

SURVEYORS NOW GETTING BUSY

C. F. W. FELT, CHIEF ENGINEER OF SANTA FE, HERE.

GOES OVER THE ROUTE

Promises No Christmas Presents, but Says Line Will Be Built Just as Rapidly as Possible.

C. F. W. Felt, the chief engineer of the Santa Fe, is in the city and states that the Santa Fe intends to rush the Sterling City road through with all possible celerity. The work of surveying is already under good headway.

"F. P. James," the locating engineer, is already hard at work," he said. "We expect to finish up both the preliminary and the locating survey in about a month, maybe a few days longer. When the construction work will begin, I can not state positively, but am quite sure it will be done as soon as the right of way can be secured. I simply heard that Mr. Lanin had transferred the entire holdings to the Santa Fe; then I received orders to get to work."

"I made a trip to Carlsbad, Water Valley and Sterling City, where the people are very enthusiastic. A great number seem to prefer the Santa Fe, because that makes everything sure."

"We are going to put up a good, substantial road, that will last forever. The Santa Fe builds railroads to keep. These little promoters build them to sell, and are very careless, to say the least, in the construction as well as the material."

"As to building beyond Sterling City, I can't say. All I know is that I have been instructed to survey the route as far as Sterling City."

"I am not making any Lanin Christmas gifts, but I will say that just as quickly as possible the work will be completed."

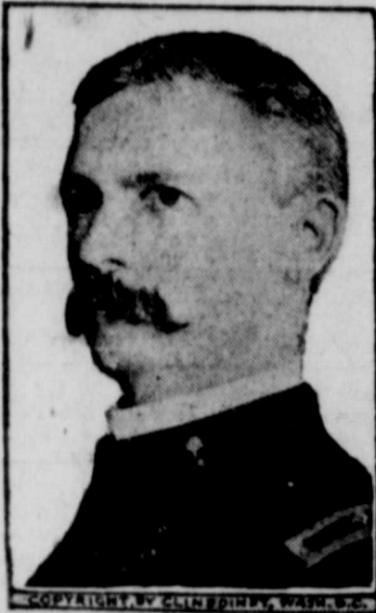

EXPLORERS.

Alf E. Bell and Ralph Wofford Now in Salt Lake City.

A letter has been received in The Press-News office from Alf E. Bell and Ralph Wofford, who left San Angelo several weeks ago to visit the big exposition.

Since leaving that scene of merriment the two explorers have looked into other strange lands, but declare that they have not yet found anything that comes up to San Angelo.

The last heard from them they were in Salt Lake City. They will be home in a few days.

GENERAL CROZIER.

The modern problem confronting General William Crozier, chief of ordnance of the United States army, is the selection and adaptation of artillery for use against balloons and airships. General Crozier has been head of the army's gunners since 1901.

GARRETT INJURED RUNAWAY ACCIDENT

Seven Stitches Necessary to Close Wounds Received on Head—Body Is Also Badly Bruised.

W. M. Garrett was thrown from his buggy Monday afternoon about 5 o'clock as a result of his horse becoming frightened and running away. Mr. Garrett received several deep cuts on the head and his body was badly bruised.

He was removed to his home while unconscious, and although it was at first thought that he had been seriously hurt, this idea was dispelled after a thorough investigation of his wounds had been made. As it is he will be compelled to remain in bed for several days. Six or seven stitches were necessary to close the wounds on his head.

C. B. RIVES DIES.

C. B. Rives, aged 29 years, died Sunday morning at 12:30 o'clock. On last Friday Mr. Rives underwent an operation for appendicitis, but it was of no avail. He is survived by his wife, his father and two brothers.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at the family residence, Rev. J. W. Howell officiating. At the grave the services were in charge of the Knights of Pythias, of which order he had long been a member. The floral offerings were numerous.

Mrs. T. H. Forrester went to Comanche county Monday to visit a sister she has not seen for nineteen years.

HOME-GROWN WATERMELONS

J. T. HUTCHERSON IN MONEY. MAKING BUSINESS.

AN IRRIGATION FARM

Has Made $450 on Melons Raised on an Acre and a Half—Crop Still Growing—Some Heavy-weights.

On an acre and a half J. T. Hutcherson, who has a farm a mile south of Christoval, has already raised $450 worth of watermelons, and the crop isn't done for yet. Mr. Hutcherson was in San Angelo Monday afternoon with his seventh wagon load from this acre and a half strip, and a better lot of melons was never seen.

A wagon load is usually made up with 125 melons, and the price varies from 30 to 65 cents a piece. He figures that he has already made about $450, and he has several loads yet to gather. The heaviest melon brought in so far weighed sixty-seven pounds.

Mr. Hutcherson's farm is irrigated, and thereby hangs the thread of success. He states that the rains have been unusually good this season, however, and that he would have received large returns, even if there had been no irrigation.

ASSAULT.

Mexican Cut and Beaten Near Causeway Sunday Night.

Groaning and writhing in the most excruciating agony, Louis Greago, shot in the leg and suffering from many cuts and bruises, was found on the north bank of the Concho early Monday morning by Anacitio Flores. Greago was in very bad shape and was immediately removed to his home and medical aid called in. The doctors say that Greago will recover, but it was a close shave. He declared that he was set upon by two men Sunday night with the foregoing results.

Constable Hawley Allen arrested August Robles, and Sam Grayson took Eduardo Pallieres in custody, both arrests being in connection with the assault. Robles' bond was fixed at $1000 and that of Pallieres at $500. Both men made bond and were released.

GROWING.

Gas Being Generated Every Day in Order to Meet Big Demand.

Gas is now being generated every day at the plant of the San Angelo Gas company. A short time ago it was necessary just three times a week, and up to Monday four times a week filled the bill.

"We are making connections every day," said John Freeland Monday. "and our business has grown to such proportions that it becomes necessary to generate gas every day. This signifies that more people are coming to San Angelo, and that those who are already here are becoming up to date in their cooking methods."

TEAM AT YALE MAKES HIT OF THE SEASON

Swor and Westbrook Pronounced the Best Seen in San Angelo This Season—Crowded House.

The best team seen here this season. That is what the show-goers are saying about Swor and Westbrook, who drew a packed house at the Yale Monday night.

Swor has everything that ever hit San Angelo skinned just about a city block when it comes to all phases of fancy dancing, and his performance brought down thunders of applause. Miss Westbrook has a wonderful voice, full, pure and sweet, and when the last notes died away the audience sat dumbfounded for a moment; then pandemonium broke loose.

The jokes which were gotten off were high-class and decidedly fresh, all of which facts lead Manager Coggin to confidently expect to be compelled to put the S. R. O. sign out before the week is over.

FRANK LAMOTTE HERE ON A VISIT

WAS FIRST SHERIFF OF TOM GREEN COUNTY.

HAD STRENUOUS TIME

Nobody Else Wanted the Job, So He Took It—Sees Most Wonderful Change in San Angelo.

Frank LaMotte, the first sheriff Tom Green county ever had, is here from Galveston. Mr. LaMotte is now a traveling man; in fact, has been on the road for many years. He has anecdote after anecdote to tell of the times when San Angelo was a swaddling babe among the cities of Texas.

