ARRANGEMENTS BEING MADE TO HAVE BETWEEN FIFTEEN AND TWENTY CARS IN LINE.

PROGRAM IS COMPLETE

Second Day of Convention Visitors Are to Invade Local Newspaper Plants—Barbecue Banquet For Evening.

An automobile drive over the city in the form of a "figure eight" is the latest thing proposed in the way of entertainment for the Mayors' Association of Texas, which holds its annual session in San Angelo on July 20, 21 and 22. The "figure eight" idea was conceived by Mayor Paul, and with about fifteen or twenty big autos in line, the parade promises to outclass anything else of the kind ever given in this state. It is something that will be sure to please the visitors. Mayor Paul completed his entertainment program Wednesday. It provides for all the fun the visitors will have an opportunity to enjoy. A vast amount of business will be attended to, and there will not be very much time for pleasure. So Mayor Paul laid his plans accordingly. A sent of certificates will be returned to the successful applicants which, I should judge, will be the major portion of those in attendance. The work of all has been very earnest and deserving. As I stated before, even though San Angelo by some mischance should lose the normal, this summer feature will be continued.

O. B. Robertson of Gonzales county, who has been out here on business for several weeks, returned to his home Thursday. Mr. Robertson owns a big ranch in the Sherwood neighborhood. He says the grass is up fine and the prospects are excellent for a good range.

WOULD WHISPER IN LANIN'S EAR

BUNCH FROM MILES COMES TO SAN ANGELO PRESUMABLY ON LAND BUSINESS, BUT—

WELL, JUST WATCH

Little City Twenty Miles from Here Anxious to Take up Proposition If San Angelo People Fail to Raise Bonus.

A big bunch of Miles boosters is in the city, presumably on land business, but hush! There's a rumor floating about that the delegation is masquerading and only looking for a chance to whisper in J. J. Lanin's ear. Of course the members of the party would not talk, but they pull down their left eyelid and hand out a suggestive grin.

It would be well for the citizens of San Angelo to remember that the little town twenty miles below has discarded its swaddling clothes and is building railroads. Capital is not wanting here, and the people may be figuring in trying to wear some of their larger neighbors' raiment. Look out for Miles, because it is just tasting the sweets of its coming road, and like Oliver Twist, it wants more.

"The grade on the Concho, San Saba and Llano Valley road will be completed to Saint Rock this week," said I. E. Jackson, a member of the party. R. A. Love and his associates who are behind this road are men who can be trusted to keep their word, and it is believed that they have the capital to out this deal through on record time.

This road will open up to the world a large country that will one day be one of the largest agricultural districts in Texas, and that's saying a good deal for everybody knows how "backward" as a farming country. All that is needed in past years to increase the population, especially the farming population was an outlet for their products. Now we are going to give that in a short time, unless some unforeseen calamity occurs—like our smoke!

HON. COLE JOHNSON CANNOT ATTEND.

Hon. Cole Johnson of Tyler will not attend the convention of the Mayors' Association of Texas. He has advised Mayor Paul by telegram that he has an important case to try about the time of the gathering of the mayors here, and on that account it will not be possible for him to accept the kind invitation extended.

He adds, however, that he will be here to take in the fall fair, and will be glad to assist in any manner that he can toward making the occasion the success that it deserves to be. It was Mayor Paul's intention to have Mr. Johnson make a conditional address before the mayors. He is regarded as one of the very best orators in the state. But a good, live boom for San Angelo and West Texas be amiss during the distinguished politician from East Texas be asked to take the place of the Visions of Strange Asleep, and on Awakening Prepares to Hear Bad News.

Suffering from carbolic acid poisoning and writhing in pain, Dick Moon, well known in San Angelo, lies at the point of death. Expert medical aid is in attendance and at an early hour Friday morning the physicians say there is a possible chance for him to recover.

About 6:30 o'clock Thursday evening he was found in his harness-cleaning shop on West Concho avenue, in a critical condition. He was immediately removed to the home of his mother, Mrs. A. Campbell, on West Concho avenue, and Dr. A. C. DeLong was called in. For a while Moon's life was despaired of, but after hours of patient toil the report went forth that his condition, though serious, is not necessarily fatal.

Dick Moon has been a resident of San Angelo for a period of 25 years. He is about 31 years of age but appears far older to the casual observer, for he wears a thick beard and appears careworn. He has two brothers, a sister and one half brother, all of whom reside in the city.

A peculiar coincidence in connection with the affair is the dream of Mrs. M. A. Moon, the sister-in-law of the sufferer.

"I was not feeling well Thursday afternoon, so I lay down and soon fell asleep," she states. "I don't know how long it was, but suddenly in a dream I saw a hearse drive up to mother's door and stop. I awoke with a start. Somehow I felt that it was a presentiment that something awful was going to happen to some of us. And then came the news of Dick's accident."

