

FIFTEEN DAYS LIMIT SET FOR BONUS RAISING

COL. JONES IS ANXIOUS TO BEGIN WORK OF EXTENDING LINE AT EARLIEST POSSIBLE DATE.

PROPOSITION RECEIVES HEARTY ENDORSEMENT

Mass Meeting at Yale Theater Attended by About 250—Petitions Are Now Being Circulated for Signatures.

That the citizens of San Angelo want the Morgan Jones road and appreciate the importance of having this city connected with the great system...

The meeting was not for the purpose of raising money, and no collections were called for. It was a gathering of citizens at the instance of the railroad committee...

Petitions in the form of an acceptance of the proposition in which the citizens of San Angelo promise their assistance in every way possible were passed out...

Farr Opens Meeting. L. I. Farr called the meeting to order and announced the object of the committee in calling it.

Col. Nasworthy said that he was in Knickerbocker when informed that his services were needed here, and although he had business there, he lost no time in coming to town.

Now's the Time. "Now is the time to either make San Angelo or kill it," said J. W. Hill. "The future destiny of San Angelo depends on the action of the citizens with reference to this railroad."

actly what he says he will. After he runs his line into San Angelo he will not stop. It will be a line running through Tom Green county, and I believe it will eventually connect with the main line to California.

"Don't say you can't do it. No man ever accomplished anything without trying."

Col. Baker Talks. Col. Baker was the last speaker. He told of the importance of the issue now before the citizens and urged them to take advantage of the opportunity to make San Angelo one of the greatest cities of the state.

Committee Meeting. After the rally at the Yale Friday afternoon the railroad committee met and transacted the following business: Judge T. C. Wynn, Senator Hill and George J. Bird were appointed as a committee to draw up the right of way and the subscription contracts.

A vote of thanks was tendered Manager Coggin for the use of the Yale theater for the rally. A meeting of the committee was called for 9:30 o'clock Saturday morning in the directors' room of the San Angelo National bank.

CHANGES HANDS THREE TIMES IN AS MANY WEEKS

Changing hands three times in the last three weeks, the G. W. Brown residence on Sixth street in North San Angelo has established a record for swift changes of owners.

"And the peachiest part about it," declared Mr. Coates, "was that every time it sold it was at a decidedly augmented valuation. Everybody connected with the affair made money, and when first bought and all the way through it was not a speculating deal."

This is only one of the many quickly turned deals that go to show how San Angelo property is increasing in value. It is like the city grown in a night—on doesn't know what he will find the next morning.

Pleased. Benno Schmidt is in the city from Louisville, Ky. This is his first visit here for nine years, and he is very much surprised at the growth and improvement of San Angelo.

Benno Schmidt is in the city from Louisville, Ky. This is his first visit here for nine years, and he is very much surprised at the growth and improvement of San Angelo. He is so much enthused that he says that he is going to commence to make his arrangements to move to San Angelo.

FIRST TRAIN OVER ORIENT

SEPT. 15 SET AS POSSIBLE DATE FOR GREAT EVENT.

STEEL SUPPLY SHORT

If It Arrives Monday There Will Be No Hitch in the Work—Less Than Nine Miles to Lay.

The official report from the Orient offices here shows that a total of 5200 feet steel marked the work on the north end of that road Friday. No steel was laid on the south end for the reason that all steel has been exhausted.

The Orient, as a result of the work Friday, is now a little less than nine miles from this city. If the shipment of steel daily expected reaches here by Monday—and it ought to be here by that time—the Orient may be able to operate its first train into San Angelo not later than September 15.

ORIENT ROAD HAS PROVEN A TOWN-BUILDER

"I know of no investment that San Angelo can make that will prove as profitable as accepting the proposition made by Col. Morgan Jones. The business men of this city can not afford to let this opportunity slip by without taking advantage of it."

That's the way J. Willis Johnson, one of the leading citizens, not only of San Angelo, but also of West Texas, talks about the Morgan Jones proposition. Mr. Johnson is not a man to give his indorsement to any proposition unless that proposition has merit clear to the bone.

"No man has ever lost a dollar in making a contribution to a fund of this kind," continued Mr. Johnson, "and I can't see how this general rule can be other than carried out in the observance in this instance. We have just got to raise that bonus. We have got to get this additional railroad."

"I know when the Orient started this way the firm of Taylor & Johnson, Clint, my brother, being in that firm, subscribed $750 to the first bonus asked. I know that Taylor & Johnson sold over $20,000 worth of stuff to the people building the Orient, and they got this money before the road is here. I also know that prior to the time the Orient contracted to come here that labor could be secured for 75 cents to $1 a day, where it now costs from $2 to $3. I know that rents have doubled, that the value of property has doubled, and that as a result of the Orient's coming, even though it is not yet here, that today one can not find an idle man in San Angelo who wants work."

"Now what has brought about this enhancement in property of all kinds? We know it has not been crop conditions, or range conditions, for the reason we have been contending with conditions that, to say the least, have not been conducive to prosperity for two or three years. If these con-

WORKS WAY INTO EARS AND DEPOSITS EGGS INSIDE.

BEGIN WAR RIGHT NOW

Col. John R. Nasworthy Says He Has Seen a Few of These Fellows and Urges Prompt Action.

Col. John R. Nasworthy came in Friday afternoon from his ranch at the head of Dove creek for the purpose of attending the railroad rally. Col. Nasworthy states that he is putting in a dipping vat for his private use and as soon as this vat is completed he will souse between 1200 and 1500 steers beneath the tick killing stuff.

"For a long time I doubted this tick theory, but I have finally had to acknowledge the corn, or rather the tick," said Col. Nasworthy. "Out of all the varieties of ticks there is just one kind that causes fever, and, dad blast it, this one kind can sure work thunder when it gets busy at the proper season for its activity."

"I have also observed that we are getting what I have heard called a grub tick in this country. This is a kind of tick that works its way into the ears of cattle and is the only kind that I know of that lays its eggs in the animal. I first heard of this tick when down in Mexico during my younger days. In one part of that country I noticed that all of the horses and cattle were grubbed, and when I asked why all the ears were cut close I was informed of this wax working tick. I have not seen many of this kind of tick in this section, but I have seen a few, and we had better begin making war on them right now. If we don't, in time they may prove as bad a thing as that other Mexican visitor, the boll weevil, proved in the Brazos bottom section."

ditions have not been brought about by local influences, surely we must give credit where credit is due and admit that the coming of the Orient alone is responsible for the advancement of values.