"The fact is," he confessed, "I can't reconcile myself to the San Angelo of today as compared with the one of my days. I hear a friend call and I turn, expecting almost involuntarily to see him coming from a one-story frame shack, but lo he is emerging in a tiled shirt from a modern sky-scraper."

"When the county was first organized, back in the early seventies, the job of sheriff was extremely undesirable and I became possessor of that office mainly because nobody else could be induced to take it. Only a few short months back, I understand that there was one of the most heated campaigns in the sheriff's race that was ever waged. My, my, how things have changed, to be sure."

Daily Routine.

"In my days all you would see was either a saloon or a dance hall. Shooting scrapes were a part of the daily routine, and seldom did the sun set without some poor chap having turned up his toes to the daisies. We had all sorts of troubles with the soldiers at the fort, who were a rowdy bunch at best. Then the Indians would come swooping down upon us once in awhile and take all the horses they could find handy. The Comanches were better at the Raffles game than they were at fighting."

"By the way, I note with regret that Ben Jenkins, one of the few first-class soldiers we had, has passed beyond this vale of tears into eternal rest. Dear old Ben. He was my friend, tried, trusted and true, and a braver, truer, more Christian-like man never donned Uncle Sam's suit of blue to fight for his country. I saw Ben once a short time before he died and he was very much changed, but he still held his old-time army posture and the same old glitter was in his eye. Ah, well, each passing year sees more and more of the old landmarks removed by the ghostly scythe of the grim reaper, and another decade will in all probability see the last pass into the great slumber that knows no arousing, and no more from them may we hear the marvelous tales of early growth and the redemption of West Texas from the desert."

"It is repetition, but it is also truth, that San Angelo is a city of promise; it has every natural qualification to make it one of the leading cities of Texas, and I confidently believe that the time is not far distant when every promise will be redeemed. No, I don't think I will ever return to San Angelo to live—I'm too old a man now, but were it possible that I could turn back the relentless wheel of time and feel the warm blood of youth spring once more through my veins, I would most certainly return to the 'Queen of the Conchos' to lend my humble aid in her fight for greatness."

"The eyes of Texas are upon you—I will say, for my heart is still rooted deep in the soil of Concholand. There is a magnificent future in store for this country."

Ballinger a Hummer.

"About that normal? Well, you know I am not qualified to deliver an expert opinion, having never studied the situation in its entirety, but I fully believe that Ballinger is the only town that we will have to fight tooth and nail. The people down there want the institution and want it bad. They are prepared to struggle like grim death for the prize. That is a hustling little burg—to a fare ye well. Some time not so remote a great number of the old school of San Angelo boosters decided to start her going, and what is more, they did it, and have kept it going ever since."

"About Galveston? Oh, the storm didn't faze her for a moment. The wonderful sea wall proved its efficiency, an little damage was done in the city proper; in fact, only a few signs blown down. Outside of the city, that portion which the sea wall did not protect was considerably damaged. Eight lives were lost and bath houses and piers were swept down. The great bugaboo on account of the fear of the wild sea waves has at last been effectually removed. The wall stood the test nobly.

YOUNG CORBETT.

One of the surprises of recent years in the pugilistic world was the return to good shape of Young Corbett, the former lightweight champion, after the swift life among the "white lights" seemed to have put him down and out. His real name is William H. Rothwell.

"Of course the storm was not quite as fierce as that of 1900—I was in both of them—but it was certainly a ripper while it lasted. Spray from the waves was tossed forty feet in the air over the sea wall, and it seems that old Neptune couldn't have got any madder if he tried."

"To the citizens of San Angelo, I say, keep at it boys; you have done nobly, and if the same spirit imbues you in the years to come, you simply can't be stopped. I would like to live to see this the greatest city in Texas. God bless San Angelo—I nursed the babe, and now I love her magnificence—every tittle, every jot."

NOTED BARITONE SINGER IS DEAD

EDWIN L. KIPPEN OF CHICAGO EXPIRES AT 10:30 O'CLOCK.

BODY TO BE SHIPPED

Will Be Sent to Old Home and Will Be Accompanied by Sister—Mass Here at 10 O'clock Tuesday.

Edwin L. Kippen, a noted baritone singer of Chicago, died Monday night at 10:30 o'clock at the home of Father Nichols, where he had been boarding. High mass will be held Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock, and at 2 o'clock the body will be shipped by the Angelo Furniture and Undertaking company to Chicago, for burial.

In company with his sister, Mr. Kippen came to San Angelo several months ago for his health. He was a young man, being but 28 years of age.

Mrs. N. E. Stewart left Monday to visit friends and relatives in Gatesville.

W. P. Longino was a passenger on Monday's afternoon train bound for Mineral Wells on a pleasure trip.

Chas. F. Meek, who has been in San Angelo for several days on business, went to San Antonio Monday.

John Head of Sweetwater, who has been in San Angelo for several days on business, returned home Monday.

F. W. Cole went to Miles Monday, after spending several days in San Angelo on business.

B. F. Priddy returned Monday to his home in Rogers, after spending several days in the city on business.

J. H. Barry, who has been in the city attending to business interests, returned Monday to his home in Lampasas.

T. H. Scates left Monday to visit in Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama. He will return in time for the fair, probably over the Orient.

NO MARRIAGES AT CARLSBAD!

PLENTY OF BOYS AND LOTS OF PRETTY GIRLS, TOO.

MINUS IS AUTHORITY

Headlight Man Stands Good for the Assertion—Santa Fe-Lanin Deal Looked on With Favor.

Carlsbad is a year and a half old, and, according to R. W. Minus, the first marriage ceremony has yet to be pulled off there. "We have plenty of fine-looking young men," declares Mr. Minus, "and as to young ladies, why, Carlsbad has the prettiest in the world. But somehow or other, Cupid is shy, and we never have any marriages."

"Mr. Minus is with the Carlsbad Headlight, which, by the way, is one of the most progressive little papers in West Texas. He states that the size of the plant is to be doubled in the immediate future."

"We had a fine rain last week," states Mr. Minus, "the fall amounting to an inch and a half. No maize and kafir corn will make a splendid crop, and cotton will make three-fourths of a bale to the acre."

In discussing the purchase by the Santa Fe of the Lanin contract, Mr. Minus states that the people of Carlsbad greeted the announcement with pleasure, not that they did not have faith in Mr. Lanin's ability, but they believe that the Santa Fe will be in a position to make extensions and build up a greater system. As an evidence of the degree of satisfaction with which the announcement was received, Mr. Minus said one subscriber has doubled the amount of his subscription.

Trades Excursion.

John Freeland, a member of the committee appointed to make a round of the business houses and ascertain who is going on the trades excursion, was busily engaged Monday and therefore no work was done on the streets Tuesday, however, the committee will get together, and a full list will doubtless be ready for Tuesday night.

Steer Sale.

Jean Springstun sold to Tom Pulliam Monday 300 head of steers at $17 a head, making a total of $5100. G. A. Mapes engineered the deal.

Real Estate Transfers.

