

MILLION DOLLARS IN IMPROVEMENT DURING ONE YEAR

TEXAS BUILDING CO. HAS FIGURES ON OVER $125,000 WORTH OF CONSTRUCTION.

BUILDING OF ORIENT ERA OF PROSPERITY

Visitors Read This City's Future and Are Quick to Realize the Great Opportunities Offered—Good Water a Big Asset.

"You've got the water here," said Sheriff Young of Taylor county, who was a visitor in San Angelo Wednesday.

"Your water will make a city of 50,000 people in less than ten years," said H. W. Hoel, a contractor of Fort Worth, who was here Friday.

Can you realize what these declarations mean?

These are not local people, but those from afar, and in the instance of Sheriff Young the comment came from one whose interests are close to Abilene.

That's one of the reasons why San Angelo has a cinch on a glorious destiny.

"San Angelo in less than ten years will be as big as Fort Worth is today," continued Mr. Hoel. "The building world expects more operations here during the next twelve months than in any other town in Texas. The Texas Building company, with which I am connected, is already figuring on $125,000 worth of construction work in San Angelo. I believe that you will do over a million dollars' worth of building in less than a year, and that will be just a start. With the coming of the Orient new life of a vitalizing nature that the natives up to this time can't realize will be injected into San Angelo. The Santa Fe is just as certain as two and two make four to build from here to San Saba. Then watch for a road to Sonora. And one to San Antonio via Menardville. And the Sterling City road will go on to the plains. You can't hold this place down. And I don't own a dollar's worth of property in this section. I'm in the building business. But San Angelo is headed for a destiny that means a great city, a metropolis. Keep that in mind. It's as certain as fate."

FIRST TRAIN CROSSES OVER THE COLORADO

Last Bent Driven Friday but Bridge Is Not Yet Complete—A Mammoth Structure.

The last bent was driven Friday in the Colorado bridge at Bronte, making 136 in all. Shortly afterward the first train passed over the bridge. It is not completed, however. It is a mammoth construction and it has taken first-class engineering to build it. Nevertheless, Mr. Colpitts, the chief engineer for the Orient, has got the wherewith for such work.

Fine Crop.

G. B. Willoughby, on the North Concho, has some of the finest milo maize and kafir corn in West Texas or any other part of Texas.

"I will make two tons per acre, and it is not irrigated, either," he said. He has the goods, too, for he had a sample in town Friday and it's fine.

"When everything else fails in Tom Green county you can see milo maize and kafir corn growing and making the finest feed in the country. Rain or shine, your milo maize will grow."

THOMAS B. HARNED.

Thomas B. Harned is counsel for the officials of the sugar trust and was jointly indicted with them on charges of conspiracy in restraint of interstate and foreign trade. He is accused of taking an active part in the negotiations whereby the Pennsylvania Sugar Refining company, a possible competitor of the trust, was compelled to cease operations.

CATTLE MOVEMENT TO WEST TEXAS PASTURES

R. J. FLOWERS SHIPS ABOUT 900 HEAD FROM CENTRAL TEXAS.

Indications Are That Many Trainloads Will Arrive Within Next Few Weeks—Some Sales Friday.

R. J. Flowers returns Saturday from points in Central Texas, where he recently went to purchase stock cattle. He is bringing with him twenty-five cars of fine steers to replenish his Christoval ranch. There are 800 or 900 in the bunch.

This is only one of the many similar movements that have been occurring in the last few weeks. Cattle have been shipped back to West Texas from the territory and from many other sections hitherto thought to have the bulge on West Texas when it came to fine grazing lands to fatten cattle. This year has been on when every other section except West Texas has been besieged with drouths and every other conceivable mishap. There is room on the plains for an infinite number of cattle to graze and get fat. Let them come. The more the merrier.

J. S. Dabney has purchased from Tom Henderson 200 calves at about $8 per head, totalling up $1600. He also purchased 300 head from W. T. (Toi) Cawley at the same price, making $2400.

Chas. Evans of Fort Worth purchased thirty head of fine mules from San Angelo parties Thursday. The deal totalled about $2000.

Real Estate Transfers.

Paul Abstract & Title company's report of real estate transfers recorded September 3:

T. S. Sharpe to Chas. J. Heinemann, $1800; conveys part of acre lots 25 and 30, Miles addition.

A. J. Morgan to L. A. Stewart, $90; conveys lot 17, block 75, Miles addition.

M. B. Pulliam et ux. to Thos. M. Pulliam, $1 and other valuable considerations; conveys survey 312, A. Rossy; 313, J. Moehl and survey 314, L. Reinhart.

W. J. Barbee et al. to W. J. Berber, $397.32; conveys lots 7, 8 and, block 154, Angelo Heights.

Likes San Angelo.

"Finest I ever saw," said R. Newman of Fort Worth, in speaking of San Angelo.

Mr. Newman has been here with his wife prospecting, and both are well pleased with the west.

"It is my earnest intention to return to this fine country," he said. "Of course when a man's wife sees a bargain she knows it and is going to take it, and my wife wants to live here."

Mr. Newman is a prominent business man of Fort Worth and will soon become one of San Angelo's, from what he says.

VIOLATION OF GAME LAWS IS CHARGE FILED

DEPUTY STATE GAME WARDEN JOHNSON PLACES JOHN NALL UNDER ARREST.

ACCUSED OF KILLING QUAIL OUT OF SEASON

New Laws, as Amended by Last Legislature, Went into Effect September 1—License Now.

On a warrant sworn out by Deputy State Game Warden E. M. Johnson, John Nall was arrested Thursday on a charge of violating the state game laws by shooting quail out of season. Sheriff McConnell went after him and brought him to the temple of justice.

Very few arrests have been made for violating the game laws this season, especially in this district, but it was shown plainly that no such actions would be overlooked and that the law must be held to stringently in West Texas, anyway.

The offense is simply a finable one under the statutes, but each succeeding legislature is making the offense heavier, and it is safe to say that the game in Texas will be protected well during the close season.

The new game laws are as follows: You may kill twenty-five quail a day in November, December and January. Doves, the same as quail.

Plover, robins, ducks and geese you may kill the year around, but not more than twenty-five of either species per day.

Squirrels, ten per day, and you may sell five per week.

Deer may be killed in November and December, but three bucks only.

Turkeys, you are allowed three during the months of December, January and February.

Snipe, or jacksnipe, and curlews, twenty-five per day.

Fish, you may catch any amount, but you are only allowed to sell 50 pounds a week; only then by paying a license of $1 per year. You can seine in Brown county, and to mid-stream in the Colorado river from the Brown county side only.

It is unlawful to sell any redfish over twelve pounds in weight, or under one pound, or any trout less than three-fourths of a pound, or sheep-head, mackerel or pompano of less than one-half pound in weight.

If hunting beyond the limits of your home county, or beyond the limits of your adjoining counties, you must pay $1.75 license, unless you are hunting on your own land.

You must show up your license when called upon to do so by a sheriff, deputy sheriff, constable, game warden or the man on whose land you are hunting. The county clerk will issue the license.

Parties who have not lived in Texas six months must pay $15 for a hunting license, in order to legally hunt any birds or animals protected by law.

It is a violation of law to hunt within one-half mile of any church, school house or private residence on Sunday.

The English or European house sparrow, hawks, crows, buzzards, black birds, rice birds and owls are the only birds not protected by law.

SUCCUMBED.

Sheriff McConnell Buys Benzine Buggy—It's a Cadillac.

"I've done succumbed."

That's the way Sheriff McConnell announces that he will soon join the ranks of joy riders in his own benzine buggy. Sheriff McConnell, after wrestling with the fever for weeks and weeks and for months and months, at last gave up the struggle and has bought himself an automobile.

"It's a Cadillac," says the big sheriff, and then he proceeded to talk in a language that none save a student of automobile catalogues could possibly understand.

HENRY CLAY PIERCE.

The oil millionaire who was recently married in London is head of the Waters Pierce Oil company of St. Louis, the relations of which with the Standard Oil company have been the subject of frequent legal investigation in the west. Mr. Pierce and his bride will, it is said, make their home in New York.

MORGAN JONES COMES TO SAN ANGELO TODAY

DOUBTLESS HAS PROPOSITION READY TO PRESENT.

Meeting Held Friday at Which Plans for Receiving Railroad Builder Were Mapped Out.

Morgan Jones will be here Saturday, probably with the railroad proposition that has been expected for so long. A meeting of the railroad committee was held at the First National bank Friday morning at which many matters of general importance were discussed.

It will be remembered that this Mr. Jones is the big man in the Abilene and Southern railroad that is so rapidly nearing completion. He has fulfilled every promise made to the contracting cities, and San Angelo has confidence in his ability as well as eagerness to build any line that he may contract for.

Mr. Jones recently visited San Angelo, but put no proposition to the Business club. It was what might be termed a preliminary survey.

As to whether a mass meeting will be called to consider the probable proposition of Mr. Jones has not been decided as yet. It may be that the railroad committee will handle the matter alone.

San Angelo wants railroads. She needs them in her fight for material progress. But it will be well for Mr. Jones to remember that this city has been subjected to drains such as no city in West Texas, or practically the whole state, and let his demands be strictly within the bounds of possibility.

However, whatever he has to offer, San Angelo will meet him with an open hand of welcome and listen to his overtures with every consideration.

DR. COOK, EXPLORER ONCE RESIDED HERE

B. F. Exstein Remembers Him Well. Lived in San Angelo Several Years Ago, He States.

Dr. Frederick A. Cook, the man who discovered the north pole April 21, 1908, is claimed by Tioza, Grayson county, Texas, as one of its past citizens, but San Angelo has also a word to say in regard to his living in Texas.

"The name is very familiar to me," B. F. Exstein said Friday, and I am positive he was in San Angelo several years ago.

"There is no doubt about his being a Texan, for Texas generally furnishes such great men—Martin W. Littleton and J. W. Bailey, for instance." Dr. Cook is to be given a great reception in New York when he returns.

AN OFFICIAL DROPS HINT OF SANTA FE PLAN

FISHERMEN FIND A MAN WHO HAD MADE BIG CATCH

Once upon a time Jerome K. Jerome wrote most entertainingly of three men in a boat, to say nothing of the dog, but that hasn't got a thing to do with this story. This time it was three men and another fellow and all each voted the occasion a big success. The three men were W. H. Hoel, contractor from Fort Worth; Jerry Rust, who got a patent right on his sweet disposition, and W. H. Hart, who handles the peltle with great agility. Never mind the other fellow. He does not count in this story, and on purpose, too.

But the three men looked at the sky Friday and concluded that with the wind blowing south-southeast by south that perch and bass ought to be biting fine. So they rigged up a rig and to Lake Concho, whence comes the water supply of San Angelo, the quartette went henceward.

After boating and fishing for 95 minutes without a one getting as much as a nibble, though Hart gave some exhibitions of fly casting, the outfit started homeward. As the landing was neared a fisherman with better luck was seen. He had caught a perch weighing not less than thirty drama, troy scale.

"Whatcher caught?" asked Hoel with a brogue as rich as peaches and cream. And the perch was held up to view.

"I'll give you four-bits a pound for it," said Hoel, and the trade was struck—Hoel had to give up one of the seven Lincoln pennies he had in his pocket to get the fish. Then he wrote this note and sent it with the fish to Jim Landon, boniface:

"Please prepare this fish for four. Put on plenty of garnishing and personally superintend the cooking. H. W. Hoel, room 23."

When the two-horse furniture van drew up in front of the Landon with the barrel of one fish there was a great commotion.

"Maybe it's the normal coming anyhow," suggested one hopeful.

"Now, it's tin plates for the dining room," suggested another.

Landon was summoned and when he read the note and viewed the barrel a smile stole over his sunny face. He figured he had enough fish to feed seven thousand people.

"This is a joke," he said. "Someone has remembered this ought to be my birthday and has sent me some frozen bubbles."

At four-bits an hour Landon wasted nearly a dollar's worth of time before he finally got the fish. Then he didn't know what to do. So he sent it back into the kitchen and ordered it cooked for Hoel.

"Why don't you brush the crumbs from the table?" said Hoel to a waiter as he flipped a brown speck from the cloth. And his fish in this manner came to an inglorious end.

But Landon won't wade into any more barrels that are brought to his hotel. That's a cinch.

Last Day.

Byrens and Cooles will close their big auction sale on hand-painted imported china Saturday, after an excellent run. Fine goods along this line have gone at ridiculously low prices.

Chinaware of every description will fall Saturday for the last time beneath the auctioneer's hammer and go for just what the public will offer. The gentlemen conducting this sale have given San Angelo's citizens a square deal and they will leave with high recommendations.

KNOWS IT TO BE FACT ROAD HAS THREE ROUTES, ONE OF WHICH WILL BE A GO.

SEES DRAWINGS

ONE RUNS FROM SAN ANGELO TO BRADY AND ON TO SAN ANTONIO.

