Battleship Arkansas will Dock at New Orleans.

When the battleship U. S. S. Arkansas docks in New Orleans at 21st of February, many young Marines will be returning to their native Southland for the first time since their entry into the U. S. Marine Corps. The Arkansas has aboard several hundred men of the First Brigade, Fleet Marine Force, whose headquarters is Quantico, Va., under the command of Brigadier General James J. Meade, USMC. It is believed that short leave will be granted those young men living in the vicinity of New Orleans. Many parents of men no the Arkansas will be in the city attending Mardi Gras, they will meet their sons and have the opportunity to inspect the Arkansas. The New Orleans Recruiting District comprising the states of Louisiana, Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Mississippi, whose policy of allotting each state a quota of enlistments when men are needed, has given an even flow of enlistments from the States in the New Orleans District. There is hardly a community in the five states that has not contributed several young men to the service of the U. S. Marine Corps in the past two years. The Arkansas comes from the West Indies where they have been participating in spring maneuvers with other ships of the Atlantic Fleet. They will go to the West Coast to join the maneuvers of the combined Atlantic and Pacific Fleets. Lt. E. A. Robbins the officer in charge of Marine recruiting in the New Orleans District states that young men desiring to enter the Marine Corps may take preliminary physical examinations in their home localities and those selected will be given final examinations and enlistments at U. S. Marine Headquarters, 525 St. Charles Street, New Orleans La. During the months of March, April, May and June the New Orleans office will select over one hundred young men to fill anticipated vacancies there.

E. A. Robbins,
1st Lt. U. S. Marine Corps,
Officer in Charge.

Tyler, planning a great Centennial year celebration for this coming October, is the center of one of the world's greatest rose-producing sections. It also is in the same section with the world's greatest oil field, Smith county, of which Tyler is the county seat, produces one-third of the world's commercial supply of roses.

Archer county, Georgia Mae Evans, agent - One 4-H club girl has improved the entire home as a result of being a bed room demonstrator.

On Texas Farms.

Texas yards will be on parade this year of the Texas Centennial, and Texas rural home maker have been getting ready for the show if one is to judge by annual report figures of the Extension Service.

In Austin county Mrs. H. A. Nonnman, yard demonstrator of New Ulm, began her work in October 1934 by preparing a cutting bed in which she put out evergreens and roses to be rooted and transplanted to her yard in 1935.

Miss Celesta Albert, another yard demonstrator in Austin county, increased the size of her yard so that it would correspond with the large house, then planting native shrubs in screen planting across the back to cut off the view of the service buildings. Youpon, coral berry, lanterns and wild orange were used.

Mrs. Fred Einkauf, yard demonstrator from Wallis, began her work by measuring a bed all around the house, four feet wide which was then dug about 14 inches deep, fertilized, worked over and raked, after which coral berry, cherry laurel, youpon, Japanese quince, pomegranate and bridal wreath were planted as foundation plantings.

Mrs. Alvin Bravanoc of Nelsonville beautified her yard with native shrubs which her husband was glad to transplant for her because they "looked so pretty in the woods."

Preliminary to this work, the home demonstration agent held a training school for yard demonstrators last spring in which they learned how to identify plant material, ball and burlap them for transplanting and to trench them.

Youpon, winter willow, coral berry, French mulberry; sumac, red cedar, elder bush, holly, dogwood, redbud, cherry laurel and spice bush are all growing wild in Austin county, and are available for yard improvement work there.

To Our Friends and Neighbors:

We wish to express our sincere appreciation to each of you for your kindness and sympathy.

How you have helped us as we passed through the depths of sorrow during the days of our mother's serious illness and death.

In the years to come may you be remembered just as kindly and your sorrow thus assuaged by friendliness in love and neighborly sympathy.

He who cares will take care of you and your sorrow.

AND SISTERS.

One of the most unusual scenes to be found in Texas during Centennial year will be the one presented when thousands of turkeys, headed for market, actually march to the strains of band music in the world famous Cuero Turkey Trot next November. Thousands of gobbling turkeys form sections in the parade which is a feature of the Trot, an event to be repeated as a Centennial year celebration.