Paul Abstract & Title company's report of real estate transfers recorded August 23:

E. H. Baggett et ux. to Brown F. Lee, $2250; conveys lots 1 and 2, block 37, main part of San Angelo.

J. J. Drew et ux. to Joe Raphael, $500; conveys lot 14 and east 10 feet of lot 13, block 15, Ellis addition.

Southwestern Improvement company to Charles Plummer, $120; conveys lot 3, block 12, Westmoreland addition.

D. T. Cagle was a passenger on Monday's afternoon train, bound for a visit to Seattle, Wash.

Mrs. D. F. Jordan and son, who have been visiting the family of Luther Bates, returned Monday to their home in Beaumont.

G. G. Hanzel, returned Monday to his home in Cisco, after prospecting for several days in Schleicher county.

Tom Anderson was in Brownwood Monday attending to business.

RAILROAD COMMITTEE IN EXECUTIVE SESSION.

For over an hour Monday the committee that raised the Lanin bonus, which has since turned out to be a Santa Fe scheme, was in session in the directors room of the first National bank. The meeting was behind closed doors, only members of the committee being present, and when adjournment was taken absolutely nothing was given out for publication.

It was intimated, however, that other meetings are to be held, and that at the proper time a statement of the committee regarding the feeling of the committee toward the new turn of affairs will be made public.

SENATOR BAILEY CANNOT BE HERE TO OPEN THE FALL FAIR

Senator Bailey will not be in a position to accept the invitation tendered him to open the San Angelo fair. This comes as a deep disappointment to the local committee, for it was really believed that the junior senator would be here. The following telegram was received Monday afternoon:

Gainesville, Tex., Aug. 23.—D. C. McCaleb, San Angelo: Would be glad to come, but meeting of currency commission at Washington first Monday in October renders it impossible. J. W. BAILEY.

CAUSEWAY-BRED MOSQUITOES TEAR DOWN LANDON SCREENS

"Something ought to be done, and that immediately," said J. C. Landon Monday in referring to the causeway. "It's one continuous row of vile-smelling, unhealthy pools, and people can hardly drive through it without holding their noses. The best constituted undertaker would have to lay off his job for a week if he had to work where such odors prevail."

"What will that normal committee say after being shown the many beauties of San Angelo, when it gazes upon this unsightly abomination and inhales its delicious fragrance? I understand that in time a permanent pavement, as it were, will be built across the causeway, thus doing away with its cess-pools. But what good will that do us with the normal committee? We could, of course, that we intend to have it fixed up properly. All O. K. so far, but other cities have told what tremendous things they are going to do, which may never be done. The committee is working on a basis of the present—future performances are a hundred to one shot, and the proof of the pudding is in the eating."

"The matter could certainly be remedied very inexpensively—that is, temporary relief wouldn't cost so much."

"Another feature: Mammoth mosquitoes bred in the pools of the causeway have torn down screens in the back of my hotel and actually attacked guests in broad daylight. Don't believe it, eh? Well, maybe it is a par-hieve it, eh? Well, maybe it is a par-hieve it got up for the purposes of civic improvement."

"What we want to do is to have that causeway remedied. Let the city fathers take action all of a sudden and let the normal committee see San Angelo in a clean dress, anyway."

SOME GOOD SURELY THERE.

At this distance it would seem that the people of Fort Worth have become seized with a desire to carry a war into Africa and to even blot out as an earthquake or landslide would do, the place where the "Acres" in that city has so long been found.

No one who is even noddingly familiar with the horrors of this reservation will offer any protest to a great effort being made to better conditions there generally. The "Acres" ought to be handled in a manner that will deodorize it, even if not actually cauterize it.

But the good people of Fort Worth should not put all their energies into a single acre—even though this acre is a bad one. Notwithstanding the fact that this unwholesome spot is the only thing that can attract a front page position in some of the Fort Worth newspapers. The Press-News will warrant there are other and more weighty things even now engaging the attention of the good people of that city.

The Press-News will volunteer the fact that at this time there are two giant sky-scrapers, steel ribbed and shock-proof, going up in Fort Worth. On one day last week over one hundred deeds were filed for record in the office of the county clerk there, each conveying ownership in real estate, and a majority of the deeds were for homes.

Main street property in Fort Worth from the railroads to the river has advanced over 1000 per cent in value during the last six years, just like it will advance on Chadbourne street here during the next six years. Fort Worth is threatened with shortly solving its water supply, which has been the cause of almost as much frenzy as the acre and which only got the more muddled the more it was stirred, just like conditions in the acre are getting to be. The water supply was finally tackled in a sane manner by sensible people, and now it is beginning to look like Fort Worth will soon have a water supply second to none in the country.

The Press News feels a friendly interest in Fort Worth. The Press-News would like to see that city relieved of its every evil—and thereby set a pace that has never been attained since the world first began having cities. But The Press-News will not sit idly by and permit an impression to become broadcast that Fort Worth is today given over to those morals and vicious intents, merely because 1000, 2000, 3000 or even 10,000 people mass meeting a lot of resolutions.

As long as people congregate in centers we may expect the bad to congregate with the good. As long as the bad congregate with the good it is better to huddle the bad together—or to use the word of the canny Scot library builder, to "put them all in one basket and watch the basket." Fort Worth will frenzy herself until the mollycoddles and the lady-men are blue in the gills and raspy in the voice, but neither the frenzy nor the shouting will open the doors of the homes of the people to those who have been tainted beyond repair, or have drunk from the poisons that have from the early dawn of man's dominion over the lower animals been poisons to be dreaded with all the intensity that could be mustered. Whither will ye drive them—the unfortunates who are the cause of newspapers red inking themselves until the front pages look like the streets of Paris during the commune? Will ye drive them to Dallas? They will be met by the "move on" law and on they will move. Will ye drive them to San Antonio? And the rangers and Mac Chambers, the imported assistant county attorney, will order them to avast! pdq. Will ye send them to Houston, to Galveston or anywhere else? And ye shall find they are hurled back by the authorities and curses upon your heads will be hurled with them.

Oh, it is very easy to resolve. But it takes more than the man of the hour; it takes the man of BRAINS to spell success out of the turmoil and the turpitude of the hour! And brains and hysteria are eternal enemies. They may be found in the same person, but they are never found at the same time.

So in the resolving, let your where-as include a solution of the things that so fret you and cause you to fume greatly. If you can not trust your officers to solve this vexatious problem without praying aloud in public for their success, then in the name of the west that looks with so much favor upon Fort Worth, season your public lamentations with a few outbursts of thankfulness for things worth having that are right in your midst and are constantly being poured from the horn of plenty into your lap. And notwithstanding the effects and impressions incidental to the mass meeting hysteria, The Press-News will say about little old Fort Worth, even with her deodorized acre, that's she's about the best growing peach on the Texas tree, except San Angelo, and that if this city can just track her upwardness and onwardness we'll have a full rounded hundred thousand people here by the time Bryan is deposed and the democrats boss the job of taking the census.

Remember the dates—October 5-9—and talk about them. The San Angelo fair will hold forth then.

Just to keep the truth everlastingly in the lime light, The Press-News would again gently admonish the good people of San Angelo to clean up. The normal locating committee will be here Thursday.