COAST OUTLET ALSO

Three proposed routes for the new extension of the Santa Fe—that is what the Santa Fe has in view according to the information contributed by a Santa Fe official who is in a position to know a few things that are passing in the minds of the powers that be.

"Look here," said he, spreading out a map. "Now here," tracing with a small pencil, "is that parallel line that is being talked of to get the track from the Brady territory, that is from Lometa to San Angelo via Brady and San Saba. Of course it is not a settled fact, but I can make a pretty good surmise that if the road is built (mind you, I say if) a straight shoot will be made from San Saba to Lampasas, thereby eliminating Lometa.

Now let your eyes rest on this: From Sterling City to San Angelo to Miles to Brady, thence to San Antonio. Of course you will say that will be running a parallel road to that of R. A. Love's Paint Rock and Miles line. Just a suggestion as to that. Some people in San Angelo believed that the Santa Fe would run a parallel line to Lamin's Sterling City road. Do you catch? I know that at the present Mr. Love's road is an independent line, but who can say how long it will be that way? Will the Santa Fe allow another road to be built through the country between San Angelo and San Antonio?

There is still another proposition that has its merits as well. Say that the Santa Fe would follow out the course of the last mentioned road as far as Brady; then it would not be such a gigantic undertaking for it to build onward east to Somerville and connect with the Beaumont branch of the Santa Fe, thus giving a coast outlet to New Orleans. What do you know about that?

"Just surmises, you say. All right, but it stands for fact that I have looked at blue prints in the offices of several men high in power that lay out three just such courses as I have mentioned. Has all the trouble of getting these up been just for the sake of a little pastime? The Santa Fe officials have no time to be fooling with playthings. Now I know for a fact that one of these three roads is to be built, which I can not definitely say, but I believe that the time is coming when the outlet at New Orleans will be something more than a dream. What great advantage would the Santa Fe derive from the parallel road from Lometa or Lampasas to San Angelo? I can't see to save my soul. Of course it would share with the Frisco the trade of the Brady territory, but would the game be worth the candle?"

"Now, for reasons of my own I don't want my name mentioned in connection with this affair, but for a sure thing one or more of these lines is going to be built, and I don't believe it will be the parallel road. Furthermore, I have reasons to back my belief, so don't get the idea that it is a pipe dream."

PIE IS MIGHTY GOOD.

If we can't get cake let's take pie. Pie is mighty good, and is a good "filling" besides.

The Press-News has information that in a short time one of the biggest commercial business colleges in the south will make a proposition to establish a big school here if the encouragement of the proper kind is given.

Why not go into the market and get this school.

We'll not fight about the bush. The scheme is to get a man who has an established reputation to open a college here. Jesse P. Sewell, one of the fairest and squarest men in the world, has been conducting negotiations for some time with this end in view. In a few days Mr. Sewell ought to be able to report a definite proposition.

A business college that results in 300 students attending means a lot to this city. Three hundred students spending even $30 a month means nearly a thousand dollars a month. That's $12,000 a year.

It's worth going after. We must go after it.

And the information The Press-News has is that this school will come here for about $10,000 worth of encouragement.

Doesn't this proposition appeal to you?

So after all losing the normal may mean much more than the normal itself would have meant to us.

We have simply got to get in the market, outbid the other fellow and get the things we want. We can do it. We will do it.

A lot of good things are in store for San Angelo. We can't tell about them all at this time. But just take our word for it. You won't miss the truth very far when you track our statements.

Do you suppose it was accident that caused George S. Berry, for instance, to invest several thousand dollars here? Or that it was accident that caused Dr. Clay Johnson to make additional investments in this city? These men live away from San Angelo. They know what this city will be in the immediate future, for they have been viewing matters from afar and with a vision not affected by local conditions.

So let's keep our stride. We are headed for better, brighter and more agreeable days, even if Canyon City did get the normal. Then, besides, Canyon City is a plucky competitor. She knew that she would have to bid high, and she did bid high to get the normal.

Attention, good people of San Angelo! We shall all pull together in the future, as we have done in the past. We will have 50,000 people before many of us get gray hairs, or bust. Ready! Then hit the line hard. Put your name down for the trades excursion.

The Dallas Times-Herald says that Texas Ben Cabell should teach his Virginia cousin who has recently been appointed commissioner of internal revenue by President Taft a few lessons from the book of democracy. Ben Cabell tried to teach a few populist members of the last legislature a few democratic lessons, and take our word for it, as a preacher he is unrivaled anywhere, but as a teacher of democracy he does not score closer than the outer edge of the target.

Herr Hugh Nugent Fitzgerald of the Dallas Times-Herald suggests if Gov. Campbell don't go to meet President Taft and President Diaz he ought to send Gov. Davidson to represent him. Second the motion. In such an event Texas would at least have a representative to whom we could all point with pride. This display of pique on the part of Gov. Campbell just about fits his general average.

The same men who didn't land the normal will land something else just as good before they get through. San Angelo doesn't know the meaning of the word fail, and she's got money to go into the open market and secure any enterprize that strikes her fancy. On with the trades excursion!

MORE RAILROADS.

San Angelo has got to have two more railroads.

We need one to the westward. We need one to the southwest.

We have got to get the Santa Fe from San Saba.

It will certainly take work to get these lines. It may take both work and money.

If it does, well we have them both. That's fair enough, isn't it?

No matter what the cost, the investment will pay us. We can't afford to take chances. Twenty years ago Waco sat still when the Santa Fe was building. And in a measure Waco has been sitting still from that day to this.

If it costs money to hurry the good days ahead of us, we have simply got to put up the money; that's all.

And let's smile while we are doing it.

The next legislature ought to be a sane one. If it is--well, can't you hear the locomotives puffing from every direction, right here in San Angelo?

We've got a fine city here now, the best for its size to be found anywhere. But we are not contented at all. We want a bigger, a better and a more substantial place still. We will never be satisfied. Our best year is always our next year.

Catch the step. Get in the game. If you can't give, at least pray. San Angelo has simply got to keep going ahead. And she will. She has the people here to keep her on the firing line of advancement and prosperity and getherism all the time.

Great is San Angelo. But she is no greater than her people.

Places that are striving hard to make advances, with but poor success, are invited to study our methods. We never have to resort to copy-righting them. Any place that will mix location, people and destiny in the same proportions that we have mixed them will be a great city. It is so written by fate. It can be read in the stars, and by men, on earth, too.

So all together. We haven't started yet. Watch us grow.

As a place for real noises to come from, dear old Beverly, Mass., isn't one, two, three with Oyster Bay.

It has been almost a week since Fort Worth has cleaned up her acre. What's the matter? Have brass band reformations gone to weed in that city?

A man named Bray has been sent by the electric supply trust to be the representative in Texas. Betcher this is the most silent Bray ever heard in these parts.

There are three men now in San Angelo who are willing to make affidavit to the effect there are today no fish above the waterworks dam. Not in the Concho river, anyway.

Dr. Cook, the discoverer of the north pole, will be a rival of Col. Bryan and Congressman Hobson on the Chautauqua circle. Thus does every rose have its thorn, and sometimes two thorns.

A man from Illinois made a visit to San Angelo and seemed very much surprised to learn that this is a great wheat country, or, at least, the indications are that it will be a wheat country if the farmers only turn their attention to that crop. Well, that's the same old story--we surprise them all. No one realizes the wonderful advantages of Tom Green county until he makes an inspection.

As far as is known, there is but an able-bodied man in San Angelo out of work. And along with this statement may be mentioned that the city is still unable to secure enough brick to permit building operations to go on. This certainly tells a story of activity. There is no use in denying. San Angelo is the busiest city in the state.

Picturing South Texas in all of its beauties and progressiveness, the Galveston News has issued its annual industrial edition. In this splendid edition the News has given South Texas credit for everything it deserves, but it has not overdrawn conditions. The stories are backed up with pictures, which, by the way, are pictures that show up unusually well. Among other things the News contains a synopsis of the business of the port of Galveston for the trade year just closed. The progress made in developing the natural resources of South Texas is proving astonishingly rapid. The port and city of Galveston have made a record along commercial lines equalled by but few ports in the United States department of agriculture, through its crop-reporting board, estimated the 1908-1909 growth of cotton in Texas as 3,724,000 bales. The percentage of Texas cotton, comparing receipts with total Texas growth, received at Galveston was 99 per cent. The percentage of Texas and Oklahoma cotton received at Galveston were 3,657,156 bales. As a port of export Galveston continues to grow in importance to cotton growers from year to year. Five years ago Galveston was contesting for first place in number of bales received. This year Galveston leads the list by more than 1,500,000 bales, and is now known as the greatest cotton receiving and exporting port in the world.

Well, if Harriman just simply declines to pass in his checks, we would advise the newspapers to throw the stories of his life now in type back in the metal pot. Harriman wins out, you know.

Get in line. Catch the step. Become a city builder. One way to help is to be one of the Trades Excursion that on September 29 will start on a mission for the welfare of the west in general and San Angelo in particular.

An appeal for old clothing has been made through The Press-News by the Salvation Army. This is request that the people of San Angelo should respond to. The Salvation Army is a great organization, and it accomplishes wonders in more ways than one. Were it not for this great band of workers many a poor soul would go hungry.

The El Paso Herald has moved into its own $200,000 home and celebrated the occasion with a large edition, gotten up in a very attractive style and cram full of good reading. It is well illustrated, and, in fact, is not lacking in anything. The Herald now claims to have the finest equipment south of Colorado, between San Antonio and Los Angeles. The offices and plant of the paper occupy 20,000 square feet on one floor and there are 100 employees on the city pay roll.

Remember the dates, October 5-9, and tell your friends to come to the San Angelo fair.

BOOMING.

Large Number of New Buildings Being Erected--Hotel Wanted.

Paint Rock, Tex., Sept. 3.--The contract was let yesterday for a splendid stone building on the property owned by A. J. Hall, W. T. Liston being the successful bidder; size of building, 25 by 90 feet, fronting on Moss street. Work is to begin at once and the building is to be completed within ninety days.

The contract will be let next week for a stone building on the corner of Moss and Trueheart streets, just one block west of the public square; size of the building 30 by 90 feet. The Woodmen are contemplating having their hall built over this building.

The graders are busy on Moss street and it is expected that this good work will be carried forward until all the prominent streets are graded.

Jackson and McCully are joining in with Ballard, Newman and Montgomery in the erection of stone buildings on the west side of the square, which will make a frontage of 100 feet.

The McCollum Lumber company and Hardeman & Bateman have each erected substantial office buildings.

J. E. Powell of Ballinger is busy laying out the Swofford addition.

A. J. Hall et al. sold to the school trustees a block of land near the present school buildings, making about six acres of land sold for school purposes.

W. H. Fincher of Commerce has rented the Ballard corner building and will put in an up to date stock of drugs as soon as the building is ready for occupancy.

A good hotel man can get a block of land and considerable bonus to erect a hotel at this place.

A state bank will be organized in the near future.

Mrs. J. B. Murrain and Miss Pauline Murrain have returned from an extended visit to New York, Michigan, Missouri and many other points in the northeast.

SHOOTS WIFE AND SELF.

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 3.—In the shadow of the McKinley monument, in Niagara Square, tonight Harry Sommers Weems said to be the registrar of Jefferson University, in Pennsylvania, put two bullets in his wife's body and sent another into his left ear. Husband and wife are alive, but likely to die.

Mrs. Weems says her husband has been on a debauch for weeks. He came here last night and telephoned for her to come from Bradford to meet him. She arrived this morning and refused to pawn her jewels to get money. She gave him $200 two days before.

SCHOOL DAYS ALMOST HERE; CHOOSE NOW

VARIED FIELD FROM WHICH PARENTS MAY MAKE SELECTIONS THIS YEAR.

GREAT INSTITUTIONS FOUND IN TEXAS

Public Educational System Splendid. Private Schools Make the Pupil The Unit and Not The Class.

Opening days of September are usually the time for solving one of the most important problems that confront the father and mother of children arriving at the age where the initial, intermediate or final degrees of their schooling must begin. That the problem is important any father or mother will agree and will testify to the many days and nights spent during the summer in the discussion as to whether the child should take its place among the hundreds of others in the public schools, where it must rely to a large extent upon its own resources to extract all the benefits of the course or whether the physical makeup of the child is such that the boy or girl should be sent to one of the excellent private schools, where the attendance is not so large that the instructors can not take a personal interest in each student and adapt the line of teaching to the student's abilities.

The choosing of the right school for the boy or girl can not be well delayed longer, for the early days of September is the time set for the opening of a great many private schools, and two weeks is long enough to make the final arrangements.

Are Soon to Open.

By the first of October military academies, business colleges, technical schools of all sorts, and in fact every kind of educational institution will be under way.