"I know of one piece of property that four years ago I valued at $4000 and thought at that time I was putting a top figure on it, that only recently sold for $15,000. I know of land in this section that before the Orient got started this way could be bought for from $5 to $50 an acre that today is being eagerly sought at $160 to $150 a lot. I know of business houses that four years ago rented for $35 a month that now can not be rented for less than $75 to $100 a month."

"And then again, I know that we get a rich trade from the south and southwest. I know that if Morgan Jones does not build this line to San Angelo he will build to Eldorado and Sonora, and I know we had just as well attempt to force water to run up hill as to try to induce the people down there to make wagon drives to trade with us. I further know that, by cutting out San Angelo Col. Jones can save between twelve and fourteen miles of railroad building and get all the trade of this rich territory. I know that if Col. Jones does not come here we shall lose dollars in trade where he asks us to pay him dimes in bonus. I know, too, that if we pay him dimes in bonus he will return these dimes to us in the shape of quarters, anyhow."

"The only phase of this question that promises to be the least perplexing lies in the fact that when a man makes an obligation he ought to expect to meet it. Unless there are too many outstanding obligations that will require the undivided effort of those who are behind them to meet, we shall have no trouble in raising this bonus. We shall it either as a tribute or as a means of self-defense. Either born of this question is one that will inure to the benefit of San Angelo. We can't afford to pass up this opportunity. We will not pass it up."

Religious Work Pleases.

"I found San Angelo a splendid town, in fact the most peaceful city of its size in Texas," I believe," said Dr. J. D. Young, pastor of the Methodist church, South, of Belton, who has been here visiting his brother.

"The religious work done here is of the highest type and it seems that every pastor is working with great zeal to perform his mission," he added. Dr. Young expressed his gratitude toward the people here and also praised the town on the great work it is doing to make San Angelo the leading city of the west.

"San Angelo has the people who have the proper courage and will power to do anything they wish," he stated, "and I believe you will have one of the modern metropolitan cities of Texas in a very few years if the rapidity of building and inhabitation keeps up like it is at present."

"Several years ago I remember there was no such thing thought of here as skyscrapers, but now they are towering up in every direction. That is what I like to see, though, and I trust this progress will keep on its course of upbuilding."

BRICK FA'NE OVER WORK AGAIN STARTS

LOCAL PLANT FIRES UP AND HAS LARGE SUPPLY READY.

For Over a Week Building Operations Have Been Practically at a Standstill Account Scarcity.

No longer will the mason be idle with trowel in hand; no longer will the climbing skyscrapers cease to slowly ascend in the air; no longer will buildings wait, all for the famine of brick which has been on in San Angelo for a week or more, for the wheels of the machinery at the San Angelo brick yard have started revolving, causing the molding of thousands of well made brick.

For awhile everything was almost at a standstill for the want of brick. None could be obtained from other places and the factory here seemed to be out of commission, and only those who happened to have brick on hand could keep on in the construction of houses.

FAIR GROUNDS PAYROLL RUNS TO $600 WEEK

SECRETARY WEST SAYS WORK IS ADVANCING RAPIDLY; EVERYTHING LOOKING FINE.

BUSINESS FORCES OPENING OF OFFICE

In the Future He Will Be Found in the Landon Hotel With President George Hagelstein, Looking After Work.

"Just to give you an idea of the immense amount of work going on at the fair grounds," said A. D. West, secretary of the fair association, Friday, "I will state that I am making out a weekly pay roll of over $600. That looks as if work were progressing, doesn't it?"

"Fifty stalls more than we have ever had before are being built, and that doesn't tell the whole story, either. We are going to get the owners of home horse to keep their horses at home after the races, because it is an absolute necessity that we keep all the stall room for the visiting horses."

"To those people who are always looking for me inference to fair matters, I will state that after today they will find me installed properly in the George Hagelstein office."

"All the committees and departments are burning the breeze when it comes to working nowadays, because they realize the absolute necessity of action. There has been no lagging by anybody all along, understand, but there is an immense amount of work yet to be done."

TWO FIRES.

- Twice Friday night the siren from the waterworks disturbed the rest of the people of San Angelo, and the fire boys were on the go immediately. The first alarm was for a small fire in the rear of the City bakery, which was extinguished before the department arrived. It is supposed to have caught from the oven. The damage was inconsiderable. About 2:30 a. m. the residence of Mrs. C. C. Clark on East Two-hik, next to the skating rink, caught on fire and Mrs. Clark and son Elmer barely escaped. The cause of the fire is unknown. No furniture was saved but the damage to both house and furniture is largely covered by insurance.

LARGE SHIPMENT FROM OZONA MARKS OPENING OF WOOL SEASON

Having received 13,733 pounds of wool in San Angelo from Ozona Friday, the wool movement in West Texas has begun in full force. It shows some of the finest grade of wool ever brought to San Angelo and is free from dirt and contains very little oil.

The wool situation this year is thought by some to excel all other seasons in quality and quantity. San Angelo is the largest wool market in the world and has an enormous amount each year, but it is expected to have more for sale this year than ever before in the history of the wool industry in the west. Marketing several million pounds each year, and having the finest grade procurable, is the one great advantage San Angelo has for being an industrial city. Wool growing and sheep raising is the old reliable business here, for that is a sure thing almost every year.

The Wool Growers Storage company, with which this was stored, has received several other clips this season, but this one is the largest amount.

ATTENTION, CITIZENS.

It is recorded on the most brilliant pages of profane history that once there came to Caesar a time when doubt swayed his soul and fear held fast grip upon his resolution.

In his dilemma he retired within his tent and there he held communion with his soul. He offered prayers to gods of crassness and impotence.

Lustre was added to the record of Rome by this decision. The eagles of Caesar never before were carried to such heights of greatness.

Men of San Angelo, you are now on the brink of your river Rubicon. You are now face to face with a responsibility no less than that which Caesar faced.

But two lines of endeavor are present for you to make your choice of action. It must be either upward and onward or defeat and decay.

Which will you choose? What portion is it you desire to have?

Can San Angelo count the cost, when she has not the inviting of the plays of fate? When a wall of water comes leaping down a river, you make for the hills with a mind concentrated upon saving your life.