Dick Moon is a picturesque character in San Angelo. Everyone will recall his big flowing beard and deep, hoarse, yet cordial voice. He drove a float here a long while before he went into the harness cleaning business and is recognized as being an expert at anything that appertains to the care or use of horses. His services were always in demand at all of the livery stables on this account. He is strong and muscular, and many have marveled at the wonderful strength that lay in his broad though hunched up shoulders.

Misses Jennie and Helen Knapp were passengers on Thursday's out-going Santa Fe, en route for Brownwood on a visit to friends.

S. C. Autry, one of San Angelo's most prominent attorneys, was off Thursday afternoon for a business and pleasure trip to his old home at Hallettsville.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Daniels of Oklahoma City are in the city, guests of Mr. and Mrs. Owen Dougherty at the Fort Concho hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Land, who have been visiting the family of D. W. Moore of this city, returned Thursday to their home.

Miss Hermena Voelge of Oakaville, Ill., is a guest of Mrs. J. J. Nussbaumer.

MRS. TAFT AND MRS. LONGWORTH AUTOMOBILING IN WASHINGTON.

Mrs. Taft and Mrs. Nicholas Longworth are familiar figures these days on the speedway and the esplanade in Washington. Rarely is one seen automobiling without the other, and Mrs. Longworth is Mrs. Taft's guest at luncheon almost every week. When President and Mrs. Taft go to Beverly for the summer Mr. and Mrs. Longworth will be their nearest neighbors, occupying a cottage only a short distance from the Taft home.

CONTEST CLOSES.

Judges Meet Friday Morning for Purpose of Announcing Winner.

Thursday night at 6 o'clock the contest for the best cover design and the best suggestion for the 1909 catalogue of the San Angelo Fall fair and carnival closed. Ten designs were submitted, any one of which would do credit to an artist of the first class. Several suggestions for drawings were also received. The judges, Messrs. E. Blanchard, J. G. Murphy and D. C. McCaleb, will meet Friday morning at 9 o'clock at the San Angelo club. The three gentlemen will pass on the designs and award the prizes to the winners.

A great deal of interest has been taken in this contest and additional interest has been manifested in the Fall Fair and Carnival catalogue. Through this feature of advertising and the further fact that a large number of catalogues is to be printed, so that way advertise more effectively than in any other way, nearly half of those who desire may scatter the books throughout the country and in the space in the book has already been sold to local people.

Maurice E. Hornish, the publisher of the catalogue, stated Thursday evening that he proposed to give local advertisers the first chance for space in the catalogue and then foreign advertisers will be solicited. Mr. Hornish proposes to publish the swiftest Fall Fair and Carnival catalogue ever gotten out in Texas. The book will be replete with interesting matter as well as pictures of the Concho country, and in this way will make a valuable advertising medium. Publishing the books as early as possible will also mean that they may be sent broadcast over the country and do much good in securing possible settlers to come to this part of West Texas. Each advertiser will be permitted to have as many books as he desires for mailing purposes.

As soon as the judges announce their decision all the drawings will be placed in one of the windows of the Lowrie Cigar company's store so the public may see them.

EVERYBODY TALKING TRADES EXCURSION

Idea Meets With General Approval—Mayor Paul Suggests a Route For Consideration of Public

Interest in the proposed business men's excursion for August is at fever heat already, and the indications are that the proposition will meet with favor on all sides. The business men declare that it is just the thing, and all who have been approached have expressed their willingness not only to join the party but to get out and work in the interest of the movement.

Mayor Paul is a very enthusiastic supporter of the plan. He has watched the results of such excursions in other parts of the state and knows the advantages to be derived. And then he is out for the pleasure in it also. He says that when the days are hot there is nothing on earth better than a ride over the country in an automobile. It's just like sitting under a fan, he says.

"Such an excursion would be of untold benefit to San Angelo," declares Mayor Paul. It will not only have the effect of letting the people of the surrounding country know that San Angelo is on the map and is composed of an energetic citizenship, but it will advise them that the merchants here are out after their business and will treat them right. In other words, they will be informed that San Angelo wants to be friendly with them.

Mayor Paul has already mapped out a route that he thinks will about cover the field. However, he does not intend to assume the attitude of dictating, and merely offers this as a suggestion. Here is the way he has it figured out:

San Angelo to Sterling City, Water Valley, Big Springs, Colorado City, Sweetwater, Abilene, Ballinger, Winters and home. This would include about 280 miles, and the entire trip could be made in three days and nights. On the first day dinner is to be taken at Water Valley, and the night will be spent at Big Springs. On the following day dinner will be had at Colorado City, with supper at Sweetwater, Abilene will fall about in line for dinner on the last day, and supper will be taken at Ballinger, the party reaching San Angelo late that night.

It will be the intention of the excursionists to take in every town on the route, although only a few minutes may be spent in some of them. Attractive souvenirs are to be distributed along the entire route.

