in enrollment among freshmen, since the senior class was small in high schools. But more freshmen enrolled than since 1946-48, post-war, veteran years. Tech's roll call list contained

5,634 names during the year, and the Summer terms were attended by 2,000 students each.

Enrollment Increase
Tech administrators are expected a gradual increase from the 1953-54 mark from now on. Some 1,400 freshmen are expected in September.

College officials cite several items for the influx of the freshman population on the campus at Tech. Recognition of Tech's academic standards heads the list, followed by the beautification of the 300-acre main campus, and its services to the state.

Tech's physical plant, the buildings and grounds, takes a back seat to no college campus for beauty. The Spanish Renaissance architecture buildings, numbering 37, gives the campus the uniform appearance of a campus well planned, and the buildings were sprinkled over the campus from 1925 to 1953.

New to the family of campus constructions is the $542,000 Student Union Building. This ultra-modern structure for student between-class relaxation is unique in this section of the state. Designed by four ex-students (Atcherson and Atkinson of Lubbock and Foster and Davis of El Paso), the Student Union Building fills a gap in the student life on the campus.

Other New Units
New also are the million-dollar Science Building, East Engineering Building, Agricultural Engineering Building, Veterinary Science Building, Music Building, and Peacock Academy, a $5 million building program completed officially April 12, 1953, when Tech opened its Student Union Building. Tech's campus is valued at over $20 million, based on the cost of construction, and excludes equipment.

The Division of Engineering at Tech has buried the hatchet, academically, with several of its fellow institutions and will place into effect in September a five-year cooperative program of training engineers. Dr. Dyrast Holcomb, dean of engineering and a graduate of Tech, has announced that Tech will cooperate with liberal arts colleges in the program.

To give the technical engineer a broader background in the social sciences, the program allows for the freshman student to start at Tech—or at one of the liberal arts schools—in liberal arts, following a science, government, history, economics, English, and foreign language route. After three years, in which the student has taken most of his engineering science, mathematics, and other pre-engineering courses, the student transfers to the engineering division at Tech for two years of technical training in the phase of engineering desired. At the end of the two-year period, he receives a BA degree in liberal arts and a BS degree in engineering from Tech.

Tech Foundation
Dr. Holcomb stated that the program has been promoted by major concerns, since such graduates are in definite demand by industry.

He added that the regular four-year course would be continued for those desiring it.

New additions to the staff of Tech has made for broader offerings, and more varied activities of the college.

Edward W. (Bud) Smith, new director of development of the Texas Tech Foundation, has the duty of promoting Texas Tech and special projects through attracting gifts, grants, and bequests to the college.

"No great institution has ever existed without support such as the foundation seeks," Smith said. The support Tech will seek is apart from state grants for operations.

Health And Research
The addition of Dr. John Manning to the Speech department staff, and the purchase and receipt of several items in equipment, puts the department in a speech-correction therapeutic class. It will work closely with the Cerebral Palsy Treatment Center in Lubbock.

Research—another sign of growing up at Tech—will be emphasized at Tech in the future. According to Dr. E. N. Jones, president, Tech has spent the first 27 years building its undergraduate program. It is now ready for a strong research and graduate program.

The textile engineering department, the only school of its kind west of the Mississippi River and one of 10 in the United States, has long been the center of textile research in the Southwest. Its program, in cooperation with the Cotton Research Committee of Texas, will be stepped up. Then Tech will carry on several agricultural research programs at Pan Tech Farms, 6,000 acres of choice farm land near Amarillo, where Tech researchers are working on ways of controlling the wheat-killing greenbug, wheat poisoning, cross-breeding sheep, and working on bull progeny tests.

Graduate Program
With the establishment of Tech's graduate program, more research in the sciences, both natural and social, will be conducted.

Instruction at Texas Tech is divided into five undergraduate divisions and a graduate division. The undergraduate divisions are Agricultural, Arts and Sciences, Business Administration, Engineering, and Home Economics. The curricula of these divisions are approved by the American Association of University Women, Texas Association of Colleges, Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, American Association of University Women, and the American Association of University Professors. Individual departments are members of their respective professional organizations and national honorary societies.

Nationalization of 13 local social clubs is expected to bring additional students to the Tech campus with the Fall term. The clubs have all been approved by their respective national groups and will be in operation early in December.

Peacock Academy To Begin Sixtieth Year In September

SAN ANTONIO—Continuing its enviable record of achievement, Peacock Military Academy opens its sixtieth year September 8.

Founded in 1894 by Professor Wesley Peacock, Sr., the school continues its progress under the guidance of his sons Col. Wesley Peacock, Jr., superintendent, Col. Donald W. Peacock, commandant, and his daughter Dorothy W. Peacock, treasurer.