San Angelo is today face to face with a race for life. Happily in this instance the saving of the life of the city means the salvation of the property as well. Aye, it means even more. It means an enhancement in property values that will be so great that those who are true prophets today can be but regarded as dreamers of dreams strange and imaginative.

Then again, suppose that an invading army were pressing hard upon the outer walls of the city here. Suppose that the commander of the attacking force sent word that for a ransom of $100,000 he would not only refrain from destroying the city, but would also send within the beleaguered place the choicest supplies from his stores.

San Angelo is now besieged by Col. Morgan Jones. He wants a ransom, as it were, of $100,000. For this ransom he agrees to send into San Angelo his oil of joy, his wine of refreshment and his corn of nourishment.

cause our property to take on added values. He will cause our city to take her place among the commanding centers of the state.

Citizens of San Angelo, what will you do? What profits a man to gain a shroud and lose a standing? It is up to you. What will your answer be?

Hats off to the men who have made San Angelo great. Hats off to the men who will add to her greatness.

Remember the dates—October 5-9—and tell your friends to be here for the great San Angelo fair.

One hundred students in the Denver schools have been suspended for insubordination. Women vote in Colorado.

State rangers shot the wrong people in an East Texas county. Little mistakes like this are easily overlooked. Why a ranger force, anyway?

A news dispatch states that Harriman left $500,000,000. Please note that he left every penny of it. Put your name down for a substantial sum.

It has been said that Belton never gave up a penny for a railroad bonus. Temple always gives. It has also been said that one can't buy real estate in Temple. He can't sell it in Belton. Is the moral plain?

The old guard at San Angelo is still in command. That means that once the hand is placed to the plow handle there is no such thing as turning back.

Where are all those people who looked for Campbell to tear Senator Bailey to tatters for the way Bailey voted on the tariff question. One can make a sheep ranch play without ever going near a flock of sheep.

Ballinger is a city good enough to be tied to with two railroads. That's another reason to subscribe.

If San Angelo doesn't swim with opportunity today, tomorrow she may float down the stream like a dead fish.

"Ten Nights in a Barroom" at the Yale tonight.

W. C. Hewitt, who has been here prospecting for several days, left Friday for his home at Elgin, Kan. Mr. Hewitt says this is the country to live in and wants to return if he can sell his property in Kansas.

Roy Duran came in Friday direct from Sumner, Ill., where he has been boosting for the Concho country. Mr. Duran was formerly manager of Carlsbad Inn.

At the Yale.

The Yale was packed to capacity Friday night, the attraction being "Ten Nights in a Barroom." Manager Coggin and Mr. Lee have found out what the people of San Angelo like, as everyone present last night seemed to enjoy the performance. It was really an excellent show and surpassed many of the traveling companies with higher admission prices.

One of the new actors of the Yale Stock company who came in Friday afternoon took part in the play and showed that he is a very capable actor.

The Yale Stock company will open Monday night, giving only high class dramatic productions. The opening play will be "The Dear Homestead."

Those who have not seen the great temperance play, "Ten Nights in a Barroom," will have an opportunity to do so Saturday. There will be a special matinee at 3 p. m. and only one performance at night, at 8:30 p. m.

WASHINGTON.

Angelo Heights Thoroughfare Gets Long Needed Repairs.

Washington street in Angelo Heights is at last one of the best streets in that part of town, so made by a culvert being built across a deep gully between Beauregard and Harris avenues.

The crossing has long needed to be fixed, for it is one of the most traveled streets in the Heights. Concrete was wadded into a large arch over the ditch, then dirt and cracked rock were piled over it. The street was graded from one avenue to the other, making one of the best thoroughfares in that part of town.

Mr. Peters will entertain you with several specialties tonight if you go to the Crystal.

THE MAN FROM BRODNEY'S

Copyright, 1908, by Dodd, Mead.

Bowles.
"Chase, you may be theoric, but you are the most dependable chap the world has ever known," said Leppingham, and he meant it.

The warships remained off the harbor all that day. The British captain consented to leave a small detachment of marines in the town to protect Chase and the bank. To a man the islanders pledged fealty to the cause of peace and justice. They shouted the names of Chase and Allah in the same breath and demanded of the latter that he preserve the former's beard for all eternity.

The King's Own was to convey the liberated heirs to Aden, whither the cruiser was bound. At that port a P. and O. steamer would pick them up. One white man elected to stay on the island with Hollingsworth Chase, who steadfastly refused to desert his post until Sir John Brodney indicated that his mission was completed. That one man was the wearer of the red jacket, the bearer of the king's commission in Japan, the undaunted Mr. Bowles.

The Princess Geneva, the wistful light deepening hourly in her blue gray eyes, avoided being alone with the man whom she was leaving behind. She had made up her mind to accept the fate inevitable. He had reconciled himself to the ending of an impossible dream. There was nothing more to say except farewell.

The last day dawned. The sun smiled down upon them. The soft breeze of the sea whispered the course of destiny into their ears. It crooned the song of heritage; it called her back to the fastnesses where love may not venture in.

The chateau was in a state of upheaval. The exodus was beginning. The princess waited until the last moment. She went to him. He was standing apart from the rest, coldly indifferent to the pangs he was suffering.

"I shall love you always," she said simply, giving him her hand—"always, Hollingsworth." Her eyes were wide and hopeless; her lips were white.

He bowed his head. "May God give you all the happiness that I wish for you," he said. "The end!"

She looked steadily into his eyes for a long time, searching his soul for the hope that never dies. Then she gently withdrew her hands and stood away from him, humbled in her own soul.

"Yes," she whispered. "Goodbye." He straightened his shoulders and draw a deep breath through compressed nostrils. "Goodbye! God bless you!" was all that he said.

She left him standing there. The wall between them was too high, too impregnable, for even love to storm.

Lady Deppingham came to him there a moment later. "I am sorry," she said tenderly. "Is there no hope?"
"There is no hope—for her," he said bitterly. "She was condemned too long ago."

BLOCKING OF STREETS GREAT DISADVANTAGE

If Council Refuses to Pass the Measures, Mr. Taylor Believes That the Police Department Should Be Enlarged.

Citing civic improvement as the cause for his denunciation, Norman Taylor Friday excoriated right and left those who leave wagons, great big cumbersome wagons, standing on the main streets, and also took a fancy shot at the water melon vendors who occupy the corners.