The attendance at the private schools, where the expense is an item to be considered by the parents, has been affected the world over to some slight degree the last two years by the situation in the financial world. Families that never felt the necessity of retrenchment before found that the income had been reduced to such an extent that the boy or girl whose course of study at some private school had been arranged for by the parent before the boy was wearing long trousers or the girl was in long dresses had to be sent to the public school for a year or two until the family stringency was over.

There is no such trouble this year, for the business world has settled down to a long period of prosperity and family bank accounts are assuming normal proportions. If the boy or girl was sent to the public school last year not from choice but because the private school was beyond the family means, there is time now to make the change.

No Sacrifice Too Great.

At this stage of the world's development no one is prepared to argue that any sacrifice on the part of the parent to educate the boy or girl is too much to make. The ranks of labor are so crowded that success today is a matter of development of brain and not of muscle. It means almost certain defeat, or at least only a mediocre living for the boy or girl to go out into the world unequipped. They must have intellectual, physical and moral discipline such as comes from a thorough course at one of the many schools that are at the nation's many schools that are at the forefront of the nation's advance in every line.

The children of today in order to succeed must bring to their chosen work some special knowledge that will enable them to meet the demands for them, and the parent who ignores the fact is blind. No father or mother, even though the child should be willing or insistent, should be willing to send the child to the rear of the ranks of the world's workers.

Good Schools Here.

The public school system of San Angelo is not excelled anywhere for a city of this size. The buildings are unsurpassed, the courses of study are the result of years of effort by the experts who plan them, and the teachers have been thoroughly trained through all the wide range between kindergarten and the high school.

Texas has colleges, universities and private schools of every kind. All are well supported and give the best facilities for pursuing studies of every kind. They are not conducted for gain and they have succeeded because the tuition required of the student is so small in proportion to what the student receives.

The city is also rich in schools for special work. Not only is business taught in all its branches, but there is also to be had instruction in domestic science, technical courses of every kind, all the varieties of art and crafts and in library work.

The child who is sent to school at a distance from home and remains there for weeks and perhaps months at a time has a distinct advantage over the child who remains at home while taking the higher educational courses. The boy or girl who is at home after school hours finds so many things to divert the mind from books that home study is almost out of question unless the mental makeup of the child is sufficiently strong to counteract the other influences. The associates of the boy or girl student who remains at home are not all students themselves and they are not slow to use their influences against spending the hours out of school in study.

Away from Home.

Away from home the student is in the school atmosphere constantly, and while the student is not increasing his general knowledge by means of the text book he is doing so through the many broad phases presented within the school limit. The student realizes that he or she is in the school beyond the eye of the parents and that now is the time to call for his or her own self reliance. The child learns most quickly who depends upon himself and cuts loose from father's hand or mother's apron string. He must act for himself some time and there is no better way to learn independent thought or action than at school, where all other students are doing the same thing.

That this is the age of the education of women is shown by the entrance of many more women into every phase of business and professional activity. It is important that the girl who expects to make her own way through the world, either from choice or through necessity, should have the ground work thoroughly laid.

The Private School.

The private schools of today have stood the test of time and the fact that they are increasing in number is secure. They prove that while the public school systems are as nearly as can be, the private schools are needed because they supply an indefinable something that the world demands.

The success of the private school school the opportunities for acquiring knowledge are all present, but the student will not have a great amount of individual aid in grasping them. Whether the student makes the best of them rests largely with the student, for with the classes as large as they are today and the teachers generally overworked anyhow, and not too well paid, the instructor can not be relied on for much assistance in individual cases.

The private school presents just the opposite side of education. Its principal or proprietor occupies the same position toward the pupil as the lawyer does to his client and the physician to his patient. The student puts himself absolutely in the hands of the principal and asks that his education be made a personal matter.

The principal does not find it difficult to satisfy both the student and the parents who send the boy or girl to him. He is responsible to no board of directors who are likely to interfere with his conduct of the school through politics or otherwise. The proprietor of the private school charges a fee for educating the boy or girl, and the best evidence as to whether the investment is worth while is to be found in the student himself. The fact that these private schools have been thriving for so many years shows that there are many living proofs of their necessity.

In the private school, be it an institution for girls, one of the so-called "finishing schools," a military academy, a technical school, or a business college, each individual pupil represents a distinct problem which the school is bound to treat as such. It is in no sense a matter of the tuition the student pays, for the principal and teachers in successful private schools soon become so thoroughly interested in their pupils that they lose thought of monetary considerations. Each pupil stands out independently and his needs must be considered. The individual pupil is the unit, while in the public school the unit must necessarily be the class.

Correspondence School.

A remarkable development of recent years is that of the correspondence school. That there is a place for them and that they must be satisfying those who patronize them is indicated by the rapid growth they have had. Their position in the educational field is unique, for they are in some respects educational life savers. They come to the rescue of the man or woman who was sidetracked through necessity or otherwise by some business or industrial pursuit at the time when he or she had just laid the foundation of an education. They are able to follow the courses laid out by the correspondence schools, and when they adapt themselves to such studies have no trouble in bettering their condition in life.

The advantages awaiting the boy or girl are so many that the matter of expense is not to be considered. Under the most skillful teachers in every line the boys and girls are brought in touch with the best there is in art, drama, literature and music. Thus they obtain the quality known as culture, which can be more easily distinguished than defined.

The fact that more military schools are being established yearly indicates that the parents who send their boys to them are satisfied with the results. The showing made by the advertisements of military schools in the August magazines in proportion to those of all other schools is surprising.

One of the most interesting developments of new ideas along educational lines is the method of teaching language by phonograph. Persons who have tried it have found that in a few weeks they could speak French, German, Spanish or Italian. Their method of learning the language is the same as employed by foreigners in learning English, and is the only true method. By the use of the phonograph also it is as easy to write the language studied as to speak it, for the eye, ear, tongue and mind work in harmony. The method has been endorsed by the members of the faculties of many universities.

Girls Receive Mail-Parents Are Not Wise

Cincinnati, Sept. 3.—Postmaster Monfort today issued an order to the clerks of the general delivery windows of the Cincinnati post office to hold all mail addressed under fictitious names to young girls and to boys. "This order is one of the fruits of the meeting of the national association of First Class Postmasters in Toledo last week," said Postmaster Monfort. "Many girls here in Cincinnati and, I am told, elsewhere make it an almost daily practice to get mail at the general delivery window without the knowledge of their parents. We have stopped the practice of some of the girls by notifying their parents. Where the clerks know that the girls are getting letters under fictitious names they will hold up the mail and stamp it 'fictitious' and forward it to the dead letter office in Washington. The experienced general delivery clerks have a pretty good memory of faces and names. If we are not able to break up this practice this way we shall adopt another and see if we can't reduce general mail delivery to a minimum. It may reduce the revenue of the Post Office Department, but the gain in morals will more than offset the loss."

The Man From Brodney's

By GEORGE BARR M'GUTCHEON

swung swift and true. His skull was crushed as if it were an eggshell.

Lady Agnes struggled to her feet, wild eyed, half crazed by the double assault. The next instant she fell forward upon her face, dead to all that was to follow in the next few minutes.

There was no struggle. Chase and Selim were upon the stupefied islanders before they could move, covering them with their rifles. The wretches fell upon their knees and howled for mercy. While Deppingham was holding his wife's limp form in his arms, calling out to her in the agony of fear, utterly oblivious to all else that was happening about him, his two friends were swiftly disarming the groveling natives. Selim's knife severed the cords that bound Bobby Browne's hands. He was staring blankly, dizzily before him.

Ten minutes later Chase was addressing himself to the four islanders who, bound and gagged, were tied by their own sashes to trees some distance from the roadside.

"I've just thought of a little service you fellows can perform for me in return for what I've done for you. All the time you're doing it, however, there will be pistols quite close to your backs. Lady Deppingham is much too weak to take the five mile walk we've got to do in the next two hours—or less. You are to have the honor of carrying her four miles and a half, and you will have to get along the best you can with the gags in your mouths. Two of you form a basket with your hands. I'll show you how."

With Selim in the lead the little procession moved swiftly, but cautiously, through the black jungle, bent on reaching the gate if possible before the night lifted. Chase and Bobby Browne brought up the rear with the two reserve carriers in hand. Browne, weak and suffering from torture and exposure, struggled bravely along, determined not to retard their progress by a single moment of indecision.

In his heart Browne was now raging against the fate that had placed him in this humiliating, almost contemptible, position. He, and he alone, was responsible for the sufferings that Lady Agnes had endured. It was as gall and wormwood to him that other men had been ordained to save her from the misery that he had created. He could almost have welcomed death for himself and her rather than to have been saved by George Deppingham.

His wife! He could never be the same to her. He had forfeited the trust and confidence of the one loyal believer among them all. And now Lady Deppingham loathed him because his weakness had been greater than hers!

When he would have slain the four helpless islanders with his own hands Hollingworth Chase had stayed his rage with the single, caustic adjuration:

"Keep out of this, Browne! You've been enough of a boulder without trying that sort of thing."

Tears were in Bobby Browne's eyes as mile after mile he blundered along, his heart bleeding itself dry through the wound those words had made.

It was still pitch dark when they came to the ridge above the park. Through the trees the lights in the chateau could be seen. Lady Agnes opened her eyes and cried out in tremulous joy.

"You've labored well and faithfully," Chase said to the panting islanders, "and I'm going to reward you. I'm going to set you free, but not yet. Don't rejoice. First we shall tie you securely to four stout trees just off the road. Just as soon as we are inside the walls I'll find some way to let your friends know that you are here."

He and Selim promptly marched the bewildered islanders into the woods. Bobby Browne, utterly exhausted, had thrown himself to the soft earth. Lady Deppingham was standing, swaying, but resolute, her gaze upon the distant friendly windows. After a long, tense moment of indecision she held out her hands, and Deppingham sprang forward in time to catch her as she swayed toward him. She was sobbing in his arms. Bobby Browne's heavy breathing ceased in that instant, and he closed his ears against the sound that came to them.

Deppingham gently implored her to sit down with him and rest. At last she said:

"I've made you unhappy. I've been so foolish. It has not been fun, either, my husband. God knows it hasn't. You do not love me now."
 He did not answer her at once, and she shivered fearfully in his arms. Then he kissed her brow gently.
 "I do love you, Agnes," he said in a low, earnest voice. "I will answer for my own love if you can answer for yours. Are you the same Agnes that you were—my Agnes?"

"Will you believe me?"

"Yes."

"I am the same Agnes. I am your Agnes. I am! You do believe me?"

He crushed her close to his breast and then patted her shoulder as a father might have touched an erring child.

At last she spoke: "It is not wholly his fault, George. I was to blame. I led him on. You understand?"

"Poor devil!" said he dryly. "It's a way you have, dear."

The object of this gentle commiseration was staring with gloomy eyes at the lights below. He was saying to himself, over and over again, "If I can only make Drusie understand!"

Chase and Selim came down upon this little low toned picture. The former paused an instant and smiled joyously in the darkness.

"Five men are near the gate," he whispered. "They watch so closely that no one may go to rescue those who have disappeared. Friends are hidden inside the wall, ready to open the gate at a signal. They have waited with Neenah all night. And day is near, sahib."

"We must attack at once," said Chase. "Quiet now!"

Five shadowy figures soon were distinguished huddled close to the wall below the gate. The sense of sight had become keen during those trying hours in the darkness.

The islanders were conversing in low tones, a word or two now and then reaching the ears of the others.

Suddenly a blinding, mysterious light flashed upon the muttering group. As they fell back a voice, low and firm, called out to them:

"Not a sound or you die!"

Four unwavering rifles were bearing upon the surprised islanders, and four very material men were advancing

The Princess Genevra was standing before him, her hand touching her turban in salute.

ing from the ghostly darkness. An electric lantern shot a ray of light athwart the scene.

"Drop your guns—quick!" commanded Chase. "Don't make a row!"

Paralyzed with fear and amazement, the men obeyed.

While the three white men kept them covered with their rifles Selim ran to the gate, uttering the shrill cry of a night bird. There was a rush of feet inside the walls, subdued exclamations, then a glad cry.

"Quick!" called Selim. The keys rattled in the locks, the bolts were thrown down, and an instant later Lady Deppingham was flying across the space which intervened between her and the gate.

The men were beside her a moment later, possessed of the weapons of the helpless sentinels. With a crash the gates were closed, and a joyous laugh rang out from the exultant throat of Hollingworth Chase.

"By the Lord Harry, this is worth while!" he shouted. Outside the mad-dened guards were sounding the lardy alarm. The first gray shade of day was coming into the night.

He saw Neenah ahead of him, standing still in the center of the graveled path. Beyond her was the tall figure of a man.

"You are a trump, Neenah," cried Chase, hurrying up to her, "a Persian angel!"

It was not Neenah's laugh that replied. Chase gasped in amazement and then uttered a cry of joy.

The Princess Genevra, slim and erect, was standing before him, her hand touching her turban in true military salute, soft laughter rippling from her lips.