As soon as the Sterling City railroad proposition is attended to, a meeting will be held for the purpose of organizing the business excursion.

E. H. Labadie, the famous automobile man from Galveston, who is in San Angelo with a view of making this place his home, is also very much pleased with the proposed trip, and is ready to assist in any way he can. Matters it is likely that Mr. Labadie will be assigned the important task of arranging in detail the route, the schedule, etc.

Brought Here. (From Thursday's Standard.) Raymond Huff, the valuable city editor of this paper, phoned this morning for an automobile to bring his sister, who is seriously ill, to a sanitarium here. Mr. Huff's mother and sister were both very ill Tuesday night, and Mr. Huff was called to their bedside at Knickerbocker. Late last night his sister's condition became worse, and doctors were phoned for. Mr. Huff's mother, however, is improving. The tenderest sympathy of every member of the staff is with the Standard's loyal city editor, and if our own folk were sick, our anxiety could be no more intense. We are hoping earnestly for the early recovery of the sick ones.

J. J. Klime, who has been in the merchandise brokerage business, has returned from a trip to northern points, returning via Shreveport, La., where he visited relatives.

LANIN FEELING MORE CONFIDENT

SPENDS DAY HERE AND AFTER CONSULTATION SAYS SAN ANGELO WILL NOT FAIL.

EIGHT DAYS REMAIN

If Bonus Is Not Raised by July 15 Whole Proposition Is to Be Dropped—Committees Got Busy Thursday.

"Oh, San Angelo is going to come through all right," said J. J. Lanin Thursday. "When I came in yesterday I didn't feel half so confident, but since talking to a number of the city's progressive citizens I have decided that they don't know the meaning of the word failure. Yes, I firmly believe that the bonus will be raised, though it may take some time."

This great confidence expressed by the man who is behind the Sterling City railroad movement should inspire the laggards who are despairing over making up the bonus.

Geo. E. Webb said Thursday night that some money had been raised during the day, but things were not well started yet. He added that many men of large interests who will be materially benefited by the advent of this road were out of town and were yet to be consulted.

Progression is the order of the day in San Angelo at present as it has been in the past and as it will be in the future, and those who are not able to subscribe should at least lend a helping hand by boosting with their more prosperous brothers.

Mr. Lanin gives San Angelo until the 15th to raise the bonus; in case it is not up by that time it is very likely the whole thing will fall through. The time is only eight days away, but far greater deeds than this have been accomplished in less time than that by the hustling people of San Angelo, and it is expected that it will be raised before the 15th.

"Sterling City will raise her part of the bonus for the new railroad with out trouble," said Judge Tom Wynn Thursday afternoon. "There is likewise no doubt that Water Valley and Carlbad will come up also. I have just returned from a trip through that country and prospects for crops are excellent and the people are happy."

With the possibility of failure eliminated from the prospects of these towns, the loathsome beast has San Angelo only for the apple of its eye, but the town boosters here are crack marksmen and they are going to shoot at his only remaining eye.

S. Cottelle, who has been in the city for the last few days, departed for his home in Brownwood Thursday. Mr. Cottelle is connected with the firm of Heeslep & Co., cotton exporters of Brownwood.

Mr. S. W. Booker of the Booker-Jones Oil company of this city, was a passenger on Thursday's eastbound Santa Fe for a business trip to Kentucky. Mr. Booker will be away several weeks.

J. J. Ripley of Sapulpa, Okla., who has been visiting in the city for the last few days, returned to his home Thursday.

H. Willis of Fort Worth, who has been in the city on a visit to friends, returned home Thursday.

Mrs. D. W. Moore of this city departed Thursday for a visit to relatives in Temple.

W. POINDEXTER WILL BE HERE

CLEBURNE AFTER DINNER SPEAKER ON PROGRAM FOR SPEECH AT MAYORS' BANQUET.

BUSINESS IS RUSHING

Invitations Being Sent Out to All Parts of State—Many Replies Coming In—Big Order for Badges Placed.

Judge W. Poindexter of Cleburne has advised Mayor Paul to the effect that he will lend grace to the occasion of the mayors' convention here by attending and making an address. He writes as follows:

"Replying to yours of the 8th ult., inviting me to speak at your banquet on the night of 21st of July, I will say that if nothing prevents I will be with you on that occasion. Should anything occur to prevent my meeting this engagement I will try to notify you in advance."

Judge Poindexter is one of the best after dinner speakers in the state, and Mayor Paul is delighted to learn that he will be here.

"I'll just write to him right now and tell him how glad I am," said Mayor Paul after he had opened the letter and read its contents. "Letters are coming from all sections of the state, and I honestly believe that the coming convention will be one of the biggest in the history of the association."