"Why, it is a positive imposition on the people of the city," he exclaimed, "and I think that the city council ought to pass the ordinance submitted by Mayor Paul. Look how the traffic on the main streets is blocked. I have seen time and again a positive Brooklyn bridge jam right here on Chadbourne street, and no one could get by for the space of several minutes, all caused by a man leaving his wagon right on the main street and taking in the town, not caring how much he discommoded the citizens. In fact, I am not going to have them standing in front of my place of business. I'll move them for them. Of course, this does not apply to the man who drives down the street in a big wagon to get something loaded on and then intends to vacate—that can not be altered, as it would seriously interfere with business.

"Now there is one more matter I am going to talk about and you may quote me as vehemently as you like. It is these water melon wagons that assemble on the street corners and breed all kinds of germs by the accumulations on the streets. They drive up with a spavined old nag that is already dead as far as all practical purposes go and with files all over them and proceed to deal out their dope while the city suffers. No one who knows me will believe that I am saying this because they interfere with my trade. They don't, for I don't want the trade that patronizes them as a regular thing. I am simply speaking for the good of San Angelo and I want to see something done.

"Mayor Paul has struck the keynote of the whole affair in reference to the heavy wagons, I understand, by declaring that even if not such an ordinance is not passed he will increase the police force and move them anyway."

EXTENSIONS OF SEWER COMPANY

PRESIDENT KIRKPATRICK TELLS OF PLANS NOW MATURING.

First Mains to Be Placed West of Chadbourne Between Railroad and River.

Stating that the sewer company is greatly pleased with the action of the city council Thursday night in indorsement of the extension of the sewer lines outside the fire limits, C. C. Kirkpatrick, president of the sewer company announces that extensions will be rushed along with no stoppage for any purpose.

"It is our endeavor at present," he declared, "to get to all that section west of Chadbourne and south of the railroad and bounded by the North Concho river. It will be only a short time until the work is done, giving a perfect sewerage system.

"I say perfect because we are not doing any slipshod work. We are putting in a system that we expect to last for aye and which will be an everlasting and continuous advantage to the city.

"No, we are not contemplating any extensions of the mains to Angelo or Park Heights at present. Of course as the city grows and the population increases, so it will be to our advantage, we will make the extensions.

"After completing the work assigned at present we have laid no plans for future continuance, but we intend to keep up the work at a rapid clip, wherever we extend."

Saturday Evening Concert

This Announcement means much to the Music lovers of San Angelo. The Victrola has made it possible for us to have the Best of the World's Music. You are respectfully requested to Come and Enjoy the Evening with Us.

ADELINA PATTI

Mme. Adelina Patti Cederstrom has made nine records for the Victor. This announcement is one of the most important which it has been our good fortune to make. Mme. Patti being one of the greatest sopranos of her time.

The right to record Patti's voice has always been eagerly sought by record makers, and fabulous sums have been offered her for this privilege. The great prima donna, however, decided that only the Victor could do justice to her voice, and has therefore made an exclusive agreement for life with this Company.

All the beloved old songs with which she has delighted millions of her hearers in past years, together with some of her most famous operatic and coloratura numbers are included in this comprehensive list.

Hear Patti sing "Old Folks at Home."

EMMA EAMES, Soprano.

Emma Eames was born in Shanghai, China, of American parents, her father being a lawyer of the International Courts. The family soon returned to their American home in Bath, Maine, where the young Emma began the study of music—at first with her mother, but finally in Paris, where she spent several years with Mme. Marchesi in arduous study of voice culture, dramatic action, and the French language. The result of these labors is shown in the absolute purity of Mme. Eames' French, her beautiful phrasing, and her finished acting. Though the road to opera is full of intrigues, Mme. Eames has made her way to the front by sheer talent and hard study. A pure fresh voice, flexible and expressive, remarkably good intonation, an attractive personality, and an unbounded enthusiasm for her work were the qualities which contributed to her rapid advancement. Mme. Eames makes records exclusively for the Victor. Mme. Eames will sing "Romeo et Juliette," "Valse" "Gounod."

ENRICO CARUSO, Tenor.

Caruso's success is the greatest ever attained by an artist in this country. His American engagements have been a continuous ovation, the great audiences being held spell-bound by the exquisite refinement and beauty of his voice.

The annual appearance of new records by this artist is always one of the most important events of the musical season. While the famous tenor can sing to but a very few of the music lovers of the world in person, by means of his Victor Records his audience become uncountable and immeasurable. In our own country, where he is the most talked about of all the artists who ever sang here; in Mexico and those countries in South America where Caruso has never appeared, but is already a favorite through his records; throughout all Europe, in many of whose cities he was first heard through the Victor; in India, China, Australia, and even in the interior of Africa—everywhere these perfect records will go, carrying the actual voice of the singer, with every one of its lovely qualities reproduced to the minutest detail. Among all the achievements of science is there anything more wonderful than this?

The great Caruso will sing "Favorita," "Spirto Gentile, Spirit so Fair," "Donizetti."

Our programme will be selected to a great extent by the audience. We will gladly play any favorite.

COL. JONES IS ANXIOUS TO BEGIN WORK OF EXTENDING LINE AT EARLIEST POSSIBLE DATE.

PROPOSITION RECEIVES HEARTY ENDORSEMENT

Mass Meeting at Yale Theater Attended by About 250—Petitions Are Now Being Circulated for Signatures.

That the citizens of San Angelo want the Morgan Jones road and appreciate the importance of having this city connected with the great system he is now building through West Texas, was attested at Friday's mass meeting at the Yale theater by the stirring speeches and the manner in which they were received by the 250 people present.

The meeting was not for the purpose of raising money, and no collections were called for. It was a gathering of citizens at the instance of the railroad committee for the purpose of obtaining an expression as to whether or not the people are anxious for the road and are willing to put their shoulders to the wheel and dig down in their pockets to bring it here. The result was entirely satisfactory, for those in attendance spoke out in no uncertain manner words that not only encouraged the committee but placed the stamp of approval to everything that Col. Morgan Jones has asked.

Petitions in the form of an acceptance of the proposition in which the citizens of San Angelo promise their assistance in every way possible were passed out, and every man in the house cheerfully registered his signature. At the conclusion of the meeting these petitions were placed in the hands of a committee composed of C. C. Brewer, E. L. Jackson, A. R. Burgess, J. D. Rawls, T. F. Owen, John D. Roberts, Jr., A. A. McGill and W. D. Carrier, this committee to circulate the papers on the streets Saturday and obtain as many signatures as possible. Following this the railroad committee will make a canvass of the city for subscriptions, and it proposes to have the entire amount necessary contracted for by September 15.