In the exuberance of joy he clasped that little hand and crushed it against his lips.

"Sh!" she exclaimed. "I have retained my guard of honor."

He looked beyond her and beheld the tall, soldierly figure of a Rapp-Thorberg guardsman.

"The devil!" fell involuntarily from his lips.

"Not at all! He is here to keep me from going to the devil!" she cried so merrily that he laughed aloud with her in the spirit of unbounded joy.

"Come! Let us run after the others. I want to run and dance and sing."

He still held her hand as they ran swiftly down the drive, followed closely by the faithful sergeant.

ROOSEVELT ONCE REMEMBERED; IS NOW FORGOTTEN

Benton Harbor, Mich., Sept. 3.—A novel instrument was admitted to probate when the last testament of the late Charles W. Hall, an eccentric recluse of this city was filed. The will provides gifts for friends and relatives and the city and churches, aggregating a half million dollars.

Ten weeks ago when Hall died, it was supposed he left an estate valued at about $40,000.

Ex-President Roosevelt was made a beneficiary in the original will, getting 1000 acres of timber land in Scott county Tennessee. This will was dated October 5, 1908.

On December 23, 1908, a codicil was added to the original will and Mr. Roosevelt was cut off, the 1000 acres going to a brother, Thornton Hall. The latter, by the terms of the will is made chief beneficiary and gets valuable Chicago land and considerable city property.

More Pure Milk Depots For New York

New York, Sept. 3.—A plan calling for an expenditure of $55,850 during the next year to reduce infant mortality in New York city by supplying pure milk and educating tenement mothers has just been made public by the New York Milk committee in a pamphlet outlining the proposed work for the next year.

Two new depots will be opened in addition to the seven now running. To maintain the nine the milk committee estimates that $27,200 will be needed to provide pure milk and $18,029 to carry on the educational campaign among the mothers and provide nurses to supervise the care of babies. The sum of $10,620 is also asked to carry on the general work of the milk committee which among other things has taken a leading part in securing legislation designed to eradicate tuberculosis from the dairy herds of New York.

The milk committee was organized in 1906 by the Association for Improving the Condition of the Poor. The milk committee's depots and the depots maintained by Nathan Strauss are the two principal agencies in New York for supplying the babies of the poor with pure milk. Although in no way connected these two agencies are supplementary. Mr. Strauss is a contributor to the work of the milk committee.

Under the head of "What Chances Have the Babies in the Congested New York Tenements?" the appeal for funds with which to continue the work sent out by Wilbur C. Phillips, secretary of the milk committee, says:

"Seven hundred and thirty-one babies died in one week last summer; 5,910 died in the three summer months 16,231 babies in all died last year. Of the 5,910 babies who died during the summer months 56 per cent were killed by diarrhoeal diseases, the direct result of bad milk and ignorance. "It is a safe estimate that 50 per cent of the depot babies alive and well today would not have survived without pure milk and education made possible by the milk depots. Many physicians believe that a saving in infant mortality of 75 to 90 per cent can be effected in New York by an adequate increase in the number of milk depots."

THAW TO GET NO PRIVILEGES.
 Must Submit to Same Discipline as Other Matteeawan Patients.

Albany, Sept. 3.—The relaxing of prison discipline at the Matteeawan State hospital for insane criminals with a view of adding to the personal comfort of Harry K. Thaw, as suggested by Supreme Court Justice Mills, is not to be permitted. It was expected that Thaw would obtain privileges as to his quarters, the hours for going to bed, smoking and receiving callers. Supt. Collins who returned to Albany today, said that Thaw would have to submit to the same regulations in Matteeawan as those provided for other patients. If new rules of conduct are to be prescribed for Thaw they will be applied equally to every other patient of his class at Matteeawan.

Saves Lives
of Two Boys

El Paso, Tex., Sept. 3.—A little yellow dog is the hero of the Mexican residents who live in the southern part of town because of his intelligence is due the fact that little Jose Renteria, 7 years old, has a chance for his life.

About 6 o'clock Jose and his 5 year old brother, Alberto, went to the canal and the younger boy fell in. He called to Jose to help him and when the latter went to his assistance Alberto threw his arms about his neck and carried him to the bottom of the ditch.

The dog was passing, and jumped in. With several hard tugs he got the older boy to the bank and then brought the younger to his brother's side.

A number of neighbors rushed to the rescue of the boys and took them to their home on South St. Vrain street near the Alamo school.

Alberto died, the shock having proved to great for him.

Jose is reported in a critical condition and has but little chance to live.

SOME STOCK ARE DYING

Unless Meeting Called for September
10 Affords Relief, Loss Will Be Enormous, It Is Said.

Fort Worth, Tex., Sept. 3.—After
adopting a resolution calling on the state sanitary board to lend its cooperation in having the federal quarantine regulations of the shipment of cattle from the provisional quarantine
district modified, and setting September 10 as a date for a formal conference with the board, the meeting of cattlemen from the Midland country,
who convened at the headquarters of the Cattle Raisers' association, adjourned shortly before noon.

More than half a hundred earnest and determined cattlemen were in attendance and they were of the opinion that if some relief is not afforded from
the strict regulations laid down by the bureau of animal industry that the cowmen had about as well go out of business. The situation, as explained
by the cowmen, is that the regulation forbids the moving of cattle from ranges on which they are dying from thirst because they can not, under the law, be moved to other quarters, either intrastate or interstate, beyond
the quarantine lines. This is said to be the case not only with tick-infected cattle that have been clean for six months, but that it also includes cattle that have been actually dipped
and free from tick-infested pastures
for six months.

Under the drouthy conditions which prevailed this year and the absence

of both grass and stock water, it is estimated that hundreds of thousands of dollars have been lost to the cattlemen through the death of their cattle. The men present at the meeting deemed the situation as one of the most critical that ever confronted them.

It had been hoped that some action
might be taken by the state sanitary board at this time, but A. S. Gage, one of the members from San Antonio, was unable to attend, and instead of taking up the matter at this time, Chairman R. H. Harris called a meeting of the board for Friday, September 10, at which a thorough investigation of the matter will be made. Tom McClure of Stamford, the third member of the board was also present.

At the meeting September 10 Col.
Ike T. Pryor, ex-president of the Cattle Raisers' association, and who has probably done for the cattlemen of the southwest than any other single man,
will be present by special invitation,
and the quarantine committee of the Cattle Raisers' association of Texas
will also be present by request.

To represent the cattlemen on that occasion a committee of seven was appointed as follows: Dr. P. C. Coleman of Colorado, Hon. A. S. Hawkins,
Midland; W. A. Fuller, Snyder; J. G.
Witherspoon, Crowell; W. N. Waddell,
Odessa; M. M. Hawkins, Quanah; L.
S. McDowell, Big Springs. They will present to the board at length the circumstances surrounding their contention and ask that some effort be made by the board to have the present restrictions upon the moving of cattle either modified or removed.

After some discussion the following resolution was adopted:

Resolved by the delegates of the cattle interests of Ector, Midland, Upton,
Ward, Glasscock, Martin, Howard,
Borden, Garza, Kent, Stonewall, Scurry,
Mitchell, Foard, Knox, King and Hardeman counties, that the chairman
of this meeting appoint a committee
of five, one of whom shall be the chairman of this meeting, who shall in connection with the subquarantine committee of the Texas Cattle Raisers'
association, appear before the Texas sanitary commission and endeavor to obtain the co-operation of said sanitary commission to the end
that the quarantine line as heretofore

prescribed shall be maintained, and
the provisions of the rules and regulations of the bureau of animal industry requiring dipping of cattle where there is no infection and six months'
exemption from infection be modified
so that cattle after inspection and being found free from ticks or other contagion shall be permitted to be moved interstate without dipping.

Dr. P. C. Coleman presided over the meeting and W. N. Waddell of Odessa officiated as secretary.

Dr. Allen, the federal inspector for this district, including Texas and Oklahoma, will be invited to participate in the conference with the state sanitary board that will meet here September 10, and it is thought by the cattlemen that when he realizes the condition that confronts them he will make an effort to afford relief.

The men present went on record as having done all in their power to eradicate the tick, and in order to make their position clear in the matter they adopted the following resolution:

Resolved, That we, the cattlemen
engaged in the cattle business in what is known as the provisional quarantine district of Texas, to wit, Ector, Midland, Ward, Crane, Upton, Glass-
cock, Reagan, Martin, Howard, Borden, Garza, Kent, Scurry, Mitchell,
Knox, King, Foard and Hardeman, do
hereby affirm in the most positive manner that we are willing, and not only willing, but anxious, to do all we can to eradicate the cattle fever tick
from our pastures. That we have built many vats and will build more if necessary for the purpose of dipping
our cattle, and will employ men to work under the supervision of the inspectors, both of the state and the United States quarantine departments
to the end that our pastures may be freed from ticks.

Representatives were present at the meeting from all of the counties concerned.

Hunter & Russell are no longer on the doubtful list. They will have a representative on the trades excursion which leaves here September 20.

General Freight Agent Hershney of the Santa Fe, who was here Thursday, stated that his road would send a representative along.

Another name has been secured, but for the present we shall refer to this gentleman as the "Great Unknown," for he doesn't want his name published.

E. C. Perry of the Concho Land company is also going, and what is more
he will take his car with him.

That makes a total of nineteen who have signed up, with twelve still waiting to see if arrangements can be made to make the trip.

The outlook is that over thirty will go. That isn't so bad, but not less than fifty ought to comprise the party.

Telephone to Secretary Burrows
that you are willing to be a city builder. The cost of the trip, exclusive of eating and sleeping, will be $30. The caravan will leave shortly after noon on Monday, September 20 and will be gone to either Friday night or Saturday morning.

Practically all of San Angelo's trade territory will be visited.

LABADIE WANTS OIL ON TRACK

CLAIMS GOING WILL NOT BE GOOD
IN PRESENT SHAPE.

LEAVES FOR GALVESTON

While There Will Make Arrangements
to Enter Some Fast Cars—Fine

Meet the Outlook.

"In order to have real swift auto races on the San Angelo track a binder of oil must of necessity be applied."

This statement was dragged from the reluctant lips of E. H. Labadie Friday afternoon. Mr. Labadie, on his way to look over the local track,
struck up with a Press-News reporter
and took him along. It was noticed that Mr. Labadie did not seem at all pleased with the track as it is at present, and finally, after much im-portunity, the following was gleaned
from him:

"San Angelo has a good race track.
Of that there is no doubt. Every natural qualification for a good track is here and the association has worked it down to the limit. But when it was first conceived it was intended to be
for horse races.

"Now a new element has arrived in the realm of racing. Auto races are taking the cake for interest and excitement.

"The association this year realized that it would be necessary to make stringent provisions for auto racing,
so it had the track banked. The work was well done and satisfactory. But there is one point that was forgotten.

"After a fast ten-mile auto race that track won't be fit to race either horses
or autos. I don't say that as a knock,
for I am deeply interested in the success of this year's fair. I am only speaking from an experience in such matters. The horse races will soon wear a groove in the track as it is and it will be hazardous for automobiles to get up a great rate of speed,
for they would run an excellent chance of turning over. I know that if oil is used in sprinkling the track all of the automobile troubles will be done away with. However, as I am not a horseman I could not say what effect it would have on races of that character.

"I am waiting on the fair association
to see what action will be taken in this matter. Several letters from speed artists throughout the state are now lying on my desk unanswered because of this. It will be necessary for the racers to get the sanction of the American automobile association.
If they don't they will be barred from entering any of the big meets throughout the country. The racers are governed precisely like organized baseball leagues. They have to conform to certain iron-bound regulations or they become outcasts.

"I am going to Galveston tomorrow
to look into some business matters as well as to make further arrangements
with some speed artists to come to the San Angelo fair. If arrangements as regards the track can be made, then we are due to have one of the finest race meets in the history of Texas automobiling.

"The track must be bound by an application of oil and there is nothing else to it, if we want any real speedy,
record-breaking work."

ANOTHER.

Sam Sparks, Pacer, Here in Training
for Fall Fair.

Another fine harness horse is to be on the track at the fall fair when
the bell taps, to participate in the races. Sam Sparks, a fine pacer owned by J. H. Kelley of Ballinger, is here
under training. "Sam is a young horse, but a good one," so speaks Mr.
Kelley of his horse, and he expects to see him win out.

Horses are coming in nearly every day, and they are no scrubs, either.
They are among the best in Texas
when it comes to racing. Chero
Campbell is a sample of the stuff
that will be in the San Angelo races,
and probably like him, Sam Sparks
will make a record that will never be forgotten, as Chero did last season.

"My horse is young, ambitious and very active," Mr. Kelly said, "and I have the utmost confidence in him."

CANYON CITY HOLDS BIG JOLLIFICATION

EXCURSION TRAIN BRINGS IN MANY VISITORS.