Miss Minnie Hunter, secretary and stenographer in the office of Mayor Paul, was busily engaged Thursday in sending out programs for the convention. Miss Hunter also believes that San Angelo will have an unusually large delegation to entertain, for she says she hasn't done hardly a thing for the past two weeks but send out invitations.

Mayor Paul has ordered several hundred badges. The ribbon will be red and the button white, with the city seal on it. This seal is very attractive and the badge is to be gotten up in such shape that it will be worth keeping.

AGAIN FAVORED IS THIS TOWN

STATE BAR ASSOCIATION SELECTS SAN ANGELO FOR PLACE OF HOLDING 1910 CONVENTION.

WACO IS A HARD LOSER

Judge W. A. Wright Extends Invitation for Queen City in Such a Manner That Refusal Is Impossible.

That San Angelo is fast becoming the convention city of Texas has been more firmly impressed upon the people of this city as a result of the action of the State Bar association in Austin Wednesday, when San Angelo was selected as the place of holding the annual meeting in 1910. Waco was a warm contender for the honor of entertaining the lawyers and judges next year, but when the vote was taken San Angelo was the choice. Judge W. A. Wright represented the claims of this city, and that he performed his duty well is attested by the selection made.

It seems as if San Angelo can get most anything it goes after. The mayors meet here this month and other big gatherings are in view.

But if San Angelo is to make as big a showing as she really ought, then the people will have to get busy and arrange for some place where large gatherings can be accommodated. At present the only available place is the skating rink. It will answer the purpose for awhile, but the time is coming, and real soon at that, when other arrangements must be made.

W. D. Porter of Plainview, who has been visiting and prospecting around San Angelo, departed Thursday for Ballinger. He expresses himself as highly pleased with the country.

W. M. Griswold went to Temple Thursday on business.

THE HOUR OF OPPORTUNITY.

We are being forced into the turmoil of a political campaign. The office-seekers are determined that the dear people shall become aware of the ambition that lurks and is anxious to be noted, in the breast of everyone who is hankering for a large slice of pie of the political sort. The politicians, like the poor, are with us always, but unfortunately there is no law with which to reach them and prevent them from disturbing the pleasant condition of things generally and upsetting the poise of a contented people.

As long as the opening volleys have been fired it is meet and proper that some attention should be paid to the situation viewed politically.

The Press-News here and now promises its readers that as long as present conditions prevail it will not knowingly support any man for a state office who lives east of the black waxey belt, unless such a candidate has a clean record with regard to this section of the state. And this record must be a clean one from a positive point. No clean record viewed negatively will be accepted.

No man who has kept track of political movements and political plots and schemes in Texas for the last fifteen years can fail to be astounded at the suicidal apathy the west has exhibited every time a proposition was presented the result of which vitally affected the west. The time has come when this lethargy should be thrown off; the west should gird her loins for the conflict and the lists should be entered every time the result of an issue even remotely affects the best section of this imperial state.

The times are propitious for success for the west. The hour to strike the blows that will land is at hand. Upon the theory that the shots that hit are the ones that count, the west next year should make a wholesale killing.

East Texas is the land of sand hills, tall timbers and politicians. The infants of that section spring from a line that covets office with a zeal that almost makes it gluttony. From the hour of the first wall until death estops ambition the east Texas man—generally speaking—spends his time and devotes his talent to the end that more offices may be created and that they shall be filled by the men who live where the natives have to hatch at least two crops of ticks a year before they can be acclimated.

Follow this closely. More offices means additional taxation, or at least, additional taxes. East Texas as compared to West Texas is a land barren of possibilities and devoid of wealth or wealth producing properties. These taxes must be wrung from the rich folk of the black waxey section and presto! We find the adroit and cunning politicians of East Texas pitted round after round, day after day and hour after hour against the stalwart stern and tax-dodging gentry that inhabits the black waxey belt.

The outcome is inevitable. The west holds the balance of power between these two warring factions. The west must either resolve to make a compact with the crafty leaders of East Texas, whereby in exchange for votes on matters affecting West Texas, the western section will crush the tax-dodging propensities of the black-waxey; or the west must make a deal with the black-waxey whereby in return for stipulated favors laws requiring strange oaths and machinations to force full renditions will not be enacted.

It makes no difference to the west, speaking from a cold and business standpoint, which side wins in the scrap between the sand hills and the black waxey. No matter what tax laws are enacted, the west will continue to pay out a greater proportion for the support of the state government than any other section. There is hardly a county in East or Central Texas that does not get back as much frequently more—from the school fund than it pays in as state taxes, and the west must for some years continue to pay the expenses of the state government.

The treatment accorded West Texas by the Thirty-first legislature was so shabby it was almost indecent. Not a single unconditional favor did the state, through the solons, bestow upon this section, yet West Texas—with some brilliant exceptions—blindly voted to build a railroad in East Texas to traverse a section not worth being developed and to serve a people not endowed with sufficient general intelligence to appreciate the blessings of substantial civilization!