NEW FOODS

The O. P. Skaggs system food store, which only recently opened in San Angelo, is the show place of West Texas. Lovers of good foods spend hours just looking over the store. None of them ever saw such a huge display of fresh fruits and vegetables, meats, fish and domestic and imported groceries.

PRICES LOW

Our prices on staples are lower than any one expects and expects and our prices on the fancy items are not as much as most grocers charge for ordinary quality. When next in San Angelo, pay our store a visit and you'll come back often.

"A SURETY OF PURITY."

Washington's Birthday

By RAYMOND PITCAIRN
National Chairman
Sentinels of the Republic.

"The character, the counsels and example of our Washington . . . will guide us through the doubts and difficulties that beset us; they will guide our children and our children's children in the paths of prosperity and peace."

That tribute to the enduring influence of George Washington was expressed by one of our earlier statesmen during a period as critical to America as our own. It remains a true estimate today.

What counsels can we recall as, throughout the nation, we honor his memory?

The Father of His Country was more eloquent in deeds than in phrases. He lived his own precept: "Actions, not words, are the true criterion." But history has, nevertheless, recorded numerous expressions of his wisdom and foresight. Many of them hold a peculiar significance in a period marked by assaults on the very Constitution in which he incorporated his hopes for the future of our Nation.

Here are some of George Washington's comments on the great Charter of Liberties so intimately identified with his life and his spirit:

"That precious depository of American happiness, the Constitution of the United States."

"The Constitution which at any time exists till changed by an explicit and authentic act of the whole people is sacredly obligatory to all."

"If in the opinion of the people the distribution or modification of the Constitutional powers be in any particular wrong, let it be corrected by an amendment in the way which the Constitution designates. But let there be no change by usurpation; for though this in one instance may be the instrument of good, it is the customary weapon by which free governments are destroyed."

"Experience is the surest standard by which to test the existing Constitution of a country."

In the light of that odd adherence to a new and alien philosophy which actuates so many recent attacks on the Constitution, it seems timely to recall Washington's oft-quoted war-time order:

"Put none but Americans on guard tonight."

Galveston, one of the Texas Centennial celebration cities this year, was named for Count Berna. do de Galvez. It is located on Galveston Island, sometimes called Treasure Island, and is Texas' largest coast resort. Jean LaFitte once used Galveston Island as a base for his piratical expeditions into the Gulf of Mexico.

Jones county, Jewell Faulkner, agent - In Jones county more than 30,000 feet of tile have been laid in the gardens of the girls and women in the organized clubs to say nothing of that laid in rural communities.

ENJOY THESE ADVANTAGES of ELECTRIC COOKERY

MODERN

JUST AS THE AIRPLANE HAS REPLACED THE COVERED WAGON - THE ELECTRIC LIGHT, THE SNAGGY LAMP - SO ELECTRICITY IS REPLACING OLD-FASHIONED COOKING METHODS.

ACCURATE

THE EXACTNESS OF ELECTRIC HEAT APPLIED, PLUS POSITIVE TEMPERATURE CONTROL ELIMINATES ALL GUESS WORK AND ASSURES PERFECT RESULTS.

TIME RELEASING

Wooden Flywheel.

After an accident to the flywheel of a large European electric station the superintendent designed and had constructed a flywheel of wood which has a diameter of 65 feet and a rim width of ten feet. The thickness of the rim is about 12 inches and it is made up of 44 thicknesses of beech planks with staggered joints. The boards were glued together and then bolted. The inside consists of a double wheel, the 24 spokes of which are fastened to two hubs. Spokes and hubs are operated at 76 revolutions a minute, which corresponds to a peripheral speed of the rim of 129 feet a second.

Death of Charles Curtis, Former Vice President

CHARLES CURTIS, former Vice President of the United States and one that representative and senator from Kansas, died suddenly of heart disease at the Washington home of his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Edward E. Gann.

Charles Curtis

He was seventy-six years old, and was the first man of Indian blood ever to preside over the senate. He was one-quarter Kaw Indian, his grandmother having been Princess Julie of that tribe who married a French voyageur.

Mr. Curtis was greatly liked by his associates in Washington and his death caused genuine grief.