Normal Locating Board Issues Statement Setting Forth Position.

Campbell Kept Out.

Canyon City, selected as the site for the West Texas normal, held a big jollification Friday night. An excursion train was run and several hundred visitors were present.

The following statement has been issued by the locating board:

Committee Makes Statement.

"The committee to locate the West Texas normal college began its labors in Fort Worth on August 9, where it continued in session during four days, listening to the representatives of contesting towns explain the advantages claimed by the respective places. The committee then arranged for itself a trip of more than two weeks, including nineteen bidding points. After carefully studying the topography of the cities themselves and the surrounding territory, and the sites offered by the respective towns, the committee returned to Austin and for three days carefully considered all the facts in each case.

"The committee thinks it has not failed to take into account every important point that could be raised in favor of any one of the splendid Texas towns that bid for the location of this school. To reach the decision has been an exceedingly difficult task. Without attempting to give a summary of the argument which sustains the conclusion, the committee desires to say it has kept faith with the public and its own good conscience and has deliberately reached the conclusion that under all the circumstances the location of the normal at Canyon City is in the interest of the development of the state as a whole.

"This decision is final unless the committee to locate the normal school fails to agree with the local committee in Canyon City on the details of the bid, or unless Canyon City should fail to make good its bid.

"It will be remembered that Canyon City is favorably located in a great section of the state and that its bid consists of property and labor to be donated for the erection of a plant to the state of $100,100 and a choice of seven sites of forty acres each. The committee will return to Canyon City within the next few days and select a site and enter into contract with good and sufficient surety, and then make its final report to the state board of education, whose duty it will then be to have the building erected and ready for work not later than October 1, 1910.

"The committee was surprised and delighted at the wonderful development of the great west; at the push, enterprise and intelligence of the citizens who hold its destiny in their hands. We feel sure that the good of the state demands that the next legislature shall establish two additional schools of higher order, amply equipped and well sustained, to take care of the educational and industrial development of the state west of the ninety-eighth meridian.

Educational Board's Position.

"We are pleased to be able to announce that the state board of education is also of the opinion that the next legislature should establish one more school, possibly two, in the territory indicated. We wish to say that certain newspaper reports that have gone out from Austin concerning the attitude of the members of the committee toward various towns were made in utter ignorance of and at variance with the facts in the case. We further desire to say that any statement indicating that Gov. Campbell has interfered in any manner whatever with the deliberations of the committee is untrue and unjust.

"The state board of education was invited into consultation with the locating board touching a question of the correct interpretation of the law under which the West Texas normal was created. Gov. Campbell stated in the joint sessions of the committees and to different members of the board personally that he had perfect confidence in the judgment and integrity of the locating board and that its decision, whatever it might be, would be sustained by him. He stated further that he approved the careful manner in which the locating board had gone about its duties and that he was satisfied the state would be well served, whatever the committee's decision might be. He insisted that he had no preference among the towns and desired to offer no advice to any member of the committee."

Replying to C. B. Metcalfe's telegram of congratulation in which he said "Come and go fishing," Lieutenant Governor Davidson replied as follows:

Charles B. Metcalfe, San Angelo, Texas: Congratulations received. In language of a cowboy we did our blankety blank. Will go fishing later. A. B. Davidson.

HONORED.

Tax Assessors of State Voted Complimentary Membership.

Fort Worth, Tex., Sept. 3.—The tax assessors of the state were given a complimentary membership in the Texas Prosperity club by Capt. B. B. Paddock, president of the club, today as a reward for their kindness in furnishing the Texas Commercial Secretaries' association with statistics regarding their counties. The association has frequently called upon the assessors for information, which has always been furnished promptly, and the secretaries feel that the assessors by their cooperation merit recognition as empire builders. The membership certificate carries with it seven pieces of literature containing valuable information on Texas, and the tax assessors will receive copies of all future literature issued by the association.

Of Course.

"You can hardly realize without looking over Central and Northern Texas how well off San Angelo and West Texas in general are this year. That was S. H. Jenkins, formerly an Angelo, now a full-fledged knight of the grip, had to say when he stepped off the train Friday afternoon.

"I have been over a great portion of the state in the state in the last few weeks," he continued, "and things are simply burned up and crops will come very near being a total failure.

"I declare that it is a positive relief to get this side of Brownwood and gaze on green fields and luxuriant vegetation once more. This country by far will eclipse anything in all the state this year in the matter of crops and general prosperity. You—I'll say we, for I am still heart and soul a San Angeliote—have had good rains and the horn of plenty has certainly been lowered over us. Everything between here and Brownwood is coming along finest ever."

MILLION DOLLARS IN IMPROVEMENT DURING ONE YEAR

TEXAS BUILDING CO. HAS FIGURES ON OVER $125,000 WORTH OF CONSTRUCTION.

BUILDING OF ORIENT ERA OF PROSPERITY

Visitors Read This City's Future and Are Quick to Realize the Great Opportunities Offered—Good Water a Big Asset.

"You've got the water here," said Sheriff Young of Taylor county, who was a visitor in San Angelo Wednesday.

"Your water will make a city of 50,000 people in less than ten years," said H. W. Hoel, a contractor of Fort Worth, who was here Friday.

Can you realize what these declarations mean?

These are not local people, but those from afar, and in the instance of Sheriff Young the comment came from one whose interests are close to Abilene.

That's one of the reasons why San Angelo has a cinch on a glorious destiny.

"San Angelo in less than ten years will be as big as Fort Worth is today," continued Mr. Hoel. "The building world expects more operations here during the next twelve months than in any other town in Texas. The Texas Building company, with which I am connected, is already figuring on $125,000 worth of construction work in San Angelo. I believe that you will do over a million dollars' worth of building in less than a year, and that will be just a starter. With the coming of the Orient new life of a vitalizing nature that the natives up to this time can't realize will be injected into San Angelo. The Santa Fe is just as certain as two and two make four to build from here to San Saba. Then watch for a road to Sonora. And one to San Antonio via Menardville. And the Sterling City road will go on to the plains. You can't hold this place down. And I don't own a dollar's worth of property in this section. I'm in the building business. But San Angelo is headed for a destiny that means a great city, a metropolis. Keep that in mind. It's as certain as fate."

FIRST TRAIN CROSSES OVER THE COLORADO

Last Bent Driven Friday but Bridge Is Not Yet Complete—A Mammoth Structure.

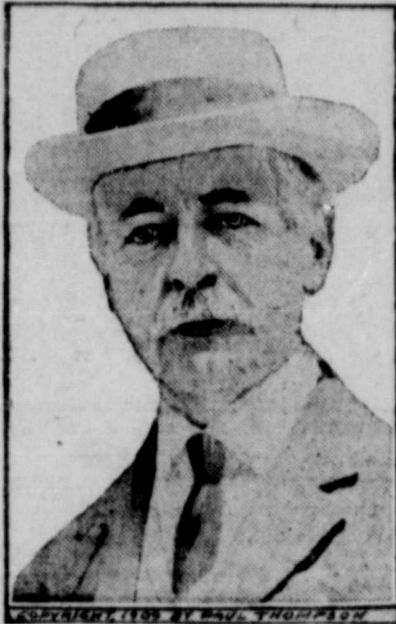

The last bent was driven Friday in the Colorado bridge at Bronte, making 136 in all. Shortly afterward the first train passed over the bridge. It is not completed, however. It is a mammoth construction and it has taken first-class engineering to build it. Nevertheless, Mr. Colpitts, the chief engineer for the Orient, has got the wherewith for such work.

Fine Crop.

G. B. Willoughby, on the North-Concho, has some of the finest milo maize and kafir corn in West Texas or any other part of Texas.

"I will make two tons per acre, and it is not irrigated, either," he said. He has the goods, too, for he had a sample in town Friday and it's fine.

"When everything else fails in Tom Green county you can see milo maize and kafir corn growing and making the finest feed in the country. Rain or shine, your milo maize will grow."

THOMAS B. HARNED.

Thomas B. Harned is counsel for the officials of the sugar trust and was jointly indicted with them on charges of conspiracy in restraint of interstate and foreign trade. He is accused of taking an active part in the negotiations whereby the Pennsylvania Sugar Refining company, a possible competitor of the trust, was compelled to cease operations.

CATTLE MOVEMENT TO WEST TEXAS PASTURES

R. J. FLOWERS SHIPS ABOUT 900 HEAD FROM CENTRAL TEXAS.

Indications Are That Many Trainloads Will Arrive Within Next Few Weeks—Some Sales Friday.

R. J. Flowers returns Saturday from points in Central Texas, where he recently went to purchase stock cattle. He is bringing with him twenty-five cars of fine steers to replenish his Christoval ranch. There are 800 or 900 in the bunch.

This is only one of the many similar movements that have been occurring in the last few weeks. Cattle have been shipped back to West Texas from the territory and from many other sections hitherto thought to have the bulge on West Texas when it came to fine grazing lands to fatten cattle. This year has been on when every other section except West Texas has been besieged with drouths and every other conceivable mishap. There is room on the plains for an infinite number of cattle to graze and get fat. Let them come. The more the merrier.

J. S. Dabney has purchased from Tom Henderson 200 calves at about $8 per head, totalling up $1600. He also purchased 300 head from W. T. (To) Cawley at the same price, making $2400.

Chas. Evans of Fort Worth purchased thirty head of fine males from San Angelo parties Thursday. The deal totalled about $2000.

Real Estate Transfers.

Paul Abstract & Title company's report of real estate transfers recorded September 3:

T. S. Sharpe to Chas. J. Heinemann, $1800; conveys part of acre lots 29 and 30, Miles addition.

A. J. Morgan to L. A. Stewart, $90; conveys lot 17, block 75, Miles addition.

M. B. Pulliam et ux. to Thos. M. Pulliam, $1 and other valuable considerations; conveys survey 312, A. Rossy; 313, J. Moehl and survey 314, L. Reinhart.

W. J. Barbee et al. to W. J. Berber, $397.32; conveys lots 7, 8 and, block 134, Angelo Heights.

Likes San Angelo.

"Finest I ever saw," said R. Newman of Fort Worth, in speaking of San Angelo.

Mr. Newman has been here with his wife prospecting, and both are well pleased with the west.

"It is my earnest intention to return to this fine country," he said. "Of course when a man's wife sees a bargain she knows it and is going to take it, and my wife wants to live here."

Mr. Newman is a prominent business man of Fort Worth and will soon become one of San Angelo's, from what he says.

VIOLATION OF GAME LAWS IS CHARGE FILED

DEPUTY STATE GAME WARDEN JOHNSON PLACES JOHN NALL UNDER ARREST.

ACCUSED OF KILLING QUAIL OUT OF SEASON

New Laws, as Amended by Last Legislature, Went into Effect September 1—License Now.

On a warrant sworn out by Deputy State Game Warden E. M. Johnson, John Nall was arrested Thursday on a charge of violating the state game laws by shooting quail out of season. Sheriff McConnell went after him and brought him to the temple of justice.

Very few arrests have been made for violating the game laws this season, especially in this district, but it was shown plainly that no such actions would be overlooked and that the law must be held to stringently in West Texas, anyway.

The offense is simply a finable one under the statutes, but each succeeding legislature is making the offense heavier, and it is safe to say that the game in Texas will be protected well during the close season.

The new game laws are as follows: You may kill twenty-five quail a day in November, December and January. Doves, the same as quail.

Plover, robins, ducks and geese you may kill the year around, but not more than twenty-five of either species per day.

Squirrels, ten per day, and you may sell five per week.

Deer may be killed in November and December, but three bucks only.

Turkeys, you are allowed three during the months of December, January and February.

Snipe, or jacksnipe, and curlews, twenty-five per day.

Fish, you may catch any amount, but you are only allowed to sell 50 pounds a week; only then by paying a license of $1 per year. You can seine in Brown county, and to mid-stream in the Colorado river from the Brown county side only.

It is unlawful to sell any redfish over twelve pounds in weight, or under one pound, or any trout less than three-fourths of a pound, or sheephead, mackerel or pompano of less than one-half pound in weight.

If hunting beyond the limits of your home county, or beyond the limits of your adjoining counties, you must pay $1.75 license, unless you are hunting on your own land.

You must show up your license when called upon to do so by a sheriff, deputy sheriff, constable, game warden or the man on whose land you are hunting. The county clerk will issue the license.

Parties who have not lived in Texas six months must pay $15 for a hunting license, in order to legally hunt any birds or animals protected by law.

It is a violation of law to hunt within one-half mile of any church, school house or private residence on Sunday.

The English or European house sparrow, hawks, crows, buzzards, black birds, rice birds and owls are the only birds not protected by law.