Farr Opens Meeting.

L. L. Farr called the meeting to order and announced the object of the committee in calling it. He then called on Col. John R. Nasworthy to start the fireworks.

Col. Nasworthy said that he was in Knickerbocker when informed that his services were needed here, and although he had business there, he lost no time in coming to town. "I am a railroad builder and not a promoter," he said. "It does me good to subscribe to such propositions as Col. Jones has offered, and you should feel the same way. A man is never hurt by giving. It only makes him rustle to get back the amount he is out, and in the long run he comes out ahead of the game. And you will notice that the people who contribute to these enterprises are the people who pay their bills. Let's put our shoulders to the wheel and land this plum—it's worth going after."

Now's the Time.

"Now is the time to either make San Angelo or kill it," said J. W. Hill. "The future destiny of San Angelo depends on the action of the citizens with reference to this railroad. When the Santa Fe offered to build to this city from Ballinger 2500 people raised $80,000, and it didn't take them always either. Now if 2500 people raised $80,000 it certainly should be an easy matter for 15,000 people to subscribe $100,000."

"Col. Jones is a man who does exactly what he says he will. After he runs his line into San Angelo he will not stop. It will be a line running through Tom Green county, and I believe it will eventually connect with the main line to California. With this road San Angelo will be a town of 50,000 people within five years. On the other hand, if we pass it up our population will dwindle away and some other town near us will spring up. It will take a bonus of $75,000 to land this road, and the right of way will cost at least $25,000.

"Don't say you can't do it. No man ever accomplished anything without trying."

Col. Baker Talks.

Col. Baker was the last speaker. He told of the importance of the issue now before the citizens and urged them to take advantage of the opportunity to make San Angelo one of the greatest cities of the state. He referred to the Santa Fe bonus of years ago, saying that a committee of eleven men signed a contract which called for a bonus of $80,000, although not a dollar had been raised. If San Angelo falls down on this offer, he continued, it will be advertised to the world that this town is "all in," and then there will be a turning in the history of the Queen City, "for who wants to come to a dead town?"

Committee Meeting.

After the rally at the Yale Friday afternoon the railroad committee met and transacted the following business: Judge T. C. Wynn, Senator Hill and George J. Bird were appointed as a committee to draw up the right of way and the subscription contracts.

John Loomis was designated as a committee of one to interview his neighbors and ascertain how many of them will donate right of way across their respective holdings free of cost. Messrs. Pulliam, Broome and Clint Johnson were named as a committee to confer with Assessor West to ascertain who are the owners of the land that will probably be wanted for the right of way.

A vote of thanks was tendered Manager Coggin for the use of the Yale theater for the rally.

A meeting of the committee was called for 9:30 o'clock Saturday morning in the directors' room of the San Angelo National bank.

Changing hands three times in the last three weeks, the G. W. Brown residence on Sixth street in North San Angelo has established a record for swift changes of owners. The Queen City Real Estate company, with H. W. Coates at the wheel, turned the tricks and is still smiling over its well-earned profits.

"And the peachiest part about it," declared Mr. Coates, "was that every time it sold it was at a decidedly augmented valuation. Everybody connected with the affair made money, and when first bought and all the way through it was not a speculating deal. Every purchaser bought it for a residence, but along came another fellow that wanted it worse than his predecessor."

This is only one of the many quickly turned deals that go to show how San Angelo property is increasing in value. It is like the city grown in a night—on doesn't know what he will find the next morning.

Pleased.

Benno Schmidt is in the city from Louisville, Ky. This is his first visit here for nine years, and he is very much surprised at the growth and improvements of San Angelo. He is so much enthused that he says that he is going to commence to make his arrangements to move to San Angelo.

FIRST TRAIN OVER ORIENT

STEEL SUPPLY SHORT

If It Arrives Monday There Will Be No Hitch in the Work—Less Than Nine Miles to Lay.

The official report from the Orient offices here shows that a total of 5200 feet steel marked the work on the north end of that road Friday. No steel was laid on the south end for the reason that all steel has been exhausted. A large shipment, enough to complete the line into San Angelo, is expected to reach this city almost any day.

The Orient, as a result of the work Friday, is now a little less than nine miles from this city. If the shipment of steel daily expected reaches here by Monday—and it ought to be here by that time—the Orient may be able to operate its first train into San Angelo not later than September 15, September 20 is now set as the very latest time, with a reasonable run of fair luck, for the arrival of the first train here.

ORIENT ROAD HAS PROVEN A TOWN-BUILDER

"I know of no investment that San Angelo can make that will prove as profitable as accepting the proposition made by Col. Morgan Jones. The business men of this city can not afford to let this opportunity slip by without taking advantage of it. The hour of fate is at hand. We have got to meet the conditions exacted. We have no alternative."

That's the way J. Willis Johnson, one of the leading citizens, not only of San Angelo, but also of West Texas, talks about the Morgan Jones proposition. Mr. Johnson is not a man to give his indorsement to any proposition unless that proposition has merit clear to the bone. He is not the least mealy-mouthed in his declarations that San Angelo has got to take a hand and stay in the game for keeps. He is for accepting this proposition as the best that can be obtained to bring about a condition that is greatly to be desired.

"No man has ever lost a dollar in making a contribution to a fund of this kind," continued Mr. Johnson, "and I can't see how this general rule can be other than carried out in the observance in this instance. We have just got to raise that bonus. We have got to get this additional railroad."

"I know when the Orient started this way the firm of Taylor & Johnson, Clint, my brother, being in that firm, subscribed $750 to the first bonus asked. I know that Taylor & Johnson sold over $20,000 worth of stuff to the people building the Orient, and they got this money before the road is here. I also know that prior to the time the Orient contracted to come here that labor could be secured for 75 cents to $1 a day, where it now costs from $2 to $3. I know that rents have doubled, that the value of property has doubled, and that as a result of the Orient's coming, even though it is not yet here, that today one can not find an idle man in San Angelo who wants work."

"Now what has brought about this enhancement in property of all kinds? We know it has not been crop conditions, or range conditions, for the reason we have been contending with conditions that, to say the least, have not been conducive to prosperity for two or three years. If these con-

NEW CATTLE TICK IS DISCOVERED

WORKS WAY INTO EARS AND DEPOSITS EGGS INSIDE.