"I am deeply distressed to learn of the sudden passing of my old friend, Charles Curtis. Whether they knew him as a senator, as the Vice President of the United States, or as the man he was in his own right, his legion of friends will remember him, always affectionately, and will mourn his passing."

Vice President Garner said: "I was always fond of him. I was associated with him in the house and senate. He was a fine man and a good friend."

Funeral services for Mr. Curtis and the interment were in Topeka, Kan.

Long Newspaper Tax Is Held Unconstitutional

ONCE again the Supreme court of the United States comes to the rescue of a free press. Unanimously the nine justices ruled that the Louisiana law imposing a punitive tax on the advertising of the principal newspapers of that state is unconstitutional.

"It is bad because, in the light of its history and of its present setting, it is seen to be a deliberate and calculated device in the guise of a tax to limit the circulation of information to which the public is entitled in virtue of the constitutional guarantee."

"A free press stands as one of the great interpreters between the government and the people. To allow it to be fettered is to fetter ourselves."

"In view of the persistent search for new subjects of taxation, it is not without significance that, with the single exception of the Louisiana statute, so far as we can discover, no state during the 150 years of our national existence has undertaken to impose a tax like that now in question."

"The form in which the tax is imposed is in itself suspicious. It is not measured or limited by the volume of advertisement. It is measured alone by the extent of the circulation of the publication in which the advertisements are carried, with the plain purpose of penalizing the publishers and curtailing the circulation of a selected group of newspapers."

Raskob Sued for Alleged Income Tax Deficiency

ACTION against John J. Raskob, former chairman of the Democratic national committee when Al Smith was the Presidential nominee, and who is now president of the American Liberty league, has been begun by the government for an alleged deficiency of $1,026,340 on his 1929 income taxes.

The claim was filed in a petition recently filed against Pierre S. du Pont two days before Al Smith had bitterly assailed the New Deal. In the petition, which Raskob described as "New Deal persecution," Mr. du Pont was alleged to have understated his 1929 income by $2,897,832 and an additional tax of $617,316 was asked.

In the amended petition accusing Mr. Raskob, it was alleged that he and the Industrialist engaged in "notorious" sales of securities, one to the other, to a total of about $30,000,000 for the purpose of showing losses.

New Farm Bill Pushed for Early Adjournment

LEADERS of congress hope for an early adjournment, by May 1 at the latest, and therefore they pushed the new farm bill forward, trying to get it through both houses by the end of the week.

In their desire to get away from the Capital, they already had decided to let the proposed permanent neutrality legislation go by the board.

Relief Given Industrial and Farming States

INDUSTRIAL states, such as Illinois, New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio, although they pay most of the internal revenue taxes, receive much less of federal relief largesse than such agricultural states as North and South Dakota, Mississippi, Alabama, New Mexico, Arkansas and Arizona.

Illinois collected $323,138,933 and received in federal relief grants only $113,185,365 or 35 per cent of what it sent to the United States treasury.

North Dakota got approximately $25 for each $1.75 paid in taxes, receiving $25,087,327 and collecting only $1,748,657.

Mississippi received $18,745,417 in relief funds or nearly seven and one-half times the amount collected in internal revenues.

Senator Borah Formally Enters Nomination Race

WILLIAM E. BORAH, the liberal Republican senator from Idaho, is now a full fledged candidate for the Republican Presidential nomination.

He formally put himself in the running by announcing that he would enter the primary in Ohio which will be held May 12.

"To obtain an expression of popular will it is my intention to place at least eight candidates or delegates at large in the field."

"I shall make a number of speeches in Ohio and present the issues as I see them."

Michigan Party Chief Convicted of Fraud

ELMER B. O'HARA, Democratic state chairman of Michigan and former clerk of Wayne county, which includes Detroit; State Senator A. J. Wilkowski and 16 others of lesser prominence were convicted in Detroit of having attempted to steal the 1934 election.

Eight defendants in the recount case, which had been on trial for nearly 12 weeks, were acquitted. Two other defendants previously had pleaded guilty, thus bringing to 20 the number facing sentence for their part in the vote recount conspiracy.

For O'Hara, the verdict came as the culmination of a series of calamities in a brief political career. Last November a jury in Macomb county, adjacent to Wayne, found him guilty of bribery in a drainage transaction in connection with real estate deals he had made before 1932 when he entered politics and was elected Wayne county clerk.