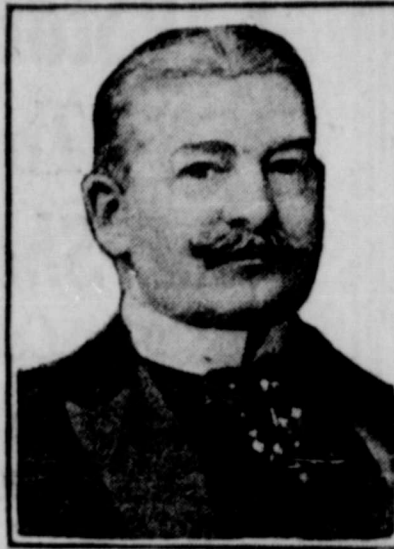

SUCCEMBED.

Sheriff McConnell Buys Benzine Buggy—It's a Cadillac.

"I've done succumbed."

That's the way Sheriff McConnell announces that he will soon join the ranks of joy riders in his own benzine buggy. Sheriff McConnell, after wrestling with the fever for weeks and weeks and for months and months, at last gave up the struggle and has bought himself an automobile.

"It's a Cadillac," says the big sheriff, and then he proceeded to talk in a language that none save a student of automobile catalogues could possibly understand.

HENRY CLAY PIERCE.

The oil millionaire who was recently married in London is head of the Waters Pierce Oil company of St. Louis, the relations of which with the Standard Oil company have been the subject of frequent legal investigation in the west. Mr. Pierce and his bride will, it is said, make their home in New York.

MORGAN JONES COMES TO SAN ANGELO TODAY

DOUBTLESS HAS PROPOSITION READY TO PRESENT.

Meeting Held Friday at Which Plans for Receiving Railroad Builder Were Mapped Out.

Morgan Jones will be here Saturday, probably with the railroad proposition that has been expected for so long. A meeting of the railroad committee was held at the First National bank Friday morning at which many matters of general importance were discussed.

It will be remembered that this Mr. Jones is the big man in the Abilene and Southern railroad that is so rapidly nearing completion. He has fulfilled every promise made to the contracting cities, and San Angelo has confidence in his ability as well as reliability to hold any line that he may contract for.

Mr. Jones recently visited San Angelo, but put no proposition to the Business club. It was what might be termed a preliminary survey.

As to whether a mass meeting will be called to consider the probable proposition of Mr. Jones has not been decided as yet. It may be that the railroad committee will handle the matter alone.

San Angelo wants railroads. She needs them in her fight for material progress. But it will be well for Mr. Jones to remember that this city has been subjected to drains such as no city in West Texas, or practically the whole state, and let his demands be strictly within the bounds of possibility.

However, whatever he has to offer, San Angelo will meet him with an open hand of welcome and listen to his overtures with every consideration.

DR. COOK, EXPLORER ONCE RESIDED HERE

R. F. Exstein Remembers Him Well. Lived in San Angelo Several Years Ago, He States.

Dr. Frederick A. Cook, the man who discovered the north pole April 21, 1908, is claimed by Tioga, Grayson county, Texas, as one of its past citizens, but San Angelo has also a word to say in regard to his living in Texas.

"The name is very familiar to me," R. F. Exstein said Friday, and I am positive he was in San Angelo several years ago.

"There is no doubt about his being a Texan, for Texas generally furnishes such great men—Martin W. Littleton and J. W. Bailey, for instance."

Dr. Cook is to be given a great reception in New York when he returns.

AN OFFICIAL DROPS HINT OF SANTA FE PLAN

FISHERMEN FIND A MAN WHO HAD MADE BIG CATCH

Once upon a time Jerome K. Jerome wrote most entertainingly of three men in a boat, to say nothing of the dog, but that hasn't got a thing to do with this story. This time it was three men and another fellow and all each voted the occasion a big success. The three men were W. H. Hoel, contractor from Fort Worth; Jerry Rust, who got a patent right on his sweet disposition, and W. H. Hart, who handles the pestle with great agility. Never mind the other fellow. He does not count in this story, and on purpose, too.

But the three men looked at the sky Friday and concluded that with the wind blowing south-southeast by south that perch and bass ought to be biting fine. So they rigged up a rig and to Lake Concho, whence comes the water supply of San Angelo, the quartette went henceward.

After boating and fishing for 95 minutes without a one getting as much as a nibble, though Hart gave some exhibitions of fly casting, the outfit started homeward. As the landing was neared a fisherman with better luck was seen. He had caught a perch weighing not less than thirty pounds, troy scale.

"Whatcher caught?" asked Hoel with a brogue as rich as peaches and cream. And the perch was held up to view.

"I'll give you four-bits a pound for it," said Hoel, and the trade was struck—Hoel had to give up one of the seven Lincoln pennies he had in his pocket to get the fish. Then he wrote this note and sent it with the fish to Jim Landon, boniface:

"Please prepare this fish for four. Put on plenty of garnishing and personally superintend the cooking. H. W. Hoel, room 23."

When the two-horse furniture van drew up in front of the Landon with the barrel of one fish there was a great commotion.

"Maybe it's the normal coming anyhow," suggested one hopeful.

"Naw, it's tin plates for the dining room," suggested another.

Landon was summoned and when he read the note and viewed the barrel a smile stole over his sunny face. He figured he had enough fish to feed seven thousand people.

He started to gouge into the ice. "This is a joke," he said. "Someone has remembered this ought to be my birthday and has sent me some frozen bubbles."

At four-bits an hour Landon wasted nearly a dollar's worth of time before he finally got the fish. Then he didn't know what to do. So he sent it back into the kitchen and ordered it cooked for Hoel.

"Why don't you brush the crumbs from the table?" said Hoel to a waiter as he flipped a brown speck from the cloth. And his fish in this manner came to an inglorious end.

But Landon won't wade into any more barrels that are brought to his hotel. That's a cinch.

Last Day.

Byrens and Coles will close their big auction sale on hand-painted imported china Saturday, after an excellent run. Fine goods along this line have gone at ridiculously low prices. Chinaware of every description will fall Saturday for the last time beneath the auctioneer's hammer and go for just what the public will offer. The gentlemen conducting this sale have given San Angelo's citizens a square deal and they will leave with high recommendations.

KNOWS IT TO BE FACT ROAD HAS THREE ROUTES, ONE OF WHICH WILL BE A GO.

SEES DRAWINGS

ONE RUNS FROM SAN ANGELO TO BRADY AND ON TO SAN ANTONIO.

COAST OUTLET ALSO

Three proposed routes for the new extension of the Santa Fe—that is what the Santa Fe has in view according to the information contributed by a Santa Fe official who is in a position to know a few things that are passing in the minds of the powers that be.

"Look here," said he, spreading out a map. "Now here," tracing with a small pencil, "is that parallel line that is being talked of to get the trade from the Brady territory, that is from Lometa to San Angelo via Brady and San Saba. Of course it is not a settled fact, but I can make a pretty good surmise that if the road is built (mind you, I say if) a straight shoot will be made from San Saba to Lampasas, thereby eliminating Lometa.

Now let your eyes rest on this: From Sterling City to San Angelo to Miles to Brady, thence to San Antonio. Of course you will say that will be running a parallel road to that of R. A. Love's Paint Rock and Miles line. Just a suggestion as to that. Some people in San Angelo believed that the Santa Fe would run a parallel line to Lamin's Sterling City road. Do you catch? I know that at the present Mr. Love's road is an independent line, but who can say how long it will be that way? Will the Santa Fe allow another road to be built through the country between San Angelo and San Antonio?

There is still another proposition that has its merits as well. Say that the Santa Fe would follow out the course of the last mentioned road as far as Brady; then it would not be such a gigantic undertaking for it to build onward east to Somerville and connect with the Beaumont branch of the Santa Fe, thus giving a coast outlet to New Orleans. What do you know about that?

"Just surmises, you say. All right, but it stands to fact that I have looked at blue prints in the offices of several men high in power that lay out three just such courses as I have mentioned. Has all the trouble of getting these up been just for the sake of a little pastime? The Santa Fe officials have no time to be fooling with playthings. Now I know for a fact that one of these three roads is to be built, which I can not definitely say, but I believe that the time is coming when the outlet at New Orleans will be something more than a dream. What great advantage would the Santa Fe derive from the parallel road from Lometa or Lampasas to San Angelo? I can't see to save my soul. Of course it would share with the Frisco the trade of the Brady territory, but would the game be worth the candle?"

"Now, for reasons of my own I don't want my name mentioned in connection with this affair, but for a sure thing one or more of these lines is going to be built, and I don't believe it will be the parallel road. Furthermore, I have reasons to back my belief, so don't get the idea that it is a pipe dream."

PIE IS MIGHTY GOOD.

If we can't get cake let's take pie. Pie is mighty good, and is a good "filling" besides.

The Press-News has information that in a short time one of the biggest commercial business colleges in the south will make a proposition to establish a big school here if the encouragement of the proper kind is given.

Why not go into the market and get this school.

We'll not fight about the bush. The scheme is to get a man who has an established reputation to open a college here. Jesse P. Sewell, one of the finest and squarest men in the world, has been conducting negotiations for some time with this end in view.

A business college that results in 200 students attending means a lot to this city. Three hundred students spending even $30 a month means nearly a thousand dollars a month. That's $12,000 a year.

It's worth going after. We must go after it. And the information The Press-News has is that this school will come here for about $10,000 worth of encouragement.

Doesn't this proposition appeal to you?

So after all losing the normal may mean much more than the normal itself would have meant to us.

We have simply got to get in the market, outbid the other fellow and get the things we want. We can do it. We will do it.

A lot of good things are in store for San Angelo. We can't tell about them all at this time. But just take our word for it. You won't miss the truth very far when you track our statements.

Do you suppose it was accident that caused George S. Berry, for instance, to invest several...

There are three men now in San Angelo who are willing to make affidavit to the effect there are today no fish above the waterworks dam. Not in the Concho river, anyway.

Dr. Cook, the discoverer of the north pole, will be a rival of Col. Bryan and Congressman Hobson on the Chautauqua circuit. Thus does every rose have its thorn, and sometimes two thorns.

A man from Illinois made a visit to San Angelo and seemed very much surprised to learn that this is a great wheat country, or, at least, the indications are that it will be a wheat country if the farmers only turn their attention to that crop.

Attention, good people of San Angelo! We shall all pull together in the future, as we have done in the past. We will have 50,000 people before many of us get gray hairs, or bust. Ready! Then hit the line hard. Put your same down for the trades excursion.

The Dallas Times-Herald says that Texas Ben Cabell should teach his Virginia cousin who has recently been appointed commissioner of internal revenue by President Taft a few lessons from the book of democracy. Ben Cabell tried to teach a few populist members of the last legislature a few democratic lessons, and take our word for it, as a preacher he is unrivaled anywhere, but as a teacher of democracy he does not score closer than the outer edge of the target.

Herr Hugh Nugent Fitzgerald of the Dallas Times-Herald suggests if Gov. Campbell don't go to meet President Taft and President Diaz be ought to send Gov. Davidson to represent him. Second the motion. In such an event Texas would at least have a representative to whom we could all point with pride. This display of pique on the part of Gov. Campbell just about fits his general average.

The same men who didn't land the normal will land something else just as good before they get through. San Angelo doesn't know the meaning of the word fail, and she's got money to go into the open market and secure any enterprise that strikes her fancy. On with the trades excursion!

MORE RAILROADS.

San Angelo has got to have two more railroads. We need one to the westward. We need one to the southwest.

We have got to get the Santa Fe from San Saba.

It will certainly take work to get these lines. It may take both work and money.

If it does, well we have them both. That's fair enough, isn't it?

No matter what the cost, the investment will pay us. We can't afford to take chances. Twenty years ago Waco sat still when the Santa Fe was building. And in a measure Waco has been sitting still from that day to this.

If it costs money to hurry the good days ahead of us, we have simply got to put up the money; that's all.

And let's smile while we are doing it.

The next legislature ought to be a sane one. If it is—well, can't you hear the locomotives puffing from every direction, right here in San Angelo?

We've got a fine city here now, the best for its size to be found anywhere. But we are not contented at all. We want a bigger, a better and a more substantial place still. We will never be satisfied. Our best year is always our next year.

Catch the step. Get in the game. If you can't give, at least work. If you can't work, at least pray. San Angelo has simply got to keep going ahead. And she will. She has the people here to keep her on the firing line of advancement and prosperity and get-thereism all the time.

Great is San Angelo. But she is no greater than her people.

Places that are striving hard to make advances, with but poor success, are invited to study our methods. We never have to resort to copy-fighting them. Any place that will mix education, people and destiny in the same proportions that we have mixed them will be a great city. It is so written by fate. It can be read in the stars, and by men on earth, too.

So all together. We haven't started yet. Watch us grow.

As a place for real noises to come from, dear old Beverly, Mass., isn't one, two, three with Oyster Bay.

It has been almost a week since Fort Worth has cleaned up her acre. What's the matter? Have brass band reformations gone to weed in that city?

A man named Bray has been sent by the electric supply trust to be the representative in Texas. Betcher this is the most silent Bray ever heard in these parts.