Col. John R. Nasworthy Says He Has Seen a Few of These Fellows and Urges Prompt Action.

Col. John R. Nasworthy came in Friday afternoon from his ranch at the head of Dove creek for the purpose of attending the railroad rally. Col. Nasworthy states that he is putting in a dipping vat for his private use and as soon as this vat is completed he will souse between 1200 and 1500 steers beneath the tick killing stuff.

"For a long time I doubted this tick theory, but I have finally had to acknowledge the corn, or rather the tick," said Col. Nasworthy. "Out of all the varieties of ticks there is just one kind that causes fever, and, dad blast it, this one kind can sure work thunder when it gets busy at the proper season for its activity."

"I have also observed that we are getting what I have heard called a grub tick in this country. This is a kind of tick that works its way into the ears of cattle and is the only kind that I know of that lays its eggs in the animal. I first heard of this tick when down in Mexico during my younger days. In one part of that country I noticed that all of the horses and cattle were grubbed, and when I asked why all the ears were cut close I was informed of this wax working tick. I have not seen many of this kind of tick in this section, but I have seen a few, and we had better begin making war on them right now. If we don't, in time they may prove as bad a thing as that other Mexican visitor, the boll weevil, proved in the Brazos bottom section."

Conditions have not been brought about by local influences, surely we must give credit where credit is due and admit that the coming of the Orient alone is responsible for the advancement of values.

"I know of one piece of property that four years ago I valued at $4000 and thought at that time I was putting a top figure on it, that only recently sold for $15,000. I know of land in this section that before the Orient got started this way could be bought for from $5 to $50 an acre that today is being eagerly sought at $100 to $150 a lot. I know of business houses that four years ago rented for $35 a month that now can not be rented for less than $75 to $100 a month."

"And then again, I know that we get a rich trade from the south and southwest. I know that if Morgan Jones does not build this line to San Angelo he will build to Eldorado and Sonora, and I know we had just as well attempt to force water to run up hill as to try to induce the people down there to make wagon drives to trade with us. I further know that by cutting out San Angelo Col. Jones can save between twelve and fourteen miles of railroad building and get all the trade of this rich territory. I know that if Col. Jones does not come here we shall lose dollars in trade where he asks us to pay him dimes in bonus. I know, too, that if we pay him dimes in bonus he will return these dimes to us in the shape of quarters, anyhow."

"The only phase of this question that promises to be the least perplexing lies in the fact that when a man makes an obligation he ought to expect to meet it. Unless there are too many outstanding obligations that will require the undivided effort of those who are behind them to meet, we shall have no trouble in raising this bonus. We shall it either as a tribute or as a means of self-defense. Either horn of this question is one that will inure to the benefit of San Angelo. We can't afford to pass up this opportunity. We will not pass it up."

Religious Work Pleases.

"I found San Angelo a splendid town, in fact the most peaceful city of its size in Texas," I believe," said Dr. J. D. Young, pastor of the Methodist church, Spoth, of Belton, who has been here visiting his brother.

"The religious work done here is of the highest type and it seems that every pastor is working with great zeal to perform his mission," he added. Dr. Young expressed his gratitude toward the people here and also praised the town on the great work it is doing to make San Angelo the leading city of the west.

"San Angelo has the people who have the proper courage and will power to do anything they wish," he stated, "and I believe you will have one of the modern metropolitan cities of Texas in a very few years if the rapidity of building and inhabitation keeps up like it is at present."

"Several years ago I remember there was no such thing thought of here as skyscrapers, but now they are towering up in every direction. That is what I like to see, though, and I trust this progress will keep on its course of upbuilding."

BRICK FAME OVER WORK AGAIN STARTS

LOCAL PLANT FIRES UP AND HAS LARGE SUPPLY READY.

For Over a Week Building Operations Have Been Practically at a Standstill Account Scarcity.

No longer will the mason be idle with trowel in hand; no longer will the climbing skyscrapers cease to slowly ascend in the air; no longer will buildings wait, all for the famine of brick which has been on in San Angelo for a week or more, for the wheels of the machinery at the San Angelo brick yard have started revolving, causing the molding of thousands of well made brick.

For awhile everything was almost at a standstill for the want of brick. None could be obtained from other places and the factory here seemed to be out of commission, and only those who happened to have brick on hand could keep on in the construction of houses.

LARGE SHIPMENT FROM OZONA MARKS OPENING OF WOOL SEASON

Having received 13,733 pounds of wool in San Angelo from Ozona Friday, the wool movement in West Texas has begun in full force. It shows some of the finest grade of wool ever brought to San Angelo and is free from dirt and contains very little oil.

The wool situation this year is thought by some to excel all other seasons in quality and quantity. San Angelo is the largest wool market in the world and has an enormous amount each year, but it is expected to have more for sale this year than ever before in the history of the wool industry in the west. Marketing several million pounds each year, and having the finest grade procurable, is the one great advantage San Angelo has for being an industrial city. Wool growing and sheep raising is the old reliable business here, for that is a sure thing almost every year.

The Wool Growers Storage company, with which this was stored, has received several other clips this season, but this one is the largest amount.

SECRETARY WEST SAYS WORK IS ADVANCING RAPIDLY; EVERYTHING LOOKING FINE.

BUSINESS FORCES OPENING OF OFFICE

In the Future He Will Be Found in the Landon Hotel With President George Hagelstein, Looking After Work.

"Just to give you an idea of the immense amount of work going on at the fair grounds," said A. D. West, secretary of the fair association, Friday. "I will state that I am making out a weekly pay roll of over $600. That looks as if work were progressing, doesn't it?"

"Fifty stalls more than we have ever had before are being built, and that doesn't tell the whole story, either. We are going to get the owners of home horse to keep their horses at home after the races, because it is an absolute necessity that we keep all the stall room for the visiting horses."

"To those people who are always looking for me inference to fair matters, I will state that after today they will find me installed properly in the George Hagelstein office."

"All the committees and departments are burning the breeze when it comes to working nowadays, because they realize the absolute necessity of action. There has been no lagging by anybody all along, understand, but there is an immense amount of work yet to be done."

TWO FIRES.

Twice Friday night the siren from the waterworks disturbed the rest of the people of San Angelo, and the fire boys were on the go immediately.