For The Press-News' part, this paper believes with Kipling:

"The east is the east and the west is the west,
And never the twain shall meet;
Until earth and sky stand presently,
At God's great judgment seat."

The Press-News believes that the west can secure experiment stations located in every section in the west, if the proper efforts are made. These will but offset the institutions already maintained in the east. Normal schools sufficient to accommodate the needs of the hour can also be had if the effort is made, and The Press-News believes firmly that if the bludgeon is raised threateningly—and the bludgeon in this instance is West Texas votes—that when a bill passes the legislature creating an experiment station that the state will not demand that the community securing it shall pay a cash bonus to boot, nor that a normal college shall be auctioned off like stale fish are sold on public wharves to fertilizing companies.

The west has the power at her command. She can be the keystone of the arch of state affairs. Will the Will the west rise equal to the moment and grasp the opportunities present? This is an opportunity most devoutly to be wished.

Remember the dates—Oct. 5-9—then write your friends about the great fact.

Are you for San Angelo? Then study and digest the suggestion made by Dr. March in The Press-News of Thursday about an overland social trip through the section to the northward.

San Angelo now has a curfew law. Experience has shown and experience will ever show that the best thing to keep a child off the streets of night is a piece of leather appropriately and properly applied. On to Sterling City.

Mr. Lanin says he will have trains running to Sterling City by Christmas if the people only do the needful. Catch the stride. Get your name on the Roll of Honor and help be a country builder. You couldn't give yourself a nicer Christmas gift.

OBEY PLATFORM PARAMOUNT IS 'UE

Ex-Senator Hawkins of Abilene Flays
Record of State Legislators—Announces for Lieut Gov.

That the paramount issue in next year's state political campaign will be not so much what the platform demands as who will obey these demands is the declaration of ex-Senator A. S. Hawkins of Abilene, who has announced his candidacy for lieutenant governor. He is a brother of the assistant attorney general. In outlining some of the more vital issues Mr. Hawkins said:

"There will be a number of issues which will arise incidentally and otherwise, but the main question is, 'shall the people rule?' or in other words, shall the representatives of the people be bound by and carry out the people's instructions as contained in their platform demands?"

"Recent events in the state and the nation, not necessary to mention, have emphasized this issue, which in its last analysis, is but a question of good or bad faith."

Speaking generally, he said: "I resigned from the senate rather than substitute my personal judgment for the instructions of my people on a question then pending. For my action in this matter I have been praised by some and ridiculed by others, but I am still of the opinion that a democratic representative or senator should resign his position rather than violate his platform instructions."

"I said democratic representative or senator, for democracy means the rule of the people."

"It would be impossible, however, to establish the definition from the record of the last legislature, for every republican member stood squarely by his party's platform on the prohibition question, while a number of democratic members did not."

"In the next campaign in Texas the question will not be so much of what the platform shall be made of, as to who can be depended upon to carry out the platform already constructed. In other words, the fight will be between those who will abide by platform demands and those who will not."

"This, as above indicated, is not only a question of party, but one of principle and without abiding by this principle our party can not long prevail, for already there are rumblings of another third party to be organized to combat the democracy of the south."

HOLY GHOST REVIVAL NOW

REV. MR. CATES SAYS THAT'S WHAT HE INTENDS TO GIVE
SAN ANGELO PEOPLE.

TWO SERVICES DAILY

Large Crowd Present Thursday Night for the Opening Meeting—General Hand-shaking and a Good Sermon.

Rev. George C. Cates of Louisville, Ky., spoke at the Riverside rink Thursday night. The union revival opened with a large audience. The evangelist's sermon was well received and a great shaking of hands followed. About seven preachers, representing as many churches here and elsewhere, were present, and everybody seemed to enjoy the service.

Mr. Cates said there were four great pillars under his work—the blood of Christ, faith in God, the preached word and prayer. He then emphasized and illustrated the first, urging the people to make much of the blood, and spoke briefly of the second admonishing everybody to exercise faith in God. He told of several Holy Ghost revivals that he had conducted in different states and assured the people that God would give San Angelo a great Holy Ghost revival and a great ingathering of souls if they would only give Him a chance.

Mr. Cates spoke of the ordeals through which he had passed during the last week on his way to San Angelo, and said that he had observed that whenever the devil saw that God was barring His mighty arm to do great things for the people he became antagonistic and offered all the opposition in his power, but that if the people would make much of the blood and exercise faith in God and pray without ceasing Christ would prevail and souls would be saved by the hundreds and even thousands.

Two services will be held at the rink today—at 9:30 a. m. and 8:30 p. m., and everybody is invited to attend and urged to be on time.

Life 100,000 Years Ago.