Well, if Harriman just simply declines to pass in his checks, we would advise the newspapers to throw the story of his life now in type back in the metal pot. Harriman wins out, you know.

Get in line. Catch the step. Become a city builder. One way to help is to be one of the Trades Excursion that on September 20 will start on a mission for the welfare of the west in general and San Angelo in particular.

An appeal for old clothing has been made through The Press-News by the Salvation Army. This is request that the people of San Angelo should respond to. The Salvation Army is a great organization, and it accomplishes wonders in more ways than one. Were it not for this great band of workers many a poor soul would go hungry.

The El Paso Herald has moved into its own $200,000 home and celebrated the occasion with a large edition, gotten up in a very attractive style and cram full of good reading. It is well illustrated, and, in fact, is not lacking in anything. The Herald now claims to have the finest equipment south of Colorado, between San Antonio and Los Angeles. The offices and plant of the paper occupy 20,000 square feet on one floor and there are 100 employes on the city pay roll.

Remember the dates, October 5-9, and tell your friends to come to the San Angelo fair.

As far as is known, there is not an able-bodied man in San Angelo out of work. And along with this statement may be mentioned that the city is still unable to secure enough brick to permit building operations to go on. This certainly tells a story of activity. There is no use in denying. San Angelo is the busiest city in the state.

Picturing South Texas in all of its beauties and progressiveness, the Galveston News has issued its annual industrial edition. In this splendid edition the News has given South Texas credit for everything it deserves, but it has not overdrawn conditions. The stories are backed up with pictures, which, by the way, are pictures that show up unusually well. Among other things the News contains a synopsis of the business of the port of Galveston for the trade year just closed. The progress made in developing the natural resources of South Texas is proving astonishingly rapid. The port and city of Galveston have made a record along commercial lines equaled by but few ports in the United States department of agriculture, through its crop-reporting board, estimated the 1908-1909 growth of cotton in Texas as 5,724,000 bales. The percentage of Texas cotton, comparing receipts with total Texas growth, received at Galveston was 39 per cent. The percentage of Texas and Oklahoma cotton received at Galveston was 83. The total receipts at Galveston were 3,657,156 bales. As a port of export Galveston continues to grow in importance to cotton growers from year to year. Five years ago Galveston was contesting for first place in number of bales received. This year Galveston leads the list by more than 1,500,000 bales, and is now known as the greatest cotton receiving and exporting port in the world.

BOOMING. Large Number of New Buildings Being Erected—Hotel Wanted.

Paint Rock, Tex., Sept. 3.—The contract was let yesterday for a splendid stone building on the property owned by A. J. Hall, W. T. Liston being the successful bidder; size of building, 25 by 90 feet, fronting on Moss street. Work is to begin at once and the building is to be completed within ninety days.

The contract will be let next week for a stone building on the corner of Moss and Trineheart streets, just one block west of the public square; size of the building 30 by 90 feet. The Woodmen are contemplating having their hall built over this building.

The graders are busy on Moss street and it is expected that this good work will be carried forward until all the prominent streets are graded.

Jackson and McCully are joining in with Ballard, Norman and Montgomery in the erection of stone buildings on the west side of the square, which will make a frontage of 100 feet.

The McCollum Lumber company and Hardeman & Bateman have each erected substantial office buildings.

J. E. Powell of Ballinger is busy laying out the Swofford addition. A. J. Hall et al. sold to the school trustees a block of land near the present school buildings, making about six acres of land sold for school purposes.

W. H. Fincher of Commerce has rented the Ballard corner building and will put in an up to date stock of drugs as soon as the building is ready for occupancy.

A good hotel man can get a block of land and considerable bonus to erect a hotel at this place.

A state bank will be organized in the near future.

Mrs. J. B. Murrab and Miss Pauline Murrab have returned from an extended visit to New York, Michigan, Missouri and many other points in the northeast.

swung swift and true. His skull was crushed as if it were an eggshell.

Lady Agnes struggled to her feet, wild eyed, half crazed by the double assault. The next instant she fell forward upon her face, dead to all that was to follow in the next few minutes.

There was no struggle. Chase and Selim were upon the stupefied islanders before they could move, covering them with their rifles. The wretches fell upon their knees and howled for mercy. While Deppingham was holding his wife's limp form in his arms, calling out to her in the agony of fear, utterly oblivious to all else that was happening about him, his two friends were swiftly disarming the groveling natives. Selim's knife severed the cords that bound Bobby Browne's hands. He was staring blankly, dizzily before him.

Ten minutes later Chase was addressing himself to the four islanders who, bound and gagged, were tied by their own sashes to trees some distance from the roadside.

"I've just thought of a little service you fellows can perform for me in return for what I've done for you. All the time you're doing it, however, there will be pistols quite close to your backs. Lady Deppingham is much too weak to take the five mile walk we've got to do in the next two hours—or less. You are to have the honor of carrying her four miles and a half, and you will have to get along the best you can with the gags in your mouths. Two of you form a basket with your hands. I'll show you how."

With Selim in the lead the little procession moved swiftly, but cautiously, through the black jungle, bent on reaching the gate if possible before the night lifted. Chase and Bobby Browne brought up the rear with the two reserve carriers in hand. Browne, weak and suffering from torture and exposure, struggled bravely along, determined not to retard their progress by a single moment of indecision.

In his heart Browne was now raging against the fate that had placed him in this humiliating, almost contemptible, position. He, and he alone, was responsible for the sufferings that Lady Agnes had endured. It was as gall and wormwood to him that other men had been ordained to save her from the misery that he had created. He could almost have welcomed death for himself and her rather than to have been saved by George Deppingham.

His wife! He could never be the same to her. He had forfeited the trust and confidence of the one loyal believer among them all. And now Lady Deppingham loathed him because his weakness had been greater than hers!

When he would have slain the four helpless islanders with his own hands Hollingsworth Chase had stayed his rage with the single, caustic adjuration:

"Keep out of this, Browne! You've been enough of a bounder without trying that sort of thing."

Tears were in Bobby Browne's eyes as mile after mile he blundered along, his heart bleeding itself dry through the wound those words had made.

It was still pitch dark when they came to the ridge above the gate. Through the trees the lights in the team could be seen. Lady Agnes, her eyes and cried out in the joy.

"You've labored well and long," Chase said to the party, "and I'm going to reward you by going to set you free. Don't rejoice. First get yourselves securely to four sides of the gate, and the walls I'll find my way through. Friends know that."

He and Selim were bewildered by the sight of Bobby Browne, thrown high in the air by Deppingham, but reeling back to his feet, his friends were love if you can answer for yours. Are you the same Agnes that you were—my Agnes?"

"Will you believe me?"

"Yes."

"I am the same Agnes. I am your Agnes. I am! You do believe me?" He crushed her close to his breast and then patted her shoulder as a father might have touched an erring child.

At last she spoke: "It is not wholly his fault, George. I was to blame. I led him on. You understand?"

"Poor devil!" said he dryly. "It's a way you have, dear."

The object of this gentle commiseration was staring with gloomy eyes at the lights below. He was saying to himself, over and over again, "If I can only make Druse understand!"

Chase and Selim came down upon this little low toned picture. The former paused an instant and smiled joyously in the darkness.

"Five men are near the gate," he whispered. "They watch so closely that no one may go to rescue those who have disappeared. Friends are hidden inside the wall, ready to open the gate at a signal. They have waited with Neenah all night. And day is near, sahib."

"We must attack at once," said Chase. "Quiet now."

Five shadowy figures soon were distinguished huddled close to the wall below the gate. The sense of sight had become keen during those trying hours in the darkness.

The islanders were conversing in low tones, a word or two now and then reaching the ears of the others.

Suddenly a blinding, mysterious light flashed upon the muttering group. As they fell back a voice, low and firm, called out to them:

"Not a sound or you die!"

Four unswerving rifles were bearing upon the surprised islanders, and four very material men were advancing

ROOSEVELT ONCE REMEMBERED; IS NOW FORGOTTEN

Benton Harbor, Mich., Sept. 3.—A novel instrument was admitted to probate when the last testament of the late Charles W. Hall, an eccentric recluse of this city was filed. The will provides gifts for friends and relatives and the city and churches, aggregating a half million dollars.

Ten weeks ago when Hall died, it was supposed he left an estate valued at about $40,000.

Ex-President Roosevelt was made a beneficiary in the original will, getting 1000 acres of timber land in Scott county Tennessee. This will was dated October 5, 1908.

On December 23, 1908, a codicil was added to the original will and Mr. Roosevelt was cut off, the 1000 acres going to a brother, Thornton Hall. The latter, by the terms of the will is made chief beneficiary and gets valuable Chicago land and considerable city property.

tember is the time set for the opening of a great many private schools, and two weeks is long enough to make the final arrangements.

Are Soon to Open.

By the first of October military academies, business colleges, technical schools of all sorts, and in fact every kind of educational institution will be under way.

The attendance at the private schools, where the expense is an item to be considered by the parents, has been affected the world over to some slight degree the last two years by the situation in the financial world. Families that never felt the necessity of retrenchment before found that the income had been reduced to such an extent that the boy or girl whose course of study at some private school had been arranged for by the parent before the boy was wearing long trousers or the girl was in long dresses had to be sent to the public school for a year or two until the family stringency was over.

There is no such trouble this year, for the business world has settled down to a long period of prosperity and family bank accounts are assuming normal proportions. If the boy or girl was sent to the public school last year not from choice but because the private school was beyond the family means, there is time now to make the change.

No Sacrifice Too Great.

At this stage of the world's development no one is prepared to argue that any sacrifice on the part of the parent to educate the boy or girl is too much to make. The ranks of labor are so crowded that success today is a matter of development of brain and not of muscle. It means almost certain defeat, or at least only a mediocre living for the boy or girl to go out into the world unequipped. They must have intellectual, physical and moral discipline such as comes from a thorough course at one of the many schools that are at the forefront of the nation's advance in every line.

The children of today in order to succeed must bring to their chosen work some special knowledge that will enable them to meet the demands for them, and the parent who ignores the

or through necessity, should have the ground work thoroughly laid.

The Private School.

The private schools of today have stood the test of time and the fact that they are increasing in number is secure. They prove that while the public school systems are as nearly as can be, the private schools are needed because they supply an indefinable something that the world demands.

The success of the private school the opportunities for acquiring knowledge are all present, but the student will not have a great amount of individual aid in grasping them. Whether the student makes the best of them rests largely with the student, for with the classes as large as they are today and the teachers generally overworked anyhow, and not too well paid, the instructor can not be relied on for much assistance in individual cases.

The private school presents just the opposite side of education. Its principal or proprietor occupies the same position toward the pupil as the lawyer does to his client and the physician to his patient. The student puts himself absolutely in the hands of the principal and asks that his education be made a personal matter.

The principal does not find it difficult to satisfy both the student and the parents who send the boy or girl to him. He is responsible to no board of directors who are likely to interfere with his conduct of the school through politics or otherwise. The proprietor of the private school charges a fee for educating the boy or girl, and the best evidence as to whether the investment is worth while is to be found in the student himself. The fact that these private schools have been thriving for so many years shows that there are many living proofs of their necessity.

In the private school, be it an institution for girls, one of the so-called "finishing schools," a military academy, a technical school, or a business college, each individual pupil represents a distinct problem which the school is bound to treat as such. It is in no sense a matter of the tuition the student pays, for the principal and teachers in successful private schools soon become so thoroughly interested in their pupils that they lose thought of monetary considerations. Each pupil stands out indelibly and his needs must be considered.

The individual pupil is the center of the public school the principal is the class.

Girls Receive Mail-Parents Are Not Wise

Cincinnati, Sept. 3.—Postmaster Monfort today issued an order to the clerks of the general delivery windows of the Cincinnati post office to hold all mail addressed under fictitious names to young girls and to boys. "This order is one of the fruits of the meeting of the national association of First Class Postmasters in Toledo last week," said Postmaster Monfort. "Many girls here in Cincinnati and, I am told, elsewhere make it an almost daily practice to get mail at the general delivery window without the knowledge of their parents. We have stopped the practice of some of the girls by notifying their parents. Where the clerks know that the girls are getting letters under fictitious names they will hold up the mail and stamp it 'fictitious' and forward it to the dead letter office in Washington. The experienced general delivery clerks have a pretty good memory of faces and names. If we are not able to break up this practice this way we shall adopt another and see if we can't reduce general mail delivery to a minimum. It may reduce the revenue of the Post Office Department, but the gain in morals will more than offset the loss."

APPEAL FROM DRASTIC LAW

QUARANTINE RULES MUST BE AMENDED.

SOME STOCK ARE DYING

Unless Meeting Called for September
10 Affords Relief, Loss Will Be Enormous, It Is Said.