He awaits sentence under that conviction. After conviction he was removed from office.

In the recount case O'Hara was found guilty on three counts, permitting others to alter ballots, conspiring to permit others to alter ballots, and conspiring to permit others to conduct the recount in an unlawful manner and change the result of the November, 1934, election.

Rigid Policy Announced on FHA Mortgages

HOUSEHOLDERS defaulting on government-guaranteed renovation and mortgage notes will be no more gently treated by the Federal Housing administration than are tax delinquents by the Treasury department.

Stewart McDonald, FIA administrator, says there has been a general misunderstanding of this matter, and so he enunciates this policy:

"When a borrower under the modernization credit plan defaults on a loan, the lending institution files claim with the housing administration for the insurance on the loan. The matter of collecting the defaulted obligation then is turned over to the Federal Housing administration."

"In such cases it will be the policy of the Federal Housing administration to be just as rigid as the Treasury department in the collection of taxes. The collection machinery is well organized and, while every reasonable consideration will be given to borrowers in default, the public must not get the impression that the housing administration will be lax in performing its duty."

"There is no reason to assume that borrowers in default will be treated like tax evaders, but rather along the same lines as an individual who is in default of tax payments."

Omelets Are Far From Extinct; Food Expert Offers Two Recipes

Has Preference for Those With Merits of Fluffy and French Types.

"Did you ever hear of an omelet? Or are they extinct? It is almost impossible to buy an omelet pan at a reasonable price today. Won't you give us some recipes for omelets? Perhaps you might awaken an interest and demand, and then, we might be able to buy a pan for a reasonable amount."

The above letter was received by a well-known food expert, who answers as follows: First, about an omelet pan. I use a well tempered iron frying pan which can be bought at any hardware or house furnishing department, for a moderate price.

Now about the omelets themselves. In my past there were two types of omelets. The french, which has a delicious flavor and texture, but is not particularly tempting in appearance. And the fluffy which looks beautiful, but lacks flavor.

Since a visit to Mont St. Michael, however, where I tasted the famous Poulard omelet and watched its making a number of times, I have been converted to omelets which have the merits of both the fluffy and the french.

I was told by Madame, the manager, that it could be made only over the coals of a wood fire in a long handled, copper pan. I have found, however, that it can be duplicated pretty well over a low gas flame. I, therefore, dare give you the recipe!

Great Britain Rushes Rearmament Program

IF THERE must be another war in Europe, Great Britain proposes to be in readiness. The government is hurrying up its rearmament program, which will be financed by a loan of probably about $2,000,000,000.

Plans for the expansion and modernization of the army, navy and air force will be submitted to parliament early in March, and it is said will include mechanization of the entire army. Impetus to the work was given by the latest statement attributed to Mussolini that the Italo-Ethiopian war "may yet be a world-wide disaster."

There were indications that Il Duce was looking more favorably on suggestions for peace, and so some observers predicted that the extension of sanctions against Italy would be delayed. The Italian armies in Ethiopia, however, were continuing their activities, one of their latest exploits being an attack on Dessye by seven planes. For an hour high explosive bombs were rained on that town, which is the field headquarters of Haile Selassie.

Don't Guess But Know

Whether the "Pain" Remedy You Use is SAFE?

Don't Entrust Your Own or Your Family's Well-Being to Unknown Preparations

THE person to ask whether the preparation you or your family are taking for the relief of headaches is SAFE to use regularly is your family doctor. Ask him particularly about Genuine BAYER ASPIRIN.

He will tell you that before the discovery of Bayer Aspirin most "pain" remedies were advised against by physicians as bad for the stomach and, often, for the heart. Which is food for thought if you seek quick, safe relief.

Scientists rate Bayer Aspirin among the fastest methods yet discovered for the relief of headaches and the pains of rheumatism, neuritis and neuralgia. And the experience of millions of users has proved it safe for the average person to use regularly. In your own interest remember this.

You can get Genuine Bayer Aspirin at any drug store—simply by asking for it by its full name, BAYER ASPIRIN. Make it a point to do this—and see that you get what you want.