Scientists have found in a cave in Switzerland bones of men who lived 100,000 years ago, when life was in constant danger from wild beasts. Today the danger, as shown by A. W. Brown of Alexander, Me., is largely from deadly disease. "If it had not been for Dr. King's New Discovery, which cured me, I could not have lived," he writes, "suffering as I did from a severe lung trouble and stubborn cough." To cure sore lungs, obstinate coughs and prevent pneumonia, it's the best medicine on earth. 50 cents and $1. Guaranteed by all druggists. Trial bottle free.

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I—Skaags and Wyckholme, two eccentric adventurers, will the island of Japat and its ruby mines to their respective heirs, Robert Brown and Lady Deppingham, provided they marry each other within a year. If they do not marry, the island and its treasures revert to the Moslem Islanders. Brown already has a wife, Lady Deppingham a husband.

CHAPTER II—Brown and his wife and Lord and Lady Deppingham hurry to Japat.

CHAPTER III—Hollingsworth Chase, American diplomat stationed at Rapp-Thorberg, falls in love with beautiful Princess Geneva at a musicale.

"Ever see her? Well, you've something to live for, gentlemen. I've seen her but three times, and I don't seem able to shake off the spell. You've never seen such hair. Gad, it's as near like the kind that Henner painted as anything human could be, except that it's more like old gold, if you can understand what I mean by that. Not bronze, mind you, nor the raw red, but—oh, well, I'm not a novelist, so I can't half-way describe it. She's rather tall—not too tall, mind you—five feet five, I'd say—whatever that is in the metric system. Slender and well dressed—oh, that's the strangest thing of all! Well dressed! Think of a princess being well dressed! I'd say she's twenty-two or twenty-three years of age—not a minute older. I think her eyes are a very dark gray, almost blue. Her skin is like a—oh, let me see! What is there that's as pure and soft as her skin? Something warm, and pink, and white, d'ye see? Well, never mind. And her smile! And her frown! You know, I've seen both of 'em, and one's as attractive as the other. She's a real princess, gentlemen, and the prettiest woman I've ever laid my eyes upon. And to think of her as the wife of that blithering little ass, that nincompoop of a Karl Brabetz! She loathes him, I'm sure—I know she does. And she's got to marry him! That's what she gets for being a grand duke's daughter. Brabetz is the heir apparent to some duchy or other over there and is supposed to be the catch of the season. You've heard of him. He was in Paris this season and cut quite a figure—a prince with real money in his purse, you know. I wonder why it is that our American girls can't marry the princes who have money instead of those who have none. Not that I wish any of our girls such bad luck as Brabetz! I'll stake my head he'll never forget me!" Chase concluded with a sharp, reflective laugh in which his hearers joined, for the escapade which inspired it was being slyly discussed in every embassy in Europe.

But to return. The advent of the princess put fresh life into the slow going city and court circles. Charming people whom Chase had never seen before seemed to spring into existence suddenly; the streets took on a new air; the bands played with a keener zest, and the army prinked itself into a most amazingly presentable shape. Chase could hardly believe his success. He lifted up his chin, threw out his chest, banished the look of discontent from his face and announced to himself that Thorberg was not such a bad place after all.

For days he swung blithely through the streets, the hangdog look gone from his eyes, always hoping for another glimpse of the fair sorceress who had worked the great transformation. It was two weeks before he saw her the second time. He was more enchanted by her face than before, especially as he came to realize the astonishing fact that she was kind enough to glance in his direction from time to time.

It was during the weekly concert in the Kursaal late one night. She came in with a party, among whom he recognized several of the leading personages at court. Chase sat at a table with the French attaché just below the box occupied by the princess and her party. In spite of the fact that he was a gentleman born and bred he could not conquer countless impulses to look at the flower face of the royal auditor.

Gradually the program led up to the feature of the evening, the rendition of a great work under the direction of a famous leader, a special guest of the music loving duke.

Chase arose and cheered with the assemblage when the distinguished director made his appearance. Then he proceeded to forget the man and his genius—in fact, everything save the rapt listener above him. She was leaning forward on the rail of the box, her chin in her hand, her eyes looking steadily ahead, enthralled by the music. Suddenly she turned and looked squarely into his eyes, as if impelled by the magnetism they unconsciously employed. A little flush mounted to her brow as she quickly resumed her former attitude. Chase cursed himself for a brainless lout.

The number came to an end, and the crowd arose to cheer the bowing, smiling director. Chase cheered and shouted "Bravo!" too, because she was applauding as eagerly as the others. She called the flushed, bowing director to her box and publicly thanked him for the pleasure he had given. Chase saw him kiss her hand as he murmured his gratitude. For the first time in his life he coveted the occupation of an orchestra leader.

The director was a frail, rather good looking young man, with piercing black eyes that seemed too bold in their scrutiny of the young lady's face. Chase began to hate him. He was unreasonably thankful when he passed on to the box in which the duke sat.