The Dallas News has sent Col. Thomas Flint, Jr., to study prisons, and Col. Flint will write learned and well readable articles on this theme. Good, but one little Col. George Waverly Briggs of the San Antonio Express had it first. Let's keep the record straight.

The Fort Worth Record says: Financier Harriman Confined to His Cabin and About All In." Such lubbering ignorance makes us say "Oh, piffle" in a suppressed voice. Harriman was just about all out, and that's why he had to hike to his cabin, on the ship.

The Man From Brodney's

By GEORGE BARR
M'UTCHEON

Copyright, 1908, by Dodd, Mead & Co.

"A Dover's powder, Deppy, or a few grains of quinine. Please be sensible.
You're just like a child."
"What's in a Dover's powder?" demanded the patient, who had never been ill in his life.

"Ipecac and opium, sugar of milk or sulphate of potash. It's an anodyne diaphoretic," said Browne.

"Opium, eh?" came sharply from the couch. "Good Lord, an overdose of it would"—He checked the words abruptly and gave vent to a nervous fit of laughter.

"Don't be a fool, George," commanded his wife. "No one is trying to poison you."

"Who's saying that he's going to poison me?" demanded Deppingham shortly. "I'm objecting because I don't like the idea of taking medicine from a man just out of college."

"I've just given my wife a powder, old man. She's got a nervous headache," urged Browne tolerantly.

"Your wife?" exclaimed Deppingham, sitting up. "The devil!" He looked hard at Browne for a moment.
"Oh, I say, now, old chap, don't you think it's rather too much of a coincidence?"

Browne arose quickly, a flash of resentment in his eyes. "See here, Deppingham—"

"I apologize, Browne," said Deppingham hastily. "I'm not afraid of your medicine. I'm only thinking of my wife. If I should happen to die, don't you know, there would be people who might say that you could have cured me. See what I mean?"

"You dear old goose!" cried his wife.
"I fancy Selim or Ballo or even Bowles knows what a fellow does himself with when he's bowled over by one of these beastly island ailments. Oblige me, Agnes, and send for Bowles."

He immediately recommended an old fashioned Dover's powder and ventured the opinion that a "good sweat" would soon put his lordship on his feet, "better than ever." Deppingham kept Bowles beside him while Browne generously prepared and administered the medicine.

Later in the night the princess came to see how the patient was getting on.
He was in a dripping perspiration.

Genevra drew a chair up beside his couch and sat down. Lady Agnes was yawning sleepily over a book.

"Do you know, I believe I'd feel better if I could have another child," he said. "I'm so beastly hot now that I can't stand it. Aggy, why don't you turn out on the balcony for a bit of fresh air? I'm a brute to have kept you moping in here all evening."

Lady Agnes sighed prettily and stepped out into the murky night.

"I say, Genevra, what's the news?"
demanded his lordship. "Where is Chase?"

Now, the princess, it is most distressing to state, had willfully avoided Mr.
Chase since early that morning.

"I'm sure I don't know. I had dinner with Mrs. Browne in her room. I fancy he's off attending to the guard.
I haven't seen him."

E. J. Powell & Co., the music dealers have purchased the entire stock of Sheet music from Harry Storrs and moved its stock of pianos, sheet music, etc., to the building with the Ladies' Bazaar, where Mr. Storrs has been conducting the sale of sheet music.
This gives the company a very complete stock of sheet music. It carries a large stock of the best makes of pianos and is the agent for the Columbia graphophones and records. Mr.
Powell has had fifteen years experience in the business and ought to know

Another Man Says West Texas Leads
All Other Sections of the State.

"I have traveled over the major portion of the state lately," said G. O.
Cozart of the Spaulding Buggy company who was in San Angelo Saturday,
"and I can safely assert that West Texas, especially the country around San Angelo and Ballinger, is ahead of anya half bale to the acre and I believe that throughout the entire section, an average of more than one fourth will be made. This is simply the guess of a travelling man who has had a little experience with farming.

I was a farmer myself for many years."
Mr. Cozart will make San Angelo
his headquarters in the future.
"His Master's Voice."

Better Not Get Dyspepsia

If you can help it, Kodol prevents Dyspepsia, by effectually helping Nature to Relieve Indigestion.
But don't trifle with Indigestion.

A great many people who have trifled with indigestion, have been sorry for it—when nervous or chronic dyspepsia resulted, and they have not been able to cure it.
Use Kodol and prevent having Dyspepsia.

Everyone is subject to indigestion.
Stomach derangement follows stomach abuse, just as naturally and just as surely as a sound and healthy stomach results upon the taking of Kodol.

When you experience sourness of stomach, belching of gas and nauseating fluid, bloated sensation, gnawing pain in the pit of the stomach, heart burn (so-called), diarrhoea, headaches, dullness or chronic tired feeling—you need Kodol. And then the quicker you take Kodol—the better. Eat what you want, let Kodol digest it.

Ordinary pepsin "dyspepsia tablets," physics, etc., are not likely to be of much benefit to you, in digestive ailments. Pepsin is only a partial digester—and physics are not digesters at all.

Kodol is a perfect digester. If you could see Kodol digesting every particle of food, of all kinds, in the glass test-tubes in our laboratories, you would know this just as well
as we do.
Nature and Kodol will always cure a sick stomach—but in order to be cured, the stomach must rest.
That is what Kodol does—rests the stomach, while the stomach gets well. Just as simple as A, B, C.

Pet Monkey Eats Bracelet Costing $500

New York, Aug. 23.—Gertrude Hoffman is spending the summer down at Sea Gate, and on her way back and forth between there and Manhattan in her automobile she has been in the habit of stopping over at Luna Park and making friends with the animals. Yesterday afternoon, according to the most veracious people in the press department of Luna Park, all of whom attest to the truth of the story, Miss Hoffman stopped over as usual and acquiring a supply of popcorn and peanuts proceeded to feed them to Gyp, one of the elephants which lug people around the park for so much a lug.

Gyp is ordinarily a perfectly well behaved elephant and all that, but gets excited over popcorn, and yesterday afternoon—again quoting the press gentlemen—Gyp pulled off Miss Hoffman's diamond bracelet and swallowed it along with the popcorn. The bracelet is worth about $500.

Gyp was not backing visitors around the park yesterday after the incident and may not be on the job today.

WILL HAVE 1000 ACRES TO SELL. That Amount on Mustang Island to Be Put on Market.

Austin, Aug. 23.—Land Commissioner Robinson says there will be approximately 1000 acres to come on the market on Mustang island. He has arranged to have the land surveyed at once, and some of it will be cut into ten-acre blocks, the same as the survey of a year ago. He hopes to have the survey completed by September and the other half to be paid at the end of the year. The interest on the deferred payment will be 5 per cent. Originally there was 1020 acres on the island, and some 900 have been sold under the first survey. The new survey will include all of the unsold land on the island. It will be subject to sale at a minimum of $10 an acre, but must be secured in competitive bidding. Actual residence is not required. One purchaser may secure as much as ten acres, but no more. The terms will be half cash with the bid and the other half to be paid at the end of the year. The interest on the deferred payment will be 5 per cent.