CHINA CHANGES

Chinese Boys Learn Embroidering.

Prepared by the National Geographic Society, Washington, D. C.—WNU Service.

AMERICA'S first foreign trade as a new-born Republic was with China. From Amoy, aboard British vessels had come the tea which was dumped overboard at the famous Boston tea party. Within six months after England had accepted the independence of the Thirteen Colonies, our own first merchant vessel, the newly christened Empress of China, was already on the high seas, bound for Canton—and tea. Both Canton and Macao then figured prominently in early American trade.

One can picture the feverish activity of New York harbor during those early days of 1784 when the little 390-ton ship was reaching the final stages of her overhauling and was being loaded with 30 tons of ginseng (China's "dose of immortality"), 2,000 fur skins, 1,270 camlets, and small quantities of cotton, lead, and pepper.

Then came sailing day, Washington's birthday. The departing Empress of China voiced a salute of 13 guns; the battery responded with 12. In his pocket Captain Green carried a sea letter, penned by the young congress and addressed to the "Most Serene, Most Pious, High, Illustrious, Noble, Honorable, Wise and Prudent, Lords, Emperors, Kings, Republics, Princes, Dukes, Earls, Barons, Lords, Burgomasters, Councillors, as also Judges, Officers, Justicians, and Regents of all good cities and places, whether ecclesiastical or secular, who shall see these patents or hear them read."

Thirteen months later, after four months at Whampoa, anchorage for Canton, the sturdy ship was back in New York, her holds filled with 403,000 pounds of tea, 992 pieces of chinaware, 490 pieces of silk, 42 nankeens, and 2,730 pounds of cassia.

Her successful voyage signaled the expansion of our merchant marine. Tiny ships, manned by youthful American sailors, were soon prowling the eastern seas, beating the monsoons up the China coast, and cluttering the Canton harbor. The China trade was on.

Swift Growth of Trade.

Homes in Salem and Boston, and, to a lesser degree, in New York and Philadelphia, became veritable museums of Chinese goods and curios. In 1790 the China trade represented approximately one-seventh of our foreign imports. Within another fifty years our vessels were bringing home about 15,000,000 pounds of tea annually. This trade also gave birth to the swift clipper ships.

American enterprise, however, came to China much later than that of European nations; for, be it remembered, the disappointing new continent's wildernesses, inhabited by savage Redskins, appeared on the horizon when Old world adventurers sought China's riches by sailing westward.

But what of the China coast today, the lodestar which attracted those early explorers?

Macao today is a transplanted city, a bit of medieval Europe tucked in a Chinese setting. The pink, blue, and other pastel-colored buildings that line the water front and dot the hills up to the walls of historic Monte fortress, the weathered churches, and government offices are Portuguese. True, the majority of shops are hung with chromatic signs bearing Chinese ideographs, for the city's population is 97 per cent Chinese, but the banner that floats over the tiny area of little more than 11 square miles is the red and green emblem of Portugal.

Here it was that early in the Sixteenth century Portuguese traders, extending the oriental sea route which Vasco da Gama had carved around Cape of Good Hope to India, first opened commercial relations with opulent Cathay. Here they founded the pioneer European settlement in the Far East and held the monopoly on Chinese trade until the Eighteenth century.

In 1557 the Portuguese received conditional cession of this territory because of their assistance to the Chinese authorities in an attempt to subdue the pirates that infested the coast and the river approach to Canton. Pirates still lurk just around the island corners to plunder hapless vessels, and the Portuguese still control the rocky peninsula and two nearby islands, where they gained their first foothold.

Macao Still Important.

Here came the Dutch to be repelled by Portuguese battleships and the Monte guns; later, the long arm of the East India company stretched across the sea to reach into Macao's rich trade pocket. To all early sea trade with Canton, Macao served as gateway. Even the Empress of China had to stop here to get the official Chinese permit before she could proceed to Whampoa anchorage.

How truly the little possession served as the China outpost is revealed by reading the epitaphs carved on some of the tombstones in the little Protestant cemetery. Names of sailors and merchants from Boston, Salem, and British ports appear frequently. Here, too, rest Robert Morrison, the noted British missionary; Edmund Roberts, special diplomatic agent of the U. S. A. to several Asiatic courts; Thomas Waldron, first consul of the United States for Hong Kong, and others who featured in the early intercourse with China.