Fort Worth, Tex., Sept. 3.—After
adopting a resolution calling on the state sanitary board to lend its co-operation in having the federal quarantine regulations of the shipment of cattle from the provisional quarantine
district modified, and setting September 10 as a date for a formal conference with the board, the meeting of
cattlemen from the Midland country,
who convened at the headquarters of
the Cattle Raisers' association, adjourned shortly before noon.

More than half a hundred earnest and determined cattlemen were in attendance and they were of the opinion that if some relief is not afforded from
the strict regulations laid down by the bureau of animal industry that the cowmen had about as well go out of business. The situation, as explained
by the cowmen, is that the regulation
forbids the moving of cattle from ranges on which they are dying from tick because they can not, under the law, be moved to other quarters, either intrastate or interstate, beyond
the quarantine lines. This is said to be the case not only with tick-infected
cattle that have been clean for six months, but that it also includes
cattle that have been actually dipped
and free from tick-infested pastures
for six months.

Under the drouthy conditions which prevailed this year and the absence

of both grass and stock water, it
is estimated that hundreds of thousands of dollars have been lost to the cattlemen through the death of their cattle. The men present at the meeting deemed the situation as one of the most critical that ever confronted them.

It had been hoped that some action
might be taken by the state sanitary board at this time, but A. S. Gage, one of the members from San Antonio, was unable to attend, and instead of taking up the matter at this time, Chairman R. H. Harris called a meeting of the board for Friday, September 10, at which a thorough investigation of the matter will be made. Tom McClure of Stamford, the third member of the board was also present.

At the meeting September 10 Col.
Ike T. Pryor, ex-president of the Cattle
Raisers' association, and who has probably done for the cattlemen of the southwest than any other single man,
will be present by special invitation,
and the quarantine committee of the Cattle Raisers' association of Texas
will also be present by request.

To represent the cattlemen on that occasion a committee of seven was appointed as follows: Dr. P. C. Coleman of Colorado, Hon. A. S. Hawkins,
Midland; W. A. Fuller, Snyder; J. G.
Witherspoon, Crowell; W. N. Waddell,
Odessa; M. M. Hawkins, Quanah; I.
S. McDowell, Big Springs. They will
present to the board at length the circumstances surrounding their contention and ask that some effort be made
by the board to have the present restrictions upon the moving of cattle
either modified or removed.

After some discussion the following
resolution was adopted:

Resolved by the delegates of the cattle interests of Ector, Midland, Upton,
Ward, Glasscock, Martin, Howard,
Borden, Garza, Kent, Stonewall, Scurry,
Mitchell, Foard, Knox, King and Hardeman counties, that the chairman
of this meeting appoint a committee
of five, one of whom shall be the chairman of this meeting, who shall in connection with the subcommittee
committee of the Texas Cattle Raisers'
association, appear before the Texas sanitary commission and endeavor to obtain the co-operation of
said sanitary commission to the end
that the quarantine line as heretofore

prescribed shall be maintained, and
the provisions of the rules and regulations of the bureau of animal industry requiring dipping of cattle where there is no infection and six months'
exemption from infection be modified
so that cattle after inspection and being found free from ticks or other contagion shall be permitted to be moved interstate without dipping.

Dr. P. C. Coleman presided over the meeting and W. N. Waddell of Odessa officially as secretary.

Dr. Allen, the federal inspector for this district, including Texas and Oklahoma, will be invited to participate
in the conference with the state sanitary board that will meet here September 10, and it is thought by the cattlemen that when he realizes the
condition that confronts them he will make an effort to afford relief.

The men present went on record as
having done all in their power to eradicate the tick, and in order to make their position clear in the matter they
adopted the following resolution:

Resolved, That we, the cattlemen
engaged in the cattle business in what is known as the provisional quarantine district of Texas, to wit, Ector,
Midland, Ward, Crane, Upton, Glass-
cock, Reagan, Martin, Howard, Bor-
den, Garza, Kent, Scurry, Mitchell,
Knox, King, Foard and Hardeman, do
hereby affirm in the most positive manner that we are willing, and not only willing, but anxious, to do all we can to eradicate the cattle fever tick
from our pastures. That we have built many vats and will build more if necessary for the purpose of dipping
our cattle, and will employ men to work under the supervision of the inspectors, both of the state and the United States quarantine departments,
to the end that our pastures may be
freed from ticks.

Representatives were present at the meeting from all of the counties concerned.

for he doesn't want his name published.

E. C. Perry of the Concho Land company is also going, and what is more
he will take his car with him.

That makes a total of nineteen who
have signed up, with twelve still waiting to see if arrangements can be made to make the trip.

The outlook is that over thirty will
go. That isn't so bad, but not less than fifty ought to comprise the party.

Telephone to Secretary Burrows
that you are willing to be a city build-

LABADIE WANTS OIL ON TRACK

CLAIMS GOING WILL NOT BE GOOD
IN PRESENT SHAPE.

LEAVES FOR GALVESTON

While There Will Make Arrangements
to Enter Some Fast Cars—Fine
Meet the Outlook.

"In order to have real swift auto races on the San Angelo track a binder of oil must of necessity be applied."

This statement was dragged from the reluctant lips of E. H. Labadie Friday afternoon. Mr. Labadie, on his way to look over the local track,
struck up with a Press-News reporter
and took him along. It was noticed that Mr. Labadie did not seem at all pleased with the track as it is at present, and finally, after much im-portunity, the following was gleaned
from him:

"San Angelo has a good race track.
Of that there is no doubt. Every natural qualification for a good track is
here and the association has worked
it down to the limit. But when it was first conceived it was intended to be
for horse races."

"Now a new element has arrived in the realm of racing. Auto races are taking the cake for interest and excitement."

"The association this year realized
that it would be necessary to make
stringent provisions for auto racing,
so it had the track banked. The work was well done and satisfactorily. But there is one point that was forgotten."

"After a fast ten-mile auto race that
track won't be fit to race either horses
or autos. I don't say that as a knock-
for I am deeply interested in the success of this year's fair. I am only speaking from an experience in such matters. The horse races will soon
wear a groove in the track as it
is and it will be hazardous for autosts to get up a great rate of speed,
for they would run an excellent chance
of turning over. I know that if oil is used in sprinkling the track all of the automobile troubles will be done away
with. However, as I am not a horseman I could not say what effect it would have on races of that character."

"I am waiting on the fair association
to see what action will be taken in this matter. Several letters from speed artists throughout the state are
now lying on my desk unanswered because of this. It will be necessary for the racers to get the sanction of the American automobile association.
If they don't they will be barred from entering any of the big meets throughout the country. The racers are governed precisely like organized baseball leagues. They have to conform to certain iron-bound regulations or
they become outcasts."

"I am going to Galveston tomorrow
to look into some business matters as
well as to make further arrangements
with some speed artists to come to the San Angelo fair. If arrangements as regards the track can be made, then
we are due to have one of the finest
race meets in the history of Texas au-
tomobiling."

"The track must be bound by an application of oil and there is nothing
else to it, if we want any real speedy,
record-breaking work."

ANOTHER.

Sam Sparks, Pacer, Here in Training
for Fall Fair.

Another fine harness horse is to be on the track at the fall fair when
the bell taps, to participate in the races. Sam Sparks, a fine pacer owned by J. H. Kelley of Ballinger, is here
under training. "Sam" is a young
horse, but a good one," so speaks Mr.
Kelley of his horse, and he expects to
see him win out.

Horses are coming in nearly every day, and they are no scrubs, either.
They are among the best in Texas
when it comes to racing. Chero
Campbell is a sample of the stuff
that will be in the San Angelo races,
and probably like him. Sam Sparks
will make a record that will never be forgotten, as Chero did last season.

"My horse is young, ambitious and
very active," Mr. Kelly said, "and I have the utmost confidence in him."

R. E. Scott of the firm of Kirby & Scott, accompanied by E. S. Floyd, another T-square artist; Will Ede and Lester E. Ogg left Thursday in a big auto for Eden, Paint Rock and Menardville. Messrs. Scott and Field are on the trip with business strictly in view.

With Paint Rock and her neighbors on such a big boom, there are flowery beds for the architects to look into, and the before-mentioned gentlemen don't intend to get left when it comes to getting a finger in the pie.

CANYON CITY HOLDS BIG JOLLIFICATION

EXCURSION TRAIN BRINGS IN MANY VISITORS.

Normal Locating Board Issues Statement Setting Forth Position.

Campbell Kept Out.

Canyon City, selected as the site for the West Texas normal, held a big jollification Friday night. An excursion train was run and several hundred visitors were present.

The foolowing statement has been issued by the locating board:

Committee Makes Statement.

"The committee to locate the West Texas normal college began its labors in Fort Worth on August 9, where it continued in session during four days, listening to the representatives of contesting towns explain the advantages claimed by the respective places. The committee then arranged for itself a trip of more than two weeks, including nineteen bidding points. After carefully studying the topography of the cities themselves and the surrounding territory, and the sites offered by the respective towns, the committee returned to Austin and for three days carefully considered all the facts in each case.

"The committee thinks it has not failed to take into account every important point that could be raised in favor of any one of the splendid Texas towns that bid for the location of this school. To reach the decision has been an exceedingly difficult task. Without attempting to give a summary of the argument which sustains the conclusion, the committee desires to say it has kept faith with the public and its own good conscience and has deliberately reached the conclusion that under all the circumstances the location of the normal at Canyon City is in the interest of the development of the state as a whole.

"This decision is final unless the committee to locate the normal school fails to agree with the local committee in Canyon City on the details of the bid, or unless Canyon City should fail to make good its bid.

"It will be remembered that Canyon City is favorably located in a great section of the state and that its bid consists of property and labor to be donated for the erection of a plant to the state of $100,000 and a choice of seven sites of forty acres each. The committee will return to Canyon City within the next few days and select a site and enter into contract with good and sufficient surety, and then make its final report to the state board of education, whose duty it will then be to have the building erected and ready for work not later than October 1, 1910.

"The committee was surprised and delighted at the wonderful development of the great west; at the push, enterprise and intelligence of the citizens who bid its destiny in their hands. We feel sure that the good of the state demands that the next legislature shall establish two additional schools of higher order, amply equipped and well sustained, to take care of the educational and industrial development of the state west of the ninety-eighth meridian.

Educational Board's Position.

"We are pleased to be able to announce that the state board of education is also of the opinion that the next legislature should establish one more school, possibly two, in the territory indicated. We wish to say that certain newspaper reports that have gone out from Austin concerning the attitude of the members of the committee toward various towns were made in utter ignorance of and at variance with the facts in the case. We further desire to say that any statement indicating that Gov. Campbell has interfered in any manner whatever with the deliberations of the committee is untrue and unjust.

"The state board of education was invited into consultation with the locating board touching a question of the correct interpretation of the law under which the West Texas normal was created. Gov. Campbell stated in the joint sessions of the committees and to different members of the board personally that he had perfect confidence in the judgment and integrity of the locating board and that its decision, whatever it might be, would be sustained by him. He stated further that he approved the careful manner in which the locating board had gone about its duties and that he was satisfied the state would be well served, whatever the committee's decision might be. He insisted that he had no preference among the towns and desired to offer no advice to any member of the committee."

Replying to C. B. Metcalfe's telegram of congratulation in which he said "Come and go fishing." Lieutenant Governor Davidson replied as follows:

Charles B. Metcalfe, San Angelo, Texas: Congratulations received. In language of a cowboy we did our blankety blank. Will go fishing later.

HONORED.

Tax Assessors of State Voted Complimentary Membership.

Fort Worth, Tex., Sept. 3.—The tax assessors of the state were given a complimentary membership in the Texas Prosperity club by Capt. B. B. Paddock, president of the club, today as a reward for their kindness in furnishing the Texas Commercial Secretaries' association with statistics regarding their counties. The association has frequently called upon the assessors for information, which has always been furnished promptly, and the secretaries feel that the assessors by their cooperation merit recognition as empire builders. The membership certificate carries with it seven pieces of literature containing valuable information on Texas, and the tax assessors will receive copies of all future literature issued by the association.

Of Course.

"You can hardly realize without looking over Central and Northern Texas how well off San Angelo and West Texas in general are this year."

That was S. H. Jenkins, formerly of San Angelo, now a full-fledged knight of the grip, had to say when he stepped off the train Friday afternoon.

"I have been over a great portion of the state in the state in the last few weeks," he continued, "and things are simply burned up and crops will come very near being a total failure.

"I declare that it is a positive relief to get this side of Brownwood and gaze on green fields and luxuriant vegetation once more. This country by far will eclipse anything in all the state this year in the matter of crops and general prosperity. You—I'll say we, for I am still heart and soul a San Angeliote—have had good rains and the horn of plenty has certainly been lowered over us. Everything between here and Brownwood is coming along finest ever."

Mrs. S. C. Cartwright left Friday to visit relatives in Deaton.

Mrs. Lipcomb of Temple is visiting friends here.