Cuts Man's Throat For Two Cents

Port Chester, Aug. 23.—A man who says his name is Pietro Falitto went into the second-hand clothing store of Louis Levine this afternoon and after trying on a coat threw it over Levine's head, knocked him down and cut his throat with a razor. He then searched Levine's pockets and got but 2 cents. Levine is 85 years old.

Falitto was discovered sitting on the old man's chest by Rabbi Abrahamson, and he ran into the street and gave an alarm. Falitto ran, but was caught by Policeman Frank Aiello after a chase of about a mile. In the Ladies' hospital Falitto was identified by Levine as the man who attacked him. Antonio Bridga of Rye, who admits that he was with Falitto and stood outside the door while Falitto attacked Levine, was arrested later. Falitto is 32 years old and says he came from New Haven. Levine's chances of recovery are slight.

SURVEYORS NOW GETTING BUSY

C. F. W. FELT, CHIEF ENGINEER OF SANTA FE, HERE.

GOES OVER THE ROUTE

Promises No Christmas Presents, but Says Line Will Be Built Just as Rapidly as Possible.

C. F. W. Felt, the chief engineer of the Santa Fe, is in the city and states that the Santa Fe intends to rush the Sterling City road through with all possible celerity. The work of surveying is already under good headway.

"F. P. James," the locating engineer, is already hard at work," he said. "We expect to finish up both the preliminary and the locating survey in about a month, maybe a few days longer. When the construction work will begin, I can not state positively, but am quite sure it will be done as soon as the right of way can be secured. I simply heard that Mr. Lanin had transferred the entire holdings to the Santa Fe; then I received orders to get to work."

"I made a trip to Carlsbad, Water Valley and Sterling City, where the people are very enthusiastic. A great number seem to prefer the Santa Fe, because that makes everything sure."

"We are going to put up a good, substantial road, that will last forever. The Santa Fe builds railroads to keep. These little promoters build them to sell, and are very careless, to say the least, in the construction as well as the material."

"As to building beyond Sterling City, I can't say. All I know is that I have been instructed to survey the route as far as Sterling City."

"I am not making any Lanin 'Christmas gifts,' but I will say that just as quickly as possible the work will be completed."

EXPLORERS.

Alf E. Bell and Ralph Woiford Now in Salt Lake City.

A letter has been received in The Press-News office from Alf E. Bell and Ralph Woiford, who left San Angelo several weeks ago to visit the big exposition.

Since leaving that scene of merriment the two explorers have looked into other strange lands, but declare that they have not yet found anything that comes up to San Angelo.

The last heard from them they were in Salt Lake City. They will be home in a few days.

SENATOR BAILEY CANNOT BE HERE TO OPEN THE FALL FAIR

Senator Bailey will not be in a position to accept the invitation tendered him to open the San Angelo fair. This comes as a deep disappointment to the local committee, for it was really believed that the junior senator would be here. The following telegram was received Monday afternoon:

Gainesville, Tex., Aug. 23.—D. C. McCaleb, San Angelo: Would be glad to come, but meeting of currency commission at Washington first Monday in October renders it impossible. J. W. BAILEY.

"Something ought to be done, and that immediately," said J. C. Landon Monday in referring to the causeway. "It's one continuous row of vile-smelling, unhealthful pools, and people can hardly drive through it without holding their noses. The best constituted undertaker would have to lay off his job for a week if he had to work where such odors prevail."

"What will that normal committee say after being shown the many beauties of San Angelo, when it gazes upon this unsightly abomination and inhales its delicious fragrance? I understand that in time a permanent pavement, as it were, will be built across the causeway, thus doing away with its cess-pools. But what good will that do us with the normal committee? We could say, of course, that we intend to have it fixed up properly. Alf O. K. so far,

GENERAL CROZIER.
The modern problem confronting General William Crozier, chief of ordnance of the United States army, is the selection and adaptation of artillery for use against balloons and airships. General Crozier has been head of the army's gunners since 1901.

GARRETT INJURED RUNAWAY ACCIDENT

Seven Stitches Necessary to Close Wounds Received on Head—Body Is Also Badly Bruised.

W. M. Garrett was thrown from his buggy Monday afternoon about 5 o'clock as a result of his horse becoming frightened and running away. Mr. Garrett received several deep cuts on the head and his body was badly bruised.

He was removed to his home while unconscious, and although it was at first thought that he had been seriously hurt, this idea was dispelled after a thorough investigation of his wounds had been made. As it is he will be compelled to remain in bed for several days. Six or seven stitches were necessary to close the wounds on his head.

C. B. Rives Dies.

C. B. Rives, aged 29 years, died Sunday morning at 12:30 o'clock. On last Friday Mr. Rives underwent an operation for appendicitis, but it was of no avail. He is survived by his wife, his father and two brothers.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at the family residence, Rev. J. W. Howell officiating. At the grave the services were in charge of the Knights of Pythias, of which order he had long been a member. The floral offerings were numerous.

Mrs. T. H. Forrester went to Comanche county Monday to visit a sister she has not seen for nineteen years.

HOME-GROWN WATERMELONS

J. T. HUTCHERSON IN MONEY-MAKING BUSINESS.

AN IRRIGATION FARM

Has Made $450 on Melons Raised on an Acre and a Half—Crop Still Growing—Some Heavy-weights.

On an acre and a half J. T. Hutcherson, who has a farm a mile south of Christoval, has already raised $450 worth of watermelons, and the crop isn't done for yet. Mr. Hutcherson was in San Angelo Monday afternoon with his seventh wagon load from this acre and a half strip, and a better lot of melons was never seen.

A wagon load is usually made up with 125 melons, at the price varies from 30 to 65 cents a piece. He figures that he has already made about $450, and he has several loads yet to gather. The heaviest melon brought in so far weighed sixty-seven pounds.

Mr. Hutcherson's farm is irrigated, and thereby hangs the thread of success. He states that the rains have been unusually good this season, however, and that he would have received large returns, even if there had been no irrigation.

ASSAULT.

Mexican Cut and Beaten Near Causeway Sunday Night.

Groaning and writhing in the most execrating agony, Louis Greago, shot in the leg and suffering from many cuts and bruises, was found on the north bank of the Concho early Monday morning by Anacleto Flores. Greago was in very bad shape and was immediately removed to his home and medical aid called in. The doctors say that Greago will recover, but it was a close shave. He declared that he was set upon by two men Sunday night with the foregoing results.

Constable Hawley Allen arrested Augustine Robles, and Sam Grayson took Eduardo Pallieres in custody, both arrests being in connection with the assault. Robles' bond was fixed at $1000 and that of Pallieres at $500. Both men made bond and were released.

GROWING.

Gas Being Generated Every Day in Order to Meet Big Demand.

Gas is now being generated every day at the plant of the San Angelo Gas company. A short time ago it was necessary just three times a week, and up to Monday four times a week filled the bill.

"We are making connections every day," said John Freeland Monday, "and our business has grown to such proportions that it becomes necessary to generate gas every day. This signifies that more people are coming to San Angelo, and that those who are already here are becoming up to date in their cooking methods."

TEAM AT YALE MAKES HIT OF THE SEASON

Swor and Westbrook Pronounced the Best Seen in San Angelo This Season—Crowded House.