Macao has lost much of its commercial luster since Hong Kong sapped its vitality; yet today its volume of commerce is greater than in early years, although insignificant in proportion to the total trade now carried on in this region. With recent harbor constructions at the cost of some $2,500,000 and a reclamation project of 130 acres, it again makes a bid for greater attention.

Fish, firecrackers, opium, and gambling are now Macao's chief stock in trade. The important, colorful fishing industry employs some 2,000 junks and 50,000 men and women.

If recent years have brought little change to Macao, the same cannot be said of Canton. The ancient southern metropolis has been undergoing long-needed beauty treatments, and from it new Canton is emerging. Little more than a decade ago Canton presented much the same appearance as when the clipper ships were lading their cargoes from its musty godowns. It was Chinese—deliberately, stubbornly Chinese.

Today old suspicions have been minimized. The Bund, formerly a muddy track lined with rat-trap buildings, is now a wide, well-paved thoroughfare fronted with modern eight and nine-story hotels, department stores, commercial houses, and an up-to-date custom house. Narrow streets and alleys, accessible only to the traffic of wheelbarrows and sedan chairs, have given way to wide streets to such an extent that four conductors find difficulty in playing up the "tortuous channels" of old Canton.

Canton as It is Today.

The visitor who a few years ago wrote that "you have to choose your place to knock the ashes off your cigar, or they will alight in a dish of soy or dried duck, on the one hand, or a pile of wonderfully wrought silk embroidery on the other," could now whisk through 60 miles of wide, paved streets in one of the thousand or more motor cars that honk their way through the city. Thousands of buildings were razed and much of the old wall demolished to provide for these modern arteries of bustling Canton. The great fire of 1927 also assisted in clearing ground for these sweeping changes.

"Everything new originates in Canton," say the Chinese. Politically there is much truth in this statement. Here is where Sun Yat Sen found followers for his three principles of Kuomintang. By popular subscription, a modern monument and memorial auditorium, in which new political ideas are born and talked into vigorous activity, has been built as one of Canton's forerunners of recognition of the late leader.

Two new bridges are being constructed across the Chu Kiang (Pearl river), linking Canton city with Honan island. Some of the old temples have been converted into school rooms and the Cantonese boys and girls enjoy tennis, handball, and basketball on courts laid out in the ancient enclosures.

All of the old, however, has not disappeared. In narrow lanes one finds secluded restaurants selling snake meat, served in broth. Elsewhere men and boys work elaborate embroidery patterns on silk in half-lighted rooms.

Boat Life on the River.

Another feature of Canton that has changed little through the years is the teeming boat life of the Pearl river and interlinking system of canals. Big boats, little boats, gay boats, and tawdry boats—Canton has them all. Here is a city in itself, with a population estimated between 100,000 and 200,000 people. Formerly there were many more, but a destructive storm a few years ago capsize and demolished many of the craft.

Tiny sampans serve as "taxis" through this aquatic city. Housewives, cooking on small charcoal braziers on the stern decks of their floating homes, need only lean over the gunwales to do their daily shopping. Vendors of vegetables, foodstuffs, cooking utensils, and other household necessities paddle alongside to supply every need.

On many of the boats one sees chickens and babies tied by leashes sufficiently long to give them the freedom of the deck, but preventing them from falling overboard. Here and there a small flower box bravely haunts its foliage and color.

STAR DUST Movie • Radio

THERE is a fortune waiting for anyone who can write short sketches, or plays, which can be done on the radio.

Practically every actor and actress who isn't broadcasting wants to try it. Hollywood is full of people who have succeeded on the screen and yearn to do the same on the air. Now that stars of the stage and the radio have shown that they can walk into a movie studio and become a success, practically overnight, no motion picture star is as secure as he was in the old days. And the only remedy for that situation is a career on the air as well.

Robinson

But comparatively few of these movie folk can sing well enough to broadcast successfully. The answer to that is a sketch. And good sketches are, alas, all too few.