The first alarm was for a small fire in the rear of the City bakery, which was extinguished before the department arrived. It is supposed to have caught from the oven. The damage was inconsiderable.

About 2:30 a. m. the residence of Mrs. C. C. Clark on East Two, next to the skating rink, caught on fire and Mrs. Clark and son Elmer barely escaped. The cause of the fire is unknown. No furniture was saved but the damage to both house and furniture is largely covered by insurance.

ATTENTION, CITIZENS.

It is recorded on the most brilliant pages of profane history that once there came to Caesar a time when doubt swayed his soul and fear held fast grip upon his resolution.

In his dilemma he retired within his tent and there he held communion with his soul. He offered prayers to gods of crassness and impotence.

Lustre was added to the record of Rome by this decision. The eagles of Caesar never before were carried to such heights of greatness.

Men of San Angelo, you are now on the brink of your river Rubicon. You are now face to face with a responsibility no less than that which Caesar faced.

You can not escape the inevitable consequences of the duties that are thrust full upon you.

But two lines of endeavor are present for you to make your choice of action. It must be either upward and onward or defeat and decay.

Which will you choose? What portion is it you desire to have? Can San Angelo count the cost, when she has not the inviting of the plays of fate?

San Angelo is today face to face with a race for life. Happily in this instance the saving of the life of the city means the salvation of the property as well. Aye, it means even more.

Then again, suppose that an invading army were pressing hard upon the outer walls of the city here. Suppose that the commander of the attacking force sent word that for a ransom of $100,000 he would not only refrain from destroying the city, but would also send within the beleaguered place the choicest supplies from his stores.

San Angelo is now besieged by Col. Morgan Jones. He wants a ransom, as it were, of $100,000. For this ransom he agrees to send into San Angelo his oil of joy, his wine of refreshment and his corn of nourishment.

Cook is coming home to face Peary. Now let some wag declare that this will be a warm meeting between people who get their cold feet.

A news dispatch states that Harriman left $500,000,000. Please note that he left every penny of it. Put your name down for a substantial sum.

It has been said that Belton never gave up a penny for a railroad bonus. Temple always gives. It has also been said that one can't buy real estate in Temple. He can't sell it in Belton. Is the moral plain?

The old guard at San Angelo is still in command. That means that once the hand is placed to the plow handle there is no such thing as turning back.

Where are all those people who looked for Campbell to tear Senator Bailey to tatters for the way Bailey voted on the tariff question. One can make a sheep ranch play without ever going near a flock of sheep.

Ballinger is a city good enough to be tied to with two railroads. That's another reason to subscribe.

If San Angelo doesn't swim with opportunity today, tomorrow she may float down the stream like a dead fish.

"Ten Nights in a Barroom" at the Yale tonight.

W. C. Hewitt, who has been here prospecting for several days, left Friday for his home at Elgin, Kan. Mr. Hewitt says this is the country to live in and wants to return if he can sell his property in Kansas.

Roy Duran came in Friday direct from Sumner, Ill., where he has been boosting for the Concho country. Mr. Duran was formerly manager of Carlsbad Inn.

At the Yale.

The Yale was packed to capacity Friday night, the attraction being "Ten Nights in a Barroom." Manager Coggin and Mr. Lee have found out what the people of San Angelo like, as everyone present last night seemed to enjoy the performance.

One of the new actors of the Yale Stock company who came in Friday afternoon took part in the play and showed that he is a very capable actor.

The Yale Stock company will open Monday night, giving only high class dramatic productions. The opening play will be "The Dear Homestead."

Those who have not seen the great temperance play, "Ten Nights in a Barroom," will have an opportunity to do so Saturday. There will be a special matinee at 3 p. m. and only one performance at night, at 8:30 p. m.

Do you know Noah Smith? Well he is a showman, bicycle repairer, aeroplane builder, hardware man, and the man that's going to run the famous Indian motorcycle in the races at the fall fair.

Noah says he will have two of these machines in the races, the Indian and the Hawley Davidson, but all confidence is going to be in the Indian for the fastest runner. He doesn't know whether his airship will be ready for a monologue or not, but he is working very fast on the invention.

Angelo Heights Thoroughfare Gets Long Needed Repairs.

Washington street in Angelo Heights is at last one of the best streets in that part of town, so made by a culvert being built across a deep gully between Beauregard and Harris avenues.

The crossing has long needed to be fixed, for it is one of the most traveled streets in the Heights. Concrete was welded into a large arch over the ditch, then dirt and cracked rock were piled over it.

Mr. Peters will entertain you with several specialties tonight if you go to the Crystal.

THE MAN FROM BRODNEY'S

By George Barr McCutcheon.

Copyright, 1908, by Dodd, Mead.

Bowles.

"Chase, you may be theoric, but you are the most dependable chap the world has ever known," said Deppingham, and he meant it.

The warships remained off the harbor all that day. The British captain consented to leave a small detachment of marines in the town to protect Chase and the bank. To a man the islanders pledged fealty to the cause of peace and justice. They shouted the names of Chase and Allah in the same breath and demanded of the latter that he preserve the former's beard for all eternity.

The King's Own was to convey the liberated heirs to Aden, whither the cruiser was bound. At that port a P. and O. steamer would pick them up. One white man elected to stay on the island with Hollingsworth Chase, who steadfastly refused to desert his post until Sir John Brodney indicated that his mission was completed. That one man was the wearer of the red jacket, the bearer of the king's commission in Japan, the undaunted Mr. Bowles.

The Princess Geneva, the wistful light deepening hourly in her blue gray eyes, avoided being alone with the man whom she was leaving behind. She had made up her mind to accept the fate inevitable. He had reconciled himself to the ending of an impossible dream. There was nothing more to say except farewell.

The last day dawned. The sun smiled down upon them. The soft breeze of the sea whispered the curse of destiny into their ears. It crooned the song of heritage; it called her back to the fastnesses where love may not venture in.

The chateau was in a state of upheaval. The exodus was beginning. The princess waited until the last moment. She went to him. He was standing apart from the rest, coldly indifferent to the pangs he was suffering.

"I shall love you always," she said simply, giving him her hand—"always, Hollingsworth." Her eyes were wide and hopeless; her lips were white.

He bowed his head. "May God give you all the happiness that I wish for you," he said. "The end!"