The third and last time he saw the Princess Geneva before his sudden, spectacular departure from the grand duchy was at the duke's reception to the nobility of Rapp-Thorberg and to the representatives of such nations of the world as felt the necessity of having a man there in an official capacity.

At the Crystal.

The Crystal opened Thursday night with good pictures, all being of a high type and very interesting. Whitehurst and Wyld appeared for their first time in San Angelo. Their act was entitled "If You Were the Girl." In "Dad's" recital of the imaginary thrilling scene upon which he was looking—a stage coach in fearful flight before a death-dealing torrent of water—and "Texas Gal's" story as she told "Dad" of how she having seen "Bill," the driver thrown from his seat, lashed her pony and running alongside the fleeing coach, leaped from her saddle into the seat—was done in such grand style that it made one feel that the original scene was taking place there before his own eyes. Whitehurst and Wyld deserve great credit for this rendition, for it was written by Wyld Wednesday and they had only rehearsed it once before the act.

Friday night they will present the dramatic stunt entitled "Retribution." This play is supposed to be played by fifteen characters, but go and see Whitehurst and Wyld give a perfect rendition alone.

A New Kind of Bread.

Manager Dudley Johnson of the San Marcos Oil and Gin company called at the Herald office with a package under his arm and placing it on the editors desk proceeded to unwrap it. When the contents were disclosed to view the first idea that occurred to us was that Mr. Johnson had been to a wedding and had brought us some of the cake. But Mr. Johnson informed us that it was a loaf of bread made from cotton seed meal. Mr. Johnson said he had had this loaf made for the purpose of showing the people that cotton seed meal was good for something else besides feeding to "Old Boss," and to further emphasize the fact that the end was not yet reached in the manufacturing of by products from the great cotton seed industry.

The bread in appearance resembles rye bread, but tastes much better and Mr. Johnson says contains more nourishment than either rye or graham bread.

Outside of its good qualities there is another very telling point in its favor—it can be made at one-fourth the cost of wheat bread.

We believe Mr. Johnson's discovery to be of far more importance to the public than he probably now considers it, and anticipate great things to come from it.—San Marcos Daily Herald.

If your brain won't work right and you miss the snap, vim and energy that was once yours, you should take Prickly Ash Bitters. It cleanses the system and invigorates both body and brain. Central Drug Store, special agent.

I will be at home in San Angelo, and ready to train horses for the fall fair.
 BOSE MOTLEY.

At the Yale.

It is very unusual for a picture show to be offering such pictures as the Yale had Thursday night. They were extra good.

The Earls appeared in their new act, "Before and After Taking," in which Mr. Earl, after satisfying his taste with a box of "crazy tablets," became very comical indeed. The tablets seemingly threw him into a strange fit of limberness and a strong desire to sing. His pretty partner tries several remedies to stop his song and as a last resort comes in with a cotton truck and without warning very roughly invites the songster to quit the premises.

Teissedre and Atherton should not be left without some few words of commendation for their comical jokes and trick piano playing are without equal, and to say the least, they are bound to make a hit everywhere they are booked.

The Yale has been shown the appreciation due it by the picture-going crowd, for it has held large crowds each night.

QUICKSILVER.

Output of the Cinnabar Mines Near Alpine Being Greatly Increased.

Alpine, Texas, July 8.—The quicksilver output of the cinnabar mines in the Terlingua district, about ninety miles south of here is being greatly increased by the renewal of development work upon some of the properties which had been inactive for some time. The Texas Almaden mine which is owned by Sanger Brothers of Dallas, upon which much work has already been done, has again entered upon a period of production after a shut-down of more than a year, due to the flooded condition of the lower workings. It is stated that the water is now under control and that the output of the mine promises to be very large. According to report more than $30,000 has already been expended in development work on this property.

The Chisos mining company is preparing to operate its cinnabar mine in the Terlingua district on a more extensive scale than ever before. This property has a record of bringing to its owners a net profit of about $15,000 per month for several years. A forty-ton furnace was installed about a year ago. The workings extend to a depth of more than 400 feet, and the ore increases in richness with depth.

The fact that the Terlingua district is ninety miles from the nearest railroad point and that the trip to the remote locality is full of discomforts has retarded the quicksilver development there very much. Another factor that has impeded the opening up of new mines is that every alternate section of land in the district is owned by the state of Texas. In the absence of an adequate mining law there has been very little prospecting done upon these state sections, although many of them are believed to be rich in cinnabar ore and probably other precious minerals. Americans have done some prospecting for cinnabar on the Mexican side of the river, and it is stated that a number of promising claims have been opened up, but the lack of transportation facilities has so far prevented much development work being done upon them.

Marathon, a town situated twenty-five miles east of Alpine on the Southern Pacific railroad, is to be made a shipping point for the ores from the rich Boquillas mines owned by Carlos Moser. These mines are located close to the Rio Grande, but across the river in Mexico, and are 100 miles from Marathon. Moser is now installing an aerial tram, six miles long, to convey the ores across the river from the mines.