The academy's success is due to the successful training and tutelage of its students. Thousands of boys, ages 12 to 18, have been enrolled from every part of Texas, most of the other states and several foreign countries. Special stress always has been placed on educating the whole boy—intellectually, physically, and morally. Thorough, fundamental training in character building, personality development, and self-discipline is emphasized, thus leading to good citizenship.

Superior military training has been one of Peacock's distinctive features. Recognition of this fact has been attested to annually by reports received from the U. S. Government following inspection of its battalion of cadets. The school's military training not only helps young men prepare for war service if needed, but develops them for successful living in peace time. Habits of promptness, neatness, courtesy, obedience, good posture, courage, loyalty, and leadership are inculcated.

Hockaday Reveals Growing Programs For Scholarships

News from The Hockaday School in Dallas this Summer is about scholarships.

Hockaday's trustees initiated a new scholarship program during the Spring that already has resulted in grants to 20 outstanding students.

Another five students have received scholarships from the Hockaday Alumnae Association, which has since 1948 helped finance the Hockaday education of 13 girls. These students have distinguished themselves in some of the most exacting colleges and universities in the country.

One more award will be announced soon—the 1953 Class Scholarship. This year's graduates set a precedent in the field of class gifts. Each member of the group pledged herself to donate $10 a year for 10 years to a fund to aid other girls who desire Hockaday training.

All scholarship applicants participate in competitive examinations. Each is interviewed as well, by a staff member or an alumna. Further information about the school and its scholarship program may be obtained at any time from the school.

Falcon Attends Regular Classes With College Boy

BOSTON—(AP)—Students at Dartmouth College are used to seeing Bill Mattox around the campus carrying a falcon on his hand, because training falcons has been his hobby since high school days.

Bill graduated from Dartmouth last year and now is a teaching fellow in geography. He carries the falcon, his fifth such bird, around with him because it is necessary to spend as much time as possible with the bird before it is ready to fly along in search of its quarry.

After Bill had his last bird trained, it suddenly took off and never returned. His present bird, Blondie, is a gift from a fellow falconer who heard of the loss.

Technical Schools Boosted In China

SAN FRANCISCO—(AP)—Peiping radio says there are more than 110,000 students enrolled in technical schools to become specialized technicians, particularly in heavy industry, to meet the needs of Red China's five-year plan.

The broadcast, heard here by The Associated Press, says the government is giving ever more and more attention to such schools.

Texas Western Takes Lead In Fine, Applied Art Roles

EL PASO—Thanks to the foresight of a West Texas pioneer, Texas Western College, a self-contained branch of the University of Texas at El Paso, Texas, is assuming a position of unchallenged leadership in the field of fine and applied arts.

Long noted for its excellence in mining, metallurgy, engineering and the liberal arts, Texas Western College is continuing to forge ahead in these fields—keeping its overall program to a complex and changing civilization, keeping abreast of the times while training young men and women for future roles in society.

Backed by the million-dollar estate of the late Frank B. Cotton, Texas Western now offers—in a steadily broadening art curriculum—top-notch training in such skills as painting, drawing, sculpture, ceramics, silver-smithing, jewelry making, commercial art, weaving, furniture and fashion design, art history and appreciation, public school art, print-making, printing and book design.

A $300,000 building, built as a memorial to Cotton, houses this vigorous young branch of the El Paso school. Inside the building are classrooms, studio-workshops, an art gallery, and an auditorium capable of seating 200.

It was in 1937 that Cotton's estates—including vast holdings in El Paso, Culberson and Hudspeth Counties—were deeded to Texas Western College with the provision that proceeds were to be used to establish applied and fine arts for women at the college.

Under these terms, an art department was established at Texas Western (then the College of Mines and Metallurgy) in 1938. And in 1948, following completion of the Cotton Memorial Building, the fledgling branch embarked upon a period of tremendous growth.

Famed Art Department
Today, the Cotton Estate is valued conservatively at $1,500,000. And its yearly revenues—which amount to more than $35,000—are used entirely for the operation of Texas Western's art department.

Students in the arts at Texas Western-College work in an atmosphere of creative enthusiasm—under some of the finest art teachers in the Southwest.

Vera Wise, noted West Texas artist and teacher, heads the department. Working with her are such acknowledged masters of their fields as Wilts Harrison, jeweler and silversmith; Ellen Coogler, ceramics; Louis Carson, commercial art; and Robert Massey, painting and design.

Perhaps best-known, however, is Carl Hertzog, recognized as one of the world's great typographers and book-designers.