She looked steadily into his eyes for a long time, searching his soul for the hope that never dies. Then she gently withdrew her hands and stood away from him, humbled in her own soul.

"Yes," she whispered. "Goodby."

He straightened his shoulders and drew a deep breath through compressed nostrils. "Goodby! God bless you!" was all that he said.

She left him standing there. The wall between them was too high, too impregnable, for even love to storm.

Lady Deppingham came to him there a moment later. "I am sorry," she said tenderly. "Is there no hope?"

"There is no hope—for her!" he said bitterly. "She was condemned too long ago."

(To be continued.)

MAYOR PAUL'S ORDINANCE IS WHAT'S NEEDED

NORMAN TAYLOR SAYS IT HITS KEY-NOTE AND IS BOUND TO MEET WITH FAVOR.

BLOCKING OF STREETS GREAT DISADVANTAGE

If Council Refuses to Pass the Measures, Mr. Taylor Believes That the Police Department Should Be Enlarged.

Citing civic improvement as the cause for his denunciation, Norman Taylor Friday excoriated right and left those who leave wagons, great big cumbersome wagons, standing on the main streets, and also took a fancy shot at the water melon vendors who occupy the corners.

"Why, it is a positive imposition on the people of the city," he exclaimed, "and I think that the city council ought to pass the ordinance submitted by Mayor Paul. Look how the traffic on the main streets is blocked. I have seen time and again a positive Brooklyn bridge jam right here on Chadbourne street, and no one could get by for the space of several minutes, all caused by a man leaving his wagon right on the main street and taking in the town, not caring how much he discommoded the citizens. In fact, I am not going to have them standing in front of my place of business. I'll move them for them. Of course, this does not apply to the man who drives down the street in a big wagon to get something loaded on and then intends to vacate—that can not be altered, as it would seriously interfere with business.

"Now there is one more matter I am going to talk about and you may quote me as vehemently as you like. It is these water melon wagons that assemble on the street corners and breed all kinds of germs by the accumulations on the streets. They drive up with a spavined old nag that is already dead as far as all practical purposes go and with flies all over them and proceed to deal out their dope while the city suffers. No one who knows me will believe that I am saying this because they interfere with my trade. They don't, for I don't want the trade that patronizes them as a regular thing. I am simply speaking for the good of San Angelo and I want to see something done.

"Mayor Paul has struck the keynote of the whole affair in reference to the heavy wagons, I understand, by declaring that even if not such an ordinance is not passed he will increase the police force and move them anyway."

EXTENSIONS OF SEWER COMPANY

PRESIDENT KIRKPATRICK TELLS OF PLANS NOW MATURING.

First Mains to Be Placed West of Chadbourne Between Railroad and River.

Stating that the sewer company is greatly pleased with the action of the city council Thursday night in indorsement of the extension of the sewer lines outside the fire limits, C. C. Kirkpatrick, president of the sewer company announces that extensions will be rushed along with no stoppage for any purpose.

"It is our endeavor at present," he declared, "to get to all that section west of Chadbourne and south of the railroad and bounded by the North Concho river. It will be only a short time until this work is done, giving a perfect sewerage system.

"I say perfect because we are not doing any slipshod work. We are putting in a system that we expect to last for aye and which will be an everlasting and continuous advantage to the city.

"No, we are not contemplating any extensions of the mains to Angelo or Park Heights at present. Of course as the city grows and the population increases, so it will be to our advantage, we will make the extensions.

"After completing the work assigned at present we have laid no plans for future continuance, but we intend to keep up the work at a rapid clip, wherever we extend."

R. F. Lane of Paducah is in the city visiting his nephew W. P. Thorpe, on Abe street. Mr. Lane speaks in the highest terms of San Angelo and the Concho country.

Saturday Evening Concert

This Announcement means much to the Music lovers of San Angelo. The Victrola has made it possible for us to have the Best of the World's Music. You are respectfully requested to Come and Enjoy the Evening with Us.

ADELINA PATTI

Mme. Adelina Patti Cederstrom has made nine records for the Victor. This announcement is one of the most important which it has been our good fortune to make. Mme. Patti being one of the greatest sopranos of her time.

The right to record Patti's voice has always been eagerly sought by record makers, and fabulous sums have been offered her for this privilege. The great prima donna, however, decided that only the Victor could do justice to her voice, and has therefore made an exclusive agreement for life with this Company.

All the beloved old songs with which she has delighted millions of her hearers in past years, together with some of her most famous operatic and coloratura numbers are included in this comprehensive list.

Hear Patti sing "Old Folks at Home."

EMMA EAMES, Soprano.

Emma Eames was born in Shanghai, China, of American parents, her father being a lawyer of the International Courts. The family soon returned to their American home in Bath, Maine, where the young Emma began the study of music—at first with her mother, but finally going to Paris, where she spent several years with Mme. Marchesi in arduous study of voice culture, dramatic action, and the French language. The result of these labors is shown in the absolute purity of Mme. Eames' French, her beautiful phrasing, and her finished acting. Though the road to opera is full of intrigues, Mme. Eames has made her way to the front by sheer talent and hard study. A pure fresh voice, flexible and expressive, remarkably good intonation, an attractive personality, and an unbounded enthusiasm for her work were the qualities which contributed to her rapid advancement. Mme. Eames makes records exclusively for the Victor. Mme. Eames will sing "Romeo et Juliette," "Valse" "Gounod."

ENRICO CARUSO, Tenor.

Caruso's success is the greatest ever attained by an artist in this country. His American engagements have been a continuous ovation, the great audiences being held spell-bound by the exquisite refinement and beauty of his voice.

The annual appearance of new records by this artist is always one of the most important events of the musical season. While the famous tenor can sing to but a very few of the music lovers of the world in person, by means of his Victor Records his audiences become uncountable and immeasurable. In our own country, where he is the most-talked about of all the artists who ever sang here; in Mexico and those countries in South America where Caruso has never appeared, but is already a favorite through his records; throughout all Europe, in many of whose cities he was first heard through the Victor; in India, China, Australia, and even in the interior of Africa—everywhere these perfect records will go, carrying the actual voice of the singer, with every one of its lovely qualities reproduced to the minutest detail. Among all the achievements of science is there anything more wonderful than this?

The great Caruso will sing "Fav-erita," "Spirto Gentil, Spirt so Fair," "Donizetti."

Our programme will be selected to a great extent by the audience. We will gladly play any favorite.