For example, take our friend Mr. Robinson, of "Little Caesar" fame. When he was on the Vallee hour recently, he had to fall back on a sketch that had been done not too long ago—only last summer, if a memory not backed up by notes is reliable.

So—both in Hollywood and New York, anyone who can manage a type-writer is besieged by people begging for "something I can do on the radio." If you can fill that demand, go ahead, and good luck to you!

We may not see "It Can't Happen Here" on the screen after all. The Hays office has requested that the making of it be deferred, at least, the reason being that the political situation in it might cause mob trouble—and all this after thousands of dollars have already been spent on it!

Money also went down the drain when "Elegance" was abandoned. Joan Crawford and Clifton Webb were to have made it—Webb is famous for his work as a dancer on the stage. He was at the studio for three months, on salary, working on dance steps. And, then, come to find out, Joan had been working on an entirely different type of dance steps. So they had words, and now the picture won't be made at all.

Weep for Claudette Colbert. Her Paramount contract permitted her to make an outside picture. (She can do one each year.) so she did "Clairette." In "Under Two Flags," the pay check being $150,000, $50,000 more than she gets on the home lot for a picture. Taxes will cut that down, however, to a bit less than $25,000.

When John Barrymore finishes "Romeo and Juliet" he'll go to Alaska on his yacht for two months of fishing—which recalls the way that Dolores Costello Barrymore used to feel about that boat. She loathed taking long trips on it—said that sometimes she felt that she couldn't bear it much longer if she couldn't be somewhere where she could have her hair washed and take all the baths she wanted to—the water supply on the boat not being too plentiful.

Loretta Young, who has been off the screen so long because of illness, will have "Unguarded Hour" for her return to the screen.

Randolph Scott and Fred Astaire are great friends—and Astaire is teaching the tall and elegant Randolph to do fancy dance steps. That is, he was before the arrival of Fred Astaire, Jr., became more important than anyone else in his father's life.

If you heard John Boles on the air in "Green Grow the Lilies," and liked his performance, it's too bad that you couldn't have seen the broadcast. John is tall—six feet three inches—and Miss Walker, who made movies years ago, is only five feet tall. She's a delightful person, as you may have guessed from those broadcasts she does with Deems Taylor.

Jock Whitney, the producer who's gaga about colored films, had two oxen bleached and tinted gold for "Dancing Pirates," his new RKO release. Next thing we know, somebody will turn an animal "brownette" as a tribute to Jean Harlow's hair. Incidentally, after seeing "Riff Raff," a lot of movie fans begged Jean to let her hair be turned platinum again, but she refused.

ODDS AND ENDS . . . Seems funny to see Gloria Swanson going places with her tall, spectacled son . . . How visiting movie stars love the night clubs and theaters, when they get to New York on a vacation! . . . Most of them shed their inhibitions and just have fun . . . Not Edward G. Robinson, however; he's been rushing about New York with the best of them, but always remembers that he's Edward G. . . They say that after the divorce the second Mrs. Gable will marry a title . . . "The Phantom of the Opera" will be made again, with Boris Karloff in the role made famous by Lon Chaney . . . Reginald Denny's daughter will appear in "Little Lord Fauntleroy" . . . Lupe Velez has an amazing collection of emeralds—and likes to wear all at once.

If your cactus does not bloom pinch leaves and branches, leaving only branches that grow upward. Water whenever soil is dry.

To dice or cut marshmallows easily dip a dry scissors into powdered sugar.

Meat thawed quickly is likely to be tough. Keep frozen meat in warm place before cooking.

One teaspoon of chopped maraschino cherries and one tablespoon of orange juice added to boiled salad dressing makes a delicious dressing for fruit salads.

If an apple tree is broken by winter storms, pare off the splinters with a sharp knife or chisel and treat the wound with creosote, then give it a coat of linseed oil and lead paint. Do not let the creosote touch the live bark.

Chocolate cake scorches easily on the bottom and sides because of the large percentage of fat it contains. It is therefore necessary to bake it in a moderate oven.

Tie a cheese cloth or paper bag over the mouth of food chopper, when cutting bread, nuts, etc., through it. Every bit will then be saved.

Add one-eighth teaspoon of cream of tartar to cinnamon and sugar used in apple sauce. It gives it a delicious flavor.