Decatur Baptists Feature Popular Collegiate Singers

DECATUR—Decatur Baptist College features its choir during each Spring term. The choir is composed of students who are interested in music and who enjoy singing. There is no pre-requisite for joining the choir.

During the last year the choir sang at several meetings in Decatur, 28 miles northwest of Fort Worth. Included were a concert for the Lions Club and a city-wide Christmas Tree program.

During the Spring term, the choir went on a tour through northeast Texas singing in the churches and high schools of that area. Among places where concerts were presented were Greenville, Sherman, Denison, Frisco and Paris, where the choir sang in the Immanuel Baptist Church and also in the chapel program at Paris Junior College.

The choir also sang before the American Association of Junior Colleges in Dallas. The choir traveled a total of 1,500 miles and sang in some 28 concerts during the last term of the College year.

Featured with the choir was a male quartet and a women's trio. The quartet and trio were used often in socials, banquets and church meetings during the church year.

Decatur Baptist College is a Junior College with two years of work for the student before he goes to a senior college. The college has as its motto: "Small enough to know you, large enough to serve you." Because the college is small, there is ample opportunity to receive individual help. Classes are small enough for teacher and pupil to have the companionship that is essential in direct learning.

The college offers work leading to the associate of arts, associate of science, and to a diploma. This work is done in terminal courses or pre-professional work.

Port Arthur College Adds Varied Courses

Addition of a course in advanced television engineering and one in personality development and personal adjustment was accomplished at Port Arthur College during the last year.

Established in 1909 as a business college, Port Arthur College branched out in 1934 into the field of electronics and included instruction in radio, radar, television and loran. Now the college owns and operates Radio Station KPAC, a 5,000-watt station, which serves for on-the-job training for advanced students, many of whom continue their training by remaining with the studio and the transmitter for an indefinite period after they have obtained their FCC licenses.

Free placement services are given by the college. At the present time students are enrolled from 28 states and three foreign countries.

Outstanding Year Predicted For Allen Military Academy

Allen Military Academy at Bryan, Texas, will start its sixty-ninth year on September 16. Nat B. Allen, Jr., president, announced.

"This is going to be another banner year for Allen Military Academy," Allen predicted. "We have set many outstanding records in the past and I am sure we will continue."

Most of the records is the appointment of Allen Military Academy as an Honor Military School for the thirtieth consecutive year. It is the only school in Texas to qualify for this distinction.

"This is the highest rating that can be won by a military school," Allen pointed out.

The honor rating gives the school the privilege of nominating three of its graduates to take the validating examination to the United States Military Academy and three nominations to the Naval Academy.

The selection of Honor ROTC units is made as a result of the inspection of all essentially military schools in the United States by a board of officers representing the Department of the Army. Allen first attained this rating in 1923 when only 10 of the 400 competing schools were selected as Honor Military Schools. There are now 39.

The report of the inspecting officers gives Allen a superior rating in every phase of the inspection which includes proficiency in military training, the morals of the cadets, the plant and physical equipment of the school and the general tone and atmosphere of the Academy.

The Department of the Army designated Allen as an MJC unit, of which there are only nine in the United States.

Allen is the only Academy or Junior College in Texas that can offer its students the four years of senior ROTC satisfying all military requirements for a reserve commission. A cadet who takes the required ROTC training at Allen is offered the opportunity to complete his entire college career without interruption for military service, and will receive a reserve commission in the Army after he completes his college work.

"In addition the usual academic work starting with the seventh grade, we have taught Americanism and good citizenship and we are very pleased to see our graduates make good in later life with this training," Allen said.

Borrowed Bathroom Boosts Buxton Boys To Dormitory Boon

INDIANAPOLIS—(AP)—When something went wrong with the plumbing and left Buxton Hall, one of the two men's dormitories at Indiana Central College here, without hot water the residents had a ready solution to the bathing problem.

Fifteen male students, wearing bathrobes and slippers with towels and soap in hand, drove a mile to the suburban home of the college business manager. Arriving at 10:30 p.m., they told Prof. and Mrs. Evan R. Kek, both members of the college faculty, that they had come to take baths.

The Kek's turned over their bathroom to the students. Their hospitality included also almost a bushel of apples which the boys devoured while awaiting their turns at tub and shower.

Buxton Hall was assured of hasty plumbing repairs.

First AFROTC Unit Will Receive Wings

BURLINGTON, VT.—(AP)—The University of Vermont will commission about 55 students this year in the U. S. Air Force.

This is the first time in the history of the school that senior male students were commissioned in the Air Force as well as the U. S. Army.