The best team seen here this season. That is what the show-goers are saying about Swor and Westbrook, who drew a packed house at the Yale Monday night.

Swor has everything that ever hit San Angelo skinned just about a city block when it comes to all phases of fancy dancing, and his performance brought down thunders of applause. Miss Westbrook has a wonderful voice, full, pure and sweet, and when the last notes died away the audience sat dumbfounded for a moment; then pandemonium broke loose.

The jokes which were gotten off were high-class and decidedly fresh, all of which facts lead Manager Coggins to confidently expect to be compelled to put the S. R. O. sign out before the week is over.

FRANK LAMOTTE HERE ON A VISIT

WAS FIRST SHERIFF OF TOM GREEN COUNTY.

HAD STRENUOUS TIME

Nobody Else Wanted the Job, So He Took It—Sees Most Wonderful Change in San Angelo.

Frank LaMotte, the first sheriff Tom Green county ever had, is here from Galveston. Mr. LaMotte is now a traveling man; in fact, has been on the road for many years. He has anecdote after anecdote to tell of the times when San Angelo was a swaddling babe among the cities of Texas.

"The fact is," he confessed, "I can't reconcile myself to the San Angelo of today as compared with the one of my days. I hear a friend call and I turn expecting almost involuntarily to see him coming from a one-story frame shack, but lo he is emerging in a billed shirt from a modern sky-scraper."

"When the county was first organized, back in the early seventies, the job of sheriff was extremely undesirable and I became possessor of that office mainly because nobody else could be induced to take it. Only a few short months back, I understand that there was one of the most heated campaigns in the sheriff's race that was ever waged. My, my, how things have changed, to be sure."

Daily Routine.

"In my days all you would see was either a saloon or a dance hall. Shooting scrapes were a part of the daily routine, and seldom did the sun set without some poor chap having turned up his toes to the daisies. We had all sorts of troubles with the soldiers at the fort, who were a rowdy bunch at best. Then the Indians would come swooping down upon us once in awhile and take all the horses they could find handy. The Comanches were better at the Raffles game than they were at fighting."

"By the way, I note with regret that Ben Jenkins, one of the few first-class soldiers we had, has passed beyond this vale of tears into eternal rest. Dear old Ben. He was my friend, tried, trusted and true, and a braver, squarer, more Christian-like man never donned Uncle Sam's suit of blue to fight for his country. I saw Ben once a short time before he died and he was very much changed, but he still held his old-time army posture and the same old glitter was in his eye. Ah, well, each passing year sees more and more of the old landmarks removed by the ghostly scythe of the grim reaper, and another decade will in all probability see the last pass into the great slumber that knows no arousing, and no more from them may we hear the marvelous tales of early growth and the redemption of West Texas from the desert."

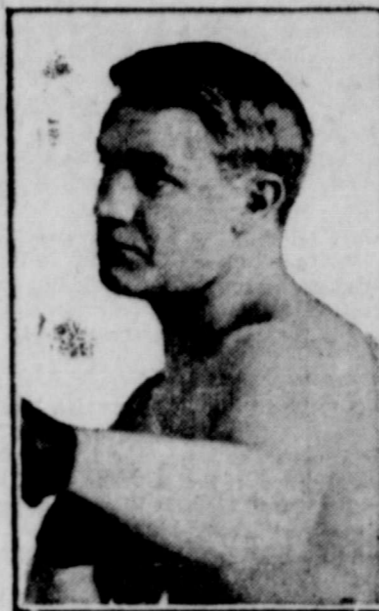

"It is repetition, but it is also truth, that San Angelo is a city of promise; it has every natural qualification to make it one of the leading cities of Texas, and I confidently believe that the time is not far distant when every promise will be redeemed. No, I don't think I will ever return to San Angelo to live—I'm too old a man now, but were it possible that I could turn back the relentless wheel of time and feel the warm blood of youth spring once more through my veins, I would most certainly return to the 'Queen of the Conchos' to lend my humble aid in her fight for greatness."

"The eyes of Texas are upon you—I will say us, for my heart is still rooted deep in the soil of Concholand. There is a magnificent future in store for this country."

Ballinger a Hummer.

"About that normal? Well, you know I am not qualified to deliver an expert opinion, having never studied the situation in its entirety, but I fully believe that Ballinger is the only town that we will have to fight tooth and nail. The people down there want the institution and want it bad. They are prepared to struggle like grim death for the prize. That is a hustling little burg—to a fare ye well. Some time not so remote a great number of the old school of San Angelo boosters decided to start her going, and what is more, they did it, and have kept it going ever since."

"About Galveston? Oh, the storm didn't faze her for a moment. The wonderful sea wall proved its efficiency, as little damage was done in the city proper; in fact, only a few signs blown down. Outside of the city, that portion which the sea wall did not protect was considerably damaged. Eight lives were lost and bath houses and piers were swept down. The great bugaboo on account of the fear of the wild sea waves has at last been effectually removed. The wall stood the test nobly.

YOUNG CORBETT.
One of the surprises of recent years in the pugilistic world was the return to good shape of Young Corbett, the former lightweight champion, after the swift life among the "white lights" seemed to have put him down and out. His real name is William H. Rothwell.

"Of course the storm was not quite as fierce as that of 1900—I was in both of them—but it was certainly a ripper while it lasted. Spray from the waves was tossed forty feet in the air over the sea wall, and it seems that old Neptune couldn't have got any madder if he tried."

"To the citizens of San Angelo, I say, keep at it boys; you have done nobly, and if the same spirit imbues you in the years to come, you simply can't be stopped. I would like to live to see this the greatest city in Texas. God bless San Angelo—I nursed the babe, and now I love her magnificence—every tittle, every jot."

NOTED BARITONE SINGER IS DEAD

EDWIN L. KIPPEN OF CHICAGO EXPIRES AT 10:30 O'CLOCK.

BODY TO BE SHIPPED

Will Be Sent to Old Home and Will Be Accompanied by Sister—Mass Here at 10 O'clock Tuesday.

Edwin L. Kippen, a noted baritone singer of Chicago, died Monday night at 10:30 o'clock at the home of Father Nichols, where he had been boarding. High mass will be held Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock, and at 2 o'clock the body will be shipped by the Angelo Furniture and Undertaking company to Chicago, for burial.

In company with his sister, Mr. Kippen came to San Angelo several months ago for his health. He was a young man, being but 28 years of age.

Mrs. N. E. Stewart left Monday to visit friends and relatives in Gatesville.

W. P. Longino was a passenger on Monday's afternoon train bound for Mineral Wells on a pleasure trip.

Chas. F. Meck, who has been in San Angelo for several days on business, went to San Antonio Monday.

John Head of Sweetwater, who has been in San Angelo for several days on business, returned home Monday.

F. W. Cole went to Miles Monday, after spending several days in San Angelo on business.

B. F. Priddy returned Monday to his home in Rogers, after spending several days in the city on business.

J. H. Barry, who has been in the city attending to business interests, returned Monday to his home in Lampasas.

T. H. Scales left Monday to visit in Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama. He will return in time for the fair, probably over the Orient.

NO MARRIAGES AT CARLSBAD!

PLENTY OF BOYS AND LOTS OF PRETTY GIRLS, TOO.