DIRECTORS HOLD MEETING AND DISCUSS PLANS FOR ENLARG-

MORE SOCIAL FEATURE

Several New Members Received—New Fee Causes Some Confusion—Financial Report Very Encouraging—Other Details.

The directors of the San Angelo club held a very important meeting Thursday afternoon and matters of great import to that organization were discussed. T. C. Atwood, S. A. Hodges, C. T. Dalton, N. S. Rives, Tom Patterson, E. E. Crosson, L. F. Boulware, and M. L. McCain, Jr., were the members of the board in attendance.

Applications of J. H. Evans, Don Lee, Willis Johnson, Jr., J. D. Proctor, H. C. Tupper, Hebert W. Beyette, E. A. Beyette and D. C. McCaleb were considered and accepted.

Some people are still in doubt as to the initiation fee of the club. It would be well to state that at a meeting of the directors about two months ago this was raised to $25. This move was taken in accordance with the decision of the members of the club made at the annual meeting in January of the present year that when the resident membership exceeded 150 the initiation fees would be raised, and at the time the directors took action the membership far exceeded that number.

Plans are on foot to increase the size of the club rooms and to make the social features of the organization more pronounced, but as these matters are in an unsettled condition at the present nothing definite was given out for publication. Suffice to say that the club has never lagged in giving the members all that could be desired in the line of entertainment and pleasure and no precedent to the contrary will be set at this late day.

The proposition of the appointing of a finance committee was considered but no definite action taken. The desirability of such a committee is not to be doubted, for the directors could tell on short notice how to consider propositions of great magnitude.

From reports of standing committees it was seen that the club is in a flourishing way in the matter of finances as well as membership, and the new $25 initiation fee does not seem to stop the applications at all.

The San Angelo club has taken an active part in everything socially in this city for more than twenty years; fathers have handed it down to their sons as a family heirloom, almost. It has always been a matter of pride with the citizens who could claim membership in this organization, and everything points to the fact that in the future it will continue to be the same.

DALLAS AFTER INDIGENT CLASS

EFFORT WILL BE MADE TO STOP
PRACTICE OF FURNISHING TRANSPORTATION.

MEETING IS CALLED

This Follows Suggestions of Mayor
Paul, Who Is Writing Paper on Subject for Mayors' Convention This Month.

Announcement comes from Dallas that the United Charities there has taken a hand in the movement to put a stop to travel by indigents, and a convention has been called for the purpose of deciding on something definite. This is in line with the suggestion of Mayor Paul of this city, who declares that the practice of sending tramps from one town to the other in an effort to get rid of them should be stopped immediately. He is to read a paper on the subject before the mayors' convention here the latter part of this month.

In commenting on the Dallas plans, the News says:

Proposing to discourage the shipment to Dallas of indigent persons, the United Charities of this city will shortly issue a call for a meeting to be held July 15. City and county authorities will be expected to attend and a general invitation will be extended those who are interested in checking what is generally regarded by economists and philanthropists as a vicious practice, the furnishing of funds to mendicants for aimless journeying from place to place.

Dallas has been greatly burdened, it is declared, by the shipment into this city from other communities of persons dependent upon public charity. The authorities of this county and city have declared their willingness to care for persons who, as residents of the county or city, become dependent, but they declare that they can not undertake to care for the indigent of all Texas.

The United Charities has usually followed the plan of immediately returning to the place from which they came the indigents sent here by other communities. In case the indigent persons are suffering from hunger or disease they are given relief and then sent on their return journey. Otherwise, it is said, Dallas would become the Mecca for the improvident and unfortunate of the state.

Recommendation that transportation be not given indigent persons, unless careful investigation is made, is the suggestion of the National Association of Charities and Corrections.

That they who, in order to rid themselves of annoyance and expense, ship to other communities indigent persons, whose condition by such removal can not possibly be benefited, offend not only against the community to which the person is sent but against the unfortunate individual as well, is the belief of practical administrators of charity.

Correctionists urge that every community care for its own unfortunate, and not furnish transportation to indigent persons, unless after careful investigation it is apparent that such transportation will place the unfortunate under the care of friends or relatives, or where they can earn a livelihood.

The grafting mendicant will plead, it is stated, the reasons, one and severally, mentioned in the foregoing in order to secure transportation, but investigation and common sense will make apparent usually the unsoundness of the pleading.

An insatiate desire to travel is said to possess many indigents. They go, without definite purpose, from place to place. Dozens of towns and cities pay their transportation from year to year, and regrettable as it may be, it is said that the transportation is furnished more with the idea of getting rid of the undesirables than with the intent of benefiting them.

It is expected that the meeting of July 15 will be of interest throughout the state, as the problem affects all Texas.