MINUS IS AUTHORITY

Headlight Man Stands Good for the Assertion—Santa Fe-Lanin Deal Looked on With Favor.

Carlsbad is a year and a half old, and, according to R. W. Minus, the first marriage ceremony has yet to be pulled off there. "We have plenty of fine-looking young men," declares Mr. Minus, "and as to young ladies, why, Carlsbad has the prettiest in the world. But somehow or other, Cupid is shy, and we never have any marriages."

Mr. Minus is with the Carlsbad Headlight, which, by the way, is one of the most progressive little papers in West Texas. He states that the size of the plant is to be doubled in the immediate future.

"We had a fine rain last week," states Mr. Minus, "the fall amounting to an inch and a half. Milo maize and kaffir corn will make a splendid crop, and cotton will make three-fourths of a bale to the acre."

In discussing the purchase by the Santa Fe of the Lanin contract, Mr. Minus states that the people of Carlsbad greeted the announcement with pleasure, not that they did not have faith in Mr. Lanin's ability, but they believe that the Santa Fe will be in a position to make extensions and build up a greater system. As an evidence of the degree of satisfaction with which the announcement was received, Mr. Minus said one subscriber has doubled the amount of his subscription.

Trades Excursion.

John Freeland, a member of the committee appointed to make a round of the business houses and ascertain who is going on the trades excursion, was busily engaged Monday and therefore no work was done on the streets. Tuesday, however, the committee will get together, and a full list will doubtless be ready for Tuesday night.

Steer Sale.

Jean Springtun sold to Tom Pulliam Monday 300 head of steers at $17 a head, making a total of $5100. G. A. Mapes engineered the deal.

Real Estate Transfers.

Paul Abstract & Title company's report of real estate transfers recorded August 23: E. B. Baggett et ux. to Brown F. Lee, $2250; conveys lots 1 and 2, block 37, main part of San Angelo. J. J. Drew et ux. to Joe Raphael, $500; conveys lot 14 and east 10 feet of lot 13, block 15, Ellis addition. Southwestern Improvement company to Charles Plummer, $120; conveys lot 3, block 12, Westmoreland addition.

D. T. Cagle was a passenger on Monday's afternoon train, bound for a visit to Seattle, Wash.

Mrs. D. F. Jordan and son, who have been visiting the family of Luther Bates, returned Monday to their home in Beaumont.

G. G. Hanzel, returned Monday to his home in Cisco, after prospecting for several days in Schleicher county.

Tom Anderson was in Brownwood Monday attending to business.

RAILROAD COMMITTEE IN EXECUTIVE SESSION.

For over an hour Monday the committee that raised the Lanin bonus, which has since turned out to be a Santa Fe scheme, was in session in the directors room of the first National bank. The meeting was behind closed doors, only members of the committee being present, and when adjournment was taken absolutely nothing was given out for publication.

It was intimated, however, that other meetings are to be held, and that at the proper time a statement of the committee regarding the feeling of the committee toward the new turn of affairs will be made public.

SOME GOOD SURELY THERE.

At this distance it would seem that the people of Fort Worth have become seized with a desire to carry a war into Africa and to even blot out as an earthquake or landslide would do, the place where the "Acres" in that city has so long been found.

No one who is even noddingly familiar with the horrors of this reservation will offer any protest to a great effort being made to better conditions there generally. The "Acres" ought to be handled in a manner that will deodorize it, even if not actually cauterize it.

But the good people of Fort Worth should not put all their energies into a single acre—even though this acre is a bad one. Notwithstanding the fact that this unwholesome spot is the only thing that can attract a front page position in some of the Fort Worth newspapers, the Press-News will warrant there are other and more weighty things even now engaging the attention of the good people of that city.

The Press-News will volunteer the fact that at this time there are two giant sky-scrapers, steel ribbed and shock-proof, going up in Fort Worth. On one day last week over one hundred deeds were filed for record in the office of the county clerk there, each conveying ownership in real estate, and a majority of the deeds were for homes.

Main street property in Fort Worth from the railroads to the river has advanced over 1000 per cent in value during the last six years, just like it will advance on Chadbourne street here during the next six years. Fort Worth is threatened with shortly solving its water supply, which has been the cause of almost as much frenzy as the acre and which only got the more muddled the more it was stirred. Just like conditions in the acre are getting to be, the water supply was finally tackled in a sane manner by sensible people, and now it is beginning to look like Fort Worth will soon have a water supply second to none in the country.

The Press News feels a friendly interest in Fort Worth. The Press-News would like to see that city relieved of its every evil—and thereby set a pace that has never been attained since the world first began having cities. But the Press-News will not sit idly by and permit an impression to become broadcast that Fort Worth is today given over to those morals and vicious intents, merely because 1000, 2000, 3000 or even 10,000 people mass meeting a lot of resolutions.

As long as people congregate in centers we may expect the bad to congregate with the good. As long as the bad congregate with the good it is better to huddle the bad together—or to use the word of the canny Scot library builder, to "put them all in one basket and watch the basket." Fort Worth will frenzy herself until the mollycoddles and the lady-men are blue in the gills and rasy in the voice, but neither the frenzy nor the shouting will open the doors of the homes of the people to those who have been tainted beyond repair, or have drunk from the poisons that have from the early dawn of man's dominion over the lower animals been poisons to be dreaded with all the intensity that could be mustered. Whither will ye drive them—the unfortunates who are the cause of newspapers red inkling themselves until the front pages look like the streets of Paris during the commune? Will ye drive them to Dallas? They will be met by the "move on" law and on they will move. Will ye drive them to San Antonio? And the rangers and Mac Chambers, the imported assistant county attorney will order them to avaint pdq. Will ye send them to Houston, to Galveston or anywhere else? And ye shall find they are hurled back by the authorities and curses upon your heads will be hurled with them.

Oh, it is very easy to resolve. But it takes more than the man of the hour; it takes the man of BRAINS to spell success out of the turmoil and the turgidity of the hour! And brains and hysteria are eternal enemies. They may be found in the same person, but they are never found at the same time.

So in the resolving, let your where-as include a solution of the things that so fret you and cause you to fume greatly. If you can not trust your officers to solve this vexatious problem without praying aloud in public for their success, then in the name of the west that looks with so much favor upon Fort Worth, season your public lamentations with a few outbursts of thankfulness for things worth having

that are right in your midst and are constantly being poured from the horn of plenty into your lap. And notwithstanding the effects and impressions incidental to the mass meeting hysteria, The Press-News will say about little old Fort Worth, even with her deodorized acre, that's she's about the best growing peach on the Texas tree, except San Angelo, and that if this city can just track her upwardness and onwardness we'll have a full rounded hundred thousand people here by the time Bryan is deposed and the democrats boss the job of taking the census.

Remember the dates—October 5-9—and talk about them. The San Angelo fair will hold forth then.

Just to keep the truth everlastingly in the lime light, The Press-News would again gently admonish the good people of San Angelo to clean up. The normal locating committee will be here Thursday.

The Dallas News has sent Col. Thomas Flinty, Jr., to study prisons, and Col. Flinty will write learned and well readable articles on this theme. Good, but one little Col. George Waverly Briggs of the San Antonio Express had it first. Let's keep the record straight.

The Fort Worth Record says: Financier Harriman Confined to His Cabin and About All In." Such lubbering ignorance makes us say "Oh, piffle" in a suppressed voice, Harriman was just about all out, and that's why he had to hike to his cabin, on the ship.

The Man From Brodneyn's
By GEORGE BARR M'OUTCHEON
Copyright, 1908, by Dodd, Mead & Co.

"A Dover's powder, Deppy, or a few grains of quinine. Please be sensible. You're just like a child."
"What's in a Dover's powder?" demanded the patient, who had never been ill in his life.
"Ipecac and opium, sugar of milk or sulphate of potash. It's an anodyne diaphoretic," said Browne.
"Opium, eh?" came sharply from the couch. "Good Lord, an overdose of it would!" He checked the words abruptly and gave vent to a nervous fit of laughter.
"Don't be a fool, George," commanded his wife. "No one is trying to poison you."
"Who's saying that he's going to poison me?" demanded Deppingham shortly. "I'm objecting because I don't like the idea of taking medicine from a man just out of college."
"I've just given my wife a powder, old man. She's got a nervous headache," urged Browne tolerantly.
"Your wife?" exclaimed Deppingham, sitting up. "The devil!" He looked hard at Browne for a moment. "Oh, I say, now, old chap, don't you think it's rather too much of a coincidence?"
Browne arose quickly, a flash of resentment in his eyes. "See here, Deppingham!"
"I apologize, Browne," said Deppingham hastily. "I'm not afraid of your medicine. I'm only thinking of my wife. If I should happen to die, don't you know, there would be people who might say that you could have cured me. See what I mean?"
"You dear old goose!" cried his wife. "I fancy Selim or Ballo or even Bowles knows what a fellow doeses himself with when he's bowled over by one of these heastly island ailments. Oblige me, Agnes, and send for Bowles."
He immediately recommended an old fashioned Dover's powder and ventured the opinion that a "good sweat" would soon put his lordship on his feet, "better than ever." Deppingham kept Bowles beside him while Browne generously prepared and administered the medicine.
Later in the night the princess came to see how the patient was getting on. He was in a dripping perspiration.
Genevra drew a chair up beside his couch and sat down. Lady Agnes was yawning sleepily over a book.
"Do you know, I believe I'd feel better if I could have another chill," he said. "I'm so heastly hot now that I can't stand it. AEXY, why don't you turn out on the balcony for a bit of fresh air? I'm a brute to have kept you mooping in here all evening."
Lady Agnes sighed prettily and stepped out into the murky night.
"I say, Genevra, what's the news?" demanded his lordship. "Where is Chase?"
Now, the princess, it is most distressing to state, had willfully avoided Mr. Chase since early that morning.
"I'm sure I don't know. I had dinner with Mrs. Browne in her room. I fancy he's off attending to the guard. I haven't seen him."

Moves Into New Quarters.
E. J. Powell & Co., the music dealers have purchased the entire stock of Sheet music from Harry Storrs and moved its stock of pianos, sheet music, etc., to the building with the Ladies' Bazaar, where Mr. Storrs has been conducting the sale of sheet music. This gives the company a very complete stock of sheet music. It carries a large stock of the best makes of pianos and is the agent for the Columbia graphophones and records. Mr. Powell has had fifteen years experience in the business and ought to know how to buy and sell pianos. The firm has been working along quietly but gradually gaining ground. James Brown the junior member of the firm is a salesman of no mean ability and is making good. This firm now has a nice location and no doubt will continue to do a good business.

Another Man Says West Texas Leads All Other Sections of the State.

Better Not Get Dyspepsia

If you can help it, Kodol prevents Dyspepsia, by effectually helping Nature to Relieve Indigestion. But don't trifle with Indigestion.

A great many people who have trifled with indigestion, have been sorry for it—when nervous or chronic dyspepsia resulted, and they have not been able to cure it. Use Kodol and prevent having Dyspepsia. Everyone is subject to indigestion. Stomach derangement follows stomach abuse, just as naturally and just as surely as a sound and healthy stomach results upon the taking of Kodol. When you experience sourness of stomach, belching of gas and nauseating fluid, bloated sensation, gnawing pain in the pit of the stomach, heart burn (so-called), diarrhoea, headaches, dullness or chronic tired feeling—you need Kodol. And then the quicker you take Kodol—the better. Eat what you want, let Kodol digest it. Ordinary pepsin "dyspepsia tablets," physics, etc., are not likely to be of much benefit to you, in digestive ailments. Pepsin is only a partial digester—and physics are not digesters at all. Kodol is a perfect digester. If you could see Kodol digesting every particle of food, of all kinds, in the glass test-tubes in our laboratories, you would know this just as well as we do. Nature and Kodol will always cure a sick stomach—but in order to be cured, the stomach must rest. That is what Kodol does—rests the stomach, while the stomach gets well. Just as simple as A, B, C.

Pet Monkey Eats Bracelet Costing $500

New York, Aug. 23.—Gertrude Hoffman is spending the summer down at Sea Gate, and on her way back and forth between there and Manhattan in her automobile she has been in the habit of stopping over at Luna Park and making friends with the animals. Yesterday afternoon, according to the most voracious people in the press department of Luna Park, all of whom attest to the truth of the story, Miss Hoffman stopped over as usual and acquiring a supply of popcorn and peanuts proceeded to feed them to Gyp, one of the elephants which tug people around the park for so much a tug. Gyp is ordinarily a perfectly well behaved elephant and all that, but gets excited over popcorn, and yesterday afternoon—again quoting the press gentlemen—Gyp pulled off Miss Hoffman's diamond bracelet and swallowed it along with the popcorn. The bracelet is worth about $500. Gyp was not backing visitors around the park yesterday after the incident and may not be on the job today.

WILL HAVE 1000 ACRES TO SELL. That Amount on Mustang Island to Be Put on Market.

Austin, Aug. 23.—Land Commissioner Robinson says there will be approximately 1000 acres to come on the market on Mustang island. He has arranged to have the land surveyed at once, and some of it will be cut into ten-acre blocks, the same as the survey of a year ago. He hopes to have the survey completed by September and the land sale to commence in October or November at the latest. Originally there was 1020 acres on the island, and some 900 have been sold under the first survey. The new survey will include all of the unsold land on the island. It will be subject to sale at a minimum of $10 an acre, but must be secured in competitive bidding. Actual residence is not required. One purchaser may secure as much as ten acres, but no more. The terms will be half cash with the bid and the other half to be paid at the end of the year. The interest on the deferred payment will be 5 per cent.

Port Chester, Aug. 23.—A man who says his name is Pietro Falitto went into the second-hand clothing store of Louis Levine this afternoon and after trying on a coat threw it over Levine's head, knocked him down and cut his throat with a razor. He then searched Levine's pockets and got but 2 cents. Levine is 85 years old.
Falitto was discovered sitting on the old man's chest by Rabbi Abrahamson, and he ran into the street and gave an alarm. Falitto ran, but was caught by Policeman Frank Aiello after a chase of about a mile. In the Ladies' hos-
